second president in the Tfungli=Yamen;: au position was not influential, but he was given the foresight that it could one day be considered by some Europeans
the court made.

Marquis Tfeng became known for his fine work:
ftschaft with European relations to the head of the dermal= former railway system in China. And the thought does not seem unfounded that Bi position and knowledge of European stock market conditions have caused him a premature death. Marquis Zfeng was a kind man and the only Chinese senior official who received Europeans in his family and

Rein zreund . Brandt, 5

5

socialized with them. 90 Li dung Chang Marquis Tfeng was related to him.

de Hong Lob, Civil=Mandarin 3. Kaffe, private secretary to the Vice=King Li Hung Chang and others

Del Tuugli Damen is in China something like what we have here understand by the term "Foreign Office", although the powers of these two authorities in China and Germany are nevertheless very different from each other.

Some xerphones flowing outside the events,
who could, however, be considered as witnesses,

Sir John Walsham, Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary Minister of Her Majesty the Queen of England in Peking,
Superintendent of Commerce and |. wu 0 w.

No. then, Doward, first secretary of the English Society in eking.

Erelenz Alerts Conmany, Chamberlain of His Majesty the Emperor of Russia, Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary

8 ministers in Beijing and in St. Petersburg). .

din Anatole Lobauow de No tow, Secretary of the Imperial Russian 0 Embassy in Peking. .

Lenal Denby, United States Ambassador to Beijing. |
"Weodville Rodhill, First Secretary of the Legation of the United United States in Beijing.

J. Rodriguez y Munoz, Extraordinary Envoy and Special Plenipotentiary Minister of His Majesty the King of Spain in Beijing (now in Europe). . .

| – Shioda:–Saburo, Imperial Japanese ambassador in Peking (middle:
N died suddenly in early May 1889).

dal Sajiama, military attaché of the Imperial Japanese

'RB. artwright, Customs Director and Secretary of the Chinese An-ea pages in the General Customs Office. nn

Fr Timo Richard, missionary of the English Baptists in Beijing.

— —

the German embassy in Weking, such as those in May 1888.

R un Br i andt, Imperial German Ambassador, Your Excellency. In No. 130 the "Thinefe Tunes" on April 28, 1889 we find a bio= fields of Mr. von Brandt, which were probably was initiated by the same person and comes from the same pen, as the article printed in Part II, p. 204ff. about Mr.
Captain von Hannecken.

U

eu. BT

Mr. von Brandt is the son of the deceased general
Su von Brandt, who after a reliable christened Jew or Jewish offspring. His Mother was a racial Jew, and her brother was the deceased Colonel von Brandt, who in the last German=French= was the head of the espionage service during the Austrian War. Mr. von Brandt's relatives were almost exclusively Jewish, young Likewise, most of his relationships are Jewish.

He himself, although probably born a Protestant and baptized, still adheres to the faith of his fathers, is secret Jew.

In an exciting article . to read that he in the Prussian Army, where he rose to the rank of lieutenant, and that he was too good for military service and which brought him into the diplomatic career. In effect However, Mr. von Brandt had to leave because of debts and stupid pranks, and they sent him abroad to escape the pressure of his creditors ent

Out of consideration for his father's merits, him in the diplomatic service. With the Count Eulenburg= He came to China in the north of 1860 as part of the Chinese expedition and Japan: In 1864 he became BET onful, then later Minister= resident in Japan. Since 1874 he has been ambassador to Sr In Japan he met Nadal Privy Legation Counsellor in Foreign Office Dr. Rudolph Lindau, who was in Yokohama merchant, and had 8 money with him= affairs. Through von Brandt and his connections This and probably the other Lindau's were in their current positions. It is known that von Brandt through his amiable nature and friendly approach acceptance that he gave to all strangers coming to his house Participates: highly skilled in social etiquette, knows he easily gained the reputation of a great art connoisseur and | Ehme! to give; he previously enjoyed good 1 also with the Chinese, but has largely lost it because that he was directly involved in commercial and industrial affairs . whereby he can focus on a perfect foreign territory, and also by dealing with in no en persons like Mandl and others. Everything was convenient for the external benefit of Brandt, and his Mottos are: "Tinkling is part of the craft" and a. 's nous le déluge!" To shine in front of ladies is the constant source of his wishes, and accordingly the conditions as under the Second Empire and now under the Republic in Paris, where beautiful women had great influence and even appear at the Winifteryum to To gain favor is his ideal.

The current situation seems to be

5 derm

6

hardly anything else than a kind of agent of the Berlin or international Jewry, to which he in intimate relationships, and for which he has the official and confidential communications from German authorities to their advantage and exploited to the detriment of the Germans.

Clemens von Ketteler, retired Lieutenant, had to join the military service, after he had spent his time and a little more on racing places etc., had been spent. On the very Thanks to his mother and relatives, he got In 1880 he got a job as an interpreter trainee at the German embassy in Peking. Information from Münster about him and his family is:

"It is difficult to say anything about the origin and the circumstances the widow of Captain von Ketteler, née von Luck, to find out something. She lives with her Daughter very happily, Both have Jewish friends. The Widow von Ketteler is said to have been a lady-in-waiting for many years of our late Emperor Wilhelm I. (supposedly probably called Empress Augusta). The son of the aforementioned However, it has such a Jewish appearance that no one would take the stand to consider him a full-blooded Jew old. It should be noted that the latter differs from the rest and is not taken into account here at all." In von Ketteler was employed as an interpreter in Canton in 1883 and finally appointed Secretary of the Embassy in Peking He owes this position exclusively to the grace of Her Majesty the late Empress Augusta and Her Majesty the Empress Friedrich III. The Baroness von Ketteler herself told me in 1883 that she had taken up the position of a legation secretary for her son. She was recently with Her Majesty the Empress Augusta with Rudolf Lindau for tea. Mrs. von Ketteler seemed to have Relations with the court on the one hand, the Münster nobility on the other hand and finally with Lindau, which in turn with the Berlin Jewry, old. Mrs. von Ketteler said: "We (i.e. the Vienna's nobility) live like with a Chinese wall around us and further mentioned that the same origin Mr. von Ketteler is not without talent and possesses common law forms are sufficient to bring the impression of a charming companion. Whether the position of a Legation Secretary in general a sinecure, he is hardly guilty of it because of his poor imitation. As a parvenu of this genre, he swears to self-aggrandizement according to all and gets the exercise of all those who work, be it worthy Physically. When he came to Peking in 1880 and finally found himself in the unpleasant necessity of having to having to work and learn Chinese, and I miss it tried to console him, he said, by thinking of the thought back to times gone by:

"In Germany, we should actually make laws which Craftsmen and merchants force the officer for life= time to borrow"; and in = 1888, when I last saw him, he said, "it is the profession of herring tamers and brecher, (as he liked to call the merchants) money to= to scrape together, while his was: "Money from= admit". That is the whole political and social wisdom, which I have ever heard from von Ketteler, and in advance» Kr A and Z of fine whole knowledge. His role as a "diplomat" in Beijing was accordingly. (See Part II, Letter to Prince von Bismarck, p. 134, 138, 143, 144.) He loves to shine as such in front of ladies and could of course be accused of indiscretions Greed led him to associate with people like Mandl, Hannecken in industrial and commercial areas opportunities, of which he of course knew nothing understands. In the absence of Mr. von Brandt, von April to November 1889, he represented the same as "chargé d'affaires" in Peking.) He is currently in Europe and is supposed to be an assistant in the Foreign Office. Nevertheless Mr. von Ketteler previously assured that he had no more assets expect to N he claimed at the end of 1888 or beginning In 1889 he inherited 30,000 thalers (?)
which he apparently tries to achieve on German racetracks to the Maun. von Ketteler was just as the later mentioned Mr. von Hannecken he then again rehabilitated in the Prussian army, he enlisted with the Jew Mandl and others for community action

Dr. phil. 9 – Lenz, retired philologist, deputy ambassador= fcha 13: Interpreter. Since 1881 in China in several places, was even a Social Democrat in the past. A man of misfortune= temperament, of violent, irascible character. As
As a Jewish offspring, he feels unhappy; he is little loves his colleagues and superiors. Recently he is appointed Vice=Conful in Chefoo.

Georg Lange, retired Lieutenant, spent three years in Canton, where he was hired by the Chinese as a military instructor, and After losing his position, he became an interpreter
Student installed at the German Embassy in Peking.
Probably he was on a coast by now

place as Vice=Conful per interim e

Baron Bernhardt von der Goltz, Lieutenant a. D., served for three years as Military instructor in Chinese service in Tianjin; after he lost his position as an interpreter student at the German embassy in Peking: he has the most Chinese of the interpreters in Beijing studied. He has an independent work drive, it seems. but a weak character; he has now become Legation interpreter promoted.

8

Emens, a retired high school teacher with Jewish roots, has now won the Dol= Metfcher=dienst because of illness and appears to be the Ministry of Culture found another position to have found.

Erf Aßmann, Royal Building Inspector, since the beginning of November 1887 attached as a technician to the German embassy. True supposedly a racial Jew, but baptized (Protestant?) He makes in ordinary life the impression of a respectable man, is but in fact a brutal, low Jew: to a Relative of the Catholic field provost Aßmaun of and having a brother who lives in or near Potsdam Head forester. Acted as an anti-Semite, knew many * on the Jews. Used expressions like "Jews= pack" etc.

Peter Scheidtweiler, Royal Master Builder, since the beginning of 1888 the German embassy as a railway technician, very probably a Jewish offspring.

Note: Messrs. Aßmann and Scheidtweiler ref= sorted in 1888 by the Prussian Railway=Mini= fterium, but are missing in the calendar for railway officials

. for 1889. (See Part II, p. 129/130.)

Löhr, as a draftsman, was assigned to the building inspector Aßmann and at the same time came to China.

Küßer, as a draftsman assigned to the master builder Scheidtweiler and came to China with it.

Hunmelcke, gardener bon Profefsion, formerly in the service of Sir Robert Hart; for several years as a gardener and constable employed at the German embassy.

since N Robert Hart, Irishman, General Customs Inspector in China; directly in Chinese service and all his numerous rich European and Chinese officials are dependent on mercy or disgrace, so that he can rely on the same exerts a far-reaching influence. The customs service, as well as the harbor and lighthouse located under it He has organized the tower system in a motherly manner. He leads a kind of arbitrariness and terror over his officials, in which secret boasting and espionage is a big role. Hart is undoubtedly an important person, and probably no European knows how to deal with Chinese people so well like him. With many good S he is unscrupulous and by no means b de in the choice of his means, if it fit is about achieving one's goals or inconvenient To neutralize rivals; small and inconspicuous from shape and without outstanding social talents, makes he courts the ladies par force and finds the most among the wives of his subordinates, whose husbands he rewarded by advancement in the service. – His current The favorite was a certain Madame Mm née Wolf from Stuttgart, married to an American: her Brother was sent from Germany and became a teacher of the German language at Tung=Wen=College, whether» although he did not even speak proper German and certainly was prepared and educated for a teaching career.

– 7 =

The customs post between Tianjin and Peking is his institute and is administered by its customs officers. The Tung=Wen College, a kind of European academy for Chinese, in Beijing is also dependent on Bat by supporting the pro=feffors engaged and from ct.

In 1885, Sir Robert Hart became the Bolten of English ambassador in Ven, but he refused this offer after a short consideration. In case of his Assumption, it is said, a large part of the English Consular officials immediately resigned from their positions.

Sir Robert Hart has many influences and seeks the fame lastly by extending it by having sons of a= rich people into his service. Sir Robert is a tax collector, but an even greater sinner: also he is the chairman of the Society for the Propagation of Christianity thums in China and member of the Masonic Order. Mr.

von Brandt claimed that Sir Robert was Jewish, which I at least it remains to be seen whether it is great, although there is some evidence to speak, e.g. his sensuality, the use of Jews as informers in his service; then he is also Laucheff; his last private secretary was a Jew, named Liot, of unknown origin, who in 1888 won the Secretary of the English Embassy, the Jewish Lord Göschen traveled together from China to Europe.

If Sir Robert Hart is not Jewish either (incidentally the name Hart occurs among Jews) so it seems to me but the Chinese maritime customs service of the "Alliance Israelites would be targeted as prey by the "universal Israelites". But if Hart were really Jewish, then the Chinese to be regretted.

It may also be mentioned that Sir Robert Hart and Mr. von Brandt under normal circumstances only on moderately good 4 ft. (For more details see my Letters of 28 February 1889 to Prince von Bismarck Part II, page 134.)

Dr. Dubgeon, Scotsman, formerly Miffionsargt, from ben Bifionäcen gr. eftoßen; it is by Sir Robert Hart at Tung=Wen= College employed for media education: treats the officials ee and has some other medical practice in Beijing.

Ze SR

His main occupation today (1888) is the service a factotum to the Marquis Tfeng, where he performed the lowest services. He takes care of business and industrial affairs, accepts tips and has powerful business connections; attempts some kind of coup to make him rich; plays the Intermediate carrier in Peking and is generally considered a her= Dr. Dudgeon also "worked" with von Brandt in dubious bonds and other business matters. In No. 147 of the Chinese Times it says the following:

Tientsin, d. August 24, 1889.

"His Excellency the Marquis Tfeng is fully recovered= provided that physical well-being is taken into account. Some time ago, his preference for the Society noticed and people were surprised that a man of his origin, education and knowledge of European Culture should not be capable of maintaining decent society and what the Duke of Wellington called the dregs of the mob called to make a difference. Nevertheless, it is so; and foreign representatives in Beijing are in the uncomfortable situation that everything you communicate to His Excellency may be transmitted immediately to people who need such information for the most reprehensible purposes. (Namely, by Mr. Dr. Dudgeon in Beijing, Factotum of the Marquis T'eng, to the Jews Myres in Tientsin.) – One judges in the whole world a man according to the company he chooses, and in this respect the Marquis is certainly not happy in his choice. Dr. Dudgeon.) Some communications about the behavior and procedures of his environment not only be interesting for the audience, but also shed light on the events in the capital. – And No. 148 of the same paper dated 31 August 188 contains for then a long article, following on from the first, in which Mr. Myres is a notorious criminal and gentleman Dr. Dudgeon is referred to as his accomplice; and No. 155 The Chinese Times of 19 October explicitly states Dr. Dudgeon by name, so that no misunderstanding may prevail. (For Myres see Part IV, pages 182/184.)

Dr. 8. C. Atterburn, missionary doctor, from a respected American family, wealthy, has in Meina a school for Chinese mainly from their own resources directed.

Prof. E. Pander, Russian, teacher of Russian and German languages at Tungwen College, formerly for China in Peking (middle ages, transferred to the customs service). |

5

William Hancock, Irishman, customs officer of Sir Robert Hart and temporary teacher of English at Tungwen College (has since retired from the customs service).

Collingridge=Bing, Irishman, former merchant in Japan and Shanghai, lost his position due to reckless lifestyle and came without means to Tientsin and from there to Peking (1887). He did not bring a good reputation with him from Tientsin and was by him considered a mauvais sujet; his company was almost limited exclusively to the constables of the embassies. In Peking he took a position as a teacher of English language in a family, for which he receives food and lodging. In the capacity vindicated to him as In any case, it is a mauvais sujet and perhaps also because the Name Bing and fine, sharp facial features lead to the assumption justified that he might be of Jewish descent, by Mr. v. Brandt was hired to provide guard services for me: with I am pleased to note that Mr. Bing has made good on his poor reputation does not deserve, I have contrary perceptions and also in Kobe and Hokohama, where I subsequently= I inquired about him, heard that he was probably a reckless but not a bad person. Bing is free= mason and has reached the highest degrees.

Peter Kierulff, Dane, shop owner and Gloifonne manufacturer. Sold

| to Europeans wines, preserves, etc. w., to ke Galan= bread and the like, but also makes larger purchases conditions for the latter. .

Mrs. Frieda Lierulff, née Franke, wife of the previous, German, probably of Jewish descent, formerly Bonne in the family Hart, friend of Mr. von Brandt, where he daily also by Sir Robert Hart, who often comes to the Kierulff house.

C. Imbeck, German, assistant in the business of Mr. Peter Kierulff.

Jeaurénaud, a Jew from French-speaking Switzerland, makes all kinds of ftations in Peking, had to Ø statement of Mrs Frieda flee Switzerland on suspicion of arson flee.

Tientf in.

K. Bethge, Royal Master Builder in Krupp's Service as a Railwayman= Engineer and |. w.; was the last one in 1886 from "Syndicates sent out, Pi in China fine He left Tientsin in September 1888, and Ø currently in Siam for Krupp ur Herr Bethge is married to an "Italian woman" and is said to be a good, hard-working engineer, fine, yet he is harmless and cheerful and a good BEI he 7 generally popular. But he is a dependent character and therefore quite a

in A

Tool of unpolluted people who have fine skills for want to exploit their plans, whether good or bad. So For example, Mr. von Brandt intentionally and without Mr.

Bethge knew something about it, putting him in his debt by using him to rework my plans.
Mr. Bethge was at the same time as Mr. von Brandt in July 1888 in Berlin, where he unexpectedly got the mediation of Mr. von Brandt the title of Royal Building Councillor. He told me and others that he did not know what he received this title without even applying for it
A short time later, however, he seemed to have know what there is more than one piece of evidence for.

Luftav Detring, Customs Director in Tientsin, in the service of Sir Robert Hart, for whom he also had to perform all sorts of other services
Detring is German by birth, but flags= fleeting. He has always shown strong English tendencies, and this was the case until recently. Is enjoyed Detring the trust of Vice King Li Hung Chang, but he has given him commercial and industrial fo much bad advice that this relationship has changed completely. Nowadays the little used: used the King's European carriage to to keep them in use, and makes, if the Vice King distinguished European visit, the pioneer (actually. In municipal affairs, Detring useful and is, among other things, chief of the police and a music band, which he recently led to Peking himself, in order to to serenade Sir Robert 1 0's newest favorite That Mr. Detring is supposed to be as corrupt as Mr. von Brandt painted him, I never believed that he desperately believe in every success, whoever may have it, and where he comes from, depends and a faithful spy and will= loose tool of Sir Robert Hart, there is no weifel. In fine domestic life everything is designed to strangers, whoever they may be. Detring is also head of the customs post in Tienzin.

Drm Eveline Detring, née Bauer from Vienna, forms an integrating Part of the Menage Detring as an ear for Sir Robert Hart. Charming woman, tirelessly swings the pen, where her husband is not allowed or able to do so.

Charles Feindel, Imperial German Vice=Consul, from the Interpreter= service; opted Alsatian, good linguist, but yeah, neither German nor French, neither man nor woman.

s only male thing about Mr. Feindel is his 1 fo
They say he has since been promoted to consul in Amoy.

Dr. theol. Schrameier. In China for several years, learned quickly Chinese in a by the above-mentioned interpreter students,

As far as I know, the only one who, out of pure professional passion, en A a

China came, was formerly a convinced Social Democrat, then Private tutor of Privy Councillor von Kufferow of the Foreign Office Office, through whose protection he entered the interpreting service was brought.

Boos, clerk of the court of Tientsin, formerly a sailor.

Constantin von Hanneden, Lieutenant a. D., calls himself "Captain" and also "aide de camp" of the Viceroy. Both titles seem to be without authorization, although they are from the Chinese cannot be disputed. It was about the year 1879 at the instigation of Mr. Detring to China, that he had to quit Prussian military service. He built a large fort for the Chinese in Port Arthur. This fort has been a success in terms of both construction and strategy proved to be completely useless and is by the Chinese, after they had modified it many times, finally In 1887, Hannecken's Contract came to an end, and they did not want to renew it, because Hannecken had just PRAYED too wildly. The Chinese accuse him of spending too much money on the construction of the fort Hannecken had around this time (1887) a suffered an accident and was ill: with reference to this circumstance left and on the urgent use of friends, let finish the Vice-King moves, von Hannecken for some more years, but at a significantly reduced salary, what Hannecken had to accept. What actual authority Hannecken preserved fine is uncertain: how much, however, Hannecken explained the circumstances of his new engagement uses to make capital, and by what means, that The article in the 11th part, p. 204 ff., shows Captain v. Hannecken). The article is from the journal Jardine Matheson & Co. "The Chinese Times" and probably by Mr. Detring. Mr. von Hannecken was transferred to the Prussian Army only rehabilitated after he had Mr. von Ketteler, Mandl, Detring and others agreed to act together.

Hermann Mandl. Mr. von Brandt says about him that Mandl had committed fraud on the Vienna Stock Exchange and made a profit have to run. Mr. von Ketteler thinks he is a dirty Man who is unconcerned about commitments
5 Always sell services to the person who gives him the most money ezahlen. From other sources such information is

It is notorious that he had business in Shanghai Wu and is considered a professional player in Tientsin.
Mandl was charged with using Brandt's

Representative

von Krupp appointed him, but despite his opposition to= partial Nagan Sung of the aena

ardine Matheson & Co. Mandl is protégé

Detring and closely connected with v. Hannecken and v. Ketteler.

ze MR:

Latest news about Mandl.

Mr. von Brandt publicly praises Mr. Mandl as Agents at Krupp recommended. Mr. Secret Finance= rath Jenke, General Director of the Friedr. Krupp company in Effen, claims that he never spoke to Mr. von Brandt about Mandl Correipondirt (of course not! fo something will
At the end of December 1889,
on the occasion of a censor an imperial edict to all General Governors of China, which they placed on the deceptions of two Jews Mandl and Myres
Mr. von Brandt is simultaneously requested to inform the German Consuls and merchants before the "German" Mandl
Mr. Mandl has won several medals in Shanghai acquired, including the Greek Order of the Redeemer, on the neck to wear. Mr. Mandl longs for a star on the chest! |

Quote from a letter from an acquaintance:

"Mandl is very friendly with Lindau from Foreign Office, he will probably have something put in his buttonhole."

News from China. September 1890.

| "It is said that Mandl is not supposed to represent Krupp only for Germany but also for Japan." (See Part II, p. 179 ff. Memorandum of the censor in the article:
"Modern Judaism in China.") As they say, Mandl and Mr. Mickie, also an Austrian richer and an Englishman, by Mr. von Brandt as Directors of the newly established German East Asian Bank in

1 China suggested."

Micie, Englishman, agent of Messrs Jardine Mathefon & Co. for 9 Tientsin and Peking in government business.

J. Dunn, also employed by Jardine Mathefon & Co., Editor-in-chief of the Tienzi newspaper "The Chinese Times", property of the company mentioned. (Meanwhile

7 died.)

k, Inspector of the Municipal Police in Tientfin under orders of Mr. G. Detring.

- - - - -

Shanghai. |

Sardine Mathefon & Cho., large English company, for many years

established in China and Japan, with connections in India and England, has tried in recent years to direct the monopolize the export business in China, 1 with little folg. In the application of its means, the fin ferupulous. In this time the company is said to have to the French industrial . in Ton ac of Messrs Bavier, Chauffour and others, a

the company not

was in Japan at the copper rings of the Comptoir d'Escompte de Paris ufw. This company has in London as a partner or agent a Dutch German Jew named Bosmann, who in turn with the Austrian company mentioned Jews Mandl. The company Mandl & Co. is registered in the German Consulate, whereas Mandl as Protected by the English Consulate.

JJ Buchheifter, head of the German company Buchheifter & Co. in Shanghai; quite significant Aardine 2 has recently
Time sometimes together with Jardine Mathefon & Co.

a worked.

Buchheifter, jun., nephew of the previous one, came in May 1888 at the instigation of Mr. von Brandt's trip to Peking to study Chinese to study.

The customs post between Tientsin and Peking is under the management by Sir Robert Hart in Peking and is delivered by courier worried about those riding on Chinese ponies. The time of the Be- en of letters from Tientsin to Peking and vice versa is on average 24 hours. The postal officials will mostly accepted from the lower customs service, change often and therefore find themselves with their professions and responsibilities. The complaints about opened letters on this route are numerous, but nevertheless this evil have not yet been controlled; not only business letters, but also private letters, and it extends the suspicion of various e is demonstrable, that among other things, a private letter from Madame M., Sir Robert Hart's last favourite, a after it had been opened previously.

)

The ring that Mr. von Brandt made in China with fine helpers and The aim of the project is to form accomplices, which is roughly as follows: gender-specific: staffing of consular and interpreter positions= post in China, if possible, with people of Jewish descent Expulsion of the better and purely German elements. Use mainly of those people who, as a result of a doubtful past distress or helplessness to the inter= national Judaism can easily be made subservient and to all actions, especially spying on German Merchants in favor of the Jews, as in Part II in Report No. 16 to the Imperial German Grand Peking is presented. This is the manner, which has been used especially in France to 8 and industry under the yoke of international Judaism. That the na also at the Ringe directly or indirectly involved companies, i.e. primarily

Line the companies Jardine Matheson & Co., as well as Friedrich

= A

Krupp in Ejién finally chosen for the Jew= thum to be made subservient, there exists for I have some doubts. Of course, I also have Noerfon made inquiries of Mr. Jenke, whose Names suggest Jewish origins. (There used to be in Shanghai a Jewish Mr. Jenke.) The information is: Mr. Jenke himself does not look very Jewish, but he has a distinctly Jewish-looking sister; also "One's nature and actions suggest Jewish origins."

& must suffice for the time being.

The special international character of this ring is probably sufficiently illuminated by the preceding, and the 9th field also stands out sufficiently; but also The "German hostility" may be explained by the following: find lighting:

The company Friedrich Krupp had appointed as its representative in Japan a Lieutenant Colonel Mr. Ilgner. The same Pie in September: tember 1888 also China and the Vice=King Li Hung Chang He came to Tientsin and found the company Mandl as Krupp's agent, where he was told by the people 1 was given appropriate treatment. He had to en Vice=King, and he was given all kinds of He was then sent to to whom he had provided his diligent reports and work, immediately to Peking, where Mr. von Brandt and von Ketteler were already waiting for him. So! it was said, we once had him= currently worried! In Peking, of course, extraordinary, amiable= dignified reception and many beautiful sayings; then the Lieutenant Colonel complimented again to Tientsin, where he was again imprisoned, and then a trip to see the cannons in Port Arthur on a cannon messenger of the Vice King to inform about it SR report to be able to write for Krupp in en.

Probably a Chinese order was made for him and then it was: "Just a quick F there on the guy! stamped, and away with it! Thank God! We are rid of him, and he can no longer in the cards E You have to have experienced something like this to to believe it. The Lieutenant Colonel himself is amazed bob, when he hears this, and hardly has any idea of ben, how much he has been duped; but different things will probably come back to him after some thought= niß come. |

This is the Krupp agency in China! At the moment Mr. Krupp has a Lieutenant Colonel Vogel

as tele enten in China. How the Jews with» Only experience can tell you how to play. If you

a 0,

believes that such Jewish experiments will last for some time.
If you think you can achieve this, you are mistaken. Only the Jews and some dissolute, corrupt officials squandered money serve. But the reputation of the Germans is lost.

The Chinese government seems to be in peace
this famous "policy" of Mr. von Brandt rather to Ru country and France: neither have it so bad
Neither the Russians nor the French drove the Ehingen.

—

German-Asian-Bank.
in Shanghai (China)
(Telegram address: Teutonia Shanghai.)
Responsible share capital five million Shanghai taels = 22500000 Mark D. RW.

The Deutsche-Asiatische Bank in Shanghai dedicates its activities
the maintenance of general banking business, in particular commercial banking" relations of Germany with the markets of East Asia.
The German Asian Bank in Shanghai takes over the In-
All bills of exchange with or without documents on all plates of Asia, as well as all future commercial transactions of your country conditions. It will strive to increase the sales area for the products to help expand German industry.

The following list and their branches are available for download.
mediation of traffic with the Deutsche-Asiatische Bank:

General-Direction of the .

Management of the Disconto-Gesellschaft

Deutsche Bank

S. Bleichröder

Berliner Handelsgesellschaft

Bank for Trade and Industry

Robert Warshaw & Co.

Mendelssohn K Co.

MA Rothschild & Co. in Frankfurt a. M.

in Berlin

Jacob SH Stern

Norddeutsche Bank in Hamburg

Sal. Oppenheim Jr. & Co. in Cologne.

Bavarian Mortgage and Exchange Bank in Munich.

On October 1, 1889, the staff of this bank embarked led by Mr. von Brandt, who after e Auf= had to leave the field in Europe, in Genoa after Shanghai; the working personnel who bear the burdens the construction in Shanghai, the connection of the 8 connections and also through personal experiences seem to create a trustworthy impression consisted exclusively of Germans: as "director"

= NO =

100 a former Shanghai-based merchant who formerly head of the Jewish-English company Reiß & Co., with him. Mr. Moritz Kalb, that is his name, is an Englishman and, if one believes the assurance of a young Semite Even the German government has agreed let, in view of the "genuinely German patriotic" company, the salary of Mr. Moritz Kalb for the one year for which he is engaged, the poor bankers with 100,000 marks to be paid. About the specifically "German" of the above-mentioned banking companies is probably no longer a word to lose, and if you also consider that Mr. von Brandt seriously attacked the Austrian Jew Mandl and the Englishman Mickie as director for the so-called "German" bank in China proposed and if so that Germanness of this bank is fully described. As it seems, For the time being, the bank will still be sweating its brow German employees have to work, because Aneta sees the stock market scam in China is still weak. Kalb has just returned from China, and a second German Director, who, it seems, is destined for Tientfin, is said to to China. As soon as the good Germans on their honest faces and the still decent names of the 8 Prussian maritime trade perhaps some government have established business with China, the one in the background Judas, lurking in the ground, will take care of his own and steal the fruits of the good Germans' labour or make sure that they do not get too much.

It should only be mentioned here that the Secret Financial rath Jenke, General Director of the industrial company Krupp in Efen, sits on the supervisory board of this stock exchange bank: what does the industrial Krupp had to deal with a n that merely under the flimsy cloak of a bank to Promotion of German trade and German industry

Which industry is established in China?

East Asian Lloyd. A company founded in Shanghai around 1886.
founded German patriotic youth to attract subscribers
To obtain this, the patriotic drum was beaten. Sub=
This newspaper was first sponsored by the Warsaw company in Berlin. The newspaper is therefore in 1 and 1 entirely in the service of the Deutsche=Afiatische Bank, and Everyone can easily tell for what purposes the time
tion is founded.

. ER 8... -ů -ř

III.

Potential conversations with Berrn von Brandt and All sorts of things from Beijing.

When I made the acquaintance of Mr.
von Brandt, and they entered into a friendly agreement relationship, was almost regularly repeated at every meeting.
moderately dealt with the Jewish question. Especially on Sundays, when I always a guest of the ambassador and the ambassador's staff ft was invited to the table, Mr. von Brandt tended the table with to open a small anti-Jewish campaign. The participants at the table were currently, apart from me, the Count of Tattenbach, Legation= Secretary, now Minister-Resident in Morocco, Mr. KJ Streich, now Vice-Conful in Swatow, Baron E. von Seckendorff, now Consul in Tientsin and Baron C. von Ketteler, now Legation Secretary, and to Time in Berlin. As the most travelled and from Europe where the Jewish question was so much of a public interest in

I had to discuss most of it contribute to the same. The discussions mostly took the course that Mr. von Brandt, who took the side of the Jews, from the rest of us was so cornered with arguments that he became disgruntled dropped this topic and moved on to another. I give Here are the results of these conversations in aphoristic form.

"What impression did you get of the Jews in Europe?" asked von Brandt.

– “When I returned in 1877 after an absence of nine years came to Germany, it seemed to me as if one had entered the returned to his father's house and found new foreign members the family, who with much shouting and assurance of the Love and loyalty surrounded the aged head of the family, while at the same time they lied and cheated and the legitimate children were pushed back.”

“– “The impression was not improved by anything except a Jew= ae tried to shoot the old Kaiser and the offspring of the most loyal of all Jews at the moment when the Kaiser was seriously wounded was lying there, when an IK boy under the one of condolences "It was a direct slap in the face to German national feeling." f

0
i |

®
My friend v. Brandt. 6

HE,

9 “The Jews are pushing their way into the highest offices among all . and only the right arm of Germany, the army, seems % To be fairly free of these parasites.”

0 0

0
“They accumulate great wealth by the worst means.
The “deputy judge” speaks in Parliament of artificial millions ad 0 rerei as if one were talking about pig farming. This is a Blechye's picture and must necessarily be thoughts of a future slaughter.”
0 8

0

“It is both humiliating and outrageous to think that
* Germans seem to have the fate of the children of Israel 583 Having to drag the whole globe; on the broad
They sit firmly on the German's shoulders and follow him 90 Step by step in the whole world to him and the others water. All Jewish people, whether rich or poor, sail fast

0/71 under the German flag, and what German diligence abroad
1005, which spoils Ieracl in a short time and insults and finally the good German name."

* 0

0

"The joy that we now have the German war flag on all Mecten can unfold, is for those who can see, thereby winning that invisibly behind the German flag the smear symbol of Judaism, like a yellow quarantine flag, worries."

f 0 0

0

Art "With horror I see the time coming when our German Ledgs swear the proud names "Abraham," "Isaac," and "Jacob"; speech, "Kohn" and "Itzig". The children of Israel Heinen is truly preparing to take the crown from the old Kaiser to steal everything without him noticing it."

0 9

fr And how do you think the matter will turn out?
said von Brandt. | Sr:

"If we let the matter continue as it is now, then
In ten years we will have Itzig I on the throne!"

"And then?" |

u "Then I'll go home and become a Social Democrat! Good luck=

However, a countercurrent is probably making itself felt, and in addition Bismarck there; he will make sure that the gender society does not come too high."

N One Sunday Mr. von Brandt asked again: "What is new in the Ae . 5

I then told of an illustration at some time=

"which depicted a Themis, on whose chair at the te the head of Lasker, on the other the head of the Reichsgericht= was approved by the president Simphon. The band of Themis was removed= taken and the scales are incorrect. The caption of the picture simply said: "Judstitin" .

Count Tattenbach, who was sitting next to me, nudged me and said to me afterwards: "For heaven's sake, what have you done?
Mr. von Brandt is a close relative of Mr. Simfon;

write to each other with every post!"

Mr. von Brandt, however, had liked the joke, about it laughed and didn't let anything else be noticed. All this was in year 1880.

At the beginning of 1883 Mr. von Brandt and I travelled to Europe; we were often together there, and he avoided the Jews= society which he allegedly hated.

In March 1884, von Brandt returned to China; I followed only in April 1887. In the meantime we received the correspondence denz maintained. When I was with him in August 1837 on the Embassy, the Jewish question was on his agenda excitement always becomes the main subject of conversation.

We now had different foundations. In Germany, the question apparently fell asleep and disappeared from the surface, but for anyone who could see a little deeper, it was no secret. that the latent hatred against Judaism is constantly growing was attacked.

von Brandt was always aware of some events in Berlin, namely better informed than I, which proved that he was always received news on this matter.

For example, I had never visited anti-Semitic churches and in fact hardly knew the leaders of the anti-Semitic groups by name: I was an amateur autodidact and was primarily only . on one's own perceptions, and that is probably what it was, what made Brandt so keen to discuss the matter with me.

Drumont's famous book "La France juive" had been published and everywhere the question anew in the most varied We stimulated and encouraged reflection and study of previously published Works encouraged, and we had thousands of connections= points. I myself had meanwhile travelled to all countries and circumnavigated the world and so much in relation to the international impact of Judaism, that von Brandt almost was inexhaustible in his questions and never wanted to hear enough could come! . ®

Here, for the sake of curiosity, I would like to describe a characteristic incident which took place on the very day of my arrival.

Ø was unpacking my books: von Brandt was there and looked at the books! "Not even a single obscene Book them!" he said.

"Well, you know that I do not keep such books, that that is not my taste!" was the answer. f

Meanwhile, with wonderful infatuation, he had written a book which is entitled: "Fundamentals of Social Sciences" 692

– 84 –

This book is a translation from English, a Popular scientific work that has appeared in many editions, And in its second part it deals with some sexual questions. This Tre persuaded him to ask for the book for himself. While looking through my photograph album he just missed if a few nudities; I only had two. Alber. Those who travelled with him; these were "Felicia" and "the fairy tale" von Graef. He immediately took them out of the album and asked: "The I will explain it to you!" "With pleasure," I say, "but I understand nicht. How you can see such a

Just refuse can take."

I then told him how I had accidentally come to these. Alder George I only had information about the Graef trial above von Brandt, heard without having followed it. I told v. Brandt, If you had once found a newspaper in a Swiss hotel, in which a court hearing of this trial was printed.

Some stranger had written in blue pencil the names of the witnesses, underlined by experts, etc.; these were all

Wilche names, and on the margin of the newspaper was a fitting remark about Judaism, which developed out of pure hobby into em swamp of this process. N |

ken" And all this endless dirt," I said, "enthusiastic in Barden Pe Lindau, to take up fine sounds and in "Nord and south to start singing the zobgefang of the sewer! N eri I had not remembered the names of the Jews involved. di lt later, when I read this booklet in Europe, I found that x Jews involved almost all, partly relatives, partly intimate Friends, and probably all like-minded people of Mr. von Brandt. Only now did I understand why Mr. von Brandt was such a Hates had taken an interest in Graef's paintings. The

The count himself is said to be not a Jew, but a Jewess

I have advised you. I have this process printed with painter af, his models and the press IV. Part) to the Nivcan gen, on which our Judaism moves, and like the swamp:

àmoſphöäre accompanies the same all over the world. How significant
It can be read in the document how the Justice Counselor Simson,

The brother of our Reich Court President, the painter Graef, the old senile sinner enthusiastically throws her arms around his neck and kisses him.
eich' a picture: and what bouquet of Semites unfolds
there: Bernstein, Isaac, Salomonsohn, Dr. Liman, Dr. Wolff, Dr.
Lewin, Dr. Julius Leffing, hc Lindau, Frentzel, Salomon, Dern=
burg, brothers Davidfohn, Holdheim and Philipps u. |. w. –
von Brandt and I have always been interested in literature different countries. When we talked about the low productivity of the German literature, von Brandt said: "The only book.
l could reconcile myself with German literature, if Lindau's
The Bug to the West."" . .
Our views on this were completely different. von Brandt

– 85 –

claimed that this book was a genuine German national work, in the middle taken from life, and an excellent description of the ele=
pleasant Berlin life in a fluid, pleasant presentation.

f My opinion, however, was that this book was a tendency novel fei, written in the flimy=flimy=flippery style of the Jew= thumbs; however, something for the large audience and calculated to spoil its taste. I thought the whole thing was a scourge of the infinitely better French literature of this Genres, transferred to Berlin conditions.

"In general," I said, "we are in Berlin like Parisians=
nis. I have often been to both cities and 7918 ft always found that in Berlin, as far as corruption is concerned, we always have five to fix years behind Paris. In addition, you will find the whole Band of Jewish writers always on the move between Paris and Berlin, and carefully trying like the dung beetles to remove every new dirt from Paris to Berlin."

As for the "Train to the West", it is
I find it incomprehensible how you, in your position as a German ambassador and as the son of an officer, to write this book can haunt!"

"How should I understand that?" asked Mr. von Brandt.

"Just think about what the book describes," replied

I. A conceited, cheeky Jewish boy commits adultery horizon= tales business with a German young woman, who about it with ,Ans ftand' is destroyed. The whole thing plays in a fstrongly Jewish= parvenu society. The main characters are Jews and

And who are the extras? Young cavalry officers, which are spoiled in the atmosphere of this society, without they notice it themselves, and furthermore some specimens of come down my envoys or ambassadors, that is, your colleagues!

"However," said Mr. von Brandt, "from that side I have I've never looked at the matter before." |

On later occasions I would probably say to him: "You I don't like my friend Paul Lindau at all. I was with the same often want to make acquainted, but I have always I have renounced the honor intended for me, and have even refused it several times gone the way. Everyone must in such matters fo his own Taste 80 en. Of the three Lindaus I have enough of the someone I met at your place before."

' During the discussion of Drumont's "La France juive" we speak about the Jewish-Aryan mismarriages and the happiness such marriages, the situation of people who married a rich Jewish woman but in return they had to accept the blessing of Jewish children.

Rumont says about this in his mentioned work Volume IS 4: »Basically, these despisers of wealth find themselves satisfied when those who have accumulated mammon also pro= want to be fit. After they have come down so far, they themselves become the greatest scoffers." i |

"Do you want to know what the language of blood is?" asked fine friends a French duke, who against the will of his 0 Her "cine FAR Ha EA HH had married, "then see

88

It

= calls his fine little son, pulls a Louis d'or out of his pocket a 8 gives him the same; the child's eyes sparkle. a fi softe hen you," said the Duke, "the instinct of the Semite shows place!" |

A. This small passage, as well as the motto which Drumont chose for his Berk Ac has chosen: "The actions of the Jews and their sit= are unknown to the world. One thinks one knows them, 9 you see their beards. But you don't pay any attention 1 d T efe beards. In other respects they are still as in middle ages a walking mystery." (Heinr. Heine) formed hen ig the outcome of our Jewish debates. Sometimes treated in a cool tone of objectivity, sometimes with o Ben Eifer: but always very serious, because von Brandt knew without doubt the importance of the question just as well, if not better, than ic. the mood into which von Brandt was led by these debates= Mar, was very different. Sometimes he judged in great anger ter the Jews and their wickedness: sometimes he broke with a Fivofen remark a long conversation, as if cr böfe Ges | wanted to scare away the anken by forced fun; then f suddenly became fentimental and sad again and used to say praise to quote and discuss Goethe's words: "Every guilt goodbye to earth!" – "Do you believe in it?" he asked.

fpr from the Paris newspaper "Evenement" of May 3, 1876

Roche

Yes Prince Abraham, the Marquis of Aftruc and the Duke of a

had somewhere linked to this article the remark that in a

We made various observations on this and I said:
n The

As often as possible and to see whether there is yes and but so far I haven't figured it out; we can change

2 LL k S 0 2 0

fe | has Jewish roots, that is actually hen, whether he might have Jewish ancestors and Uhu reason

ie. ET = spy on us!" This was said in a joking tone, but nevertheless I am now firmly convinced that he has this suspicion in the deed, although the Jewish conversations only focused on his occasion. The Jewish question haunted him like a demon, which is now very understandable in retrospect; just as understandable

such as that he, as a secret Jew, who is known to the world and especially to me & has been making the most careful efforts for ten years to in and actions to conceal his origin and race, in 8 Others also assume such a sophisticated fraud could.

What an effort it must have cost this man, just towards me for so many years the benevolent, decent People, to play the honest, incorruptible official, when he all the time and from time immemorial to the international Jew~~=~~ thum was related to.

He carefully told me the names of his numerous Jewish Hidden from relatives like bad goods.

Von Brandt was extremely generous with his photographs too fine; I own at least half a dozen of them, but they all from middle age; photographs from his But he never produced any; even the pictures of his father and mother were missing from his numerous albums.

Once upon a time, a German Catholic bishop, Mr. Anzer, was on the Embassy invited to breakfast: the guests were all gathered in the ambassador's office and waited for the Vischof, who had been late. We stood as As one would say, "the legs in the body", and I looked from Boredom the pictures that hung on the wall. Although I I had probably been in this room more than a hundred times, a small picture hidden in a corner escaped. It was a photograph and depicted a group of four gentlemen, who were sitting around a table and were being served wine by a Japanese man. I asked Mr. von Brandt who these gentlemen were. He named me the names of three and said of the other: "This is I! Don't you think I look like a Semite?" I thought this was a joke and as the bishop just entered, he paid attention I didn't look any further at the picture and forgot about the little incident.

5 see so far 5 the she Nn F 5 ish o isher only French, Italian and Belgian Bishops found 1 Catholic

France has had and still has, to some extent, the Protectorate of Special Catholic Missions 10 China If any If a bishop gets into differences with Chinese authorities, the French ambassadors in Peking to receive 1 5 Sh and to fight, regardless of which nation the bishop belongs to.

With the arrival of a bishop of German nationality, the question already discussed earlier whether it would not be practical that the In case of disputes, the Bishops would not prefer to refer dog pushed.

Gefundten of their respective nation should turn back to the front=

"One day von Brandt discussed this point with me, and ee : ", this latter could be enforced, but I have no Interest in it: you only create trouble and the latter
I would be only too happy to meet a French colleague, but a bishop matt e I have here, a Protestant one of course: not because of the Re Legion, that is nonsense, but because of the influence and because of the language. The next time I go to Europe,
So I think I have a good idea of the matter with the Jewish bankers:
You can." – "What do you think about it?" . .

One opinion is that it should not be too difficult to keep a ple ft to erect a tic bishop's chair, but the idea that this colorful) I don't like what is supposed to happen to these bankers!
A staunch vifchof could certainly do a lot of good here." – I

Then he told him about the character that had changed in recent years.
1 of the Protestant missions in the interior of China, where they developed rich activity alongside the Catholic missions.
! V

5 By the way, I said, "your Jewish friends would hardly be willing Michen, the means for such an enterprise as you have in mind have. to surrender; you would have more prospects with the believers!"
halt I, said v. Brandt, one could use the funds for the subsidiaries 10 ung of the bishop's chair through a lottery! I laughed naked. this practical idea and said "Are you joking?" "None=
then von Brandt said irritably, "We also have the Cologne 55 mbau gefchen that God has nothing against lotteries.
laughed." I could not help but think of the idea that seemed objective to pursue and paint a little further and "How should such a clever bishop, such a sable=Vifchof and with what consciousness must he 5 Take office! Why not a bishop on shares? What Aer idea, a stock bishop! Why not also a stock bishop?
kingdom or an imperial series on shares?" – "Basically Amen, we actually already have that"), said v. Brandt.
1155 the article in the chapter "General observations and aftermath= ate from the Eréuement by Aurélien Scholl) Another time we discussed the topic of corruption r officials and the corruption among officials in the army, in the arine and in . The considerations made about it were by no means of a pleasant nature. I made the statement:

N Tas is the appeal of an Imperial German ambassador from our German aferreich! The view that the state exists for nothing else than to exploit characterizes the Judaism of Mr. von Brandt and his family Aundögenofien. Then imagine a state in which all high offices are held by practice beleider find, who proceed according to these views, and one will nich think of this thought easily come to the conclusion that a certain state nt can exist. But the Jew cannot escape such imaginings and for this reason it seems to me that a Jewish official in a German state is an absurdity.

– 9 –

"The corruption of a state is in exact proportion= niffe to the number of Jews he accommodates"; the same applies as a whole as well as in detail to each department, from Civil service Bonn! as well as the army, navy, clergy and all Civil professions. The educated Jews are the most dangerous; the more more dangerous, the higher you are on the social scale and the greater their influence is. These latter are double, triple We live in a sad dei" =

"How long will it take until our Royal Palaces
in Berlin, Potsdam n. f. w. inhabited by bow-legged Semites where a degraded nobility is happy like in France=
ly appreciate, of the 9 Shems for hunting and for the table to be invited? Believe me, our loyal patriots tic citizens have the crown treasures of 1 and Germany long ago valued. They long for the moment when they come under the hammer, and the Jewish women see themselves already in spirit in the adornment of the former crown diamonds of the High= Zollern. Wittelsbachs and Wettins strutting along."

"Do you believe in decent Jews?" asked von Brandt.

"Only insofar as the exception confirms the rule. Every People always believe they know at least one decent Jew,
a south that is an exception, while the whole ity of the people is unsympathetic: I too have long been in the
I have found faith, but have often had bad experiences.

We have the most blatant example of this together in our community friend Mr. J. Neustadt (see the article keuftadt, but you don't even have to go far.

With all my Jewish acquaintances I have had some experiences experiences. Sometimes it was just small things that are not worth mentioning: they were oddities that tets pointed out that they had a sincere friendship Aryans are not capable of always concealing something and have to cover up. In my youth I knew Jewish families who have lived in small German towns for generations and narrowly escaped, as long as they were under the so-called pressure of lived without equal rights. The rise of the Jew N en) the founding period and J. W. awakened in them the instinct of affection; they became arrogant, allowed themselves to be drawn into all kinds of speculations, tions and went bankrupt. The alien Jews, who previously lived in small towns, immediately found contact with international Jewry and lost the feeling of Home entirely.

It is possible that there are Jews who, in our sense,
have led and still lead decent lives, but these are taken and you can never trust them. Like the robbery
A new example from France shows us what this breed is all about.
furt a. M., where a wealthy Jewish doctor, who was some seventy years old and had lived a motherly life until then.

in "ON change, was convicted because he had a receipt of four marks to pay his German shoemaker deceive. It is always the same old story with Judaism; nine For ninety years a Jew can appear as a loyal friend; offers fhowever, in the 1st year an opportunity where he best friend with impunity, then he will use her.

The Jew is the personified lie, and that is also the same thing that the Heine quote used by Drumont is meant to say. The Jew is like a predator that can be temporarily tamed, whose prey nature and wildness but at the first opportunity again returns. You can train a cat to be at peace with dogs.
ly to live together and to eat from one bowl, but always retain their cat nature and in freedom immediately show: even such a great magician as Virchow will never dog nature can be vaccinated.

If you break the fangs of a pair of poisonous snakes, so that it is itself harmless, such the young ones who are in This state of affairs testifies to the presence of poisonous snakes."

"Oh, how right you are," said von Brandt, "how right you are You! My rich friends Bleichröder and Schwabach would also take pleasure to read for a few lousy pennies
if they could do so with impunity!"

And one day he complained: "Just think: I get it just received a letter from Europe with the news that Simfon is the railway councilor in Strasbourg a recently born son Rolf baptized."

How does that sound like "Wolf Simfon"! (He wanted to indicate that the Samfons cannot renounce Judaism).

Of course, the topic of baptized Jews and Jews' prostlings were often treated. Drumont had a thousand suggestions Heine and Vörne, Disraeli and Gambetta, whose lives course, as everyone knows, had to be for the futility and us secure of Jewish baptism, baptized Alexander VI and especially the deluded of Eliot's novel of the same name "Daniel Deronda" as Typhus for the uninhabitants. And from these, a a number of well-known political personalities in Germany as well as in the whole world. Our Minister Friedberg, Lucius and also von Goßler were invited to a discussion Friedberg, as Minister of Justice, from whom I had heard that 1 whose heap was still eaten "kosher", and which in the first Line as legislator of Germanic land, took my greatest Inteteffe in demand, all the more because I have various statements and actions of this gentleman were noticed as suspicious. This This happened, for example, in a session of the Reichstag, where legal which was negotiated. There the Minister had the Statement 79 n: "Yes, in earlier years, when I still had the idea build, to improve the world etc. I thought at this point= mung: "When a minister has given up the will to rule the world

u.

improve, then he can only let it, worsen it or want to let it stagnate; because in politics and legislation there is There is no standstill and a person who 1 sets the will on He who has given up on striving for the better, places himself under the ie; and if even a minister takes such a stand knows, then it is more than useless, then it is harmful to society." A other time, uf gelt unan ala was touched by the frivolity the legislation regarding the admissibility of the totalitarian regime in Berlin. The law abolishing the totalitarian system was already completed and recognized: then suddenly it is said that this institute still wants retained for the higher social classes. To achieve this To enforce this, special steps must be taken. The two Jewish Minister Friedberg and Lucius went on their own Person to the old Kaiser Wilhelm to give lectures in favor of the dead talisman. What is recognized as reprehensible on one day was found to be permissible the next day, thanks to the skill with which the legislation was passed by the two Jewish rulers niftern Friedberg and Lucius. One, two, three!

and "God bless Cohn!" the totalifator was back, and the minister of Puttkamer had to submit like Pontius Pilate sign, ie enact the law. a

On this occasion I said to Mr. von Brandt: "I
There is nothing about legislation, but it seems to me as if The Jews have it completely in their hands and after The time will probably come when we change our entire legislation and every single law on Jewish content must be examined. The entire Jewish community in Germany always marches close to the border of our laws and since our . Laws are a chain with numerous gaps, so slip
The Jews always go through the latter. The German is a po= fitive and the Inde is a negative thinking person and therefore can we do not live under common laws."

From the officials of the Foreign Office in Berlin, Privy Legation Counsellor P. Kayfer the topic of our lower W The same had previously been a city judge in Berlin, had the second son of Prince von Bismarck for the afeffor examination= prepared and was first in the Reich Justice Office and later in the Foreign Office. He had been baptized. A man, who was a follower of Judaism until his forty-year-old age was, suddenly gets baptized for reasons that are too transparent. I remembered von Brandt of a small painting von Knauß entitled: "Salomonic Wisdom", whereupon a small Jew the boy receives teachings from an old Jew. The picture is excellent, especially the facial expression of the smile= a small book. What a beautiful subject for a painting would the situation where Dr. Kayfer, for example, the Christian Rabbi Dr. Paulus Selig) Caffel for instruction in the Gospel and asks for the cell. A painting by pre-Roman Augurs would fade into nothingness in comparison!

– 92 –

And now Dr. Kayfer is a pillar of Christianity and has its hands in the fate of German missions!

During such conversations I often asked von Brandt how that Prince Bismarck surrounded himself with so many Jews that he uses them to an extent that is almost incomprehensible and seemed dangerous. Everyone knew that, but how the Majority of all people, so I also considered him not only a Antifemites but also for the only one who appeared called, to banish the growing demon of Judaism. I, for example, was as I often said to Mr. von Brandt, the view that the Kaiser Wilhelm was old, and Prince Bismarck perhaps with respect and to relieve the old Kaiser of his pain and excitement

to avoid an evolution, the foreseeable future want to wait for his death before taking repressive measures
"Because," I said, "without pain it will not Judaism is tough: and if one speaks of a
If a tree tears down a climbing plant, then a piece bark down with it." von Brandt sought such direct questions to face evasively, and he never succeeded in assuaging the concern which the contradiction in the words and the actions Bismarck's instilled in him with regard to Judaism, to completely defeat.

It may have been after one of these conversations that Mr.
von Brandt published a book entitled: "Through Siberia" by a Mr. Wilhelm Joeft, whom I had previously met in Peking, with the request to read it. That the same has any

I knew in advance what the situation would be like with regard to the Jewish question and also that it was given to me under the condition that this specific content of the book will be discussed between us later should. I found in this book, 2nd edition page 97 the following passage: 5

"The great Jew interested me through the knowledge of all his important European co-religionists. He knew of Crémieux, Sir Moses Montefiore, Beaconsfield, Rothschild, Lasker, etc.; that he also thought Gambetta was a Jew, I let him get away with it but when he claimed that Prince Bismarck was also more maternal
"Since I was descended from Jews, I had to put a stop to his zeal."
" Just as Mr. Joeft did, I also put this idea did not attach the slightest value to it, and said to von Brandt: "The feen once again an outflow of genuine Jewish vanity seems too fine, which not only makes their Lord God a Jew, but also all rough men of the world, like Alexander the Great, Caesar, Christopher Columbus would most like to suspect of Judaism."

In the assessment and appreciation of people, Mr.
von Brandt is full of contradictions. While he, for example, previously Al.
called Dr. Dudgeon a degraded man in space treated him with contempt and called him a quack,

This doctor nevertheless spent a lot of time on the embassy, which I mainly attributed to Brandt's inclination for medical studies. Mr.
von Brandt is an amateur physician. Since he himself often suffering, he takes a lot of measures to cure himself; he is also an arsenic.

– 93 –

Nothing seems to give him greater pleasure than other to medicate people. If someone is sick, be it in the envoy thrift or outside, he is always supplied with medicines from fine inexhaustible pharmacy at hand and, when he was assisted by Dr. Dudgeon heard that someone in Peking was sick, he sent the patient Medicine, wine and other refreshments. I still remember especially in one case where Marquis Tfeng was ill, and von Brandt commissioned Dr. Dudgeon to bring this wine.

On August 10, 1887, Mr. Constans was now Minister of the Interior (in France) from Peking; I had just had Geographical had the opportunity to see the same: this person interested me in highest degree. He was a French citizen for several years. envoy in Peking. What he did and accomplished there. I did not know yet, but his name was familiar to me from France known and especially through Drumont's book "La France juive". .

I was told about a fine personality in Peking who most favorable manners; bad manners, rude, obscene speech species always in the mouth, with a word "vulgar" in the word boldest meaning, but clever and unscrupulous. von Brandt confirmed this description, but strangely he was proud of the acquaintance with Constans. In the Parisian there was even a commented on the friendship between von Brandt and Constans Constans is said to have hunted: "mon ami de Brandt", which I was not informed by Brandt without a certain fee. He exchanged letters with Constans. I remember how von Brandt me, I think it was mid-September 1887, said: "I want I would like to give you a confidential message. I have just received a letter from Constans also Cochinchina. He shares I was told that Jochen, the Governor General (I think his name was Philippini) suddenly died of blood poisoning. did not know, and it is also nothing unusual that someone suddenly dies in tropical countries, I was interested in the media lung en and I was just surprised that Mr. von Brandt a relatively indifferent matter in a mysterious manner announced.

Only years later, after I had heard that Mr. Constans became the successor of the then Governor General was, and I read his biography from Drumont's book: "La dernière bataille" (as I described it in the article "Monsieur Constans" IV. Part p. 146 ff.) I could explain to myself to some extent, why Mr. von Brandt had been so mysterious at the time, and what he and Mr. v. Ketteler meant with their references to the Unter attitude towards Constans. (See Part I, p. 14.)

Mr. von Brandt runs a good kitchen and had a French praised, von Brandt added: "The good Joseph is actually a murderer, he is said to have killed someone with poison, and I only keep him through my protection." "Why are you sending the Guy not gone?" I said, "it is not a pleasant feeling to have a to have such a person as a cook." "Ah," said von Brandt, "that it is all the same to me, I ate nothing and Joseph is very devoted to me," Then he called the cook in and we agreed, as often happens, ger occurred, the menu for the following day.

As already stated, Mr. von Brandt, as well as

Mr. von Ketteler, at first very unfavorably about the Jew Mandl=

When Mr. von Brandt contacted me a few months later with= shared that it was he who had appointed this man to the representative of the Krupp company,

my first thought was to extend my friendship to Mr. von Brandt u quit. Mandl was none of my business, but what

What should I think of Mr. von Brandt? For the first time my faith in his integrity was shaken; but I wanted to do without= will only stay in Peking for a short time, and Mr. von Brandt

may have acted out of motives unknown to me, but I did not fail to tell him: "Whoever Mr. Krupp is out here to the agent can be absolutely indifferent to me, provided that he is a decent person with whom one can negotiate bona fide

But is Mr. Mandl a human being like you and Mr. von Ketteler describe it, then such a thing is impossible, and you can be assured that sooner or later we will experience a crash, which will not do honor to the Germans or to Krupp. Krupp, as the first German industrialist, must be represented in China

fe. I regret infinitely that you reach so far down, if you have a voice in the matter, since it is appropriate in China=

There are enough people who would be able to represent the Krupp's company. Where it leads, by the way, if You often take unsuitable people for such tasks, that may that show a story:"

When in 1880 the Krupp company found a new representative:

wanted to name, the choice fell on a Mr. Schmidt. This gentleman midt was a completely uneducated person, but he had the Lucky to have a partner in the business who is well suited was to maintain the reputation of the company. Mr. Schmidt be=

But he got megalomania. To give himself some prestige, he told he tells the people, just like your friends, the Lindau's, do, that he was the son of a Protestant pastor, which is not true because his father is an honorable barber in Glückstadt.

Schmidt was married to a Chinese woman, a take woman who spoke English fluently, and whom I once

I met her when I took her son to Europe

In 1881 I was in Tientsin and stayed in the same hotel, where at the same time Mr. Schmidt and Mrs., who came from Shanghai had come, stayed. 3 . j

One day Mrs. Schmidt asked me through a servant,

i0

to visit her. When I arrived, I found her in tears:
The aunt told me that I was the only person she knew here and that she could trust. She told me that she had been told by her husband was terribly mistreated, that he often got drunk and then beat me. She showed me the marks of the last abuse= bag on her body. She fears that her husband will murder her bea Tichtige, and asked me in God's name to help her to to redeem this man. .

I asked them to keep quiet about the fact that had spoken to me about it so that she would not be mistreated any further and to act to the best of my ability. I turned Pie now to the current German consulate representative in Tientsin.
He, however, had "business with Mr. Schmidt and sought the matter by saying: "Mr. Schmidt is in Shanghai domiciled, the matter is none of my business!" But I still urged him to take notice of it, so that at least his feet can be seen with Mrs.
Schmidt. At the same time I wrote to the former consul in Shanghai, informed him of the incident and asked him to keep a watchful eye on Schmidt's menage, in order to
to be on hand in case of need. That was also done.

When I came to Shan 15 a few months later, I heard that gray Schmidt had just died. The consul as well as various Others, including the doctor of the Consulate, did not suspect that Mrs. Schmidt had been poisoned; the matter was officially investigated but further 8 Immediately afterwards I travelled to Canton and found employed 4 stonemasons there to produce a gravestone

with the inscription:

9
To the memory
of my beloved wife Annie
deceased in Shanghai Charles Schmidt.

afe revenge on mistakes and possibly lead to murder

and manslaughter."

The mania for reaching down and arguing showed fome also often happens in other matters with Mr. von Brandt.

For example, if we were to compare what the happier population= reign, that of the Chinese or the German Empire, then a lot in favor of the Chinese.

I then described the conditions of the miners, such as Zola describes in his book "Germinal", which descriptions
I knew from my own experience in Belgium to be correct,
Mr. von Brandt 11 brought me a F. kept "Peking Gazette", where a mandarin announced the punishment of the owners of coal mines because of the inhumane exploitation of their workers.

"You see," he added, "in China the situation is no better than in Europe!"

"You are mistaken," I said, "here it is an imperial official who voluntarily raise his voice in favor of the mistreated people in the official newspaper of China. That is something quite Otherwise, as in Europe, one lets it get to that point, that people must take steps towards self-help, and a modern Canzöfifischer Schreiber must serve to clarify our Keich's members of the day somewhat about the life of the miners to orientate.

| von Brandt's political views are national liberal! His body» and Magenblatt was the national newspaper, which also reported everything Brandt said: "It is ME always good, like the Colossus of Rhodes, with each foot in a other camp, you should do that too," whereupon I replied: "I'll probably leave it as it is; the colossus of Nhodos collapsed during the first earthquake, and its ruins

he was sold to a Jew. Opportunism is we will probably see perish. This and the Jewish charity has in our situation generally the guilt: they were given to us by the Jewish stock officials, who today penetrate into all branches of the civil service and which has tried to conceal his real circumstances. Each such There is a small source of infection underneath. But the damage that we ü has done this charity is to be valued the most." –

Von Brandt also admitted this.

.The work of the German ladies Simon, Lina Morgenstern and Prin gsheim and others in his harmful, perfidious, selfish en denz for the elevation of Judaism, was him in his full circum=

He even knew the life story of these ladies, and If I am not mistaken, even the Pringheims are close to his family.
On the management of the embassy of the Lord of

I never cared about Brandt in previous years and knew aur. that he worked a lot. I wouldn't worry about it now either

ner if he had not initiated me himself. "Ten courts per day I write to Berlin; in the past year I have I send thousands and thousands and hundreds of numbers to the Aus= sent to a furthest office, and this year I hope to have four thousand freun Zn. I said: "then the gentlemen in the foreign office will cue m. because they cannot lack reading material; but where For heaven's sake, take the material for all these erich ten her?" - "I have," he said, "for example, only about the Likin=

(This is a customs duty contrary to the contract that the Chinese have imposed on euro = over goods) at least one "open" batch of reports it lin gefchriften" (here he showed the height of his shoulders). - "Then No, it is not surprising," I said, "that the people in Berlin
a know what Likin=Zoll is." - "That is not necessary;
You just have to feed the big Moloch, just always a little

- 97 -

Send new things, keep the people constantly on their toes, so that they can't come to their senses at all. -"

I tried to object, but he said: "What all serious things are of no use, it is all nonsense in this world;
as Paul Lindau does, that is the right thing; always only the public cum in the process! They praise so much the great work of the Baron von poiches Br over China; what does the man get out of it?"
- "Whoever has written such a work," I replied, "is a great Man and can be proud of his performance, is also sure, in the world recognition, and that long after his or his work and his name be mentioned!" - "keep it with Lindau, his J after the world' interests me ten times more than the work of Ichthofen. (Imagine this comparison between a scientific work of the first order and a Lindau

One-day novel!) "Stirring is part of the craft! Do you want to know why I broke up with Richthofen?"

"Well?" – "Because I still have a fine medal for him from the Chinese for his book. So you see, it is all nonsense in this world, justice is just as vain as any other human being and despite his great achievements, he is also addicted to order." –

"If Herr von Richthofen really has this weakness, then Please get him the medal; if anyone asks me China has earned, it is Herr von Richthofen in all first and foremost," I said.

Regarding medals, von Brandt and von Ketteler also had knocked on my door to see if I wanted to have one and asked me what I thought of medals at all, when I did not respond to them. Now I must note that I have no objection to medals if they are awarded for real merit or out of courtesy: But I have everything against medals when they are used as objects of bargaining serve or can be purchased. The circumstances under which Mr. v. Brandt and v. Ketteler discussed the order question with me, but was such that it had a purely business character.

As for myself, it must have been very It seems strange that a man like von Ketteler would give me a wanted to procure for merits that he was absolutely not capable of to judge. Without the idea being expressed precisely was that it was a sale of orders, I behaved I rejected him and just as firmly rejected the

; nn.

I did this because I considered it impractical from a business perspective and others the matter was not to my liking and after

acher smelled.

. with regard to the diplomatic work of Brandt and his Reports I should in due course have further peculiar experiences experiences. Sometimes he gave me a report to read or he asked me for information about it. These countless reports, which he sent to Berlin were nothing but extracts from the "

my friend v. Brandt. 7

– 98 –

king Gazette", the newspaper published in Tienzin, Shanghai and Hong Kong

English newspapers, the Courier de Saigon, Courier de Nappo some journals published in India and the Journal de St. Petersburg, which were trimmed to small scale. On This was how Mr. von Brandt sent the great Moloch, the Aus- Foreign Office, the public a plentiful supply of chaff. the staff of the embassy, which received such reports had to write, often grumbled loudly about this work and complained about the "crap" that Mr. von Brandt wrote home. If When such complaints were made against me, I would probably agen: "Well, Mr. von Brandt will surely know what to Saul asked of him. It is a pity that he is Work is wasted!" –

"Besides these works," I was told, "he also does a lot of secret work that we can't see taken."

Since 1880, Mr. von Brandt had ensured that all consulates in China a copy of their reports to the Foreign Office. In this way, he is informed in a comfortable way about everything that is Chinese coast, but in particular he had thereby in a ae Grade insight into the business activities of the German open people.

As I have said before, Mr. von Brandt has impressed me very often asked for information about business matters, the situation of the trade in China etc., and I have always given him such information, fom the extent to which it was in my power, on the condition that no abuse could be made. I am also convinced that a lot of German companies gave him all kinds of information have given when he addressed her in his kind way provided that it only serves charitable purposes pursue and be a decent human being.

In such communications, which he received confidentially-held, was of course business interest, in a word "money", and if he was a dishonest official and unscrupulous helpers in Europe, he could well make use of such information.

Since Mr. von Brandt is not a businessman, but merely has fantastic ideas about actual trade and traffic, so Of course, only other people could "exploit" such businesses= I have often heard from von Brandt about ftold in his extensive correspondence, and so he had also Others occasionally said: "I have Mr. Mandl at Mr. Krupp snpfodlen while the General Director of the Krupp factory, Mr. Jenke, claims that he never spoke to Mr. von Brandt about Mandl corresponded. Furthermore, I knew from him that he always Bleichröder, Schwabach, was in circulation with the German Bank and in= time 115 ten of these people praised I must now ask myself:

"Did such business-related confidentiality and by the Foreign Office?" Hardly the Foreign Office

– 99 –

There were about 4000 letters every year, in which nothing was written but worn geug from all sorts of newspaper articles. Who would like the Ver= middle? But enough of that for now!

Mr. von Brandt Bank= and An- interested in business loan transactions the most, and several times he had asked me if I would not like to place bonds. About a green one in China = We spoke very often at the bank and he told me the names of the bankers who were considered for this bank.

He complained about the clumsiness of these people, who had no would like to establish themselves in China. I told him straight out: "The people you want to persuade to set up a bank have a much better sphere of influence for their activities in Europe; here In China we do not yet have regular stock exchanges, and the legitimate Commercial business is neither to the taste of the children of Israel, nor does it make them enough money."

But one day he told me joyfully: "Now at last the bank came into being." He then told me the names of the bankers and among them the German shipping company. "There come fhe children of Israel," I said, "there they come, over the sea, the lions, wolves and foxes and as sheep's clothing have they threw themselves into the Prussian naval trade."

But once again the matter failed due to the resistance of the German bank and further discussions led to me being Mr. von Brandt a small suggestion 11 of a different Er= establishment of a bank. (See Part II, Proposed Way to establish a German bank in East Asia, p. 62.)

But nevertheless, von Brandt wanted to win laurels in the field of high finance, and an incident occurred, which is full of humor, but whose funny side I only discovered later could appreciate after I knew that von Brandt was Jewish.

"The trefe bond."

The court of Peking was in financial need, as was reported in the official Peking newspaper and also learned about it. The wedding of the young Kaiser was imminent. This favorable e wanted Brandt can now use this to put a noose around the Chinese Mr. Baumeister Bethge and a merchant from

Tientfin, who together formed a group of bankers, the Disconto-society, Bleichröder, Warfschauer, Mendelssohn, etc., had to come to Peking at the instigation of Mr. von Brandt and should give the Chinese a loan for the Imperial household octroyiren. It was only a small loan, I forgot the amount of Sum), you can fatten yourself up with some tips to Mr.
Dr. Dudgeon contacted the Marquis Tfeng, who was now at
It should be announced to the appropriate authority that "good friends" in Peking, who supported the Imperial household for "philanthropic"
'Wanted to save Nüdfichten from financial difficulties. 35

70

– 100 –

Marquis Tfeng seemed to find little pleasure in the matter, but a delegate from the court did not appear. It was this
"His Glory, His Majesty's Pig Butcher of the Emperor of China!" He probably wanted to take the money and give his signature. Mr. von Brandt was of course
For several reasons, he did not approve of such a signature, he also wanted at least have the seal of an Imperial authority, and one therefore requested another official for the negotiations. But nothing helped. Whenever another official was in sight,
The pig butcher always appeared as the main character.
Mr. Bethge and the merchant from Tientfin escapes and insults= and wanted nothing to do with the "pig" Man 1105 Doctor Dudgeon with withdrawal of tips if he did not take better care of his affairs: but everything was in vain and One had to bite into the hard nut and give the Jewish bankers Berlin should submit the case to the public. There must be comic verses actions among the Semites in Berlin because of this dispatch found: serious concerns must also have been overcome who opposed the signature, because the answer lie long wait. Finally, however, the rabbis may mood, because finally they said yes! But Now it was too late, and the loan of another bank fell into the hands. –
Another incident of this kind, albeit of a purely private nature, happened a little later.

"The Piglets Mar and Moritz."

von Brandt and I were invited to dinner by a family; when We were served delicious pork and sauerkraut. This Dish is a great rarity in Beijing, as Europeans
Do not eat pork and the nearest source for fresh Pork which is six to seven days' journey away from Shanghai, where a breeding farm for European pigs is located.

the attention of the lady of the house and praised the rare Court. I did not pay attention to whether von Brandt was Pork, but I thought that he too would be praised would have agreed, and so I came up with the idea of approaching Mr.
Brandt for the hospitality shown to me,
to have some pigs come from a for him.

Without telling him anything, I wrote to Shanghai and ordered
three living animals. . |

One day two of them arrived alive in Peking. I let them through the back gate into the courtyard of the embassy and wanted to surprise Mr. von Brandt. I went to him and said: "I hereby allow myself to show you some piglets, which 1
I just received from Shanghai as a gift for your table
to serve and lay them at your feet: they are safe and sound in the courtyard." a | -

- 101 -

Never have I seen such an evil expression on von Brandt's face seen when I gave him this information.

N "You know," he said irritated, "that I never eat pork effe!" I looked at him in astonishment and said: "I thought you had but recently praised the dish at X. This has put me on the thank you for letting the animals come." - "I eat at most the pig's ears," he said gloomily. But then he good face to the bad game, was again very friendly and came in the courtyard, where the entire staff of the embassy was already receiving the rare guests.

Amid general hilarity, he then performed the baptism and called them "Max and Moritz". What became of the animals
I don't know what happened.

However, when I thought about it later, I could not help but fent to ever have eaten pork with or at von Brandt Others who had frequented von Brandt's house also could not do it either. The only thing from the pig that has ever What had been noticed at the fine table was stuffed wild pig's head.
been. 3

I am firmly convinced that Mr. von Brandt sees this gift as an irony on my part, as he was of all people» towards Fineffen where they were least to be found. -
This was also the case when I returned from my trip from Mongolia to Beijing
I told him how I had been in a city in the interior of the zandes a cathedral built by French missionaries,

A French priest was kind enough to show me the building work. I told him that I was German, and he said that he had previously been in Poland and Germany on the way travel. He told of his stay in Poland he told me about the terrible Jewish economy there. As the Father noticed that I knew about the Jewish question, he didn't want me anymore. He told me that he had read Drumont's "La France juive" knew and asked me about news in this area. I heard I told him that I had read Drumont's latest work "La France" in Peking. Juive devant l'opinion" and promised to send it to him from there. v. Brandt then said: "I truly believe that you fare an antifemitic missionary." When I read the book a few days later When I wanted to send it, it had disappeared without a trace; I therefore had to first order the priest in Europe.

| & Incidentally, Brandt raised the Jewish question all over the world with the greatest interest, that was evident from some of his. He received Na from San Francisco which contained articles on the Jewish question and in which complaints were made he was that the Jews there were involved in all kinds of 5 in disproportionate= economically large number of people involved, that they would be accused of murder, sudden disappearances of people and bloody crimes. Unfortunately, the name of the relevant papers 1 is also. I don't remember exactly whether they were also accused of ritual murders.

– 102 –

The possibility of bringing about the solution of the Jewish question could, was also discussed more often; since baptism fayef no, and simple crossing gave indeterminate and poor results, 10 we always came to the conclusion that some measures had been taken would have to be met.

But which ones? I meant those that Dühring suggests, would be the best, and the sooner you seize them, the better it for all parties. "We anti-semitic people who are making noise fee, and without being interested in fine, warn, from us the Jews have nothing to fear, we do not seek their property, nor after their lives; but once those who today make common cause with them, will also be robbed and have come to the realization that the business of making the Jews to take the money acquired, not immoral and at the same time advantageous is more dangerous than robbing the people through the stock exchange, then it could "The Jews are, however, in dire straits."

von Brandt often despaired at this thought.

"The whole gang should be castrated," he said, "and the Keep women! What do you think about that?" "Well," I said, "that find pious wishes and unfeasible. The Lord has this people in his anger, and consequently it is also existence=

But we must reckon with him! If the Goyim hun= say, "let us burn the Jew," they do it again not for long. They wait until the knife is at their throat; the Jew, on the other hand, says nothing and still robs and murders in silence, as much as he can. That is the difference between Goyim and Jews!"
– "What do you think will be the solution?" – "I I fear very much that it is too late for a legal regulation; then the transfer of all property brought about a violent solution= and the incited and plundered peoples will be extend a hand to the dead Jew!"

"Is that your firm opinion?" –

"This is not only my opinion, but my firm opinion conception! A necessity that must occur sooner or later." –

"Will we still see the bloodbath?" cried von Brandt.
doubts. –

"I can't tell you that!"

I often asked Mr. von Brandt: "What do you think actually, that the question should be settled, since we agree, that the matter does not continue indefinitely?" Then he probably said:
Ø trust in the tremendous work force of the German olkes!"

– "That alone will certainly not bring us a solution!" –

– "And if the Germans adopted Jewish morality?" –

– "Then the Jews would be even more neglected! Because they would be considered enemies and would have to be killed.
It would be possible to demoralize the people to such an extent firte; then one would have to take away all faith from the people and the Destroy the church, which is something that is being worked on. Instead of Sundays

– 103 –

To go to church with his children, a father of a family would have to teaching his children the wisdom of Solomon, as on the Knauß's image. If he also gives the little ones a Lesson in pickpocketing and other tricks in which we the Jews are superior, then we could get to the state=
point of the children of Israel.

With our present Christianity, as it is,
fefe incited, and moreover strongly fet with Jewish elements,

we cannot get to grips with the social evil, unless we decided to purify the core of Christianity from its Jewish dross and followers, so that the disputes between Catholics and Protestants and truly practical Christianity drives.

The Old Testament is our misfortune in religious teaching, it forms the handle A splitting and decomposition and even the New Testament contains so many Jewish accessories that it is Christian Rabbis, as there are hundreds of them today, are easy to to make many good people dislike Christianity. If one preserve the religion of the people and give them a taste for Christianity, then you should simply make it clear to him make it clear that Christianity is the opposite of Judaism, that it only arose in opposition to Judaism, that Christ the first anti-Semite was that he only demanded of the Jews that they should not steal, not lie and not cheat, their neighbor not to slander or kill, and the principle: "Live and live laffen" into practice; in short, that he demanded, They should behave like decent people. Since Christ Ernst, and set a good example for the people and fuffed that they should do the same, he was hated in 1152, and they killed him because of it. It still happens today.

The worst suffering that can be inflicted on a Jew is in that he is forced to speak the ah and to selflessly act. He cannot and does not want to. Decent ideas You may have it, as long as the Jew can haggle with it; But if you put it into practice, it will thwart it and you is in danger of being beaten to death.

You can twist and turn the matter however you want, you always comes back to the race; a baptized Jew can only be our neighbour if he, like Christ, stands against the Morals and practices of his race: otherwise he remains, like the other Jews, not our closest, but our furthest away.

Social reforms were only possible with the exclusion of Judaism undertake; for the Jew is the walking lie, the personified Unsociality. That is the characteristic of the race. The cross is the Jews only 1 ü. jo hated because in their eyes it is the symbol the truth is.

IV.

How to Become an Ankifemite.

trips around the globe.

When I returned to Germany in 1877 after nine years of absence from Europe

When I arrived in Marseille, I was still in the fortunate situation was not aware of the Jews.

I had indeed met some of them, and had "strange", but I had never noticed her peculiarities attention, never suspected that they were harmful as a race fom ...

heard and read, in which we now observe the things which our fathers taught them had to make amends for the sins committed, so that one could even was to a certain extent biased towards the Jews.

The first trip in Europe took me to the industrial area

Westphalia, where I had to deal with large industrialists. I heard the calamities of the founding period and the hardship that many In industrial companies had to endure with their workers, professionally 1 I was asked whether it was possible to I was able to provide precise information on this "If we had the opportunity to do this during the founding period, If we had known what you are saying today, we would certainly be Chinese assholes workers have come," said some of them.

However, I was able to tell the gentlemen at this time, that they would regret this today and be happy if they would be rid of the Chinese again. .

One of the greatest and most respected industrialists told me: "The main evil of the workers' calamity is that we never succeeds in making the workers settled and decent people What I do for the prosperity of my factories in the first place I need, that is a settled working class. I have the Kainz made great efforts and invested a lot of money to get one like that= but I always failed. It was the pure Syphiphus work and finally I had to give up the efforts as jo give up pretty hopelessly." . . 2

He then told me how he had a number of useful Zen had built for the workers. He equipped these houses with as from the factories and delivered to the workers who built the houses

– 1035 ^U–

coal at cost price; he had potatoes and other foods that did not grow in this area, in La= ments, encouraged them to cultivate their small gardens, gave them flowers= and other seeds, in short he offered the people all possible advantages he was able to offer them and hoped thereby chaining them to himself and his factory.

For a while things went well, people began to enjoy their home and taste for a regulated life and mostly made savings, which he managed for them.

But now the enemy came: the Jew had discovered that

Here, proper conditions prevailed and hard-earned money
Such money naturally belongs to the Jew, that must He then went to the workers and began fine operations with liquor, lottery tickets, the imposition of luxury items and such things until he had the workers
. in its claws. Of course, her savings were soon gone.
than. The factory owner tried once more to get the people out of their hands.
to save the Jew, but in most cases this proved as in vain. .He had fought for years and now had the courage lost. This gentleman was, by the way, 1 55 supporter of the progressive party and voters of Eugen Richter.
Of course, I first asked: "Why is the police not intervene and make these usurers harmless?" – "The evil is too widespread, the same conditions exist elsewhere as well." –
"But if such abuses become obvious and one with the police, then you should still be brought up in the state parliament or in parliament."
"That has already been tried, but it is difficult to help the Jews.
come." –

– A second trip took me to Silesia: and when I here I saw nothing particularly bad about Jews, so I noticed but that they were omnipresent: in railway stations, in hotels,
They were loud and intrusive everywhere.

– In Berlin one heard much patriotic shouting; and especially Of course the loudest screamers were Jews! and inintinctio felt that this patriotism was not genuine.

– A journey through England showed that the children of Israel played a large, but by no means beautiful role. Particularly in Man= chester and Liverpool, where I had business to do, I convinced me of the harmful influence of the Jews on world trade.

On one side I saw the terrible Jewish rings, which the bought up the cotton harvests and sold the goods to the English spinner on the other hand, the Jews, mostly of German origin, who sold their goods to the spinners and weavers of England to throw them onto the distant world markets. The English manufacturers found themselves in a real dilemma. One Jew forced the= felben to buy the raw material from him, the other Jew to sell the products. So the manufacturers lived with their entire working class literally from the hands of the Jews.

How they had infiltrated these businesses was
I will soon form my own opinion. China, especially Shanghai, is a large market for raw cotton fabrics, which currently mostly manufactured in Manchester. The annual import of such fabrics in China number many millions of pieces. The same usually have certain lengths and widths and must have a certain weight. As long as the trade is in purely English or German hands, the Chinese had received honest goods, but As soon as the Jews entered this trade, the matter different. In order to undercut the English companies, the
The Jews of Manchester forced the factory owners who depended on them to to deteriorate the goods, i.e. to use heavy materials in the manufacture to work into it, especially gypsum.

The pieces now had their full dimensions in terms of length and Width and also the right weight, but just like the goods was washed, she lost weight.

This calamity reached such a large extent that in the whole World was talking about it, and even the Bishop of Manchester preached against it from the pulpit. Now I found clear and distinct
It turns out that our dear German compatriots of Hebrew descent were the instigators of this disaster. Of course, and since English and other Europeans are involved in the matter, but the intellectual authors were the children of Israel.

Later I would find out that Israel is in all branches of Trade follows similar paths as in the general cargo trade between man cheerful and China, and that Professor Reulcaux's word "cheap and fhlleicht" with reference to German products only and exclusively its
The reason given was that in German trade the Jews had too play a big role. a

"The Jewish middlemen are a real plague!"

– In October 1877 I came to this conclusion Arriving in Europe, a local gent named Philipp Unger, was looking for me. He wanted me to go to Hamburg ante, where he wanted to present me with a big deal.

I knew what it was about. In China there was a large German company went bankrupt. A Sommerfeld cloth factory had Cloth was worked for this company; now there was a large quantity

This cloth is ready and should be sent to another company in China for
I knew the poor quality of the Cloths, which the company has produced in large quantities in recent years had thrown at the tee Felt market, only too accurately: but I did not know at that time that both the gentleman in Shanghai, who had headed the import branch of the failed company, and de the manager of the factory in Sommerfeld was Jewish, and that the poor quality of the goods and their mass production

This circumstance could be explained. Well, the cloths were there once, and They also had to go to Shanghai, albeit to the detriment of the real fschäftz, because in the whole wide world there was no other place

r

– 107 –

where one could have 5 these cloths, both because of their widths and colours specially produced for the Chinese, as well as because of the large quantity.

The sooner these cloths were removed, the better it was in the Inter= effe of selling real products. It 8 55 fo fuch a question of who
fi) wanted to take over and sell these cloths.

The object was worth several hundred thousand marks, but it seemed that just as I do not expect other Chinese companies to have special air had to take care of the business. The Hamburg agent sought me now to make the splendour of this business Elar; but when he saw that I knew the matter, he tried to exert pressure by saying,
that other companies had already applied for this business,
that he only gave me the wanted to give preference (of course the man had never met me before) feen) and the like.

I indicated to him that, "from all other questions
It would be difficult to find a bank that would invest in these cloths, whose Accommodation would likely take a long time.
would make the required advance. "For that," he said, "it is fttfest worried; I have ,good friends in Berlin who are financially Part of the business." But when I then showed little inclination to deal with the matter, he invited me to visit him at his office, where we will discuss the matter of a still= wanted to undergo a detailed discussion.

"My office," he said, "is always at your service.
addition, it is very nicely furnished; I have a small cabinet there, provided with all necessary furniture, and if you are there with friends=
want to communicate with each other and f. wu f. w." –

This pleasant offer made me smile and say recommend that he should only turn to other people. The Jew also laughed mischievously, as if he wanted to say: "So that is not one of the
The company subsequently decided to Another Chinese company subsequently agreed to take over this business ready to be found. iu

A year later I read in the newspapers that the boss this company in Berlin and filed a claim for compensation of 5 1 Mark, which he lost in this transaction, pending had made.

– “Apart from the import of German and other goods to China, my company was involved in the export of raw products China to Europe and America.

In London I had a quantity of samples of the still little-known products of China, such as ver= different kinds of fine hemp, different kinds of fur, bristles, cotton wool, gall nuts etc. lie. a

The whole . were only a few 100 pounds sterling valuable and should only serve to conduct regular business
The costs of these patterns were virtually lost
In Berlin I had found that there was little inclination

– 108 –

for a regular business. It was evident there, especially in larger Jewish legal institutions, desire for speculation; however, These articles are not very suitable for this, and I was also interested in such Business was not convenient.

– “In Paris I was introduced to some excellent German companies recommended; and among these I would like to have a representative or a Looking for a connection that 1 with the introduction and distribution of the China=Products. These German eras behaved
1 not rejecting, but they immediately put the difficulty of the business. They complained about the corruption in Paris and said how difficult it was to work properly these days. The introduction of such new articles in trade and industry required a special study; and they presented me with the necessity to to bear together the cost of the salary of one man, the fi should deal exclusively with these articles. Otherwise the Children of Israel. They had hardly heard that someone in Paris who needed a representative for China, so they arrived. Not small people, but big companies, millionaires. They wanted would like to have the representation. When you questioned them, what they understood and what they wanted, one soon found out that they understood absolutely nothing about the goods, not to mention did not intend to initiate regular business, but rather initially only wanted the samples and some shipments from China have, they wanted to take care of the rest.

All this bore the stamp of superficiality and fraud= so strong that I was very careful not to respond to it.

. – “In 1878 I returned to London. There I know something about the work of the Jews in political terms Lord Beaconsfield agitated against Russia, and on the At first glance I recognized the specifically Jewish nature of the whole thing. Jews appeared everywhere and joined in the In the newspapers I soon learned the style of the Jewish Serbs differ from that of English journalists.

I heard that several Jews even held high offices: and that one of the highest judicial officials, the Master of the Rolls, also a Jew. Jewish entrepreneurs provided choral music for Christian churches and organized concerts. Lord Beaconsfield spoke about the sanctity of Sunday, and in a meeting of Lords on the “Faith of the Fathers”, who kept Sunday holy, without any of the noble Lords would have noticed the cynicism of such phrases. – Baptized Jews who had become priests played a major role. Jewish “economist” named Leone Levi amused the English Pu= blikum with all kinds of entertaining and scientific 1155 communications.

calculated, for example, how many English sovereign pieces were included, to form a golden equator ring pi and so on. One thought he heard Virchow, Bamberger or Alexander Meyer. In short,

srael celebrated true rag a in England
– In 1878, an anti-Semitic movement emerged in Germany

– 109 –

Movement ga The Jewish question was discussed everywhere, but I was still skeptical about it and believed that people were Jew-eaters and painted too black. Full ds 5 It was me when in really fine restaurants or hotels of an= ftant, sometimes even high-ranking people Jews on quite were “scared out” in an unkind way. I knew at the time not yet that the Jews in fine restaurants, as everywhere, either eavesdropping on the conversations of others, or if there are several of them, other people present become involuntary listeners to their “witty” fhould have conversations.

On March 11, 1878, the first assassination attempt on Kaiser Wilhelm

The patriotic condolences that the Jews developed were downright heartbreaking.

A few weeks later, on June 2 of the same year, the Jewish progenitor Nobiling committed his infamous assassination attempt, which seriously was wounded; I was in Berlin at the time and was

Time after the assassination, when the murderer was driven away, under the linden trees.

They inquired about the identity of the perpetrator and heard that of that he went to the Minister of Agriculture, the Jew Friedenthal, in relation to a claim whose reliability I was unfortunately unable to fathom. A Jewish Doctor, Ir. Lewin, was the first to arrive and treated the wounded emperor. During the treatment of the same The assassin Nobiling died during the doctor's interrogation, and important information was expected.) When everything was in front of the Imperial Palace and awaited news of the painful camp of the old Kaiser, when that infamous scene happened with the Son of the banker Bleichröder, who as a loyal German was fine and to express condolences to his family.

Where everyone was full of pity and anxious expectation, whether the Kaiser will survive, joked the Jewish boy on the ramp of Echlofjes with two prostitutes. The matter, however, brought him the punishment that he was expelled from the reserve officer corps to which he belonged.

was expelled, but the judgment of the e was before the Oeffentlichkeit mitigated, and a duel, which he as a result of the scene on the castle ramp, was stopped by the Hebrew fhän police chief of Madai. But it is not enough that The boy was saved from a duel in which he might wounded or even killed, no, some time later He was even appointed, so that he would not be lost to the court society, appointed English Vice=Consul General.

After the assassination, the Jews again proved to be the greatest patriotic screamer. – N

One day I had to go to the Foreign Office in Berlin

do (see Part II page 48 of the confidential memorandum B. to Mr. von Brandt of April 22, 1888) | |

It was a small service which I asked of him.

I sent my card to Excellency von Philippsborn: I

– 10 –

I had to wait a moment in the anteroom and immersed myself in one of the newspapers available for reading. Suddenly a small figure next to me. "Mr. Paafch?" asked the same. "To serve!" was the answer. "Please come closer." Excellency v. Phi: Lippsborn, he introduced himself, whom I had taken for a servant. I presented my case and found that Excellency Philipps= born was quite well informed about China; he also admired the culture ftability with which he dealt with my little matter at a later

I was grateful to Mr. von Philippsborn:
but I still had a feeling that the man was also capable he might act differently. It was a kind of feeling of mistrust, the instinct of the race, which told me: "This is not more the old Prussian bureaucracy that I see here, these people think differently than we Germans."

In June 1879 I sailed from Liverpool to New York. On Sunday
We arrived there on the evening of the 14th. Since Saturday afternoon in the United States is empty, and I therefore do not know well the first visits, I accepted the invitation of a traveler efahren, to visit a nearby seaside resort, result. It was this anhattan Beach on Coney Island.

There was a large hotel with accommodation for over a thousand bathers. My friend and I jumped into the bathcoftüm and went to the beach. The sea was teeming with Men, women and children. When I looked at society,
I rubbed my eyes and asked: "What is that? Am I seeing correctly, or am I mistaken?"

"What do you mean?" asked my . – "I think this to have seen all of these faces somewhere else! –"

"They're all Jews," said my friend, laughing, "the bath-
The square is elegant and new, and now all of Israel is rushing to it:
this is a peculiarity of New=Nork, which I also had to tell you want to show."

The matter made a strange impression at first, but after all, it was disgusting. The behavior of the children of Israel in the beautiful rooms of the hotel and on the beach, where one of:
drawn music band played, was almost enough to make you run away.

A few days later an article appeared in the New Pork Herald.

The president of the company, which the bathing place, the hotel and a railway line leading from New York, declared, that under no circumstances would he allow Jews,
neither used his railway nor visited the hotel and bathing area.
Jews are an unclean and filthy people. Society but intends to create a first-class sea bathing area, but it is not possible as long as the children of Israel are denied access geitatte He would rather have the two million dollars he had in the company, lose than see another Jew there.

This was spoken as clearly as it was succinctly. –

"The gentleman who made this statement was Austin Corbin,

Brother-in-law of former President Ulysses Grant. Like a man

– 111 –

The children of Israel rose up against Mr. Corbin. First they sought to overthrow him and remove him from society, and as this did not succeed, he was declared mentally ill: they called the anti-Semitism "Corbinism". a

Countless brochures appeared with vulgar, crude insults against the Jews, but these were all from Jews written by himself to discredit the movement. In the 28 Synagogues New Yorks (today there are 47) were outrageously Services were held, and the sermons of the rabbis in the holidays tions are reproduced.

One of the men of God preached: "O children of Israel, Put your hands in the pockets of the Goyim, because the money nerve is the only point where you find yourself vulnerable!"

This was in the free country of America, where the Jews were never oppressed. Hatred against Judaism was widespread. The Jews also now showed Anaft- They affirmed in their papers that the Jews are a peace-loving nation, but through long oppression somewhat spoiled, but now she is a craft and agriculture, occupations for which the Jews Raelites have always shown great inclination.

But the Americans also seemed to already know this farce. Because the American comic magazine "Puck" immediately brought the picture a Jewish farm; the trees there bore dollars, the cattle had Rete physiognomies, and even the onions and other vegetables.

which are dear to the chosen people, and which were built there, had smiling Jewish faces. Everything looked extremely neglected, especially the Jewish farmers.

Two years earlier, in Saratoga, the premost popular beach in the United States a rich Jewish Banker, named "Seligmann", who had a position in America takes, as in Germany the Erlangers, access to the first hotel was denied, as before to all the children of Israel.

This had also given rise to a major scandal and the children of Israel had conspired to kill the author of the prophecy 1 15 a Judge Hilton, to ruin what was fitting for them lich ge . should be.

The United States had recently received from Russia the Territory of Alaska. The government had troops and sent one there, and in his reports The general complained that Jews were destroying the native population demoralized and poisoned by liquor, and demanded mid to remedy this problem.

I visited the magnificent waterfalls of Niagara. To To increase the enjoyment of nature, daughters of Zion had on every corner Shops were opened where, in addition to Indian "art objects", Love was offered for sale, and in the 550 of the Canadian Dean Ba 8 te f ich the Jewish=German ze i. N nn

– 112 –

That was in 1879, and from then on I was over-sired anti-femite!

On 13 May 1890, the Berlin Jewish People's Newspaper published its No. 110 an article by a Mr. Friedrich Engels, who calls himself an "Aryan", about anti-Semitism. Throughout North= America, fo 9 in es here literally, where there are millionaires whose Wealth in our lousy marks, gulden and francs It is difficult to express, among these millionaires there is not a single Jew. This is of course a completely infamous lie, on the contrary There are many of them, and the said angel is probably an Aryan from the same tribe as the Lindau's. See IV. Part, "Jews in America.") It was precisely this newspaper that from which I learned for the first time what arguments the Jews serve when they want to conceal their usury.

When in 1879 the Commercial Councillor Albert Borfig had died, the Volkszeitung published an article about the lee Borfig's fortune and proved with pinpoint accuracy how this and that it had a useful effect.

She concluded the usefulness of the investment of capital in the hands of individuals and then also the benefit of Nothschild's assets. Borfig's assets, acquired through honest work and the Rothschild capital! (Isn't that a similar Comparison, such as that of the scientific work of Baron von Richt= court about China with the slapstick novel: "The Train to the West" by Paul Lindau?

For information on the situation with Jews in China, see the article: "Modern Judaism in China" Part IV, p. 179.

In 1883 I travelled with Mr. von Brandt from China to Europe. Some ladies, the wife of the American ambassador in Peking and a Frenchwoman, were under our protection-trusted.

On May 28th we arrived in Marseille. Mr. von Brandt, who was ill and still suffering in Aden, was taken care of by his nephew, the railway councillor Simson from Strasbourg; and I undertook to take the ladies under my protection to Paris to guide. .

I stayed here for about 14 days. Jewish bankers who had learned that I had previously been in Cochinchina and later in Peking lived, tried to find out whether I had not about the conditions in Tonkin. .

and I knew a lot, so I simply asked, to avoid such persecution: "No, I know nothing!" – "Whether Unless I have something in Peking or through our ambassador, who was on the same steamer with me, about politics in Tonkin?" I also denied this and suggested I also sent out invitations where I suspected the purpose of wanted to interrogate me. .

A friend of mine who also came over from China had come and had not pretended to be so ignorant, although he had never been to Tonkin or Oo., he told me that he had been invited to the French Minister Lockroy and he was pumped out there. The people who tried to investigate me, were, as I later heard, the secret agent of Rothschild.

– 113 –

As it seemed to me, one had only to have new ideas want, the correctness of which would not have mattered, because true a it was only a matter of stock market manoeuvres on asiren.

In the newspapers I read dispatches from Berlin around this Saturday, which stated that Mr. von Brandt received from Prince Bismarck Furthermore, newspapers such as the "Temps", "Voltaire" etc. all long reports about Mr. von Brandt, in which it is Others said that he would come to Paris in a few days and would take up residence with Prince Hohenlohe, furthermore The conjectures in these articles are:

I knew that Mr. von Brandt was ill and therefore not little surprised that he now, after I had met him only a few days before had left her in Marfeille, was suddenly to come to Paris.

So I bought the newspapers in question and sent them to Mr. von Brandt and asked whether he would really be back so soon was prepared, whether I could expect him in Paris and whether I could Articles that appeared about him should continue to be sent. He replied that he was suffering greatly and did not even think about it to come to Paris; everything that was in the newspapers would be lied; he had never seen Prince Bismarck, Count Hatzfeld was the only person who visited him.

What surprised me was that Mr. von Brandt, who was otherwise very is curious about everything other people think about him and his actions, did not ask for further newspapers with follow-up to receive judgment on him.

On 15 June I visited Mr. von Brandt at the Kaiserhof in Berlin; in his room sat a bleary-eyed Jew eating cake and drank port wine. a

For heaven's sake, I thought, what company does Mr. von Brandt. Which ghetto might this man have come from?

At the presentation it turned out that it was the Secret Legation=rath Dr. Rudolf Lindau was. Well, Dr. Rudolf Lindau was in the Foreign Office the official press Jew, who was especially responsible for the French Austrian press.

I do not think I am mistaken in assuming that Mr. Lindau was the author of the above-mentioned articles published in the Paris

1 about Mr. von Brandt, and the latter

o showed little curiosity to read. Perhaps these articles were even in Mr. von Brandt's room.

von Brandt introduced me to Dr. Lindau as a "fine life= rescuer". This life-saving event was as follows:

In Aden, where Mr. von Brandt and I disembarked He had suffered a kind of sunstroke and on

Rein Freund v. Brandt. 8

– 14 –

In the afternoon of the same day, von Brandt was on board the steamer became unconscious and had a violent rush of blood to the head. I found him lying there on his bed and called the doctor;

We applied leeches, and after a few hours Mr. von Brandt out of immediate danger. Then I had a few nights woke up at 145 during the illness: that was all! and now I should have absolutely saved his life.

A few months later, Mr. von Brandt also wanted to feis saved my life by helping me in Pr. g where I was suffering severely, the address of Professor Dr. Huguenin gave, whose excellent treatment I probably to which I owe the preservation of my life.

On the thick farce of mutual life-saving, von Brandt always insisted, although I always laughed at the matter= which moved when he started talking about it. That was quite a move young mutual glorification.

Later I travelled from Berlin to Marienbad, where the Judaism unfolded in all its splendor, so that I was happy when I was able to sweep the chicks off this floor. .

5 I visited the Riffelhaus near e where I two French-speaking gentlemen. One of them said that he had just lost his wife and his pain in the Alps, where one would have the sensation of danger, Pass intended. We decided together about the Theoldus= to go to Italy. A heavy snowfall made the Pass impossible, and so we had to give up our plan, We We had introduced ourselves to each other, but I did not know the names understood exactly. With one of these * I travelled to to Territet on Lake Geneva and on the way I asked him in which relationship he actually stands to the other Lord, since he treated with such extreme devotion.

"Well," he said, "that's quite simple. Mr. Ferry, that was the name of the other, is the brother of the Prime Minister, and the days on the Riffelhaus will give me at least one Cross of the Legion of Honour= bring:" This traveling companion was called Hertz and was a German Jew. who is based in Paris and Ferry is his tribesman.

Towards the end of 1883 I was in Leipzig. I was asked to to His Excellency the President of the Reich Court, Mr. Simfon, to visit, as I was with his relative Mr. v. Brandt 8 friends; I would certainly give him pleasure by doing so.

On the other hand, I was of the opinion that Mr. von Brandt had put me on the should have ordered if he wished that I should give his relative a efuch machen I Out of curiosity one would like to have a Then, played such a large role in public life, learn even if he was only a Jew, but otherwise there was no reason to visit him. In the meantime, I first inquired, what kind of man he was in his private life.

Everything that and where I pointed it 1 to the unadulterated

Hebrews. Most significant for me was the vindicate

– 15 –

5 “I will not let any word come from my lips without first deküßt 7 haben”. . u

“How pleasant! I thought, beautiful judgments must be fine, of which every word carries a Jewish kiss!” n

Mr. Simfon was celebrating some anniversary at this time. He had an exhibition of his orders, Grand Crosses of all Potentates of Germany and many foreign orders, as it was said.
I was again asked to use this opportunity and to see Mr. Simfon, but I thanked him and thought: “That was missing also to encourage the old Hebrew in his vanity.”

I asked an eminent lawyer, who knew both the noble von Bismarck as Simfon knew: “Tell me, is Is Mr. Simfon really such an outstanding lawyer?”

– “I would not like to answer this question in the affirmative: in order to be able to be he has spent too much time hanging around in parliaments.”

– “How could this Hebrew be made president of the kingdom?
court?”

– “He understood how to help Prince Bismarck in the right moment to flatter.” –

That was really a pathetic answer!

In Leipzig, however, I was to hear from two other Hebrews, which I had never thought of. The first was Moritz Lazarus, Pro» Professor of Philosophy at the University of Berlin! The same gentleman who chaired a meeting of the Alliance israelite universelle had: the same one who had met with Max Nordau, President Simon and other personalities a German revue company for the Saxony in Transylvania (for what purpose?) This Professor, who was paid by the Prussian state, Io told me a Bea: used to come to the Leipzig Fair, where a national= oftüm, that is, to wear a high hat and caftan and like the others to do “business” with the Jews who had come running.

If my informant is not a completely credible Man and assured that he would go to Professor Lazarus in literary relationship and himself in this outfit

faw, I would be inclined to place this story in the area
the fable. That is what I call a good "German" Selen and the right man to join the German youth of
to talk about deals!

The other Hebrew was Mr. Leopold von Sacher=Mafoch. I only heard of his way of life. But what I heard, eftthing I have ever heard from a human being. I said to the narrator: "The guy must be a Jew!" No, it was said, the gentleman Ritter von Sacher=Mafoch comes from an old noble Austrian family and claims not to be Jewish.

In Meyers Converfation=Lexicon we read that the father simply Sacher and was police director in Lemberg. It is then said among others from him:

"He who cannot think and write in any other way than German (7),

f 80

– 116 –

suddenly called himself a Russian or Ruthenian and turned against Germanism."

Several years later I met him again in Paris. The Figaro glorified him in all keys. Now Mr. von Sacher= Mafoch suddenly became the offspring of an old noble Spanish family, and this noble Spaniard published in Figaro in his "witty" manner fantastic experiences of a lion's merganser named Bing from Africa.
Mr. Sacher=Mafoch is currently publishing a magazine: "Jü= dic life in word and image". Now he is finally back became a Jew. One must say that such a Hebrew understands change its colors better than a chameleon.

But wait, no! I have just written the above, and then I read in No. 253 of the "Volkszeitung" of 29 October 1890, the following Advertising:

"Jewish life in word and image. A people who have remained faithful to the customs and traditions of their fathers for thousands of years must offer grateful reproaches to the writer and artist, because within the drawn boundaries of the religious community,
peculiar people and their lives take on special Forms. A. Bernstein, F. Kompert and Emil Franzos have Judaism as a rewarding subject and in No– pellen and stories a wealth of eee and rare phenomena of life are described. This excellent writing thorts were very familiar with Jewish life, because they themselves belonged to the "chosen" people. But Sacher Masoch, who is one of the Catholic noble family, undertook, in a J. Bensheimer's magnificent work, "Jewish Life", published in Mannheim Sacher=Mafoch thus stands for Judaism as a cool Observer: he had, however, in Galicia, where he had fine youth had ample opportunity to get to know Jewish life there, where it has been preserved in all its purity and uniqueness, namely in the circles of the poor and persecuted. And Sacher=Mafoch, the Christian, confirms through fine representation the fact, that under many a dirty caftan a generous, noble heart suggests that under the long curls there is wit and good thoughts find, and that from the darkness of the ghetto the miracle flower which blossoms forth poetry and turns towards the sun."

., Here friend Sacher appears once again as the offspring of a Catholic lish Adelo family. Vivat sequens!

Afterwards I heard the following characteristic story.
– Mr. Jacob Rofenthal from Nuremberg was formerly a journalist in Paris and called himself du Salins. In the 80s he came to Leipzig, where he called himself Armand; there he became a partner in a journalistic venture that soon failed. He kidnapped around this time the better half of the Lord Knight Leopold by Sacher Mafoch, but after some time he reinstated it. Then Mr. Rofenthal was sent to Paris to Mr. Jacques de St. Cre, occasionally visited his fine friend Paul Lindau in Berlin and went with his second wife (his first German wife has Lindau thamefully abandoned), nee Kalfisch, whose happy owner he is still seems to be. Mr. de St. Cere is now a Sacher Mr. St. Cere, who wrote witty works for the "Figaro" Article writes. Except for five names, Mr. Rofenthal already brought.

= Ur

PS In No. 128 of the Deutsch=sozialen Blätter of 25. Januar 1890, we read in an article "The Knight of Schacher=Mafoch", that Sacher in a letter to the editors of the paper denies his Judaism and even his Jewish descent. – The is highly amusing: We now have the noble knight in a whole number of roles, most recently as "Menelaus the good ones", but his performance is not yet complete=come exhausted, because he also played the role of "Paris", by plowing with other people's calves. – It would really be interesting to know the whole life story of this hero learn. What would not come to light!

In 1884 I travelled from Nice all over Italy and also visited Sicily and Tunis.

If I wanted to describe everything that I have seen here from the Jewish and Jewish economy, I could at least fill at least one volume. But the Jews were hated everywhere, and a movement against Judaism became noticeable.

I just want to mention that in Turin, the city I lived in visited, the bitterness against the Jews seemed to be greatest. The Jews built a synagogue there, which was the highest building of the city. Because this arrogance had caused offense, The Jews called this building a "national monument" for the king Victor Emanuel. The people of Turin, however, said: "The whole building rests on a pillar: if this is torn away, the whole building collapses building together". This was a pious wish and proves how how much the Piedmontese love the Jews.

From Turin I went to Schinznach-Bains near Aarau in Switzerland, where I needed a cure. The bath

In earlier years, the bath was almost exclusively made of a very fine French audience, but for some time now Alsatian and Berlin Jews entered and began to attack the to decompose the bath.

My French acquaintances from last year said me that in the future they will no longer follow this old habitual bathing place because the Jews chased them away.

There I met a Mr. Dr. Veit, gynecologist, private lecturer at the Berlin and have many enjoyable hours spent with him.

Dr. Veit associated with fine tribesmen, whom I avoided as much as possible.

One day he introduced me to a Mr. Moffe (Mofes) Berlin, with whom I followed while he fetched an overcoat. had a good conversation: N a – 118 –

Mr. Moses: "Dr. Veit said you had been to Japan before!"

Me: "That's a mistake, but I was in China for a long time."

Mr. Moffe: "I also have a brother (or cousin, I guess. cool) in Japan, he led the Japanese well."

Me: "How so? Mr. Mofte!"

Mr. Mofte: "The Japanese embassy in Berlin was looking for a constitutional law teacher to teach young Japanese. My brother was a district judge in Berlin, i.e. a lawyer and had knowledge of constitutional law. teaching no idea. But he quietly gave up for a constitutional law teacher out, and the Japanese have taken him; he has them in the state. properly educated and now he is in Tokyo."

That ended the conversation. When I later came to Berlin, I asked a judge friend whether the previous behaved: he confirmed it.

– "Then the Minister of Justice Dr. Friedberg must also know the facts!"

– "That goes without saying!"

– "But how can he allow such fraud?"

"ii – "The Friedbergs and Mofte's are Jews, and everything is a iquc!"

| Some of the newspapers read: "His Majesty the Emperor of Japan has deigned to present the Prussian Minister of Justice, Mr. Dr. Friedberg the Grand Cross of the Order of the Rising Sun to award, and the same is given to him by the district judge Mr. Mofte to be established. – The latter received the (I Nesgeffe which) class of the same order. – . . oo

After completing my treatment in Schinznach, I went again to Berematt to do some mountain climbing.

One evening I was sitting with a man dressed in wide stripes knew a gentleman from Berlin and a professor at a German university verfity in the smoking room of the Hotel Zermatt, as a company of Jews came in, if I am not mistaken, two men and two women.

They immediately began a loud conversation among themselves – freely adapted from Baedeker – about a small glacier hike to the Cima di Jazzi and their heroic deeds and experiences.

Since we immediately noticed that we were excluded from the Hebrew society as a listening audience, we unanimously left filftly the smoking room and went into the general Conversation rooms where men and women of all nationalities nities were gathered and music was also played. The Hebrews In the smoking room they must have been bored with each other, because soon afterwards the company came to the door with monkey-like grandeur and approached the piano in single file. A

The company sat down at the piano and performed with great skill ity any classical piece of music that required listening.
After the play was over, the company stood up and left.
left the hall in just as ridiculous a manner as she was N.

They had achieved their purpose, they had attracted attention, even if not exactly advantageous, because the John looks bad.

– 119 –

– “What kind of people do they find?” an Englishman asked me.

– “I don’t know,” I replied.

– “They are your countrymen,” he said.

– “Sure,” I replied, “there are Jews!”

The next morning, one of the gentlemen who was with me in the smoking room, “the Jewish party from last night was just leaving: the innkeeper told me that the people were called Friedenthal and a N of the family of the agricultural minister riedenthal”.

8 “Heavens!” I thought, “such people are running the Prussia government.
ment!” Some time later I read that the Friedenthal family took part in the Cavalier balls in the Kaiserhof in 1795 “haut got”!

Later I once heard of a Prussian official who somewhere church council was that a congregation had its churchyard had to be expanded, and that for this purpose a piece of land was needed, which belonged to the Friedenthal family. This official then sought the gentleman Minister on his estate. He described how he was greeted by a very distinguished-looking gentleman with fine manners, who used to be true= had apparently seen better days. The Jewish But the minister had him come into the garden and showed him his beautiful property. |

When he presented his request to him, Mr. Minister, who offered price I was not high enough; he sold the property at a o cheap prices, he must first consult the family council question.

So the Germans must first ask the Jews for permission ask that they be allowed to bury their dead in Germany, and a whole mixed group must first give their consent.
we arrived happily in Germany!

If I wanted to list all my experiences with the Jews, fo I would get into the endless. Here only a few characteristic stories find space.

A wealthy Polish prince falls in love with a Jewess from Paris, stops for you and finds an audience. He is a frivolous young man. After he had received the marriage contract that was given to him in last moment and which he did not look at closely, briefly before the way to the church, it is made clear to him that he in this letter all goods to the grandfather has declared that he no longer has anything but his wife and that he has to live at the mercy of his in-laws. |

But the young nobleman is not of the ordinary type. He took up the trade of a V and earned this bread in a workshop. He lives with his wife, whom he loves, together in the house of the in-laws and this evening the young prince, to the annoyance of the cer Sch in his worker's smock the workshop in the palace drive 5 to the When Prince receives friends, he takes them to a restaurant and proudly uses the money he has earned with his hands 12).

Money. This story was told to me by a friend of the prince as been authenticated. Names are available for discussion.

This happened a few years ago.

In May 186, near Hagen i. W., I heard that had just hit a Jew on the railway. The same was while driving from a second-class coupe into a ladies' coupé in which he had previously met a single young lady-noticed. He tried to rape her! She defended herself but, and she managed to grab the emergency rope. The perpetrator was captured. In the compartment he had left were Several Israelites who asked for the release of the perpetrator and assured that he belonged to a respectable family in Cologne.

In Berlin I wanted to see a Wildenbruch play in the Ostend Theater. In the neighboring proscenium box sat two decent-looking young ladies; in the proscenium box opposite two Jews who were staring at the ladies.

After the first act, the two Jewish boys sat behind the ladies and began to tell each other dirty love stories, which was obviously unpleasant for the ladies: I too was forced to to listen to the disturbing conversation: I tried to hide in the Burcau of the theater and meant that the gentlemen also did not were sitting in their proper places. The gentlemen were admonished, but

They were apparently theatre critics: they remained seated and led their conversations continued quietly; I skipped the rest of this performance and left with the regret of not being the protector of the ladies to be. j

At the beginning of 1887 I travelled on a steamer of the North German Lloyd to New=Nork.

General silent petition of the Germans, if possible not with Jews, with whom the ship was swarming, to be seated at the table. On the way, two Hebrews got into a fight: one had said that he would be traded for diamonds in New York; and he accused the other again that this had already happened to him. At the customs office in New York, Hebrews are said to always be under suspicion; they are often said to have been arrested shortly before their New=Nork swallowed quantities of diamonds, and suspicious. Therefore, before they are allowed to pass, people are subjected to a certain medicinal treatment which produces diamonds.

In New York I found that the antipathy towards Judaism 55 18 79 had increased quite significantly, but also the number of sraelites. There are said to be 200,000 living in New York alone and has 47 synagogues.) a

The Broadway with fine Jewish-German company signs presented the Leipziger Straße in Berlin completely in the shadows.

In Chicago, in Denver (Colorado), but especially in the Mor= monenft, Salt Lake City, I had the opportunity to get an insight into the activities of the Jews. The "Alliance israélite universelle" is represented everywhere. 8 He |

Sau Francisco is the true Eldorado of the Jews; here be=

– 121 –

They rule everything, and unadulterated Jewish=German can be heard every corner. The press of San Francisco seems to be entirely Jewish= to want to pass over hands.

Here I heard for the first time "Neger" with the greatest speak with respect of the Jews: "Low je ws!" dat damned jew."

These poor Negroes, who are forced in America into special to drive railway carriages, and who like to have white skin would like to know that there is still a bright race that stands among them, and which they can despise!

The journey across the Pacific Ocean from San Francisco to Yoko=

Hama was free of Jews and therefore pleasant.

On board was Vicomte de Tani, Minister of Agriculture of Japan, which attracted a large number of young people, some of whom were in France= empire, partly in England, partly in Germany on the various ministries, returned to Japan.

How surprised I was that some of these gentlemen not only mont's "I. a France juive", but also the Jewish question in Generally understood to assess its scope. The Dis Comte de Tani must not have been very enchanted by Europe, because Days after our arrival, he resigned from his post as Minister of Agriculture because he did not agree with the new order of things in Japan: was understood.

On board was, among others, a German who was Japanese government was engaged for technical purposes.

He had met the Minister the day after our arrival of the Interior. When he returned from the ministry, he told me he wished he had never left Europe.

Like a plague, the spirit of modern Jewish= European culture, house and land speculation, eweht.

g On the journey from Yokohama to Shanghai we were supposed to But one cannot escape contact with Judaism.

Among the San Francisco passengers was one who had already formerly known from China, married American, under whose Protection three young unmarried ladies traveled, who were educating in America. We had together with two older American naval officers formed a society. – Now A new passenger joined us, a Mr. Göschen, Legation Secretary in Peking and brother of Finance Minister Göschen in London. This

He did not travel alone, but with a "friend". That is now nothing extraordinary for the local conditions and would not even not worth mentioning if the "how" is not interesting goods.

If someone else travels under such conditions and ments or willing with families or A en Girls 8 honor, then one tends to do such things out of general considerations to operate discreetly. |

But the noble Lord Gölfchen boasted about his fine girlfriend; he wanted probably show that he traveled as grand seigneur with a maîtreffe

Upon arrival in Shanghai, it immediately became apparent that he the girlfriend had "borrowed". Presumably, the felbe zur Ehre 1 with the brother of the Finance Minister of England to be allowed to travel; for Mr. Göfchen the matter came but to be "cheap".

But what prompted Mr. Göfchen to tell our friends count that he is a married man and has a wife and children in England is still a mystery to me today, and I can only to the Jew's desire to attribute everything to himself, this own family and everything that comes into contact with him, his subjective pleasure in dirt and his shamelessness.

This Mr. Göschen was arrested in Peking for his Jewish abominations. teased about his future. He denied his Judaism and said that he came from Germany, and his parents had always been Christians there lived. (Eiche the article "Mr. Göfchen, English Finance Minister under Baptized Jews", Part III, p. N) ff.)

In Shanghai I found that during my travels essence, Judaism had made tremendous progress. More 0 see the article "Modern Judaism in China" Part IV

. 179.

I will now skip a period of about one and a half years and start the journey back to Europe.

Arriving in Yokohama, I inquire about my friend Mofe (Mofes, who, as I am told, makes "sharp" laws and supported by two Delbrücks.

I get an insight into the inner workings of the copper ring.

In the Dan in Yokohama, which, incidentally, was hunted in Jewish= German hands, we were served Havana cigars with coffee. They wore a paper ring on which the nee of surrounded by a golden ring. Above it was written "Roth-shield, El Annilio D'oro"! (The Golden Ring.) Everywhere the mouse with his idea of world domination!

Maturity took me from Yokohama to Vancouver, seaport on the Pacific Ocean in Canada and end point of the Canadian-Pacific= railway.

Vancouver is a newly founded city, only a few years old. The mayor is a German Jew.

Back in New=Nork, where I spent some time on=

at I had the opportunity to learn more about the strength of the anti-Semitic Noble people who lived into their 60th year who had lived as friends of the Jews, had become bitter anti-Semitic.

People are beginning to trace the millionaire families back to their Jewish roots. jump to investigate.

The Astor family is probably of German-Jewish origin: Jay Gould, against whose activities the Knights of r, and the government of the President Cleveland wanted to impeach, is a Semite and even the Vanderbilt was suspected of Dutch: Jewish origin (I had the opportunity in 1879 to visit the now late William K. Vanderbilt and I must

I think that his facial features probably indicate Jewish descent could be concluded, however, I must refrain from any judgment included.) 5

The new government with President "Benjamin" Harrison and Vice-President "Levi" 9 Morton was, at least in the joke-leaf through, portrayed as strongly Jewish, and one saw images of old clothing dealers, in the company "Benjamin and Levi", which facial features of the President and Vice-President. Harrison appears to be American, whereas Morton is a distinct Jew. The well-known joke magazine "Puck" which is published in both English and appears in German and stands above the parties, one had a rival newspaper "Judge" was created. The vignette of this latter newspaper, which pursues republican interests, appoints a judge (judge), with strongly pronounced femitic facial features, (this Strangely enough, Mr. von Brandt also received this leaf in Peking sent; of course I cannot know by whom). From the German eneralconful in New-York Mr. Seigel I was told that he was a Jew fei. Recently he had an assistant named Ritfchel er- The latter is of Jewish descent, was formerly Vice-Consul of the German Empire in Pretoria, where he recently replaced by another consul with a Jewish name.

In New York in December 1888 the newly built Drumont's book: "La fin d'un monde". In addition, there was in the country a strong anti-Semitic literature. (See Part IV, "Jews in America", p. 199ff.) |

During the return journey across the Atlantic Ocean on board the North German Lloyd steamer had the same experience as before. Many Jews, and almost every German, asked not to sit at the table with Jews to be put together.

On the journey from Bremerhaven to Bremen I met a amiable gentleman in the railway compartment, who my travel

e from New York. It was Dr. Joseph Hertzfeld, eferendar at the District Court I in Berlin. He told me that he previously lived in America for 15 years and recently in Prussian entered the civil service in order to familiarize himself with the Prussian legal system circumstances. The Lord made a very clever and clever impression but was much for a trainee pi alt. Well, one hears that the judiciary in Germany is overcrowded and that Germans should be discouraged from studying law and Seizing the state career is discouraged for these reasons. |

Why, I asked myself, were Americans given femi=
of German origin to enter the Prussian judicial service
Dr. Hertzfeld only intends to deal with the conditions Helen justice system. Why, for what reason
n | |

– 14 –

Perhaps the then Minister of Justice, Dr. Friedberg, can give some information about it.

But is in this case a thought for the "Alliance israélite", the Bine Briß=Orden etc. not allowed?

"Berlin golf bankers."

In the summer of 1889 a friend of mine, a Russian, was in Berlin.
He had become short of cash, and since he had asked friends for Money is not an option, but a trip to a Baltic Sea resort and because he wanted to go to Russia, he decided to buy a paper. It was, if I am not mistaken, a Russian Premiums=Anlcihe.

My friend was a great expert on Jews and loved nothing to do with such; but the next banker was a Jewish banking firm that bore the proud title of "court bankers."
"This title will probably protect against too much predation," he thought, and offered his paper to these gentlemen, who also wanted to buy it However, they could not specify the exact course, because they had to wait for the next stock exchange. So because my friend offered the down payment of several hundred marks in reception. leaving his address where the bankers to send the invoice and the remaining money the following day promised.

There were two coupons attached to the paper; one was Banker sold it, the second, however, which had a value of only a few rubles, had to help my friend with the settlement= be returned. This was specially agreed. The whole value object, by the way, amounted to only a few hundred rubles.

When my friend in the Baltic Sea resort failed to settle his accounts the agreed time, he wrote to the Berlin bankers.

They replied: "It was an error on our part The paper had to be sent to St. Peters for stamping. burg; however, we will send you an invoice together with money to your address in Russia."

My friend already suspected the femift tactic of smuggling with "misunderstandings" and the like.

In Russia, at his insistence, he finally received the settlement= and, since he was far from the gun, he had been given a fpoor course, he was charged exorbitant expenses. He found himself on a shameless way; in addition, however, the removal account of the coupon due to him. He therefore saw himself compelled to Hekxen to write a letter with the following content:

"Mr. X and 9), court bankers in Berlin!

I have received your invoice etc. I miss
Your valuable letter on 1 a
In anticipation of the things that might come, I

- 125 -

Allow me to draw your attention to the Coupon to draw attention.

I hereby request you to return the embezzled
Coupon immediately and will then give you a General= give a receipt for the entire transaction.
en ee

The court bankers replied:

"We are hereby sending you the missing coupon. As a result of an "error" the same was not in our previous letter By the way, we gladly waive the promised general receipt, since we see that you are not in the Are able to hit the tone in which one can speak with an= permanent house corresponded." |

My friend replied:

"What a pleasure it is for me to be with your esteemed
To correspond with the company, the foregoing has sufficiently shown. For the sake of order, I am sending you hereby nevertheless the general receipt. u

Furthermore, I would like to inform you that recently in O. in the P. Governorate (Russia) three Jews – because church robbery – were hanged, which among the other has caused a wholesome terror among the children of Israel.

e

Note: In Russia, only the death penalty was used for capital crimes 1 this was long
The first one was eaten again because of other offense brought into action.

I must also note that the letters, according to the stories of my Ircundes, who had no copies of them, found them.
The court bankers will, however, be able to finely send the letters in to reproduce its wording.

An example of how the Jews spread their hands everywhere and may show the following.

"The Haunted House."

The above-mentioned friend intended to buy laundry and inquired 115 a German shop It gave him an address and I also took the opportunity to equip myself. The
The shop made the most favorable impression. It was an old business founded many years ago.

The business staff consisted solely of Germans, and all
The gentlemen and ladies employed therein made an excellent impression.

The goods delivered also seemed good and worth the price:

– 16 –

But how great was our astonishment to hear afterwards, that this business was actually in the hands of Jews who had the old

German business bought 9 and which is now forced by to obtain all goods from them and through them.

In the same building there is a hospice of the city of Berlin= mission, namely travelers of the better classes who liked Jews I am now told that the

The whole house belonged to Jews and even the management of the hospice in Udish hands; yes, that even a well-known court preacher, the

ter of the hospice, was forced to move to a neighboring hotel when he intended to hold a conference in his own hospice in which the Jewish question could be discussed.

How should one protect oneself from Jews? They say that God is omnipresent, that may be fine, but that the Jews find it, that is certain.

All these experiences of later years led me to to look back at youth and those years, where no further attention had been paid to Judaism.

In my hometown I had only seen the Jews as ordinary Know people N There were one or two Jewish bankers there= families, the rest were traders, shopkeepers, slaughterers, etc.

With the sons of some of them I attended the gymnasium visited and I even became friends with one of them.

Everyone probably experiences something peculiar at school with Jews; and the instinct of the child makes one feel that the Jewish children are different, that they have a different way of thinking without being able to give an account of it.

Our education today seems to be aimed at that this natural childlike sensitivity is nipped in the bud.

Now I see what has become of these old families that I have youth and what became of my classmates, Yes, I find that some of these families are still vulnerable in the place and continue to operate their businesses.

The big bankers have partly committed bad bankruptcies. power and died violently: one is ended up in prison.

The sons of these families have partly gone out into the world, and I know of some that they have become very rich. Others of the small businesses had grown. Some of them were making if bankrupt and then expanded in other places.

Most people had understood how to take advantage of the Gründerzeit, and a: of the former little people now live as rentiers in Berlin. a as there was always a supply for the Jews who had left,

hardly to be mentioned.

At the end of the sixties I had in Hamburg and Amsterdam the Jewish quarters were considered a curiosity, even in Brussels met many Jews without getting to know them. From Hamburg
In 1868 I was sailing around the Cape of Good Hope drove to Singapore with good hope.

ee 1

The first shop in Singapore where I bought some items for the onward journey to Cochinchina, was the one of the Katz brothers, and in Saigon it was the Pohl brothers. Oppenheimer & Co. and their friendly clerk Mr. Joseph Levi, which first clothed me. .

When the Franco-Prussian War broke out, the French governor Comte Cornulier de Luciniere and the Germans to remain in the colony and even voluntarily took over Guarantee for our lives and property.

In general, we had a very friendly relationship with the French. lived on a low level and with the governor and other high officials offices were in the most lively traffic. .

After the fall of the Empire, a communist Movement asserted itself. and an attempt was made on the life of the Germans. The government, who saw itself threatened, feared no longer able to protect themselves from acts of violence and was forced to expel us for our own safety.

The main instigators of the uprising and those who Those who had caused and demanded the expulsion were: Marx, Sémanne and Alancjube; all Jews: something I had no idea at the time.

Several other Jews also had their hands in the game The French, both officials and merchants, had disapproved of our expulsion, and during the expulsion both as later, when we returned after the war, the good understanding with the French would soon be restored if Traffic did not immediately reach the previous volume; only the Jews remained hostile to us under the mask of the French patriotism tism because they had not succeeded in gaining control of our business, as they had hoped to gain control of.

A strange phenomenon was that most of the bosses of the Comptoir d'Escompte in China and Japan, which mostly German Jews tried to stand up for France at the outbreak of war. zofen in order to maintain their positions, which However, they did not succeed.

In 1872 I came to China. Here we had the Business, where I first worked in a dependent position, a employee who is characterized by extraordinary kindness

He had the birthdays of all his colleagues from dig, and on that day everyone was made at least surprised by a bouquet from this friendly gentleman. He also took the photos from his colleagues' albums. graphs of their relatives and then had portraits of Chinese Chinese painters and surprised her with it for her birthday. ben Julius Neumann, that was his name, took 1 the most lively participation in the family affairs of his colleagues and merte fch about their well-being and woe. One can well imagine, what general popularity this man enjoyed. New man was English by nationality, although he hardly spoke English spoke and registered at the English Consulate.

j

– 128 –

When I went to Europe in 1877, I asked Mr. Neumann for the Address of his parents. I thought I would be doing him a service if I visited them and found them from their son in foreign Landen told.

Given his strong sense of family, I assumed that this would give him great joy.

But when I received evasive and stalling responses to several requests, u received, I of course did not press any further and forgot the ache.

In Germany, someone asked me about Mr. Neu man and told me that his name is not actually Neumann, but has a Polish name and is the son of a Polish-Jewish man who now lives in London. It had its own conversation with our friend Neumann.

Mr. Neumann was therefore an out of the in Ge birthdays and family attachment of others. It is the: the same Mr. Julius Neumann, who later joined the maritime customs service, and who often visited German warships in China: he invites the officers and cadets and many German patriotism developed.

In 1886 I met Lady Hart, the wife of the General Customs Inspectors. She told me: "It was just a fellow countryman from you here who visited me; we also heard from you spoke." She then told me that it was Mr. Neumann. The lady was extremely surprised that Mr. Neumann actually her countryman, ie Englishman, but in reality was not called Neumann and was the son of a Polish Jew.

"That sounds fabulous," she said, "I have not the slightest I had no idea about it and I don't think my husband white."

When I returned to China the following year, I heard again von Neumann.

But there was no longer much enthusiasm for him; he was thought to be a secret spy for Sir Robert Hart.

5 15 lists of customs officials, Mr. Neumann figures as "German."

Already on my first return trip from China to Europe via Singapore, Ceylon and Suez, as well as a later 9 5 and Zu On my return journey I heard that on the Malacca peninsula and some of the Dutch islands agents of Rothschild and his associates sought should be, all the tin mines by slaughter in their hands to bring. g

I want to end this chapter with a memory of my journey to close the Cape of Good Hope: Every time we . weather, the captain used to say: "There must be a ude on board; where could he be?"

"The guy has to go overboard!"

— . —ü— UT

v.
General observations and additions.

A world in a frenzy rushes from pleasure to pleasure, from vice to vice. A horde of strangers who managed to fomselves as supplicants through fake baptism and other fraud in our country has, under the pretense of progress, humanity and humanity, the leadership of almost all public = opportunities, leads the wild dance around the golden calf and seeks the circle of their own decay and corruption to move further and further in order to gradually gain world domination

Justice is undermined by the introduction of foreign laws paralyzed and is becoming more and more a purchasable object:
as well as the offices, honorary positions and awards. Art, Wifehood= Business and literature fall into prostitution, health care

in larger cities it is falling more and more into the hands of foreigners=
ing, who trade with it and use it in their anti-people spirit
The truth is perceived as a discordant note and In its place reigns the supple ischariotism, which is called "the tone of nobility", which, however, is only the cloak of internal decay, decay and neglect.

Foreign imported vices flourish in the big cities and the Molochism of the stock exchanges and international corporations fices eat away at the brand of the peoples: with commercial prosperity=
It is believed that it can cover all sins and vices.

lotteries in which the main prizes were almost exclusively won by Jews

What an incredible world we live in! Not much longer
It is now forty years since the foreigners in German Landen granted the right to live, and today already fight
With this 1 we are fighting not only for the German imperial throne, but also about our national identity and religion.

It is the secret organization of this society, which one
Ben. Attention is paid to the situation which has brought about this situation.

"It is the 'racial question' that has been left out of sight, because some interested brofeffors have deceived us by means of their deceptive Science tried to prove that it no longer exists.
They threw sand in our eyes and didn't pay attention to the warnings= the voices of the Velen air heard; one has been in all this«
let yourself be carried away by the common frenzy. |

My friend v. Brandt. 9

– 130 –

Let us hear what a French writer wrote in 1876
, and let us examine whether the conditions described at that time in Frankreich does not also fit the unfriegen and whether his pro= prophecies have not come true.

Erenewment from May 3, 1876. Article by Aurelien Scholl.

One has heard the words of the Marquis of Souvres: "The financiers are holding the State as the rope to the hanged man!" is often cited and repeated.

Scribe brought it to the stage and it was attributed to him. From this moment on, it can be found everywhere. Alphonse Karr has often used; the Echos de Paris brought it back, and one fine day you will find it in Francais.

The word of the Marquis de Souvree is the motto of a book which is will be published this week and of which I have found the printed sheets: "La Haute Banque et les révolutions" by Auguste Chirac.

"Since the year 1789," the author says, "financiers have made a series of of complaints, which are always the same and the rebellious spirit, the corruption of the people, subtle desires for robbery and disorder".

Well, Mr. Chirac proves that the rebels, the robbers and subversives It is precisely the players with the national wealth that find, or in other words "the financiers".

"A government consists of people who are appointed as administrators of the people's have made it so, or who have made themselves so.

Depending on whether the administrators evade control or submit to it, thrown, this capacity circulates in order to be distributed in mass by the individual to spread and grow, or, on the contrary, to establish itself in individual individuals to accumulate and grow against the masses.

"Power and splendour can today be expressed in one word, namely: "Systematic, usurious appropriation of symbols of value, namely of money."

"And the two aristocracies unite so willingly that Miss Ouvrard Duchess of Rochechouart and Miss Say becomes Princess of Broglie.

"People buy the titles that their daughters acquire through marriage If the counts and barons are bought up, we will get the prince Abraham, Marquis of Astruc, Duke of Isaac.

"Those who are dissatisfied with this caricature of rule will treated as dangerous people and must make amends for their injustice in present and future prisons.

"The Jewish aristocracy, which made and deposed kings, is financial aristocracy which appoints and deposes governments."

While the billions are in the hands of a few people, there are ten million citizens who Martin, Durand, Chapuzeau, Boulard, Chabert, Bon ≠ neu, Duval or Batandier, who cultivate the fields, forge iron, stones hew, build scaffolding, heat machines, suffer hunger when there is a strike, and children in rags when one of them is thrown from a scaffold fall, or is caught by the drive belt of a machine.

“A tax is imposed for a specific purpose. The purpose is disappears, but the tax remains.

“No tax has ever been abolished, it is increased by you convert them.

It is the intermediaries between the state and the individual who do the business; they alone keep the profit.

“When you subscribe to a bond, you pay twice; once by for your money to buy a paper, and a second time by paying the tax; pay, with which they promise to pay you back your money.

“For thirty years the savings of French labour, of the land, man, the merchant, the petty bourgeois, the craftsman in money from Frank; rich and comes back in paper.

“Well, there always comes a moment when the paper has nothing is worth.

Batandier has a pearl necklace for a sultana or a nobleman; ftone-topped saber for some Dey. Molinchard has a kilometer »Railway built in Crient. Molinchard and Batandier have no more bread, while the Count of Abraham and the Baron of Moses – who acted as intermediaries merchants – had the gates of their villa gilded, their stables with Fill nose horses and buy paintings for 60,000 francs to put them in their rooms.

To find the gold pieces scattered in so many drawers, among so many To get out the straw sacks hidden in so many cellars, requires there are many “suction pumps”.

For this reason, the offices and branches have expanded so much increased. |

Then a lever or a large motor is needed and it is called king or emperor.

He enjoys the confidence of the country; loans are made in his name; one enriches oneself under one's responsibility.

And who is it that pays the civil list?

It is not those who use the instrument, but rather those against whom it is used.

When the big engine has served its purpose, and you can see from pure Profpe= If the economy suddenly finds itself with empty pockets, then there will be a small revolu lution.

The people who need such a lever or motor are now looking for machine under a different name.

This is called "conspiring in the interest of order".

And how willingly we subscribed to the premiums and other bonds!

And don't we have enough money and work for these lovely people? cut off the cuts, who told us through their coachmen: "eh" out of the way!" let them call.

Are you not tempted to shout to them: "Get out of the way quickly"?

Private individuals are ruined; states are letting their tongues hang out. Where has our money gone? Take the certificate of exchange and read the price of the foreign

Algae bonds:

9 ®

– 132 –

Peruvian 23 francs.

Egyptian loan 42 francs.

Turks 12.00.

Ottoman bonds 55.–.

Spanish colonies 14.–.

Honduras 8.50. ö

Oh, my Mexicans! Oh, my continental brothers, where are you?

[|

What have they done with our money?

Who has benefited from our funds?

Why is the counter through which the money disappeared still open and invites you to new ventures?

Tomorrow we may read a prospectus written like this:

bond of 20 million

the land of desolation.

"Guaranteed interest: 8% .. Two lots & 500,000 Francs," eighteen to 400,000 francs with guarantee of the government of Troftlofigleit and all troftlofen bankers).

"Issue of 200,000 shares of 1,000 francs each – au porteur – payable:

" 10 francs upon signature and

"990 francs if distributed.

"The Government of the Land of Despair offers the undersigned as Warranty: s

'J) soil infertility;

"2) Ice blocks of inestimable value:

3) Whole banks of walrus tusks.

"Everyone knows the importance of walrus teeth in European trade
This product alone would be sufficient to pay the interest.

"In Paris, one draws at the Comptoir des Dice-Makers and in the provinces at all branches.

t And this is no joke.

This transaction and this advertisement were made under a different name, and they will be repeated. 6

®

"Twelve and a half centimes ($\frac{1}{2}$ %) give the stock exchange agents 100 million Brokerage fee per year." So it is nominally 80 billion to cover the annual the stock exchange is played.

That would be very nice in a country where everyone can be idle; but when, on the contrary, one is dealing with a full, active, tireless and does not shy away from work, then it is sad to see such a wound, through which his blood, his strength, etc. escape.

Elsewhere the same author writes:

In some future, perhaps not far off, the cauldron will burst.

Large credit institutions will burst like overheated test tubes; there will only be
There will be ruins all around us. Paris will resemble Ischia after the earthquake!
This will not be the end of the world, but at least the end this society.

Jo will not be one of those who regret it!

We have seen large credit institutions collapse and numerous left behind rich ruins, but we are only at the beginning of the end; The near future will probably bring us further events
Let us consider some symptomatic binftände of the very youngest time: A Jewish writer who denies Judaism, orders expulsion from the German Reich=ale from his own power and shows that If it is not immediately followed, the whole shameful act ready, on which his power is based. He is supported and also nor declared a man of honour by a club whose predecessor feating is a living Prussian Chamber Court Judge. The be=The apt Hebrew was called Paul Lindau.

An Israelite named Morris de Jonge wants to convert to Christianity transgressed by opposing the immorality of Judaism
To make him stronger, his own family put in the madhouse and find three unscrupulous Jewish doctors fuch prepared to issue certificates for this purpose, one even without he has seen the gentleman in question.

A Jewish-German envoy is accused of attempted murder and i and from other sides all kinds of dishonorable things» en, the plaintiffs are not even allowed to appear in court and The man remains in office and in power. He threatens that if one him, with madhouse and administrative elimination.

A German scholar makes an invention: the same is Jews are being raided, and not only is there despicable trading but a Jewish doctor treats fine patients in frivolous Weife. A minister of culture of Jewish descent accuses ha of whitewashing of these actions. A medical association, in which 108 members only 3 Germans are in the group, declares the man an honorary man.

There is no need to mention the affairs of the Jewish minister Lu=cus, the unnatural Jew Schweinburg and numerous other cases to consider and ask yourself who actually in German=country. Countless court decisions make it clear recognize that they are made in the spirit of the Shulchan Aruch, and it is even dangerous to even hint that a Talmud German legislation exists. A German judge who dares to do such a thing, runs the risk of being reprimanded by the Minister, as we the following article proves:

A reprimanded judge.
The "Jewish Press" No. 5 of January 29, 1891 writes:

n a larger provincial town in Germany 5 youngest criminal proceedings against a person accused of various thefts Apprentice. The e of the same was from Er=mediation judge, and on this occasion 85 that the amounts stolen from the merchant were so small that it to prosecute the thefts of a criminal complaint by the

– 134 –

The merchant was then asked whether he needed this wanted to file a criminal complaint. "Oh, what do I care that the person punished? I will not file a criminal complaint," replied the merchant. The judge now noted that it was in the interest of the public order, a wrongdoer, such as the accused, cannot go unpunished to let go, and that in this sense the merchant punished "If I have to file a criminal complaint, then I have to ask him, otherwise I won't ask him," explained the Kaufmann, and he stayed that way. The criminal complaint was therefore, because the Merchant is not obliged to provide the same, not provided. – "Of course," said the judge finally, "the accused is a Jew, and you are also a Jew and therefore you do not represent Criminal complaint. One Jew does nothing to another."

This remark gave the merchant cause to complain about the Judges to complain. The President of the relevant district court considered the complaint to be justified and in this sense against the judge.

The judge did not calm down, but called the decision appointment of the President of the Higher Regional Court. This clarified that the complaint was unfounded, that the allegations, the the judge made to the merchant, were entirely appropriate.

The merchant did not agree with this decision, and He therefore complained to the Minister.

The latter redefined that the complaint was justified and pointed out the President of the Higher Regional Court to issue a verdict to the judge. to issue a warning, because it is not up to a judge to the decision of someone to file a criminal complaint or not ft to criticize. –"

This event is too remarkable to be ignored It shows that the judge could very well have people and certainly also the religious laws that allowed the Jews forbid them from engaging each other in litigation. In Shulchan Aruch, the legal code that is still valid for all Jews today, states:

"It is forbidden to bring a Nia (of the Jews among themselves) before the Judges of the Akum (ie the non-Jews) but before the Beth=din (the chief rabbi's office) should lead him." ("(hoschen ha-mishpat" 26, 1.)

is in Choschen ha mishpat 388, 10 the following fear= bare threat issued:

"If a Jew has denounced other Jews or denounces
According to paragraph 1 he is liable to death, and whoever kills him has a service."

The behavior of the Jewish merchant therefore appears to the in the legal regulations of the Jews. Not Less justified and completely understandable is the behavior of the Judge, who must have knowledge of the religious statutes of the Jews and therefore acted quite correctly.

But it is not possible to explain how three different instances in the German justice system in such a simple and clear matter situation could give three different judgments. Truly, such Incidents are not likely to damage the reputation of the German to increase the judiciary.

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 132 of 22. January 1891.)

One would think that the Minister in question has no
Has any idea of the terrible law=code that a certain class of fellow citizens who form a state within the state, as the recognizes their own and acts accordingly without mercy (III. Part p. 12 have printed 15 of the same), and here I give a this 8 is arranged according to the objects, as far as the attitude of the Jews towards us Germans:

alaskanization
the

100 Laws from the Shulchan Aruch
according to the objects in question.

The King . 40. 41. 44. 67. 71. 87.
N 81. 83.
Death blow... 19. 45. 46. 50. 81.
Betrang .. 16. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31.

32. 33. 34. 36. 37. 38. 39. 42. 43.
47. 55. 73. 82. 99.

Charities. 73. 94. 86. 87. 25. 89.
Blasphemy 4. 8. 9. 10. 56– 71. 79. 83. 91.

Contempt. . . 2. 3. 5. 6. 7. 11. 12. 13. 15. 17. 22.

23. 25. 31. 47. 48. 5154. 56. 57.
58. 72– 75. 79. 82. 83. 84. 90. 98.

100th

Mistrust . . I. 76. 78. 80

Jewish Courts – Nabbineramt 19. 20. 21. 50. 90. 98. 100.

German Courts 20. 21. 22. 23. 33. 36. 40. 41. 85. 96.

Yep. here 9. 11. 12. 13. 14. 16. 18. 35. 49. 58.

(61. 66. 69. 72. 77. 79. 83. 89. 91.

Marriage 38. 96. 98. 100.

Theft recommended 22.

False Spit e. 42.

Mockery... 66.

May every German judge quickly learn from the 100 laws be placed under penalty of perjury and may henceforth not be used in any court proceedings situation, which concerns disputes between Germans and Indians which will repeal 100 laws.

– – –

– 136 –

An example of how the Jews show the Germans that they, and not the Germans find the masters in German-speaking, is the following:
A good friend of mine, who is established in Shanghai, had for the purpose of bringing his children, wife and children to Germany
He had accommodated them in a small German residence and went to Hamburg to prepare for his imminent return to China. The lady is still preparing her She asked busy, when suddenly a court official appeared and she asks if she would be willing to pay a larger sum of money;
if she could not or would not do so, he would have to seize her property. The lady and her companion initially considered this an inappropriate Joke: when the man identified himself and actually went to the fealing her belongings, the lady who had the demanded sum of several thousand marks was not in the Hanse, one should at least allow her to separate from her
A man staying in Hamburg had the sum telegraphed:
but it did not help, the man continued with the sealing. She telegraphed her husband that she was being seized, and he sent back a joking reply; he too believed that some fmilitary weyftification. At repeated insistence of his
But he quickly returned to his wife and saw the extremely embarrassing

feusual Befche. When he asked, he learned that this Befche= The capture was initiated by a Berlin Jew. The matter was as follows: My friend had a branch= Ä 5 in Tientsin. His local partner had the verse A long time ago, a large batch of Chinese products for employed for a long time against the sending of letters of credit. The Jew had then placed an order for the goods, but without the . ung, namely to send letters of credit, so that the The order was obviously not carried out. Now the Jew complained Compensation for the benefit he has had from the products would have been if the order had been carried out. The Tientfin= Branch was now . and now the however formerly liable Shanghai shareholders in Europe forced the various sufficient sum of money if he could return to China undisturbed wanted to travel back.

No judgment had been made in this matter at all, but the Jew simply had this completely untenable claim although he could have legally turned to Shanghai must, where a claim would have been made to the German Consular Court must be sued.

So en in 1889 at the beginning of September. The city in which this happened is called Detmold, but the order for the

The arrest had apparently come from Berlin.

My friend turned indignantly to the man still in Berlin visiting ambassador Mr. von Brandt, to inform him about the to complain about the shameful act and to provide information about this monstrosity time in the judiciary. Mr. von Brandt asked his nephew, the Justice Counsellor von Simfon, and he said that the decree on

= ae

On the basis of a law, by means of which one could speak in German foreigners residing in the country without paying their debts wanted to leave. (It is argued here again that the Jew to the Germans in his own country as a foreigner that= U. [See also under "Baptized Jews", "Göfchen", II. Part, p. 80.) The Jew, who here presents the relevant law to the Germans interpreted, is the son of the former President of the Reich Court. Would it be possible to draw conclusions about the father from the son? 0 believe so, because a well-known proverb tells us: "The apple never falls far from the horse.)

Of course, the law did not apply to this case, and it was then the talk of "gaps in our legislation" and their corpse beautiful things anymore. But I asked myself whether it would be luderer than a Jew would have succeeded in making an unheard-of pledge= to obtain a warrant, and told me that it is the Jew who Germans want to prove that he rules in Germany, whether rightly or with injustice is the same: it is the gaps in our law which the Jew always makes use of and in which he appear to be promoting the authorities.

For anyone who wants to take a closer look at this interesting case If you would like to do so, please feel free to provide names and further information.

I have just come across a piece of work that I I have read it with the greatest interest. It is a book by Conrad Alberti (Sittenfeld), about whom I wrote in Part III. The book is called: "Who is the stronger?" A social novel from the modern Berlin (Leipzig 1888, published by Wilhelm Friedrich, Als Motto for his book the writer has chosen a saying from King Frederick William III elected:

"Not liking the man, the stone, because he is a genius." with which he undoubtedly wants to show that he is a great genius. Yes. Mr. Sittenfeld is something in a fine way, and I recommend everyone urgently to read this book, who wants to get a correct concept of Jewish Berlin society and the work and influence of the Judaism; but at the same time I recommend the book with Such a book could only be written by a born Jew who, in the society he describes, lived and woven and knows it from the ground up. There we see all sorts of "big celebrities" under transparent veils, we Dr. Paulus Caffel, Julius "von" Rodenberg and others in their Elements: there we meet the famous president of a medical congress in Talmudic light; in short, we know things as they are find, and Lindau has long been overtaken by this new genius.

The "Eternal Community of Judaism" appears in this society drastically, you can literally smell it, like in Zola's Schil a sewer, and all the perfume that one has after the last Fashion 'under the skin', this atmosphere could not be 55 And now to you, what a sad thought to a to have to attend such! These feedings, of which one

– 138 –

"almost always with a spoiled stomach, but always much dumber e ee, when one went there" as a Berliner Ge recently heimrath said correctly.

Truly, when one has read such things and knows that they are true, then you learn to appreciate the people who are not afraid to join a Jewish protection organization. What might a Gustav Freytag to enter here? This name touches on most painful, but in France we have something similar. There it was Victor Hugo, who in his earlier years had written far more negatively about Judaism than Freytag, who in his old age was the Jew Lockroy (or Simon or for something else) fell into his hands. Professor Ihering may should have done it for the love of his Jewish friend, otherwise this famous professor, to whom we owe such beautiful treatises on the "Aesthetics of the Return Ticket", we know that the Jew in history always travels only on a return ticket and that the same is not transferable and always expires after a certain period of time. And since the professor is so knowledgeable in railway matters, he will also without doubt the famous railway traveler Edgar Baer who, in a truly Jewish way, 75 the national-economic problem wanted to solve the problem of how to travel on the railway without a ticket. That the Honourable Member Heinrich Rickert from Putzig and the lawyer Munckel from Pyritz should not be missing in the association were allowed to, it goes without saying: but one misses Professor Rudolf Virchow from Schivelbein. He will now perhaps take up the received the contract, in the developing struggle in its kind to curse the Jews; or should he, like the rats, Ship, the threatened Judaism, want to leave?

We learn from a reliable source that the Judenschutz-Society now essentially limits its activities to will be a black list of anti-Semitism and those who are could, in order to later, when the political situation changes, which is not difficult to expect, the persons concerned either to the state lawyer or the business one. – This is how it reads one just read in the German social papers of March 8. That should open the eyes of the Germans who have joined the Ring and a good idea, not to degrade yourself to "rubbish haulers" to let go.

Anti-Semitism, this disgrace of "yes he is widespread, but it is hidden deep in the innermost parts of the soul

World's guilt is unsaid
The earthquake victims would not be able to reach the Zagelick

– 139 –

good Germans, who bravely go into battle, the greatest heroes deeds when it comes to serving his fatherland serve, he is weak like a child and anxious when it comes to acts to attack a Jewish scoundrel; he lacks the intellectual courage

One of the officers "judaized" by Mr. von Brandt, who
The man who had the courage to sue him told me that he had cried as a child, every time he remembered the drudgery of this man thought; but with that, the courage of the Jewish people was also tracht towards the end. Because when I once alluded to the fact that Mr. von Brandt was a Jew and that his dishonorable behavior
When I wrote this, he became timid.

When I was concerned about the spread of anti-Semitic feelings in Germany, I found that the majority of Germans with Falstaff says:

"The better part of valor is discretion".

(The better part of courage is caution.) .
and I still believe today that it would not be inappropriate to use the anti-
to bring the femific movement among German women, because:

"Do you want to know exactly what is appropriate

So ask only noble women. -"

rough ones sometimes show infinitely more courage in such cases de the men who were drinking beer 5 and a glass of wine in the small Circles kill countless Jews with their mouths and one of them everyone deserved an iron cross with Falstaff's inscription.
I was told about an anti-Semitic association, of which all Members are convinced Dühringians who have been continuously claim that Dr. Eugen Dühring was a great man and argue about who is the best Dühringian. Everyone wants to be the Not recognizing others as complete and saying that they are not yet purified enough, not yet a pure, unadulterated Dühringian, and in The club should devote all its energy and time to this noble competition waste.

The Jews have recently released an anti-Semitic mirror
I have already written about the first delivery of this work in ridden parts in the article "The Jews and the Army" wrote and explained that it aims at nothing other than the
To throw sand in the eyes of Germans. With the recently published second delivery is the same. The focus of the second delivery= seems to lie in a small essay in which it is claimed that that it had not been Sir Moses Montefiore who had been on the council= assembly in Krakow in 1840: "As long as we do not the newspapers of the whole world in their hands to inform the peoples and to numb, our rule remains a figment of the imagination."
exeits elsewhere I have shown that it is equally Whoever has made this statement can be considered valid. Whoever wants the Jews now whitewash Sir Moses Montefiore after his death?
This can only be because they themselves have to acknowledge that the statement contains a great infamy. What infamous person has now made this statement, can make us all the more indifferent yes and no, when we called the children of Ifrael all over the world after this Council act. What can a desmenti, even if it were from Sir Moses Montefiore or Crémieux himself or any other Jew? These are all people for whom their law regards lying and perjury as sacred duties imposed, as far as the 5 and deeds of Israel are concerned We know what Montefiore and Crémieux in Damascus ethan, we know what the Alliance is still doing today and what fit actually aims at, and we know that the documents which the Damascus affair, under the Ministry of Crémieux on the Foreign Office in Paris. It would be madness= fense to believe a word of such people. The Major Osman Bey, on the other hand, is a good authority, whose testimony is more weighs more than that of the entire Jewry of the world combined, and whoever wants to know how he got his information, who reads the book "Revelations about the murder Alexander II." See book list), In the fifteenth chapter of this book, Major Osman Bey gives us an introduction of the temple of the Rue de Trevise and the company that there. We also find in the society of the princes of Israel the Baroness Ange. Anyone who knows Parisian life at all, knows what kind of business this Jewish baroness is engaged in, and that is characteristic of the whole society. The Jews are becoming more likely: Some would say that Major Osman Bey's book is unreliable because he says: the Central Committee of the Alliance israclite had its offices in the house No. 35, while on the publications of the Alliance Even the house number is given as No. 37: which is correct, I don't know, but the Jews may be right. fuch small printing errors the Jews often use to create an entire work to declare it to be lying and unreliable. For example, in In 1887 Drumont's work "La France juive" was published by a otherwise worth reading writer Mons. de Brunetiere criticized. The only factually incorrect thing he could find in the work, was that it had printed foetor judaica instead of foetor judaicus; Consequently, Mr. Drumont did not know Latin and was an incompetent Human: Well, I think whether one is foetor judaica or foetor judaicus fays, is in this respect completely irrelevant, because the Jew is not in the ringften smells different. Such Talmudic tinkering forms a component of the essence of Judaism.

One evening I came out of the Gymnafe Theater in Paris: N special sheets were announced on which in large letters was to be read: "La mort de Bismarck". Despite the reference my companion that it was dizziness, I bought one of these Leaf through and then read under the large heading the few Lines that the death of Prince Bismarck, if it occurred, would exert this or that influence on European politics.

– 141 –

This extra-paper fraud was based on the credulity of the public. Such a beautiful institution soon had to come to Berlin. A few years after the incident mentioned, in the streets of Berlin a special edition was proclaimed: "The Undergang of Elizabeth". It was based on the model of the Parisian sheet. Under the brand name it was stated that the Bremen barque "Elifabeth" somewhere, I think it was at one of the Dutch islands. Whether people were killed or I don't remember, but Fobiel is sure that it was an event that hardly anyone other than the relevant shipowners or insurance companies could be interested. The Paris Extrablatt was a political joke and in any case damnable, but what should one expect from the Berliner Extrablatt? Anyone who bought the mentioned extra paper was under the impression that it was the German "warship Elifabeth", where hundreds of men and officers were who had numerous relatives in Germany. That it was intended to confuse him with the Striegsichif, and this deception, which insinuated a national disaster, was to do business with it, nobody will deny that except the publisher of the extra-paper itself.

In Part III, p. 165/66, in the essay "The Stock Exchange during of war", is how Mr. Octave Mirbeau characterizes society. a national disaster alone is not enough to do business with it to make, but also invents bad news to satisfy their greed. Who knows whether the extra-sheet of the "Elifabeth" horror and misfortune among the relatives the harm done to those on board the warship "Elifabeth"? One does not usually hear such a thing, but the man who hatched a wicked plan to enrich himself, must be cases a low character.

I no longer remember which newspaper this extra-paper, but today I would like to use a well-known sum to the poor if I were able to do so to brand people here in this book.

That our authorities are powerless against such behavior are or seem to be, is quite regrettable and see that one obvious lies in certain newspapers go unpunished. is, for example, the end of the 19th century. the book of Rector Ahlwardt "The desperate struggle of the Aryan peoples with the Judaism" was published. The book contains very important things and certainly no lies, and probably only a few errors, and Everyone should read the same thing. In a mailbox note of the

We now read the information from the liberal political movement that the book, if not a lie, but full of lies.

A public newspaper should never allow itself to do such a thing, especially this book or rather the truths contained in it a have had a beneficial effect? First and foremost they had the dismissal of Privy Councillor Manche (nE Moses),

– 142 –

Chief of the Kaiser's Civil Cabinet, led by a man who Judaism and some 40 years of the most vile Trading in titles and, it seems, even expressions of grace Instead of the two charges Ahlwardt has accused him of, 39 such cases were immediately proven, if not several. It is also likely that Ahlwardt's book thank you for uncovering the tricks of a certain Dr. Moritz Reiter gar is, who carried out a similar haggling with titles etc. |. w. The whole dirty business in connection with Manche and Reiter breathes Judaism and those involved seem to have reached the highest court circles where a secret Judaism is also quite strong Who would have thought that Napier ladies with noble names who held court offices and were active at court= returned, looking for Jewish women? Only now, after many years and who has been fortunate enough to have a look into this do, it occurs to me that the distributors of so-called spicy ofgeflichten etc., which basically only boil down to the To undermine the reputation of our imperial house, mainly Jews. I had already noticed earlier, that entirely internal events from the imperial family, which themselves into the bedroom, by Jewish singers, Benefactors and similar persons who were granted access to the castle Without a doubt, these in turn had their connections with the higher and lower e that yes was again infested with Jews, and so everything is explained by itself. But with what zeal the children of Israel fuch judges spread and circulate all over the world, of which I can give some examples from my own experience. "As long as it simple stories and harmless anecdotes, everything is still possible but through their Jewish coloring they receive a malicious and insidious character. ; As Mr. Ahlwardt tells us, the Jew Munde has a lucrative trade in titles of Privy Councillors and something similar, and probably the order-sharing much more widespread than is generally assumed. I for my part Person must admit that for me there is hardly a more ridiculous an: view, as a certain class of commercial councillors, covered with Orders from all over the world. The image of a monkey with a lady's dress and a feather hat and on a spinning organ makes its grimaces, always floats in my mind at the sight of such people society, and "a breast unblemished by orders" is with me the thought, if one sees such medal bearers, 3 For example, the Jew Mandl in Shanghai founded the Greek Order of the Redeemer, to wear around the neck", and he is also said to have bought some other Orders. Even such . must be given to one Desire to wear a medal. Mr. von Brandt told me had proposed to undertake a "campaign with medals", to dress you love from my letter to the Fürŕften ze Blematt bol 18. February 1889. (See II. Part p. 141.)

– 143 –

The fact that von Brandt also sent a whole box of medals to Peking fent, can be seen from his own letter to me (11th part p. 67). Although I cannot swear that this German orders, I am quite certain that Mr. von Brandt distributed them to the Chinese without me knowing ever read anything in the newspapers; possibly ie served to provide for himself and others from whom he learned something waited, Chinese orders n It would be worth knowing if such German orders were awarded by government to the envoys, or whether it is just a private undertaking that was done behind the back of the government But here one must ask oneself again: "Who is actually the government in Germany?") I would not be in the slightest surprised if this turned out to be the case. Just consider the Jewish swarms, as I described in the article "How to become an anti-Semite" on the occasion of Sacher Masoch and elsewhere, and consider who these people are connected with and what Influence they have exerted on the positions and still All these people are covered with medals and we have the Evidence that at least some of them also award medals.

I would like to return to China to show what influence the Talmudic education and Jewish interaction had on various gentlemen exercised there.

The Reichstag member Ludwig Bamberger has hunted: "There are few things in the world that have such a deep meaning in themselves like gold," and I claim that there are ini things in the world that sometimes contain such a deep meaning as a Jewish anecdote, and for this reason I want to tell one here, which is not beautiful, but e and Mr. Sacher Masoch's work "Jewish Life in Word and Image" incorporated deserved to be.

.It is Shabbat and the head of a Jewish family comes not return at the usual time; one is worried about the end-stay of the pious man and finally the two are sent Boys Moses and Aron went out to meet their expected father-to look or search for him. They come to a pond and

A pair of familiar boots peeks out. The boys begin to pull and find that their creator is sitting there, who he-drunk. They raise a terrible howl, but suddenly notice that the father is full of crabs. Fill them quickly
They filled their pockets with crabs, and after this work was completed is, they look at each other and Moses asks Aron: Shall we hang Tateleben still 5 hours. fhe wanted to once again Catching crabs with the dead father)

I now ask: "Is it different if, for example, Mr.
Brandt in Thinefe Times No. 130 of 26 April 1839 a report that praises the merits of his deceased

– 2 and

– 144 –

Father's fee and is only intended to provide a to cast a favorable light on him so that he can benefit from it can?" I have not printed this report, but it is a counterftuck to the article in the 11th part p. 204 about the captain of Hannecken, who pursues a similar purpose, or something else, as if Mr. von Ketteler, in order to present himself in a favorable light ft, among other outstanding personalities, also his own fchism as nephew of the late honorable Bishop von Ketteler, of the great German Dalai Lama. into the fray 0 I for my person can only see little difference in the way the
see the persons concerned.

One day, around April 1888, when I was visiting Mr. von Brandt
one morning, he showed me an address of the German Merchants of Shanghai and the Star of the Order of the Red Eagle
II. Class. Both had just been sent to him. "You see," said he said, "that's how you become a famous man! What an address for a
It is quite irrelevant whether the object has any real value," and by Ordensftern pointed out: "Nowadays you get the medals very quickly:
My father only received this medal when he was very old."
The address of the Shanghai merchants was, as I later found out in Shanghai learned, under the impression of a newspaper dispute and the true
The news, probably spread by von Brandt himself, that he now would resign from his job and would soon come through Shanghai to
To leave China forever, the address should be then presented in transit in Shanghai. That the Address was sent to Peking, happened without the prior knowledge of most Illustrators, who were later displeased because they had left the address empty= I had signed out of courtesy. The gentlemen who had the address sent to Peking on their own initiative, received much criticism. Article in the North China Herald concerning this address said one sees it as a well-deserved lesson for the haste with which the address had been drawn. For more details see Part II (pp. 199-201.) Mr. von Brandt had been impressed by the illustrators of the Address made fun of, and also Mr. von der Goltz Sulfid) later, whether I had contacted the main instigator of the address, Mr. Bieber, I know someone who thought that I only praised him because because he was stupid.

Another day I asked Mr. von Brandt if he had a possessed a certain Chinese grammar, which a Mr. von Bunsen, former Prussian ambassador in Rome. I was very new= eager to know what kind of work this might be, since according to the measures moiren of the ambassador's wife, a née Waddington, in a few months ago. I admired the e and labor of Mr. von Bunsen. Mr. von Brandt, however, said: "von Bunfen was a scoundrel, he let his and others work for themselves and then gave the work for fine

- = - EGGS

85 -

a Fe 232 - -

. ge ee

- 145 -

own." I fear that Mr. von Brandt has made a mistake in his judgment about himself A He seems to have the manner know how to become a famous man cheaply. The advertising feems to have been in the family. In my Research into the family of Brandt and I also To establish the father's merits. As I heard, the works of the General Heinrich von Brandt was recognized as exemplary; But what struck me was that, firstly, the general himself has sung about, and furthermore, that Jewish advertising is Works immediately seized and a propaganda for the same as if they were the works of a Jewish novelist General von Brandt was also certainly Wood carved as the old Wrangel, who is helping his indebted son a pistol. It would certainly be an interesting psychological studies, the life stories of the various members of this family and especially of Colonel von Brandt, brother of the Ge= fenten, who was head of the en in the war of 1870/7! and the Privy Counsellor of Commerce Schwabach. Partner of the Lord of Bleichröder, the iron 1st class on the white ribbon and who, even after the war, was accused of certain irregularities (Booty matters; is said to have stood trial before a court martial, to establish! |

As characteristic of Brandt's Judaism I would like to two facts: "I wanted to embark on a journey into the interior and von Brandt recommended me, since I was in Chinese.
and Mongolian en u campiren, I had plenty of In=

He told me about a trip into the Libyan Desert, which he had made in earlier years and where he had to clean himself of lice every morning; he fayed: "After all, the matter was not so unpleasant and one got used to it very quickly." He told me this story probably five to six times, I wondered to Mr. von der Goltz said: "It is quite strange that the minister has made this little gesture ftrasse jo often repeated: such memories count not to the 1 but he seems to have a real pleasure in it

u find." When I returned from my trip, one of the first

Questions. whether I had suffered much from vermin, and he was quite disappointed when I told him that this was not the case and I only saw one flea on the whole trip come and kill.

v. Brandt is certainly one of the finest products that the Jews=
thum; he looks good, is clean and makes
He makes an impressive impression. He is eloquent, friendly, pleasing and gives the impression of a scholar and art connoisseur= and despite all this, it seems that the memories of the Desert to make him feel at home. . |

"I would not dare to share the other case, because I have decided not to delve into Brandt's past life
By Freund von Brandt. 10

– 146 –

digging, if the matter is not already published in a 1
I only learned about this recently in Berlin, namely that Mr. von Brandt had already previously "sung" in a book by a lady who was travelling around the world
She came to Yokohama at the time when Mr. von Brandt where he served as a German consul. She turned to him in his official capacity as Consul with the Vitte, her to obtain passports or the like. After this had happened, Mr. von Brandt invited the lady into his room and tried to rape. The lady resisted and Mr. von Brandt made She noticed that he was not "any To render services for free. After the lady succeeded was to free herself, Mr. v. Brandt set his dogs after her.

Mr. Reichsgerichtspräsident von Simfon, who was Mr. v. Brandt learns exactly, is possibly able to determine the truthfulness of history to testify, if not, yes I can indicate where the be= appropriate book can be found. Mr. von Simfon and von Brandt seem to have made various communications to each other.
The latter asked me several times whether I would like to to let the Reichstag elect, whereupon I told him that firstly never thought about it and secondly the matter has not the slightest
It would be attractive for me. But you can't know whether you ai would think differently about it. Once you are back in Europe ate and had little to do, it could possibly become a duty that one can use one's experiences abroad for the common good Von Brandt then said: "You are just not going to not in, you don't fit in there at all, you have no idea of what unbelievable rabble sits in our Reichstag."
Don Brandt meets weekly with Mr. von Simfon, the former President of the Reichstag, corresponded, so Mr. von Brandt had to informed and will also have known the tables, whereby the Jew rules, where the deputies are classified according to wealth recorded and also the prices of some certain ones noted.

From whom else would Mr. von Brandt get such precise information?
judgments about the Reichstag that led him to such pre=
cisen and repeated Nene?

Mr. von Brandt himself, however, wanted to go to the Reichstag later, and when I asked him why he wanted to go into it, while he advised me against it, he said: "You don't understand,
I have to go in there!" He then explained to me that he had already pointed out work, and the manner in which he did it is absolutely delightful.
At every consulate abroad, requests for postage stamps are accepted= and there are also in Peking, Tientfin and elsewhere a narrow fuch letters from children. Since von Brandt has a fg ce rrespondenz fager sürft all over the globe er= (possibly with all the heads of the Alliance, and give him many official tüde, he comes into possession of many Postage stamps, which he collects carefully. Now answered by Brandt

– 147 –

all postage stamp letters arriving at the consulates are hand and say a few friendly words. "That," says he, "word gets around and in this way you become popular, and Later on, the grown-up fifth and fourth graders help you and tertians and their families, once you have votes for the Reichstag needs." Who does not have to think of all the pleasant Jews think, like Lasker and others, that for their small favors expected greater performance afterwards? If, moreover, considers that Mr. von Brandt has no say in the awarding of titles and Order, you can see here the whole process of how the Jew to fall in love and to gain influence; more and more or less by abusing his official position. In Shanghai if, as said, an order ceremony where the Jew Mandl decorates himself has, and I do not think I am on the wrong path if I suspect that Mr. von Brandt is not the only one who knows the whole scam, but also has some connection with it.

– Since I had absolutely no rights against von Brandt, and I wanted to show him that I was still in friendship with him

Think about it, I have given a whole number of children the address of the fa dae given. This served the children who were true= probably got postage stamps 1 and von Brandt had in the pleasant hope that he will later be able to so many more votes for the Reichstag. sorry): I also gave various gentlemen in need of order the hint It was said that one could obtain medals in Shanghai, and thus I may have some weak intentions to promote this trade. services acquired.

This reminds me of a nice anecdote that year in the Baltimore Sun and which I want to tell here. "The Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, who is known to be very humane= friendly, wanted to establish an ae. He turned to the Charity of the rich Brazilians and opened a subscription. which, however, yielded only small sums. Then he decided to order to sell, and in a short time he managed to make enough money, not not only for a splendid hospital, but also for an asylum for poor The new government has until not yet the inscription that the emperor put on the building let, 9 let, namely: "Vanitas humana miseriae humanae'"

I would like to know whether the proceeds of the Order's action in Shanghai similar charitable foundations or in which Pockets that might otherwise flow?

Something characteristic was told to me recently in Berlin. After I was raped in Beijing and I was fhmezic was quartered outside the embassy, ruled under the Ber fonal of the embassy, which had a common mass, a peculiar mood. The theme "Paafch" was a dangerous topic, and there was also a lot of disagreement among the people

– 148 –

In order not to come to the conscious topic and to protect oneself against= To protect them from each other, someone stranger always had to be invited who then

At the beginning of 1890, Mr. Clemens von Ketteler was Berlin. A mutual acquaintance met him on the Street. They greeted each other and Ketteler said: "I'm just on the way to my uncle, whom I used to give so much joy (This was the senior public prosecutor von Luck, the Ketteler had caused much grief through his bad pranks; and now the boy made fun of it.) The other gentleman said: "I I am on my way to Paafsch." "He is crazy," said Ketteler. My friend pointed out to him that it was It would be appropriate to be cautious, whereupon Ketteler became meek. I would like to ask the question whether it would not be better put such a small voyou in some workhouse 1 and useful to keep him busy, rather than letting him run around freely alone let him, but also to put him in a representative position where he can only cause harm? This Mr. v. Ketteler sets Incidentally, his acquaintance with the Jew Mandl still continued.

Doesn't Mr. von Brandt's behavior have some similarity to the ability of the giant Antaeus, who, every time he touched the earth regained new strength, or rather with that of a The shackle Jew, who had just been thrown down the stairs, ft and with redoubled intrusiveness fhis disgusting bargaining begins again? Brandt had barely learned a sensitive lesson which forced him to leave Europe as soon as possible, as he immediately in China the same reprehensible activity begins again and the Jews Mandl and his dirty things again, and little making sure that the Chinese show him contempt.

–

Some characteristic remarks by Mr. von Brandt:

"My friend Schwabach would, out of pure vanity, Doing business in China, out of pure joy for others' business to spoil. –

What would you do if someone else pushed you out?

(This was at the beginning of May 1888.) And I replied: "How " to think that only you and some officials are my business know!"

It was about the same time that Mr. von Brandt said:
"My work in China has so far mainly consisted in to prevent other people from doing business." a

—

At the beginning of June (during a visit to my house): "Life is a misery!" S0 is fed up with the gilded chains of bureaucracy to wear, and will shake it off soon. ne as

— 149 —

I would now like to tell an old but instructive story repeat:

Iwd' Süß Oppenheimer.

In the "Jewish Press" No. 7 of February 12, 1891, we read:
Homburg vd H. 4 a Last night Rabbi
Dr. Kottek gave a lecture on the topic "The Württemberg Geh. Finanzrath Süß Oppenheimer". Speaker glossed over his plans that were extremely damaging for Württemberg. However, that his later, particularly shameful,
Sentence to death was by no means justified. In reality=
University Professor Harbrecht also gave a lecture Tübingen judged that according to the existing laws, sweet can by no means condemn to death. Sweet would only be the Duke responsible to him, because he was neither a minister nor official, but only the confidant, the favorite of the Duke.
The officials, the councillors, who were responsible alone would have been Süß's plans with their names and in detail carried out, people like Hellwachs, Remchingen, Scheffer, Metz and others, These, however, went free, while Sü "like the following young Duke's guardians when signing the verdict expressed "for them the bill had to be paid with their lives" The Speaker, who also cast some sidelong glances at other German courts, who sought to imitate the lavish Louis XIV and the help 11 0, there was thunderous applause pending". — N

It is significant that the Jews, even now, after more than 150 years ago, their tribesman Süß Oppenheimer still as martyrs. This gives us further proof that the Jews have exactly the opposite views from ours. It is a sign of the times and the increasing audacity of the Jews. that they should discuss this topic in public lectures dare to act, and not least characteristic is it, the He the officials who signed and implemented Süß's plans, responsible for the Jew's atrocities and as the identify the only guilty party.

With the rabid Jewish rule in Germany and the growing German officials may be concerned about the influence of Jews on the judiciary remember and let it serve as a warning of what may lie ahead for them, if the Jewish economy is not brought to an end soon.

Therefore we want to tell the story of the Jew Süß Oppenheimer for the benefit and good of all those involved Hand of the pro-Jewish writer Otto Henne am Nhn play. 0

To Duke Eberhard Ludwig of Württemberg (born in 1676), who lived with the infamous Friederike von Grävenitz and had led a bad maîtresen=se=e=se=business, followed in 1733 fine cousin Carl Alexander (born 1684) who was the mistress of the gangster was sentenced to death and her siblings and nephews. Carl Alexander did not practice the role of a mistress: but he harmed the country more through other things than his predecessors, namely on the one hand through his expenditure in the military, on the other hand, by the poor financial economy that When the Grävenitz left, a economic comparison took place, which was led by a Jew who made an income of 60,000 guilders through fraud.

7 N .

– 150 –

This Jew, Josef Süß Oppenheimer, born in Heidelberg in 1684 boren, swung himself through the incomprehensible favor of the Duke and to the position of Finanzrat, in which position he led the country completely controlled by flattering the Duke, influential bribed people and intimidated others from their influence The police he paid and the hordes of people who were with him in Jews who came to the country ensured that their rights were asserted everywhere fhis will. Whoever did not obey him or adhere to his or ft wanted to participate in his gang's robberies, was asked for his Positioned, while with the Jew's tools almost all places were occupied and Süß met every contradiction against his will with threatened with castration, crookedness, flogging and hanging.

Neither persons nor petitions could reach the Duke without him. Yes, he even forged decrees that had already been signed by Binding of new sheets. A system of blackmail pressed from above down the country terribly, taxes and profits were raised in enormous Measures related to coinage and the tobacco monopoly used Sweet to weighty income in his pocket, he haggles outside with jewels, horses, precious metals and cheated the state about the customs duties. He made the country's coffers He made advances and set up lotteries, but he was not stingy. but made significant efforts, especially in the areas of external appearance, the table and lust.

He persecuted the "countryside by promoting Catholicism against the Catholic Duke and even forced the Lutheran Church fund money for tatholiō e. In two years He robbed orphans' funds and pious foundations of an amount of over 450,000 guilders. During the three years of his reign The job sales and extortions amounted to over a million Gulden. What he and his criminal comrades did not pocket, was attached to 8 te and elevators, to jewels with which the Duke be= was trogen, operas, comedies, singers and carnival wasted, and the Duke often had a shortage of cash, now . in the pile of a singer 5000 guilders and 150 bags= watches found.

Finally, just as the Duke was planning a coup against fhis prot Sr 7 75 subjects intended, he came to the Be deceptions of Süß. He asked for his release in 1737 and he= She seemed strangely pleased in an honorable moment. But then the rzog (where the on revealed that his lungs were "filled with dust, smoke and steam of the carnival and the operas, creating a

* *

Aa art

r

n ® 2

> 57 minutes

BE en.

– 2 – .

An^e ,

– – e 10 1

2 Lee IR " 3

N.  = 4 e

– 151 –

Hemorrhaging had to be done”) and immediately the Educator arrest the Jew and all his co-religionists in tuttgart and expose them to the mockery of the mob. Sweet, from the latter was also mistreated, was imprisoned at Hohenasperg, sentenced to death and executed on 30 January 1738 in red

Nocke on a cowhide 22 execution places ground and at a fifty-foot-high iron gallows, to which he was carried in a cage= The synagogue in Fürth celebrated him as martyrs of faith

This happened in Stuttgart; some of our fellow citizens 1 N that Karlsruhe and Darmstadt are not too far from are removed.

In view of the views expressed by the above-mentioned Rabbi on It seems strange enough that the Jews in various countries state subsidies for their synagogues and Seminars may not only claim, but also receive, and In contrast, it seems strange that many years ago the late Jewish minister in his newspaper “Die Post” declared or had declared “that the monarchy had nothing to do with the Religion to create 4 This was also genuinely Jewish, and it It is always good to hear such a statement from a ministerial to rescue from oblivion.

As excellent examples of the demoralizing effect of Judaism I will follow here with two short essays.

The Jews and the Templars.

The Talmud teaches its followers to use false flags to sneak into the enemy camp in order to attack him from the inside out the more safely to destroy.

The sons of Shem have mastered this tactic at all times By assuming the guise of the enemy, They got into the middle of the ranks unrecognized, behaved here as the most zealous advocates of his cause, and not for long, I the leadership itself – which then always leads to a thorough error= leadership was.

Thus Jewish cunning has overthrown many enemy fortresses and many icy Hochbieß shattered from within. Christianity in this treacherous attack has been exposed, as many rich sects, orders and clubs, whose members initially fought of Judaism. The one who penetrated under a hypocritical mask Jude had soon falsified her nature and turned it entirely on its head.

An astonishing example of this kind is offered by the Knights Templar – Macht 3 ig tüde zu Find Freemasonry and the "Gefo – aft Jesu".

On these 12 – the misunderstanding of the Jewish Race – and the racial essence in general – bitterly avenged. But witty belief that human character can change, without the blood changing, it has become their destruction.

— 1

– 152 –

At the time of the Crusades, the Knights Templar Order was considered one of the most powerful and deepest, and he was certainly originally one of the most pious and faithful. But his influence attracted the Jews Baptized Jews entered it in increasing numbers and – what have they made of him?

It sounds like a bad dream when you hear it. The Order, which was founded to protect the cross, eventually drove a Cult of the most brazen mockery of this cross. | Ed. Drumont hunts about this in his fine "La France juive" Vol. I. p. 172 et seq. (French Aug.: | |

"The incomprehensible events with the Knights Templar, which took place in the History appears as an unsolved riddle, like a kind of show – play with a disastrous ending, but whose plot is dark and un – is understandable, you only learn to understand it when you distance yourself from the gives an account of the mixing of Jews in the order.

The Jews' procedure has almost always been the same. They avoid attacking openly; they create – or they corrupt rather, they never create a powerful organization themselves, which must serve them as a war machine to improve the social conditions, which do not suit them, to e – Templar Order – Freemasonry – international nihilism – they made everything theirs Spetken are available. As soon as they have gained entry, proceed the always acted quite businesslike: soon the efforts of all only aimed at serving the interests of the children of Israel to do so in such a way that it only became clear to the people at the last minute who they work for and who they have worked for.

The Knights Templar have repeatedly clashed with the Jews were involved in financial matters. Through the Templars In fact, all monetary transactions were carried out in the Cross= trains whose mechanism is still so little known. They received the subsidies that the abbeys received for the Christian armies. They made advances to the leaders and discounted the bills of exchange payable in Saint=Jean=d'Acre.

Now, every person, every society, every people of Aryan origin, who gets involved in financial transactions is lost; money spoils them, without them getting any profit from it. As long as the Jews are loyal to the knights, who went to the Holy Land, buy their lands directly The Jews acted with them immediately. But when the »Kingdom began to bring order to this usurious trade, they were forced to accept the Templars as their front fons to use here. This explains the more apparent as the real 1 of the Knights Templar. a

How did these knights, who fought for Christianity, these knights of Ptolemais and Tiberias to carry the Cross of Christ u dishonor? Mignard has tried in gal fehr A ae work, to explain the gradual moral decline of that order, and Although occasionally the description of a strange, the Duke von Blacas's money suitcase. 0 5 suitcase was filled with kabalifti= Arabic characters and inscriptions, as well as the main ten symbols and the sign of the seven-rayed star nes covered.

– 153 –

The ones that originated in the Jewish schools in Syria and later The teachings spread by Manks penetrated the Templar Order and the already defeated Manichaeism found its way into these, servants who have been devoted to the Christian faith up to now. It is through Witnesses proved and is clear from every line of the paper by Michelet in the "Documents inédits de Thistoire de France" published the process edict that at the time of the dissolution of this Order, blasphemy of the Cross of Christ a part of the celebrations at the admission The knights spat three times on the cross, striking it with the denying places: "Ter abnegabant et horribili crudelitate ter in faciem spuebant eius." Brother Guillermy was forced to join e admission three times on the whole fpit and to witness a contempt for our Lord Jesus Christ, who on this cross suffered, to forechen= "Despiciendo Dominum Jesum Christum qui passage fuit in ea. –"

"Spit on this cross," they said to the knight Jean de Thounnes, while holding out the crucifix to him, "spit on it, as a sign of contempt for the one it represents." – Spuas super istam in de-Spectu esus.

According to the claim of Godfrey of Thutan of Tours, the Lengnungsformula literally: "Je renay Ihésu, je renay Jhcsu, je renav Jesu." – With the Judas kiss the induction ceremony was e "Osculatus fuit recipientem in ore et postea in fine spiuae orsi." .

These and other outrageous excesses of the Order, which the unmistakable features of Semitism, eventually led to the violent dissolution of the same. Already in 1307, prosecutors were on the who entered the order of idolatry, mockery of Christ and accused of immoral debauchery. All Templars France were then summoned and brought before the Grand Inquisitor Pope Clement V issued a bull ordering an investigation against all Templars in all countries. On May 12th In 1310, 54 Templars were burned. But it was not until May 2, 1312 that

A papal bull abolished the order after two hundred years of existence. because, as it says, he "would rather be silent to commit crimes that have passed on."

The Decline of Spain.

. "Let us search backwards on the path of the W for similar= events, such as those now taking place on German soil, our eyes are amazed by the phenomenal rise and fall gang that Spain has experienced in the short period of sixty years – from 1519 to 1586 – has gone through. Zr ze

– 154 –

In our consideration we primarily follow Konrad Haebler's work: "Economic prosperity of Spain in the 16th century. 91 and its decline" (Berlin, R. Gärtner's Verlag H. Heyfelder) The analogies and similarities that reveal themselves to us here are surprising. Vis to the Americas or better to the 110 where Spain profited from the precious metals of Peru and Mexico is flooded, everything will be fine. Until then, Spain is a cheap Land, agriculture, industry and trade develop equally= moderately under the care of the benevolent, the diligence and the private= enterprise-stimulating and protective government of Ferdinand and Isabella. Even where the government has gone too far in its care, When it comes to pampering, for example, sheep farming, the factors; in particular, the raw products of the country, Wool, silk, hides, fats, iron, steel and grain, in the country itself a useful use. Spain pays fine needs to the Abroad with their own fragrance products. Country and city are flourishing and work together, grain production even increases despite the discouraging grain taxes and despite the fact that they are sheep pastures because the authorities often enough even exclude good fields is driven, so that Spain at the beginning of the sixteenth year= hundredths of a million are even able to export grain.

The population is increasing, wages are rising, without any simultaneous increase in the price of needs the increase in the cost of living attitude prevented. The customs also find good, patriarchal, cheva= ereske. The marriages are numerous and blessed. The outflow of the Be= population through emigration to the newly discovered America is not felt. The Spaniards and Moors live together in social peace. Financially, however, the country is dependent, since it is poor in money and fine industrial enterprises, the shipping buildings &c. based on loans and state support must. But it soon rejects this.

Around the year 1515, Spain was a veritable Eden and model= country of constant development and normal conditions. Even though it 1492 expelled the Jews, does not hinder the country's prosperity. of the subsequent period, also does not contribute in any 8 to his i declines, rather to the relatively long duration of fine flowering. Only the many baptized Jews who belonged to the Jesuit order and the dominating Dominicans made carriers, later benefited the country, where social ruin also promotes social discord, it becomes a curse. They later become the bearers of fanaticism, of totalitarianism, which nests in the monasteries and orders, and they supply the In= quifition the Torquemadas, the heretic judges and agitators, the agitators of civil and n strife. They remain in the monk's habit, disguised as church vestments, her revenge= inftinets faithful and never weaken in the exercise of their sta= politics, of "divide and conquer" and of "ter= tius gaudens". They incite the Spaniards against their own (femitifchen) racial comrades, the Mauriskos, against the industrious, agricultural people the Moors, to whose treasures they stretch out their greedy hands, and thus sealing the downfall of Spain as a world power. Of course, nothing could have stopped this downfall so easily, nothing but a return to the legislation that otherwise admirable Queen Isabella had initiated. She gave the newly founded empire a uniform law according to Roman law norms and thereby destroys the bond between the reason and land and the population, so that they can face the test of strength of a huge metal imports and an unprecedented price shift to the detriment of Spain, etc." – (Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 183 of March 1, 1891.)

– 155 –

Recently, the question of the origin of a count's Douglas family builds have been treated and are above 4255 conflicting views have been voiced.

It has become an indisputable fact that the Count Sholto Douglas, the so-called "Kali-Graf" a pronounced Jewish external and that his nature also has some bearing on the disputed issue shed light on this.

Mr. Otto Glagau describes the gentleman in question in his Article "Three Emperors" (Kulturkämpfer, Issue No. 144 of 10 December 1888) as follows:

Count Douglas (The fali-Count).

"While the Kaiser made his inaugural visits to Vienna and Rome,

Count Douglas suddenly became a famous man in Aschersleben

In public, Mr. Hugo Sholto Douglas appeared as he was then called, first in the spring of 1881, when he, or rather, fine chemical factory and fine potash and rock salt mine Douglas Hall near Westeregeln. It was a huge, but in order to a Miquel to talk, nevertheless a "correct" foundation. Mr.

Douglas received the small sum of 12½ million for his fine "inlay" Mark. Although the new company has of course not yet had earned, the shares were still A rates of 125, also with a premium of 25 percent on the stock exchange. 1882 to 1887 They noted at the end of the year: 168, 163, 136, 133, 158, 157: Nos By August 1858, the price had risen to almost 190. Dividends have been distributed so far as 8, 10, 10, 8, 8, 9 and 10 percent. Mr. Douglas took over 6 million marks in shares; if he did the same, as one can assume that he gradually sold it, that he also 33 to 50 percent. He still has valuable assets share in brown coal mines.

When the founders are full – see the amount Miquel, Oechelhäuser &c. – tend to focus on the welfare of the people ftuberculate and get elected to the people's representatives. So that also Mr. Douglas. In 1882 he joined the Prussian parliamentary group new and joined the Free Conservative faction. As a political itiker he is extremely insignificant: nevertheless he sought to make a name for himself th

-

- 156 -

motions, and the "liberal" press, which is in favor of Founder always shows much tenderness, did him the favor of taking him to forces. Mr. Douglas found access to the Prince William, and during the sessions of Parliament he used to Foyer to tell anecdotes from the court. He wants to tell the Scottish Douglas, and for this purpose for 5 years after research in England. The same proud ab-
The Douglas in East Prussia also boast of their future, form a branched family, but actually the descendants of a Jewish amber merchant, and several of them married with Jewish offspring. According to the historians, riker is the ancient family of the Donglas in Great Britain at all extinct; even the alliance of the flourishing in Sweden, and partly transplanted to Baden, the Earl of Douglas is doubtful. A member of this family. Count William Douglas, was elected in January in the by-election for the 13th Baden constituency sent to the Reichstag, where he supports the German conservatives.
Hugo Sholto Douglas was appointed Baron of Prussia in 1887-tand. He is one of the signatories, if not one of the Authors of the call for collections for the work of the Interior Mifion, which in January at the suggestion of Prince Wilhelm he:
At the beginning of September, the young Kaiser awarded Baron Douglass the count's dignity. In his homeland, however, he is now called the "Kali=Grafen". On October 1st, the new Count Douglas held this voters in Afchersleben a great speech and said among other things: "I I have, as you know, changed a lot in my life, for a number of years almost exclusively concerned with humanitarian issues." -
"In the sometimes hour-long discussions that His Majesty who honored me by carrying me, the Emperor has always
"He raised the most important humanitarian issues through his initiative."
- At the "universal request" of his voters, Count Douglas issued a Characteristics of the young emperor, whom he identifies with Frederick the Great,
and his wife with Queen Louise Bennigsen
"at the monarch's own request." On the other hand, "the Relationships which Kaiser Wilhelm had with court preacher Stöcker under= hold, only very temporary." - "Least of all, our Kaiser's extreme political and confessional party views, which one usually associates with the name of this representative.
There is complete, unambiguous clarity about this. And if attempts are made has even been linked to the anti-Semitic movement binding, this is also an audacity to which I Certainly it must. The Kaiser is aware that he on a higher vantage point than on the pinnacle of the party, and that the Prussians of Jewish faith are as much his subjects as the nz Prussia." Mr. Douglas cited evidence of this the already mentioned article in the "Berliner Börfen=Zeitung" and said then: "I can assure you that His Majesty, after having received this had read his ugs chete ge Außerstellung, noticed that he fay, he no longer thinks of words, but he does not hesitate to to confess to the opinion expressed therein." Count Douglas pointed to the great journey of the Emperor. "About the upcoming I hope to show you later on the splendid holidays in Italy bert to be able to protect itself." Soon afterwards, the "Berliner Börfen=Zeitung", which is the actual moniteur of the noble count seems to have left for Rome "to see Kaiser Wilhelm". On October 15, Mr. Dernburg, editor of the National newspaper, from Rome from a fine paper: "The spiritual festival on the apitol was unique and brilliant. The Emperor signed this occasion in a striking way the people staying in Rome Count Douglas, whom he had already met yesterday in a private audience The "Magdeburgische 1" reported: Count Douglas was at the festival at the Capitol for a German Prince who traveled incognito. 11)

|

The noble count's speech spread like wildfire through the times-tungen; they also appeared immediately as e at Walther & Apolant in Berlin, and experienced a series of editions in quick succession. On the one hand the Jewish press, on the other hand the officials seized this speech and played it during the election campaign against Stöcker and against anti-Semitism. In the first Berlin constituency, The Eurtell brothers nominated Earl Douglas as a candidate, and Speech was the main focus of the election campaign. The good Aschersleben residents were amazed and crossed themselves at the sudden fame of their countryman and asked each other: "How come the Kali=Graf among the politicians?" – For those who look deeper The noble count's speech seemed like commissioned work. Afterwards, the Berlin "Volks=Zeitung" wanted to know, Mr. v. Rottenburg, the eo of the Reich Chancellery, drafted the speech, and to hold the same, first of all, Amtsrat Dietze at Barby, a friend of Bismarck's, but he explained that he usually prepares his lectures himself; only now would Count Douglas stepped in as a savior in times of need. – Under such Circumstances it was only too understandable that the Berlin anti-Semitics participated very weakly in the elections to the House of Representatives, and if the Conferservatives in the country without real joy and without right courage into the election campaign. One of their most independent Men, Baron von Minnigerode, had already left the Reichstag divorced, and now also renounced a mandate to the state parliament. Likewise, Mr. von Rauchhaupt was said to have been "parliamentary= tired" jei; however, he subjected himself to a new election. The

The actual leader of the governmental Conferservatives is von Hell village of Bebra, who often received applause through his speeches in the Reichsta de the "liberals" and Jews. On the conservative
At the 15th Party Congress of the Province of Saxony he again shone through the following fic statement: "The Conferservative Party would have been seriously mistaken, she would not have fully supported the Chancellor if she had has not always been in complete agreement with him. We must him, even if we now and then, as our opponents say, received a kick from him. --" See IV. p. 226.)

– 158 –

Everyone can compose a verse to the above melody and make a melody for the following verse.

in Schott the Douglas family is at least on the ancestral fearch in Scotland, maybe drink Scotch whisky there, learned some English and then with a "bleeding heart"
and even returned to English first names.

But from this beautiful poem we now see,
that in Germany our forefathers quite simply

To Georg Ebers.

Kieser friend!

With sadness I
I recently read your lines,
When you told your friend Laufer
Write of your dear ancestors,
The nobles once in the German jungle bears hunted.

Insatiable are indeed the People! Everything. whatever
You could desire, has the
The grace of the Lord has been granted to you.
All the Gold of the Earth's Peoples
You have long since. The most beautiful houses
Of all the cities on earth –

They are yours. What goods forests, mines, factories
Not yet completely in your hands,

Must pay you interest, and the poor Labor slaves share his meager rewards the stock exchange courses
As you set the prices.

As in old heroic legends
A handful of bold warriors
Entire countries once conquered,

Entire peoples once conquered,

So you have today

You have subdued the world.

Even the poet's laurels were Lit in part to you. Own trees –
(And with what elation

You will first be on your own snow and Ride your own Life Sled!) –
Has the poet's craft, which otherwise Mostly to starvation brought to you. Truly successes,
You rightly call yourselves Pefchich
May: for never since history
It was written that there was such a thing!

See, I grant without envy and from “everything you have, yourselves.
But I would like to ask one thing
Very modestly and humbly:

– 159 –

Everything, everything, everything you have – Let us do the e
What we have left is Leave us our dead ancestors!

Yours are much older,

And, as once Lord Beacons field to A British lout said,
Were in the high temple

Already a priest in Jerusalem,

When the honest Britons

Still living in trees and as feast ate raw acorns.

Why do you suddenly want
Now annex ours?
Let us Hermann and Thusnelde?
Is Egypt, Hellas, Rome and Where else would manufacturing material come from You related, fet exhausted, – the Market fatigued, you always bring Again the old patterns –
Take Hermann and Thusnelde
to the historical novel!

who endured much in life,
and not deserved; meanwhile Sci's, you can't punish it.
But let us as our ancestors, do not claim them
Even as yours!

Tell your ancient legends
You from furs of German bears
In the houses of your ancestors,
Now then – and you will be master of historical research
This conjecture not without Can discard further –
These in Palestine
From Phoenician adventurers
Got it cheap.

(from the border messenger.)

Ancestors who were devoted to the noble passion of hunting seem to have a very special appeal for Semites. We see it in the Part III page 242, that Rothschild chases the Duc d Aumale: "I share with you the passion that our forefathers had for hunting he ten". We want to inform the Semites about these details=
I do not doubt the hunting passion of their fathers, but one must
We should not be angry if we were to show respect to the game that their fathers hunted 0 have our own idea by v ;
it would probably have been a similar game as that of Mr. v. Brandt hunted in the Libyan desert at that time. |

A document that contains all the allow eulullich: e Hold lafific aim wi

ar I 4

Rolfeschild's War.

The autograph of the same arrived on January 16, 1880 at Lepke in Berlin for auction. It was bought in 1804 by Mayer Amfchel Rothschild, the founder of the great Frankfurt banking house.
a warning letter addressed to a Hessian minister, which was signed by his highly peculiar spelling and which is probably very rare worldview that we encounter in it, of all= common interest. The letter reads verbatim:

"But with e, His Highness is thinking of
No payment. It seems that most people believe that a Prince is not required to pay in full, should the fh, fo admit that I am already satisfied with my humble character am, yes. I only wish for one day the payday in the 3rd Mass week a and too fine, that I also have nothing to, 6 10 len benethigt eld pol only that his no 9155 if it falls to me in the oll cost, so my job must be done. so I hope that a Countz that the same is to be done. – – – should be the one
Prince Enjoying such a great privilege that without him anyone Babes join Jan yes 15 secured My money he gave me
My honor and my honor is my life, defend me my
If you don't pay money, you take away my honor."

And finally, from the section of the book I would like to owner 1 speak, namely:
ñftschaft an Arie accept, is called the Ge= drive . – ai out feven! ö nn

II. Cheil

documents

"If you want to remain master of the Gemiten, 0
force him to tell the truth=

Contents.

II. Part. Page

Iuhbeltverztichiili =

Working in Baontingfn and Beim g. |

Reports 1 and 2 and private report to the German authorities

fcaft. – An audience with the King Li Yung Chang. – Deus cer 11

Chinese ruler He

Denlfchrift No. 1 on Railways and Mines in China 99

Memorandum No. 2 on Railways and Mines in Ching

Memorandum No. 3 for the Kalferlich government, which ni 89

transverse trajectory concerning

Three confidential documents A, B and C to the Kalferlich –

Concerning the ambassador in Peking, Chinese ambassadors. – – + 45

Borggefschlager Weg to the Establishment of a German Bank in Oftaften 55

startup fraud in Hong Kong

Working in Tientfin and Helsana 69

Diplomatic Correspondence with the Imperial German Ambassador 73

Mr. von Brandt is accused before Prince Bismarck 81

Report No. 7 to the Imperial German Embassy, such an interesting

Report about the Jew Mandl and others, that he was at the customs post

loren went, more details of which can be found in the appendix p. 193 ff. 83

Report Ar. 16 to the German Embassy in Calcutta, how to envoys set agel!!! 108

Letter to His Serene Highness Prince Bismarck. 13

Report No. 18 to the Kalferlich Deutsche “ in which 8

is completely exposed by Brandt. 118

Working in Berlin and Minden e I

Letter to Prince Bismarck, in which all – for the creation of this book is rejected. ii .

von Brandt and von Ketteler 35 " eh = . 19

Trial with Mr. von Brandt. 146

derrn von Brandt 8 Financial Arts, Threats 1535

0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 U 0 0 ® 188

&) Interrogation of the Iinefian servant Matthias e . 18

Nighttime break-in by Mr. von Brandt. Rub ber Certesponthoughts and mysterious actions.

to IV

Page

I) Medical and other certificates .. . 1389

- e) List of objects presented by Brandt to scientific institutes 192
- d) Postal notices, correspondence with the customs post office in Tienzin and Mrs.

Eveline Detring, as well as the Neichdpost office in Shanghai 193

e) Two articles from the North China Herald concerning the address of the Shanghai merchants to His Excellency Mr. von Brandt:

1) The Germans and their ambassador

) Presentation of an address at the German General Consulate F ) Newspaper article about a powder contract of the company O. Mandl & Co.

8) Article from The Chinese Times about Captain von Hanneden, who shows what a great strategist he is

b) Short extract from an In memoriam, en for Se. .
VVV ut Be ne

88 8 TE

Paoutingfu and Beijing.

"

1/9. Report Dr. 1
to the Imperial German Embassy in Beijing

February 1855.

Haontingfu, May 2nd
Paontingf t to be reimbursed

Your Excellency, I would like to report most respectfully about today's reception with His Excellency the General

zi Hung Chang. he

"Yesterday around 1 o'clock, Mr. Baron a 5

Goltz and I after a 3½ day journey from Peking in BEN noble and shortly afterwards we sent our servants with Your Ex Dan kind letter of introduction to the Viceroy's lady. Card
The friendly content of the same was sent by the Governor General's immediate response, and were invited to the Yamen at 3 o'clock this afternoon. . llenz

The reception took place at the appointed time. His Excellency Elec Eon received us in his audience chamber in official dress. Mr. von der Goltz was known to him recently, but also my he immediately remembered the various negotiations; I spoke to him 5 to 8 years ago about the Panze 15 etc. After His Excellency had been informed of the Weife all sorts of indiscreet and partly unbelievable questions nn personal and private circumstances such as age, marriage, acquisition, assets rc.), I handed him the memo" randum together with the accompanying maps of the proposed railway. and mining companies. The Governor General began long document and, contrary to the expectation that he would put it aside and reserve the right to review it would, he read it with visible and growing 0 of beginning to end, turning the pages several times and read different passages twice. (During the reading he (Bd repeatedly passes the water pipe to a servant.) a

The matter cannot be done! China is a poor country and particularly has been plagued by some calamities lately. We can

I. Detamente. 1

governor

we to which

While reading, His Excellency briefly remarked that | do not allow us to build such expensive railways in China, as is done in Europe. I then noticed that everyone= However, cheap railways could be built, but that in order to to make such an enterprise as the one proposed profitable, at least build solid railways, and that According to the cost estimates only a solid railway was intended, that it was by no means a luxury railway.

EEE)

That the proposed company could be profitable at 15%,
His Excellency considered it impossible, and pointed out the small

Passenger and freight traffic, which the railway transports in addition to coal and I explained to him that the Rentabi=

In the calculations only coal and iron transport is taken into account, that passenger and other goods traffic are not taken into account and accordingly a surplus would have to bring net profit; that from the most unfavorable conditions that one the lowest railway freight rates for coal and iron, as in Germany existed, namely 0 Pf. and 0. % Pf. per 100 kg. and Kilometers and that nevertheless with a moderate initial traffic, the railway is still profitable. Likewise, with the steelworks, that here too one can assume= gone, the same were preserved based on today's unfavorable production conditions of coal and iron in the relevant districts; but that the sale of coal and iron, even with significant production reductions of up to 25% values of coal and iron, still plenty of percent for the combined operations would yield. a

The Viceroy seemed to be very pleased with the matter.
In the course of the conversation he said that China railways build and open steelworks, that if one does not that could raise sufficient capital, and one would not be averse to to use foreign capital, but that one can hire foreign Europeans) in the aa not allow and preferably exclude completely would.

The importance of the planned railway and steelworks for later
Construction of strategic railways to the north seemed to the General= Government is particularly interested. With lively interest
He inquired about the status of Russian railway construction, and on
On the map he had brought with him for the purpose, he had the location of St. Petersburg, the Ural mountain range and the location of Tyumen explain to what extent the Russian railway is supposedly soon to be completed.
He personally marked the names Ural and Tyumen on the map, travelled the distance from Tyumen to Vladivostok and said that it would be difficult for the Russians to reach the Pacific Ocean to continue and it will probably take a long time until the work would be completed. aa

The latter idea that the Russian railways reach the quiet Ocean and China's could be continued, seemed to be particularly embarrassing for him, but also according to the state of the buildings
He made inquiries about the Trans-Caspian railway. The proposed railway routes recorded on specially prepared maps

Be

ly show themselves, as well as the places where the construction of Coal and steel works are intended. .

I told the Viceroy that my projects were for the most part based on the works of Baron von Richthofen, whereupon he asked whether I had the works with me. Lucky= This was the case and he invited us the following day to appear on the Pamen at the same hour and judge hope to bring along his works.

This is the main content of the conversation which Mr. which Goltz interpreted with great skill.

We were kindly dismissed after about two hours of audience and as we left, the drum was beaten and hofchoffer, Honors, the significance of which Mr. von der Goltz particularly attracted attention and which undoubtedly owes much to the friendly Introductory letters addressed to Your Excellency.

The impression of the whole reception was a good and I inform the ee that the memorandum fulfills a wish the Viceroy to be able to build railways with his own resources and become independent from foreign countries in terms of iron and coal Furthermore, the hope He may give space to this very project, which is particularly important to him. blå weife neither by English, nor French, nor by any other page appears to be presented, will pay his attention.

His Excellency Li Hung Chang has informed me of previous negotiations well known, and I have had the opportunity to observe him, where he expressed subtle satisfaction and dissatisfaction, never but have I given him such an excited interest in a matter? wrap, as in this case.

Carl Paafch.

6/11. Report Dr. 2
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Pavutingfu, February 3, 1888.

I would like to report to Your Excellency most respectfully about our second reception with His Excellency the Governor General neur Li 0 5 Chang, who this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the appointed 8 ae af

e. Erellenz received us as yesterday in official dress, but sat As soon as we sat down, he took off his little cap ee 7 – nnen f that he can now enter into business negotiations

suns fe. |

As usual, he began the conversation with Boutaden against Foreigners in sight. He expressed his dislike for them.

10

1 egg

understated expression and said that the less one uses it, the more he liked this. In particular, he diverted himself in strong expressions about the nature of the competition, which they made among themselves, and how they harmed each other. He also said that the Chinese themselves were now a railway had been built, which would be opened in a few months; this was his own work and he had only a few English Foreigners were used for this purpose, but he praised them.

Then he had Richthofen's map of the coal fields in the provinces of Shaufi and Chihli. The directive Hofen's information on the size and richness of the Chinese Coal deposits obviously filled him with pride, and that they were the largest known in the world, gave him too little pejorative, comically dismissive remarks about the smallness of the European and other coal deposits in the world.

He was very sorry that the beautiful and large coal and ore deposits were not located in the province of Chihli, because their leader in Shanfi, he said, did not understand such things: nor possibly exploit it.

He spoke very deprecatingly about the current situation, with a total length of about 40 kilometers under construction tracks; they cost even less than his track from Taku to Lutai; they are bad and would not be considered profitable; the reason for this would be that they are not with the help of proper technicians, but by amateurs. A railway and also steelworks could only be built with the help of professionals, whereupon I referred to the memorandum and told him that this was also my opinion and that it was in no way intended to encourage anyone other than experts to use it to bring a

Then he said that it was not possible for him, such an important man, to carry out such an undertaking as the one proposed, but that he gives a single European the ability to do it. I do not trust myself. For example, I am neither a mountain nor a railway engineer claiming to be capable of undertaking such a thing, whereupon I replied that I had been familiar with the relevant questions and made a trip into the interior of China.

that I have no intention of settling the technical questions definitively to solve it myself, but I made it my task
This to help him in his undertaking, that I give him my services available, he would like to give it a try let it arrive.

After he further explored foreign, European ideas, among others European state aid and Chinese institutions, which are not he had run out of, he inquired whether the neutral authority in gauging my propositions are known. The

The negative answer to this question seemed pleasantly fine to him.

He then spoke about the steelworks and approved

my statement that even for the establishment of the same a railway

ne ok ra AD na we

D

– 5 –

from the seaport to the place of destination, it is necessary that the
in winter, and in the other years times only navigable for short stretches, shallow rivers not even would be sufficient to transport the necessary machinery
but from further land transport to the mountains still quite apart from us

The state, he said, would build railways and steelworks in China:
business in any case, but by a community exploitation of the railways and steelworks, as in the Memorandum proposed, must be ignored. No foreigners are wanted in participate in the ventures in this way, although the idea that after a number of years the companies are completely Chinese hands should pass, good: but European and He would not be averse to using German capital, whether the same at a reasonable percentage, such as 4%. This,
I said, would hardly be the case and gave him as much as I could understand that China will find it difficult to invest money in Europe would get if the railways and steelworks were not were created by Europeans and were under their administration.

On the recent financial war of Germany against Russia
The General Governor seemed to have been informed 3 at least noticed he said with satisfaction. Russia would no longer build railways with German capital and German engineers. In French he was not to speak well, which can probably be interpreted as the fact that he the French engineers he employed recently had poor has had experiences.

From the material brought along, such as cost estimates, profitability calculations etc., the Viceroy did not take any notice, but he asked Mr. von der Goltz for a Chinese translation of the same.

Finally he said that the project interested him and asked if I be able to select suitable personnel for the undertakings, and announced his intention to employ me, which is why he asked me to further negotiations to Tientsin 1885 opening of shipping and also to the one to be held in the third Chinese month opening of the Lutai-Taku railway, but noted again that he wanted to reserve the leadership of the whole thing for himself.

Finally, he praised Baron von der Goltz for his good knowledge of the Chinese language and the skill with which he had translated the negotiations, addressed to me some words of appreciation about the work and the effort put into it

Diligence and kindly dismissed us with a letter and a few cans of tea for Your Excellency.

The impression of this second, approximately one-hour-long hearing was not as favorable as yesterday's. As long as the Viceroy possible and impossible, I was, after previous

n

0

Experiences inclined to take this as an omen, as soon as but he showed his willingness to enter into the project, even Europeans to engage, but to take the lead in all, even t

niche things, I became convinced that it was difficult

Zi

will hold to bring the Viceroy to the understanding that, in order to: to set in motion such undertakings, he will be compelled to transfer full powers to strangers, without which it would be It will be impossible to construct the necessary buildings and even larger European capital to do so in a honest way win.

The idea of using German forces and German capital it seemed to the Viceroy not unsympathetically too fine, after he had been English, French and Americans have been so hard hit lately been pushed and apparently badly treated with the latter two drive: at least he made sure that I had nothing to do with French to do, and especially to the notorious Count Mitkiewicz he had some sharp outbursts.

Without looking at the matter in the light of day, I consider it not impossible that an enterprise such as the one proposed or a similar one, with German forces and German capital brought.

A favourable political constellation, as it existed at the time, when Li Hung Chang decided to purchase German ironclads, should be the first to bring the matter to fruition. On the other hand, but there is also jealousy that in other provinces of China the large companies could emerge more easily, a driving force for Li Hung Chang to decide quickly, and the latter circumstance would like to take into account in future negotiations be drawn.

I am not sure about the value of the railways on Formosa: on the other hand, over the coal railway Kaiping – Lutai – Taku pretty accurate. .

Without paying any attention to Li Hung Chang's disdain former, and the same praise of the latter, one may, subject to unexpected favorable reports on the Formosa railway) would probably claim that this Railways due to their lightweight construction and the use of low-valuable material for the superstructure and rolling stock, as well as other Deficiencies are not suitable to handle a traffic which-could make it profitable, so it would be regrettable if foreign, especially German capital is falsified by any logical premonitions would lead to such, already in embryo half-crippled enterprises.

In order to provide such undertakings with good German forces and German To allocate capital, various preconditions must be secured namely:

) Construction of buildings under homogeneous European, respectively.

German management using solid material;

2) Control of the operation and administration of the railways and steelworks by Europeans, for a long time European capital is directly or indirectly engaged.

3) Management of the company by secure, Chinese knowledgeable hand, which can do it without a fyste=

TE eee

a

to fall into the trap of systematic corruption, customs to take into account, but without rigid adherence to Rische cipien is determined to mi fwere recurring Chinese to firmly reject unreasonable demands.

Carl Paafch.

--

12/19. private. Beridit
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,

Imperial German Ambassador ㄣ. ㄣ. ㄣ.

in Beijing.

--

Paoutingfu, February 3, 1888.

Your Excellency, I would like to take the liberty of adding to hand over two reports on discussions with His Excellency the Governor General Li Hung Chang.

These reports are written under the fresh impression of the negotiations and contain everything factually.
I would like to add some details which fit into the framework purely business reports, which nevertheless 1 may be suitable to complete the picture of the situation= permanent.

But first and foremost I would like to thank Your Excellency
most sincere thanks for the introductory letter to Li Hung Chang, without whom it might not have been possible for me would be to see the Governor General in his residence and to bring my case there and to talk to him calmly discuss, avoiding Tientsin, this hothouse of Indiscretions and intrigues and this unfortunately still has to be fertile fields of activity for industrial and commercial bunglers.

I would also like to thank Your Excellency for Baron von der Goltz permission has been granted to go with me. In view of the importance, which the negotiations that have taken place may possibly achieve,
I was pleased that the same you) the presence of a responsible verbal witnesses to the danger of misinterpretation and distortion are withdrawn.

Finally, I thank you for the opportunity you have given me have provided me with the Imperial Building Inspector Mr. Abmann

= - en -

y Mr. von Brandt apparently wanted to present this report to His Serene Highness to keep secret from Prince Bismarck; according to his official decree, dated Berlin on June 28, 1888, he had only the above reports No. 1 and 2 after

Berlin sent, according to his private letter, Peking dated June 29, 1888, but also this report.

Fe

to discuss my affairs, which gentleman in the most friendly
When drawing up the cost estimates, the most estimable has provided help.

I am happy to report that the fear that the General-Governor may find it inconvenient to have strangers in fine residence has not been confirmed, because the reception was in 9 5 kind a benevolent one, and it is almost to be assumed that the matter is more agreeable to the Governor-General than the counter—
His Excellency inquired with Mr. von der Goltz concerning the well-being of His Imperial Highness the Crown-Prince of the German Empire, after Your Excellency and after the Stay, doing and letting of several members of the embassy.

The business conversations were conducted in lively language with quick replies. The Governor General spiced up the fame with subtle barbaric humor and cynical outbursts. The
The latter, mostly directed against foreigners, unfortunately did not entirely lack of justification. The regrettable and reprehensible custom of certain

e merchants to make kotow before Chinese rulers, and

The servility with which he was treated not only by foreign merchants, but, as one hears, sometimes even from foreign high Official encountered in pursuit of their purposes, declares to be suffice the disdain with which the Governor General often Europeans met.

The name of the General Governor in Paoutingfu contraftirte in a pleasant way with the old building complex in Tientsin. Everything was clean and tidy and for the upcoming New Year—feftlichkeiten frisch painted. The lions of the large entrance door were adorned in the most beautiful green and red and the pants were clean and kept free from dirt. A lot of Chinese wore flowering Flowers and other New Year's gifts. The seats of the waiting—where we only had to stay for a few minutes and hee was served, were covered with wolf skins. In the courtyard in front of In the audience hall stood small officials in blue silk, with white Fur-trimmed coats, arranged at right angles. The general—Governor received us at the entrance of the vestibule for an audience, always, in which the former in turn stood well-costumed mandarins.

The audience room itself was a small, extremely friendly, bright room, pleasantly tempered by a small European window perirt, with Tivans at the sides and a small square table in the middle. The red silk, bordered tablecloth, An orange tree, a peach bush and a pendulum formed the only decoration of the room, quite the opposite of the reception rooms in Tientsin, overloaded with all kinds of toys.

I had last seen Li at the end of 1882. I had been told he had since grown old and grumpy. To my surprise fch I found him despite his 70 years of drought unbowed and cheerful In the fur jacket and peacock feather cap, N took fine high The figure looks good, even fine movements and the expression of fine

u.

Eyes had lost none of their liveliness, and the Com= plement, which I made to him because of his good looks, spoke only of the facts. He himself thought that it was impossible It could have been 5 years since he last saw me. Mentally too he was completely fresh, because reading through such a long document= piece with him, if not foreign, then at least little familiar Content and his immediate and lively reaction to certain Focal points showed that one could not deal with a mentally During the audience we were told Cigarettes from a silver Tula case, as well as tea and cham= pagner fervirt; the latter was consumed as a sign of departure.

While reading the document, Li let the long water pipe, the tip of which was handed to him by a servant standing behind him was put into the mouth and then lit: this servant, purely ignorant of the Lefeus, looked after Chinese etiquette over Li's shoulder into the document and feigned great interest.

The common thread running through the negotiations was the Jealousy, which Li Hung Chang is inspired by and which expressed over and over again. He was jealous on foreign great statesmen and called himself, for example, the Bismarck China, jealous of the central authorities in Peking, which much Easily envas could undertake without him, jealous 1 0 the general Government of Shanfi, which possesses coal and iron, jealously on Lin Ming Chuan, who builds railways on Formosa, finally addicted to the idea of the present enterprise himself, which he had already nurtured, albeit perhaps unclearly, in secret may have and which had now been expressed. He er= asked about my apartment in Beijing and I said that I the Buddhist temple Kuang Shang Tfze; whether I Your Excellency would be invited to the table and how much this would cost each time kofie. I am inclined not to regard this amusing question as one of the some of Li's frivolous jokes, but perhaps as a Characteristic of his ignorance of our customs, which is very noticeable is more worthy than he not only believes himself, but also in Generally and especially among Chinese people, has the reputation of Another curiosity is that when he was Looking at the maps of Shansi and Chihli provinces, the line which marks the southern branch of the great wall. He asked about it and said that this was the limit of the two pro= vinzen, which is formed by the wall: I replied that the line marked the great wall, whereupon he said, the same no longer exists: to his astonishment, I could fure that I recently saw this wall at Kukwan and a A friend of mine passed north of it at Lung Mönn and it is still in good condition.

Also comical was Lis's attempt to present the judgement Hofen's maps to let fine geographical knowledge shine, and the futile brew of 2 larger coal fields in fine Province of Chihli and interesting the assurance when he for your Ex=

= 0; 2

cellenz gave certain cans of tea that the quality of the tea a particularly good one, since the tea was a gift to him. Overall, I was left with the renewed impression that in Li to deal with an important man of great intelligence, of great powers, which is unparalleled in China has, that this man but through too many interested bad euro= European advisers have fallen into an unfortunate experimental system, from which he himself sees no real way out.

How little under the prevailing circumstances on all
Your Excellency knows that Li's assurances and promises better than me. But if it is possible to continue to listen to Li's ear, win and the influences of a bad environment, which still Recently the Marquis Tfeng in perhaps unexpected ways so aptly characterized, I believe that with Li at insightful, but not soft-hearted treatment, many beneficial can be achieved, so I look forward to future negotiations in Tientsin not without hope.

As soon as we are back in Beijing, I will send Your Excellency a Copy of the memorandum presented to Li, the maps, the cost estimates, the tables and all other tools, which However, it will probably take some time, as the material has a has gained considerable size. I present the same to Your Excellency discretionary use, if my efforts with Li are not met by Success should accompany fine, and hope that it will later be Efforts in this direction serve as a starting point and good things come, because I would regret nothing more than if once swindlers and stock speculators prevailed in Chinese fe things: it would then be beyond all human foresight according to conditions against which the Turkish and Egyptian are pure child's play.

For the memorandum I ask for a not too harsh criticism, since the same intentionally, in order to be understandable to the Chinese, in simple language. The cost estimates are conscientious, but only roughly and still require a careful review-processing, which is then operated on.

I have hardly anything to report about our trip, it was in the mule sedan chairs. I had only just completed the journey made recently and was this time only in my view that there could hardly be a more favorable terrain for railways than the great plain of northern China.

The only experience was that we had the historical, in the Be= direct pious missionaries often mentioned sirens of Peiho and Nan-hfüc=hfien. At the latter place we were shown in decen= tester way of pretty young girls achievements of a Chinese Bocal and instrumental music, as I learned it during my long stay in China, and it was our only regret that we were not able to see what we
and to immortalize what was heard on canvas and paper.

Tomorrow at daybreak we intend to return to Peking and we will listen to the sirens waiting for us and wax sticking.

With renewed assurance of my gratitude and great
With respect, I remain Your Excellency's most obedient servant

Carl Paafch.

Memorandum No. 1
about railways and mines in China

from

20:45. Carl Paafch.

Sr. Excellency the Beneral Governor Li Hung Chang on February 2, 1888 in Paouting-fu personally presented by the faffer.

The undersigned, who has already previously had the honour had to be in relation to the Imperial Government, namely upon acquisition by the same of the first three armored frigates, Tor= pedoboats, excavators and cranes, in Stettin, Germany, has just

| "a journey through the provinces of Chihli and Shanfi has been completed.
impressions received during the same and the associated Considerations prompt the writer, the Imperial Government to present this memorandum, with the humble request, the In:
content of the same, as well as the suggestions made therein, in wise consideration:

For more than a decade, China's neighbor, Russia, country, busy shifting the focus of its naval power to the East coast of his empire and to establish a war camp in Vladivostok to create a first-class port as a base for its fleet.

These works, which are constantly driven by energy, are carried out slowly but surely and have their motive in the fact that the Russia's sheep in Europe in the event of a major war are unfavorably located and a free development of its naval power, partly from Germany and England, partly from Turkey, seriously obstacles can be placed in the way. Therefore, Russia to establish a firm position in East Asia from where it can develop its power unhindered.

Around Vladivostok, which is very far from the center of the Russian violence, into closer contact with Europe, and

It was thus used as a landing place for troops, as an arsenal of ships,
To make weapons and ammunition effective, work is being done to create a
To establish a railway connection with Europe. At various points one has the work, always conscious of the pre-set vision, in An-gm ae taken. At present the railway road has been completed from

t. Petersburg and Moscow via Yekaterinburg to Tyumen. But also from the east coast, from Vladivostok, the work is taken in order to establish the connection one after the other.

This great work, which is being carried out in complete silence,
China has so far only had a weak impact. However, have the partly completed, partly envisaged Be-fortifications of Lüfheng=kou and Wei=hai=wei, the forts of Tafir, the arsenals of Tientfin, Nanking, Shanghai, Foochow and Canton x.
a great value and has for the constantly growing Fleet exploited the coal mines of Kaiping and For= mofa and the associated creation of short railway lines-ftreatment has a significance that should not be underestimated, but in the case of a major war, where a temporary blockade of the ports
China by foreign powers, the Chinese Reich could get into serious difficulties, especially if the dispute speeds and interruptions in traffic last for a longer period dinghies and China for war ammunition and provisions on local means should be instructed.

The coal mines of Kaiping and also the arsenals of Tientfin are isolated for about three months every year, as the
The waterway from Tientsin is frozen over. A plentiful supply of coal from Formosa one might expect during a blockade of the Chinese ports can hardly be expected, especially since Formosa is location for the central and southern ports of China
What China has to do in the event of a prolonged War is missing, these are open ports at any time of the year, which from the interior of the country with the most necessary materials for war purposes, namely coal and iron, without from the unreliable waterways and the access led to dependence on foreign countries.

Are the existing arsenals and naval ports on the mainland partly able to meet the demand for ammunition help, yes, in case of war they can be saved due to lack of
of fast connection: in addition, they can for the same reason not provided with coal and iron. Should
For example, in a war China would be willing to build railways quickly
If we undertake this, the procurement of railway material from the Abroad not only be associated with difficulties, but even tual impossible, since in addition to ammunition also rails and everything necessary for the construction and operation of strategic railways hears, could be considered war contraband under international law.

The rapid movement of enemy warships, which possibly a demand for coal from the island of Saghalien or from Japan cover, and a rapid troop deployment, which Russia after completing his orbits, the slow troop movement towards China; and especially the northern part of the country, which has few navigable roads in the interior of the country and the headquarters of Chinese power is the weakest in this regard. Therefore, China should remember to be prepared in time and to save yourself the opportunity

Be

jschaften, all materials for railway and shipbuilding from own sources.

No country in the world has a similar wealth of coal and iron like China, and in no other country are the conditions for rational exploitation of both minerals cheaper than in China, because not only coal and iron and material for refractory containers for melting directly next to each other lie, but they are also easy to win and not a sometimes require deep shaft extraction.

What Schreiber is referring to are the large coal deposits of the Provinz Shaufi, on the border of the province of Chihli. In a square, its corners from the cities of Ching-ting-fu in Chihli and Hwai-king-fu in Honau, the cities of Ping-yhang-fu and Tai-yuen-fu in Shanfi are formed, there is a continuous coal basin of great thickness, on which iron ores of excellent quality are found quality and marl clays for fireproof pots.

The coal, iron and pottery industries of these districts are in China, and many foreign travelers have reported about it.

One of the most important of the latter, the German Baron von Richthofen, writes with reference to the districts:

"I estimate the total value of this anthracite region at 10150 geographical square miles or 34870 sq km (the Anthracite area in Pennsylvania, America, has an area of 1217 sq. km. that of New England, Australia, 1209 sq. km. in this extent an interruption in the continuity of the coal layers does not take place and at each individual Places where the formation appears, at least 40 feet of mineable coal are assumed to be present can, it is easy to find a true example for the entire Arcal apparent minimum amount of 630 billion tons of coal calculate a CTuantum, which the current coal consumption of the World (of about 300 million tons per year, for 2100 years."

"Considering that only the most outstanding thracite, which is the best product of Pennsylvania nothing gives way, that especially on the east side of the basin the Coal layers come to light; furthermore, that this 5 an extraordinary wealth of the finest iron ore is added, then one can say that this coal= field, no other known in the world can be compared to it."

Other experts have reported similarly, and if the coals

and the iron of Shanfi play no greater role in China than they do it at present, it is only because the transport means are too imperfect and costly to achieve the benefits of a cheap fuel and cheap iron to a larger parts of the population of the great plain.

Before we move on to the economic significance which a railway connecting the cities of Tientfin, Paou=ting=u and Ping=ting-chow (possibly including the capital ing) on the one hand and Tientsin with Chefoo and Wei=hai=wei in Shantung other cities connects, we only want to emphasize the strategic importance of such a railway= lines into the eye and illuminate it more closely.

3.11 2

The northern provinces of China are part of the empire, which surrounds the capital and at the same time protects against enemy attacks is most exposed on land and water. Therefore, also with great wisdom the Chinese governments have already been informed of Er= construction of the Great Wall until today its main focus aimed at the defense of these parts of the country. As from previous Centuries and even millennia the great wall that Northern Chihli and Northern Shanfi built countless fortresses and Waiting to give eloquent testimony that here the existence of the Empire must be secured first, and this is also proven today by the fact that that it is precisely in the North that the greatest care is taken to train of the troops according to European model and arming them with modern rifles and guns, the construction of the fortified Ports Lü-Sheng=kou and Vei:hai:wei as fleet stations for heavy Ironclads and torpedo boats, that the protection of these pro=

Vinzen is rightly given the greatest importance and the modern wants to counter the war resources of other nations with an equal one. Naturally, the naval system was the first thing to be started, because foreign nations China mainly from this side with superior War material could be obtained, yes this changes from the Moniente, where China's northern neighbor is in possession of Means to quickly deploy a force not only to the borders of the Chinese Empire, but also always be supplied with ammunition and provisions.

It is likely that only a few years will separate us from the Moments separate where Russia has a connection by railway between its European and East Asian possessions have, and China also needs in the interest of its security will feel able to deploy troops more quickly than is now the case is possible with the existing roads and means of transport. Furthermore, and above all, there will be a need to To be able to procure means of transport in their own country, with their own means and without being dependent on foreign countries, especially in a serious case of war, the use of sea routes for war material and is possible.

The existing arsenals may be sufficient to sufficient quantities of powder, guncotton, dynamite and other ammunition, also to manufacture some of the weapons, but they are not able to construct railways or produce materials material for shipbuilding, telegraphs or even just for serious repairs without foreign help. If China wants to become a have an effective iron warship, it is forced to turn to the to turn abroad; if it wants to build a railway, it must also turn to foreign countries and even for rail and tele= graphene wire, although their production requires little technical knowledge niffe required. Now China has more coal and iron than it can turn to, and yet even the small and private industry near the open ports most of their material of iron and Steel from abroad.

25th century

What are the causes of this abnormal condition?

This is primarily due to the fact that in China the Coal and iron industries are only operated on a small scale, and furthermore the lack of adequate and cheap means of transport.

Schreiber will subsequently try to prove that both defects can be remedied without China being too quick to resort to old traditions. tions and without existing industries in be damaged on a larger scale. But for now, we want to briefly recapitulate the advantages China has in strategic terms

View of a railway connection between Tientfin and the district Ping=ting=chow on the one hand and the ports of Chefoo and Weis hai= wei on the other hand would have.

1) The formation of troop units in the three mentioned Provinces would spread with greater speed and ease than previously dewerkftlichen; as well as their dislocation in these offices vinzen and armament and provisions from the arsenals and ports.

2, The arsenals of Tientfin and in southern China would throughout the year via Chefoo and Wei = hai wei with the most excellent anthracite coal and iron for shipbuilding purposes and all other arsenal work can be carried out from China itself.

3, It would not be long before a develop a similar industry to that of Krupp in Effen, which place in a similarly favored table like Ping=ting=chow is located, and China would soon not only have railways= rails, but also machines of various types.

Of course, one should not give in to the hope that all this will be completed in two to three years, but it will require a number of years and a lot of work to achieve the layers to produce.

If we consider the strategic importance of iron ore plants, railways and iron industries in the first place, so This was done because China needs to Companies sooner or later for strategic reasons make.

Now it remains to consider what benefit a Ki companies would have for China in economic terms.

Here, two statements can be made from the outset. The

The first is that the construction of the railways mentioned above and the iron industries for the entrepreneurs themselves a permanent source of rich income will be, and the second is that the population will be given the Districts crossed by railways the blessings of cheap fuel and cheap iron.

The Chinese people are highly inclined to Dr: Hinficht To take advantage of the benefits, as the active increase in the consumption of foreign raw products and fable

=

katen, which can be obtained more cheaply from abroad, than they are made in China. The Bavölke= would eagerly the districts closest to the railway, the cheap materials of coal and iron, which could be delivered significantly cheaper than from Europe or America, and the

The next consequence would be the emergence of numerous small industries in such places where previously due to the rising prices of Coal and iron are only used for the manufacture of the absolutely necessary objects. The example in all foreign Countries have shown that Eifen, where it is associated with coal: and is therefore cheap to produce and process, a can be used extremely widely in areas where otherwise other materials, namely wood, were used.

While a few decades ago in Europe and America almost exclusively uses wood for shipbuilding, bridges and houses used, is now used on a large scale for these purposes:
bar of iron.

The same would be the case in China, which is currently these provinces are not rich in wood. The import of foreign the iron in China is now about 760% tons (worth about 2770000 taels. This quantity would be very easy for China to acquire. ity itself. But even more important and valuable is the iron which China produced in the form of ships, warships, machinery and telegraph wire from abroad.

The large sums that China has paid to the Foreign countries should benefit their own country, where coal, Iron and labor are more abundant and cheaper than in any another country in the world. Not everything can be done with one times, the beginning can be made at any moment— power to achieve the first goal, namely the supply China's own country with coal and iron in the form of raw material, nail iron, ship plates, rails, e ee Steel for guns etc., all of which has so far been imported from abroad— is drawn.

This beginning can be made most conveniently by the Construction of the above-mentioned railway lines and construction of iron and steel mills in the Ping-ting-chow district.

Tientsin as an end point would have significance as an important Arsenal plat and at the same time as a shipping plat for the northern Ports: Chefoo and Weishatswei, on the other hand, as shipping points and 10 months ago, when Tientsin was excluded from shipping is closed.

In the further distance, although also foreseeable, the time m en, > China itself supplies raw materials such as iron and coal can be opened. |

But let us first deal only with what is in the next proximity, and with the question of how the facilities are

are to be delivered.

In Europe, in such ventures, the state concerned

SE ER 0

ren — 2— rated 2 and 2

— — nee an ie. —

usually private individuals are given permission to build railways given, on the condition that the state, after a certain number of years becomes the owner of the facility, ie that he reserves the right to do so after a certain period of of years at nominal value. In this way

The state gradually became the owner of all railways, which today are the most important transport routes in Europe and America.

In Germany, for example, where the conditions are best organized find, the state is the owner of the post and telegraph system and in the acquisition of the still existing private railways he is has already progressed so far that one can foresee the time when the state is the sole owner or administrator of all items, telegraphs and railways.

This will ensure the existence of the state, because the amount of officials working in the postal, telegraph and railway sectors find their existence, have not only an interest in the preservation these institutes, but also at the same time at that of the state itself, which these institutes for the benefit and prosperity of its members thanen and at the same time generate revenues for their own existence, to defend the country and to keep it away from other taxes secured.

In China, where such facilities are not yet available or are eziiftiren, but where one does it for one's own interest, and to protect against others peoples, the establishment of such institutes One should strive to ensure that the state always fehr. i retains in order to ensure its existence in the welfare of the people secure.

China has been making all sorts of proposals in this area for decades. Direction. For the most part, they were simply calculated to allow speculative foreigners to exploit iron= railways and mines in China, or it was only the placement of bonds, sale of machinery, railway tracks or more.

The propositions which Schreiber wants to make are of a different kind.

China alone, as a state or as a people, can currently cannot create such undertakings without outside help, since the relevant inventions of modern nature and so far only in found application and exploitation on a large scale abroad China also has many capable and intelligent officials in the foreign countries, which benefited from the advantages and of railways and large-scale industry, and some young people have also been studying abroad, o China still lacks people who have long axis the necessary experience in the field of railways= 1 of the railway and metallurgical industries evening.

For this reason, as well as for the difficulty in this Land large capitals for the joint exploitation of iron= railways, mines and industries together, China is still forced to rely on foreign forces and foreign capital to use.

II. Documents. 2

– 18 –

It is by no means the intention of the writer to attack China= muthen, the exploitation of fine railways and treasures of mines= ralien to foreigners alone; rather, he wishes a real unification of Chinese and European capital and forces= who jointly take on the work fhall, for the benefit of China and for the common good of the local and foreign entrepreneurs.

While foreign capital can only be invested in such a company to bear secure interest rates, China would benefit from further There is a motive for strategic and other economic 5 to participate in this enterprise and to rdern.

The writer proposes the construction of a railway from the Diftricte of Ping=ting=chow over 1 possibly including the capital Peking) to Tientsin and from Tientsin to Chefoo and Wei=hai=wei.

Furthermore, the establishment of coal mines in the first-mentioned district along with iron mines, blast furnaces, rolling mills for the production of forges= iron and nail irons and steelworks, all with machines= operation according to European models, where necessary.

One half of the capital used for investment shall be China and the other half of Europe will be included.

The Chinese government appoints a senior official who the entire company is monitored and the government is represents entrepreneurs.

The capital subscribed by the Chinese and European sides fould be raised as the buildings progress and placed on a specially established bank branch in Tientsin under joint Chinese and European management.

A special office is to be set up in Tientsin, from from which the management of the company takes place. Here the Central point of the company and also the technical Vurcaus shall have their seat there.

The leaders of the railway construction, as well as the industrial Works are supposed to be Europeans who had already previously been in Europe in the relevant needs.

All work in China should, as far as possible, carried out with Chinese labor and Chinese materials.

EB fol a European Director be appointed, to whom All European officials undertake that they will only and serve only in the interest of the company and do not constitute special interests, so that they act as Chinese officials to be considered. | |

European officials must commit themselves to supporting the Chinese to study language.

It will be left to the European Director to manage the European to dismiss the European officials in accordance with the contracts made and to replace them with new ones, provided that this is in the interest of the company appears necessary.

==. 49;

The salaries to be paid to civil servants shall be between the high official appointed by the Chiuefian government and 5 European Directors reached a prior agreement become.

The start of the railway construction, railway operations, steelworks

etc. necessary and not yet in China e Mus
materials such as rails, locomotives, wagons and machinery, always done where the material is best and cheapest is obtained, regardless of the country of origin.

The decision on the advisability of such purchases should be made by the combined Chinese-European direction; this shall also have the right to conclude delivery contracts with foreign large industrialists, if this is to the advantage of the company appears appropriate.

The Chinese government is committed to the loyalty of the officials appointed by them, as well as for the honest performance of the Chinese entrepreneurs, whether they are employed as administrative civil servants, technicians or workers.

Two aspects should always be kept in mind become:

1) All building materials, as far as they can be procured in China, should be purchased under equally favorable conditions in China
but are cheaper in the country, so they should be from abroad.

All work on railway construction, such as earthworks,
Work in the machine workshops, steelworks 2c., should, fo far as this is not possible, it will be taken care of by Chinese
Also, as railway and mining and steelworks officials as many Chinese as possible should be employed, as this is guaranteed and profitability of the business.

The construction of the railway and works is to be started,
As soon as the capital required for the company is available and the
The company has been properly constituted.

The railway line Ping=ting=chow.-Tientfin is to be built first in Ange
and the preparatory work at both endpoints
Only after completion of this track will the line
Tientfin, Chefoo, Wei=hai=wei will be built if not Zwkzweck= reasons an earlier start of this construction would be desirable appear.

The railways on the one hand and mining, rolling, metallurgical and steel Works on the other hand should have separate operations. :

The profits from the proceeds of the railway operation, as well as the mining and steel works belong to the entrepreneurs, among which will be distributed pro rata to their share.

If the net profit exceeds five 70 em (15% per annum,
3 jo the surplus was transferred to the Chinese central government

en.

D

2

– 20 –

_ The combined entrepreneurs shall have the right to stations of the railways to have sales outlets for their raw products, However, the distribution of the same off-road is to be entrusted to Chinese private left to entrepreneurs.

The purchase, sale and dispatch of the goods by the entrepreneurs However, Europeans should also be allowed to import the raw products supplied, provided it takes place from the treaty ports.

In order to attract foreign capital for the company, it would be necessary for the imperial government to formally consent to it and the participation of Chinese Capital in the company Aan and to promote it Should the imperial government itself, or the provincial governments participate financially in the ventures, it is of course available to them up to the level of the Chinese reserved capital.

“The acquisitions of land or expropriations, such as would prove necessary for the railways and steelworks, would have to be undertaken by Chinese officials.

The exploitation of the company should be the combined Chinese-European entrepreneurs for a certain period of time first, during which no competition lines and establishments may be built, unless by the combined companies employees themselves.

When building connecting lines, the entrepreneurs be free to undertake the same on their own behalf.

Should the Imperial Government be inclined to give such assurances to give, yes, in Europe there would be sufficient capital on have it brought.

Schreiber is inclined to bring together capital and to undertake the formation of the company in Europe, if the imperial government: to give him the confidence and to encourage him-wants to be fully powerful.

It is self-evident that on the part of the Chinese government, as well as the Chinese population in particular, as the proposed one, must meet with some concerns. Today Thousands of people live from the transport of coal and Iron, and it is natural that they fear that the construction of the planned railway to lose their income. This However, this fear is groundless. On the one hand, the Transport of raw materials employed during construction the railway more abundant employment than before through the creation creation of the material for it, while on the other hand the transport of coal and iron during construction is unlimited will continue. After the completion of the construction, this transport for a specific line, however, exclusively for the railway but it should not be overlooked that the Transport of iron and coal now due to the high costs of felen is only operated on a short stretch. People and

Pack animals will leave these routes, but in the transport of the 5th – as

N 2 x 1, 2 4 I. * 4 8

ee . a La 14

– 21 –

raw material from the various stations to the side located areas can find much richer income. While up to Now from the mines the traffic with pack animals only about is limited to 300 Li, in the future a similar traffic will right and left of the entire length of the railway line on similar distance. It can therefore be assumed with certainty that the number of people finding employment and pack animals will be significantly larger than the same harvest. A Another concern of the Chinese government could be that the Use of capital to political difficulties and windings could give rise to this danger. This danger is caused by the joint administration, in which the Chinese government always has the would have a decisive vote, should be prevented.

It would be up to the Chinese government to decide watch out that even from the Chinese side through corruption or intrigue guen would not have those dangers which the Writer avoided to 55 wishes.

The concerns regarding the placement of foreign, in China invested capital on the European stock exchanges, could be counteracted by providing for the transfer of the share certificates certain formalities and the right of pre-emption in any case the Chinese government would be assured of the same.

Germany has often been called the natural ally of China. In any case, China has never demanded a hostile policy or to fear interference in his affairs. The involvement German capital in the projected company would therefore are in no way subject to political concerns.

Nevertheless, it is not the intention of the writer to To make the matter an exclusively German one. Foreign capital shall, on the contrary, as long as it complies with the aforementioned conditions and through his participation no harm to the self stability of China is to be expected, just as the use of industries other than German ones is not sufficient. closed finely.

Writer of this asks to submit his suggestions for a . and to subject it to a thorough examination. He will be happy to fhis time and his labor, as well as his knowledge of the relevant Chinese and foreign conditions to the company to make available.

At the same time, however, he may also request= jspeak that the efforts he has made to develop this project and the research into the relevant circumstances Jon and effort will not be wasted by the fact that his work is oncurrenten is made available.

He is of course happy to give an expert opinion willing to submit, and the Chinese government willing agreed to look into the issue more closely.

Finally, I would like to add some Notes should be attached regarding the duration of the railway construction, here costs

– 22 –

the same and the steelworks, as well as some special considerations To illustrate the usefulness of the Ping=ting=chow route= ientfin in general,

The route Tientsin – Chefoo – Wei=hai=wei, although an interesting forming a vital part of the whole project, we want to disregard for the time being, since this route will only be explored later in should be taken and their construction and production cheaper and can be more easily obtained after building materials and trained people at hand and has gained experience.

The length of the route Paouting=fu – Peking –Tientfin would

be:

527 km = 947 Li.

The route Ping-ting-chow-Diftrict - Paouting-fu- Tientfin direct:

390 km == 703 Li.

The route Tientsin --Chieu - Wei-hai-wei:

500 km = 1008 Li.

For the sake of unity, we calculate 200 Li per equator degree, as standardized by Emperor Kanghi, and an equator degree of $111 \frac{1}{2}$ km.
Thus 200 Li are equal to $111 \frac{1}{4}$ km, or 1 Li 556% m, 1 km
1000 m

We will calculate the tael to $4\frac{1}{2}$ German Reichsmark and the tael to 1500 cash.

The construction of the Ping-ting-chow-Diftriet -Paouting-fu and from there via Peking to Tientfin and from Paouting-fu to Tientfin direct would be able to be produced in four years and the facility the first mountain: and steel works in the same time, yes, that their operation, and certainly not long after the opening of the Rail could be used.

The costs of railway construction including bridges, tunnels, sub:
maintenance of the railway during the construction period and including installation of Biegelbrennercien, Werkftätten &c. would be about 185 000 Marks per km, or 103,000 Marks per Li, or 41,000 Taels per km and 22,900 taels per li.

The railway would initially have only one track, while the Substructure and the entire system from the outset for two tracks
The second track can be laid once the railway in operation, significantly cheaper than if one were to use the two Tracks are laid at the same time, and it is therefore better to wait until . Traffic the second track for immediate necessity= time.

When calculating the company, the prices for the very best and heaviest material used in Europe, in Anſschlag gem t, as one also for all eventualities rather to considered unfavourable rather than favourable circumstances. Furthermore at the salaries of those working in construction and temporary operations employed people and officials, be they Chinese or foreigners,

o measure that one can expect to get decent people, who find sufficient remuneration in their salaries and not

- 23 -

are dependent on earning extra money, whereby

the company would be harmed from the outset.

However, with a lighter superstructure such a railway to

160,000 marks per km = 89,000 marks per li

Bait:

3500) taels per km = 19800 taels per li

but this would not be sufficient for the final purpose, namely the railway to make as much money as possible, hardly recommendable.

Without a doubt, there would be a lot of people who would be willing to build a railway at a significantly lower cost, but please keep in mind that in this case builders and owners are the same and in solidarity, and that it is fit 10 can be about something useful and fit very lasting u fchaffen.

: There are various motives which motivate the memorialists cause only the construction of a first-class railway and best material: namely: It would be in keeping with the dignity of the great Chinese Empire, the first company of this kind, which under the auspices and with the participation of imperial government is put into action, in a subordinate manner to begin.

Then decent capital, as intended, would also and good officials in Europe are easier – and perhaps only then – be won over to the company if one is convinced that the same is based on sound principles from the outset, because it is known to every good businessman in both China and Europe, great successes could only be achieved with good means and aids

The use of good material and good people would therefore ensure the success of the company.

To give an example of the important role played by the high land freight in China, and how through them the consumption range of coal and iron is limited and thus the industrial Development of the country, it should be mentioned that the most expensive and best anthracite coal in Shwo-fang=tfun and Shipatfui, near Ping=ting=chow, which costs 60 cash per 100 catties at the mine. In Hwo=lu=

fien, which is about 250 Li from the mines, dead the= same money 600 cash per 100 catties, or just ten times of the price at the mine. In the only 60 Li further

In Ching=tingefu the coal even costs 800 cash per 100 catties.

The transport of goods in this area currently costs whether by donkey, mule or camel, 70 cash per 100 catties per 40 Li. The low duty of 15 cash per loaded pack animal (which, by the way, is not insignificant when transport prices are reduced could be increased), which was raised in this way in Kukwan is hardly significant, but it is the 5 alone, which prevent coal and iron from being transported very far Hwosluchfien can be brought out. |

1

– 24 –

For lower grades of coal, the percentage is much less favorable than for the better varieties. But even 2 precious iron is made extremely expensive by the transport costs and thus made inaccessible to a large field of consumption, ie that the population le Diftrict e ft with European iron

Hard white iron costs, for example, in Shwo=fang=tfun

1300 Cash, Luppeneisen 2000 Cash and Stangeneisen 3000 Cash per 100 catties. According to Hwo= 11, these varieties cannot be cheaper than 1800 Cash, 2500 Cash and 3500 Cash per 100 Catties, without there being any significant profits on it.

It is statistically established that in Germany and in rest of Europe, such railways are profitable on which raw materials material, ie mass-produced items, are transported. Now in Germany the cargo for coal: 0.00 Pf. per 100 kg per 1 km, for iron: 0.½% Pf. per 100 kg per 1 km,

or about 100 catties

Coal 3 Pf. per 40 Li = 9 Cash,
Iron 3, Pf. per 40 Li = 10 Cash.

Accordingly, coal and iron would be transported from the place of production to Tientsin, 380 km or 680 Li away, to a Total freight of 153 cash per picul 100 catties or 2750 cash per ton of coal and 170 cash per picul of iron, if the same railway operating costs for China as in Germany By properly mining coal, whose prices are even lower than they currently are on the pits are.

Through professional mining of iron ores and proper smelting process, the cost of iron would increase by at least a third, as is done in Europe by European experience knows.

Accordingly, a good hard coal, which is found in the district of I 0 60 cash per 100 catties, at the price of 2. taels per ton, and iron, which is worth 2000 cash per 100 catties costs, at the price of 1. Taels per picul 100 Catties) to Tientsin can be laid.

Good Kaiping coal from seam No. 5 in pieces costs today in Tientsin in large quantities 4 taels per ton, while good Bar iron not less than 2% – 2% Taels per picul evening is.

Now it must be noted that Kaiping coal, even the most best, after all, is only a second-rate bituminous coal, that the mines in Kaiping can deliver relatively little, that whereas the coal from Pingtingchow is pure loan, on the 0 product, which in Shanghai with 10 Taels for sound is paid and can be sold in unlimited quantities. can be ordered.

Considering that Shanghai still has a significant and Di

Consumption of expensive English coals caused that for Cardiff Coal 8 taels per ton, for Australian 6, 6.3% taels per ton pays, it is evident that this is a large sales area for Shanfi coal can be found.

It may also be mentioned that the coal from Pingtingchow is completely different from the Kaiping coal and the sales of the latter is unlikely to have any impact.

From the above comparisons and considerations, extraordinary profits for the entrepreneurs, which at the same time Producers and transporters are therefore appropriate and fair and make big profits in each of these skills can.

It would be too far for the narrow space of a memorandum lead to giving all calculations and calculations here and difficult to deal in particular with industries and their products, which could only develop properly after the opening of the railway lines.

It is a matter of briefly demonstrating that the proposed sub=take is not only viable, but also an inexhaustible

source of wealth for the country: that it will be a sub=which maintains itself and the Imperial Chinese Re=ization, it wants to build railways, be it for purely strategic or colonization purposes in the northern parts of the empire, be it to remote areas for one reason or another=to provide aid to the famine, not only the material from their own country, but possibly also the funds through can deliver the profits achieved.

Here it is perhaps appropriate to refer to a recently published Memorandum of the Chamber of Commerce of Foochow, which contains a report from Judaea about the tea culture there, and . what role the railways played in it and from which shows without a doubt that it was these who – itself profitable – the tea culture of India – in this case to the detriment of China – have been a powerful lever.

How much more favorable are the conditions in China, especially for coal and eggs!

The capital required for proposed ventures would be:

Construction of the line Ping=ting=chow – Paouting=fu – Peking – Tientfin direct, 512 km (022 Li) a 185000 marks:

95,000,000 marks or 21,100,000 taels.

Route Paouting=fu – Tientfin: 139 km (239 Li) at 185,000 marks: about 25700000 marks or 5700000 taels.

Route Tientfin – Chefoo – Wei=hai=wei: 560 km (1006 Li) a 185,000 Mark:

about 104,000,000 marks or 231,000,000 taels.

Distance Ping=ting=chow – Paouting= fu: 251 km (450 Li) a 185,000 Mark: – 46435000 marks or 10320000 taels.

– 26 –

Beijing – Tungchow – Tientsin route: 138 km (248 Li) a 185,000 Mark:

25530000 marks or 5670 000 taels.

Distance Paouting fu – Peking: 138 km (248 Lu a 185000 Marks: about 25,530,000 marks or 5670,000 taels.

This would be the cost estimate for the various coming routes fine, at 185000 Marks per km or 103000 Marks

the Li. |

It is assumed that the routes Bingstingschow – Paouting=fu – Tientfin – Peking and back to a first in serious Consideration: only later the route Tientsin – Chefoo – Wei=hai=wei.

As far as industrial facilities are concerned, this question would require one more consideration.

For the time being, one would have to make do with coal mines and iron mines, which are very simple, as well as blast furnaces, puddling furnaces and rolling-factories that supply and manufacture such things that are all Chinese markets: such as mild iron, bar iron, Nail pullers and similar products. About the time when, and the special places where steelworks and machine factories are located What should be laid and to what extent, should only be decided after the matter is decided. enter into deliberation. Here it is sufficient to preliminary ample sum to be spent, which the combined Directorate free hand, according to the emerging It is particularly important to create such establishments in question what intentions the Imperial Chinese Re= government with regard to employment of entrepreneurs.

For the construction of industrial plants, Schreiber proposes that sum of 100000000 Marks or 22220000 Taels

Demuach would therefore be required: distance Ping=ting=chow– Paouting=fu– Beijing – Tung=how – Tientfin and back to Paou= ting=fu 123 million marks and for industrial plants:

100 million marks,
furthermore for general administrative costs:

8 million marks,
a total of 231,000,000 Reichsmarks or 51,330,000 Taels.

This would later be followed by the line Tientsin – Chefoo – Wei=hai=wei with 104 million marks and would thus in total 303000000 Marks or 74440000 Taels

to be subscribed, plus the sum which the Imperial Chinese The Government has to pay for the cost of land acquisition for the Railway and railway facilities and steelworks. For the construction of the in Aus= 666 km or 1197 Li long double-track railway would, including the construction of railway stations, stops and halts ftate the acquisition of a 35 m wide, 600 km long strip country may be required. |

This represents, counting the area as 675 square meters, a total area of 34530 Mou (43 300 000 sqm).

With a further 170 Mou, i.e. 34700 Mon in total, sufficient for railways and steelworks.

These sums are to be collected from the subscribers in accordance with the decision of the combined directorate, as the same success will be required for the construction of the facilities and afterwards where part of the railway and facilities have already become profitable.

However, the subscribers shall be responsible for the total amount for the time being only for the railway lines Pingting– Paoutingfu Peking – Tungchow – Tientfin and Baoustingsfu back and the mountain necessary sums for the construction of factories and steelworks be drawn.

To participate in the second part of the company They are entitled, but their obligation only becomes definitive, after both interested parties have given their consent 3 years after the Constitution of the company, i.e. about 1 year before the opening of the line Pingtingchow– Tientfin, a final decision on the construction the route Tientsin–Chefoo–Wei–hai–wei.

The procurement of one half of the necessary for the construction of the railway The sums to be paid by the Imperial Chinese Representation designated plenipotentiaries in China, who are the other half 9255 Carl Paafch in Europe.

About the size of the shares in the company, as well as Other questions should only be decided after the emperor The European government has given its consent to the project.

As a note, it should be noted that the costs for railway construction set sum of 123000000 Marks on around 106,000,000 marks or 23,500,000 taels would be reduced if a railway with a lighter superstructure were to be built should be preferred.

In the enclosure, Schreiber has the honour to present 3 cards, depicting:

No. I, which was projected by the Russian government and partly completed railway through Siberia;

No. II and III the railway lines proposed by the writer District – Poutingfu – Beijing – Tungchow – Tientfin and back to Paoutingfu.

Peking, November 1887. |

Carl Paafch.

– 28 –

46/47. Report No. 3
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt, Imperial German (Hejandte

Beijing.
Pehing, March 18th

Your Excellency, I would like to take the liberty of sending you a copy of my Brivats reports of February 3rd from Paoutingsfu mentioned Memorandum to the Imperial Chinese Government on Railways and mines in China.

Here I would like to point out that in the General= Governor Li blamed Uleberft for a small oversight: This is an oversight of one decimal place in the German railway freight rates mentioned in the memorandum for Coal and iron, namely:

On: Pf. per 100 kg per kin for coal and (% Pf. per 100 kg per kin for iron.

In the Chinese translation it mistakenly says 2, Pf. and resp. 2, Pf. This oversight is all the less important, as it is clear from the immediately following calculations of coal and iron nad)» shows that they are correctly based on % Pf. and 0. Pf.

I have also taken the liberty of changing the length of the railway lines, as they only become apparent during the Uleber= These are only differences of a few kilometers and are not important, especially by reducing the estimated sum for general administrative costs the total= sum of 231 million Reichsmarks has remained the same.

I only mention these small deviations because nition, because if the memorandum is published, the Chinese were exploited by opponents to damage the cause and I would like to demonstrate in advance that they are not only noticed and no organic defects, but small differences fures, as is the case with such works, without prejudice to the whole can come.

Moreover, they are not only irrelevant, but can also have only local interest, and should it appear desirable, the To send a memorandum to us, this could be done in this Form without further comment. '

Carl Paafch.

A

- ä
1 # 27

- 29 -

48/62. Memorandum Article 2)

about railways and mines in China
from

Carl Paafch.

Sr. Excellency dem (eneral - MGonvernenr Li Hung Chang on July 7, 188
personally presented by the author.

When Schreiber had the honor of presenting Your Excellency his first memorandum about railways and mines in China, donated the same to the project in question in a thankful manner great interest, but at the same time made it clear that the same in it would not be possible to implement it in the manner proposed.

The reasons which led Your Excellency to this view had, the same was not mentioned. .

However, the company's strong profitability Your Excellency is astonished and doubtful, as is the ng of the beneficial consequences mentioned in the memorandum, which the must result in measures; these can be taken, however, numbers, and is Schreiber willing to do so in further discussions

cusfions about the project.

Based on the assumption that Your Excellency the Pro=ject has already been subjected to a closer examination and the an= have recognized as correct and bonn fide made, that thus the ownership of railways and mines for China in strategic and economically desirable, there will only be internal or foreign political concerns, which may hinder the execution advantageous projects. EN

To eliminate these, however, would require the necessary skill and power must remain reserved to Your Excellency, since no one Foreigners are entitled to 59 in such China-only questions mix, but it is perhaps permissible to consider the supposed, the integrity To shed light on China's external threats, with the intention of giving Your Excellency a brief but clear picture of it and to demonstrate that in this case everything has been done to prevent such driving.

In order to invest the capital of the to avoid heinous stock market speculation, the intention is to to issue share certificates in the name of the owners and shall same without the approval of the combined Chinese-European administration cannot be transferred and should be transferred to the Chinese The government will always reserve the right of preemption in such cases.

) This memorandum forms the focus of my projects and wanted "can prevent me from doing the same - 1 Viceroy -

ui: 0:

This would make it easy to control in whose hands fe shares are located, and the company, as far as Europe comes into consideration, the character of an honest private business and any political aftertaste would be removed. It would and at the same time all political complications between China and European powers should be prevented from undertaking this undertaking.

The bad experiences that some non-European and some European countries have made with railways are merely through stock market speculation, unfair economics and especially corruption tion. According to Schreiber's proposition, these Dangers excluded, since the European stakeholders with their Capital is responsible for the success of the company.

Because Ching has the most extensive control, any kind of over-advantage is prevented in advance, and it is still important to note especially the fact that the entire invested capital in the form of railways, factories, buildings on Chinese soil and ground, from where it cannot be removed, and that the Chinese government always has its hand on it. That the Ventures under similar titles such as:

Imperial Chinese State Railway,

Imperial Chinese Mining and Metallurgy Company,

Imperial Chinese Railway and Industrial Bank shall exist, designates China's rights from the outset and is It does not matter what amount of the total in China, and which is raised in Europe.

Then China has, in addition to the right of pre-emption on the shares—feems to be the right secured from the outset, the entire enterprise after a number of years and to purchase the necessary to replace European officials with Chinese ones, which in the meantime—time through schools to be established and in practical service—China would then have found the time to develop. after the end of the stipulated contract period, they will receive a rich inheritance.

Schreiber believes that this point has been sufficiently said and perhaps allayed any concerns that still exist in this direction—to have done.

In the meantime, since the last conversation with Your Excellency, few from Russia, as well as from British India and Tonkin News about the railway construction there has been received.

On the status of railway construction on the Moscow—There is nothing particularly new to report from»n,nf, than that the work in the West is progressing slowly but surely, and that construction will begin in Vladivostok this spring ollen. In contrast, the reports from the Trans-Caspian Railway are more meaningful and lively. With fabulous enthusiasm, one pursues the construction of this route. No one takes the time to building to be completed and the work is already in progress as far as Samarkand thrived and 2 quickly continued.

gland is looking for a railway to the Chinese border and in Tonkin the French are trying to do the same

— 31 —

giel even more than the English in Burmah. In a short In time, Russia, England and France will join their orbits the borders of China and be able to extend their power beyond to make it felt at the various border points of China, if necessary should be.

That Russia is only pursuing strategic goals and money= acquisition is completely disregarded for the time being, and that this empire has convoyed its lands at the expense of China to expand, at least that is what is said all over the world. May the fe be as he may, and may the purposes which England and France with its railway constructions in Burmah and Tonkin, be completely disregarded, so this strengthens all writers in fine the view expressed in the first memorandum that China fshould be able to build railways in the to build their own country.

Would it not be politically wise under such circumstances to To serve subjects of a friendly nation, where no There is a danger that they will ever come into political conflict with China and wouldn't it be more appropriate to have a few hundred such friendly foreigners to peaceful and useful work engage as the subjects of such nations whose countrymen may possibly be enemies of thousands in China and fthey can be useful through their knowledge of the country? Would this be not a wise political precaution, and all the more desirable because it is also economically advantageous?

What horizons are opening up for Chinese industry and trade opened by the proposed undertakings, I have in my first memorandum only dared to weakly approach.

Let us quote here the words of the researcher Baron von Richthofen, with which he published the second volume of his work on his 16-year-old trips undertaken in China decides:

"The greatest importance in the near future will be the Coal deposits in the maritime provinces, namely will initially be the neighborhood of such places, which, like Tientfin, which require a significant supply, is of greater importance than the quality and abundance of the deposits. The relatively low-value coal fields at Kaiping and in the Near Beijing will therefore probably first be subject to a larger technical development. The first step, which

which is likely to accompany the introduction of railways, The exploitation of the excellent deposits of bituminous

Coal in Shantung Fin This would remove all port areas from China can be supplied with cheap and very good coal and the same step will probably mark the beginning of a great rise of various steam-powered industries in China, mostly in the vicinity of the mines works. A further stage of future increased

We see development in the introduction of steam operation in the anthracite mines of Hwai-king-fu. But by far the ee ge

The most significant event will be the railway connection of the Sohlen» fields of Shanft with the great plain and the coastal ports yes and no; because this cannot fail to bring about a change in the world» trade."

And this is not written without reason.

Would Chinese capital, which today is only hesitantly entering and fear of any undertaking, as soon as the same on Chinese soil, not as willing to these companies can be found, such as in Hong Kong, Saigon, Singapore, the Dutch colonies, India, if in China provides the same security for the continued existence of the companies» Do we not see how Chinese capital can only likes to participate in industrial ventures if there is a professional male orderly management of the enterprises can be assumed? How many practical Chinese have not studied in English and Dutch Colonies have taken up residence solely to engage in such to be able to participate in ventures, and does not the success show that What did they materially gain from this? Do we not see in the administration of major affairs in the British and Dutch Colonies of Chinese, who through practice grasped the spirit of the matter and have shown themselves to be equal to Europeans?

How is it that in China itself Chinese capital is declining so is holding and often lies fallow?

Because the interested Chinese, who European conditions know that China does not yet have a population that understands fuch ventures because it is known that China is not yet has enough people trained in practice to carry out such operations: to lead your projects to a successful goal, and you still is not used to dealing with such large capitals in China. approach.

The writer's proposition would allay these concerns. be raised, because the connection with Europeans in the proposed In this way, a factual and professional management of the company fecure: and every Chinese who is familiar with the trade conditions It would be possible for China to become a country in a few years which would export coal, iron and iron products instead of importing. If bar iron, mild iron, Nail iron, old iron and wire, which are imported in large quantities be imported more cheaply from within one's own country? Would not rails, ship plates and machines, guns soon be produced in China itself? With coal, China would not only for themselves, but beyond India to Aden and Suceava can compete with European coal.

The statesman who first saw clearly in China the Right one chosen among the many available projects and it ver=ftated, foreign inventions and foreign aid to his country in such a way as to exploit without compromising the honour and integrity his country would be endangered, if he did not have present and future

ig

Generations thank him and would not he also rightly be in the class and be admired abroad?

The organization of the company, as proposed by Schreiber, would not be conceivably fine without a wise, knowledgeable and benevolent guidance of Your Excellency. But there are many authorities in such an undertaking and in European sanctification a combined direction would be absolutely necessary. While the upper management of the e undoubtedly rests with Your Excellency If the Commission were to remain in power, the workload of the implementation would be pla and be placed on the shoulders of Chinese authorities.

There are also only practical reasons why writers have weighed in the administration of the various nationals keep apart 1, on the one hand because of the different in China and European countries, but also Yours, the endless annoyance and the vastness which would result from the fact that Europeans, who although they know their subject very well, but the Chinese conditions ignorant, would be entitled on their part to speak with Your Excellency in direct communication. This would be a source of infinite small disputes and it is hardly possible for Your Excellency be expected to waste one's valuable time on subordinate, unimportant to waste things. However, as suggested, Your Excellency would Excellency can always hold on to a few responsible persons.

Neither the post of Chinese director nor that of Euro Päsich would be an easy one, but with great responsibility and It will involve a lot of work, and Your Excellency would be pleased to To assist their council under difficult circumstances in order to to ease their thorny task.

Like Richthofen 1155 and we know that there are still many good

Coal fields in China that are worth exploiting. Kaiping is small and inferior and the coal fields near Beijing are unlikely to be considered.

The camps in Shantung and Honan are of greater importance, but none of the same is not sufficient, neither in quality nor in abundance, to the neighboring Shanfi. Unfortunately, in the province of Chihli there is neither Coal or iron deposits, which would be suitable to play a role in the to play a role in world trade, and hopes that it will counteract the influence of Yours. Excellenz will succeed in convincing the authorities of Shanfi to the beautiful and large companies.

Since the starting point and the main part of the tracks are in the Chihli Province and the headquarters are located there has, this province would primarily benefit from the benefits of the It would be regrettable, of all things, Circumstances, when such an important man, of such intelligence as Your Excellency, as China may not see again for a long time fit, would miss the opportunity to be the most important and valuable to have set up the most complete enterprise in China and the Solution of this honorable task Reserved for someone else should remain.

U, Tetumente. 8

wi: B.

The railways from Kaiping to Lutai and Taku Tientsin may with much diligence and good will, but they come, nor the Formosan, according to available impartial Reports as actual railways, which are profitable in the long run or may have any significance for world traffic, in consideration.

They have only a small local value, which no one But the situation is different with the proposed sub-famplé, for which Your Excellency once again fuffificiated his services and faithful cooperation is available. It is this one undertaking, which, however small it may still seem, is not will miss, subtle effects will be felt all the way to Europe and America: to make cash.

Why Schreiber chose Germany for the recruitment of What makes him so popular with railway engineers is not the fact that he felp a German, not only the above mentioned thought, that Germany in particular is one of the major European China has no interests that conflict with China, but because Germany, as in military, so also in railway matters has proceeded energetically according to its own ideas and without any hesitation: ation can claim that no country in the world has an even remotely well-organized railway service, like Germany. The same works cheaply and punctually despite the good pay of the officials and brings in considerable revenues. In the German railway service employed: , civil servants and half a million permanently employed Workers, who can also be regarded as minor civil servants. In addition, a number of workers are still temporarily employed—thaftt, and it can be assumed that in the case of a Bes population of just over 50 million people in Germany more because 2 million people earn their living in the railway service, because there are only men and no women and children in service used.

Germany currently has railways in total= length of about 40,000 km, almost all double-track =: 72,000 Li.

About two decades ago, the decision was made to To bring Germany's railways into the hands of the state, and Today Germany has more than 30,000 km² – 54,000 Li² – in state ownership.

From other countries, state railways have:

Russia 17600 km = 3100 Li,
Austria 7600 " 13 700 "

Italy 6000 " = 1000 "
France 2800 " = 5000 "
Holland 1100 " = 2000 "
Sweden 2250 " == 4000

The rest of the world has no state railways, but in Several countries are seriously considering following the example of German= country to follow.

China has no difficulties in this respect and can start with state railways.

– 35 –

When in Germany the nationalisation of the Private railways, they had to contend with great difficulties, to create a unified whole from the many private institutes and in particular to establish a unified service. a

With a brilliant hand, the still active railway minister Maybach managed to master this difficult task. With With his clear vision he knew how to attract the appropriate forces and to create a unified service from the various elements. Technical schools were established, and a long practice has done their part to merge the whole into one.

The most difficult thing was the creation of uniform railway regulations for the civil service; this too was successful and the regulations of the German Railway Association have proven so effective, that a number of European countries have adopted the same or imitated.

China could also do this to its advantage, because, unlike other regulations, such as military ones, in which respect for the customs and peculiarities of other peoples is always profound modifications at Meute on other conditions are necessary, this is the case in the railway service hardly the case, since it is a practical service which is used throughout the world pursues the same goals and therefore more or less the only exception to this is perhaps America, which has many railways, but which are largely some were built in completely uninhabited countries and therefore other had to fulfill purposes that are not possible for China.

On the whole, the railways of all nations are the same: only Russia and partly America and some small countries have other track widths, but these are questions that are not addressed here. need to be discussed. |

The utility of the railways, which today in the world plays such a distinguished role is relatively new.

The first steam-powered railway was built in England in 1825, a short distance between Liverpool and Manchester. Six years later, Germany and Belgium followed with short distances and a year later France. In fact, railway construction has only developed in the last 40 years, when people realized what great wealth and acceptability of this means of transport.

Now own for example: |

Germany 40000 km = 72000 Li, England 35000 " 2 63000 " the colonies 36,000 " = 65,000 "
France 39600 " 2 55000 "
. Austria 22000 " = 30500 " 1

"The length of all railways in the world (most of which two-track) is:

480000 km = 862500 Li

or about ten times the circumference of the entire Earth at the equator, 8° EN

ug,

or 199 times the length of the Great Wall of China and its side branches.

What Schreiber's project is about is the construction of Railway lines in a N of 660 km = 1170 Li, or about 777th part of the railways in the world, or a little less, which is still built anew once a year in Germany.

Therefore, the undertaking is not so enormous if one with those in other countries.

The cost estimates may seem high at first glance, nevertheless, they are: if one considers that all Facilities such as bridges, tunnels, stations etc. from the outset for a two-track operation, as it must be created very soon, directed.

The proposed routes are even cheaper than most European railways, especially those in earlier times, and that The reason why railways can be built so cheaply nowadays is that that today iron and coal are available everywhere, that in Mechanical engineering has made significant progress and many things have been experiences Gun

According to official reports, the Prussian state railways cost in the year

1880.1 294,000 Marks per km,

81½ 2BON " " "

92/3 312000 " " "

83/1 29800 " " "

845 286000 " " "

5/6 278 (C0 C0C " " "

N 86/7 275000 " " "

These are all double-track railways. In the past, railways cost fee and some routes are still expensive today marriage.

In other countries the prices are pretty much the same and The difference in prices shown above is explained by the luctuations in the prices of iron and coal and partly from local conditions.

Would it be conceivable that in Europe, India, America, etc. still built railways when they were not paid for The cost estimate for a solid, albeit initially only single-track railway, but with facilities for two tracks, is only 185,000 marks per kilometer, or 160,000 marks per kilometer; However, the sums for the acquisition of land are still missing, where= of about 34,000 Mou would be necessary, and some other things.

Concerning the acquisition of land for railways, there are in German~~=~~ country, as in other countries, laws according to which the government the owners of the land over which the railway is to run, can force them to give it up at the tax value, provided that they do not want to commit to this voluntarily. .

"In earlier times, almost all land had to be sold for Purchasing for railway purposes: on the other hand, this has changed a lot nowadays.

=: BT

After the people had learned about the blessings of the railways at and the nuts, which a track through which fi traversed 99 05 and the neighboring towns, petition cities and communities for the construction of railways and offer free willingly provided the lands required for the construction of railways, stations, etc. free of charge, as the railway brings them much more benefits than the lands are worth.

This will not be the case in China for the time being, as the people Railways are not yet familiar and this new facility only with It is therefore necessary, in order to avoid mistrust, beftt, the people should be offered the convenience of having the Lands are bought at fair prices.

Given the extremely favourable conditions mentioned above, which for the construction and operation of railways and steelworks fare, this can also be done without affecting the profitability the company's future is seriously jeopardized.

The acquisition of land would have to be approved by the Chinese authorities be taken, and it would be best if they gave from the outset the sums for which they would sell the lands could arise after the Ar. government gave its consent to the company. This would not only provide a ftable basis for the final calculations Aae, but a Chinese a nice income through the acquisition of land for the train. |

The approximate route of the railway lines can already be seen~~=~~

The exact details will only be available after the routes have been checked by technicians are measured.

In particular, Schreiber would like to draw Your Excellency's attention to the fact It is important to point out that the cost estimates for the Railway construction the sum of 6,000,000 Reichsmarks for extraordinary Gratifications, rewards, etc. are offered.

This sum is, however, high, but the undertake them with you. It was kept in mind that in China has to overcome some difficulties that are not present in other countries and exist.

This sum, which is based on the budget for four years
Railway construction is calculated, is at the discretion of Your Excellency in community with the F. It and be destined to Rewarding those Chinese and Europeans who are concerned about the have made a great contribution to the company's development.
fare specifically meant here authorities of cities, municipalities and Villages through which the railways pass, and which have their time and have devoted their energies to the company. A similar system of rewards and merits follows our German government.
albeit to a more modest extent. But here it is called completely new circumstances and should the Chinese population reconciled from the outset with the inconveniences of the innovation
For this reason, such a high sum has been set aside for this purpose.

38

But it should be noted first and foremost that the rewards
only for services rendered, to serve as an incentive to others to serve, to prove oneself worthy of such rewards and to
To strive for work, in short, that everyone sees that such a company brings a lot of good things with it.

If you did it the other way round, you would be dealing with a corruption-system, which will only have bad consequences and the would endanger taking.

Would a large company be able to survive if it would begin immediately on an unjust basis, especially since there are no compelling circumstances present?

Such considerations have led writers to write a thoroughly to present a clear plan whose motives are transparent and exclude any ulterior motive and which requires a scrupulous examination can tolerate.

Only in such a way as to befit the dignity of such a great empire like China and its first official, according to the writer's opinion such a large undertaking can successfully carry out.

I enclose a map for Your Excellency, showing-presenting the completed and proposed railways of Russia, England and France, whose end point is the border of the Chinese Empire is envisaged to be presented.

Once again I would like to ask Your Excellency for discretion, especially if Your Excellency should be inclined towards the project. Such plans are often attacked, not only by people, who pursue personal interests, but especially in such a In an important case, one would also be exposed to the danger that ae policy to hinder the implementation of the project would. : |

With the humble request that Your Excellency this memorandum want to give such benevolent attention as the former,

I remain
Your Excellency, most obedient Beijing, end of March 1888.

Carl Paafch.

– 39 –

63,68. Denlifschrift Dr. 3)
for the Imperial Chinese Government, concerning the Nuffif–Transcaspian Railway

from

Carl Paafch.

Zr. Excellency the General Governor Li Dung Chang on August 24, 1888
personally presented by the author.

In view of the significant interest that China attaches to the step of Russian railway construction in Asia, allows itself to Your Excellency, your respected undersigned, a brief history and Description of the Trans–Caspian Railway, especially since the construction and the strengthening of the same can produce some surprising results and this railway first approaches the borders of China and perhaps with the line Yekaterinburg – Tyumen – Vladivostok one becomes.

These reports are from Russian official sources, precisely and authentic.

In 1868, four years after the countries between the Black and Caspian Seas, Russia the Caspian Sea and founded Mikhailovsk, the starting point of today's Trans-Caspian Railway, and fortified the Krasnowodsk Square to protect the caravans, which passed through starting point was Khiva and Russian Turkestan.

After the eastern coast of the Caspian Sea came under Russian rule, Russia waged war on Khiva in 1873 and made it his vassal state. When the Turkmens in later years continued to harass the Russian merchants and even Russian garrisons, it was decided in 1877 to capture the Akhal-Oasis. At that time, the animals only succeeded in part and in 1879, the Russians were even repelled by the Teke Turkmens. Now it was decided to act more energetically and sent an expedition under General Skobelev. General demanded as a condition sine qua non the construction of a railway from the Caspian Sea to Kizil Arvat, from 200 versts (385 li, to cover a retreat and transport of ammunition and food.

This campaign ended with the subjugation of the Akhal oasis and Completion of the railway to Kizil Arvat. The success of this was,

as everywhere where the Russians advanced, to be attributed to the railway been.

—

Von Brandt observed this memorandum and its use persistent silence. See official correspondence between Tientsin and Peking.

— 40 —

In 1884, the otherwise prosperous population of Merv himself was admitted into the Russian subject association and In May 1885, the Russian government decided to continue construction of the Railway to Merv. Construction was started immediately and entrusted to General Annenkow, who had already completed the first route to Kizil Arvat.

From May to November 1885, the route Kizil Arvat – Afghabad, 205 Werft = 393 Li, from December 9, 1885 to February 15 1886 Afghabad – Kafchka, 120 Werft = 230 Li, completed. After Voll. ae further 205 verft = 393 li Merw was founded on July 2, 1886 reached. '

From 15 August to 1 December, the remaining 230

Verft = 40 Li to Twardfhui, where the river Amu Darja was crossed. Now they came to the area of Bukhara. The inhabitants of the capital asked that the railway touch the same and promoted the construction of the railway as far as possible. 300 Verft = 575 Li to cross Bukharan territory and after proof 55 versts = 105 li Samarkand was reached. Today the whole Sn in a length of 1360 yards = 2607 Li finished and in Bes and the route Samarkand –Tashlent, 300 Werft = 575 Li, has been started and will soon be completed. The over= journey from Baku across the Caspian Sea takes 18 hours and After completion of the railway to Tashkent, one will be able to use the own Russian troops, guns and artillery in two days and 11 hours and horses can get there.

The distances from Tashkent to Russian Turkestan 300 versts = 671 li, to Kokhand 300 versts = 575 li, to Kashgar 600 versts = 1150 li, according to Kuldja 1500 versts 2875 li.

The construction was partly carried out with great energy and Days when up to 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ Li in operational condition This is unheard of and it is probably the fastest built railway in the world.

However, a light superstructure had been built and first only one track was laid, but the earthworks for the second one were carried out at the same time. The station buildings and bridges were initially provisional Ti, but they were immediately replaced by spacious buildings with logi= houses and fixed bridges replaced. 5 N

We have just received the letter informing us of the celebration= official opening of the new large railway bridge at Twardfhui across the Amu Darya River, which is 3,000 feet wide here.

The wonderful thing about this rapid railway construction is that the Train is not even expensive, but even cheaper than any of the other Russian railways, which otherwise were more expensive than those in Germany. This is mainly explained by from the fact that the soil conditions are favourable and there are no gradients were overcome; furthermore, the fact that land and property were very cheap and also the wages, but above all from the fact that tackled the matter on a large scale.

The following people were involved in the construction of the railway: the staff of the En farmer with administration and technicians and 2 newly formed Russian Railway battalions with a strength of 1018 men each. One Battalion took care of laying the rails and telegraphs, while the other the expansion of the completed railway and the operation of the=

3

the same.

400 Russian workers were brought from Europe, who as foreman and the newly arrived workers as a model. There were 30,000 workers employed, mostly Persians, Turks, Menen and Bukharans. They were divided into sections of 50 to 100 men organized under foremen. Finally, 13,000 men worked in this way.

The Russian workers received $1\frac{1}{4}$ rubles per day = 1460 cash, the Persians and Turkmens 30 kopecks = 290 cash and the Bukharans 22 kopecks = 215 cash. Because the workers are not overpaid were strict (a worker was never allowed to work more than 6 hours per day work and made frequent trips in hot and unfavorable weather. Rest breaks and not only wages were paid promptly and in full, but also the necessary land, one acquired the goodwill of the populations. |

One can only say that the Russians are in. have acted wisely in this respect. An imperial ukase to the Minister of War reads: |

"After We have permitted the construction of a section of the Trans=Kaspi Military Railway from the border of Our Forces, the neighboring Bukhara, to the city of Samarkand, be= We lack the necessary arrangements for the expropriation of land= these and other possessions, which lead to the ban of the section necessary to meet and to pay remuneration on the basis of precise legal Basis to proceed as usual when private property is transferred to the government. N

St. Petersburg, January 23, 1887. signed Alexander personally.)

Is it not wonderful what success Russia has had with railways in strategic terms? For two centuries it tried to subjugate the Caucasus countries, but in vain. This only happened in 1864 with the help of railways.

The vassal states of Khiva and Bukhara were previously insecure possessions and the Turkmen of Merv and the peoples=fcities east of Lake Caspian were always hostile. Hardly When the railway is started, the people ask for admission into the Russian subject association and the hitherto little known to Russia. The inhabitants of Bukhara petitioned for their city to be may not be avoided.

The actual strategic purposes were fulfilled more quickly than one could ever have expected. The railway was opened immediately after completion, as far as possible, and 12 trains, about 45 wagons daily in each direction in Aus-trategic successes had already exceeded expectations

egg

exceeded expectations, and this was even more the case in commercial
In an incredibly short time, the main trade other ways and preferred the railway. In a very short time Nomadic peoples settled along the railway and became good farmers:
thanen and trade increased so much that one immediately a solid railway construction. Since the railway is brand new and this significant changes do not occur in decades, but in whole completed in a short time and the expansion of the railway is employed, it is not yet possible to provide completely reliable information make, neither about trade, nor about profitability and costs; the latter especially around 100% less than the Russian government two battalions and many officials were used for the construction and also Machines, rails, clamps, etc. from Russian state or subsidized factories. In which the Transcaspian Bahn and those proposed by the writer are analogous, is that both to go to countries where no railways were known before; the verse difference in that the Traucaspian railway in uncivilized, areas inhabited by insecure peoples, for purely strategic reasons reasons and no trade was carried out by importance, while the proposed path through cultural-four countries, which are characterized by a peaceful, industrious population-population and a significant trade immediately to expected. The Chauces are in favor of the Chinese railway; Therefore, we have included in our cost estimate all those Things that come into consideration here. Numerous ways:
crossings and even a light fence along the track to
To avoid accidents for people and livestock. Furthermore, good Construction for this railway, which will be destined to be the next human-blood most important war material, iron and coal, to transs porter.

After completing such a project, energetically led by ge-trained people completed railway line will then also train China People enough to easily form railway battalions to form, as they exist today in all civilized countries and e will later be used in the construction of strategic railways could. i

Beijing, early April 18th
Carl Paafch.

Schreiber takes the liberty of attaching a map showing the Trans-Caspian Railway, and reserves the right to decide on the Railways in Tonkin, Burmah, etc. to report. D0

69th Report Dir. 4
to the Imperial German Embassy in Beijing.

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,

Imperial German Ambassador sc. 2c. 2c.

Beijing.

Uuaug Shang Tiie near Peking, April 10, 1888

Your Excellency, I would like to humbly permit myself to provide copies of two Memoranda (II, III) to be handed over to His Excellency the Chihli Governor General Li Hung Chang. n

The first is a supplement or amendment to the memorandum No. I, which I submitted to the Governor General in February of this year= No. III a short history of the origin and construction the Russian Transcaspian Railway. The material on the latter I have from the book kindly lent to me by Your Excellency: Trans= Caspian Sea and its orbits were created by Dr. O. Heifelder.

For both memoranda I ask for a lenient assessment, because they are written for Chinese conditions and translation.

The provisions made to the Governor General in Memorandum No. II Compliments may seem strong in this form, but I hope I hope that you will not suspect me of adulations committed, but merely gave legitimate thoughts a specific chi= to have given a Nefian version.

I remain Your Excellency's obedient servant

Carl Paafch.

— nm nn

Confidential Denlifschrift A
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,

Imperial German Ambassador 2c. 3°. 2c.
in Beijing.

Presented to the same on April 25, 188.

-- -- --

During the repeated discussions which Your Excellency MU have granted recently, concerning the imperial Chinese government by His Excellency the Governor General Li Hung Chang's proposed railway and mining enterprise, in which you have shown such lively interest and have so far thanked me have valuably supported us with advice and action, I have the impression that I have not succeeded in

— From =

my views on the functions and powers of the individual Parts of the company and especially the finance department and to explain their interaction as clearly as I would have wished. This is the reason why I take the liberty of asking Your Excellency to submit this memorandum in which I will try to to give a clear picture of the company as I imagine it. As far as the railway is concerned, it is a question of the construction a main line from the mining districts in Shanfi via Paouting= in to the port of Tientsin and two side branches, which the capital Peking with Tientfin on the one hand and Baouting on the other on the other hand. The length of the main line is 390 kilos= meters and the side lines 138 each. The latter would only be secondly, and in the third line a 560 kilo= meter long stretch Tientfin – Chefoo – Wei=hai= wei, which 0 only at the same time, in order to help the company to to open up further prospects for the future. | The Eisenbahn section under consideration lies for the most part niche in the plains and only a small third in the mountains; tech= There is little to fear from niche difficulties. The cost estimates find made according to the general practice in Prussia and to the existing conditions here. One has for the Material to be obtained from Europe or other countries the last Quotations which were accepted at the beginning of December last year and prepare for possible fluctuations, so that always safe ground under your feet and a few elbows= room for unforeseen cases. When transferring the Prussian cost estimates for local conditions have been applied in the first place Line taken into account the other in the beginning because lack of discipline lower performance of the chi= Nefian workers than the German ones. When determining the salaries for the officials have taken into account that they are specially trained for the Vau= time, where we still have to contend with all kinds of inconveniences is that the officials not only have to accommodate and but also, as far as they are employed in the construction of buildings, have to keep the necessary horses and servants themselves and that Without good pay, you would not find good people who would conscientiously undertake such an arduous task. one has to adapt to local conditions and innovation To take account of some items, such as for extraordinary expenses rewards, set high, created some new titles, as in German= land does not exist, and other open gealia, 0 e.g. the title Länder= acquisition to take Chinese views into account, and the Title Renewal of the Endowment Fund, Renewal of the Reserve Fund and interest during the construction period, partly in Chinese, partly in Euro to take European wishes and views into account. It is about the production of tracks that are more rational Basis, which primarily envisages that each and every necessary luxury is avoided, while one opts for the undoubted increasing traffic and safety of operations

– 45 –

has gufeben; also for the construction to be carried out scholastically and which makes it cheap.

The main point is always that the capitalists, Europeans, be they Chinese, are protected and do not invest their money in dubious enterprises which cannot bear interest.

In the profitability calculations one only has to actually waiting coal and iron production and the resulting Traffic, as well as low freight rates were taken into account, while the undoubtedly expected important Chinese persons= and freight traffic has been left completely untouched. Thus, only started from very safe assumptions and tried to human foreseeability, the company would have achieved far better results deliver than is assumed for the sake of caution.

This would, in addition to the information given to His Excellency the General Governor Li Hung Chang and known to Your Excellency suffice to give a picture of the projected trajectories.

Mines and steelworks: When I talk about these in the tents fcriptions so far have said little, 1 has happened because I did not want to present the Chinese with too much material at the same time and The construction of the planned railway will require the construction of steelworks, which give the railway its main existence Before we go into further details than those in the thought fcripts, it would also be desirable to have closer views of the Chi= nefen regarding the steelworks. f

While in my opinion one should initially only focus on the Mining of coal and other raw materials such as river iron, bar chisels, nail irons, Milano steel, etc., which would find immediate sales on the IE markets and thus paid, the Chinese would probably immediately pay larger. Such as the manufacture of rails, machines, Weapons and artillery: with regard to the former, one would have to say immediately try to take into account their wishes, ie the government u, while the erection of machines and other Factories should be reserved for a further future. Because We have through the use of Shanfi iron throughout China and The good quality of the same is a complete guarantee that one can moments is able to do what is right for the needs of the country to meet the simple jabricates, which would lead to a further development development of the industries requires a familiarity acquired through practice ity, if not with the qualities of the coal, then at least with those of the ores at the 1 locations may be necessary.

“The technical questions, both in railway construction and in Construction of mines and steelworks, one can confidently assume the Fuel as soon as the execution of the same is in hand. ver of all employees and professionals knows.

the other questions concerning these institutes can only be answered in the different stages of growth or execution of the project jects will be discussed in more detail.

The banking institution listed in the project and should have its headquarters in Tientfin and perhaps a branch in Europe – say Berlin – is part of the whole– company and let its purpose and powers be known Ne clearly state. It is the financial department the company and thus, just like the railways and mines, property of the shareholders and is solely intended to protect their interests Since the company is by no means a banking company as such it should be and it is not intended to make profits through issuance of bonds, through stock exchange or trading operations, such as To make advances, loans, etc., would be the constitution of the same the scope of the powers of this institute limit approximately as follows:

– 406 –

Acquisition of capital in Europe, insofar as this has not already been done before– is secured by private means, whereby it should be noted that it is only a one-time procurement of capital and associated manipulations.

Management of the capital in hand.

Interest on capital during the banking period.

Interest on the capital later from the income of the iron-railways and mines and the payment of those in Europe-made purchases of materials, rails, locomotives, etc., Freight and insurance, whereby it should be noted that a so-called financing of these items is not necessary, since the capital raised is largely used for this purpose—hooves remain in Europe.

Payment of salaries to civil servants. 5

Preparation of the accounts, etc., in short everything that the financial management of the company.

This would roughly describe the powers.

Why one wants to give this industry the title of a bank, and in it his singing is significant enough to itel, even though it only serves the company as a whole.

The Vank's scope of action extends to Europe, where the branch Technicians would be assigned to purchase the necessary Materials would have to be procured, according to the pattern our state administration, for example by way of the submission for the bigger things.

Everything, both bank and technical officials, would be be engaged with employees.

The bank would receive commissions for the services rendered calculate and thus receive it yourself. If there are surpluses fe, so 1 0 these would be paid to the shareholders and, as the income from railways and mines, to pay interest on the engaged capital.

It should be noted that after completion of the track the actual operation begins. Some officials would one position will become redundant while the construction of the steelworks and factories, additional workers, the output, etc.

The General Directorate would be responsible for these three sectors to sit together and lead. The three juffitutes, although closely connected to each other, yet have separate administrations, are merely technical necessities. The General Directorate, however, has the purpose of providing the Chinese government as well as the shareholders to present these three institutes as a whole and with to negotiate the same, so that detailed questions affect the operation of the individual Institutes can never disturb.

= AT

If one wanted to attach further hopes to the banking institution, these would be something like the following: a

From this institute, which is primarily the Chinese Control, forces could arise which would certainly could be, in the event of a possible reform of the Chinese public finances, furthermore:

The operation of railways and mines would probably Make pure local resource of coinage a necessity, and The bank would also like to be called upon to play an active role in this.

That this bank has broader powers in China

It is hardly likely that this would happen, since the domestic trade in iron and coal is left to private individuals, as are the small-industry. Even if the distribution to the coastal areas etc. Foreigners have the same rights as the Chinese, it is hardly to assume that the same foreigner is involved to a greater extent in Bethi-will achieve greater success than in today's coastal trade. From ship I will not speak about the journey.) But I would like to point out something in particular I would like to say that these are only observations which I would like to convey to the (I do not intend to mention this, as it is already more than will have enough to do to carry out such a large-scale undertaking to overlook.

Finally, I would like to reflect on the usefulness of the entire company.

Should European capital be sure to support such a venture? take on, yes it is necessary that the management, Or= organization and exploitation according to the European model and thus the production of railways and steelworks, which in are able to successfully serve the purpose of earning money. Luxury is superfluous, although the company is well founded and can easily afford a good salary for the officials, which necessary to recruit suitable people for such work win.

When it came to supplying ships to the Chinese, I have argued with the same zeal as today that the Chinese will only get good things if they find a sales area for the future. At the time, there were many the view that the Chinese, as a semi-barbaric nation, without fear of consequences could deliver inferior goods. The= I have |. 1 prevented such velleities, as I did in a fub= fequenten 1 darthun. But I wonder what would it became fine when the "volcano" f. 8. fexisting ships ge= would have delivered? 5 a

By and large, China, as far as I am concerned, judgment, with the ships supplied by Germany 0 and can they be compared with those of England delivered well. Nevertheless, they are the foreign eee fstrongly attacked. But what would it look like= fee if really bad ships had been delivered, and if they had subsequently identified defects in it; if the good reputation of German industry had been ruined?

The situation would be similar with the railways. The Chinese are now building railways with the help of European technicians, on which 1 Sin will experience joy, and work ourselves in a certain way in.
 the hands.

Things are looking serious with the English, who have plausible pro= jects and are therefore the only serious competitors.
 also corresponds only to the English sense that not invest their capital in ventures whose profitability
 They do not have the best opinion. Therefore it is clear that they the same factors as I do and their cost estimates are rational.

eking, April 22nd.
 5 Carl Paafch.

Confidential Memorandum B
 to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,

Imperial German Ambassador 3c. 3c. 3c.
 in Beijing.

Presented to the same on 2% April I.

After having endeavoured in Memorandum A to provide a clear change of the railway and mine proposed by me company, I allow myself to present to Your Excellency this thought= document detailing the prophylactic treatment of the patient situation vis-a-vis the Chinese authorities.

Some divergences of views which arose in the course of the dissertation cusfions have led me to explain the reasons which make it seem advisable to treat the Chinese in the manner

1 as I have tried to explain it to Your Excellency= set.

1 I am particularly concerned to provide proof of this provide that the views I hold on this question not based on utopias, but purely drawn from practice and are based on facts which simultaneously prompt me to undertake this venture alone, without the assistance of financial institutions, industrial and other people to take into their hands. J

– 40 –

For this purpose, I will go back several years into the past= have access.

When I was in London in 1877, I visited the
Dr. Halliday Macartney, now Sir HM,
Secretary and interpreter of the first Imperial Chinese ambassador ftschaft, and had a long conversation with Kuo, the envoy, about his mission 85 London. It was this around the time when the customs authorities in England introduced the so-called alphabetical gunboats were ordered for China and much of intended further ship purchases and railways in China
I was later asked a lot about China in Berlin.
pellirt, and longer " with the deceased Geh. Kommer= Councillor Borfig led to him being inclined to give me his Representation for the Chinese Empire with extensive powers to Since I had often expressed the wish that I
I would also like to deal with the sale of ships,
Mr. Borfig recommended the Stettiner Vulkan to me; he had nothing that against, if I were to represent this establishment, provided that a demarcation line could be found in the area, where these two industrial companies competed. Now
I went to Stettin, where I initially found myself on completely apathetic ground
I brought the people the reports about the Chinese ships:
purchases, the individual members of the Board of Directors had to be informed by personally, first individually, and finally after long debate
I was invited to present my case at a meeting of the administrative rathes. This was done, and after a heated debate
. e and directors together and decreed you are
g Now things are starting to take shape. The welding
The companies Borfig and Vulkan, however, despite good intentions, all sides at least another half a year, required many Correspondence and some travels between Berlin and Stettin. On I asked the Foreign Office whether one of the like company on eventual gangs of the authorities in China

Excellency von Philippsborn, whom I saw first, told me that they would be happy to do this, but on the condition that that I did not lead the government into unpleasant situations through Meftala actions, this was the case recently – he named some Shanghai companies – that e in China did not seem to be famous at all, to which I replied, that in this case it was something completely different than. arms business and he could see fine in this respect. The current Minister of Trade and Railways, Exc. Maybach, jstand very sympathetic towards the company and told me that if If there is any action in the matter, I would like to turn to him, I could count on a friendly approach and willingness to help ae ode Ebenfo the then Minister of the Navy, Exc. von Stofch, who promised me to meet the commander of the East Asian ships to provide me with information on naval matters opportunities etc. to give, if I turned to them, a Promise, which he has kept. His Excellency also said, that an inspection of the construction of Chinese warships nothing should be put in the way by naval officials, while he was granted permission to use the ships built by Germany for Chinese purposes, I wanted to subject it to further consideration. One of the gentlemen mentioned, I forgot which one, approached me at a later conversation that Your Excellency currently in Berlin and that it might be practical to to communicate the matters in question. Accordingly, I went me to you. If I am already a friend of the mentioned gentlemen= substantial response to my ideas, this was still This is no longer the case with Your Excellency. As you have in every respect and in a measure that exceeds all my expectations and hopes about: met, have actually promoted my aspirations for years, and how committed I have always felt to it, I need not to recapitulate at this point.

4

U. Documents. '

= 50 –

Meanwhile, I had met the then Chinese ambassador, Lin in Berlin to test the Vorfig establishments and the Vulkan caused.

He was particularly interested in ships, especially torpedo boats and the unfinished f. Z. at the shipyards of the Vulkan German armored ship "Sachsen". An examination of the Chinese coasts= ratios showed that this class of Ediffen and its Be: mood as offensive coastal defenders to the needs of the Chiuefen Lin promised to provide very precise descriptions of

to send what he had seen and heard to China, and this has he without doubt carried out conscientiously.

I had heard the fabulous things about the Be:
fertility of the Chinese officials. Neither Kubo nor Lin
I had found more than a purely technical treatment of things, and I came to the conclusion that the rumors about this must have been based on enormous exaggerations. In agreement with the directors of the Vulkan I explained to Lin that in German country only delivers good things, that you do not even get out of it go to deliver low-value items and that, especially in the case of foreign Objects, our authorities would offer a guarantee by their officials would, for example, monitor the ban on ships, as they do with their own ships, which are on private shipyards. In short, in Germany, in such things were "integral". This seemed to please Lin and this had He probably also reported, because in my first conversation with Li Hung Chang, after I returned to China in 1880

had arrived, this subject was discussed further.
I was now able to visit Li with the permission of Mr. von Stof provide assurance that the construction of the ships will be carried out as requested by Admiralty officials could supervise (which, so far
I know what happened), and that he could be sure at all, well to be served. The negotiations about the first tank

- 5]: =

which were currently underway, Li said that he was not averse to to order from the volcano, Li Hung Pao is currently in England, to make comparisons, etc. To what extent my Argumentation and insurance have contributed to the success, eludes calculation. In any case, the impression of this first conversation a favorable and I can see of the idea.
cannot help but feel that they contributed to the final result have. Your Excellency knows how things have developed.

cellenz. In December I received a telegram from Vulkan with the Request whether I can reduce the price I am entitled to to a minimum wanted to reduce, the completion of an armored ship depended on it.
Since I could only accept this despatch as fearful,
I said without further hesitation "Yes!" That was the first significant Business closed. In my next report to Stettin
I have not failed to notice the exceptionally favorable Circumstances we owe this success to. It was these the looming threat of war with Russia and, above all, the Your Excellency brought about good understanding between Germany and China, and if I am not mistaken, it was about these two as you Vullau expressed his gratitude in this sense.
subsequently orders for a second and third armored ship, a

Dipend torpedo boats and all

Meanwhile, the previously good and peaceful relations to change oneself.

When I arrived in Tientsin, Englishmen were my only Competitors; I came into contact with the people several times and, Although they were informed of my actions, I can nothing else can be said about them than that they gave me a sharp, but made outstanding competition. It was different with the Germans.

As soon as my affairs showed prospects of success, all levers to undermine the matter. At the top This clique included the current deputy German Consul and the newly appointed representative of the Krupp company. No means was bad enough to report person and matter to the Governor General to discredit. Breach of official secrecy and personal Trust was a small thing compared to all the shameful intrigues that were staged; the things were soon reported, I refused to believe them, until I had actual proof of it. Other personalities German nationality began to feel more or less comfortable wanting to get into the things to f Heber which, thanks to the indiscretions of the consular representative, were on everyone's lips. It was a great consolation to me at the time that General Gou verneur felt through a fine people with me after these intrigues from which I soon saw that they had a completely different, than the intended one from the Governor General Thus, I could look forward to the future with confidence in this regard. I feel, because the people had no real points of attack, since the

which was too well consolidated. ie

– 52 –

In my later conversations with Li I never complained that he had treated me with some disdain, although I often, when he asked me about things outside my field, Things, admitted my ignorance and even often I have spoken the truth in matters where I knew that he was being treated contrary would have preferred the information provided.

Everything went well; I negotiated with Li about excavators, Cranes, floating docks, icebreakers, etc., with Tonkin, with Li's prior knowledge on the supply of merchant steamers for China Merchants Steam Navigation Co. etc

The volcano had provided me with material for drawings, Kojtenane The strikes on which I could rely were always only weak. After the fears of war for China were over, I had advised to pay more attention to merchant steamers, dredgers, Docks nu. f. w. to direct, and had extensive clues with business and technical details are given.

Despite all this, I was completely abandoned and the the Chinese made complaints about the delivery of drawings and cost estimates, I could not pause, although I was by letter and telegraph from the volcano promised everything. I got in an unpleasant situation vis-a-vis Li Hung Chang. Your Excellency came to Tienzin, where they informed me of the situation The sins of omission of the volcano seemed to you last unbelievable. You asked me to give you statistics on this and asked me if I would agree that you sent the report to the Foreign Office. The latter happened. The Chancellor himself took note of the matter and sent the Report in a brusque manner to the chief merchants in Stettin, whose Board of Directors is also Chairman of the Administrative Board of the Vulkan. This well-intentioned course of action had no effect at all, except perhaps that they make the volcano even more the hands of Li Fong Pao and his accomplices. Otherwise the feen rifts within the Vulkan directorate and an absurd correspondence from the Vulkan to the Aus-Foreign Office, which to my satisfaction, as I later heard, demonstrated that all my complaints were justified.

At the same time, when I was in Tiensin under such miserable Circumstances, another incident occurred which made me Suspicion confirmed that the volcano was hit by the Agreements relating to a simple, purely professional treatment management of the business and joined a Berlin-based into the arms of the c  tierie, of whose activities I had been informed and before whom I immediately began to see the volcano in confidential, letters addressed to the commercial director, under the heading "the personalities, had warned. These people had Li Fong Pao, who was ignorant of the German language, completely into their hands come and mediate this the volcano.

Li yon Pao made it seem as if he was the one which would have to award orders for ironclads and that the

– 53 –

Initiative was in his hands. His secretary and interpreter, which probably does not reflect the existence of the volcano had no idea when an order for the same in Li Fong Pab's hands, was glorified in newspaper articles as a German light, whose patriotism it is thanks to that the German Schiffbaukunst celebrated its first great triumph abroad; the same man who was in Shanghai as an American 1 and as fuch refused to stand up when at a feast on the go– health of the German Emperor was drunk; he was now on once a good German patriot.

How they persuaded the volcano to continue to associate with them to admit more than was necessary, eludes insight, but privately I have the opinion that they either understand the volcano There is now a demand from the authorities in China that Netourcommiffions exist, or they have convinced the volcano taught that they were the ones to award the orders In any case, I know that without valid references in my hands to have that the volcano gives people quite disproportionately large commissions which they divided among themselves.

With this, the healthy future of the business was abandoned and a Taxation of almost all items imported from Germany introduced by this society. From a completely open Cor= response from the volcano with me there was no question. That= In fact, only my first warning letters were answered, while which were later ignored. This would not would have been harmful if they had only been taken into account, but that was not fo. What other transactions the same people have for their served to enrich themselves, but to the detriment of other industries, Your Excellency knows just as well, or perhaps better, than I do.

At the same time, however, a position was taken against the authorities.

taken, which had promoted the things in China and Europe help and whose control they now try to evade as far as possible: were necessary. How I became certain in China that the Berlin court= firing rumors, which were communicated to me and that one also acted behind Li Hung Chang's back, were true, as follows:

One day Li Hung Chang invited me to come to him. He asked me if he could send some officers, engineers and machinists to Stettin; I told him that according to the contract This could undoubtedly be done, if people do not care about the Navigation. "They should not do that, but only with the ship whose leadership they are to take over in China, make known." My ambassador in Berlin (as he put it) telegraphed me that the volcano is causing difficulties because of this; the Man is lying to me; there are actually people behind my dog | limme Things I want to be clear about. What should I do?"

I suggested that I immediately ask Bulkan about it wanted, which Li agreed to. I drafted the despatch and read it to him. The answer took a while, it came in a dubious composure, but left no doubt that the opposition was not had gone out; I sent the original to Li. He was at first brought! "When do you want to return to Beijing?" "Tomorrow!" "You must stay here, I will introduce you to the officers etc., I will call you here. You must send you home, 600 the volcano directly. They should have nothing to do with Li Jong Pao evenings."

= IB

Accordingly, I had to wait in Tientsin, unfortunately longer than expected. was intended, since Li was due to the sudden illness of her mother a trip . had to.

After his return he introduced me to the officers and instructed I was instructed to send them directly to the volcano with a recommendation, whatever happened. Your Excellency, to whom I gave the first captain, Commodore L, were kind enough to Recommendations to the Admiralty and the Foreign Office with= admit that L. should not make the trip alone and act independently of Li Fong Pao, but also probably to get to the bottom of what is going on in Berlin. L. showed me a letter from Li Fong Pao'8, in which he said he would rather not come to Europe because it was comfortable, in addition, the departure on the not for ocean-going vessel= ann certain ships not only arduous, but also dangerous= In short, Li Wang Pao was the mission of L., who 1 had a higher rank than himself, very inconvenient.

Li Fong Pao was now to be recalled and as punishment the Li wanted to take part in the "Ting Pen" himself. But things turned out differently. The ship was not ready in time

German officers and men should find out the same wrestle, but this was made difficult by the French=Chinese opportunities thwarted.

The fact that Li Fong remained in office for a longer period in 1905 also The reason is probably that he is used in these matters Finally, a few years later, the ships came out and Li Fong Pao was demoted, but the society in Berlin put her Continue, although perhaps no longer with such prior knowledge and under the auspices of the Chinese ambassador, as was the case with Li Fong Pao was the case. Ä

The General could not have chosen a less suitable man than L. Governor Li Hung Chang, at least to uncover the machinations in Berlin, could not choose: I found it again later in Europe= He is certainly a good Secmann, but the 5 language not powerful and was in no way comparable to such a cunning Man, like Li Fong Pao with fine helpers, grew. He was simply pushed aside. With great indignation he gave me details about the goings-on at the Auw Embassy, the relations about volcanoes and other industrial, as well as other things, about which I will drop my veil because I find Y vague.

At the end of 1882 I decided to go to Europe. Tired, to continue working under such difficult conditions, and suffering, I hardly thought of ever returning to China. glad, I still had to endure such unbearable conditions at 180 regret that things that were well initiated, despite all precautions, ended up in such paths, whereby the first condition of their In April 1883 I left China. In Arriving in Europe, I dutifully went to the volcano to partly to give an account of my actions in China, partly to demand such for certain things, partly for some more to take care of pending matters.

– 55 –

I first went to see the Chairman of the Board of Directors. He complained to me about the rudeness of Prince Bismarck and also thought that I could have treated her better. I told him, that not only me, but also the German authorities in China, which would have been benevolent and would have put their interests at every were exposed by their sins of omission

I would have had to struggle through. When I arrived at the Berlin Cöterie ausspiel, the good old gentleman said that Li Fong Pao cin good, hard-working ambassador, Mr. K. a dutiful official, while while he became acquainted with the culture of the Chinese embassy and even denied knowledge of his name. Misfortune= By chance, half an hour later, I met another well-known outstanding gentleman from Stettin, who quite unprovoked who asked me whether I knew the person in question. which is very common to see on the volcano. From this I had to conclude that the otherwise honorable Chairman of the Administrative Board council had been guilty of telling an untruth.

I would like to point out here that the Administrative Board is of course not always of all the details that occur in the direction, informed, but that in this case such ignorance is not was to be assumed.

The directors of the Vulkan were quite embarrassed, they complained not only about the inconveniences my report caused them but also about the difficulties of shipbuilding, differences renzen with the company Cammel Broth. in Birmingham, the Dillinger huts etc., and many business details which are not mentioned here. They said that the whole directorate was Report had submitted his dismissal that it was only due to the Requests of the Administrative Council would have remained after they had submitted to the Foreign Office to Ted. Li Fong

As for Pao, they spoke well of him. As for K. x.
The commercial director said that he was not legally obliged fe, to him as confidential, even as Director of the Vulkan, ge=
He asked the Board of Directors to submit the letters Shipbuilding =Director, to corroborate this, which also with one, all= embarrassed "Yes!" happened. ' 3

Both the Chairman of the Board of Directors and the Director tors, had asked me if I would return to China 1
I had replied to both of them that this was the case with my suffering

he "B0

was at least doubtful. The Chairman of the Administrative Board rather had told me that if I continued to work with them wanted to make a collaboration with Li Fong Pao a conditio sine qua would not be.

I did not even mention the question to the directors,
But recommended to them, at least someone with the supervision to entrust their interests, since this was desired: I recommended
Mr. von Hannecken for a temporary replacement, as I did not know whether he could definitely accept such a position, because he was in Chinese service. The gentlemen claimed that to be in direct correspondence with Mr. von Hannecken.

That was the end of the volcano for me, and since then I did not worry about this matter, because I was nothing mattered anymore.

During two years I was so suffering in Europe that I could not have cared much more about China than the events there through Newspapers etc. But gradually the Junfch, the railway project, for which I have long been a hobby:

to resume operations in China.

A good friend from China, who is interested in railways and some other things interested, and to whom I communicated this, advised me to form a syndicate for this purpose; I believed to have to refrain from the experiences I had earlier with German-fchische Industrie. A friendly official said, I would like to meet with the head of a major banking establishment in connection; he had told him that he had the Chinese iron-tracks in my pocket, so to speak. My informant had noticed that this might be a utopia, he would like Anyone who knows something about such things should talk to me about it.
But the Vanquier had claimed that Li Fong Pao had given him this-secures were made; thus, these and similar connections done for me, and I decided to take matters into my own hands I was engaged in technical and other studies, as far as as this seemed suitable for my purposes, and explored in particular carefully the ground in Europe on which I may one day I later learned that in the industrial strip of Westphalia a conto the later German Syndicat, which went to China. Meetings had been arranged, for the purpose of forming a jo-called "rink" and right to squeeze out high prices for rails and other materials. The People had neglected the fact that other countries also had such Things could compete. Such views strengthened me only more in my intention to proceed.

Now came the time of the syndicates. From Germany, America, Missions were made to Belgium and France and mostly with Song and sound staged. The success of such precise I never really believed in the religious missions, but they delayed my departure from Europe. After the storm was over, I went to China. Here I first heard that a large

ä

English company made formidable efforts to complete the whole government business with China. All kinds of people were acquired and special powers for the "scientific treatment of Eoinefen" But at the same time I heard from some initiated People that these forces have not lost their strength over the years. expectations and that the company in question had would like to get rid of expensive and useless tools. Shortly afterwards the notorious Mitkiewicz swindle was staged. Although apparently good, but hardly anyone could doubt that Schwin= del was present. Under these circumstances I came to Peking, where I Your Excellency immediately informed me of my intentions. For the time being was every action and even the conception of a rational mind thank you by . Affair excluded. My by the way The still vague ideas were currently focused on the opening of the coal mines of Shantung, possibly with continuation of the railway to the south. On a trip to Wutaishan during the interim period The idea of using it to search for coal and ore mines in Shansi to expand, and here immediately clarity came into my thoughts. So eutfstand, almost under the eyes of Your Excellency, the well-known ee after the air had cleared again. Li's Position, which initially seemed to be shaken, was just as solid as earlier, and so the projects were more or less based on his Person, which was due to the favorable circumstance that she was in the The main thing is that they are as practical as possible.

A Consideration of the Affairs of the English and French zofen revealed the following: The French have received larger works.

but under such conditions that the execution of the same does not Difficulties arose and the 155 had to often. If help out if the things don't fall completely to the ground who struggled with the work, which was also done with ignorance= uiß the circumstances were started, earn, yes it is little:

The works themselves, however, are not realistic and neither the French
Nor can the Chinese enjoy it.

The English have used the "treatment" of the Chi=

With the new acquired strengths, some business was done, but not once significant and under conditions which for the most part were ruinous; they not only worked at a loss, but also sent a 900 and for years for free this expensive, reprehensible device held.

Both the French and the English have fhowever, in my opinion, the Chinese have a bad reputation Reputation only too well acquired, which gives rise to a justified mistrust of must have consequences. '

If, under these circumstances, I have come to the conclusion that it is not only the best, even the necessary, not so= to apply the so-called "means", but on the contrary to People no reason to suspect and give them all possible guarantees= tien to give them good work, I hope that my

—

outlook, although not in its entirety on good= saying, but one may still claim some attention.
I believe that the business practice "integriter" will bring great success
Why should one suddenly switch to another, which has proven itself so extremely poorly with others and where the first practice is so much more pleasant and safe?
This is a company in which hundreds of Germans fan officials and technicians should be employed, of which integrity is required.

Is it as one has reason to assume, with the great sacrifices which the Americans, French and English made to Chinese have brought a account, yes, the Chinese have these sums simply pocketed and never gave the foreigners any significant acqui=

valent for this, whether with or without forethought, remains to be seen.
but the great scorn with which Li Hung Chang treated the Gons
The way Europeans treat each other in terms of currency only strengthens my the assumption that the action was taken with forethought, especially as regards the Americans are concerned.

My observation of the things leads me to the judgment the situation that all these people have created a field which we can now enter calmly, that is, that they bring their victims to our have brought benefits.

As I said, I consider the only serious competitors to be the English, because of their almost always found business ideas.
After trying it in a different way and being convinced ran, they seem to be returning to a healthy base.
After some of their strengths had been used elsewhere,
The remaining part is also said to be eliminated soon, and we will then face a proper competition, which one must strive to beat through better work. But also The French will, in time, be forced to accept other to pursue ways after they have realized that with pots de vin
There is nothing to be gained from the Chinese.

I am happy to admit that things are different if you it with the distribution of some weapons and the like with small mandarins has to do with the fact that small remedies may help there, but with big things, which necessitate negotiations with the highest authorities, where about radical changes and vital principles for the Chinese Only completely different means are useful. And if you want to get a
To ensure lasting influence among the Chinese, one must thought, not to lose their respect by supplying poor materials and to upset Jonft.

The main thing that I need for the quiet pursuit of my
What I need for my purposes is discretion, in China as well as in Europe.
In China, this obviously depends a lot on the Chinese and you are working on uncertain ground. The idea that this in Europe is just as necessary and perhaps even more necessary, I have only just ftill I arrived, after Your Excellency had informed me that Reports from the embassy sometimes published in the newspapers=

– 59 –

It would like to report on the current project as well go, it would like in some other way to reach the ears of the called cætery. These people would, without having know more, pull out all the stops to get the prey= without worrying about whether the emerging whether the object in question is damaged or not.

Therefore, I ask Your Excellency to please all these... relevant matters, 1 this is possible, 15 to be treated discreetly
and not to report on it until this has already happened
is until the matter is secured. |

Peking, April 22nd I.

Carl Paafch.

Confidential Denlifschrift €
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,

Imperial German Ambassador ʀc. ʀc. ʀc.
in Beijing.

Presented to the same on 25 April IR,

--

Following on from my Memoirs A and B, I would like to
To hand over to Your Excellency as a complement this third edition, which raises the question of participation in, or support of, the German and Chinese governments of the proposed iron ore and framing companies in their possibility, desirability and effectiveness should be treated.

When I arrived in Peking in August last year, I was my aspirations are clear in that I support the Chinese government on the spot the one that I consider most suitable after examination Railway= or Railway= and Verwerks=Project and wanted to present, according to principles as they have in the present
My ideas about state aid were something like this: To avoid cōterices and cliques, which ge:
Usually such ventures are nipped in the bud or later fhak, I would every project, if I had succeeded in creating a such authorized by the Chinese government and for execution to be transferred to our government for have laid down, regardless of whether this project, as today, was carried out with knowled and under the auspices of the German embassy, or otherwise alone, or in connection with any company in China, which I had also thought about. That this former I do not need to emphasize that this was the most sympathetic path, although in many! in view of the more difficult and, if crowned with success, the most at least it was lucrative. ee |

3 =>

Our state government has with the project of nationalization the railways not only pursues the purpose and still pursues it, to expand their powers, but also to charitable institute to escape from the stock market fraud. Even today our government is fighting a battle with cliques of bankers and sometimes industrial, which even our railway minister to purchase rails from England to build a rink Therefore, a real model developed in this sense would Project under all circumstances to find friendly ground: equal; much, how much the authorities would pay for such an undertaking take what he wants and can do.

Now, assuming that the present project would be realized and it was presented to our authorities, so it would be wanted to make exclusive use of state aid, even if only the main route Ping²ting²Chow² Paoutingfu – Tient²fin “ nor the position of hundreds of officials act.

Would the state be able to provide such a solution even if it wanted to?

Perhaps so, but perhaps parliamentary verses actions are necessary and through these the right moment over² be missed at all. While I am convinced that With a good project you always count on the friendly cooperation of the state, one should always consider the possibility of Keep in mind that one may be required to pay a portion to supplement the forces from private services.

That the German state is interested in increasing its influence in China, there has been no agreement about this for many years Doubts, and many signs indicate that in this In this respect, I would like to make some efforts.

A change of government, perhaps less than a change of minister, As we recently almost feared, a change of ideas regarding this point. This too should not be completely lost sight of.

That the cooperation of the German state through the provision of all Officials, because of their urorganization, would be the veste, Without a doubt, the possibility of implementing such an idea has but, in addition to the one just mentioned, there is another questionable aspect, which I will mention this below.

A financial contribution by the German state, perhaps to Utilizing his silver reserves would be a nice idea, but for the time being only one such, because as good as the company

foever it may be, it is still a fpeculative and still and one located far away. It is also at least doubtful whether the Chinese will allow such participation. However,
This matter would still be worth stimulating if the matter were to Maturity has progressed and there is more clarity on some points.
These are mainly the following:

What would the Chinese government do for state aid or state participation of Germany? The thoughts that have been submitted in the meantime

– 61 –

fcriteria aim to allay any fears against poli= to calm Germany's political intentions. Nevertheless, I know from Experience that the Chinese are opposed to interference by foreign states as such and foreign authorities in their internal and commercial affairs opportunities averse; in some cases perhaps not with Us right, although I am convinced that, as far as I know and Germany is considered, the "government of the German authorities more gratitude than she perhaps knows or realizes recognizes, but we are faced with a fact! Recently at a Negotiation with Li was the same with a very slight touch the question is very negative. This is likely to continue be the case in the future.

As far as my person and my project are concerned,
I would be of the opinion that one could expect such communication intentions until the moment when the matter is ready and the Chinese were presented with the ee of the German authorities as nn for good management and execution of the things in Eurova can offer.

What is the involvement of the Chinese government in the
As far as taking is concerned, yes, this would be desired, no matter how small it may be, because it would also contribute to achieving peace in Europe.
to inspire confidence in the undertaking; but not only this, because the dangers that threaten the company in the future are Firstly, war and secondly, great chicanes, which, if only euros European capital would be involved, the Chinese, if they execution progress, could be set in scene under which an artificially induced danger of war cannot be ruled out, it to hinder the company, be it to make the equipment cheap into their hands.

Participation of Chinese private individuals, merchants and
The Shanfi bankers in particular would therefore have the advantage that through them opposition in the country could be eliminated and this would give the company more stability and security.

If I am looking for a concession pure et simple abs

I have seen, this happened because all attempts in this direction for about 20 years due to the reluctance of the Chinese government, 0 to see purely European ventures in the country, have failed, because the Chinese are afraid, especially in the latter 5 experiences such as those in Egypt, Turkey, Serbia and elsewhere.

However, it would be possible to obtain a concession under special circumstances where China is in political embarrassment would be, but one should not count on the achievement of a pure Concession, nor on the security of the existence of a € be= founded company. |

Finally, the functions of the Chinese embassy resp. Legations in Europe and especially those of the Berliners, which until recently was the nucleus of all possible Um= drives was and possibly can be again, the same would every=

23 69: u

as a full control and insight of all invoices and thus their full powers must be granted, but it must be Efforts should be made to prevent the European personnel of the same and its appendix, the course of business in advance to control in order to prevent unauthorized influences and all kinds of harmful to avoid ripotage.
Pelting, April 22nd Irish,

Carl Paafch.

pre-screened path
to establish a German bank in East Asia.

From

Carl Paafch.

Prepared in Peking on April 20 RSS and Her Excellency Herin von Brandt, End of April, beginning of May, pre-gelent.

- - -

The following proposed circular was created as a result of lengthy discussions with Excellencies; von Brandt, concerning the Establishment of an overseas German bank in China and East Asia.

The document was written at the end of April this year and His Excellency presented under the following motivation: A .

When establishing a German bank in China, the first priority is line the existing conditions of German trade, such as its scope, extensibility and existing nature of finance to consider the decoration of the same.

In fact, by far the largest part of the German trade, ie the financing of the same not through banks. but by private» Yangquiers and Germans, m in Germany or Ft resident and still involved in China business, worried.

People invest the capital acquired in China trade gladly participate in such transactions because they support German trade with Know China well and have a proper knowledge of goods and people= niß. Larger vankinfittutes, however, and large construction companies are little involved in the financing of German-China trade. This is because this type of business is too little Nuben offers and on the other hand such buildings or bankers ol have the necessary knowledge of the goods: in addition, in German= country the large established banking institutions better account in the Exploitation of European conditions. If such banks were to China, they would be in the legitimate trade find little support, as it is supported by owners and former shareholders of German companies or their friends

=. 6

There are few stock exchanges and exchanges in China in the same sense as in Europe, and would therefore be for Vörfen banks China is a little bit of a field. On the current and future major government deals, also not recommendable, as they are always problematic find and for larger objects, such as railways, their seek their own financial path. What weapons and similar businesses suffices, their financing to China is also not an attractive Business for Vanken, since the financial objects concerned always have only one have imaginary value, namely for the customer, while the fifth do not offer any security for the banks. The chi made so far: Nefian bonds and those which are expected in the next years, also offer opportunities for larger banks no bright prospects. While it is therefore hardly desirable fine, formidable financial powers in China as a German bank to be seen established, because they have no sphere of influence here, but would rather find disappointment, yes it would be gratifying to see if a German bank, which represents the legitimate commercial and shipping interests, would arise in China. In order to bring it into being and make it effective, one would have to, as in the enclosed circular, directly to the interested parties, which of the Schreiber's view also has some justification for asking for advice to be asked about matters that concern them so closely.

Would it be possible to create an association of all interested parties and in this way create a bank out of the needs found, their prosperity and well-being would be secured.

This would, in addition to its actual purpose, of legitimate trade and shipping also with bonds, so such as speculation and stock market transactions, if such present, although experience shows that the Hong Kong and Shanghai Vanling Corporation, an institute which was founded to meet the needs of the trade and shipping traffic, and which one German bank should often serve as a model, always gloomy and made where they were involved in speculation and stock market games has grasped.

A German bank would have to, just like the Hong Kong-Shanghai and other European banks established here in China, their roots have in the trade; there is no question that the first years of the existence of a German bank hard, persistent work and some fighting would cost, especially since the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, although registered in England and a predominantly English institute, but is nevertheless a local bank in China and international character, which is also evident from the fact that whose presidents and directors are often Germans and always two Germans are represented in the Directory: but it is certain that a German bank will be able to exist. and that with time, with growing trade and traffic and a further opening of China their powers can grow.

Finally, as regards the proposed path, it seems that a popular one too fine, and one should buy it at the German Kaufpeople, if one takes their wishes and interests into account draws, perhaps also count on some patriotism, which the formation of the desired bank could be beneficial.

2 WE Ze

Proposed Circular

to all trading companies in China, Japan and East Asia, which German trade, in order to determine the manner and time in which best one that serves the interests of German trade and German shipping serving and beneficial German commercial bank was founded in East Asia and China.

Your Honor, I request your kind expression of opinion in the following matter:

Following the establishment of subsidized steamers in Germany= lines to East Asia and Australia is my idea of Establishment of an overseas German bank to facilitate change and expansion of German trade and German Shipping, initially with regard to the existing in East Asia German interests, stimulated. A kind of sympathetic sound and the prospect of promoting this idea among our domestic highest authorities, the realization the same at the existing large German banking institutions encountered hostility and difficulties.

. In order to get a clear picture of the overall situation and the to provide many Juteresen affected by such a question, I would like to ask the following questions:

1) Would the establishment of a German commercial bank in East Asia, with headquarters in Germany, in the interest of German Dan dels, the German shipping, more direct relations with 1 a country and independence from the country in general desired and e fein?

2) Would the establishment of such an institute long-standing, legitimate domestic and foreign interests be seriously endangered?

3) If N were to incur such risks by involving those Interested parties in Europe who are currently financing of German trade through advances, credits etc. How can we get rid of it?

) If German trade in East Asia alone were to cause offer to create such an establishment?

5) What expansion would such an establishment give fine if the German trade and shipping=inter= food in East Asia alone will not prove sufficient, to realize such a project?

6) Would it be possible for 1 iin to serve as technical director of such a Infittutes to choose only such people who are trained bankers and familiar with the trans-sefec trade, under Aus= fchuß iat people who are currently still trading in China= or have shipping interests?

I ask Your Excellency to discuss these questions in conjunction with the other heads of German trading houses and foreign companies, which conduct German trade and German shipping, and always keep in mind that not only German trade and German shipping in East Asia is constantly expanding and will continue to expand, but that German shipping in particular and possibly the subsidized postal shipping an extension beyond the Pacific Ocean to America etc.

I ask Your Excellency to please tell me the result of your total consultation in protocol form by Mr. Consul kindly as quickly as possible and at the same time raise this issue in Europe with To encourage your constituent or business friends and to Obtaining their views on this issue and communicating them make.

I remain with the request that these questions be answered as soon as possible to treat it privately and to remove it from public discussion.

Your Excellency ㄣ. ㄣ. ㄣ. .
(signed) The Imperial Envoy.

—

I am attaching two articles, one from the Shanghai "Oftasiatische Lloyd", the other from the "London Times".

The first article refers to a book published in Shanghai appeared and describes the fortunes of a great speculator. On a sentence taken from this search, the newspaper the necessity or desirability of a German-Chinese bank to justify

The second article, which deals with the same period as the book published in Shanghai and written by an uninterested writer shows sufficiently that fan speculation in China is an exception and that banks that have their seeking existence in the stock market and speculation, in China are unlikely to find a particularly fertile field.

Oftasial Lloyd.
Shanghai, August 20, 1888.

The German-Chinese Bank.

The one that arrived with the Reichspost steamer "Bayern" on 11 August
German newspapers received contain further promising Signs of life from the German Bank. According to the "Frkf. Ztg."
A commission has been elected to draw up statutes for the German Chinese bank and the a. of a soon to be held
The report should be presented to the meeting of the parties involved. Already on Last Thursday, our newspaper contained a related

tiz:

"Regarding the establishment of an all-embracing bank, the "Deutf 9 . that in recent 1 life in the IL Dementia. p. 6

.

= 6

matter has come and that at the instigation and under the chairmanship of the President of the Reichsbank, Mr. von Dechend, the negotiations have been resumed in a way that allows Security can expect, these will be the target in the shortest possible time
, that is, to justify the projected jufftitut. The quoted Matt rightly notes: The energetic resumption of the
"It is precisely in the present moment that a meaningful Symptom of the fact that the German business world is
"I can confidently pursue far-sighted undertakings."

So we can now make another satisfying cut:
development of the project of this company with opposing fee, and if we receive private communications Believe it or not, the 1st of January of the coming year the inauguration of the East Asian main institution of the German Chinese Bank in Shanghai. There can be no doubt about it insist that East Asian business life has enough room for even more other large banks than the existing ones are available. In the recently published book by Mr. Thirkell: "Some Queer Stories of Benjamin David Benjamin and NMessrs. ED Suss 001, & Co.", which sheds a very interesting light on the East Asian Vankand commercial relationships, we find among many.
whose interests also include a letter dated 17 October 1883
the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to the above Benjamin, which reads: "Nobody now has a very large amount of money from us which rather prevents me from assisting many of our constituents etc." It follows that the largest local bank through the requirements of a single, albeit large:
like speculators in their manipulations other requirements has actually got into difficulties. The commercial cial relations of all nations would thus be improved by the establishment a German-Thinefian bank. f

—— — mn

Sypecial correspondence from the "Times" above
the streets of shops in Hongliong
from Archibald Colanbenn ꝛ. ic.

Varfeille, October 4, 1888.

The collapse of Hong Kong's trade about a year, and from which the place has recovered fiffe, was by no means caused by the recent events in Tonkin,
but brought about by completely different causes.

The Greigniffe were as follows: About 18 months ago, suddenly a land speculation arose, which according to very reliable sources

=. 367

judge, through the careless advice of a W Englishman, in whom the Chinese had much confidence, strongly encouraged, but by no means, as is generally assumed, 1. The Auf=
The attention of the Chinese was drawn to the high prices which was realized in the city of London for land and property, and it
It was insinuated that there was actually no cause, which similar prices could not be realized in Hong Kong. The cautious John Chinamann really lost his head and surrendered
the gambling devil, of which there is a good bit in every Chinese person.
The artificial excitement lasted about six months, during which Time the price of land from 7 to 12 dollars per square foot in the city's business district. The bubble burst and Of the 4% of Chinese banks, only 5 remained solvent. The refusal was that the Chinese bankers wished they were with their legitimate business remained, namely giving advances to native Merchants for purchasing products and other such Trans= actions that were safe and brought in money, and they [io
Now they can make serious accusations that they are only too willing to listen to voice of the seducer. If the gentleman in question
If I were here now, he would be in a bad state, because Chinese people do not bear losses with amiability, but
least of all, if he acted on "uninterested" advice
The judgment which the Chinese now have about their friendly

e fall, is: "he is a bad man, he does not speak the "Lahrheit".

The English banks, which saw the unhealthiness of speculative advances to which the Chinese bankers agreed demanded their loans back and the rest of the capital –
which was mainly from Canton, from withdrawn mandarins
and merchants – was withdrawn when the fiasco fits beginning. Although trust has not yet fully returned deen, trade is nevertheless moving again on a healthier basis.

- - - ... -

Dear Mr. Paafschl

Enclosed are the newspapers that arrived here yesterday. The young Buchheifter, who also arrived here in 25, wants to go straight to the Mountains, and I have already sent to Achiaoffe to give him a temple for rent.

Expect corned beef and whiskey from Ritter, of which I received two boxes instead of the expected books and medals?

Attached is the salmon loin.
Hope you are doing well. Best regards
Yours sincerely,
from !
Peking, Tuesday, May 8, 1888, and sn

8

60

– 68

Peking, June 6, 1888.
Dear Mr. Paafch!

Since I have just decided to meet with the Lords of Brixen and Auer after the Ming tombs 3c. au chen and not calculate can, how many days this tour will take in! nfprud, yes he=
I confess that the second one intended for Li Hung Chang Memorial) with the request to send you from the same every to make use of it as you please. .. would give you the Me= morial personally, but hear that you are today at the Tiffin invited to H. Pander find.

With best wishes and greetings

Yours sincerely

vd Goltz.

1) This was the Chinese translation of Memorandum No. 2, the delivery man ce 7. May 1888, Bl Be IS ee

foreword

to the with Mr. von Brandt of Tientfin and Helsbama ans officiel and privatim cultivated Cecrefpendtaz, concerning railway = and mining matters and appropriation of some of Heiner's collections for scientific purposes.

These correspondences with Mr. von Brandt were conducted,
to expose him through diplomatic means, to unmask him.

Since I have always been on friendly terms with Mr. von Brandt confessed, yes, it had never occurred to me before to deal with the same to measure or examine this area, especially since I I had to consider him my friend and a decent person, even did not know that he was Jewish.

But after I had come to another realization, could it with the knowledge of his person, his weaknesses, and talmu= dfe racial differences are not at all difficult to replace it with a strict factual and truthful correspondence, using patience and use of time and circumstances to untruths, denials and Inconsequences, because above all a Semite can see the truth= cannot tolerate fear; if this is presented to him, he is almost always lost.

I have had to decide to take steps that I find unpleasant, Since Mr. von Brandt had kept me interned in Peking, and I was not given other means remained to obtain some evidence from him himself for me and against him.

The whining, absurd, apparently heartfelt private letters of Mr. von Brandt, which, in addition to the official decrees, contains a whole web of untruths and contradictions, enter the whole hurried light and show the purely femific character of this Lord, when The infamien committed in Peking are known. While Mr.
von Brandt in Peking presented me to the outside world with the greatest benevolence and treated as his most intimate friend and the present=

When he writes the Gleißnerian letters to Tientsin, he simultaneously does Europe is doing everything it can to make me feel bad, to pull the rug out from under me to pull me away from my feet and make me impossible.

What Jewish depravity!

Little by little I lured Mr. von Brandt into the trap in order to to finally hold all his misdeeds against him, after he has not can refute. –

Copies of the letters went to Berlin, as can be seen from my addressed to the Chancellor. The results of the Cor= response was greater than I could have expected.'

– 70 –

I will list them and briefly summarize the correspondence analyze.

(It must be noted here that the expedition of the customs post from Tientsin to Peking shortly after noon. The rider takes about 16 hours and only rarely – in very bad weather – 24 hours.

Usually, letters sent from Tientsin on one day Beijing would answer the question the very next day.

My letters to von Vrandt are all through the German Con: fulate in Tientfin registered before the postal closure and sent to the more important There is also the postal receipt for the timely posting of the letter against= signed. – The postal receipts are all still in my belt.)

Report No. 5 to the Embassy of 23 June 1888. Request to Mr. von Brandt, to protect my projects deposited with him and to send my reports to the Reich Chancellor.

Decree of the Embassy of June 28, 1888.

On the 27th of Inni, Mr. von Brandt showed me privately the Receipt of my letters dated the 21st, 23rd and 25th of this month.

In this decree he claims that the letter of 23rd was only 27th arrived in Peking.

Mr. von Brandt claims, contrary to the truth, that I I only wanted three pieces to be sent to Berlin. N of the embassy on June 28. He further claims that stance that the Chinese authorities were not informed of this It is known that my plans were presented to the embassy c.

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt dated June 28, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt makes incoherent quotations from my letters to give me other views against my better judgment
He claims in contradiction with the decree on 28 June, three reports from Pountingfu to Berlin:
to have sent.

Report No. 9 to the Legation in Peking, July 5, 1888.

Inquiry about the whereabouts of the copies of the Chinese translations
the think tanks (which remained unanswered) ben is).

Report No. 10 to the Embassy of July 10, 1888.

Pressuring for a response to my report.

Report ac 7 115 the State of 30th Inni 1888. (Delegated on the 14th

Mr. von Brandt claims that he received this report only on 21 July
I will accuse Mr. von Brandt of untruths,
Duplicities ac. before. |

Report No. 11 to the Embassy of July 14, 1888.

Further pressure to answer my letters.

Decree of the Legation of July 14, 1888.

von Brandt does not want to know how to create intellectual property can protect.

= A 2

Reports No. 12 and 13 to the Embassy of 16/17 July 1888.

Write to Mr. von Brandt about how to protect intellectual property.

Report No. 14 to the Legation in Peking, July 21, 1888.
Urging for a positive response and for instructions for Nonful Feindel, who claims to be under orders of the embassy.
Decree of the Embassy of July 21, 1888.
Mr. von Brandt makes all sorts of empty excuses.
Private letter from Herru von Braudt dated July 21, 1088.

Mr. von Brandt makes great assurances of friendship and claims thanks for nursing services.

Decree of the Embassy of July 24, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt claims the opposite of Consul Zeindel

and claims that he has no influence on consuls.
Report No. 15 to the Embassy of July 28, 1888.
I reserve all rights by giving him untidy business operations and duplications.
Report No. 17 to the Embassy of August 11, 1888.
Please forgive Mr. von Brandt for suing me in Berlin.
Report No. 16 to the Embassy of August 9, 1888.

I accuse Mr. von Brandt of all his sins and can state that the Viceroy Li Hung Chang himself met me on his bad character. I develop the whole system of business operations, as it happened later has been objectively demonstrated.

I write to him in advance what intrigues I expect from him in Europe expects, just as it will later in Europe proved to be correct.

Report No. 18 to the Audit Office of August 29, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt exposed.

Embarrassing requests!

reasons for his actions were clarified.

Report No. 19 to the Embassy of October 18, 1888.

Please tell me what Mr. von Brandt has done with the taken collections. (The list of things finds the Appendix.) From the Royal Arts and Crafts Museum
I later received the message that the embroidery patterns in my Names were given. The snails, fish etc. have been given by Mr.
Brandt in Tientsin with the note that they had no
have value. Of the other things it is said – nothing!

Mr. von Brandt has not been able to fulfill any of the to refute the facts alleged to me. He tried to refute them by To avoid silence. The result of the correspondence is, however, that I him date falsifications and untruths, as well as inducement of officials to breach of official secrecy and the like.

Tientsin and Nokohama.

3

70075. Report Dr. 5
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

-

Tientsin, June 23, 188.

Your Excellency, I humbly allow myself to inform you that I have not yet succeeded in obtaining an audience with the General-
Governor Li Hung Chang because he was ill.

The purpose of my writing today is that, as a result of my Since oral communication is not possible here, my Ownership rights to the projects I have developed and the to confirm the new ideas contained therein through these lines and to preserve.

In my private report to Your Excellency, dated Paouting-fu, February 4, 1888, I presented on pages 19, 20 Your Excellency the material prepared by me is available for discretionary use for later other endeavors in this direction, if my efforts with Li Hung Chang are unsuccessful
glides finely fshould ɹc. ɹc.

I hereby humbly inform Your Excellency that I
I reserve the right to inform you when I have received this
I consider my efforts as not crowned with final success.
Until then, I will continue my efforts in the spirit of the various Memoranda and reports to the Imperial Embassy itself fet, be it in China, be it in Europe. The ft of his time by Baron Ketteler suggested the idea of selling my projects, either to Li Hung Chang or other Chinese, or to Europeans, German or about nationality, I am not very inclined to speak out= nor have I received any such offers since then,
and I have not made any effort to obtain such.
If such offers reach the Imperial Embassy or should become known there, I ask you most respectfully, so that I event. as the owner of the projects himself can negotiate about it, for proper RR ung, since it is not my wish, to leave this to others and I would also like, above all, to take the national German 5 penetrates all these projects, to the best of its ability want to preserve.

2 Your Excellency, I most respectfully request that Leverage the pages 1–69 to His Serene Highness the
To be communicated to the Reich Chancellor, Prince von Bismarck, for information.
The concerns raised at the time about indiscretions in the u ME

Foreign Office, or Ministry of Railways, I am happy to on my own shoulders. It seems to me that it is only desirable for His Serene Highness the Lord can, from the outset, the stages of development of such a large company in case of a u, while at the same time these documents as proof of my performance capability=
I would already send the documents to the local authorities themselves, if not for the known events of May 8 in Beijing would have stood in the way.

At the moment I am unable to
to make the copies myself, and therefore I ask Your Excellency, to kindly grant my wish.

Da Memorandum No. 2 to Governor General Li Hung Chang from March of this year the specifically national and peculiar ideas concerning land acquisition and gratifications, I emphasize that it has not yet been delivered to the addressee by me and I expect significant success from this document as

as from my memorandum concerning railways in Transcaspia, which was also intended for Li Hung Chang and of which I

I do not know what happened to Your Excellency, who gave him a copy.

Should Your Excellency already have the same for the corroboration of my fentations to Li Hung Chang, I will refrain from doing so= see, to handle the same again.

f Br the humble request for kind information on this matter,

I stay

f Your Excellency most humble

Carl Paafch.

– at nn

76/77. Report Dr. 6
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Tientsin, June 26, 1838.

The wish which I have already expressed to Your Excellency in my report of 23 June and which I quoted in a private letter yesterday explained in more detail, namely the sending of all to you, respectively. documents addressed to the Embassy concerning railway and mining factory company, I allow myself to repeat officially today. I therefore request you to send me the originals of all my Bee a document, including the private report to you and the railway ticket, His Serene Highness the Reich Chancellor and to present it to Prince Bismarck for your kind attention and with the humble request that the same not to propagate it any further for the time being. . g I request a copy of the documents in Peking That the approval for the construction of the Zientfia railway line—

Tungchow by Imperial Decree, I see from the Chinese Times. It is strange that the Governor-General Li Bun Chang in view of the interest he has shown in my projects, including the Tientfin – Tungchow railway eheard, I had not been informed earlier of the expected approval I would like to inform Your Excellency I would be grateful if you could give me some information about the the relevant decision could be made.

I remain Your Excellency most obedient
Carl Paafch.

Peking, June 27, 1858.
Dear Mr. Paafch,

My best thanks for your three kind letters of 21.
23rd and 25th of the month

The money to Child had not yet been paid and I I have therefore undertaken to do it; he is less to blame, than it might seem, because at Child's there has been a Time the scarlet fever, and I myself will only attest to your guilt can wear after the quarantine has been lifted. The Payment to Richard shall be made as soon as he reports it, which has not happened so far.

With the letter of introduction to the Governor General=
new, of which you remind me, must be a misunderstanding present; you have not requested such a thing and need
It is not. What you wanted was just a letter with to whom you submit your second memorandum and at the same time request a
They told me in their last moments= view that you would prefer to review the memorandum in person
If you have translated anything into Chinese a jo Dr. Schrameier will certainly be very willing, to do this.

Your wish regarding the previously stored
I have fulfilled the papers and with the exception of the three pieces, which you wished to be sent to Berlin, all to Tienzin promotes where they are handed over to you; but I now also ask
I would like to express my wish that you, for your part, Embassy and I personally no further information about your plans, views and intentions. What I learn from your Projects are irrelevant to their success, the development
The decision about them lies with the Chinese and it comes from So it is only a matter of convincing them. But I cannot fit to expose me or my officials to your suspicion, as 3 we commit any abuse of your projects

nnten.

If you have any questions about the official . of the Embassy in any a specific case, it will be gladly and as far as possible; but I ask, as I said,

I will not get involved in your projects, successes or failures in the future=
It will be a relief for you and rise above my inconvenience, speak out about the matter to have to.

I am all the more pleased that your arm is doing well, as I were afraid that by removing the Ban= too early,
which may have delayed healing.

There is no rush with the chair: it will always Find someone to bring him up. I would add that Do not keep copies of your documents at the embassy have been and I do not wish to have any.

We have an unforgettable experience and are longing for
But even the Emperor cannot ask for it for us united.

Mr. Emans is, after successfully passing his exams, available for re-position of his Icab attacked RA after the temple gone; we are now reduced to five first-class inmates.

With the request to send my best regards to Mr. Mordhorst want, and all the best wishes . e

Yours sincerely,

M. v. Brandt.

Mr. Carl Paafch, Your Honor,
Tientsin
Peking, June 28, 188.

Your Excellency, in the letter dated 27th of this month, the letter dated 23rd of this month expressed the wish that the information you previously communicated to the Imperial Embassy His Serene Highness's documents would be presented to the Reich Chancellor. This wish is met with reference to the first, the Memorandum handed over to General Governor Li Hung Chang and the two letters addressed to the embassy of 2 and 3 February of this year.") I would like on this occasion I would also like to state that I have previously communication, not out of fear of indiscretions in foreign affairs Office or in the Railway Ministry, but only I have pointed out that, given the great value which You insisted on the absolute secrecy of your plans, another a or discussion of the same easily to the one you feared that the same could become known. The other pieces communicated to the Imperial Embassy,

2 – un rn

1) The report of the 28th of March is, according to the certified postal service, üb N M. auföee n and thus 9 a d. K. our ae 8 u Beijing he .

being.

) See Frivaldbrief dated 29 June 1888.

ie Memoranda 2 and 3, for their transmission to the Reich Chancellor on behalf of the Embassy, since they have received the Chinese authorities have not yet been informed, no event
If there appears to be a problem, the Imperial Consulate in Tientsin, as well as the two further letters addressed to me about the Great Wall and Lößmännchen 2c. .

In a position to be able to decide on any offers from the Chinese Authorities for purchasing your documents,
The Imperial Embassy could hardly come, since the Chinese hear nothing is known about your plans to the Embassy
From my side, it is rather your well-being boren towards the necessity of Were been removed, any connection with the "before the Chinese secret in order to avoid any suspicion of against the political implications of your projects- zubengen.!)

It should be possible if Your Excellency in the future of your projects of the embassy only insofar as division than you support the same for a completely require a specific purpose.

The Imperial Envoy
M. von Brandt.

Peking, June 29, 1888,
Dear Mr. Paafch,

I am unable to answer your request for a Edicts concerning the railway from Tientsin to Tungchow words, since I know nothing about the matter: You may be in Tientfin will probably learn about the matter much sooner, since there is the means: point for all railway questions.

But what you write further about the matter does not please me clear. They could never have been in doubt about it, just as Nes yes Someone else could have been that the extension of the Railway from Tientsin to Peking will be transferred to the company which built the Taku-Tientfin railway, since only this In this way a good result can be achieved.

And what obligation would Li. have to give you any information to ask this question; he had asked you according to your own beliefs which you only need to read through again, any

1) Deep assertion collapses not only because I have long had lived with the ambassador, which was known to the Chinese that Mr. von der Goltz had travelled with me to Paouling – fu, where he had acted as interpreter, but also because the Viceroy knew that Mr. von der Goltz had prepared the translation of Memorandum No. 1. In addition, Mr. von Brandt had promised shortly before that Derr von der Goltz would come with me to Tientfin should go. See my report No. 7, dated Tientfin, June 50, 1888.

Un, ,
made? Did he not propose to do so from the outset,
a

Their project for China was too costly and unfeasible and that he in no case grants strangers a share in similar undertakings fefts, even as shareholders? They want,
How often I have advised you to use your projects in a way modify them to make their acceptance by the Chinese possible would; you have always refused, and after all, you are the one who alone decides on the form and content of your own Projects to decide, but then you also have to follow the en this duckling. Finally, look at the things as they lie in the valley, and not as you see them lying now

In your private letter of February 3rd you wrote to me:
“How little under the prevailing circumstances on all the provisions and promises are to be made, Your Excellency knows better than I do”...

“That is why I look forward to future negotiations in Tientfin not without any hope.”

In your other letter of 3 February you say, “the entry
The outcome of this one-hour-long hearing was not as favorable as that of yesterday, but as soon as he showed clear willingness, to enter into the project, even to engage Europeans, but which reserved the supreme control of all things, including technical ones,
I am convinced that it will be difficult to defeat Li Hung Chang.
to understand that in order to put such undertakings into action to fet, he will be compelled to grant certain powers to foreigners transmitted" ..

“Without looking at the situation in a rosy light, I think not impossible that a company like that struck, or another on a similar basis...

u bring about.” That was your very correct and
A thorough understanding of the situation then and now?

My dearest Mr. Paafch, you know how much you mean to me heart and how with all my heart I wish you all

Good luck and every success, but on the chosen path
they come to nothing. The conditions are not favorable now:
Give Li the second memorandum orally or in writing and what You have otherwise intended for him and if, as expected, he again declared that the project 10 9905 is not executable
I or must be completely reworked, jo chase him that he I should consider the matter: that you are six months after go to Europe and study the relevant conditions there more closely and then come back to be at his disposal again
u ft that you expected him to Your place at any event of the project in one way or another, and that you, for your part, 55 f would be willing to provide him with your services to present.

It is a true blessing that I give you, which you but, I fear, will not follow.

But let us then discuss the question of your projects between ir u se

Don't touch us anymore, just go your way.
You know that I will not interfere in the same
You, but I will, if you do not take the position who want to establish the facts, can't help much either. N

With the unjustified mistrust that you show towards everyone opposite, I kindly ask you to please write to me in r ant to make any announcement of your steps, I wish very to stay outside your plans and projects so that you can
You can come to me with complete confidence if you that my assessment of the situation is the correct one was. Do not forget that if I, as a private citizen, were your Miss I trust that I can excuse and overlook this. As an official, I cannot possible and I ask you very urgently not to put me in the unpleasant situation to tell you what I have to say to you today in in the most friendly way possible, to repeat in official form
Your first memorandum and your three letters about the Discussion in Paouting-fu go to Berlin today, I
I have written about it in the way you requested.
I have not kept copies of the documents here; we find now too weak in manpower to carry out such a
To be able to carry out the work. If you later wish that the things stay on the one, you can send me the same still keep coming back to it.

With best wishes and greetings and in memory
to our old friendship

Your faithful and sincerely devoted

M. von Brandt.

CE m --

78th Report Ur. 8
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

—

Tientsin, July 1, 1888.

Your Excellency, I respectfully accept your the decree of 28th of March; a response to it was already yesterday before receiving your friendly 4 e-mails from 29 June and will be sent to you after its completion and elaboration.

Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafch.

) See the Legation's decree of June 28, 1888.

ei Ag le

79/81. Beridt Mr. 9
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Cientfin, July 5, 1888.

Your Excellency, I take the liberty, subject to the sending of the announced report No. 7, which Dr. Schrameier kindly is about to be issued, and with regard to a remark in your private letter of 29 June, concerning the much-discussed Papers which I had handed over to the al, "if you later still wish that the things still 90 of the fandtschaft remain, you can still always send it to you", humbly requesting that the content these papers, which you unfortunately, contrary to my wishes, without
To keep a copy there, received from the embassy, and the priority of my projects and business ideas your protection

Your Excellency knows what value I attach to these works, as they represent a significant cash capital for me and prioritize practical and intellectual work.

The only purpose of my coming to China was to Completion of this laborious work and its content is Yours. Excellency knows only too well. During the period from 9 August until December 9th of this year, where I, with the exception of the time which I your Excellency's kind hospitality during my trip and during the time I spent in the Buddhist temple Kuang Shang Tize lived and where traffic, if I was not on the Embassy was, through daily dispatch of the Embassy couriers was maintained, my projects constantly formed the counterpoint of lively discussions, and thus the content will also It is still clear when the papers are temporarily neither the original nor a copy are in your possession.

As far as I know, you only have the Chinese translations editions of the memoranda, of which a copy is in order should be prepared accordingly for the Legation Archives.

As you know, I am currently in hospital with a broken Arm and not able to produce the copies myself, but will do so as soon as I am able to, and submit the archive again. By asking you again for the protection of the Project, I remain

Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafsch.

82nd Report No. 10
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Tientsin, July 10, 1888.

I took the liberty of writing to Your Excellency a letter on the 5th of this month to write, in which I ask for the protection and help of the embassy for a specific purpose. I would be very happy:
1900 if you send me an answer wanted.

I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafsch.

His Excellency Mr. von Maybach,

Minister of Public Works &c.
Verlin.
Tientlin, July 10, 1.

When I had the honour of being invited by Your Excellency in to be received in audience as a representative of the company
A. Vorfig, please allow me to turn to you if my Efforts in China to introduce German railways should be accompanied by any prospect of success.

Today I take the liberty of using the permission granted to me by Z.
I would like to ask you to please read the enclosed letter together with a package of documents from His Serene Highness Prince Bismarck, Reich Chancellor and Minister of Trade, kindly wish to deliver.

The letter as well as the documents contain important information, concerning railway and mining enterprises in China, and I would be very pleased if these documents were made available to His personal knowledge.
Major m.

with the humble request that Your Excellency grant my wish willingly and give me a confirmation of receipt of this Files to Minden in W. by address to the Privy Councillor
a. D. Paafch, I remain

Your Excellency most obediently
| ' Carl Paafch.
ns Jar 1 12 3 Wag N Poor unfortunately lost

indert, .
M. at 110. un ner deficient W

se. BE

His Serene Highness Prince von Bismarck,
Reich Chancellor and Minister of Trade &c. &c.

Verlin.
Tientsin, July 10, 1888.

Your Serene Highness brought a few years ago one of your most zealous parliamentary opponent, Excellency Windthorst, praised the BER:
"With the knowledge of our Chancellor, no German subject
a hair can be harmed." f

In this confidence I allow myself today to address Your laucht and ask for protection for the priority at the following business ideas and projects developed by me for Railway and mining companies in China.

Your Serene Highness, I would like to present a number of documents for your consideration. The same include part of a secret archive, which was kept by His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt, Imperial German Ambassador in Peking, was created.

According to the enclosed copy of a decree of His Excellency,
the same already three documents, namely one written by me.
document No. 1 to the Chinese government, as well as two reports von Paouting –u Your Serene Highness in the original, without abfection to keep in Peking, according to a private letter also another so-called private report from February 3– bruar d. J. from Paouting=fu.

The latter private report, like the rest of the documents, which the secret archive, is partly in the original, partly in copy and also copies of a correspondence, which I meanwhile with His Excellency Mr. von Brandt.

I humbly request Your Serene Highness to take the trouble to Do not be put off from examining the contents of these documents.
In addition to some remarkable features, they contain a long-standing experience and practice-based view of local conditions and in particular the Memorandum B a Genesis of the Great Government= business with China, in which the person of the writer is not played an insignificant role. The content of this document= pieces, as is particularly evident from Dentschrit C, in a certain sense our state. f

If I ask for the protection of the juūt of these ee and so that the priority of my projects please, so goes this, because,
As can be seen from the content of the correspondence, some reason is present, it can be assumed that with the Chinese government Irregularities may have occurred in the writings addressed.

I am so very sorry that I sending of my documents and my step in this matter in general as a plaintiff against my 5d of the friend

von Brandt must appear: meanwhile, I hope that the content of orrespondences not only my Sandlungsweije, but also the U. Detumente. . 6

drift away

bie bie Ueber=

– 82 –

suspicion that my projects are something other than:
proper procedure has been followed.

His Excellency Mr. von Brandt, with whom I have been August v. J. mostly lived as a guest and under his eyes i had completed my work, asked me in February of this year whether he the reports I have submitted for the information of Your Serene Highness which I even wished for; later I heard that this is not possible due to certain concerns: now. These concerns, which seemed unfounded to me, made me express the intention my projects on a personal basis His Excellency 8 von Maybach.
must be read and brought to the attention of Your Serene Highness
u let's go.

& This led to events on May 8th of this year on the German Embassy in Peking, which I hope to have the honour of welcoming.
Your Highness to be able to report personally later. The wish on the one hand, my long-time friend Mr. von Brandt, to come closer than is absolutely necessary and cause public annoyance to avoid, as well as the incapacity caused by a broken arm possibility of writing myself, impose silence on me here.

By submitting my documents once again to the examination and I commend the content of my projects to the mighty protection of Your Serene Highness,
I remain with the respectful wish to welcome you
M = kin per Adrefte Mr. Privy Councilor a. D. Paafsch to be confirmed in Minden i. W.

Your Serene Highness's most humble servant

Carl Paafch.

Life of the following documents.

9 Reports to the Imperial German Embassy in Pekin
(1 Pelvatberich to Excellency of en Ver te 1.10 Laut
By decree of 28 June of this year, Excellency von Brandt sent Report No. 1 and 2, pages 1–11, to His Serene Highness the Lord Reichstane Prince of Vébissard and according to a private letter dated 29 June also the private report, pages 12–19, all in the original, without paragraph to keep the writings in Beijing.

2 Memoranda to the Imperial Chinese Government: No. 2, Pages 48–62 and No. 3, pages 63–68 (Memorandum No. J, pages 20–45, is, according to His Excellency von Brandt, also in the original,

and without keeping a copy in Peking, to Berlin 84 "Memorandums A, B, C to the Imperial German found in Beijing. |

16 15 concerning the establishment of a German trade.
bank in China * Asia. |

1 Decree of the Imperial Legation in Peking of Unnotice: The samples of the writings find with the same page numbers en, wire in original nad) S enters Fa. |

– 83 –

83/106. Report No. 7

to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Your Excellency, I most respectfully grant you the right to receive your kind decree of 28 June, in which you the receipt of my humble letter of 23rd, not but that of my humble letter of the 26th, which I sent through kind mediation (according to the enclosed postal confirmation) of the local |

Consulate sent to you in a timely manner, yes, that the same in the usual course of events already in your possession on the 27th
The wish expressed in the latter letter,
the entire Paaſch Secret Archive of the Imperial Embassy of St.

His Highness the Chancellor and Minister of Commerce Prince of Send to Bismarck in the original 1, withholding Ab= writings, has now become impossible because they

the Memoranda to the Imperial Sinti Government No. 2, pages AR-62 and No. 3, pages 63 –68, with the assurance, that you have not retained any copies there, and with the
The motivation is that, since they have not yet been reported to the Chinese authorities, have been communicated, no reason for sending to Verlin seems to be present.

Here I would like to point out that I am referring to Invitation of the General Governor Li 1 to the same to hand over documents so that they are available to all human According to our opinion, this should have been done before the transcript the documents may have arrived in Berlin. At the same time send She returned to me two documents of scientific content, one about the big wall, the other about Lößmännchen, Schnedlen ꝛc. This I had handed over the latter documents to Your Excellency for your consideration

biguns and transmission to the relevant people of science,

amit these 1 like the collections of snails, loess men.

fishing, embroidery patterns would benefit the general knowledge,

Your Excellency was kind enough to

I have promised to take care of you and have responded to any further communication

I have renounced this. Which is why these pieces of writing now, after a long time,

Time 19 05 will be sent, is not entirely clear to me. |

However, the return of the De notice that no copies are held back, so I can

Your Excellency, after all that has happened with the same, namely the memorandum

No. 2, and the great value which you

– EEE En tt

1) The report in question was certified

ream

E lee

f ; 6° "

nkfschriften with the Be .

* "

he – nn nn ne nn –

3 – –

– on. 5

–ä– – –

=; BE

I cannot hide my astonishment when I attached such an important

Matter of such significant importance for German trade and industry duftry to see it treated so summarily. The content of the memorandum

No. 2 has, during six long months, almost always the subject lively discussions and discussions between us and also Mr.

von Ketteler formed, and politely, after the whole thing with your Authorization translated there, the memorandum should form the basis for further negotiations with the Imperial Chinese government

The discussion about this memorandum, which our state idea on railways, subject to the existing conditions, was adapted, and the German national idea was particularly strong led to the writing of Memoranda A, B and C, and an independent essay on the best way to Formation of a German commercial bank in China, which first three I had the honour of reading to you on 25 April, and of which you can obtain copies from me as soon as I arrive in Tientsin= arrived, requested.

This Memorandum No. 2, together with the other documents, a main point in my projects and represents for me the Value of long study, experience and the value of in= tereffe of the projects sacrificed cash capital. All too often I have Your Excellency the value of this memorandum as a business have to deal with it and, if I am not mistaken, Your Excellency attaches even greater value to it than that, and this was the case just a few weeks ago. Now Suddenly this document, about which so much fuss because of the business ideas it contained, like an un= important document . 0 Ew that is not worth the effort No in Berlin knew too well. That yours in German r. 1, especially my letters to you, No. 1 and No. 2, dated Paouting=fu, to the Chancellor and Minister of Trade

I would like to thank you for your support, but allow me to add that
In my opinion this is not the case, as it only has a small Part of the works created under your eyes
represent, and perhaps even the less important one. |
When I returned from Paouting=, Your Excellency= had arrived, handed over my reports, they asked me for my Permission to send them to Berlin, for which I only too gladly gave my consent, as this not only wishes. but also generally properly appeared. For this purpose I have also examined the later memoranda personally transcribed and submitted to you.

These two reports should, in my opinion,
so-called private report addressed to Your Excellency, dated Paouting=fu, since this was intended to supplement the other two reports,
This report was titled merely a private report, as is also evident from the same, because each content of a Ttrens does not correspond to commercial practice: in other respects it is just as e the other chte to your person as imperial envoy

– 85 –

erected and thus belonged just as much to the Ge= as the other good fandifhaftspapiere. There is therefore no reason to this report, as well as my other reports and Memoranda, the knowledge of His Serene Highness Prince Bismarck, Chancellor and Minister of Trade, on the contrary, he=

This report complements the first two and forms five thoughts descriptions and reports such as a whole that a total knowledge of the documents in Berlin can only be desired. The note in the private report that Your Excellency the supplied material under certain circumstances and conditions for discretionary disposal had its origin in a Remark by Baron von Ketteler, who probably estimates the monetary value this work, as if I was doing Project 1 because of had worked to do the same here, be it at Li i ang or elsewhere
to sell, while I was concerned with completely different things.
In my report No. 3 of March 9, 1888, I emphasized times that I leave to Your Excellency to send my memorandum to Berlin to send, and so it has always been later, namely in Concerning all papers submitted to the embassy. The idea, that indiscretions occur in the Foreign Office in Berlin
It never occurred to me that I could. When I 25 April, this was merely the consequence your concerns. However, a few days were enough for me to

To make concerns appear unfounded and I propose therefore, the Papers to the Minister of Railways, Excellency von Leer by private means for presentation to His Serene Highness to send the Reich Chancellor. This idea, which Your Excellency does not seem to please, has not yet been implemented in following the events of May 8, 1945 in Beijing.

What Your Excellency pleases with regard to my letter of 23 June, in which I assert my ownership rights to my
To confirm and preserve the wishes of your work, Your Excellency concerns this matter with no word and only send me the thoughts script, as if by reading this document you get rid of it, my property will be returned to me.

That Li Aung Chang during my presence in Pao-tung
he specifically inquired whether my projects Your Excellency known, I have not failed to report to Your Excellency, Ar
This was already clear from the fact that Baron von der Goltz had received permission from the embassy to act as a surrogate fetter to go along. However, I think that what a possible under the Project angel t, unfavourably on this idea replies come but that Europeans the to better appreciate such works for use in China.

As regards Your Excellency's remark that you gave me advise me to strengthen my connection with the Imperial Chinese to keep secret from others, so I confess that soon after my and in November of last year from the iron and coal districts in Shanfi considered it appropriate to refer to the previously

N 69 2

"Ow. e — — Ä- ñ p —

L

.

EEE -U- — -ä- 2 —

—U — 2 —

2 — —

— A —ä-ä- . — — — 4 —

— 1

renounce the kind hospitality shown to the Chinese nefen not to give rise to the suspicion that my projects in Orders of the German state would be drawn up and state= politics behind it, and that for the same reason I always tempting invitation to appear in the embassy as Yours.
Excellency Guest to take up permanent residence again, now resisted have, until May 6th of this year — For * good cause efcourages to Your Excellency and the entire staff of the ambassadors= del to make the slightest ah towards the Chinese, e never reason to disclose these relationships to the relevant
It has been no secret to the Chinese for 8 years. 1

Concerning the memorandum of the Trans-Caspian Railway, I miss the answer as to whether Your Excellency has made use of the same.
When submitting the same, you expressed your wish to use, which I had no objection to; I just wished
To have information as to whether and where the same has been used.
This is the answer to Your Excellency's pleasing Decree 1 a

In Your Excellency's private letter dated 27 June of this year.

I find the remark: "I cannot be bothered to say that I or to expose my officials to your suspicion, as if we were any what abuses could be made with your projects." This matter
I intend to deal with this matter officially rather than privately. I have always attached great importance to ensuring that my projects are as discreet as possible and this was often enough communicated to Your Excellency

Just as little as at the Foreign Office or at the Iron-Ministry of Railways, the thought occurred to me that India erections would and could be committed by your officials.
If you don't tell me especially recently, as a pre-made the accusation that I was with too many gentlemen of the embassy about the project and also specifically with Mr. von Ketteler, which only happened after I had previously read your found advice on this, my conscience would never been burdened with such thoughts. But you pointed out that since the gentlemen von Ketteler, Dr. Lenz, Pro Building inspector Aßmann and Baron von der Goltz for my pro-ecte knew, one of them was hardly conceivable. I I immediately reiterated this thought.

The mistrust you have thus caused in Your official made me serious and my 5 Projects to the Ministry of Trade through the mediation of the railway ministry, and indeed by private means, since

In their opinion, official documents from the Foreign Office could be published, while I was of the opinion that if they were sent as 1, one would necessarily few them as such I wanted to send the priority rity of the 1 and the ideas contained therein etc. against
. I then took a look at the horseradish and put it on

| and Your Excellency, it is your duty to made me from certain sides, 5 admittedly from the side of the Germans

I must admit, however, that I believe these rumors, which I also
a. from chain 0

fee. If Mr. Mandl still often tells me about Mr. von Ketteler

& Co. him to treat the Chinese en 155 and only ruinous future of Your Excellency that he was charged with stock exchange fraud at the Vienna Stock exchange had been forced to leave his homeland.

I have during the 0 conversations with Your Excellency and Mr. von Ketteler did not fail to express my sincere regret.
pressure that the German company Krupp would be forced to a man of non-German nationality and such dubious character racters, because in my opinion a company like Krupp never can have a too decent representative and I do not share the opinion have that the connection of rubbed and fhlecht fynonym with the Qualities of a good and intelligent . 5 like the use of such a dubious character in a per se . Position probably to some businesses and to illegitimate enrichment of individuals, but ultimately never to Establishment of healthy business and permanent trade relations between two nations; that in contrast

There is always a danger of seeing imbalances arise, such as we have seen them so often in France recently, and the Government, which protected Krupp as the first German industrialist, in leih ane ae Pag would like, without thereby the

t

Purpose of selling German material would be ordered, as if it were taken care of by honest people, and finally in the long run every decent Czech business with the Chinese government would thereby be made impossible.
Mandl o 3 cu ellenz finer time the consideration, =
andl, although he took over the representation of, finer – assertion of his legend about the English

olchen

1
.
– 33V– 4 – –

– 88 –

Jardine Matheson & Co. would not have solved this problem, and hereby I would like to inform Your Excellency that here too, the view is that next. Mr. Mandl is still closely connected with that company and he is therefore a game, which corresponds to the duplicity of his character described to me racters would only speak German. Were the conversations about Mr.

Mandl was not only unpleasant to me, but the recommendations of the
Mr. von Ketteler to bring me up to speed on profit-making and earning money at all costs and then my projects to modify, downright incomprehensible.

Both before Herr von Ketteler went to Tientsin on 26 April on 10th–12th May, when after fine
Returning, around 19 or 20 May, Mr. von Ketteler gave me the Assurance that Chinese government business is not without irregularities= moderations, as in the Mandl's manner. Mr.
Mandl returned from Europe on 16 May and wanted
as quickly as possible with the General Governor a Ga on field guns complete, in order to then carry out the same again after Europe. Mr. von Ketteler said that he did not have the right to government business very closely and know what irregularities in it; I am an exception in this matter and the one who ever did major business with the Chinese government in Panzerschiffe, namely the business of the anzer ships.

I must admit that, as flattering as this was to me, I was not dare to claim this honour for myself alone, on the contrary I can, based on long experience, claim that precisely in big deals where you have to deal with the highest authorities has also developed a good business sense in the Chinese official and even undoubtedly good business and reliable people preference, especially when it comes to important matters, which affect the interests of the state.

Since the sale of the first Stettin ironclads, the Chie a government hardly a so thorough and in every direction A realistic, viable project has been presented, such as mine, and rarely has a deal in my experience ee started when I was with Li Hung Chang in 90

aouting-fu negotiated; although he still had all possible objections against it, he had nevertheless grasped the good idea of it, as from his invitation to me here and to the opening

which originates from Lutai=Tientfin. that has happened to me since I returned from Paouting=fu endure?

5 Your Excellency, who 1 has the greatest interest in my pro= jecte and give me all possible help through your offices had been given, mentioned in the discussions, that the way in which one in Serbia and other countries introduced the railway construction and would have, for China= that Diele rt and Weife in general the preferable fe and that we in Germany have not yet progressed far enough to undertake railway construction in this way. My advice on the reasons for the nationalization of German private railways and the efforts of our Railway Minister, the Mr. von Maybach, in this direction, Your Excellency by saying that a change could occur after a possible replacement of Mr. von en by another minister, and also my reference to the Calami=

– 89 –

did the Serbian and other such express railway
In vain I requested Your Excellency:
to discuss the same things with Mr. Building Inspector Aßmann, who had greater experience in this and such things were not to bring it into connection with my project. In vain were also my efforts to provide Your Excellency with proof that to carry out my project the necessity of a German Borfenbank in China was not available, and I searched through an esfay
To show you the way on which a healthy commercial bank in East Asia and China, while for railways and similar purposes, possibly the use

our German naval action could be envisaged, whose

Use as a trading institute in the East you have long years. I asked Your Excellency to continue the quiet pursuit my project not to be affected by such objections made by you i and to refrain from the desire to conduct these subtle negotiations arrangements with Li Hung Chang through Mr. von Ketteler who does not have sufficient experience in these matters because he is not sufficiently familiar with the relevant technical and commercial conditions in Europe.

You promised me this and also that Baron von der Goltz, who had translated the proceedings into Paouting-fu, to accompany him on his journey to Paouting=fu, as you told me at the end
May, beginning of June, they announced that they had given their consent in Berlin
You granted me this wish at the last moment believed I had to refuse, and I also received a letter to Li Hung Chang, which you kindly sent to me in Tientsin promised and with which I personally present my memorandum intended, not preserved.

All these unpleasant things and conversations happened
only after the matter in Baouting-fu had reached a not unfavorable had taken a turn, as did the emerging Velleity, now.
after you and Mr. von Ketteler had been with me for eight 7
in business dealings with the Chinese and in friendly personal contact and in the former respect always un= conditional recognition, a to discover in me, furthermore, the agreed efforts of Your Excellency and von Ketteler, now that my project has progressed so far and I am on the point of taking it a step further, to to go to Europe and thus become the scene of the
To leave activity at a decisive moment, because my Health attacked because I overworked, or because I

—
—
worrying about the health of my family
from Europe and the like; furthermore, Your Excellency Private correspondence with local private individuals, in which you put my heart into moving me to go to Europe; furthermore, Private letters addressed to me in the same spirit and with quotations from my previous reports to the embassy, which are intended to demonstrate as if I understood the situation of business matters today differently than currently, when I was writing the reports.

As far as the situation of business is concerned, this is my
In my opinion, it is still exactly the same as expressed in my reports.
These reports are clear and concise and even for the most unbiased understandable and because they are clear and a graphic representation ftuplet of the situation, therefore I would have forwarded it to Berlin has always been a favorite place. Today it is simply called to pick up where the negotiations had left off fare and in the reports 5 sense. The pro= jects are modifiable and can be modified, but It is necessary to first familiarize yourself with the ideas
the Governor General or other Chinese through negotiations familiarize yourself with it, because modifications on a whim would hardly make sense.

In your private letter of 27 and the now enclosed
Your Excellency, writing on the 29th, that I am no longer write about my ideas and projects in the future
to save you the trouble of talking about it.
You write this to me after I have been with you for ten months
I have shared my projects and ideas down to the smallest detail and after you have always shown the most lively interest in it:
after I have given you these details and the business ideas in writing at a moment when I was asking for protection of my pro= jects and ideas and the protection of my intellectual property, and where you simply send me an important step back, instead to Berlin according to my wish and for my protection fend. Furthermore, you accuse me of distrust towards you and your Officials, where I simply take the proper path and I ask you for my property and try to fo important matter of a private correspondence. through which easily all sorts of misunderstandings can arise and are beyond any control withdraws, to bring into commercial form, as such over= main thing.

As for the help of the embassy, which you previously always willingly let it be shared, but with my
You have refused to leave Peking and in your decree of

28. again in prospect, IN you know how grateful I always am for every little service rendered to me and how I neither
2 in previous years ever more by the authorities
Fl be, as one can calmly and without hesitation can grant, and when I hereby express the request that you officially confirm to me that the information I have prepared and sent to you

=. 9 =

in extenso known projects together with the proposed 5 journey written by me and my intellectual property find and they, as such, receive the protection of the health community may, I believe that this is not an exaggerated or unjustified to submit this request to Your Excellency.

I add the word "confidential" to this document,
however, this should by no means exclude the possibility that it is one of the official papers of the embassy.

Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafch.

107th Report No. 11
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

CTientfin, July 14, 1888.

Your Excellency, I took the liberty of saying the following this morning:

To send a telegram:

RP German Legation Peking.

Please acknowledge receipt of my letter b th July.

because after the S lches you carefully these Breefes be a I after the silence which you have maintained regarding this watch, really oh knows whether this document in your hands has arrived. Hopefully I will get an answer now.

Furthermore, the previous report No. 7 is being sent out today at the same time as this or from 30 June, the copy and copies of which were kept for some time in have made a claim.

Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafch.

Mr. Carl Paafch, Your Honor.
Tientsin, Mssrs. A. Cordes & Co. N
Peking, July 14, 1888.

and 12. d. that I do not understand what is meant by the
The wish expressed in the first of these documents is that the Imperial Embassy of Germany on the papers communicated to it and may your ideas be protected, see fe.

Wenz Your Honor any specific requests, in how this could be done, to the Imperial 3

I will gladly inform you if and how the same may possibly be followed up.

1 The Imperial Envoy

N. von Brandt.

—

I reply to your two submissions of 5. |

— 92 —

108/109. Report No. 12
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

m —

Tientsin, July 16, 1888.

“I thank Your Excellency for your kind decree of the 14th of this month.
The manner in which Mr. it would be possible for the Imperial – Legation the priority of my projects and the associated Business ideas regarding the creation, organization, management of the felben u. f. w. ü schützen, is generally understood to mean that the information given to you or your officials will be treated discreetly and not with German or foreign competitors pro= be pagified, and if indiscretions on the part of the Chinese should come, and others should use my projects and ideas 3 such others should be made aware if It comes to the ears of the Embassy that these projects were originally originate from me and that I, in order to protect my rights,
o 170 5 this may become and upon my wish
It should be confirmed that these projects and business ideas were first developed and are therefore my intellectual property. |
Individual specific cases, such as with my

Projects could possibly be abused, is advisable because of the many unclear situations that exist here.
relationships and associations by themselves, but I trust the U and the 5 of such a high official as Your Excellency, I hope that you will understand how to develop the spiritual fuggen 18. u Others in the case under consideration here en could. |
I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafch.

110/112. Beridt No. 13
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Tientsin, July 17, 1888.

I would like to thank Your Excellency for a private Note dated 15th of this month, receipt of reply to my Dispatch of the 14th. A post-note is just published here, De Selle: the mail from here to Peking on Saturday the 14th.
d. M. was lost at night when during a storm the courier horse has thrown off its rider and with the letter threads galloped away.) In this, since the existence of the customs post,

– 93 –

To my knowledge, an unheard-of occurrence is unfortunately report no. 7 of 30.
June in response to Your Excellency's decree of 28th of March dagen Without doubt, this important report will again
au

found and now in your excellence completely en If this is not the case, the same must be done as soon as possible be replaced by a transcript.

It is strange that only today, on 17 July, the loss of the Post, while the same was already announced on the 15th in Vetirg had to be missed.

In my humble report yesterday I believe the right to have dared to explain to Your Excellency in what way one might perhaps give the embassy my projects the 1 protection could be provided. On the whole

It is little more than a matter of keeping Yours secret.
Your Excellency and some of your officials and their non-propagation to others and for notification and Protection, if others nevertheless my projects, to which they are in any way have come into the hands of a person, in whole or in part, as their property and use it accordingly. This is in my opinion, a requirement which is self-evident it, and which is regulated by three clear and harmless words and such a lengthy and not particularly pleasant made correspondence unnecessary.

Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafch.

115/114. Report Ar. 14
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

--

Tientsin, July 21, 1888

I took the liberty of sending Your Excellency the following dispatch today:
ends:

"German Legation Peking. N

Request a positive response regarding ownership rights and subsequent

n shoe of my projects. 3 pas"

and this is because an answer to this important question, which I in my reports No. 12 and 13 of 16 and 17 of this month 5 is of great importance to me and a 3
and the otherwise prompt chat at the Imperial History
made it difficult for me to run my business.

I would also like to request that the Consul
To grant Seindel official authority to assist me in the --esc

') Attachment: Postanzeigen and Gorreiponbeng with information about Bepo.

— — — * —

— 94 —

conduct of my business in the spirit known to Your Excellency, translated at the embassy there and approved by you=
may be of assistance to a thinker.

Consul Feindel told me that under the direct orders
the Imperial Embassy and he has so far only been on a private
In the meantime, he has received instructions from Your Excellency, which enable him make it impossible to even translate documents for the Chinese, of whom I am obliged to provide him with proof that she was completely in agreement with the In= content and meaning of the memoranda approved by Your Excellency on= and that he considers himself obliged to act in every single
If the document in question is submitted to the Imperial Embassy
This would possibly lead to an infinite hindrance to my communication with the Chinese, and I therefore ask Your Excellency to kindly forward to the local Consulate the to grant permission to make translations for me and otherwise assist me in pursuing the matters I have undertaken:
Brojecte submitted to the Chinese authorities BULL too fine, and in such a clear form that Mr. Consul Feindel thereby an i 0 fine powers in this direction clearly bes annt ist.

I do not think it is an exaggerated claim that the national projects developed and pursued by me of are of great importance, and I am always counting on Your Excellency promised and previously granted cooperation of the German authorities have some right. Your Excellency knows what intrigues are going on here about the person of the Governor General and that I am specifically ly now, when I have so far been involved in the participation of the Embassy in my work * and I myself am writing
I am prevented from having a somewhat more powerful contribution from the Imperial Con= fulate would be doubly desirable.

J de fl therefore not to have expressed a vain request and would be obliged to give you a prompt reply.

I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafch.

Herru Curl Paafch, Your Honor

Tientsin

Peking, July 21, 1888.

Your Excellency, I reply to your various submissions, that your business interests are served in the same way as those of the world
other Germans the protection of the Imperials in part However, this does not require any special effort
my fault and I have to have another correspondence about di kt as in every B superfluous bl efen point as in je es a Ih your statements to bi Kalfdlide decided to limit it to a da which

– 05 –

their time and labour are not unduly used in Claims: if you: German, who has the Chinese authorities has submitted a project, similar requirements as this fefhed for some time, to the Gefandifch wanted, 0 would at all fulfill their other=
other official duties become impossible. |
The sweeps which the content of a part of your submissions and in particular those referred to under No.?, possess, apart from the actual information contained therein eln e sides, no practical value; their negotiations were 8 N with the Chinese authorities; for the outcome of the=
It is decisive for this and the Imperial Envoy= to assess the practical feasibility of your projects eugen. For this reason, I must therefore reject any further 1
About my understanding of your plans as superfluous and Accordingly, in future, relevant documents and =

remain answered.
The Imperial Envoy
MN. von Brandt.

Peking, July 21, 1888.

Dear Mr. Paafschl

I have written to you officially today and can only
I would like to express my wish that the correspondence about your projects here= with an end to have come; from a yoke of the same
I can't promise myself any advantage. as I have the Chances of your projects are, as I said, irrelevant. You have to convince them. If you succeed, I will regret, but I don't see things very rosy. Today I just want to for the last time to touch a certain point. I am However, as I have told you verbally and in writing, the view that it would be best for you to stay for a few months –

a complete now in your employment and life:
wise to let it enter. If this advice of an old, faithful friend, instead of meeting with your approval, now forces you to:
causes 1 bus to thank those who might have entered it, fearch, then that is, for me at least, proof that you
the necessary objectivity in assessing the situation= come into being.

Everywhere 1 suspect, everyone, even the most well-intentioned
3 with the 1 to counteract that the same one Even now, 0 is not the mood in which big projects

have it carried out.
You won't believe me either, but by offering you a change of air, an ax Fe absence from When I advise someone to do business, I fulfill what I consider my duty to a long-time friends; I do not want to be deaf

– ſU– Tan – 22 6 – f – —

2.20

A preach. But I hereby declare to you in the most definite way, that if you again approach this council with mistrust and not follow him, I mentioned the matter for the last time
You may then do and let what you want, only under= then leave a correspondence that you only and: and the have absolutely no practical purpose. Either you 5 me, then do what I tell you to the best of my knowledge and conscience advice and what every person, every doctor to whom you have told the matter= situation openly, as will confirm the best, or you believe me, then it is superfluous to discuss the question. I will
I cannot change my opinion and in the latter case neither should you.

It is my old friendship for you, in which the events
I have not been able to change anything recently, because if I
during your illness and nothing in return
as ingratitude, I do not write this to your heart, but rather to the illness which prompted me to write this letter.
Now do what your heart tells you, try to shake off the mistrust and pressure that weighs on you and believe me, no one would be happier that to find old "Carlchen" again, as your faithful, about your condition deeply concerned

M. von Brandt.

Mr. C. Paafch, Your Honor
Tientsin

Peking, July 24, 1888,
In response to Your Honorable submission of the 11th of this month, I reply, that it is beyond my competence to give one of the Imperial
To send consulate instructions such as those you have sent to us.
It is up to the Imperial Consuls to decide to what extent they believe that the wishes of Reich citizens and utrogenossen in relation to translations of submissions, etc.
to the Chinese authorities, and an official

The embassy is not afraid of having any influence in this regard.
The Imperial Envoy
M. von Brandt.

Peking, July 24, 1888.
Dear Mr. Paafschl

In the 8th the receipt for the 3 paid to Child, Dollars. Mr. Bethge gave the 5 dollars for Mr. Richard to Mrs.
Kierulff himself provided the necessary instructions. 8 i

from Tientsin about the temperature prevailing there, lets me assume that it was there just as much as it was here.

Yesterday a thunderstorm brought us some cooling, but the same won't last long, I fear.

— 97 —

Mr. Feindel briefly told me about the contract= draft that you submitted to him for translation; want You do not see that you are on completely different paths, and that if you come up with such suggestions, you are make it impossible for all time? Why do you want to make your old, most faithful Do not believe your friend and leave the question alone until you have the have gained the necessary objectivity and clarity to to pursue plans. Do not force us to to break away from you, since we are not responsible for Lie suggestions can be adopted. Just put the income statement To someone you consider a friend, and ask him what he thinks about it. Maybe if he says what everyone must say, that such a proposal is not alone unacceptable, but also for all eternity as a business man would have to discredit, perhaps you will then understand how well I mean it with you and on how 13 paths you walk.

Believe me, you, you alone are about to decide to make the future impossible, and my heart bleeds as you felve ee and because you do not believe those who are doing well with My dear friends, whom you have known for years as loyal friends have made the nice idea impossible.") 2. You and believe me, who has given you so much evidence of true inclination has given.

Yours faithfully

M. von Brandt.

116/122. Report No. 15
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

— |—

Tienksin, July 28, 1888.

Your Excellency, I have the honour of receiving your kind Decrees of the 21st and 24th of the month. as the measure of my Requirements for the workforce of the Imperial Embassy
I must mention that I have kept them to a minimum.
restrictions and I have generally never asked for more than a relief in the VAR with the Chinese authorities. If in this case

that with ten months of daily contact with Your Excellency and Selen officials to you and some of the latter my concerns=
ities have become known down to the smallest detail and you refused, after knowing everything, to give me a for= 0

89 90» j

u — — — ua never

The requirement is to protect my Projects, this has, as N on mentioned, its motive in

— — to you

— -V- -2 - ai

»

" - away

nn nt . 2 -

. 5

—

. . u aa

a, DB

one harmless and one official assurance of protection of the cha you dt to give. Only through this and by the fact that you have promised me a further e of the authorities suddenly refused and through your Ver= old in the question, my papers at end, is this long Corre= pondence. That by answering the the same, for their part, placed too much strain on the embassy's workforce were, could be avoided if you would give me the
and legitimate wishes confirmed by a few clear words and the cooperation promised to me in the last few days in Peking effect of the authorities would have to be a fen As long as I I have never asked for help from the authorities more in uf ruf taken than what the facilitation of traffic with the Chinese authorities. I must state here, that I have received the translations of the memoranda from the Embassy never claimed and perished! Be :
that Your Excellency has given me the same as well as the assistance de ő Building Inspector Mr. Aßmann in fo kind

We have offered that despite my reservations, which I am against such extensive use of assistance
 the embassy, he as against my permanent en
 on the i itself, which is all cause for envy and malice, raised the acceptance of this comforts that he could hardly refuse.
 = I then diligently reported what had happened and what it authorities to report anything else pleasant to the Foreign Office
 Your Excellency was always grateful to me for reports on tanks.
 Wöiftengelegenei rc. My railway projects also showed Your Excellency is always very interested in all communications:
 when I told E that I would be happy to Imperial Church reports on all my current Steps to report to the Chinese, I was told about The quick answer was that this was not necessary. It was
 This was the case after you had all my papers in your hands.
 What has now become of all your promises and commitments?
 feen further assistance from the authorities? Here I come across to all sorts of difficulties. The Imperial Consul does not know what he should do in my affairs, and that of Your Excellency
 The decree sent on my instigation seems to meet his many concerns not appeased. In short, there is no progress here, and despite all assurances of friendship in your private letters Don't even make the eee face of trying to gu e to come. Yes, I am sure that here unknown forces against me, to whom an innocuous open letter to the General Governor of Your Excellency, whom I have met with means can provide, could put an end to.
 What should I think of all these things? Misunderstanding= niffe and ren ewe in your 1 and contradictions your private letters and official decrees, not at all

– 99 –

N of contradictions between your previous right Le and em written; finally your official decrees themselves, which laborious efforts to find in each individual case the Cardinal questions in my letters under the observation of a ftrictly official tone; not a single one of the
 The questions and requirements I have been asked have been sufficiently answered, or they are bypassed altogether.

In your last decree you use the one given to you in my Report No. 14 in the pen of the redeeming word “felbits understandable” for the conclusion of my projects, but the way how you promise me the 1 after such a long hesitation is not one= way enough, and I must, in order to protect 15, give myself all rights

for which my German is no legal assistance is to be had, then I must refer to this general expression, which should contain everything that is unified (provision in this direction. .

The very important question is whether Senate No. 2
There are still Chinese translations there in Beijing,
You carefully: since you gave me a brouillon of the translation have, then at least 2 more ra should be fine, because it follows at least 3 copies must be made in addition to the Brouillon, namely one for Li Kung Chang, one for the Secret Archives and one for me, possibly another for later delivery to other Chinese authorities. As early as May 6, white, two copies ready and was given to me on that day the delivery of a copy was refused; the Er= events of May 1st. If the seeds of the available copies would be ignored, it would be against all agreements speech fine and a sin of omission in an orderly e administration. .

In your last decree of 24th of this month, Your Excellency, that my report No. 7 actually contains inaccuracies.
can only be the relationship of Mr. Mandl to the company Jardine Mathefon & Co. may be meant.

Your Excellency just needs to ask Mr Ban-
to ask Master Ae He about his opinion on this matter, fo anf the same and business letters I will erft

on the business and private matters that have become my then answer, 9999855 I answer to my actually 3 received letters containing items.

I remain Your Excellency most obedient

| Carl Paafch.

July 27, 1888.

Most Honorable Mr. Paafschl

Öre my big ate you with your Arm A 185 nfall meets fe and c win 05 S the of - those that dafl vet Fl and dodge e mb

- - -

— — nm en

| nn — u nn

— ee Er — mn 0

- — - — now - - -

a

- 100 -

Just be very careful and patient, and do everything what the doctor prescribes so that you can get back to work as soon as possible Her arm lommen.

milie Bethge is in Tachiaoffe, from where she will be here the day after tomorrow returns to Tienkfin after a few days stay=
Dr. Lenz went to Tachiaoffe today for three weeks.
from where Mr. Emans and the Bethge's return here
It seems to me alone that no summer retreat will blossom.

With best regards and all good wishes
Yours sincerely,
M. von Brandt.

Personally.

His Serene Highness the Prince of Bismarck,
Chancellor and Minister of Trade,
Berlin. Ä

Tientsin, August 1, 1888.

On 10 July I took the liberty of sending Your Serene Highness a packet of documents, concerning railways and mines in China, by kind agreement mediation of the Minister of State Excellency von Maybach, and today I take 5 Your Serene Highness some more to hand over documents, namely 6 Reports from me to the Imperial Embassy in Peking, Same 82 and 107- 122, all ea
3 Decrees from the Imperial Embassy in Peking to me from July 19, 21 and 24,
and I respectfully ask you to pay attention to these papers
u want, but in any case and whatever may happen,

to carefully prepare them in conjunction with the previous ones preserve, since they are likely to have a greater role to play.

I remain Your Serene Highness' most humble servant

Carl Paafch.

His Excellency the Viceroy Li Hung Chang,
Tientsin

Eientfin, August 8, 1888.

Your Excellency, I grant you the Bi P carry, Ae eitere in Aussiche gefchle Aublenz gütioft 1
to want. |

As it was a conversation with you.

Apply 8 under false indication,

— 101 —

that I am ill, and I fear that even letters sent by me
have not reached Your Excellency's hands.

With respectful request for reply, I remain

Your Excellency obedient

Carl Paafch.

Nn. This letter was not sent by the German Consulate, but by a friendly Mandarin into the ladies of the Vice= king. This was followed by an audience

in which His Excellency the Viceroy Li Hung Chang Mr. Paaf announced that Mr. 17 Brandt had awarded him Bu nee belonberen Bor sick and he may the=

Let them know, Mr. Paafch fe

elben not received.

— — —

Cientfin, August 9, 1888.

Dear Minister,

Today I come to a duty and perhaps a not insignificant one= justified feelings nt gentlemen Mi which I during my current stay in Tienzin in view of my helpless situation because of my broken arm and have been helpful in other ways.

"As you know, I have been given certain certificates.
It is embarrassing to demand such things, and also not entirely pleasant to to draw; however, for me one thing was absolutely necessary and my friends could not refuse me the other offer.

I am mentioning this matter here specifically so that You may not think that I am aiming to cause discontent against you. When signing the certificate, nobody knew that I had a purpose in mind that might also affect you
If I could turn to cwis trusted men here must, this is due to Mr. Conful ne, who asked him to take this path instead, as he is very anxious and the smallest official act only wants to refer to Peking. Therefore It happens that I have a thing which I see in the light within the area of official activity yellow, also others, much=
and even without their voluntary consent,
of course subject to discretion.

I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafch.
| Signed in the presence of Yufav Schmidt.

0 102 -

Telegraphic dispatch.
Tientsin, August 9, 1888.

Personally. Prince Bismarck, Berlin. Please contact Consul Feindel:
order to discreetly record a criminal case of questionable ifenbahn= king urgent.

fenbahn=nonsense Peking urgent Carl Paafch.

- - - —

Mr. CC Jeindel, Consul pl
f Tientfin, August 11, 1888.

Your Honor i

I hereby take the liberty of announcing that I have informed the Kaiser—notified to the foreign ambassador in Peking by today's customs post that I have the complaint, or the prosecution route with the Prince Chancellor struck against him and that id) leaving it to the latter's decision how he will
The matter which was discussed between Mr. von Brandt and I will present myself to the Reich Chancellor after I the further audience promised to me by the Governor General.
which must help to clarify the situation.

By asking you to send the contents of this letter to Berlin report and officially confirm receipt of this letter, remain i u Your Most Honourable

Carl Paafch.
Signed in the presence of Gu ft. Schmidt.

personally.

mm —

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Imperial German Ambassador 3c. 3c. 3c.

Beijing.
123/124. Report No. 17

to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

Tientsin, August 11, 1888.

I take the liberty of informing Your Excellency that I will take the path of complaint against you to the Prince Chancellor and filed a lawsuit. The documents submitted for this purpose Papers should soon be in a pile. I have applied to the Prince Reich Chancellor has already registered and requested an audience.
It shall be left to his decision how the between us pending questions will be resolved. I
he said in order to avoid public attention.
Unfortunately, I have been led astray by the path you have recently taken.

type of polemic, but also as a result of the refusal of the Consul's enemies to carry out any official acts for me take, without first reporting to Peking, was compelled to to telegraph the Prince Chancellor that it was a serious case. I have again asked for discretion and No names were mentioned so that the person who had the key to the affairs in Europe, the person of the accused can't be guessed.

In a report No. 16 currently being prepared, I would like to tell you here the points about which I would like You report home.

The accusation that could be brought against me In my opinion, only the cards and pieces of paper would be On the evening of May 8th, during my pursuit and to my Lifesaving distributed to the Chinese, and in which I will tell you and Sir Robert Hart accused. I ask that as many of these notes fummeln, wie möglich und fie to Berlin at 19 5 so that I m because of their constitution can justify. o these notes and I handed in the cards on the morning of May 9th. reports. Whether the Chinese wore them to the Tfungli=Damen, how I obviously cannot know what I wanted.

I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Baafch. |
Signed in the presence of Gustav Schmidt.

125 / 149. Report No. 16
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Kalferl. German ambassador
Beijing.
Lienen, August 9, 1888.

The reason for today's report is primarily the necessary e of a not unimportant date, which at the end of Report No. 16. It was not on 6, On the morning of May 7th, when I was told that the refused to translate Memorandum No. 2.

Your Excellency, I have already taken the liberty of asking to draw attention to the inadmissibility of Article No. 7, to treat important business matters in private notes, since fe both the control and the responsibility withdraw. I have been swearing all your fubes since my arrival arrival from Beijing here, treat the most productive, large

– 104 –

Business-related issues in a way that gives air and light to a official correspondence. They form a peculiar counterpart to your short, little-containing, official= lichen Correspondenz. What impression would the latter make on unbiased third parties, e.g. our domestic authorities, without a precise knowledge of my letters? You must 2 after Your decrees give the impression that some indifferent important businessman to you, or rather to the embassy:
“ some projects were presented and temporarily handed over
97, and who is now trying to make the most of this situation to take advantage of and make claims to which he is not entitled is justified, but not as if I had had the honor of being with you.

Excellency, to meet with you in Peking, and that I these projects were developed under your eyes so that the tendencies contained therein and the manner of business dealings
You have obtained your consent by providing me with the services of the embassy staff to such an extent that which I did not even dare to accept.

To fill the gap, I took the liberty of reading the whole story.
FE za of the Imperial Embassy completely in Ab» writing, except for yours, according to official decree, and my
to the found reports No. 1 and 2 and memorandum No. 1, to Berlin. For this purpose I have sent the three confidential Memoranda which I sent to you on April 25, the day before the maturity of Mr. von Ketteler to the Tientfin races, read, fo= such as the proposal made to you at the end of April, beginning of May for the establishment of a German commercial bank together with the motives. These papers should soon reach their destination reached the place, because thank God our German Reichspost a more reliable institute than the one under the direction of the
Mr. G. the local customs post. That this passport pies the necessary attention is paid, this is ensured and I hope that our domestic authorities will give me the protection which I have requested from you in vain.

As a motivation for my mission, I have asked His Serene Highness the Prince of Bismarck Your treatment of these N and NAME=
lich in the Memorandum No. 2 and to the content of the Corre=
3. You will not hold this step against me

can, because my wish that the local authorities about the,
what is happening in Peking in such important matters affecting them, among= sets up 15 if a natural, and the assumption that you felbft have done this to an imperfect degree, through your conduct Unfortunately, this is only too justified. In the latter case, Your Excellency our domestic authorities have hardly treated us much better than you treated me Iich .

1) in this case with my own projects, by giving me
Send back some sheets of paper while you review the ideas, keep the result of my work and give it the Protection gladly: Ä

– 105 –

2) in the case of our private affairs, where you are with my assets at will and to achieve your " Purposes to issue a threat, the impropriety of which ity, injustice and criminality I have just felt compelled to bring this to your attention;

3) in the case of my small collections of natural history specimens etc., by sending me the letters which originated white, send back and keep the objects, even the small photographs of the Great Wall.

In a word, you give the chaff and keep the wheat.

As I have already mentioned, in all your ftr= responses to my letters the main points and refuse to accept my to answer legitimate questions. What you refuse to tell me may believe, you may not be able to serve our authorities u house refuse, and since I have referred everything to them, yes he=
I ask you for a clear and concise answer to the same on the one

That is why you refuse me the long months voluntarily promised and previously provided support suddenly and unmotivated in a moment where you know that I cannot help well and can quickly create a replacement, in a moment that is so important for the further development of the things fvery crucial, and where you recently told me, I Tientsin, firmly expected that Mr. von der Goltz
would come here with me, and after being in Berlin,
as you assured me, with his use for the trip
after Paouting-fu had agreed?
furthermore, why did you refuse to reveal the whole secret?
archive, but especially the 5th private report
from Paouting=fu to Berlin? |

Thirdly, how, where and when did you receive my Deukfschrift via the Trans-Caspian Railway, or have you used the not used at all?

Fourthly, the copies of the Chinese translation of the Memorandum No. 2 remained at the embassy, or what half maybe not?

Now I must mention an incident which is characteristic for the conditions here. On 14 July I presented at the local Consulate the request for an audience with the General Governor Li Dang Chang. He had met me in a first Audience invited me to come back soon and as often as I wanted. I said I would like to wait a few days to do some preparatory work and oh: what was agreed with. She asked at the same time en nat, whether I could translate a document against Fees. I made the request early on to nt t. this piece of the Imperial ee in Peking not to share for the time being, since I am not able to do so at this moment I could not get a positive answer as to whether I would like to protect my Communications to the same and discretion towards competitors

- 16 -

The last requirement was not considered opportune in an official request, which is why I immediately returned it 1 Also the I withdrew the translated document because Conn Feindel fic was in doubt whether he should have the translation of the same done without first asking the Messenger, since it is his nk about questions that were not contemporary and moral obligations which were in the form of a contract juri ftically did not belong there. Although in my opinion the latter Concerns of Confu 8 were not correct, I completely renounced the translation, since Mr. Feindel always fears to lose his position and the like. In your private letter from July 24th, write to me as follows:

"Mr. Feindel told me briefly about the contract cut spoken about the draft that you submitted to him for translation. Do you want because you do not realize that you are on the completely wrong path, and that. if you come up with such suggestions, you will be impossible? Do you want to make your old, most loyal friends Do not believe and leave the question until you have the necessary Have found objectivity and clarity to implement your plans follow? Do not force us to break away from you äulagen, since we do not take responsibility for such proposals can take over. Give the contract to someone Introduce someone you consider a friend and tell him what he thinks about it. Maybe if he tells you what everyone else says must be that such a proposal is not only unacceptable, but You would also have to discredit yourself as a businessman for all eternity, maybe then you will understand how well I mean it with you and how wrong your path is. Believe me, you,

You alone are about to make yourself impossible for the future and my heart bleeds when I see how you wantonly make the nice idea impossible and how you do not want to believe, who mean well with you, who have been as loyal friends. Look within yourself and believe me, who has given you so many proofs of his affection give has 3c. 3c." .

Accordingly, you argue about the content of a document= piece that you cannot know if you do not one of your officials has committed a serious indiscretion men let. Mr. Feindel says that he a. only in very general terms.
had written about the document which I presented to him against which he had some reservations and asked his sons to him in the same way as he did to me. Mr.

His 1 that he did not make any copies of his private books
keep it in pieces. |

I just have to note here that I have to thank Mr. Feindel for this concerns about it, but had fewn about the in this S 1 contained tendencies completely with those in Memorandum No. 1 and 2. The step itself was new in and of itself and I was only forced to do so by your negative attitude

- 107 -

Now it seems that you are actually take a stand against me.

It was in Memoranda No. 1 and 2 that the utilization

the political moments, which had your lively approval and to the repeated statement: If only someone my younger consuls in China would be able to deliver such works!
The trade policy tendencies had a significant impact in both memoranda.
toning. What is left then if I promise, that I act only in the spirit of these approved memoranda and want to change? Then only personal and interests= remain, from which one may foresee that Yours.
Your Excellency, I will not pursue such matters. I will send the relevant document flater also present in Berlin and may then the same which are called upon to judge our correspondence, also about it share whether Bell: violates the tendencies of the memorandum.

I would like to ask Your Excellency to come to Berlin at the same time to report what motivated you to go to the airport on the night of 8 to 9 May 3 o'clock in the morning to go to my temple Kuang=Shang=Tfze where you knew that I was not present, where you might nor Dr. Lenz could have suspected, and where my servants so often alone had kept watch. What prompted you to this un= usual hour to settle there like a beutus possidens, to browse through my documents and look for letters which but only the accompanying letters for copies of my works for en

His Highness the ele Bismarck and Excellency von Maybach fine
Why did you, when you read my writings, found locks and no keys, the shipment of the documents and the suitcase containing it to the embassy? Why did She hurried up when Dr. Lenz reported that I was alive and well and arrived safely at the embassy? Why did She the next day after I had reported that I had to endure a persecution in the city of Peking last night

Hahn had no steps to clarify and resolve these matters.
70 gen, while if a stranger occasionally visits Peking stone's throw from a Chinese, a casus belli from it with the Tfungli=Hamen is made?

Your Excellency would also kindly report to Berlin what editorial you had edited in the period between the time point where you got 9, that I was from the empel had removed, about 12 midnight, and 3 o'clock in the morning, where you En Please the wording of the same and its purpose!

Furthermore, which papers, sent at the same time as the advertisement, from fia a have been lost, and whether such and where? in Tientsin e have. Why did you bring, when you came from Temple Kuang= Wage arrived at the embassy, Mr. Dr.
– Dudgeon with me? Why did this man, against whom I as a doctor
both as a human being, without prior notice
and force me to take medication without a diagnosis?
You urged this man to force it upon me,

– 108 –

under the impression of a supposed rebellion throughout the body trembling, did not dare and showed a change, said he would
to the neighboring Hong Kong and Shanghai Banks, it was safe there? Then why did you rape me, with all kinds of medicines against my will and give me a nursing care, which it is desirable to provide seemed to prefer certain death to it? Why you then kept me interned in a house against my will and under the guard of a maurais sujet (little= ft least by reputation), which Your Excellency invited to table 0 to make it somewhat socially acceptable for me?

That is why I was never allowed to go out in Beijing without a guard, hardly interact with the members of the embassy, so that I almost
It was impossible to hear whether the alleged uprising on May 9
Had it really happened in the morning or not? Why was I allowed not back out to the Kuang-Shang-Tfze temple, but was established in the house rented by Sir Robert Hart interned?

Why was the evening of May 8th, when I was Persecution against me always denied, although I za (rich visits= cards and notes to save my Life, whereupon I will send you and Sir Robert Hart 11555 to to face life? I had given these cards and pieces of paper to the Chi= nefen instructed to wear on the Tfungli-Yamen. In the morning of the 9th I immediately heard about these cards and pieces of paper and their contents
just spoken. Why did they make my persecution, an event, which may still be proven after years and days, denied, never spoke of these important notes again and also of the supposed uprising never let me know whether something Was there anything factual about it?

That is why Your Excellency has written to all kinds of people here, that I was sick and that it would do me good to go home go etc.?, which I am sure more than one person will answer, but in any case Consul Feindel replied that I had never been so healthy and flourishing looked like. Then allow yourself to spread rumors here, as if I lacked the necessary objectivity and clarity to to continue my plans and dare to say this to my face to say. How can you describe me and my situation from there?

judge? On whose testimony do you want to do it? But not that of Dr. Dudgeon, whom you paid, this dissolute doctor, both externally and morally, who all menial services to the Marquis Tfeng or who more with all sorts of dubious loans and ditto railway= and other industrial and commercial projects than 1 medical profession, this business friend of the notorious res in Tiensin; this man, whose family from the above-mentioned

nds prefer to stay in Europe and live away from it? .
When I asked this doctor when he gave me the last bandage for my broken arm, to send his bill, he refused

– 1095 –

the latter, saying that he considered me a member of the dent= embassy, which made me suspect that he was 150: he said further on this occasion: your arm looks well and thus you will not be able to bring a case of malpractice against me.

This seemed to me . I then paid you 30 dollars for this man, with the remark that I had not received anything from him wanted, and that if he did not want the 30 dollars, he for his Chinese hospital. They tried afterwards to deny receipt of these 30 dollars for Dr. Dudgeon and only when I pointed out to you that by chance two eugen had been there when I told you this, you would have I want to get out of the affair by making a Mifver= understanding. Here in Tientfin I learned from the man who treated me the attending physicians received the written certificate without my permission, that my arm had been badly treated in Peking and the second Break on it; and Dr. Irwin told me that I was as a result of the bandages applied by Dr. Dudgeon, which prevented the blood: circulation in the forearm (a problem that needs to be remedied I had so often asked Dr. Dudgeon to use the right hand for writing is expected to be about one year would be robbed. The affair with the 20,000 marks. in which You also developed contradictions, and also that you The fact that I cannot write myself, to me, after we had settled the accounts between us, to impose a debt on you, of which I have no idea I can easily relate it to my projects, like the coup of Kuang=Shang=Tfze, my rape and Internment, as well as guarding, all of which you will only have to ventured after having carefully insured themselves, that I had not written to anyone in Europe about my projects. Now that your instrumentality has spread all sorts of rumors about my health condition, which infallibly affect the Chinese have * ears must come, I allow myself to then the Circumstance that the gates of the name of the General» Governor's secret. Now that you have been told, and I am prepared to prove that according to medical and other evidence= niz here in Tientfin always me except for my broken arm physically and mentally well, it seems to me, that you owe me the satisfaction of giving me a quick Em. pfang from the Governor General and to send him -

9 that 10 I am physically and mentally fit and able to efchäfte to ensure that these transactions 1 are and i the neifs a our government can probably count on if Chinese= desired.

I therefore humbly request Your Excellency to in this sense to the Governor General to my 5 5 ver= ie '

55 > wen se Ihnen due fh 8 en 1 hr be Res ultate andlungen, fo wie a our court authorities, the Danbelsmintfier and the

. . *

. a .

.

—

nn — — B — 3

4 — — — — — nn

110

Chancellor Prince von Bismarck and Railway Minister Er von Maybach, should be submitted for assessment. That I have strict in the sense of the Memoranda Nos. 1 and 2 approved by you=
I repeat and promise again that I will do it.

Mr. Consul Feindel has responded to his last application for a Audience for me received no answer at all, which according to Chinese terms is very impolite. Even in a subsequent audience, the General Governor apparently had nothing positive to say about my next reception. Other merchants have meanwhile been neral=Gonverneur often e only to me it seems that ladies like closed by a force majeure too fine.

To my regret I must inform Your Excellency that my Iron . and in particular those contained in Memorandum No. 2
Ideas seem to have fallen into the hands of other people, namely
I will present them to His Excellency the Governor General on 7 July Yes, it was at the Governor General's office where I received the first traces of it. He asked at the beginning of the Au= service, how you are and whether we are still good friends
I said we had been good friends for many years, but Lately I have unfortunately noticed a decline in your goodwill= noticed, although you still wrote me friendly letters.
Excellency said that you were very changeable in your views, to which I replied that I could not actually do this from previous experience, but now I would find myself in, for example, a less friendly correspondence with you concerning the document which I had just handed over to him and the use dition of other writings of mine. I have some reasons for the Suspicion that something has happened to my writings, I wish but not to mention any names; that if my writings are in other hands, this was done in an unlawful manner, because I kept the content secret, and that people who possibly unlawfully obtained possession of my works brought, not to expect too much good. Otherwise I spoke with Li Hung Chang only about the past ironclad business and general things. As I said, Li wanted to see me again soon fee, but all my efforts have failed to find a In order to gain a wider audience, the contact with the people in larger prominent Taotai intercessors, namely Liu Han Fang and Wu Ting

ang, I now thought I had discovered that the ideas of my work had based another project in such a way by using local names changed and also the vanity of the Chinese in a Wefe e had worn that this was more likely to be due to such a company, but the solidity of the company is through which the soil is extracted. I also believe I have discovered which people work for the company in question. These are presumably the company Jardine Mathefon & Co. as the main people who, without mentioning their names, are in the background of the Whole foot; A. Mickie, agent of Messrs Jardine Mathe» fon & Co. for Tientsin and Peking in government business (Veh terer was in Peking from about June 9th to July 8th): JJ Dunn), also employed by Jardine 1 & Gb. and chief editor of the Tienzi newspaper "The Chinese Times".

– 111 –

Guftav Detring, Commissioner of Customs, Head of Customs= post, with the General=Governor Li Hung Chang lürt and dilettan= tical advisor to the same in political, industrial and railway matters faches. Mr. Detring was previously re-entering the German subject association because of its English tendencies and denied liaison with Jardine Mathefon & Co., but he is the same, as I hear, is permitted.

Eveline Detring, née Bauer from Vienna, a lady, who assisted her husband in the management of Chinese government business Both of the above mentioned find friends and protectors of the newly established Mr. Hermann Mandl, Austrian entrepreneur than, whose company is registered in the German Consulate. About Mr. Mandl and his alleged association with my I have already written about railway projects in report No. 7. It It remains for me to note that the aforementioned ugly usury= business in Shanghai with the deceased barber and hairdresser Abra= ham Polite, called George Polite, who then gave him the Ge= nal Consulate there, Your Excellency long must have been known. . that Your Excellency in September Last year it was officially announced that Mr. Mandl, when he still publicly in the service of Jardine Mathefon & Co.

ft, Mr. R. had offered to take over the business of Jar-to sell Mathefon & Co. to the same company for a fee.
A similar message had been given to me earlier in Berlin by Mr.
R. herself, but I had the same because of her inadequacy strangeness and because it was none of my business, pass without notice
I hear that you have been informed of this by a
Mr. X. |

When it later became known that Mandl & Co. was appointed as the representative of the company Friedr. Krupp, A expressed his concern
"If Li Hung Chang has so far considered the Krupp company for decently, then from now on he can certainly no longer do." The fact that Mr. Mandl is not very popular among Europeans is generally known, it must be all the more strange if the same Letter shows in which you greet Mr. Mandl about his establishment in a more than usual kind way wish you luck for his personal and company well-being.

Mr. JJ Buchheifter in nangbni was with Mr. Mandl the signing of the Powder Contract last year, the creation of which cellenz mir f. Z. as a chain of 8 eichneten, the caused a decent German to leave the Chinese service and certainly not a problem for German industry.
Your Excellency had previously informed you of all the above mentioned persons and

) Meanwhile deceased.

– 112 –

also by Mr. Constantin von Hannecken, Lt. a. D., a very low opinion, sometimes much lower than I had, and be=
They all signed as being in the pay of Jardine Mathefon & Co. 1 from which they receive remuneration in a more or less legitimate manner for their services to the Chinese.

As far as they are businessmen, this would be worth hearing, but
As far as the bramtes are concerned, Your Excellency expressed himself quite sharply about it.

That Your Excellency has your opinion about these persons (I take perhaps Mr Dunn and Mrs Detring), have You me during our daily intercourse, where we always talk about Railway business, not said what actually your
It would have been my duty, where I know that you kindly forced to spend as much time as possible on the embassy and to live, was dependent on your information. I dare not to claim positively that you are close to the mentioned gentlemen relationships, although Mr. von Ketteler's frequent correspondence fpondenz with Mr. Mandl gives rise to many speculations, quite apart from other indications.

Your Excellency, together with Mr. von Ketteler, has invited me urges and lets others urge them to go to Europe.
Here in Tientsin, the news you represented was Soil prepared for me in such a way that I am virtually morally impossible was, at least for business. They had tried to portray me like a dear friend of yours who has been a little Too much champagne and now I'm not really in the right mood.

If this is not the case, please read my correspondence between have proven to us, and that my business onalications, whom you otherwise applauded so much, and to whom I, apart from personal
I owe it primarily to this friendship that you received me so willingly and [nn on the embassy have not lost weight, but my reports may also witnesses.

Logically, I must assume that since you are urging me to Europe ji go, you present the ground there in a similar way= Way as here, perhaps in a not quite so benevolent ice.

They know my whole life, the names of my friends and inde, you 15 tell each other all the adventures I have ever experienced ate, mentioning names, you asked about the Names of the members of my family, their position and attitude.
You have recently been particularly enquiring and asking questions after episodes from my life; you 0 0 from earlier that I I divorced my former partner in disagreement because I felbe has withheld my correspondence, to which I only moral and by mistake no longer a legal order 2 You know my peculiar friendship with in Berlin, you finally know my views in the Semitic question, which we have been discussing together for 8 years in literary and

– 113 –

studied academically and in which my views in contrast are humane to your people.

What if you had used the knowledge of all this or would I have let it be used to ruin myself in Europe? –
The thought is frightening for me, but nonetheless
I will not lose courage; the threads of such an intrigue would can ultimately be found out.

In report No. 17, which I received today, the eleventh, at 11°, o'clock In the morning I personally took it to the post office and had it registered, I ask the missing page numbers 123 to 124. In this Reports I told you that I had brought our case before the Lord

Reich Chancellor, whose courts, if he does not otherwise orders, I will present myself. I ask you for your assistance delivery and sending of the cards and notes through which I and suspected Sir Robert Hart, to save my life. I must undertake to justify myself and hope that our authorities and in particular the Chancellor and Excellenz von Maybach are not as indiscreet as you make them out to be have tried to put it this way.

Finally, I would like to ask you to provide information about the interpretation of the peculiar affair, where you forced me to give my life and kept them for a while, and about which I recently discussed with Professor E. Pander, who was passing through here said, I remain

Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafch.

Signed in the presence of Gustav Schmidt.

PS Should my upcoming negotiations with Li Hung Chang also have a general consequence, the questions the participation of the securitization and the Berlin bankers in the undertakings of our highest authorities for assessment be laid, as it was from the beginning by me bed 8

His Serene Highness
the Prince Chancellor von Bismarck,
Berlin.
Tientfin, August 20, 1888

Your Serene Highness, I would like to take the liberty of following my two previous reports hereby g N reports from me to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, No. 16, pages 123 to 136, and No. 17, pages 125 to 149, and also LN of a Letter to the local Imperial Consul pi C. Enemies = these writings please HN as well as – the previous ones, around 8 attention and careful storage alongside the previous ones.

UI. Detum ente. 8

On the 9th of this month I took the liberty of sending you the following per= personal information

"Please ask Consul Feindel to disseminate the facts of the criminal case eret protocol, questionable railway nonsense Peking urgently.

aa

I very much regret having been forced to take this step have and have to use such strong words." nn Your Serene Highness will soon find out that in the case of self-defense and the words, if perhaps not entirely lucky= were chosen, the situation, even in this version, only approximately correspond. |

Of course, I could not answer this despatch.
wait, but I have not heard from Mr. Feindel or Sr. Ex= cellence of Brandt, whether anything has happened after that.

The reason for this dispatch was given to me by Mr. v. Brandt's br given to present me here to the Chinese authorities in a light as if I were temporarily mentally incapable of such great work as I started in Peking, eee e and his Threatening to do something similar in Europe if I gave him money= matters of a private nature that were between us, not to were.

The means taken by Excellency von Brandt to achieve
One purpose was of such an extraordinary nature that I was ee nn I like to watch until I have the honor of a Audience with Your Serene Highness, I found out=

have to step in. .

Transcripts of the private correspondence between Mr. von Brandt and I will only be able to send it later, since I have been forced seen 5 to bring my papers to safety in Shanghai, by protecting myself from an eel confiscation by the Ge=
fent was by no means certain. |

Mr. Seh Feindel here himself claims that among the direct Orders of the Embassy in 5, and has such fear, to carry out even the slightest official act which would

As for the ambassador, he allowed me to simply record an invitation to morium because he suspected that their Content concerning the embassy The Consul requests me urgently, to refrain from all such requests, since he has a wife and children and through the hancune of Mr. von Brandt fine position even ≠ would like to lose.

In the attached report No. 16 I have informed His Excellency of Brandt was asked to report to Your Serene Highness on various points.
report. I have in the same report those persons called, to which 5 my F ur exploitation from≠ delivered. These are all people (I take Mr. Bud bie aus) von e Rufe, about which I would like to calls.

union of the former Consul, Mr. Alfred ces von Brandt had solved the very slightest problem a year ago.
tion of the majority of those mentioned. 5

– 115 –

It is quite beyond question that these people are trying to Railway companies in northern China's gi ways to bring
It is aimed not only at the whitening of the Chinese, but also European public, and that Mr. von Brandt in common partnership with Mr. von Ketteler used my work for this purpose.

I am firmly convinced that in this case a good German company, which was so prepared that it already prospect of success, for the personal interests of the two
The aforementioned côte d'azur transferred it.

After attempts to eliminate my person in Peking (because of which a suspicion on Mr. von Brandt for unferc# lang:
years of friendship) unhappy were, Mr. von Brandt is now trying to get me here under the mask the feeling that e. to discredit, and it is subject to me little Doubt that he, who has my whole life and all my relationships

enau knows, will have tried to find me in Europe, possibly at
To discredit Your Serene Highness.

I ask Your Serene Highness, if such a thing should be,
with the greatest reserve until I have the opportunity to
to justify. g

With the post on the 26th of the month from Shanghai, with which
This letter is also expected to go to Mr. Hermann Mandl, Representatives of the Krupp company here, go to Europe, ostentatiously a part of a gun contract, which was signed yesterday for the English company Jardine Mathefon & Co. was scuttled, and some of which have recently been ordered by the Chinese given, to bring to e ,.

ee hlich, however, the Bivede of the maturity of Mr. Mandl of a different nature, and I am convinced that Your Serene Highness will thank me later if I bring this to your attention today make sure that everything Mr. Mandl does and says is done with great Caution is to be taken, and one would do well to take action to be carefully controlled.

As soon as I have my . with the Chinese a
I will hurry to Europe and Your Serene Highness and give you a picture of your nis and people, which I accuse Mr. von Brandt withheld from you or our authorities for personal interests

* I remain Your Serene Highness' most humble servant
Carl Paafch.

Telegraphic dispatch.

Tientsin, August 80, 1868.
Prince Bismarck, Berlin. Please note the excelsiors Maybach — Acts. *i*iI Baal.

— |. —

8°

— 116 —

His Excellency
the Viceroy Li Hung Chang,
Tientsin
Tientsin, September 21, 1888.
Your Excellency

I cannot help but ask, before I leave Tientsin, my devoted Thank you for the kind kindness you have shown me during my stay in China, and for the time which you have listened to my suggestions 3. ü
That it has not been granted to me to be of service to Your Excellency and my eee had to end in an intrigue, which my current trip to Europe requires is very regrettable.

If I have refused to inform Your Excellency those persons to name those whom I suspect of being involved in
Mr. von Brandt, this was done less out of fear, that I would like to meet the wrong people, rather than out of concern, that you want to equate me with the class of Europeans, who make it their profession to mutually support Your Excellency to blacken. ö

I fear that this will cause me to lose the respect of those who is necessary if you want to entrust me with a larger task.
I would like to ask you most humbly to grant me the goodwill for which I thank you today and hope that it
I will be able to provide you with proof that it is a 1 intrigue, and to uncover it without that I have to resort to means which I fear that you wish to expose me to your contempt.
I remain Your Excellency most obediently

1 Carl Paafch.

translation.

Mr. Lo Fong Loh,
Private Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy
Li Hung Chang 3c. 3c. 3c.
Tientsin
Tientsin, September 21, 1888.

Before I leave Tientsin, I feel compelled to fulfill a duty=
2 aun Ihnen nn Dant e for the 0le Effort that you have made through the 1 long and repeated old have with His Excellency the Viceroy Li Hung Chang ge=
evening.

o unpleasant they were in part and so little enjoyable
liche and to demonstrate them immediately, then I am Nevertheless, I am no less committed to you and hope that

– 117 –

I hope that on my return from Europe I will be able to give you some

To further explain things that I have told you so far ethical considerations could only be hinted at. It is likely that After my departure, people will try to attack me and discredit, but I hope that whatever happens,

You will keep me in friendly memory until * my return
In the meantime, I wish you all the best and hope that Wishing you well for your tireless work and strenuous duties= deserved reward will be given.

I remain Your Most Highly Reverend,

Carl Peas

His Serene Highness
the Prince Chancellor von Bismarck,
Berlin.
Tientsin, September 24th.

Your Serene Highness

I allow myself, most obediently, in pursuance of my last report of August 20th of this year that I will be in a few days to Europe N to face you and because the serious accusations which I made against the embassy in Peking, and the gentlemen von Brandt and Ketteler in particular,
to justify.

The negotiations on the eee through which the accusation has been provoked, have unfortunately not flourished here, for the most part by the fact that Mr. von Brandt took over the entire river of the embassy has summoned to represent me at the
to discredit the Chinese, and then also by how His Excellency the Viceroy Li Hung Chang assured me that China
a at this moment is not thinking about major railway construction.
The yours ben of a final report from me to the embassy in Peking and my private correspondence with Mr. von Brandt
I will be honored to send either from Shanghai or bring it yourself.

I remain Your Serene Highness' most humble servant

Carl Paafd.

– 118 –

| Confidential. |
150/180. Report No. 18 |
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

His Excellency Mr. M. v. Brandt,
Imperial German Ambassador,
Beijing. |
| Tientsin, August 29, 1888.

I hereby most respectfully request Your Excellency,
please have the missing page numbers 125/149 added
to want.

Before I move on to the actual purpose of this letter, namely ly to ask you to ask various questions to our local authorities, I must mention some incidents,
which relate to the issues pending between us,
and first I have to confirm that before I turn to the elaboration of the projects in question, and 4 even when they had already rushed away,

"Excellency and have assured others that at present there is no Competition for my company exists, in particular that Mr.
Builder C. Bethge never worked out such a project. I
I checked with you as well as with the building inspector Ernst Aßmann, an old acquaintance of Mr. Bethge. Both could give me the positive assurance that this is not the case fe, and when Mr. Bethge was in Peking in April of this year, he I even asked Mr. Aßmann whether he could possibly look into the
The fact that there is currently no
Competition for my company was a pleasant Circumstance, which is also specifically mentioned in one of Paoutingsfu's reports mentioned.

On the 28th of this month, after Mr. Bethge had recently returned from Peking had returned, I had a conversation with the same, in to which he admitted that he had a railway project for the exploitation of the coal mines in Shanfi. He
I had a similar thought in previous years, and Mr. Guftav Detring had already thought of something like that. He referred to some new studies attitudes with Mr. Aßmann &c. &c. and all of this with quite un=
He acted as if he had an inkling of what was going on.

I note the peculiar behavior of the fifth against - me fo attentive and 3 en Mr. G. Detring and others Circumstances which I will continue to do, 2 I believe not to make a mistake when I condemn the instigated in=

- 119 -

trigue, as far as it takes place in China, in all its nakedness and to have seen through the subjection

I am afraid of a web of untruths, as their outcome= starting point I unfortunately cannot avoid meeting Your Excellency in person and I must express my regret that otherwise
l honest and decent people through Your Excellency's influence and former good name I to participate in a fo f shameful Intrigue. Mr. Baumeister Carl Bethge asked me that it is a competing line to Shanfi with a different end point. Then he said that in Richthofen
It was written that Shansi Province was full of iron and Ki and that every man there could read this. In short, he c complains ienen.
a

arguments which weigh on his own conscience 8
e, is Another event which I have to report to you 9

an audience lasting several hours with His Excellency the Viceroy Li Hung Chang, in which he officially declared to me that you had have sent a special messenger to inform me that I am "deranged in my mind" and that he had not received me for so long
I now request Your Excellency, if this is not true, Viceroy and to confront him as he because of such a * untruth. What do you mean
As far as mental state is concerned, I have relied on the local acting physicians and the Viceroy's own healthy
I can only tell you that I have
I got the impression that the Governor General and completely understand the motives of your actions. I have No other European was mentioned to him except the Yours, and I told him why I am with your superiors authorities have taken the path of complaint and lawsuit
but the Governor General has already given me names of Europeans, from which it emerges that he was involved in the intrigue on the trail, and my assumptions in general do not deceived. Here I would like to mention that Li Hung Chang, who He can only be pleased if he discovers such activities, fe with a calmness appropriate to the seriousness of the matter and dignity, and that he has complied with my wish to have the whole opportunity to treat it as discreetly as possible. What Furthermore, what has been negotiated between the Viceroy and me, I feel 3 not obliged to inform you, but I will have the honour to to report to Berlin. a What else I have to tell you is that I on the 28th a letter from my mother, dated Minden, July 16th, which contains the 1st passage: "Your letters of 24 and 26 May, which we received on 13th of this month, have e calms you down, since we now know what is wrong with you, and that you are on your way to recovery with Otto (who is Otto Paafch in Waldau) had on 25 June from Mr. von Brandt received a telegram with the following content:

| Brother much better in Tienzin.

– 120 –

The dispatch does indeed report improvements, but since we have no news of illness or an ale, we were but we were worried and racked our brains about what could happen to you. About eight to ten days before receiving your letters, Otto, that he had just received a letter from Peking from Mr. von Brandt received!), who reported your illness to him, which you but missing, he does not seem to have written. But it was fvery kind of Mr. von Brandt that he gave the reassuring de= efche ft in time. Since you now have the telegram fthou hast already been able to undertake the journey to Tientfin, feems thy Arm seems to have healed quite well and quickly; hopefully we will now receive good news again soon.” –

Yes, it was indeed very kind of you, Excellency, to write this letter and send the telegram. What you . my brother may have written, I do not know, I am happy only that he swears my old parents with the sn of this letter The date of your letter will have a special meaning later feparate point of the jutereffe. It was before the departure of Mr. von Ketteler to Tientsin, perhaps mid to 20 April, when you asked so precisely about my brother's address, when you both checked the rankings for this reason, and must It must have been your intention at this time to to write to my brother, and it is clear from everything that I with a long-prepared intrigue & thun have, and that my ee in report No. 16, that you in Europe despite all the friendly assurances you gave me verbally and have made it written down, wanted to morally ruin, are correct. It 55 is in the conventional language which I have already the Sul had to add expressions for your actions" white, and will soon receive the same from a qualified party the criticism. But I have to face other and worse Things are to be prepared. I am completely prepared for the fact that, after= which you temporarily took possession of my keys and raped me and my papers, you the rest my papers, which I have not yet given you in copy

A fept by copying and used for your purposes

evening.

In the eight or nine years of our acquaintance
I always consider you the prototype of a dutiful and legal

Officials, although I understand your weakness, even in trade and intervene in industrial relations and play a role in them you want, for which you neither your education nor your abilities justified, well knew.

And so, as Mr von Brandt put it, to my brother and fan. being.

It said that I had contracted a climatic fever and had become ill in the heat

“%eTö Da Dacia aut Dem hear In Beleune

– 121 –

I as well as other merchants and industrialists have yes for years and we gladly supplied all kinds of material, about which you to Berlin, and if you get 15 much fame and honor, I, as well as others, have given you this gladly granted, as long as you deal with such things honestly and to the utmost common best, whatever the tacit intention suspension. I never had any concerns about the conduct of my office. cares, and my first doubts about it date back to recent times, where you suddenly have such a turnaround in your attitudes and views about people: where You showed a strong inclination to directly engage in business, of which you could understand to intervene, and where your own officials find about your strange management. You can impossible what you have done to me and my affairs 5 Diplomacy: these things have led to the fact that

They stand before me under a double charge, under a criminal nelle and a civil law, and is it only the consideration of our old friendship and the wish of our long-standing, good official In order to avoid a great shame, I have to take up the matter of Sr. His Highness the Prince Chancellor for the benefit and possible compensation judgment.

Now we 9 Excellency, still add 85 to Berlin to answer. Why did you have to attend the wedding festivities at Marquis Tfeng, which took place around 3 o'clock in the afternoon on May 8th standing, the rumor 11 and let it spread that I ferely ill, while I had told you on the 2nd morning I had written that I was doing quite well. These rumors from my serious illness is also on the same day lunchtime in Madame Moorhouse's salon. Please also send the grade if you still have which I sent to you on the afternoon of May 8th by special Votes, and which contained nothing but the words: "No mercy and with what?" and which you used to label me as mentally retarded or to declare sick. This note could only be given after the festivities at Marquis Tfeng around 5-5 ¼ o'clock. Were half you found Dr. Lenz out to me with a big flat dispatch box containing an earthen blanket? What should the dispatch box and blanket mean? Why did you send me by Dr. Lenz two Chinese cakes from the Marquis' wedding Tfeng? Why were you so excited when a pater once the Scene mention that, as Dr. Dudgeon on the morning of May 9th showed me a change trembling, and why did you seek the scene 7, just as you deny the receipt of the thirty pieces of silver which I had paid you for Dr. Dudgeon? Why are you, Dr. and I, so interested after I had broken my arm, whether I could use my left? Why did Dr. Dudgeon let me believe that within three to four weeks I would be back to work, while I am being treated by the local doctors on the

- 122 -

I was informed at first glance that, as a result of the Beijing visit, suffered treatment of Dr. Dudgeon for a whole year of the need would be deprived of my right hand?

Around 25 May Your Excellency brought me at one of the diligent "sick visits with which you honored me and for which you subsequently thanked me so much in a letter and thought that the same m ji long time on the Bojtburcau in General's confulat to Sanghai but: They forced me to sad to open in your presence, and right! had the sharp gaze Your Excellency recognized that it was dated 1887. This letter was a request for postage stamps and written by a child. I put the letter aside half-read, and Your Excellency spoke then about the poor service at the German post office Sanghai and let me confirm what I had already I had told him that when I arrived in China I had received two letters the post office, which I should have found there Dr. Lens was present at this discussion. After you and Dr. Lenz had left, I read above mentioned letter to the end and found in an e of the father this child, that the letter had quickly arrived from Europe, and that the child made a typo with the year and instead of 1888 he had written 1887. I ask what Your Excellency might have said. Excellency to the assumption 5 that this letter is so long in i gotegen haben u? . you brought Dr. Lenz when you brought me the letter, and for what purpose You used the incident? I state here that I immediately, after I discovered the typo in the date, the post office in Shanghai on suspicion of delaying the transport of this letter which you had wanted to throw at it, and right there and then, before the post office for Shanghai was closed.

a once we are on the subject of letter delivery, I ask Your Excellency, if you are able to provide some further information about the strange incident which affected the customs post on 14 July and which carried my report No. 7.

The content of this long and not unimportant letter, whose Production and transcription took about 14 days, you in the system of espionage which you have introduced here 98 and which is occasionally mentioned in Report No. 16

incident turned out to be known about 14 days earlier than he monkey. Due to the postal accident, he arrived another eight days later officially in your possession. You could therefore read the contents of the letter over 2/ weeks earlier than you knew the same person | to know. The intended broadcast stopped | July also known Jan Was it now a coincidence that Your Excellency on 14 July had a special courier from Peking here, who was on the same days back to Beijing?

Perhaps your Excellency can provide information on how It happened that the consular courier, who had made an official search of Consul Feindel for an audience for me with the General Governor

– 123 –

fell ill on the way to the Yamen of the latter and for a long time stayed away from the end and that Consul Feindel

n never received an answer to this letter!
May I ask Your Excellency, since you or Mr. von Ketteler

the sale of my works had stimulated how high

You have perhaps assessed the value of the same? I mean, however, not for Chinese, but for Europeans.

May I further ask Your Excellency how it came about that, after You will receive from me at the end of March the sum of 20000 Mk. for at least on a 110 borrowed, you offered me on 2 June, from you to take money, and told me that you can easily also take larger sums that you acknowledged the latter by that you later actually gave me the 20000 Mk. on my wish and then tried to deny that you had June 2nd would have said anything like that?

. 5 I would then ask Your Excellency to inform you of the sum
You have paid Dr. Dudgeon for the services he has provided to you from 8 to 11 May on my person, or For such services, one usually pays great sums, and the amount paid must be large because this corrupt and greedy doctor refused to to take 9 the 0 from me. Your Excellency had always believes that the time is not far behind when diplomats were N farms provided sums of money to technologies; and Your Excellency's view on local Chinese business Bingen yes to the fact that they can only be attracted by bribes furthermore, that a skillful use of untruths in Business operations with just as much legal status as a fictive end of the help of German forces in the event of a war with Russia; not once, but twenty times I Ae e taken, 915 to inform that such means not only to and for fi Dede " but also the nn inappropriate and not to the desired goals would be more that I would have a longer practice to represent my views to the side. 0 I have given you these opinions on 25 April, but you apparently did not tell me want to believe.

As Your Excellency's correspondence to me, be it official, be it fo throw itself under my criticism as soon as it touches on business matters,

o also forfeit your own person and that of the person under your given personnel also subject to my criticism if they directly or under your influence without authorization and without my consent interferes in my affairs, if they are not for Da land e harassing or criminal tendencies 1 Your letter white, for the most part, already a self-criticism, which partly white in the answer and . the non-answer
the legitimate questions asked. If somehow a diploma= tic procedure on your part towards me in Impenbung 1 a

is, then this is in our correspondence, and may I

I can look back with satisfaction in that I have succeeded in it to clarify the situation in order to protect myself from suspicion, which could have been 1 for me if I was here in Tientsin, but yours and Mr. von Ketteler's ship would have traveled to Europe.

"As for your own person, I have already
I have spoken about it before and noticed that none of you can wait for you to conduct commercial or industrial business understand exactly, and even less that you operate such yourself Nobody can demand such a thing from you. If you but still want to deal with such things, then it is necessary that you have a clear idea of the responsible-ness, which you thereby assume in all directions. That I have found your business terms not to be outstanding,

Year and day, since they had a vague idea about stock exchanges-
the business operations through bribery and money-making through lottery little, while the operation of the actual trading and banking business is always unclear
I have told you, despite others as well as I have been telling you for years and enough about it. It is also quite natural
Of course, in order to understand such things, one has to practice
1 must, and all this has not prevented you from Expansion of German trade and industry in China can and have been useful. Like others, I am also ready and always ready to acknowledge this. The race takes on a different shape when you use the high standpoint as 5 of trade, shipping and industry, to which You are entitled to leave your position as Imperial Envoy and Want to force people to do business against their better judgment operate, as they neither promote German trade nor prosperous, nor with our existing laws and healthy Principles can be combined at all; or if you yourself operates in an illegitimate manner. This is in the previous present case a fact which I request you to bring to your attention to contest the lawful authority if you can.

Now I will also tell you why you the private report of February 3 from Paotingfu refused to Berlin. With full confidence in your legality and Out of disinterest I had included a passage in it whereby They virtually took over the inheritance of my work if my Efforts with the Chinese authorities failed. They were but also inheritance if I died in the meantime or otherwise lost my life, and in the latter case would perhaps facilitate the fulfilment of my condition that my works are only published in honest senses have become unnecessary for you. Furthermore You found in 175 reports a statements and the

this European Parliament and Advisor His Excellency Vicenigs Li a Be it ; wi 0 partly from Marquis Tfeng, partly from my point of view and on the basis of your own

– 125 –

Assessment of the personalities were made. The Find the 10 mentioned 10 things exactly the same as those in mentioned in my report No. 16, and I hereby request you to these individual personalities, their tendencies, their antecedents,
to report to Berlin, as you have described to me |. Z., and what the qualifications of these people are for German national to help represent interests here; ed the context of these Persons with the English company Jardine Mathefon & Co. |
Finally, in the above-mentioned report there is a challenge to the future shape of things here, if stock market speculators and fraudsters should succeed in gaining the upper hand in Chinese businesses
u received. That the newly appointed Krupp's. Mr. Mandl
In the latter category I heard from Your Excellency and Mr. von Ketteler himself. Now I ask: how is it that you promote the interests of this man, while you give me the ground from under your feet? With the other mentioned
You have entered into closer relationships with people, including the Keutenant a. D. von Hanncken, who was a business friend of Mandl,
To my great regret, when I arrived in Beijing, as totally demoralized. Unfortunately, this statement is also true with which I had been given some months before by the local Consul Mr.
A. Pell dram and those of local people. The misleading Article in Jardine Mathefon's Chinese Times at the Departure of Hannecken to Europe, entitled "Capt. von Hannecken", and whose modified reproduction appeared in the Kölnische Zeitung,
Also, I don't get the impression that you are dealing with fake
What Baron von der Goltz and the building inspector Ernst Aßmann, I was the same were expressed in the relevant reports from Paoutingfu.
Whether and to what extent you have drawn them into your intrigue, and which Juterer, and whether such fie to participate in it bc»
I am not able to judge and reserve for myself
my opinion on this. I have already read Mr. von Ketteler's mentioned in report No. 7. If I have resisted, that he was allowed to interfere in my affairs
would be, this would not only be due to insufficient knowledge niffe A en in technical and industrial matters, but also because of his immaturity in judging major issues at all. found von Ketteler is certainly a charming person and at a common sense, but he has real work in in a lifetime but never met. I am firmly convinced that a former superior, the Consul, now Minister Resident ravers, can recommend him dona fide . as a talented man= fch, who with some work and serious will could have made it further

3 a the post of Legation Secretary in a decorative manner to clothe.

As much as I personally regard Mr. von Ketteler as a kind
M be, bd inftinetiv
BT Leet E

/

– 126 –

Whether it was right of him to still interfere in the same and in Tienzin with notorious stock market fraudsters and other
I also want to avoid contact with people of dubious nature
It seems to me, however, that such a honorable post, such as that which Mr. von Ketteler has received by the grace of our Emperor, and the many honors which were bestowed upon him have become part of it, are poorly in harmony with the work, which he has assumed in the economic field.

| I hereby accuse Your Excellency of having looked at my works,
after they have begun to show prospects of success,
have wanted to appropriate for your purposes, be it for the technicians, which you have come out of the past year on a whim klafen, to create a sufficient reason for a Dunn, fe
it was about basing a stock market speculation on my ventures.

She as well as Mr. von Ketteler, both penniless officials, have often enough spoken of great riches, and you fpecially a given to me more than once to 1 that it indifferent if people said that we were doing the business together Pune and I always had to argue, that this is real work, and I have your insinuation=
tions for a long time. When I finally did this and you.
stated that after the work was completed in the form of a
You could earn a salary without having to be a civil servant
had to give something away, you liked this idea at first, but later you thought that it was a nice thing to have shares to . like those of the Bavier=Chauffour's companies in Tonkin, in which the English company Jardine Mathefon & Co.
I have been involved in lately. After I have been against all such Infinuations, it must have suited you best, that my person was completely eliminated, especially if you already without my knowledge and involvement negotiations concerning my work started with compliant people.

I accuse you of having, while I was your guest, was, "have let them have enough, after the consumption of which I felt unwell

51 that you invite Dr. Lenz to my temple Kuang=Shang= fe sent out on an inexplicable mission; that you are in the night of May 8th to 9th without authorization in my temple and have disposed of my papers; finally, that you me and interned, and all this, as described, to take possession of my work. Furthermore, that you and despite medical evidence to the contrary, fe authorities as mentally retarded, and that you I would be happy to do the same in Europe if I would not be willing to deal with private financial matters.

In one of your private letters you write that I am under the Impression fe as if you me 1 5 I did not know that i ever set up such a bag of se. You have probably twice n private letters made threats against me, ea offi= recorded babe The third time I received indirect threats

– 127 –

discovered by you was in discussions with General=Gon=

verneur. N

He asked me whether, since I had fallen out with you, Tienzin would be a safe place for me to stay, which is why You don't throw me on a warship and transport me to a tiren?

How does the General Governor come to such strange ideas? decisions about the powers of a European ambassador, if they have not been taught to him recently?

I told him that I was not very concerned about my own situation, but even more so for my papers, which I saw myself obliged to to safety.

I recently took the liberty of asking the Governor General To give a brief sketch of the events in Beijing, however, I refused to give him the names of those Europeans from whom whom I suspected that they were familiar with my work and legitimately. I could have easily done this, but did not want to be counted among the category of those Europeans who consider it their profession to support other Europeans in to denounce the Chinese. His Excellency the Viceroy was highly ungracious about this refusal, but as he left out he left the name will be given me similar honors as fine time in Paouting-fu. This time, however, the same 1 u friendly introduction by Your Excellency The Viceroy asked me why, since I had once been with

w. Excellency would be divided, I would not turn to people like was from Möllendorff, who would also be at odds with you. I replied that we are dealing here with an analogous case to the Möllendorffschen, and that such a step would be absolutely far from it; I was not looking for any alliance in this case at all enough, I would prefer to fight my case alone. Since I Since I could not write, I only had the help of some friends who have such correspondence as I would have to lead immediately, could not find a pleasant task, even if you only have the clerk's office

How dangerous it is, by the way, to make blasphemous accusations such as yours, may it be clear to you that we have seriously raised the question with the Viceroy as to whether Your Excellency were not themselves deranged in his mind, whereby I was of the opinion, that you are at most blinded by many millions who were still quite quiet on the paper. Now enough about the audience with the Viceroy.

"I would just like to ask what Your Excellency means by this. mean by telling me that you have the gold-plated chains Did you intend to leave the civil service soon? Did you perhaps want to 3 e create, as I have suggested in my reports

enough have a SE

J . really not what you want, but under all circumstances ftände has you and Mr. von Ketteler": arbitrary intervention in commercial and industrial businesses suffered tremendous damage to the discredit of the Germans in general, and will it continue work is needed to repair the damage.

– 128 –

For example, instead of being able to quietly finish my work now, through which the echniter Bes you have summoned may ftarbeit, I must go to Europe to to make up for the harm you have caused. Another Word about Mr. Mandl. Mr. Baumeister Bethge tells me that You the 1 which he recently received in Peking celebrated as a happy event. About a year ago, when. this contract, of which the new orders are only a part form, was completed, you described to me the Er event as a sad one, because an English company and an Austrian richer the agents out here are. I ask you now, where does this change of opinion come from?

By and large, I have now paid my debts gun a suspicions exhausted and now request you to defend.

Of one thing I am certain, that you as well as Mr. von Ket= teler will realize to your detriment that in the long run the Truth is the best ally.

I remain Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafch.

181st Report No. 19
to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking.

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Imperial German Ambassador ㄣ. ㄣ. ㄣ.
Beijing.

Doliohama, October 18, 1888.

Your Excellency, please follow up on my report No. 18
dent! mir per Due of the Foreign Office in Berlin kindly ask you to explain in what way you would like to made collections of natural specimens, such as snails, loess= men as well as the embroidery patterns and Chinese

Your Excellency most obediently
Carl Paafch.

Berlin and Minden.

.- — -
Personally!

His Excellency Mr. von Maybach,
Winifter of Public Works, Knight of the Black Order of the Eagle xxx
Berlin.
Berlin, December 18, 1888.

Your Excellency, the undersigned, takes the liberty of recent arrival in 7 ge and bid request
i

for granting an audience in Chinese railway matters to express themselves.

| Carl Paafch
from Minden in Westphalia.
Oötel Continental.

Personally!

His Serene Highness the Prince of Bismarck,
Chancellor of the German Empire, Minister of Commerce 1c. vc. 1.
Berlin. |
Berlin, December 18, 1888.

Your Serene Highness, the most humbly undersigned, takes the liberty of recent arrival in Europe and the ing from= to speak, to an audience that had already been arranged earlier= here Sineiifcher AR ef and the Imperial German Ambassador= to be ordered to Peking as soon as possible. N
| Carl Paafch

from Binden in Westaln.

Stel Continental.

— nam —

Berlin, December 19, 1888

Your Excellency, in accordance with the order received, notified, His Excellency the State Minister en ee, rem et 5 Eu 5

N

I.

baking to paint the Gineieiße Gifenbahe-ungelegenheiten colloquial Documents 3 A 9

— de

half of his department; the Minister therefore presents you suggest that you contact the Foreign Office if necessary.

Central – Bureau
NB. 2357. of the Ministry of Public Works.
(L. 8.)

Foreign Office!

– .

To Mr. Carl Paafch,
Your Honor, * 3. here. 5

The Federal Foreign Office responds to Mr Carl Paafch's on 18th of the month that the audience requested therein was not granted.
en can.

Berlin, December 19, 1888.
II. 25730/47467. L. 8.)

Personally!

His Serene Highness the Prince of Vismarck,
Reich Chancellor, Minister of Commerce &c. &c. &c.
Foreign Office
Berlin.
Winden, February 28th I.

Your Serene Highness, the most respectfully undersigned,
In. December v. J. to ask for an audience and was from the Aus=
the current office refused.

A rheumatic disease, which he contracted on the m, ar Schreiber has so far prevented further steps in fine Ange= peculiarities to do.

He now allows himself to complete the Dates 10 July, 1 and 20 August of the year 1888 from Tientsin
. and under the dates 17 July, 6 and 24 August in Shang=
Since the German Reich Post Office registered letter material
the plans announced in the letter of September 24, 1888 Documents 5 namely:

- 1) 11 ck His Excellency Mr. von Brandt to the same:
- 2) 11 letters (including 5 extracts) from the writer to His Excellency Report No. 18 to the Imperial German Armed Forces
- 3) Report No. 18 to the Imperial German andt in Peking, dated Tientsin, August 29, 1888; which also follow: .
- 4) Report No. 19 to the Imperial German Embassy, dated Yokohama, October 18, 1888;
- 5) List of objects for knowledge entrusted to His Excellency von Brandt= 955 institutes: .
- 6) Interrogation of the Chinese servant Matthias, the intrusion of the von Brandt in the temple Kuang = Shang » Tize and concerning the collection of Carl Paafch's papers;

– 131 –

7) Short extract from an "In Memoriam" concerning the Bor on 8 and 9 May 1888 on the Imperial German embassy in Netig.

8) 2 5 on Se. Excellency the Viceroy Li Hung Chang in

Tientsin:

9) a correspondence between the writer and the family. in total 30 documents (which we kindly ask you to examine and to be attached to the material sent earlier).

The private correspondence between Mr. von Brandt and Carl Paafch was supposed to gain a clear picture of the situation in the previously sent simultaneous official correspondence was inserted Which considerations have led Your Serene Highness to To refuse his time is beyond my knowledge.

It is understandable that a government, when it accused, 6 as long as this is possible, even in cases where the Government may be convinced that the or the officials concerned have acted unjustly; it is also It is understandable that it cannot be easy for a government to grant a simple private citizen rights over a W officials. Bu

As regards this particular case, I request you to: It should be considered that this is primarily caused is due to the writer's failure to respond to the propositions of the Lord von Brandt and von Ketteler, of a private nature, which, apart from their practical worthlessness and other reprehensibleness, it requires would have, my from the beginning, with the agreement of the Mr. von Brandt, on presentation to the Federal Foreign Office. Ministry of Trade and Ministry of Railways to withhold from the knowledge of these authorities. That these two office and in particular the former, to the previously voluntary to prevent the promised sending of the documents to Berlin, the Persons Your Serene Highness and His Highness the Minister of Railways, by giving details, tried to slander and, when this was not elang and one with the threatened connection with other Per= fonce the beginning had been made, facts were linked to this, which show that the intention was to get close to the person of To rid myself of these facts, which are the greatest Partly still to be proven after year and day, are in the short excerpts from the In Memoriam described).

That, after the crime has failed, the relevant party has done everything to win the ear of Your Serene Highness and our It is in the nature of things to evade authorities, and that it now tries to portray me as "deranged in my mind" in order to To take away the reliability of my information is, after all the previous This is also not surprising for those who have passed on.

"However, in all these attacks Archi. was asked to operate, fuch is also the case with the last used remedy of Jen. Wäh= while in Tientsin one generally speaks of the U Nepal

Ass i

von Brandt to discredit me, laughed and | – 132 –

ben has given, is the thing here in Europe, where I do not fo much= I know someone else. I was barely a few hours in Germany, when I learned that Mr. von Brandt was here in in the sense in which I described it in Report No. 16 to the Imperial Ambassador= [haft to 1 suspected, had preparatory work or had preparatory work affen that a continuation of my work, if not us possible, but almost could have been done like this. How does I express this, in view of the kindness and the amiable in private letters that I was "in good health because of" wants to go to Europe. |

My journey through America had the purpose of visiting a back there gl New-Horker doctor, who after the Kata= ftrophe of May 11, 1888, was confined to me at my insistence, that he mc This doctor not only gave me the certificate, that he found me from the 12th/13th of Mat until my departure, where he often visited me, always found me mentally fresh and healthy, but also told me how 8 of Brandt's friend, Dr. Dudgeon, has repeatedly requested him to write a document to me

aptly, to sign and that he had initially refused to do so, but finally lich in a missionary society by Dr. Dudgeon, to sign a certificate. The exact content of this gap in the document the doctor in question can no longer remember; as much as he still white, it was harmless. But if it is not done
fh, this doctor is available to me at any time. |

It was only in America that I learned that Dr. Dudgeon
The fact that Mr. von Brandt paid this doctor,

he himself agrees, and that he has the sum of 30 F, which I gave him 5 paid this doctor, tried to deny it until I presented him with witnesses:
sheds a significant light on the whole practice.

On 8 May, Mr. von Brandt wrote to me, like a daily lich. On the 9th I am supposed to be sick and on the 12th/13th I am supposed to be healthy Bon Kr Date from today cover me medical and other Certificates. So about 3 days, where I was looking for a verifiable persecution in which I almost lost my life would have been in the power of Mr. von Brandt and his subordinates levels where I was raped and treated with medicines and I am said to have been ill when I was violently treated with ugly injections.

And this circumstance, which I deny, is used to in China and Europe impossible! In June, the
Mr. von Brandt, who was otherwise always in financial difficulties, suddenly Money and is looking for a debt settlement with me shortly before un to explain; above this an ambiguous Gorrefpondenz, Loss of important letters c. The events in Tientfin! What ft are all things displayed in the face of ndt's bear rough friendship for me! 8
When His Excellency Li Sorg Chang told me that Mr. v.
Brandt told him through a special messenger that I was

"d ed in my mind", he said he should not receive me, what all these attempts are aimed at > sign; 8

en, which Mr. von

– 133 –

because of an insignificant person and an insignificant
For the sake of interpretation, one would not meet such ey eln: I said, that I myself could not say it. That "Mammon" is the
The main motive for von Brandt's actions would be to
There was no doubt about it for Li. I told him that von Brand had heard of it.
prochen If only he wanted to break the gilded chains of officialdom shake off where he actually wanted to go, whether a position was a= take, as I aspired to in my projects, or whether he only

I don't know if I wanted to trade.

Then Li said laughing: "Nobody will trust him"
ken!" That's what Li, who is otherwise very cautious in such matters, told me.

The Viceroy pointed out to me that I could not write myself
I contacted one of his officials, to whom I gave detailed information about all Events with my projects in Beijing and the events in eking himself dictated, but with the omission of all superfluous Ranch, for weeks I have 10 in a ban of Vicelonlas 409 worked hard on it.

I then briefly explained the matter to him and took my leave.
This document is still in China and would be of great help to me if I Death by shipwreck or otherwise would have been published immediately.

Furthermore, since Consul Feindel is under pressure
the embassy in Peking felt compelled to refuse me a To record "In Memoriam", such a thing in the presence of Ver= trustees.

What is the current position of Brandt's in China after all the incidents?

The diplomatic corps in Peking, whose doyen von Brandt is, has 1 as a premonition that wrong things have been done gone.

All gentlemen knew me as a close friend of Mr.
von Brandt's, with whom I had not lived alone and always still a lot of wrong, but also the one that was very special to me
I loHlic) I will be ant Zuert be 0 bab

Suddenly it is claimed that I have a Got sunstroke, then: I have had a lot of 1
drunk pagner; my arm broke after falling from a donkey to attribute; I myself must first tell the truth! There will be rumors spread, only to be denied again; after some Days later I was taken to a room rented by Sir Robert Hart House, has me guarded by an English constable and gives
I got an Irishman known as a mauvais sujet as a guard. Never= no one is allowed to communicate with me, except for a few members of the German embassy and two in the service of Sir Robert Hart Gentlemen. From the foreign ng and diplomats send me some of their cards through von Brandt and read 15 after my to inquire about my well-being. von Brandt visits me 2 to 3 times a day, en er

8 6. mae ae

but the 8, my "which he delivers to me himself,

"

— — — —~øqñz f an —

sticks; Pabel drives him

— a in

— 134 —

to open and spy on my servants. Every European in Peking, from the ambassador to the constable, knows that von Brandt bach has let himself in at least suspicious things; everyone knows avon Something. Anyone can say shameful things about Brandt, if he wants, without fear of being punished for it.

von Brandt is dependent and in the hands of many accomplices and many of his officials, whom he partly with their knowledge, partly without such, into the guilt. One of the latter, the Sensing an unfortunate outcome of events, he actually the rape in which he played a leading role, for forgiveness asked. He said he was "under orders". N

That Sir R. Hart, a German enemy par excellence, was involved in the Intrigue is indirectly involved, or knows a good part of it, There are numerous indications of this. That he fell into the hands It is not to be assumed that Brandt gave it; he is far too clever. He, as he was, had the greatest interest in my Influence among the Chinese would not grow, because even with the sale of warships to the Chinese, I had given him a big line made by his calculation.

But von Brandt and Sir Robert Hart jointly "worked", then von Brandt is without doubt in the hands of Sir Robert, for whom there can be no greater pleasure than a diplomat like von Brandt, and a follower like von Ketteler, to lead and exploit at will or crush. The Chinese in Peking know a whole section of the matter, and Li Hung Chang knows it completely!

It was I myself who asked Ir Li for discretion and I believe I am sure of his silence. But that he Knowledge is used, that is only natural. But how must he respond to the German

German authorities and the German embassy in particular,
And where is the reputation of the German officials and the German name at all?

I do not want to talk about Mr. von Ketteler; it is only assured by the most reliable source in Tientsin that the Vice-king, when von Ketteler in April, May last year fet up in Gefhäfte and to make propaganda for his friend Mandl ucht, complimented him out. I mention this only because half, because such incidents Your Serene Highness certainly never be directed. |

In Tientsin the Viceroy informed me that I was an ally nn Brandt wants to fuchen, or rather he asked me whose= ba b I 1 didn't do that.

I did not do it because, for my own part at least,
a. Anfe 5 of the German authorities as such not publicly wanted to finish. | |

In fact, rumors had already spread from Beijing to Tientsin

insisted that something be done at the German embassy there fei, and several persons, including the aforementioned Mr.
Guftad Detring, muissioner of customs, tried to approach me,

– 15 –

when they noticed that I had the Viceroy's ear. (See Correfpon-denz with Madame Detring.) .

I am absolutely committed to the confidentiality of my confidants fure; the rumors about the events in Beijing are therefore probably by the numerous people who von Brandt sent to me as guards arrived in Tientsin. 2

All hidden requests and federal association applications
I have opposed silence and the path I have taken 5 because I consider him to be the most natural and at the same time loyal= ten held.

I confess that after sending in the first papers
I thought I could hope for a reception and gave myself the opportunity would be required to answer questions and to do so orally report what I am to communicate in writing today, as well as and many other things. For me, practical questions come first I would like to complete the work started by Mr.
by Brandt is violently interrupted. But how is it possible if Mr. von Brandt, despite all assurances of friendship hooked up his authority to disseminate me here in Europe credit, and if he continues his work in China unhindered China is the natural field for 20 years my work, where I have achieved success like hardly any other Others. How I worked there, I have described in the books of Tientfin sent confidential memoranda. But in order to proceed I have to level the ground again first.

One way to do this is for Your Serene Highness to present me with propositions allow, in what way one can, using the information provided by Mr. Brandt created situation in a satisfactory way the miserable verse eliminate the holding and thereby gain advantages for German interests in China. For the latter, this offers an extraordinary Opportunity such as has probably never presented itself and will not in the future This would be the way I prefer: Yours, through= would deal with the disobedient officials at your discretion proceed and I will refrain from any further steps.

, The other way for me would be that of the right, which but I will only pursue this path after I have exhausted all means to to handle the affairs in a manner that is least public e, and to avoid a process which There is just too much sensationalism and the press of all countries have a provide rich material, but our civil service in a much more extensive would cause more damage than I could wish for. How could I, for example, in a court hearing, which, moreover, a publication of all my works and ae bes to conceal the shameful things which your officials of Your Serene Highness, once with the intention of [ur to gain their personal interest, and then again, as I was in their power and they were sure to be 9 I would never see the light of day again? How can avoid passing on facts to the general public which Mr.

– 136 –

von Brandt's business activities, e.g. that he private trade in such a way that even the merchants in Tienzin Shake your head and wonder how an Imperial Envoy fuch can be done? How the publication of the ee avoid, under which Mr. von Brandt gave the address of the merchants from Shanghai last year? He had received the Let the rumor spread that he would say goodbye and: would come to Shanghai next to finally return to Europe To return. For this purpose, the signatures were obtained, The address was sent to Peking by some gentlemen on their own initiative. This is causing discontent in Shanghai. Finally, how could one The role played by Brandt at a conference remains unmentioned: tracts played, and other things? That find things, which I will communicate and prove to Your Highness privately but which would rather be kept secret from the public.

As far as only things would come up for discussion which directly or indirectly, as those mentioned above in the present case reference, the negotiations would only be factual jutereffe offer, but with people like von Brandt and his comrades, who have a role of Desperadoes, it is expected that 15 zi desperate means of defence or already

Not for nothing will the gentlemen after Epi= soil of my life. Surely they will some details of the same histories which harm me fostensibly, and also brought out people who, from any are hostile to me or are professional slanderers. But since I am not aware of any evil things, I can Eventuality 15 in this direction all the more calmly, than the clumsiness and untruth with which one has operated so far has, find me a guarantee that this will continue to be the case and it will not be difficult for me to justify myself. Should a von Brandt but have been rejected, a not belonging here

inge, or even dared to do so on the basis of knowledge= nis of my friends and family close to me To suspect people or to throw dirt at them and I thereby placed in the sad necessity of discretion in 1, then Mr. von Brandt would certainly come up short pull.

Personally, I would be very sorry to inform the relatives of the accused and those who have been exposed, especially those who are friends of mine and highly esteemed wife of Sir Robert Hart and their children and brothers, as well as part of the family von Hannecken and To cause others undeserved grief; but at 9 ts the magnitude of the crime, I would finally take such considerations into account page must be set.

In order to characterize Mr. von Brandt, I am sending you through Below is a list of the collections of natural specimens I have made. They represent a significant monetary value, but always a piece of work and some scientific e. Mr. von

– 137 –

Brandt often jokingly imputed to me the intention of making an honorary doctorate title with it or perhaps a new species of To see fish or shells named after me.

However, his handling of these matters suggests that Perhaps he is the one who intends to do what he imputes to others. It is the same with my projects and other works. He tried to make me believe that if my work to the Foreign Office, Your Serene Highness appropriate and, if 65 represented good and monetary value, ruthlessly

n Hanquiers or Induftrielle for your personal benefit
He claimed something similar about His Excellency von Maybach, who, as he assured me, he knew would soon be leaving To corroborate the whole thing, he gave me some details about the handling of business in the Foreign Office, which were of an equally dubious nature.

If such things are told to you by a high official and long= year-old friends in a tone of conviction, then
It is hardly strange if one spends a few days in doubt
A contradiction is not possible, since an envoy such Things should know better. But I believed 3 nothing about it, and when I still asked for the items to be sent Berlin pressed, the catastrophes occurred. Has now von Brandt not carried out with my projects what he Your Serene Highness to impute, so this is only due to my appearance in Tientfin, which may cause the matter to be temporarily suspended. a

When I turned to Your Serene Highness, this did not happen solely in your capacity as Chancellor and immediate predecessor= legislator of Mr. von Brandt, but also and especially, to Your person, to the great popular man of whom we have abroad have the conviction that criminal tripotames
and find it hateful and despicable.

Through the openness of my polemics I believed, and still hope, to have touched a sympathetic side of Your Serene Highness. I I know very well that by the way in which I proceed, as I thought most appropriate because of the great distances.
feen my opponents, who had already been informed at the beginning of July last year that I appealed to Your Serene Highness to give him the opportunity just have to make constellations to defend themselves.

Your Highness knows the reports of the opposing party, which must be have reported to me, and I ask that between the dates before the beginning of July envoys and their later reports.

My submissions today will shed further light on the matter= situation and persons and hopefully prompt Your Serene Highness, to get closer to the matter.

On the whole, I believe a solid piece of German to have submitted a work that does not require criticism, and which has a not insignificant cash and valuable presented. But the way in which Mr. von Brandt has proceeded, make it in need of the protection of Your Serene Highness.

— 2 —

— ur Fr .

— 138 —

Your Serene Highness' decision, which I have appealed to, must I now leave it to you whether Your Serene Highness or the Imperial Government's Brandt cause to its own or at all only want to become their advocate or not. The still missing Papers such as certificates and correspondence relating to the case I have made arrangements for Your Serene Highness. Above all but I would like to be informed of things not mentioned here by Your Excellency= has the privilege of presenting orally.

In a few words I hope to give Your Serene Highness a clearer picture vou of the situation than one can tell from my letters and studying the papers, and suggestions for which allow not only to solve the dilemma in a little sensational way, but rather benefits to draw conclusions from this for German interests. If I do not succeed, Yours. to convince Your Highness and your inclination for these proposals to win, and deny Your Highness the requested judge= desc then I still like the path of general law step by step.

The evidence I possess is sufficient for me to to take this step. However, I do not want to put the matter off any longer postponed, as I am currently in a position to provide witnesses for to cite certain incidents which will no longer be available want.

Regarding the situation in Tienzin, I would like to say the following mention:

When Mr. von Ketteler at the end of August or beginning of September In 1887 he left for Tienzin to manage the consulate there, Mr. von Brandt told me: "Pelldram was not the right man in Tientsin, just as little radish; von Ketteler is the right man one that suits me better," and as Mr. Consul u beginning of 1888 the 8th in Tienzin: "If you go to Tienzin, then You better not tell this weak-headed man anything about your affairs; he will not stay there for long. The Dr. Schrameier is also a very indiscreet person, and I think I will be able to find a way to get you back from Goltz without offending the people in Tientsin."

When I finally returned to Tienzin after my imprisonment went and Mr. von Brandt gave me Mr. von the Goltz refused, he referred me to writing materials and transfers fuppositions to 9 Dr. Schrameier, who fupon the clerk's office with great diligence, willingness and kindness. The first letters were addressed to Peking and were signed by the Clerk of the Consulate for Your Serene Highness. The letter to Your Serene Highness himself was written by Dr. Schrameier twice, so as not to discredit the envoy in the eyes of the court writer. a | but a copy of the letter of 10 July to Yours. Through also flies, probably through Mr. Eonful Feindel, to Peking sent, the private letters of Mr. von Brandt vouch for this,

– 139 –

who now becomes afraid that someone is going to attack him seriously, and Furthermore, he is afraid that I will be attacked by fine people in China activities in Europe (as was actually the case ift. In this way, Mr. von Brandt not only received my business matters, which I have always been ready was to communicate to him, to know, but also things that were important to you. were intended for His Serene Highness alone. Mr. von Brandt has tried to establish a kind of solitude in China. to gain power, for which he was assisted by gentlemen such as Lüder, Dr. Focke, ravers, Pelldram, von Krencki, Rettich and others are not very pleased Such gentlemen enjoy general respect and would furely not have allowed themselves to be used for things, like an enemy, by Ketteler and the non-statutory officials of the wich an envoy ft in Peking, to things whose consequences always ultimately affect the authorities in Berlin must have a counter-measure. A look at the N of the embassy staff is sufficient to find it clear that one is dealing with gentlemen who have a moral support is at least necessary. If such a is missing, or even the opposite is the case, then the example shows. to which states one can reach. From the 5 of the From the documents sent on 10 July last year it is clear which part the same from the court clerk, Mr. Boos, and which from Dr. Schrameier. I have written to both gentlemen not communicated more about the events than what they wrote

What impression the little we saw made is from this: Mr. Boos, who helped me pack the documents, the un and sealing of the same at the Consulate was helpful and saw that what he had copied was sent to You. His Highness left, said (I repeat his words omitting of the jargon): "Well, Mr. Paaſch, that is as clear as thick ink, that someone wants to take your things away from you: that is right: Make it known; I'm fed up with this service and wish I had never gone in; if only I had any place can find, then I go, you can not elves?"

Under the prevailing circumstances, I have of course nothing was admitted. N

Dr. Schrameier refused when he stated in report no. 16 to the places where it was a question of the draft contract committed breach of trust and the intrusion of the Lord of Brandt came to my apartment to continue writing.

Sch was dependent on the help of trusted men. Mr.

Dr. Schrameier, however, has to endure an unpleasant correspondence with Excellenz von Brandt. I have, at least he asked me for an Extract from the letter of Mr. von Brandt, in which he told him. Even Pe Indel was very unhappy and knew not where in, where out, when I asked him to write an "In Memoriam" for me to record; he lost all feeling: "Then I would have to tell you the Testify," he said, "that he dared to sit right to complete, "Dear Mr. Paaſch, remember that I am Mrs. and Indians, and would like to lose my position if I go against Mr. von Brandt," and the like.

— — — 2

2 — —

— 140 —

A few days before I submitted this request to Consul Feindel, he asked him to help him with his trade report. and on my advice he worked on the first part of the same, which was incomprehensible and confusing, according to my information. For the information contained therein, derived from the statistics of the customs authorities I am not convinced of the figures used but the version of the I have initiated the national-economic part.

The second part of the report was prepared by Mr. Consul Enemies with another gentleman from Tientsin; the last, as far as I white, with a third gentleman.

After about 6 to 8 weeks, when I was passing through Shanghai,

I that Mr. Consul Feindel has prepared an excellent trade report for Berlin and sent by the General Consulate.

I would not be in the least surprised if Consul Feindel Order of Mr. von Brandt to my disadvantage any year. I am not mentally competent, or the same.

Of the gentlemen of the embassy in Peking, as I said, So far, one has apologized, whether others will follow, I cannot know how far Mr. von Brandt

Officials implicated in his guilt and to give evidence That the latter is the case, I have more than one reason to accept, but I would hardly be surprised if some or N of the gentlemen would later also testify that they This was done on the orders of Mr. von Brandt. What Mr. von Brandt's qualifications as a merchant, banker, etc. are enough, so I told him this myself in Report No. 18. When I met Mr. von Brandt almost 10 years ago When I got to know him, I was able to appreciate him as a benevolent person; Later we became friends. I

I never cared. In general I thought he was a clever, energetic official, and I also believe that he has this reputation among the Chinese. At that time, however, von Brandt, so far as I know, only with his specialist work and was in the position of all German enterprises benevolently and, as far as he could, supportively against

In my business relations he has actually did not intervene further than to prevent me from communicating with the Chinese here and there. He told me that he had done a lot behind the scenes, but this my observation, and I believed him at his word. Even When I found out that he had sometimes been very aggressive here, He still thanked for his alleged merits, him by name but always gave details and reports about my affairs; I could do this now, as he did not ask them to do so. used to interfere with business.

The aura that he was a man of practical knowledge,

— 141 —

had long disappeared for me; but I always remember him as a friend, for whom I would gladly sacrifice myself in every way

When I met Mr. von Brandt after several years of separation

When I saw him again in August 1887, he was always the same towards me.

the same as before; only I notice that he himself is involved in the business of business. The little he told me about it, when he made inquiries with me, he did not make a particularly favorable impressing impression. For example, in addition to the points made in report No. 18, he suggested

mentioned means of obtaining or forcing transactions a campaign with medals, he wanted to get me one too, and with Li Hung Chang. I dismissed all this as pointless.
accordingly and in any case very prematurely.

The knowledge of finance, which he has in relation to Ans lending and establishing banks were approximately equal Zero. Since he was tormented by the thought and absolutely founder a bank in China, because, as he said, the gentlemen in Berlin gave him all his fame for founding the subsidized Steamship company to East Asia, of which he was the actual father, and he did not even earn anything from it

I worked out the small proposal for what I consider the best way to establish a German bank in East Asia.
I would gladly have given him the authorship. He liked the matter, but, he said, to issue such a circular he would have to first obtain the approval of the authorities in Berlin. I advised to do this to him, since it is with the e of a German ban not in such a hurry; however, he thought that this could not But in the end, it seems, he has nevertheless small work, and by force. I could cite some curiosities which can be found in the intended bonds, as well as the bank rc.

I will only mention this one thing here, which estimates

competent people of Mr. von Brandt as chief financier kenn=

The one gentleman I met recently in New York was former head of a 10 trading company in Japan, Mr. von Brandt and his work there, the other gentleman was the head of a trading house in Shanghai and his name in the first place
Mr. von Brandt, as a possible future director, recommended me "fine Bank". I recently met the latter gentleman in Berlin.
With both of them, I discussed in an objective manner the prospect bank companies; neither of them knew that I was Fer von Brandt Handel and both made exactly the same statement when I asked that von Brandt wanted to establish a German bank in China strongly supports: Baht
; "That is very understandable, Brandt wants to have a bank in order to umpen!" |
That may be enough for this matter.
But things are more serious in Belgg
If an envoy there directly conducts Han 155, then he loses by the mere fact in eyes of the "

— en — — 2 —

— 142 —

This has unfortunately occurred more frequently in the latter and has no way to strengthen the reputation of the European authorities worn.

But von Brandt has unwisely not only got involved in the businessical affairs. whereby in such a fine factotum the much-mentioned Dr. Dudgeou, but he has, in order to do other business to spoil, to engage in intrigues, regardless of the present, and to the authorities in Beijing the Viceroy Li Hung Chang sought to suspect him of his actions, and vice versa.

I only recently discovered these things in Tientsin, therefore, and through von Brandt's inability in business, as well as his frequent palinodies, its diminished reputation today. All these I would have discovered inge earlier if Mr. von Brandt had not surrounded with his friendship and caused him to Embassy. Apart from the fact that I have no reason had suspected Mr. von Brandt of 1 which also thereby my judgment or a clear view regarding the

The work of the German embassy among the Chinese
That Mr. von Brandt probably already knew all these circumstances has long been used to bring this intrigue to fruition 1515 the thought could never have occurred to me. In January of 8.
Mr. von der Goltz occasionally said to me: "It is . Mr.
von Brandt reports on every Commis-Voyageur and on the smallest incidents to Berlin, he has not reported on you at all."

This was strange to me, but with my rock-solid 1 the integrity of Brandt's I have not further thought about it.

Mr Brandt's qualities as a diplomat concern me little. The only correspondence in this field has I travelled with him from Tientsin, partly privately, partly officially, taking into account consideration and use of time and other circumstances.
It has been more extensive for my purposes than I ever expected and hope. The same is now in Your Serene Highness's hands whole. Nor can I allow myself to judge about Mr. von Brandt as an art connoisseur and art collector, but Based on recent experience, I have some reason to believe that a Love of art is not as uninterested as he tends to portray and I have often believed it before. In what way

Mr. von Brandt's attempts to gain scientific fame show his treatment of my collections. In a recent article of the "Deutsches Tageblatt" I read how to create fine small, but "accurate=liche" work on the language and writing of the nn; if I add to this the fact that Mr. von Brandt finished it during a nearly 15-year stay in China 15 to learn the basics of the Chinese language, The more one can allow the suspicion that some departing colleague brought him fame as a sinologist and e en scholar, whom this pamphlet is intended to throw at him is, has helped. f

- 143 -

I would like to add a few words about the person of a Li Hung Chang, whom I have known for nine years through per=personal negotiations. a

In my reports as well as in my memoranda I have mentioned him several times and believe him only in justice have happened. Contrary to popular belief that Li Hung Chang is nothing but a corrupt person and 5 ntrigant, I have won the opinion. that Li Hung Chang's strength lies in the knowledge of people and real understanding of the facts. It is undoubtedly a quite outstanding personality, 1 as a rule at first He sees through his man with his eyes. Like every great man in a similar position, if he is surrounded by a crowd of flatterers, and have especially Europeans, who have his ignorance on the subject have used the range of European inventions and conditions, caused him a lot of damage. How little he is known by Europeans in space. common people think, I have already mentioned in my reports from Paoutingfu mentioned. I would like to add here a fact not mentioned there=to describe Li's extraordinary finesse. f

When Baron von der Goltz and I left Baoutingfu We had to take passports. Hen von Brandt got us the same, and at my request not to Paouting "son=but to Ching=ting=fu, which is three days' journey away: This was done in order to possibly divert public attention from the goals of our trip. After the first greeting in Paor=tingfu asked us Li where we actually wanted to go; we answered him: "to Paoutingfu"; "but", he said, "you have passports to Ching=ting fu". I explained the reason to him. He laughed and said then: "You foreigners are all the same, what kind of

kind of competition!"

It obviously gave him pleasure to discover this little vulnerability and he took advantage of it immediately. It was the first whale that I have not even one atom of untruth towards Li had been guilty of something wrong. That he was truthful with strangers It is out of the question for me, and I want to take the word of one with friendly high mandarin quote:

"From you foreigners we learn your subjective love for Truth, appreciate your perseverance and honesty. As long as

If you tell us so, you will be fine with us.

But if you enter the area of intrigue, then you are loren, in this we are infinitely superior to you!" This statement applies particularly to Li. When Mr. von Ketteler e.g. after the mind of a fourth grader, then this one speaks against Ketteler, as against Li; but also Mr. von Brandt never acknowledged Li's extraordinary achievements ung e therefore he will always be a FJangball in nds remain. We have numerous proofs that Li is also very good-natured.

nine-year presence in China Li Hung Chang

– 144 –

Evidence. Some Europeans live with little use von Li's grace, including Mr. X. and Mr. von Y., a A less than pleasant circumstance.

With this I believe I have said pretty much everything that the current 85 is necessary and as a partial substitute for the ungranted interview may serve, and I have made an effort to use the most descriptive spelling possible.

About ten days ago I was at Excellency von Maybach's ask if he would receive me privately, without his responsibility wanted; I wanted him in a certain matter, i.e. 1883 to ask for kind behavioral measures. The answer was that he could not receive "me" for "official" reasons.

If my lines today do not attract the desired attention should find, then I most obediently request all to return the documents sent. I will then follow the legal path

But I am writing these lines as a protest against being accused in the future of being malicious or in any way the reputation of our civil service has want to belittle; that I have it 1, our authorities and to create necessary difficulties or through my defense
to commit treason or something similar. |

I believe I have done my duty and even more to have in the attempts to obtain 9 hab in authoritative positions and to have fulfilled the duties of loyalty. I have kept silent and discretion, as long as this was the case, and until now spurned to become allies and but that I liked it let it be attempted to take my life and property and Furthermore, I have to portray myself as mentally ill, and all this in order to negligent ambassador and legation secretary etc. some drinks

elder, and even more so from foreigners, and these people Now, if the first deal fails, perhaps to continue to operate in any other way, Your Serene Highness will also cannot be expected.

I decline all responsibility arising from any possible Publication of my papers could arise. Furthermore, the possible accusation that I have taken the situation into account inappropriately wants to make capital in a reasonable way.

Of course, I will be supported by Brandt and his comrades, or whoever I can otherwise be held responsible if the matter cannot be otherwise arrange for damages, not only for my cash expenses, the time spent, the intrigues
e travel, but also for the other inflicted on me Damage. In short, I will claim as much damages as is legally possible for me.

Since June of last year I have been constantly seeking protection for my work and fight for my property, and I am Aut Wah protection of my rights to Europe, since I had the same in China

U a then I would like to ask Your Highness most respectfully where,

A book has just been published under the title:

A Jewish-German Embassy
" and their belligerents.
Jewish homeland, earthquake governments and Jewish world domination.

The book is printed as a manuscript and presented to the ruling German fch princes and the members of the high German candesver= trespasses. The author claims that this book is ini public personal interest and confirms this claim by placing a thousand copies of the extensive work in the Distributed in such a way that apart from the ruling princes and the federal government= advise the German members of the Reichstag to send us one copy each the other Candes representatives a smaller or larger number of copies have been sent to you. The individual members of this country of the representatives can obtain a copy of this book, which is about 950 closely printed pages in large 0etav=format, to a cheap price, which will in any case remain within 10 marks, create. |

The content of this two-volume, four-part work contains
The work is a sensational one, as is the occasion that Derfaffer to write. The latter is a attempted offense (damage) on the Haiferlich German Ge= embassy in Peking, which he describes in a drastic manner and its connection with the international stock exchange and which the "Alliance israelite universelle" seeks to prove.

The main defendant is the author's long-time friend, who Imperial German ambassador in Peking (China), who in wide circles
Mr. M. von Brandt, son of the deceased General Heinrich von Brandt and brother of the Hriege 1870/71 as head of the communications department and Sammer from Colonel von Brandt, known for his paintings. Mr. von Brandt is of Jewish descent and still belongs to Judaism, a chat matter which the Ambassador had always carefully concealed from his friends hold, but at the given moment he himself acknowledged it. |

2

The author tries to prove that not only Mr. von Brandt, but also a whole series of German officials in the same days is that this is not only related to international Jewry and Stock exchanges are closely linked and abuse their official positions to enrich themselves with the help of the latter fuchen, but that this secret Jewish bureaucracy German throne, the welfare of the German Empire, the fanimte German military and civil service, the Christian shepherd and their servants, the Tehrkörper, the German landowners, the German industry, German trade, etc. are seriously threatened.

The book is a serious accusation against the entire Jew= thums of the world, but is directed by naming names in first Tinie against the secret, which is difficult to recognize for the unbiased and harmful activities of the Jews in our German state" being.

The author has spent most of his life abroad and the work of secret Judaism for a long time years without having the slightest idea that he himself is in constant contact with descendants of this dangerous coffee and intimate relationship. Quite strange relationships and A catastrophe had to open his eyes.

Now he shares his experiences for the benefit of the common good and promises to bring a lot of material and to deliver, if one follows a petition contained in a fine book fhow he is compliant.

After he had rejected a compromise with Judaism he petitions in the first part of his book on page 65/64:

1) that the loss of power caused by the machinations of Mr. von Brandt and Compensation for material damage suffered by the members and in the German civil service in China such changes be carried out without danger to life and life to return to fine profession;

and

2) that the whole matter should be thoroughly investigated and the guilty are punished.

After he had brought the matter to light by publishing the book to those who are called to rule us, he lays The second point has little weight in itself, as it It must be left to the discretion of the Candes representatives whether the the abuses brought to light should be remedied or not; but he is willing to submit himself to the painful proof. if he is given the necessary means and the judgment of his case before judges of German descent, the in no way connected with Judaism.

The author has, after some bad experiences with the Jew=

3

thum cut the tablecloth between himself and the latter and calls on all Germans to do the same in their own interest Since this book is likely to be much loved by the Jews, will stir up dust and experience a violent condemnation, fo he calls on all Germans to reject Jewish judgments about this book at hand not to give the slightest credence, but to read the book first and then context to form your own opinion.

The book contains in the first part a description of the experiences of the author with reference to international Jewry.

The second part contains documents consisting of memoranda to the Haiferlich Chinese government and to the German ambassador society in Peking, as well as a number of correspondences, including including Prince Bismarck.

The third part gives the quintessence of Jewish legislation and a description of the work of Judaism in all possible professional fields.

Part IV brings the ritual murders of the Jews from the year gIE up to the present time, some trials, various portraits and some: News about Judaism from all possible sources countries. Finally, in this part there is a list, mainly modern books, which shows us that the fight against Judaism begins everywhere. |

Whatever you think about the book, one thing is certain namely, that the Derfaffer has been fharming Judaism for many years observed from a purely objective standpoint and that he first came to such a negative assessment of Judaism Reason for his many experiences. He is with the scientific research of a number of scholars in complete agreement. The practical experiences ahead of the theory. So we have a book before us which: combining practice and theory.

The author has stayed away from the political life in Germany ftanden, and he now casts a new light from a distant Observatory on political developments in Germany, and! that he brings to light many remarkable new things, beyond doubt.

First he shows us the work of secret Judaism and the thrones around, which, as he puts it, are filled with Jewish clouds to deceive the rulers and to persuade them by flatters and tries to subjugate evil spirits. fons, whose Judaism was hardly believed, appear here peculiar lighting. |

He calls anti-Semitism a noble movement that forerunner of all intellectual movements in the last centuries

– 4 –

which springs forth like a clear spring from a vast swamp, which will quickly make its way and help to dry up this swamp

He calls it the economic, ethical and aesthetic
Jewish resistance of non-Jews against the complete demoralization by Judaism. That the author is an ideologist and From a petty standpoint, one should least of all blame him=
On the contrary, he is quite practical; his book is against charlatanry, where he finds it in the wrong place, and from
and he lets a coarse humor run wild, which door of the work an entertaining one.

The decline of Christianity and the aversion of the German population against it he attributes almost exclusively to the intrusion baptized Jews into the various confessions, and he seeks to prove that this intrusion of baptized Jews into the Christian church to a person at least thirty years old, if not longer predominance of Jewish influences in the Prussian Ministry of Culture is attributable to.

The influence of Judaism in diplomacy, civil service and
He shows the army in all its devastating extent; but Above all, his portrayal of Judaism in the
In the event of a future war and the impending exclusive Rule of Judaism after such a time, regardless of whether the whether the course of it be favorable or unfavorable for us.

After he then considered Judaism in justice, in medicine, in the aristocracy, social democracy, in the arts and sciences
After examining the Jewish question, he approaches the solution of the Jewish question. He us that Judaism and with it a part of the ruling Ulaffen carries the seeds of decay within itself and that the Jews know best that they will perish at the hands of their enemies will and must. That the Jewish question finds a speedy solution
He leaves no doubt about whether this will happen, but he leaves the question
It is unclear whether Judaism will once again succeed in the end of his reign an unspeakable misery among the Aryan peoples. In an effort to prevent the latter,
He wrote his book primarily and asks all Germans, open your eyes.

He considers the solution of the question itself only possible through an isolation of Judaism or its exclusion as possible and he promotes the same internationally through transport this breed to a limited area, e.g. the island of New Guinea.
Don so-called Jewish colonies, where this people still had freedom of movement in the world, he strongly advises against it. Better than this would be which still exist as medieval ghettos.

The Derfaffer finally shows us that all over the world, in all multicultural states the aversion to Judaism is the same

ift, and he prophesies to the people who first address this question a determined initiative shows a predominant role among the cultural peoples of the earth, as well as the ruler who is at the top this movement, imperishable world fame. As a good German He hopes that his fatherland will play this role and that May this fame come to the German sharks.

Under all circumstances, this book deserves to be read, and may the German candidature representatives, to whom it is dedicated, a further dissemination of the tendencies represented in this book worries.

Anyone who wishes to obtain a copy of this book, wool at Mr. Theodor Fritfsch in Ceipzig, Windmühlen ftraße 28, apply. As soon as a sufficient number of applications have been received= has run, a new edition, which will be available within three to four weeks can be completed, be tackled. Noticed

It must be said here that the book before the volume only the ruling

"Order form."

The Unkerzeichnele, member of the commissioned by Berrn Theodor Fritfsch, Teipzig, Wind-Mühlenstraße No. 28

copy of the new edition of the book

A Jewish-German Embassy
and their helpers.

Secret Dudenthum, Subsidiaries and Jewish Inheritance
by Carl Paaldi.
– Price ra. 9 Dark.

6

German princes and members of German cantonal representations accessible. f

Copies of the voucher and this prospectus have been sent to:
the ruling German princes, the Federal Council, the German Reichstag, the House of Representatives and the House of Lords of the Kingdom of Prussia, the Chamber the Reichsräte and the House of Representatives of the Kingdom of Bavaria, the first and second chamber of the Kingdom of Saxony, the Chamber of the Lords of the Estates and the House of Representatives of the Kingdom of Württemberg, the first and second chambers of the Grand Duchies of Baden and Hesse, the Landtag of the Grand Duchies Oldenburg and Saxony-Weimar, the Estates of the united Grand Duchies

Mecklenburg = Schwerin and Strelitz, the state assembly of the Duchy of Mecklenburg Braunschweig, the Landtag of the Duchies of Anhalt, Saxony=Altenburg, Saxony Coburg · Gotha and Saxony=Meiningen, the Landtag of the Principalities of Waldeck, Reuß d. ., Reuß j. K., Tippe – Detmold, Schaumburg · Tippe, Schwarzburg=Rudol=
Radt and Schwarzburg-Sondershausen, the Senate of the free Neichsfädte Hamburg, Kübel and Bremen and to the Tandee Committee of the Reichsland Elsass-Kothringen.

The copy of this book intended for His Majesty the German Calf will be delivered to Reich Chancellor von Caprioi personally.

22 “% “%,; % „“ „“ „“ „ –+ 92 In nn nen – –

– –

A Jewish-German community and its supporters.
Secret Judaism, Weaving Governments | and Jewish dominion
by Carl Paafchk.
2 bark. 4 Ehrile, ta. AGO pages large Detav. Price ta. d Mark.

see content.

Gelte

Mm > er re. ee ar N

Burser family contents. > 2 2 00 right SUP |

/// u ar een 5 ĩ` V1^e vn

5 Releases, Corrections, Rescues .. . LI

Part: Wines from N

5 .. Ba A LXVII

// ee ² ² ². TT ae aa 1

2) List of persons, characteristics of the same etc. ũR, 66k &

5) Political discussions with von Brandt and all sorts of people from Peking. . BI

4) How to become an anti-Semite, Journeys around the World 104

5) General observations and additions. 139

Part II: Documents,

Table of contents 2 oe 0 0 re ne. .nm

Works in Paoutingfu and Peking, . Paafch, ce

Reports, Memoranda, etc. " 5

Work in Tientsin and Nokohama, their reports, exec 0

Works in Berlin and Winden, Correfponbenzen . 129

Trial with von Brande 146

Anbangggggsgssss 3 "524 . . 18

Subject Index to Part II 3 BR |

III. Clieil: The Jewish Daimon L b

Table of Contents 0 0 0 0 0 rn nen „ /

Introductionsgsgsssx 33 1 |

The Tlmube 0 0 nn 8

J. Alliance israùlite univorgele .. 2 0 0 0 een. . . a

The Jewish press and its turmoil . .- a re ek 58

Speech of a Chief Rabbi err e 56

GG I

Jewish practice. 00. "" "6 " 9 2 * ee % " 09 66 4

JidenssSsns -k- 222 0 ar Baur Zur eu Zu BE BE Ze Ze 78

Baptized Jews. "295 " " " " " "4b " " | ve " 78 4

Judensproffeen ea ei De era tern ... 8 ;

Jews and rulers . 0 " " " "46 . 0 " " " " "4 44 0 90 1

The Jews and the Christian Church , ^{e e}7 » . . 110 .

Jews, politicians and diplomats Be Be A . 180

Prince Bismarck and the Jews 92 „ e 0 * 92 % „„ © 0 189

The Jews and the Poor 29 vr 2 2,, 0 0 0 2 0 161 ö

Jews and the Civil Service 2 0 5 2» 2 * . 172

The Jews in Justice: . en ee 3

7

7 .

5 U * 2 3

- - •-PZrä — - - —2- - - - - Gen

UEÜÄrnirr~mmi] ^{0 1}/₈ -· Ä * a wu:

Page

The Madhouse in the Deuteronomy of the Jews and the Ele on 191
Jews and Colonial Policy . . 8 204
Jews and the Aristocracy 217
Jews and Social Democracy 5222
Jews in literature, art, science and culture. 229
Jews and the Mufil. . . » Bug e ae ee I D0
Jewish vanity, arrogance and cynicism . e ae aa 0
Jewish patriotism and love of the homeland r ie 5a 246
The Jew as a useful member 1 eue, . e ar e BT
harbingers of catastrophe 8 5 . never 248
Zöfung der Judenfrage te

IV. Cheil: The Jewish zn. IL

Table of contents . . . ; FE a re |||
Southern Crimes, Introduction Be r 1
Ritual Murders of the Jews from the Year 418 E 1 Eee A
The Murder of Father Thomas of Damascus "10

Neuftettin 1883, " ne ©. sd "A

Lutfcha 1881 . . . Be ee D0
Tiszla=Eszlar 1882 " " " 5 Skurz 1884 a von Rufen) Male Rear aan en a ee 63
Breslau 1888. e

Wadowice 18pöpbotr . 83
Damascus LE0. ek 91
Bialystock 18990 ea ee ee ee a 08
Painter Gräff, fine models and the Breffe Be Mei ae er en OR Side members, pictures 5 " a iger series. dab RL
The Lindau 's 3 5 ee ee 4 |
Mr. J. Neustadt: ; j ee ee ee ee 100
Monsieur Constans eeee RT
Privy Councillor Professor Dr. – aeg. EEE 162
Mr. von Goßler ur Bee ur SE ar 20 166
Mr. Miquel . e 177
From various gentlemen Yändern De le iD Et 179
Jews in China . b re 179
Jews in Siberia 196
Jews in America
Jews in Japan 43412
Jews in Sur ing 014
Jews in Italy . 415
ee , eee e er rer BR
Jews in Russia 227
Book list 234
254

Printed by Bär & Hermann in Leipzig- -

- 145 - a

when the German embassy in Beijing, fine ficherer 1 Ale the Protection of such work is, I can find one at all.

Why I was denied the requested receipt of my documents =

has not given, is beyond my knowledge. That I am not spiritual= ill 15 for this * Correspondences sufficient guarantee but now I will also give you evidence of narrowness,

In anticipation of a favourable reply, I remain

Your Serene Highness's most obedient servant
: | Carl Paafch.

Postscript. When re-reading my earlier sent reports and letters, I find that there are some small errors= thumers have crept into the personal data. They have no influence on the whole, and I allow myself to express this here believe, because I would like to correct them later
| D. Q

- | | 10.

.
in nt. - tn

Records of the trial with Mr. v. Brandt.

- 2575

foreword

to the correspondence with His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt it. in the matter of a loan of Mk. 20,000 and the resulting lawsuit
because of difference in price and interest rate. - Judgment. - Criticism of the judgment.

This correspondence was conducted for similar reasons as which dealt with railway matters, namely the character of Mr. von Brandt in the right light and to provide evidence for fine crimes committed by himself.

A brief analysis of the correspondence may help to to facilitate understanding of the same.

Letter from Mr. von Brandt dated March 23, 1888,

Mr. von Brandt asks me for a loan of 30,000 marks. The following day I give him an instruction in duplo of 20,000 Marks to Berlin; the rest of 10,000 Marks he is to received a little later when he asks for it. I reject security and as for interest, I will skip this point, as in previous cases, with silence. i

Meanwhile, catastrophe is occurring in Beijing.

Mr. von Brandt enters my apartment and searches my papers. If he had found his letter of March 23rd and taken in itself, I would be without any evidence against him and he could have said that I had given him the sum for bribery purposes for Chinese or otherwise given as a gift or to pointed out. f

Fortunately, I have the letter as proof in Berlin sent and quite by chance not by the embassy where Mr. von Brandt apparently all my one and opened outgoing letters. i

Afterwards I have gained the firm conviction that not only on the appropriation of my works, but also on which was intended for the 20,000 Marks.) On 2 June, after= whom my money for him in Berlin was barely paid out, offers Mr. von Brandt offers me money and says he can now larger sums. Since I do not need any money, I refuse I rejected his strange offer.

– 147 –

Letter from Tientsin dated July 6, 1888.

I took the opportunity to write this letter, not because I have money needed, but because I happened to learn that Mr. von Brandt also owed money elsewhere, that he managed security there and paid 8% /d Binfen, that he was considered to be a un= safe and completely undesirable customers.

In addition, I learned that Mr. von Brandt Schacher was busy with art objects x. I saw that in his whole regular business letters could order all kinds of things that he Distributed samples to merchants to accept orders x. I became more than suspicious that Mr. von Brandt, his position misusing his position as an ambassador, selling things to the arts and crafts industry= museum, which he knew would not be accepted that he would probably deprive the state of the customs deceived that the orders he often made for high-ranking persons from pretending to be a favor, only as a cover for this bargaining served x. c. All this, and the memory to his offer of 2 June (where did Mr von Brandt suddenly a lot of money; why did he care about it from a to come out to me before he took the money out of Berlin= paid, and soon after his attempt failed 7)

I am curious to know whether Mr. von Brandt really has money

N had.

Letter from Mr. von Brandt dated July 8, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt wants to receive news of the Berlin had paid out the 20,000 Mk. in Berlin and already on 6 July, the date of my letter from Tientsin to Bleichröder wrote. (Both are unlikely, otherwise A strange coincidence.)

Letter dated July 10, 1888.

At Brandt's request, I propose 17% interest.

Letter dated July 13, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt harms me out of ignorance or malice, or both, in fact by a significant amount; I complain.

Letter dated July 27, 1888.

I must ask Mr. von Brandt for an answer

Letter dated July 30, 1888.

I ask Mr. von Brandt to let me know about Dr. Dudgeon Quit= tung for $ 30, which sum I gave to Mr. von Brandt for the same gar mp. When I bid Mr. von Brandt sum, he did not want to take it. He had a Certainly this doctor had to tell him: break through testimonies and other helpful fen fein. I hardly dared to en von Brandt would move in this direction.

0 .

»

9 *

– 148 –

Letter from Mr. von Brandt dated July 29, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt develops his knowledge in finance and threatens to denounce me as insane if I He wants to charge me 4% interest as the usual octroyiren.

Letter from Mr. von Brandt dated August 2, 1888.

f Mr. von Brandt is trying to lie to himself that I 4 30.– for Dr. Dudgeon. He claims, in addition to= that he pays Dr. Dudgeon, that I give him money owe me, but that he did not want to sue me.

Letter to Mr. von Brandt dated August 4, 1888.

I am sending Mr. von Brandt previous account details and I tell him that he knowingly lied and refuse the 4% interest than is customary in the country, by sending him a bill of exchange on Leipzig.

Letter to Dorn from Brandt dated August 6, 1888.

I threaten Mr. von Brandt with two witnesses because of the 3 30.– j of Dr. Dudgeon and say embarrassing things to him.

Letter to Mr. von Brandt dated August 7, 1888. |

Continuation of the previous letter, I request Mr. von Brandt urgently to give me the sum which I allegedly owe.

Letter from Mr. von Brandt dated August 8, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt finally admits that I gave him 3 30.– for which Dr. Dudgeon paid. He gets scared and hurts= courageous.

Letter to Mr. von Brandt dated August 30, 1888.

I inform Mr. von Brandt that I have any possible guilt will no longer recognize this change from now on.

Letter from Mr. von Brandt to the Bangnier Hermann Paafch, Berlin, July 29, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt voluntarily sends a Prima-Benefit to the same for my account, which 4% interest on my loan fiefdoms are supposed to represent.

Letter from Mr. von Brandt to the previous one dated August 8, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt ends the second part of the above change, announces his imminent arrival in Europe and undertakes to settle the interest rate issue according to my instructions to regulate definitively.

Mr. von Brandt arrived in Berlin in June 1889 and he does not let anything be known about himself, I invite him through Mr. Nechts= lawyer Graffo in court.

Letter from the Attorney General dated July 5, 1889.
Attorney sends a letter from Mr. von Brandt of the same day, in which he proposes an arbitration tribunal.

– 149 –

Letter dated August 10, 1889 to the Attorney General (Grafie.
I refer the matter to the arbitration tribunal. I request Mr. von Brandt again, to give me a task about the amounts I give him=
I still owe, since if the claim appears justified,
wants to pay x even without a judgment.
The proceeds of the process will be donated to charitable causes to use.
lawsuit against Mr. von Brandt dated September 10, 1889.

Mr. von Brandt made his quick departure to Germany unpleasant discussions and travels on the first u from Genoa back to China. Ablit, excessit, evasit, eruption

1 von Brandt has all sorts of mirror-swindles in Berlin because of attempt at reconciliation, he has practically bargained for me to admit
I would like to say that I was insane for a few days in Peking.

After Mr. von Brandt has escaped, I hear from quasi offi= ciöfer Cuelle:
. "The sudden departure of Mr. von Brandt to China depends with his disagreements with Mr. Paafsch. He will soon have to say goodbye!" (2?) success of the departure –

From now on, all matters must first be referred to China.

Ala e- Answer by Mr. von Simfon in Berlin from April 24, 1890.

Letter to Attorney Graffo dated April 27, 1890.

I insist on my demands.

Reply of Attorney Graffo of 29 Axcil 1890,

on the erroneous answer to the complaint.

Letter from Attorney Graffo dated May 21, 1890.
He informs us that the W has rejected my complaint

Letter from Attorney Graffo dated June 7, 1890.
He sends in the judgment and criticizes Waffelbe; and filing an appeal.

The judgment of May 12, 1890.

Letter to Mr. Attorney Gtaffo dated June 10, 1890.
If you also criticize the verdict, you intend to refrain from appealing.

.

Letter from Attorney Grafe dated June 12, 1890.
Ibe says he has some interest in it, '
that an appeal would be lodged.

– 150 –

Letter to Attorney Graffo dated June 16, 1890.
Request for an appeal against the judgment, under ge= wiser points of view.
Letter from Attorney Graffe dated July 11, 1890.
Notice that appeal has been filed and the date for hearing=

oiling at the Chamber Court on November 11, 1800.
Letter from lawyer Graffe dated November 24, 1890.
Advertisement, then the date of November 11, 1890 to the February 27, 1891 due to objections from the opposing lawyer party is relocated.
Letter to Attorney Grafle dated December 17, 1890.
Request to the same, delay of the matter by the counter=
party to thwart.

files.

My dear Mr. Paafch!

I was just about to write you pi when your lines
I would certainly be very pleased if you could come tomorrow come in, but I ask you to stay here until Monday evening, because Rockhills then eat with me, in an overcoat of course. See Why don't you check your temple again tomorrow morning to see if the houses marked B, C, D (A is the one you live in) in habitable building. This is the large hall, (was formerly something defective. . .

I have enclosed two items I received from Rockhill for you (letter and rolls! And now a question. I have overbought, that is bought too much and am waiting for the trade museum to collect my things has taken, somewhat embarrassed, all the more so as I, between us said, I want to go home in summer or autumn. Can you a 1 year, ie repayable within one year, against the state= usual interest 30,000 Marks, for which I will lend you my things that are worth twice as much and seaworthy. Guarantee

But only if you do it without any inconvenience or inconvenience. I am grateful to you would, you know! I won't blame you if you don't can, or want, you also know, so act according to your discretion. .

See you tomorrow, with best regards

ee | your upright level
| | M. von Brandt.
Peking, March 18, 1882.

Note from Brandt received an instruction on the day of 20 000 Marf can Berlin. Another 10000 Diet 1 er Waun a few weeks later received upon request.

- - -

*

3

– 151 –

Excerpt from a letter
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt in Beijing.

| Tientsin, July 0, 188

On 2 June you offered to transfer to me funds & account of the to advance me Ae 2) 000 Marks and even larger sums men, since this does not cause you any difficulties. Since I am well aware application for funds, please, I who still needs to use the Acqui= equivalent of 20,000 Marks, be it here, at the rate of 4 4, per Tael, be it in Shanghai, at the rate of & 4. per Tacl for my Invoice to the Hongkong= and Shanghai=Bank. The Money is for you in Berlin according to a receipt from S. Bleichröder been paid in. However, if you need the money longer,

If you wish to keep it, please send me a proper receipt with indication of the repayment mode and security, as fhis time offered to send xx.

Carl Paafch.

Pehing, July 8, 1R8N.

Dear Mr. Paafch,

On the 4th of this month I received the news of the Bleichröder followed deposit of 20000 & received; on the 6th) I have Bleich= röder indicated, to your cousin 4000 .4 (four thousand marks;

u pay for whatever amount you wish fshould be able to move to your cousin immediately. I have Bleich= Röder further instructed to send to your cousin 10000 .4 on October 1st to pay (ten thousand), which you will then on that day

As for the remaining 6000 (six thousand) & an= you will receive the equivalent value of the same at the rate of eight days after sighting Berlin on Wednesday at the Hong Kong= and Shanghai Bank in Tientsin.

Unfortunately, your letter arrived yesterday after the bank closed and today is Sunday. The delay is not my fault. If you now only the Zin aa, want to let go, fo will I will hurry to pay it: it will then only be All that remains is to thank you for the kindness with which You ordered the 1 at Bleichröder in March of this year, to my wish to have the amount available to me in a short time to provide, to correspond.

With best wishes

Yours sincerely,
N. von Brandt.

) this happens to be the date of my letter to Tientsin 1 7. Red mittage in r 9 fine had to 8 Inn

– 152 –

Short Excerpt from a Letter
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt in Beijing.

Tientsin, July 10, 1888.
I agree with your propositions; if you
If you want interest, I suggest a round sum of 1 percent.
so 200 Marks, which I then "please here at the Hongkong=
and Shanghai=Bank wanted to deposit money for me 3c. 3c. |

Carl Paafch.

Short excerpt from a letter
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt in Beijing.

Tientsin, July 13, 1888.

Today I learned at the Hong Kong= and Shanghai=Bank that there the sum of 1293 Taels for me received from you is, for which I thank you very much. After the recent pro= posed course of "A 4,% per Tl., which is a very favorable was (today, for example, it is the same again & 4.4), I would have 1333, Tls.
should receive, so 39% Tl is still missing. Do you even want Pay interest for the entire favor transaction, which I gens does not exist at all, yes I would a 1 Proc. = 200 4 u & 4, pe Tl., 44,, Tls. to have received here. It seems to me after cin« lying note that the Hongkong= and e thank you very much to high rates for dollars, also the difference of tael sign Peking and here too high ae, which is why I

In your place I would make complaints, etc.

PS I find it incomprehensible that I have to respond to my official letter of July 5, which was sent registered, did not contain the requested answer word received.

Carl Paafch.

Transcribed by Dr. Schrameier.

Short excerpt from a letter
to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt.

| Cientfin, July 18, 1888.
Until today nothing from you about the interest and course ≠
difference belongs etc. |
Carl Paafch.

=. 453

Tientfin, July 27, Ir.
Dear Minister:

These lines are independent of all other correspondence,
except for the financial matter pending between us.
As you know, for years my assets have always been at your disposal.
disposition if you use it for your private purposes or hobbies, and was never afraid of a Security was mentioned. But there was order in the affairs= ties: This time you borrowed money from me for a longer period of time.

which I, as always, put at your disposal, and was of interest, as well as otherwise, on my part only because the Consideration of your position required that you speak.

After a few months you are already urging me to return the money= to withdraw and propose an arrangement which would:
was widely accepted.

You request me to waive the interest, which of the and write that originally all the money was only for a short time was borrowed. Now I am left without any answer my letters concerning this matter, while you have other small touch on financial matters.

I now ask you to settle the financial dispute between us situations at least somewhat formally and my To answer letters. The 4000 Mk. which Mr Bleichröder sent to Receipt of your letter of 11th of March should pay off for me, Hopefully everything will be OK. What the 1st October in Berlin As far as paying 10,000 Mk. is concerned, it would not be undesirable for me, if you would give me the security you offered earlier.

I hope you find these lines in good health and

I stay rc. rc.
Carl Paafch.

Tientlin, July 30, 1888. |

Dear Minister,

I thank you most sincerely for your kind and sympathetic lines from July 27. The healing of the new A broken arm will certainly take a long time, but suffering and patience I am used to and as a last consolation I always have still: mauvaise herbe croit toujours! I'll have the courage don't lose!

You would do me a great favor if you

Dr. Dudgeon wanted to send me a receipt for the 30 (thirty) 8 which I left with you for the same and of which I will tell you at our final settlement in the presence the gentlemen brothers Rump fire ate when Dr. Dudgeon didn't want it for me, he wanted to take it for the Chinese hospital. Dr. Dudgeon had refused to send me an invoice. because he saw me, as he said, as a member of the German

!

Embassy. I think it was just shame on the part of the otherwise doctor who does not live in splendid circumstances, but I fear with his many occupations and ugly nature, that he would like to make claims against me later. Since I am likely I will not return to Peking soon, yes I will tell Mr. Tallien authorize me to send my belongings still stored at the embassy to

To be received and to be used to the best of our ability. For friendly thanks.

My best thanks in advance for your safekeeping and delivery.

| 13 the Bethge family is still there, I ask you to contact them to recommend, as well as to the members of the embassy and the gentlemen in Tachiaoffe. I am very sorry to hear that you are so overwhelmed with work that you did not even have time for summer holidays and I wish that at least the works bring pleasing results.

With many greetings and wishes, I remain Your Excellency most devoted signed for Carl Paafch Dr. Schrameier.

Tientsin, July 29, 1888.
Dear Mr. Paafch,

Your letter of July 24th has left me in the greatest surprise set, since it contains allegations that are decided with the hate matters contradictory. It is true that you have been telling me for a long time offered for a number of years when I needed money, to make it available to me at the interest rate that you yourself received for it; our long-standing friendly relations allowed you to make me this offer and me to make the same to accept. I have made use of it twice, once in 1884, where I used the 6000 Mark after a few months with the local Sinien repaid, and once in March of this year, when I asked you if you me, since I had over-bought myself in curiosities, against security and the usual interest 30,000 Marks, which I received within one year would be available. They said at that time that you could easily have 20,000 marks at your disposal, you knew I would reject with indignation any attempt to secure the amount. On May 15, the 20,000 Marks were paid into Bleichröder's account,

"and since I was in a position to have funds belonging to me I instructed Bleichröder on July 6th to go to Ein receipt of my letter. Mr. Vetter for your account 4000 Marks and to inform him that a further Payment of 10,000 Marks to him on October 1st of this year Before I could tell you what I had expected occasion, I received your letter dated 6 July, in in which you asked me to pay you the amount of 20,000 Marks immediately in Tientsin. I wrote to you what I already done, and that I will immediately return the remaining 6000 marks to you through the Hong Kong and . in Tientsin and that I would only ask that the interest calculation be You replied to me on the 10th that you completely agreed with what I had initiated. Immediately afterwards but there are whinings that I find incomprehensible; I have You transferred 6000 marks in Tientsin, which you received from the » u S. Bank at the current rate, and you Then they suddenly ask for another 39 cents from me, because you had given a rate of 4.5% Mark per Tael. I I make the deposit in Tientfin not to my account, but to yours I made a request and did not transfer you Taels, but Mark, and the rate the bank charges you is theirs and not my business: I do not see how I can come to this oll, the taels 39, to be paid. As for the interest, ch the calculation of the same at 4% as follows: | Deposited May 15th... 20,000 Marks

– 155 –

Repaid July 10. 6000 " (2 months)

be September 1, 4000 "" (3/ ")

5 October 1st 100000 " ($4\frac{1}{2}$ ") ie 6000 marks 2 months 40 marks 4000 " $3\frac{1}{2}$ " 50 "
 10 000 M $4\frac{1}{2}$ 60 150.- "

24,350 marks.

I will transfer the amount today to your cousin in a Bill of exchange on Leipzig, of which I enclose Secunda, so that you We can send the same directly to Berlin. We will send you the amount in I have no desire to pay Tientsin, as I will not be able to wants to suspend disputes over cours differences. .

If you write in your letter that I, after 0 I borrowed the money from you for a long time, now all at once demanded repayment of the same, you will be entitled to the above-mentioned position that this is not the case, but that I,

by accelerating the repayment, only your fulfilled the wish expressed on July 6)
But it cannot suit me to get involved in financial matters in which I acted quite correctly, to enter into a correspondence,

like those which you will have a pleasure in conducting on the subject | u find fine. I can do much to good for your condition

old, but there is also a limit to this.

I hereby declare to you that, having done everything, what you wanted after you have expressly agreed to the
have agreed to the cause, and then after eight days
To demand something else again, I will send you a further correspondence about the object and in case you still want to should return to the same, I will contact your master directly

1) That should actually mean to have occurred.

– 156 –

cousin to discuss the matter with him to regulate, explaining the reasons which led me to necessary.

With best wishes for your health |
| Yours sincerely
M. von Brandt.

Peking, August 2, 1888.

Dear Mr. Paafch! |

I am pleased that you, as id) from your lines of 30. M.
I gather that you are in good spirits regarding your arm, and I hope that things will turn out well and quickly for the best; as I
By the way, I hear that it is not a new broken arm, but It is only a minor injury and I wish with all my heart Heart of the latter. I will hand over your things to Tallieu= as the same requests.

d vocem Dudgeon, yes, you have indeed told me about this Bill, but if I am not mistaken, no money for me Payment for the same left there. They gave me 100 3 and of which payment is ordered

1) by Atterbury with 20 8,

2) much against my will, as you will remember,

my people with $50 and

3) von Hummelcke from 30 8,

which amounts have been paid by me on your behalf.

By the way, I have Dr. Dudgeon's bill on the Requested and paid for your expressed wish:

You don't owe money to anyone here except me and I ask you very earnestly to settle the accounts between us until you can write again. This should be recommend to any relationship: I will not sue you, as

You are claiming this from . in my opinion, without any justification.

seem to be afraid. So let's leave the matter for the moment, I

I have so much to do myself that any additional work is a burden is, and you are good to me for what I have laid out.

With all best wishes |

Yours sincerely,

M. von Brandt.

NB. Bethge's is still on the phone, they want to go to town on the 5th
come and = 9. after Teentfin mL |

— — ns

Prisoner of war!

— —

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,

Imperial German Ambassador

Beijing.

Tientsin, August 4, 1888.

Dear Minister:

I have received your lines of 29 July and also the one closed Secunda of 243 Mark 50 Pf. to Messrs. Hammer & Schmidt in Leipzig.

The end of your letter contains a blatant threat.
to inform my family through my cousin that I am in a state which gives me the disposition in my own matters impossible, ie I am generally considered incompetent to declare myself accountable if I agree with the agreement you have made Financial arrangement as suits you. I do not agree.

I hereby notify you that, following the events in Peking, suspecting little good, I let myself be observed here and a number of certificates, both medical and private, from that, apart from a broken arm, I am strong, healthy, in good health possession of my mental powers and disposition, to which I, If I wanted, I could add more.

Under these circumstances, I draw your attention to the following:

1) on the immorality of such a threat by who would be disturbed by its execution by people who have not done you any harm:

2* on the injustice of the threat by making it achieve your goals, and

3) on the criminal nature of the same in case of execution, by giving me the greatest moral and business would cause harm.

How dare you manage my funds at your own discretion I would have preferred it if you had in general, the original arrangement should have been retained; but on June 2nd you urged me to take funds from you, just as I wrote to you on July 6th, and I I got the impression that you, for some reason, wanted to get out of debt to me. If you mean If you read my letter of July 6th, you will see that I have no pressure on you, but merely request that if the Ver= circumstances are still as they were on June 2nd and it suits you to a proposal for a for 8 Haft 1 m. Sing Cie me 600 Mark in 8 king ei ! I dad g the court

- 1 f 1 9 eg Believe it. This

"
um
- 24 - - -2 ẽ~ mnma =

S
-

—^e , . rr

— 158 —

Letter is ignored and you write me the strangest
Private letters, the content of which prompted me to take the matter a little more businesslike
to be handled moderately. |

The evil intent contained in your threat and the dangerous position, as I previously had financial matters with you 10, which would draw attention to an untruth, cause me to opportunity to now be treated correctly and in a businesslike manner.
I enclose a copy of a current account, whose Original I sent you in February 1886. From this you can see, that I only charged you 1% interest once, otherwise none at all.
(See next page.)

That I offered you the 4¹/₂0 francs borrowed in Nice

This is unthinkable in the nature of the matter, but I have, as you asked me for this sum at present, said that your my Funds were always available with pleasure. It was this at a time when it was at least doubtful that I would ever again to China. Since then, you have twice been Funds applied for, once by telegraph and once in writing. This means any offer from my side is excluded. That I interest and security have never been demanded of you, it goes without saying,
and that I accept the 5
rejected with indignation, is absolutely correct, and if you would have left things as they were and later issued an invoice
If I had asked for it, I would probably have charged you 1%, although you have here, as in previous cases, charged me the usual interest offered.

The wonderful financial arrangement you found
I am not willing to accept this. I am therefore sending you the Secunda back to Leipzig and may you do with it what you But your threat forces me to send copies of your letters and to send this correspondence home, as well as the certificates, which certify my ability to dispose, and must I order give, to check whether such silly rumors, as you threaten to bring into the world, since their source is now is no longer known.

A private matter is too serious, especially at a moment when I pursue great interests, to joke about.

The financial arrangement itself, which I do not recognize, will, fo I fear that your assessment of financial matters does not

You could then possibly lend a bank in Timbuktu pay out the 6000 marks in question, at an impossible rate, and I would be able to see how to find them after any other places in the world. Since you act so arbitrarily and I now also have to take the usual interest rates: this must be note that 4% is not sufficient interest for such transactions actions without security, I reserve the right to change the interest rate to be determined later by experts and that I 5 on the course difference between Beijing and here old. N " " a – 19 –

colloquial) away, luna Ind 23 nung 0 :zay0 zpd) eva log, nod uo Mahal Yang agina adap ur danlaes “ us

a of 1 "sst 101% m **
81 98e ö | os ammg]j–igee – – > een –
A | 9881 aden eh 5 where Bunzgof | w 1vnu0g
. g | 99881
vuung || 8110816 ee | |
81 | 988  . . . * 0 o Ig E
b 5 DU 0009 M %% 1 uud 258 co ers
| Zy 78 uma
lung uv Bungufivog ib 13 1möng
I | 8881

28 91 9 03 and moved. |
Ä a3luvck ub Bungufivog anf 68 u

. 43 2 – Image Yanupa 9
Be. 5 re | aut us e 118 21 250
f 06 0€ “ez euogz 19 8g unis |
| 9881 | e uv Bunzgufavox ind 8 Inn
one; "©" ee Jar o ee , e ee |
you uoa young 1 a ung La, Unbözz 22 000r uoa Bunjgve zz ing yt anus
| |
e * 1415881 4 1 | F881

– – – –

n nd ee m eee u eee m erg Non 1 ug gg

With this I have probably said everything that concerns me, and I just wanted to express my regret that you forced to do all these unpleasant things. Why

Have you not left the matter as it was and changed it to a new one?

tadium? By registering your letter to me= gefent tl do not force me to ant only out of decency words, but prepare themselves by the answer an arbitrary create ground for the execution of your threat. Whether they have the same ia to carry out, I must leave it to your discretion= ate.

With best wishes for your well-being, I remain Yours.
Your Excellency most humble

Carl Panic.

Signed in my presence: Schrameier.

business letter!

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Imperial German Ambassador
Beijing.
Tientsin, August 6, 1838.
Dear Minister,

As I answer your question today from the 2nd of this month.
d I would like to oblige you above all to carefully read the Corre=
pondence which has been here since my last presence between you and me regarding financial matters. . .

The amounts in question here are less
the object of importance as the matter which concerns has the same. For this reason, I cannot comply with your request willing to postpone my correspondence on this matter ad infinitum.
As far as our billing is concerned, it is up to the 20,000
Mark finally made in the presence of the two Rump brothers and I received a small amount of silver in return.
I then said that if Dr. Dudgeon does not have the $30
If he wants, he can take it for his hospital. I want from the Man has not given anything! Here I have two impartial witnesses for me, and I can remind you that, as
When I told you about the $30 for Dudgeon, you said it was not necessary, and that you were taken aback when I showed them to you, at the same time

those for Dr. Atterbury. How could I have done that?
Would it be OK to pay one doctor and not the other?
For your servants I paid you 30 and not 50 5 and for errn Hummelcke 20 and not 30 8. In this 0 would be a ference of 30 8; but I am ready at any moment to swear it confirm that I have given you the 30 # for Dr. Dudgeon, Danzig ciell as intended for the same, paid Jane At some Na

3 this fact must inevitably return to your memory= mmen. a

– 161 –

I have written to you several times recently,
how much I was concerned about my last little outbursts in Peking, and I have recently given you the small amounts sent by Mr. Baumeister Bethge, so that I can use my obligations there would be redeemed. Meanwhile, several letters switched between us, you should have mentioned that I still owe you money, which I have no idea about.
Even now you express yourself very mysteriously and do not mention Object nor sum, although you know that I am concerned is to sort out my accounting. Why did you the sum I owe you is not from the 20,000 Marks deducted! They all wanted to deduct the amounts which I owe you for the rent of the house I last lived in, the rent for the temple Kuang =Shang=Tfze, for the month April 9th to May 9th, the 50 5 and 98 given to me by Mr. Bing for a piece of cloisonné because she had laid it out for me before I could go to the bank. .

However, I paid you all these sums as soon as I was somewhat mobile; or should you forget something about it fe, I could provide my proof by the sums which I raised 125 from the bank, and through my servant, who brought this sum to your door for me. In general
I have never asked for certificates from you, but for the rent of the ap Kuang=Shang=Tfze, furthermore for the Piece of cloisonné, which I gladly took, because it was very expensive and was ordered for an acquaintance. .

The certificate for the house rental offered to me by you
I did not want to accept it, on the one hand because I did not consider it necessary
N. on the other hand because it was not properly signed.

The same would not have been the case with the music director and postal official Bigel should have been signed, but by the General Customs Inspector Sir Robert Hart, the actual tenant of the house, or the nomi= nal owner Pere Favier, because Mr. Bigel had just told me said that not he, but only Sir Robert Hart, had the privilege

Mr. Bing, who wanted to rent part of the house, this What else should I owe you? For the translation prepared by the Embassy, you told me, would you only in that case perhaps something will be calculated if my efforts showed success, otherwise I would only know that I have to pay you current expenses for sending the letters, which you sent around mid-October

v. J. for Mr. 170 0 and me to Paoutingsfu . The However, you have often refused to refund this expense, the last
With the remark that I have shown you snails and loess men

What H
Most decisively, I never pronounced the a bill – 5 elves for me to 1. air Pi

a re B. Badger Som
II

U. Detumente.

– 162 –

From the morning of May 9th onwards I have kept silent about my attitude towards him as a and as a doctor I objected that I would 8 for his Be= action not pay a penny. But the matter was different, nad}
I had suffered a broken arm and wounds which were not directly caused by his treatment. Then allowed I fhis treatment, because I was confident that he would could heal a broken arm and small wounds. That is the logic the matter and would like a certificate from Dr. Dudgeon= wishes.

with best regards to you and the gentlemen of the embassy and the Bethge family, I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafch.

Signed in my presence: Dr. Schrame ier.

– – – one

business letter

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Imperial German Ambassador
Beijing.

Tientsin, August 7, 1888.

Dear Minister,

Yesterday the time was too short to finish the letter completely to be able to.

I had said that I wanted from you a Temple Kuang =Shang=T88e, but I would like to present the
For the sake of clarity, I would like to point out that I have filled it with various Papers which I did not consider worth the effort to take with me at all= take, left in the house I last lived in, n in or on the one you kindly lent me Chest of drawers. I now urgently request you to give me the sum, which, in your opinion, I still owe you, namely immediately, as I am able to provide fairly accurate identification provide information about the amounts I have collected from the bank.
we had finally settled my accounts in Peking when I left,
I am not inclined to accept any demands for the people, which had caused you to perform guard duties for me, especially
I was told that all these people, against whom I partly raised a protest, they had out of kindness to this servant
offered. |

Mitr. Bing was invited to dinner by you and was able to
As a gentleman, I didn't ask for anything. He also said afterwards that Dr. Dudgeon had offered him this service as some kind of job had been offered, but he had refused to to make it into one. After that he was my involuntary guest and Bere but I must give Mr. Bing the Justice must be restored, that despite the evil reputation which he left here in Tientsin (whether rightly or wrongly knows
I do not) and who in Peking largely on the hr

– 163

with Your Excellency and others 5, some other better qualities in him than those of You noticed that his handwriting was in German,
the grey Kierulff music paper, which is very similar to mine, namely that, despite his need, he is able to
to reject offers which, in his opinion, have ulterior motives could contain, which is why I wish him from the bottom of my heart that he may succeed in moving from his current needy situation into an honorable to work out the way.

As for Constable Cox, who, as I have heard, sufficiently hear, was summoned from Tientsin, I never heard can explain what this man, who was also my guest in the afe was attached to it. He lived in Ars Be=
For example, he put drinks on my bill, got the food from my kitchen &c. I never exchanged a word with the man and he has mysteriously gone away as he came was. Whether the man was paid and who paid him, I know
In any case, I would refuse to do any to make payments, if he has made any at all
I am sorry that Dr. Dudgeon has been blessed by you
I am very sorry for you, but I hope that since he refused to come, to accept payments from me, you agree with him on one or two other ways will be able to resolve the issue. |
I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafsch.

Signed in my presence: Dr. Schramei er.

Peking, August 8, 1888.

Dear Mr. Paafschl

Regarding the distribution of the $100, you are right:
My subsequent error, however, has no significance, since, as I
I have already written to you, the matter with Dr. Dudgeon has long been settled is and the same has nothing to demand from you. Should this clarification is not sufficient for you, you can contact the
The memory of our old friendship, which is on:
acceptance that you found in my family, the self-sacrificing care, which you will receive after your illness in and outside of the ao become ijt, find not able to free you from the madness of the persecution by me or others; my urgent= ft requests, as the feeling of old friendship can inspire me, not to ruin your own au): 2 served to keep you in the
To reinforce the delusion in which you are caught. Under the circumstances further correspondence between us can serve no purpose.
On the day on which you seek my advice or my help need, you will find me as you have always known me.
Until the case has occurred, I ask you not to write to me any further.
f 11

=. 461: -

ben, at least I will not answer any of your letters. I have
In fact, neither time nor health enough for that.
But I wish you from the bottom of my heart that you may find others, who are as loyal and good to you as I am and to whom you give a willing ear.

Yours sincerely

M. von Brandt.
business letter
— — b bbb

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Imperial German Ambassador,
Beijing.
Lientin, August 30, 1888.
Dear Minister! and

I hereby take the liberty of informing you that, after the one I addressed to you in my last business letter Request to surrender the debt owed to you according to your statement Sums of which I know nothing, an answer is not given follows, I will not accept any claims you may have subsequently made claim will be recognized.

I remain Your Excellency most obediently

Carl Paafch.

Signed in the presence of Gustav Schmidt.

Mr. Banker Hermann Paafch,
Berlin.
Peking, July 29, 1888.
Your Excellency!

On the instructions of Mr. Carl Paafch on 15 May of this year.
for my account 4 20000 (twenty thousand marks) with the gentleman
S. Bleichröder. This amount will be credited to you on my Instruction of 6 July from this company already the sum of 4 4000 (four thousand marks) for the account of Mr. C. Paafch got fine, 4 6000 (six thousand marks) I have 110 unfch

it to Mr. Carl Paafch the same in Tientsin on 13 July by the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation paid out and 4 10000 will be sent to you on behalf of Mr. Carl Paafch on 1 October
d. J. by Messrs. S. Bleichröder, whereby the from the 4 20000 paid on 15 May will be there.

At an interest rate of 4%, the interest for the above-mentioned Amounts and periods 4 243.00% (two hundred e ark 50 Pfg.) for which amount I will send you in the attachments Prima=Wechsel to Messrs. Hammer & Schmidt in Leipzig (dd 29 July, after sight) with the request to send the same to Mr. Carl to want to credit Paafch.

– 165 –

With the highest respect
Your Excellency most devotedly signed M. von Brandt.

Secunda of the bill of exchange will be sent to you by Mr. C. Paafch himself approach.

– – – –®

Mr. Banker Hermann Paafch,
Berlin.

Peking, August 8, 1868.

Your Excellency! .

I have the honour to present the Annex Secunda to the bill of exchange 243%, which I originally sent to you as by Mr.
Paafch had sent announfed. – a

The calculation of 4 interest is my responsibility. Mr. Paafch had only asked for one percent, but of course I don't want that he suffered any loss through the favor shown to me
I am thinking of returning to Germany in the autumn of this year and I will then have the honor of resolving the Ainfen question with Your Grace personally at your own discretion or the instructions of the Mr. Paafch to finally settle the matter. The payment of A on behalf of Mr. Paafch will be sent to you by S. Bleichröder already done yes and no, the 4 10000 probably very soon, late= at the latest on October 1st.

With the highest respect
Your Most Humble Highness

signed M. v. Brandt, Aaiserl. Ambassador.

– –s

Berlin, July 6, 189.

An |
Mr. Carl Paafch
with Privy Councillor Pafch, Minden ifw.

Dear Sir: Ä ve bel

I have the honour of enclosing a transcript of a...

letter given to me A Ze von Draht u überjenben ",
the most humble request to please inform me whether and now should happen.

In case you are inclined to take up the case of
There is no need for any special

Be

– 16 –

merfung that, after having been a lawyer for one party, cannot be a referee.
Yours sincerely

The lawyer
signed Graffo.

transcript.
Brrlin, Kaiserhof, July 5, 1889.
Attorney Graffo
here itself.
Your Excellency!

I have the honour to reply to the letter dated 21st of the month.
reply that my domicile until further notice is Berlin, Kaiserhof,
and I the representation of my . in the threatened Complaint to the Attorney, Justice Counsellor von Simson, Mohren= ftstraße 43, 44. I also note the following.

I am very willing to arbitrate the matter in question
9 6 and Your Excellency as arbitrator
to be recognized in the same.

In that case I would be ready to be Your Excellency the letters of Mr. Paafch in my possession, which be able to demonstrate the untenability of the demands of the same should be submitted.

With the highest respect,

Your Honour most devoted

signed M. v. Brandt,
Imperial Ambassador

— —

A copy of this letter has been made available by the Foreign Office in Berlin.
and delivered by the same to Mr. von Brandt.

Berlin, August 10, 1889.

Mr. Attorney Graffo,
Berlin S,
Neue Noßstraße No. 2, I.
Dear Sir:

I hereby thank you for your kind lines of the 5th of last month and the accompanying copy of a letter from the Lord
from Brandt to you from the same day. . .

That Mr. von Brandt has referred the present case to arbitration
I am less interested in how he would like to see treated.
You as a lawyer can propose him as arbitrator,
and I understand your delicacy that you 1 such an imposition to have to behave negatively towards

You have the whole between Mr. von Brandt and me about

— 167 —

the point in question, which is sufficiently
I would like to point out that I have never had any financial transactions with Mr. von Brandt, but rather that he often referred to me as a friend
in financial matters.

But the manner in which Mr. von Brandt handled the fact that I was pleasing to him, tried to exploit and the whole matter, make it seem desirable to me.

to have the matter decided by the courts and I ask

You are therefore required to file the action at the competent location.
5 that after the end of the court holidays they will soon be able to decide can be taken.

In my letter of 6 August last year to Mr. von Brandt
I write to him that the sums in question are not men, but the matter of what it means to be the subject of importance. (By importance I understand the motives, which on the one hand had to cause Mr. von Brandt to debt relationship to me. and on the other hand, to
to create a legal case from this relatively insignificant matter case.) The eventual de jure

I am inclined to charitable What is important to me is to use the

to provide proof: f

1) that in China the usual interest rate for loans with Security 80% is:

2 that Mr. von Brandt elsewhere advocates such friends= bonds at the same time 8% anten 5 I be:
paid, and – since he charged me the usual interest wants (see his letter of 29 July last year) – he then does not may arbitrarily determine the Ind without asking me:

3) that Mr. von Brandt made allegations in his correspondence which are not consistent with the facts (see his letter of July 29th and mine of August 4th with a copy of my account), and that he made fraudulent threats makes in case I do not do his bidding.

Finally, Mr. von Brandt writes on 2 August, after I in the presence of two witnesses a final settlement (with the exception the “4 20000) with him (see my letter of 6. From good) that I still owe him money, about which I know nothing.

I therefore urgently request Mr. von Brandt on 7 August,
c 05 sum which I should give him in his opinion homage.

But he does not do this, and since he has not given me until August 30th has not done any task, and since he has already inz igen fine Information in financial matters must be kept in mind (jiche Letter of August 8th), 15 wrote to this date a Letter, which to the best of my knowledge protects me from erroneous or ee which lack justification, to protect was true:

But if Mr. von Brandt, as he claims, has a gel»

– 168 –

demand on me, I am, even if he does not even have the necessary legal evidence for this, and my Letter of 20 August from each obligation towards him free makes, ready to fulfill such a demand if it justifies appears. Mr. von Brandt claims a claim of 55 and 5 In his view, his claim obliges him to do so. found. g

Since I have more serious complaints against Mr. von Brandt, in of which the present one forms only an insignificant link, It is my concern to ensure that neither de jure nor mo= Sn in any way, but least of all in financial matters, obliged to be.

I recommend myself to you

Yours sincerely
signed Carl Paafch.

transcript.

Ulan

of the merchant Carl vaio in Minden, represented by the legal counsel= lawyer Graffo in Berlin, Roßstraße 2, | plaintiff, to the Imperial Ambassador in China, Mr. M. von Brandt, cellenz, defendant, because of 422, A.

On behalf of the plaintiff, I summon the defendant to an oral hearing. bringing the legal dispute before the Regional Court I in Berlin, Civil Chamber, at the date specified thereon with the request, to represent him an attorney admitted to the trial court to appoint a judge and with the request:

to condemn the defendant to pay to the plaintiff & 422; together with 6% of & 197.5. since the day of service of the lawsuit to pay. N factual presentation.

In March 1888, the plaintiff, who was then in the process of enforcement genifier Projects in China are the one located in Beijing else ten on a copy of the enclosed letter dated 28 March 1888 an order for 20000 & to Berlin for confiscation for own account and promised to give him another 10,000 & later. This proposed payment of 10,000 4 is did not come: the 20000 & find on the other hand on 15 May 1888 here in Berlin at the defendant's banker, Bleichröder, for the account of the defendant in cash. When the instruction agreed parties, ah the repayment in Berlin to the cousin and banker of the plaintiff, Hermann Paafch.

– 169 –

Evidence: perjury.

On 2 June, the defendant offered the plaintiff repayment of the money lent to him, and the plaintiff then accepted the The attached letter dated 6 July 1888 refers to the Defendant wrote that he had a use for the 20,000 &, and a requested that they be sent to the bongtong and Shanghai= for his account either in Tientsin (where the plaintiff was staying at the time) or in Shanghai, namely in Tiensin at the rate of & 4.5% per tael, or in Shanghai at the rate of & 4. per tael. The defendant replied to this letter with the same copy= ly enclosed letter dated 8 July 1888. Ex informs that he Even before receiving the plaintiff's letter, Bleichröder was instructed have, to the cousin of the plaintiff 4000.4 immediately, 10 000 4 on 1 October= tober, and that plaintiff the equivalent of the remaining 6000 A "hen course of 8 days after sighting Berlin on the Wed= also at the Hongkong= and Shanghai=Bank in Tientfin"

one.

With this letter the plaintiff declares that by letter dated July 10. The defendant then filed a complaint with the Beijing Agency of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank a certain sum paid for transfer to the plaintiff in Tientfin. The Sangre and Shanghai Bank in Tienzin then edited the . but only for 1293 taels, as they were given to him on 13 July 1888 announced.

Proof: Nang B of the Board of Directors of Hong Kong= and Shanghai=

Ank in Tientsin.

The plaintiff now demands & 179.3: This amount corresponds to fpeaks 39% Taels with a Taelcvurfe of A 4.0

The plaintiff initially assumes that the defendant in his letter of 8 July 1888 the sums due to him in the event of the payment has accepted the route proposed by the French in Tientsin at & 4.

At least one course of a yellow ticket from Tientsin or Beijing on Berlin. If you look at the passage in Letters from the defendant dated 8 July, plaintiff should pay the equivalent of 6000, received at a rate of 8 days after sight of Berlin. wants to interpret, it probably means that plaintiff in Tientsin a fel should receive, due 8 days after sight on Berlin, which at the course such a bill of exchange in Tientsin represents the equivalent of 6000 &, i.e. a bill of exchange for more than 6600 4. However, the plaintiff has At that time, no meaning was attached to this phrase and it was only a The defendant's tendency to use financial terms and accepted when sending his letter of 10 July that the defendant with his proposals regarding the Tael= us a free the duty for repayment of the ann is, since in the meantime the deadline for loans expired, the plaintiff's claim is.

The same applies if it is assumed that an agreement of the Parties on the manner of repayment by the letters of 8 and 10 has not been achieved. It then remains with the original agreed, also the nature of the business and the conditions would be repaid in Reichsmarks in Berlin.

=. 10: =

It is by no means correct for the defendant to attached letters of 29 July 1888 on the position stated that he had transferred marks to the plaintiff, not taels, the payment was made in Tientsin at the request of the plaintiff, and Therefore, it is the plaintiff's 8310 that the bank charges him. Incidentally, as far as the plaintiff knows, the defendant has not got any marks in Peking but dollars. If the defendant u effecting a payment to be made in Tientsin uses a bank in Peking, o he, not the plaintiff, has to bear the resulting loss. Moreover, the documents provided to the plaintiff by the bank in Tientsin credited 1393 taels, not even the equivalent of 5920. (namely 6000 & less of the required "4 179,3:) but only from 5743 : because as already mentioned by the bank board in Tientsin will testify, was on 13th (and not on 15th) July 1888 the Taelcours in Tientsin actually not "A 4.30, but only & 4,

The other part of the claim 243, % & are ginfen. The The defendant has paid interest of & 243.0, the plaintiff, as can be seen from this letter of 29 July 1888 shows, this further Entitlement to the usual interest rate is preserved. The usual Rate for such loans, ie loans without documentation, under

Europeans in China is 8%,

Evidence: Testimony of the merchant W. Rofft in Hamburg, owner of the house Carlowitz & Comp. in Hamburg.

The defendant himself also has for loans which he % Jen with 5. flägerischen from Europeans in China, 8 interest paid. ,

Evidence: Testimony of the merchant August C. Cordes in Hamburg.

The defendant received on 15 May 20000. 4, repaid on July 15th.. 6000 .4 two month,,

1 " September 1, 4000 " ($3\frac{1}{2}$ month),

5 " I. October . 30000 " ($4\frac{1}{2}$ month, thus indebted interest of 6000 4 per 2 month at 80 &,
" L 90 90 4000 A Wed $3\frac{1}{4}$ L n 107 A, [7] IL L 90 10000 4 au $4\frac{1}{2}$ LL 300 A,

to 487 A,

also "A 248.0 N

The place of jurisdiction is established by Section 8. 16 CPD.

Berlin, September 10, 1888.

The lawyer

signed Grafle.

– 171 –

Berlin, April 25, 188K

To

Mr. Carl Paafch

here.

In the von Brandt affair, I receive today the Defence, which 409 is enclosed with the humble Er= furch, please send it to me with any explanations as soon as possible to send back. If I remember correctly, on the question of interest a letter from the defendant from Peking to August 8, 1888, which you gave me in due time, but then nn 99 ee 1889) by Mr. Nittmeister von Seemen ten have.

The date is May 2nd: the defendant will

t back

I will receive it from Geri in the next few days.

Yours sincerely

The lawyer

signed Graffa.

transcript.

Preparatory step

defense

in matters

of the merchant Carl Paafch in Minden, representing the RNechts= attorney Graffo in Berlin, Jüdenftraße 43/44, plaintiff, against

the Imperial Ambassador in China Mr. M. von Brandt, 0 cellenz, represented by the lawyers Juftizrath von Sim fon and
Dr. P. Hermann II. of Berlin, Kanonenstrasse 40, defendant.
Royal Regional Court J, Berlin. XII. Civillammer.
0. 418. 69. CK XI.

On behalf of the defendant, I will apply: the plaintiff with
to dismiss the action brought.

1. It is true that the plaintiff notified the defendant in March 1888 in Peking an order for 20,000 marks to Berlin for the drawing for his own account that the 20000 Mart on 15 May 1888 at the defendant's banker in Berlin for the Invoice has been paid, and that after making © agreement the own old one in Berlin to the cousin and Bauquier
the plaintiff's case.

The letters of the plaintiff dated 6 July and the defendant of July 8, 18888 are recognized. f

The plaintiff's letter of July 10, 1888 is not complete= ftändig communicated with the complaint. Since it is on the same ch comes, it is attached here in the original. The keys which the

The arguments which the plaintiff draws from this correspondence appear to be incorrect.

That the defendant was concerned with the calculation of the mark for Taelcourfe of M. 4, has declared that he has agreed, there can be no question
The plaintiff's letter of 6 July, in which the calculation is proposed, contains a proposition that does not was taken and could not be accepted because the defendant had already previously paid the majority of the loan received in Berlin to repay. The only decisive factor is the content of the defendant's letter of 8 July, in which The plaintiff expressed his agreement in his letter of 10 July
The defendant therefore had the 6000 Marks to Course of eight days after sighting Berlin at the Hongkong Shanghai Bank in Tianjin.

This repayment, expressly approved by the plaintiff,
modus also corresponded completely to the situation and the interests.

As the lawsuit itself states, the repayment in Berlin was agreed. The 6000 Marks in Tientfin were paid on fpecial wish of the plaintiff. It could therefore either be in a Bill of exchange for this amount on Berlin or in the payment of the Equivalent of 6000 marks in a coin common in Tienzin, the dollars at a good exchange rate, which is eight days
after sight, done. |

The defendant has thus paid the fine. The price calculation
the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, the plaintiff's Payment office, I attach here.

The directors of this bank will verify their authenticity.
confirm under oath.

The plaintiff claims that the passage in the letter from defendant of July 8:

As for the remaining 6000 marks, you will
The equivalent value of the same at the rate of 8 days after sight on Berlin on Wednesday at the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank in Tienzin can raise,

meant that plaintiff should receive a bill of exchange in Tienzi, due eight days after sight of Berlin, which is the course of such exchanges in Tienzin represents the equivalent of 6000 marks, i.e. a over more than 6000 marks, this view contradicts the other wording of the letter in the most definite way. However, it would be

It is also inexplicable how the defendant could come to the conclusion that favour shown to the plaintiff by paying in Tientfin instead of Berlin, now also a larger amount than the one he had paid

The repayment at the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank is from the plaintiff in his letter dated 6 July 1888 from expressly requested.

The claim for the difference of 179 Marks 37 Pfg. is the both because the defendant made the payment in the expressly agreed manner, and therefore unfair because the defendant, for whom Berlin is the place of performance of the obligation

– 173 –

was and remained not obliged to contest a course difference 155, which arose because the plaintiff made the payment in identfin has requested.

II. e is also the claim for interest.

It should not be denied that the local customs Interest in China 8. Meanwhile, the plaintiff in the Letter of 8 July and the further attached letter of July 13, 1888, the authenticity of which is sworn to, expressly set the penalty at 1%, but the defendant has, as can be seen from the letter dated 22 July attached to the complaint. proceeds and the plaintiff will not deny under oath that Payment of the 4% interest with 243% Mark in a bill of exchange to the cousin of the plaintiff. The plaintiff could therefore immediately the amount of the bill of exchange with his ter draw a bill of exchange, so immediately come into possession of a sum in Tienzin, which was considerably higher than the interest amount demanded by him.

5 I deposit this document in the court registry low.

Berlin, April 24, 1700
The Justice Councilor
signed by Zimien.

Berlin, April 27, 188.
Attorney Graffo
here itself. .

I hereby acknowledge receipt of your esteemed letter of 25th of this month together with the statement of defence in the matter of Brandt and send the latter back.

I enclose a copy of a letter from Mr. von Brandt dated August 8, 1888 to the banker Mr. Hermann Paasch here himself.

I agree with the arguments of the opposing party.

that with regard to the repayment mode of the remaining six thousand marks of the Borichlag of Mr. von Brandt of July 8, 1888 should be decisive.

In that case, Mr. von Brandt would have me in the position must set a bill of exchange in Tientfin (and not in Peking) eight days to buy in view of Berlin: 15 I would according to my Letters dated July 13, 1888 at the rate of Mark 4, per Tael 1351. Taels, while on July 6 I only needed the Course of Mark 4.5. The actual difference would be with strict treatment of the items, not 39 taels, but 57% taels. . .

Since Mr. von Brandt dares, in view of this fact=fts of "favors" on his part to pa o I still have to=once again, as already happened on 10 August 1, that nothing could be more embarrassing for me than to inform Mr. von Brandt about in general, let alone in financial matters even for a single penny: obligated to be.

=

In the present case, however, Mr. von Brandt wants to dear friends", in gratitude for his "kindness" to provide a capable I obviously do not want to burden myself with this to please, and since Mr. von Brandt also has the pre=tension rises, 8 to understand, fo I see myself forced to simply insist on my rights.

Concerning the safes, I refer to 18 Letter of the Lord's envoy to the banker Mr. Hermann Paafch here=itself from August 8, 1888.

Mr. von Brandt has meanwhile been in Berlin, but seems to have completely forgotten the content of the letter, at least he did not give himself the honor of the promised visit, but by quickly leaving for China, avoid all unpleasant things and discussions.

The instruction of the Lord mentioned in the letter of August 8th a (ie mine) with regard to interest is simply "Be=Pay and be happy!"

Since Mr. von Brandt did not agree to 1% interest, clarified, but play the magnanimous and charge customary interest wanted to pay, he must – noblesse oblige – pay me the same interest=fet pay for a loan 705 document when he has such a other people at the same time paid for loans against .

I would also like to thank Mr von Brandt for his words.

Reichstag member Mr. "Alexander Meyer", which he presented to occasion of the usury laws, recall:

"Whoever indulges in usury should be placed under the guardianship of the creditor" and 15 give the well-meant advice, in the future in the Aus= to be more careful in choosing the friends he taps.

a it seems important to the opposing party to
To avoid delaying the matter, I ask you, Mr. Attorney, if the same still does N, then the actual course difference 1 Peking and Tientfin, i.e. 57 taels instead of 39, Taels, and furthermore the highest permissible interest on the whole amount until the day of final settlement.

I welcome you
yours sincerely
signed Carl Paafch.

u nn nn

In matters
Paafch against von Brandt.

. 413. 89.
is answered in response to the statement of defence delivered on 25th of this month as fol

be replied:
| 1. Course difference.
The defendant denies that he wrote to the court on 8 July the tael proposed by the plaintiff for repayment in Tientfin=

- 15 -

course of 4 marks. IR also the reason why= why he considers this impossible, namely "because the defendant has already previously the main part of the loan received in Berlin for return= payment", is certainly not valid, so the plaintiff wants To simplify matters, the defendant's position in fo far that in the defendant's letter of 8 July
a new proposal, which rejected the plaintiff's proposal flap, namely that the defendant on Wednesday (the 11 July 1888) in Tientfin the plaintiff either a bill of exchange for 6000 Marks on Berlin, due eight days after sight, or the counter=

worth 6000 marks in cash at the rate of a bill of exchange of the type described or has been handled. (Why the Defendant has the right to choose between these two types of performance, precisely from the fact that Mr. the 6000 Mark in Tientsin, instead of Berlin, at the special request of the plaintiff happened, can remain at that.)

In any event, the defendant acknowledges that the place of performance was not Peking, but Tientsin was. So it does not matter, whether the defendant in Peking had 6000 marks to pay to the plaintiff the bank, but rather the bank in Tientsin where the plaintiff paid out or credited the amount. The exchange rate difference between Peking and Tientsin only, as stated in the complaint, the defendant must bear.

The defendant has now given the plaintiff a bill of exchange for 6000 Marks not overpowered. The only question is whether he has put him in a position to raise. a

But this is not the case. As is undisputed, the Hong Kong and the Shanghai Bank in Tientsin only gave the plaintiff 1293 Taels credited, and not on July 11, the agreed return date payment dates, but on July 13. However, as already stated in the complaint was on 11 July as well as on 13 July (In the complaint it says due to a typo "on the 13th and on 15 July") the Taelcourse 4, Mark ie for every 4 Mark of The amount of a bill of exchange on Berlin, due eight days after sight, was one tael. For 1293 taels the plaintiff could not buy a bill of exchange for 6000 Marks, or 1293 Marks the plaintiff did not receive in cash the equivalent of 6000 Marks for the short exchange rate, but only 5743 marks.

According to this, the plaintiff has not only received the previously demanded 179 marks, but to demand 257 marks (namely 6000 Mk. - 5743 ME), which is why he expanded the claim accordingly and at the same time 257 marks, which has been charging the usual 8% interest since July 13, 1888.

a 2. Interest.

That 8% interest for a loan of this kind is the The defendant admits that the law is customary in China.

above which the plaintiff wanted to be 1% 5, this was a Donation of 7%. This the defendant does not have; taken, nor do he want to accept it, but rather he has under paragraph extension of the donation the customary and legally established flowing interest. 5 also his further attached Letter.) In any case, the plaintiff, through his attached In a letter dated August 4, 1888, the donation was revoked in good time.

= Joe

The defendant himself probably did not believe earlier that Payment of 4% to fulfill your legal obligation.

In his attached copy, addressed to the person named in the complaint cousin and banker of the plaintiff e letters dated 8 August In 1888 he declared that during his planned visit to Germany the interest rate question personally with that gentleman or after the to finally regulate the instructions of a.

In the autumn of 1889 the defendant was in Berlin, he at that time the plaintiff's request for fung ch of 8%, ie of 4%, but is not following this "instruction" either= came, as he had discussed this issue with the plaintiff's cousin in contact.

The plaintiff must therefore resolve the interest issue in court; either the defendant has to pay 8% or only 1%, just as but as the defendant wanted to leave 3%, just as The plaintiff wants to prevent the arbitrary setting of the interest rate by the Defendant – or in the other alternative get 3% for free.

3

The expanded claim now states:
to order the defendant to pay the plaintiff 500, % Mark plus $8\frac{1}{4}$, interest of 257 Marks since 13 July 1888 pay.

Berlin, April 20, 180.

The lawyer
signed Graffo.

Au Berlin, May 2nd 18%.

Mr. Carl Paaſch, businessman,
Minden i/Westf. |

In matters against von Brandt, I have the honour to inform you this En that the court dismissed the action. The reasons I have not been informed of this decision, which is why I I must first wait for the written version of the judgment before I I can comment further on the matter.

The requested copies are enclosed. f

| Yours sincerely
| signed Graffo,
legal counsel.

N Berlin, June 7, 1890.

n

Mr. Carl Paafch,

Minden.

I am enclosing the requested copy of the judgment of May 2nd in the von Brandt case. . .

The transcript is accurate, and I have, where with certainty, written 1 0 in the N of the judgment are to be assumed, this with Pencil noted in the margin. .

In the matter, the reasons for the judgment are not capable of Because of the price difference, the verdict is based on the undoubtedly correct assumption that originally the fulfillment
(The place of repayment for the defendant was Berlin. This place of performance However, like any other provision of a contract, the place could be Agreement of the Contractors be changed, and is what I
There is no doubt that in the present case the letters of 8th and 10th July respectively for the remaining 6000 Mk. was changed to that Tientsin became the place of performance. If the court considers that the
The defendant had paid 6000 Mk. or its value in dollars, his situation should not have become more unfavourable as a result of the exchange of lett because he was only willing to pay in Tientsin out of a favor wefen fei – yes, it draws the motive of the defendant (please= ity), which is just as irrelevant here as it is everywhere in law.

The further statements of the judgment on this point the assumption that the court was aware of the occurrence of the price difference
by the defendant transferring the money to the bank in Beijing, has not become clear (see the paragraph “that this is due to the later

Correspondenz nothing has been changed” etc., in particular the
“It is also undisputed that the defendant paid the Bank in Tientsin”, the suggestion that if the bank in Tientfin has calculated a false Taeleours, this will give you a claim against the bank, in my opinion, misunderstands the facts situation as thoroughly as possible. Not yours, but the defendant's
The agent is the bank, you have against the bank on the basis of the claims of the defendant. They are only liable to the complained, namely for having received in Tientfin the equivalent of 6000 Mk. can be raised. e

As far as the question of interest is concerned, it follows that you 10 July to the defendant 1 de, concluded that up to this e because of the interest rates

w making au Are find that the defendant has received the 20000 ME from you on his letter dated 23 March 1888, in which he described the customary

Interest on treatment 1 is for the defendant the same
him in the negotiation and by him eno 9 zug er Vie

mmene usual Chinese interest rates should be paid. Every II. Dotamente. N f 12 .

- -

- 178 -

However, the interest claim could not simply be rejected.
Despite the above, I cannot consider the judgment to be correct
> If you are inclined to appeal, you are not advise against.
I enclose a calculation of my fees and expenses.
Yours sincerely
the lawyer
signed Graffo.

- - -

O. 413. 89. CK XII.
In the name of the king!"
Announced |
on May 2, 1890.
signed Barnick,
court clerk
In matters
of the merchant Carl Graf in Minden, plaintiff, represented by the lawyer Graffo in Berlin, Jüdenstraße 43/44, | against |
the Imperial Ambassador in China, His Excellency M. von Brandt, Defendants, represented by the lawyers Moßreuf von Simfon
and Dr. Paul Herrmann II in Berlin, Mohrenstraße 43/44, | because of 500 marks recognizes the twelfth civil chamber of the Royal Regional Court 1 Berlin with the participation of the following judges:

1. of the District Court directors Berner,
 2. District Court Judge Kuntze,
 3. the regional judge Hedemann,
- for law: f

The plaintiff is dismissed with the action brought and judged to bear the costs of the legal action.

By law.

| Facts.

In March 1888, the plaintiff, who was then in China, the defendant residing in Peking to a letter from the same dated 23 March 1888 a loan of 2000 Mk.) in such a way that he the same an order in this amount to Berlin for confiscation handed over for his own account. f .

At the same time it was agreed that the repayment would be made in Berlin to the plaintiff's cousin, the banker Hermann Paafch,
and was also the future dedication of another Loan of 10,000 Marks was provided, which was subsequently not lam. The former sum of 20,000 is on 16 May 1888

— [m —

10 are the apparent errors in the judgment as it was drawn up and delivered 9 Solf means "20,000 Matr.

ze I
in Bertie for Nine the flags where Brier Ne

Aatct duet j .
Defendant bathe 1d on 2 July 1888 the sealing of the u von en mt adored 5 et. plaintiff, that book

5 abbot, Sarf errcher u Zicurin, the then Arferrbrlft-first of the lawsuit. to Corse of 4, N yer Tael. det CCC defendant
id by decree of 8 July 1, that he Emriang of Bricid of 6 July 1,88 Bleichtsder en the savior of the criminal NI.

dead In to jadle. and that plaintiff the opponent for the after

Berlin on Wednesday at the Dongtong and Shanghai-Bank in raise know: Kiaget babe ficht Bella letter dated 10 J hereby a pertinent defendant has power in the finger Agency det Hong Kong and m. cime ein zazit zur Überberwerinng to ibn to Tientiu and of the plaintiff on 14 January 18 1 the same i Tieutiin credited with 1243. Taels. Plaintiff in the opinion, defendant
I have his letter of 3. Inli 18%3 which he wrote in case of Payment in Tientitn proposed taelcears of 4. NI. acaptitt;
In no case could the Count of a castle of Tientsin or Beijing on Berlin into consideration.
The passage in the defendant's letters of July 8, 1888.
should be the equivalent of 600 ML . 1 of eight days after in

FR

:

25
F
finished

1 le

Berlin, 1 to such a bed in Tientitm 3 pe whoever paid 10 Mk. there, old one Becel 2 but not as 50 Mk.: However, the plaintiff had sent the letter of 10 July 1883 assumed that the defendant with the proposal regarding the Taelcourics agreed fci.

However, if the parties agree on the type of repayment is not possible through the dae wi come. the claim to the property must be based on the data and the data

=. 180: -

according to the 4th of August 1888, his further claim on the from Be on in his letter of 23 March 1888 promised customary interest rates are maintained, and that interest rate in China is among Europeans 8%.

Defendant owes interest:

(a) Of the 6000 million repaid on 15 July.

en &ar already paid interest in the amount of 243, Mk.

for two months . . 80 Mk. interest
b of the 5 repaid on 1 September 4000 Mk. for $3\frac{1}{2}$ months = . 107 Mk. "

c) of the 10,000 Mk repaid on 1 October
for $4\frac{1}{2}$ months . 300 Mk. "
a total interest amount of 487 Mk.
or after deducting the 243,,, Mk. already paid
an equal amount.
Plaintiff has, however, requested to sentence the defendant to pay him 422. Mk. plus 6% Sen of 179.3; Mk. due from the day of service of the claim pay.

Defendant has requested
to dismiss the plaintiff's action.
Firstly, he denies having agreed to repay the plaintiff of the loan of 20,000 marks, calculating the mark at a Taelcourse of 4, WHO have agreed to have. That in the relevant letter from the plaintiff dated 6 July 1888 merely He – the defendant – has in no way accepted the offer contained therein and therefore cannot accept it at all because he had already previously Repayment of the largest part of the loan to plaintiff in Berlin
The plaintiff had given Ip the instruction given to him in the letter of July 8th by letter of July 10th, 1888
very much agreed. . a

Therefore, he, the defendant, was only obliged to pay the remaining 6000 Mk. for a course of eight days after sighting Berlin at the dong ang and Shanghai-Bauk in Tientfin N
the payment of the 6000 Mk. in Tientfin, since the repayment
according to the agreement in Berlin should have taken place,
the special wish of the plaintiff, namely by him, the defendant, in the Tientsin current dollar coin at the exchange rate of 8 days after sight.

ie by the plaintiff to the cited passage in the letter dated 8 July 1888

The meaning attributed to it contradicts the wording of that passage.

For this reason, 1 also because the defendant
Covering a price difference which arose because 1 5
the payment in to requested, is not obliged to free
Claim regarding the demanded capital is void.

Bellagter further admitted that $8\frac{1}{4}$ is the usual interest rate in China, but objected that plaintiff had in his

) Should mean "therefore".

– 181 –

rub from July 8th and July 13th, 1888 the interest expressly of 1% swept away; while he, defendant, 1 the amount of 4 own interest with 243 Mk. in one bill of exchange plaintiff 9.

According to this, this too is unjustified.

Plaintiff is of the opinion:

The defendant's letter of 8 July contained a new Application to the effect that the defendant on Wednesday, July 11, 1888 in Tientsin the plaintiff either a bill of exchange for 6000 Mk. on Berlin, due eight days after the date of departure or the equivalent of 6000 ME in cash to Course of a bill of exchange of the relevant kind. By To:

Acceptance of this application has defendant Tientsin as the place of performance recognized and can therefore only be decisive as to how much the bank in Tientsin the plaintiff against the defendant at the bank for payment payment Amount paid to tape paid out, or good= gebracht. ö

The exchange rate difference between Peking and Tianjin must be speaking defendant bears. Defendant has a bill of exchange for 6000 Mart the plaintiff not 1 knock Hechfele be in the same in the state set the value of such a bill of exchange at the bank in Tientsin to be raised in cash. 3 ö

Rather, the Hongkong= and Shanghai=Bank in Tianjin

The plaintiff only received 1293 Taels gu gaichanden, namely according to the ie e on July 13, 1888. now on July 1, the due date= date, ep on July 13th the Taelcours 4, Mk. was now, fo plaintiff with the amount of 1293, Taels did not have the counter:
worth 6000 Mk. at the short exchange rate, but only the Received the equivalent of 5743 Mk.; plaintiff therefore only received 257 Mk.
more than was claimed in the original claim, and at the same time from 257 Mk. the usual interest rate of 8% since July 13, 1888.

The plaintiff has therefore expanded his claim to include:

to sentence the defendant to pay him 500, % Mk. plus 8%

Interest of 257 Mk. to be paid since July 13, 1888.

The plaintiff finally claimed that the tax he had paid was 1% ct» reduction of the Chinese = admitted by the defendant to 8% usual interest rate 065 as a gift in the amount of 7%, while the defendant, rejecting the same,

In any case, the plaintiff had

Letter dated 4 August 1888, the donation was made in time

In the autumn of 1889, the Be= complained about the remaining 4% interest to pay, he did not comply. ee

"The defendant has denied the plaintiff's allegations and statements,

The plaintiff also claimed that it was expressly agreed between him and Be= It was agreed that the interest rates would be the usual ones in the country,

1

) Should mean "still".

to the cousin of

*

- u

- 12 -

and are paid at Chinese, not German, interest rates ollten. The defendant has denied this allegation and the accepted the oath sworn by the plaintiff, but after The agreement between the parties is exchanged letters, especially the aforementioned letters of 23 March July 6, July 8, July 10, July 13, August 4, 1888, are in transcript presented and acknowledged by the parties.
Reference is made. (Page 4" and following 19" of the files.)

Reasons for the decision. 5

For the decision of the legal dispute, in particular for the Legal question whether the plaintiff's interest claim is justified consider, the provisions of the Pr. General Land Law are authoritative.

The parties are indisputably nationals, namely the defendant is his capacity as Imperial Envoy accredited in Ching regarding fine legal status according to § 38 Einl. ALR according to the Laws of the domestic jurisdiction under which he was last
the arrival of the embassy, had his residence,
i.e. in the present case according to Prussian law.

Moreover, as is undisputed between the parties, the standing loan in Berlin to defendant in German Reich currency paid out and it was also agreed that the return
The exhibition should take place in Berlin. This shows that after the

In the interest of the parties, Berlin should be the place of performance.
The fact that the defendant in the course of the later negotiations with the plaintiff on negotiations conducted by letter, the request of the latter, to him the loan or the amount due!) – still in question –

Remaining amount of 6000 Mk. instead of in Berlin in Tientsin – under over-transfer of that sum to the 1 and Shanghai Bank, for payment payment, is merely a favor-act of the defendant towards the plaintiff.

The place of performance established in the contract, Berlin, can therefore, especially since the largest part of the loan – 14,000 marks – was already paid to the plaintiff had been paid out, a change in legal terms not occur.

With regard to the German consular presence in China jurisdiction – see announcement of the Minister of Justice of 7 August 1888 (Justiz-Minist. Bl. 8. 193) – takes place through the best factual circumstances also those in 83 of the law about the jurisdiction of 10 July 1879 in relation to civil law assumed assumption that in the consular court districts the Reichs-laws, the addition, General Land Law etc. apply, their further support for the asserted claim remains only the General Law of the Land is decisive.

In . Gef. help even first and foremost the claim . of the remaining capital required in the form of a price difference unfounded.

) 7.

– 183 –

According to the agreement, the defendant was only obliged to pay the entire Loan, and accordingly also here interesting amount of 6000 Mk in Berlin to the plaintiff. The fact that this was not affected by the later Correspondenz nothing has been changed, as has already been stated.

In any event, the defendant's legal position could not be be aggravated by the fact that it complies with the plaintiff's wish regarding a at their payment office. Also at this other payment office Tientsin
The defendant therefore only had to pay the amount of 6000 Mk. for stance of the plaintiff. Since it is undisputed that payments in German money, the only option left was issuing a bill of exchange or payment in 1 money (dollar currency)) at a good exchange rate, ie from eight days ago

The defendant has argued for the latter in his letter of 8 July 1888 and the plaintiff stated this in a letter dated 10 July 1888 accepted. It is also undisputed that the defendant made the payment at the bank in Tientsin?) and the defendant is thus guilty-liability released.

If the bank in Tientsin then pays out the one-

paid 6000 Mk. to the plaintiff to a detrimental share liable course, the defendant is no longer liable for this
The bank is liable for the exchange rate calculation. The amount resulting from that calculation the plaintiff may have a claim to payment of any 179, Mk. (== 32, Tael) at a Tael rate of 4, % M. is the according to the defendant unjustified. Nor can the plaintiff's claim for interest is considered justified.

The defendant's letter of 23 March 1848 contained offer to the plaintiff to repay the loan in question in accordance with local
To want to charge interest is, as can be seen from the plaintiff's letter 10 July 1888, not accepted by him, and by u in that letter only ordered 1% as interest rate
been. |

It can therefore, since the usual interest rates in the country are not MM have been reduced, it remains to be seen whether under such circumstances
This is to be understood as roughly Prussian (German) interest rates.

This also invalidates the plaintiff's view; 8 reduction of the right to 1% in view of the country's customary – according to its
In view of the Chinese interest rate, this is a gift of 7%, which he revoked it in good time. The acceptance of a gift as one according to the General Rules of Donations directing decree (8 379 L 16 AL R) is thereby a ci a that conceptually every gift precedes an already acquired etzt. In the present case, however, the plaintiff had, due to lack of a regarding the payment of customary fees agreed with the defendant Agreement on the interest rate of 8 at all still fine d

" Feghlechaft, must "Tael=currency" Erz 9 Cas Auberftänbt "there takes place iR.

– Re

The interest in question is considered contractual and not as ez gefiafte demanded.

Since the defendant has fully paid the plaintiff the amount of 4% or paid on his own initiative, the plaintiff even has a receive a higher amount of interest than he himself (1%)

had demanded.

Accordingly, the interest claim asserted was also deemed to be inadmissible.
justified and for these reasons the complete dismissal of the action. aa

The decision regarding costs follows from 8 87 CPO

signed Berner. Kuntz. Hedemann.

The above judgment is made for the merchant Carl Paafch in winches made.

Berlin, May 12, 180.

(LS) signed Barnick
court clerk

i of the Royal Regional Court I Copy Cisiifbeunser 14. N

Minden, June 10, 189.

Mr. Attorney Graffo,
Berlin.

Thank you very much for your kind letter from
7. ds. Mis. and the gef. criticism of the verdict sent in writing.

I will send you the small amount of your cost invoice tomorrow in Berlin and I thank you for all the effort which the fat have given themselves in the e. At my next Presence in Berlin I will not fail to give you the same to attend in person.

Although your reasons for filing the appeal are fully come to mind, I still believe that it is better if we refrain from doing so, because I consider the a. to be unproductive. because also
You cannot be interested in continuing this little matter.

I wasn't interested in the money at all, but rather, to know what the German legal system is like.

Mr. von Brandt had previously assured me that everything Influences depended, and since in German it was undoubtedly has significant influence, I wish the truth of his
To confirm the claim, if possible.

If I can understand that the Court in the question of price as a result of foreign circumstances the matter situation, it absolutely does not want to be in my
I am not sure how the Court could have dealt with the interest rate issue, according to 1 Mr. von Brandt in his dad from 8 August my cousin has expressly committed himself to the same according to my

To finally complete the instructions. That is the matter which Werth r mi .

29 I commend myself to you, Mr Attorney-at-Law, most sincerely
Carl Paafch.

—

To Berlin, June 12, 1890.
Mr. Carl Paafch,

Bad Nammern.

In the von Brandt affair I have the honour to have your Letter dated 10 June, but the one on 9 June the judgment was served, the appeal period therefore will expire on July 9th.

With reference to this, allow me to remark that a
My interest in filing an appeal, which by the way
by a lawyer admitted to the Chamber Court fine, only insofar as it is not pleasant for me, to have brought an action which "for legal reasons" was without Further is rejected.

Yours sincerely

the lawyer
signed Graffo.

Bad Nammern, June 16, 1890.
Mr. Attorney Graffo,
Berlin. |

From your esteemed letter of the 12th of this month I see that it would not be unwelcome to you if the judgment of the Regional Court 1 in the case against Brandt at the Higher Regional Court An appeal would be lodged. In fact, I also regretted after sending my last letter, my first decision to appeal to be dispensed with.

If the judgment cannot be justified on the basis of the Numbers, spelling and misleading errors? I have it was not considered possible that Prussian judges would pass a judgment in name of the King", which is thus made out.

It is quite unthinkable that even one of the signatories neten has read the document. The gentlemen could possibly a falsified judgment has been passed. 'lechtsferng at the throwing bes judgments verfahren Tab, as careless in the eating of the ils a ind, the signing of the document. A merchant would sign a similar document business areas can seriously damage him. The detention would sation that he had not received a business letter from him Ien ha from the fulfillment of the obligations assumed therein conclude that the .

ar
--

– 186 –

Is there not a judgment issued in the name of the King by a Prussian Court an equivalent document, such as a Business letter? Shouldn't one expect even higher May and must make a request?

They point out that the motive of favor is does not belong in a . But if you look at the Motive of the favor nevertheless draws into the judgment, why does If one looks at it only one-sidedly and ignores the fact that the whole loan was a favor on my part?

erner, if one considers ethical reasons or moments at all does not come from the Correspondence. Ivan ben, it suffices to say that he is chasing misunderstandings, a he is a man whose statements and Caution should be taken?

I ask you, Mr. Attorney, to refer the appeal to the to assert the above points of view and recommend myself to you

Yours sincerely
Carl Paafch.

. S. Can a judge be prosecuted for negligent judgment, or been punished? 0 e D. 0.

arguments with

Berlin, July 11, 1890.

To
Mr. Carl Paafch,
Minden.

In the von Brandt case, I humbly inform you, that the date for the hearing of the appeal before the Royal Kammergericht 2nd Civil Senate on 11 November 1890 at 12 noon pending. Yours sincerely

the lawyer
Grasso.

Berlin, November 24, 1890.

To
Mr. Carl Paafch,
here itself.

In your Sa egen von Brandt I inform you er= give that in the 11th date not has been negotiated because the opposing lawyer has stated that he is still further clarification from his client regarding the calculation of the course of the sum repaid in Tienzin.

| The new date is February 27, 1891 in the morning
9% o'clock. Yours sincerely
. the lawyer

signed Graffo.

– 187 –

Minden, December 17, 1890.
Mr. Attorney Graffo,
Berlin.

5 Sir Sue gef. Notification of the 24th of the month I am you connected

42 Objection of the opposing counsel that he still needs clarification on the part of his client regarding Wade seems

us only to run into a deportation of the other unity, |

Mr. von Brandt has exhausted fine wisdom and what he has in

If he hasn't learned anything in 15 years in China, he will never learn.

1 I would like the matter to be decided in court to see.

itte, try to give the opposing party every excuse to

to avoid being stolen. |
I recommend myself to you
Carl Peas.

Attachment.

| n.
HpPerhüör of the Chinese servant Matthias,
in the service of Mr. Carl Paaſch since August 3, 1887.

The same states:

"On the last day, when Mr. Carl Paaſch was in the Temple Kuang=Shang=Tſze was (8 May, around 7 o'clock in the evening Dr. Lenz in a mule cart, accompanied by a mounted courier of the German Embassy. Dr. Lenz EL with him a large flat dispatch box and two round white Chinese cakes. Mr. Dr. Lenz and Carl Paaſch drank a glass of beer. Then they went They left the temple and Dr. Lenz returned alone. The Courier had already ridden back by this time. Dr. Lenz was seized the openly lying on the table in the bedroom Revolver and a room pistol. After dinner, around 10 o'clock, Dr. Lenz sent a letter to the Minister of Brandt. The messenger had the city wall for a fee of 5 u climb and transport the letter in this way. At 2 o'clock In the morning, Dr. Lenz left the temple in a mule cart, to reach the city through the Hsi-pien-men Gate. Against At 5 o'clock Mr. von Brandt appeared, accompanied by the interpreters Mr. G. Lange and Baron von der Goltz and his first servant Jim. They were looking for Mr. Paaſch's papers and searched through everything. I said that the papers were in a different locked leather suitcases, and the minister gave orders this suitcase and all the documents and letters fe to send to the city the next morning. The gentlemen have then had breakfast, tea, eggs, biscuits and some preserves, then They went into a room where on Sunday the 6th a Chinese coffin. They looked at it and the minister asked me to smell it and asked if it 519. smelled, to which I replied: "a little". At about 7 o'clock Mr. Dr. Lenz, to inform the Minister that Mr. use on the embassy had arrived, whereupon we all went into the city.

– 19 –

find the ambassador in a fine sedan chair, the servant Jim to

Ger e, Lange in a cart and with Mr. von der Golz
in another cart, with us two small dogs, who ya Paafch had been in the temple. In the afternoon of the same

I was sent to the temple to collect the suitcases and documents to bring Mr. Paafch's pieces to the embassy.

Tientsin, August 13, 1182.

signed O. Nordhorst.

" C. Rump.

"Gnftar Schmidt.

b.

Medical and other certificates.

translation.

Tientfm, July 25, 1888.

I hereby certify that I am treating Mr. Carl Paafch; he suffer from 19 Beh: 125 right arm, we lan 5 but 355 . ede fhint. The bone ends were at the first bonds are not properly joined together. Otherwise I find that Mr.
Paafch enjoys good health and is free from any physical or mental suffering.

| John Frazer,

doctor and surgeon.

—

translation.

NRW -Dork, November 27, 1888.

Dear Mr. Paafschl!

According to your request, I hereby bring the event to

Kuhn as they relate to the one addressed to me 8

Request to treat you as you heard last spring

and had broken, as far as I can remember today
ann.

During my first visit, which I accompanied by Dr.

Dudgeon, I found you somewhat agitated by opposing Dr. Dudgeon objected to both his medical treatment both against his person and against his attitude.

During subsequent visits, the broken arm seemed to be on the way of healing and you seemed to be in a very good to enjoy one's well-being, both physically and mentally.

I supported Dr. Dudgeon's Ice Cream you because you can get a desert. a guard should give you until your arm is completely would be allt.

As far as I remember today, I added to a letter which

– 190 –

which was brought to me by Dr. Dudgeon for signature, a few lines who said, by and large, the same thing as above.
| Yours sincerely
BC Atterbury.

NB. Dr. Atterbury made his first visit on 12 or 13 May and came back at my request on the following days.

At the request of Mr. Carl Paafch, I confirm that I during his presence in Tienzin, since the 14th of February this year, in personal contact with him there were no signs of mental weakness or a similar condition.

Tienkfin, July 24, 1888. H. Ballauf.

I hereby confirm to Mr. Carl Paafch, upon his request, that I since June 14, 1888 01 today, when he was my comrade and I was in constant personal contact with him, no traces of mental weakness, excitement or hindrance of his mental abilities.

Tientsin, July 25, 1888. Gustar Schmidt.

I hereby confirm to Mr. Carl Paafch upon his request that I have been in my house since June 14, 1888, until today, lived, no signs of mental weakness or disturbed mental abilities in him, but rather him for this capable of taking up a position and in full possession of his mental faculties.

Tientsin, July 26, 1888. e O. Morbhorft.

I hereby confirm to Mr. Carl Paafch, upon his request, that the felbe during the time in which I have had the opportunity to to visit him, namely in Peking from 2 to 12 June this year, furthermore on the ar from Peking to Tientsin from 12 to 14 June and furthermore, here to this day, no trace of mental weakness or other mental disability, but that I have shown the same for this capable of holding a position and in full possession of his mental faculties.

Tientsin, July 28, 1888.

C. Nump.

Tangholm (Russia), 18/30 June 1889.

Dear Mr. Paafch! N

Following your urgent request, I hereby give you a description of the events of early May 1888 on the German Embassy in Peking, as far as I know from my own experience vision and still remember it.

On Sunday, May 6, 1888, we dined together at the

– 191. –

German embassy at Eee von Brandt with the entire Personnel of the Embassy. Your Excellency, you and I played after dinner some rubber whist. They betrayed that evening when eating, they had little appetite, were afterwards rather monosyllabic and when Playing whist a bit distracted.

On Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock, I was supposed to be in the German embassy gave a lecture to the Peking Oriental Society about Lamaism. On the morning of that day, I received However, I received a letter from Mr. von Brandt in which he informed me, that a very sad incident, about which I will soon find out more would drive, which made it impossible to to hold a larger meeting in the German embassy. He but have consulted with the Japanese minister, who made the rooms of his embassy available for the evening.
As a result, I gave a lecture to the Japanese Embassy= ficiency. That same evening I attended 100 of the sessions of the Oriental society that you are afflicted by high degrees of nervous excitement and had become insane. The cause was initially excessive consumption of spirits supposes.

On Friday, May 11, I saw you after the accident at first time. You were lying in bed with a broken arm. Your Auls and breathing were very rapid, her face flushed. Ice packs around your head and gave you nerve-soothing agent (potassium bromide, if I am not mistaken). They spoke at that time only a few words in English: "No news from Tientsin about the riot?" or something similar. N

Dr. Dudgeon, who was also present, explained in response to my question, that you did not suffer from delirium tremens, since the characteristic Symptoms of this disease were missing. Then people tended to the W that your condition was caused by sunstroke.

The following day I was in your room again in the evening.

They looked very attacked and had a strange look, which I had not noticed in you before. We talked about frivolous things, whereby I do not con= traces of mental disorder could tatiren.

On 15 or 16 May I was again on the German Legation in the entrance hall, which is next to your room. They asked for your suitcase, which was already in your

5 8 was. After your wish had been fulfilled, someone made the remark that in your suitcase there are firearms (of which you several) could be hidden. Since you have twice self= attempted murders and also attacks on some of the gentlemen in the Sejande fchschaft, you could have 1 given of keys and suitcases. Now Cu Mr. von Brandt to your room and asked for the keys to be returned, explaining the choir's situation. They stubbornly refused to comply with Mr. von Brandt's wish fulfill, under the pretext that there were important 5. Only after a very long parliamentary debate did Mr. von Brandt to receive the keys from you. Ex handed them one of the gentlemen from the embassy and withdrew, over your mis= He returned, disgruntled, to his inner chambers. After a while they fell asleep. Then the suitcase fetched and opened, but in the absence of Mr. von Brandt and without his order. In the suitcase I found half of a broken broken bottle made of white thick glass, with which one can easily could cause disruptions.

– 192 –

The bottle fragment was therefore removed from the suitcase,
The papers contained therein were left completely untouched.
The suitcase and keys were returned to your room posed.

Finally, I would like to expressly point out that I only mention the points touched 3 which you have specifically indicated to me and that I have endeavoured 1 0 in, the facts as objectively and truthfully as possible to describe. N

8 Regarding the data, yes, I have followed your own information that I consider to be quite accurate.

With best regards, yours sincerely
E. Pander.

c.
Ti fte
which was addressed to His Excellency the Imperial Ambassador Mr.

M. v. Brandt for transmission to Europe for knowledge= items delivered for commercial purposes.

1. A large representation of the temples of the Wutai=Shan=Mountains
(the Mecca of the Mongols), as it is sold there to the pilgrims;
the temple images are printed in black on yellow fabric.

2. A similar map printed on paper.

3. Draw a map showing the consequences of opium smoking= given by a philanthropic Chinese in Taiyuenfu.

4. A small collection of loess men and snails from the provinces of Northern Chihli and Shanfi.

5. A book with several hundred sticks collected in Beijing= patterns; they are glued to red paper.

6. A book about Chinese music with an index and a Sheet with Buddhist and Confucian and other Chinese Music by Reverend and Mrs. Richard.

7. A larger box with loess men, snails and mussels, collected in the area around Beijing. n

8. Some small photographs from Shanfi &c. including little-known places of the Great Wall. (The accompanying text

2 The two items presented to me by the ambassador von Brandt

laß, dated Peking, June 25, 1888, sent back to Tientsin, but he kept the items.) |

. 4

– 193 –

9. Some Mongolian eating bowls, as the Mongolians to wear, including one made of valuable wood

10. Several jars with species of freshwater fish, land= and Water snails, all in spirit, collected near Peking.

The latter appropriated 10 rr from Brandt on his own initiative.

However, it was agreed

1915 for charitable and scientific purposes, and I have

There is nothing wrong with him doing this: however, the objects only gain value for science through the collector's notes with time= and place information zc.

That Mr. von Brandt at least knew the name of the collector and giver is a duty of decency, and he is also there 1 of Object No. 4: at least he gave me a

The relevant letter was read out, but by returning the sliding letter for objects 7 and 8, the matter appears an unlawful appropriation or use of the items.

In a report No. 19 to the Imperial Embassy in Peking, Yokohama dated October 18, 1888, I demanded 5 von Brandt asked me to go to Berlin on 18 occasions to discuss the situation.

use of the things I have collected. This has not yet happened. |

I now request 8 von Brandt to inform me whether
and to which people the

I also request from Mr. von Brandt, who also received my Books taken in order to provide information about the whereabouts of a Chinese work about the temples in the Wutai=Shan=Mountains.

This work should be added to a work already begun on these temples and a work about my journey through northern Chihli and aa: serve.

When packing the books in a bag, which I did not
I did not notice the 24 0 of this work, when unwinding
Of my books, it is the only book that I miss. The work
he ed a value other than scientific for the fpe=
cialis 3 |

d.
Postal notices, correspondence with the customs post office in | Tientfin and Mrs. Eveline Petring, and the Reich Post Office in Shanghai.

translation.
The Chinese Times. Express.
Tientfin, Tuesday, July 17, 1888, 9 a.m.

| Postal notice!
Tuesday in Peki l { Saturday
a we in '> ee Following night at Hoftwu ih Dotumenie. 18

t that he send them to Europe

science he sent said objects.

83 3

| - 194 -

lost when the post pony threw off its rider
and galloped away with the mail sacks.
| On behalf of:
A. Agaffiz,
Postal official pro tom.

Mr G. Detring, Commissioner of Customs

here. f
Cientfin, July 19, 1888.
Your Honor
I request your kind information on the following matter:

On the 14th of this month, at the customs post office here, according to the postal receipt

No. 566, a registered letter from me, addressed "To the Imperial German Embassy in Peking". This letter was, as well as all mail transported at the same time, due in Peking on the 15th of this month and had to already on the evening of A day the 1 of the Couriers in Peking. Only on the morning of the 17th we published a postal notice, according to which the Saturday the 14th, sent by courier to Peking, was lost. Since then, nothing has been announced as to whether the letters will be were found and reached the addressees in Beijing.

I now Your Excellency, as head of the local customs authority and thus the postal customs office, in order to answer after following questions:

a the letters have so far been recovered and in Peking»

delivered

Are and will any research be carried out at all, and which ones? because of the rediscovery of these in such a strange way available and when will these investigations considered futile and finally discontinued?

Are there any regulations at the customs authority which regulate the managed and provided postal service?

Where are they available and how much is the here for a lost through the customs post

ge

registered letter (whether through their negligence or 18 request your kind reply
| u . Your Honor for a pleasant answer and ver» remain obedient l

Carl Paafch.

Mr G. Detring, Commissioner of Customs
here itself.

Your Honor

About 24 hours ago I allowed myself to ask a question regarding the Fate of one of mine with the customs post on Saturday the 14th of this month. to address the lost letter sent to Pang, Cientfti, July 20, 1888.

T

and I requested you to provide the information I have requested and ale to issue. uia
yours sincerely

Carl Paas.

-- --

translation.

Mr. Carl Paafch, Your Honor,
Tientsin
Customs House. ;
Tientsin, July 19, 1888.

| I confirm receipt of your letter today, in which
You notify me that you have been sent by customs post on 14.
de. Mis. was sent to Peking and its loss was reported as indicated, you receive a registered letter No. 566, dated to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, and in which you further inquire:

1) whether the 0 which was sent with the above postal item, recovered and delivered to Peking;

2) whether inquiries and investigations are made regarding the Purposes to recover the lost mail and, if This is the case when these investigations are considered final be considered and discontinued;

3) whether or not there are postal regulations for the customs postal service, and if so, where such regulations can be viewed and up to what amount one can claim compensation can be held liable for the loss of registered letters, whether lost through negligence or force majeure.

In response to this, I now have to say:

1) that the Peking Post, which was sent on the night of 14-15 of this month.
was lost, if not found again and that therefore the letters contained therein are not yet in Peking delivered find;

92 that inquiries and research into the lost put into action last night, both by the agents
the customs postal authority, as well as the Chinese local authorities
those whose assistance was properly sought and that it is impossible for me to give you any information to give an indication of when such investigations are considered final be considered and adjusted:

8) that there are regulations for the customs postal service, which you
5 at the customs post office, but since these Regulations do not allow claims for lost mail.
regardless of whether they were caused by negligence or force majeure loren find, and does not contain any compensation for the case that such losses occur. J i

: e

– 196 –

Regarding the Sn, I would like to point out that the Aus= print "strange", which you can find in a letter, criticised the loss of the post in a way which I am compelled to point out to you that by no means a duty or You are obliged to submit your correspondence to the customs post office trust, and that you are free to promote such on paths,
as you like and which seem suitable for the purpose.
I remain Your Excellency, most devoted

G. Detring,
Commissioner.

Mr G. Detring, Commissioner of Customs
here. a Tientsin, July 21, 1888.

Your Honor

I would like to express my sincere thanks for the kind Answer to my lines of the 19th of this month. The answer crossed with the letter written yesterday.

With the expression "strange" I seem to have a sensitive side to have touched you against your will, and I give the ver= ensuring that criticism of the customs and postal service is not in the intention of the writer, rather, to Schiafal only the wish and duty to inquire about the fate of his letter > and at the same time to make them familiar with the postal service and the obligations which it imposes on the public likum, which has the advantage of being able to take on this in= institutes to be allowed to serve. |

I remain Your Most Honourable,
Carl Paafch.

translation.
The Chinese Times.
Custom House. Tienkfin, July 21, 1888.

f 8 Postal notification!

6 ur notification of the public, which in the Bollpoft, which departed from Peking on the 14th of this month, 5 and 10

and was lost the following night at Ho= hfi=wu, be=
is informed, the following is announced:

J When the post in question arrived in Ho=hfi=wu, it was raining in streams and the collapse of a mud house fhe pony that carried the horse and the rider shied, threw the latter off and was, before he came to his senses again

NE Postach Darkness of the night disappeared together with saddle and

1 east sacks. | |

– 197 –

2) The courier immediately reported the loss to the post offices,

and since the horse had not arrived there,
the station people to look for the pony and if possible to get the mail back.

3) On Sunday the 15th afternoon the pony was not far of Ho=hfi=wu on which it was found grazing, but without Saddle and mail bags. Saddle was brought later.

The same was found in one of the streets of Ho=hfi=wu,
but the mailbags are still missing.

4) The loss of the post was in Ho^hfi^u wu and the main:
villages in the neighborhood through posters

6 " 4
— nn —

and a corresponding reward for the recovery of the same from lden The assistance of the local authorities was also claimed. |

5) The results of the efforts and research
the lost mail should soon be properly be made known.

G. Detring,

Commissioner of Customs.

Mr. G. Detring, Commissioner of Customs |
ier. 15

| * Tientsin, July 23, 1368.

According to an unconfirmed rumor, which Saturday evening was distributed, the lost on 14th of 93 would have been Beh was found again and the letters were returned to the addressees in Peking presented.

f He requests Your Excellency to kindly inform you whether this is really the case and thus my registered letter is come is.

I remain Your Most Reverend,
i Carl Paafch.

, NB. The answer was given immediately by a note in the Letter book: "Yes, the mail has arrived in Peking!"

— — — 2

translation.

The Chinese Times. Express.

Tientfin, Monday, July 28, 1833, 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Pioftanzeige!

The mail sack that was at Ho^hfi^u on the night of the 14th of this month.
lost 3 en what is . and all postal items which e, were, with the exception of one packet on 21st in Peling delivered. 8 . m:

Postbureau | On behalf of: Ges. Noberts,
the customs authority. 8 5 I feel represented by the customs official.

|

– 198 –

Letter to Fran Eveline Detring in Tientfin.) Tientfin, September 6, 1888.

Dear Madam,

Mr Mordhorst tells me that you asked him yesterday
please if I am welcome to your place yesterday evening would accept.

and to my regret, 10 was already denied for this evening
and would not have been able to accept your kind invitation.

I am grateful to you for your kind intention.

the less obliged and please, the enclosed floral greeting friend= to be approved as soon as possible; I am also enclosing a slipper for you."

It will be too big to wear, but I hear

This item of clothing can sometimes be useful in marriage.

With the very best regards to you, Miss Dörrien, Mr.

Husband and children I remain

Yours sincerely

Carl Paafch.

| NB. Mr. Baumeister and Mrs. Bethge, as well as some friends will today do me the honor of dining with me at the Astor House;

If you want to greet your departing friends once again,

which you, Miss Dörrien and your husband presented to me through She Gegen= were very pleased. . 0.

7:15 am please.

Answer.

Dear Mr. Paafschl

Thank you very much for the fragrant greetings and for your friendly Invitation for this evening, which we unfortunately cannot accept.

N Best regards 2

Eveline Detring.

—

. Telegraphic Correspondence with the Shanghai Imperial Post Office regarding the sending of letters of 10 July 1888 and documents to His Serene Highness the Forestry of Bismarck by His Excellency Mr. von Maybach.

translation.

Tientsin, July 18, 1888.

| German Post Office, Shanghai.

Did the package arrive safely by steamer Tungchow?

1 ldi ck of this letter from 28 February 1080 du ben Seren Nacelentier. They end in door

|. Kante ne My Tiflarte in the form of a Kilas ball
e.

--

bend a upwards

-- 199 --

Answer. a

Shanghai, July 18, 1888

Package arrived safely yesterday.

Anding.

a 8. |

Two articles from the North China Heral

concerning the address of the Shanghai merchants to His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt.

translation.

The North China Herald. |

Shanghai, February 24, 1888.

The Germans and their ambassador.

The entire merchant community of Shanghai will, we believe,

with great surprise have read the report about the visits to the German General Consulate on Saturday afternoon, which is printed on another page of our paper. German must be used to being treated badly by their officials

if the recent decree of their envoy to the board
the local Chamber of Commerce, regarding the Telegraph Convention, has not aroused a feeling of disapproval among them. This

The decree was, as it deserved, somewhat harshly criticized by us.

first: and this criticism was used by the German community here to almost unanimously to kiss the rod and to give Mr. von Brandt the Assurance to get that fine naughty letter is an act of his energy, kindness and friendliness and his Desire to promote German trade. If the local Germans would really like to receive this kind of dispatch from their ambassador may have, yes we grant them this pleasure nciblos; but We cannot help but express our renewed opinion that "this address, which is now probably on the way to Peking
is a very unfortunate one.

The togetherness and solidarity of the commercial

The community has been untroubled until now. In its trade, in its pleasures and even in my whole life in the Far East Owl and English have so far been on the same ground moved; they have made competition among themselves, like friends can do it, but never is there international agreement between them
r Germans and English have lived side by side in em board of all public institutions, from the city council e which new
was treated with such unprovoked rudeness by Mr. von Brandt, has German members; it must therefore be admitted that the | – 200 –

The peculiar tone of the address in question is very regrettable. If the German community here believes that Mr. von Brandt is pleased about this, that they kiss the hand which has just punished them, that it contributes to increasing the well-being of his well-deserved vacation, if he has this address in his pocket, then you are very right, him in the most beautiful phrases of which their language is capable, their
to express love and admiration; but it seems more like un= feet to use such an address to express her jealousy of her en 15 – fellow citizens expression to gen You should remember, that every privilege they enjoy in China, even the Existence of their trade, they owe to, whose generosity, in= which allows everyone, including the Germans, to have every commercial advantage, which it has acquired in any part of the world 15 deserves a better wage. If the English had not effort, and had England and France not sent their people and sacrificed their money, then no German ambassador would be in Peking; and the presence of a large English fleet in Chinese waters ensures our German citizens their Position still today. Prince Bismarck would not take the bones of a sacrifice a single grenadier to protect German trade in China. The unity which Sir Frederik Bruce among the foreign representatives in Peking,

this successors unfortunately cannot maintain it, and we be-last, to have to witness how the local German community gratefully acknowledges how Mr. von Brandt in Peking only for his own interests.

The peculiar e of a doyen, which Mr. von Brandt has – strange, because a doyen is not in the place where it the ambassador is not allowed to speak directly with the head of state ue where it is authenticated – should never be replaced by a

he sounded fine, like the German ambassador, whom the Germans praise him for working exclusively for the benefit of his countrymen.
But this is less saddening for us here in Shanghai than that our German fellow citizens almost 805 15 sign an address, which says in 1 words that it is a special element in the rest of the colony of foreigners.

translation.

The North China Herald.

i Shanghai, the 24th of Yebruary, 15088.

Presentation of an address on the German General Goninlat.

the German colony in Shanghai, consisting of:

55 ances " " *

" Bieber " " 12 Justus Lembcke & Co.

– 201 –

in the German General Consulate before Dr. Focke and asked him, an address which is used by almost all Germans in Shanghai et war, to the German ambassador Mr. von Brandt in Peking to be forwarded.

Sr Bieber took the floor and said to Dr Focke:

"I have the honour, Dr Focke, to present you with a

. Address of the ade Ya community in Fk for His Excellency

To hand over to Mr. von Brandt, our esteemed ambassador:

This is caused by the attacks which the local

Day on the same: although only a few days, it is readily signed: it bears 75

signatures and expresses the feelings of all

Merchants. I ask you to send the same to the 8th

1, I will send it with your permission

read aloud: Ä

His Excellency Mr. M. von Brandt,
Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the German Empire.

The undersigned members of the German trade community in Shanghai would like to express our sincere thanks to you.

to express his interest in the interest which His Excellency has always shown in the German trade in China, for the zeal and the Energy with which Your Excellency has always endeavoured to
To eliminate difficulties which hinder German trade in the were laid out, but especially for the kindness which Your Excellency has always distinguished himself and the friendly support which Your Excellency always willingly assists all German companies and persons have done, if they have turned to Your Excellency for advice and turned to help.

The undersigned compatriots of Your Excellency know very well, that, although Your Excellency's efforts are primarily directed towards the aimed at protecting the interests of our fatherland, also at Nations that trade with China benefit from the successes.
Your Excellency has benefited from this.
Basically, we, the undersigned, felt 11 through the shameless attacks recently made by the English press in Shanghai made in honor of Your Excellency." (75 signatures follow.)

When Dr. Focke accepted the address and promised to to their destination, he said: "It is for everyone pleasant to see his work recognized by those in whose Interesse 12 9 75 would be, and he had the Pfend Bene Hert von Brandt would be very happy that his ungen,
to strengthen and increase German trade in China,
fellow countrymen would find recognition"

The deputation then took from the General Consul with a hand= naturally

print farewell and f |
where in beutier Eprahe hatfanben 6

f.
settlement via a powder contract
the company H. Mandl & Co. in Tientsin.

East Asian Journal, August 10, 1888.
The powder purchases in northern China.

From the company H. Mandl & Co. in Tientfin we have received this
The following document was received with a request for publication:

Ministry of War
General War Department.
Berlin, May 6, 1888.

In response to the request of the 3rd month of this year, Your Excellency

just informed you that the Imperial Chinese Government-manufactured 1st delivery of prismatic powder C/82 (1000 boxes)
ar reason for the test results received from the artillery= Examination Commission has been designated as suitable for military use.

signed by Hänifisch.

To Messrs. Cramer & Buchholz,
Your Honor
in Rübeland.

No. 168/5. 88 A 4.
[The official certification of the copy follows.]

The company H. Mandl & Co. in Tientfin writes to us:
Tientfin, August 1888. – Dear Editor. – In Er= response to the East Asian Lloyd's letter of 23 July in an editorial he made negative remarks about the through our mediation for the Imperial Chinese Government supplied brown gunpowder from the German powder factory Cramer &
We have the honour of Buchholz zu Rübeland, without referring to the tendency of this
If you wish to comment on this matter, please enclose a copy of the Opinion of the Royal Prussian 5 on the
to be delivered powder for the information of your readership means, and draw
yours sincerely

H. Mandl & Co.

The Balfus, on which the company Mandl & Co. in Tientsin in her letter to us refers to the following:

"The Arsenal of Futfchau. Shanghai (Kiangnan) and Tientsin obuciren cannons, rapid-fire guns, rifles of modern con= nuctions at prices that were quite cheap for the government, and also what

– 203 –

When it comes to the production of powder for war weapons, the Viceroy Li Hung Chang spared no sacrifice to establish a to build a powder factory that meets all requirements.

necessary efforts were made by him to keep the secret the production of brown prismatic powder (Krupp, United Rhenish-Westphalian powder factories in Cologne on the Rhine and Rottweil) to buy, and if this does not suit him, then he will fight with the .

inferior, recently rejected by the Russian government product from Cramer & Buchholz. This is on circumstances which this is not the appropriate place to discuss." We can in these quoted lines of our earlier

editorial a real justification for the dice

"Mandl & Co. in Tientfin sent certificate of the Prussian

Ministry of Victory, we nevertheless give it space in our newspaper to leave no doubt that we have, as always, acted bona fide in this case too. Ben inferior powder (inferior to the best annte, that of the Association of Rhenish-Westphalian Powder Factories, which in the German Army and in the A Army exclusively used) and powder that is unusable for military purposes, there is certainly a huge difference.

Note: In the original contract for the powder, which was signed by Mr.

Mandl for the company Jardine Matheson & Co. and by the merchant JJ Buch . was drawn up in Shanghai, the condition was that the Prussian order to certify that the order by Messrs Cramer & Buchholz The quality of the powder supplied is comparable to that of the United Westphalian Powder and the brown powder supplied by the Rottweiler powder factory. Mr. Mandl, who had to execute this contract and a. especially to Europe, it was possible to obtain a certificate from the Prussian authorities to teach; the question is now, how and under what conditions is this certificate ficit: that it serves to pull the wool over the eyes of the Chinese

There can be little doubt.

Since the matter has been publicly discussed in newspapers, the question is who ultimately the injured party?

PS Meanwhile a diefe Heine insignificant matter much Dust was stirred up and even an imperial edict against the Jews Mandl. von Brandt was asked to inform everyone in
To warn China about Mandl, the same von Brandt, the accomplice of the
It was a fraud. |

Nothing is as suitable as this little one. to the Corruption, which the Jews in German official circles brought in, and nothing could be more desirable than if one should examine this matter in its entirety, wanted to cover. The imperial envoy was from the outset also bie accomplices to the fraud, as a prostitute in Berlin, at the
the matter was negotiated. Between these two extremes

| ft are ation secretaries, retired officers and a whole number of other dt.

* % 0 ud 8 "*
- . - a - . - - - 0

- 204 -

G.
article from the "Chinese Times"

about Captain von Hannecken.

translation.
The Chinese Times.
Tienkfin, November 19, 1887.

Captain von Hannecken. !)

To the regret of his numerous friends of all nationalities
The captain of 5 who is still suffering from the aftermath

an accident that happened to him a few months ago, Received an order to go to Europe for 8 months of sick leave.
On the 17th of this month he left for Germany. We hope that he may return to China restored and strengthened, so that he the great and difficult duties which have been imposed on him, can fulfill.

Constantin von Hannecken comes from a military family,
which has produced famous warriors for several generations.

His father, a general, former governor of Mainz, contributed a lot to the Prussian army to the degree of Perfection, which was first presented to the world at Sadowa in 1866, and then in 1870 during the terrible war with France was revealed. General von Hannecken was a scientifically educated military man, a man like Clausewitz, Marmont and Foy, with a thorough understanding of all Branches of strategy and military tactics, a gift which I have passed on a significant amount to his son. Captain von Hannecken was educated in the military cadet institutions and in 1873 Lieutenant of the Infantry; but since he had great showed inclination and sense for artillery sciences and the tactical methods of handling this weapon in the field,

He was allowed to transfer to the artillery; and finally he, under the guidance of his father, the laborious study of fortification, tactics and strategy. At the instigation His Excellency the Vice King came from Hannecken to China and was appointed aide de camp His Excellency, the only appointment of this kind, which I have ever found.

The Viceroy wasted no time and presented the young German officer immediately faced difficult tasks. Captain von Hannecken immediately organized a training battalion and a training battery,

1) Mr. von [unn] was a Prussian lieutenant and made several Male au glg. through mediation N . De beta er the employment in Tientfin. sup military titles are used by different people in China to buy as desired. . |

– 205 –

which determined fine joe to send men to the army of Chihli, German training in the infantry.

which after the new
Drill, skirmish training and general education should be provided.
He also formed a pontoon division, designed and built the Pontoons, trained his people, and once even when he himself was not a was there and his people were given the order to They bridged the Peiho at a point where it was wide; and in

In less than half an hour a path had been made across the river.
over which one can place infantry, cavalry, cannons and Baggage wagons from one side of the river to the other
be able to get across. |

Despite the life he led, which alone
5 would have been enough to use the strength of most people 10 et he gained an extraordinary knowledge of Chinese language, and few foreigners understand this language better rule more than he does when it comes to military matters.

He also made the plan for the great fort behind Pehtang, which this place, which was previously, before this new fort was built,
could easily be attacked from the now covered side, to a eminently secure; also, on his instigation, the fortifications of Taku were modified and the artillery there was rearranged.

In 1880 war with Russia threatened and Captain von Hannecken was quickly sent to Port Arthur to carry out a topographical survey to take a look at the place and to report on it, how best to secure this place and make it a secure . for the 1 fleet could make. Captain Cocker went along for the 9th time to take pictures of the harbor
On his return to Tientfin, Captain von Hanneden present to Vice King Li all the plans which will lead to the port a fixed nr. While the plans were being discussed deliberated, General Gordon came here and was, during two Weeks of interesting remembrance, the guest of Captain von

Hannecken in the temple behind the viceroyal ladies.

Captain von Hannecken's plans for the great Fort Huang kin=fhan were very detailed, Dong and finely thought out, and In December 1880 he was sent to Port Arthur to complete his
ai. He took with him five soldiers from the Pethang' arnison, an official who spoke some French, and a Quantity of cash silver. 106

Thus equipped and provided with a letter from the Vice-King
Li he went to the lonely place where nothing . 5

Workers, no tools, no cement, no 9 aumatecia

Under extreme difficulties he recruited Steinhauer, Rau and workers, imported cement, had granite from the quarries

Shantungs came and began his work: He organized 3

Work, divided the people into sections and chose foremen and

Narf taught people to do earthwork, tunneling, custom-made, hardening tools and processing granite,
To lift weights etc. At first there were hardly any workers and the people ran away; but through good treatment, firmness, Justice. Regular payment and not a little patience succeeded finally managed to gather 4-5000 workers of all kinds; and now he began to level the ground, dig the foundations, steps

u hauen, to make embankments and faw so nad and after fine Masterpiece is the large façade which crowns the hill and falling fire ravaged the harbor, the beach and the roadstead
. His work was of the most serious kind, physical and mental
The efforts did not stop, and only one man from outside
With proper strength, nerve and boldness she could endure: but it
There is reason to fear that he will now suffer the consequences:
ftreatous life, where he was constantly exposed to the weather, she was hot or cold, suspended, suffering. He actually had no helpers, and Since he did not even have an electric device, he even had to light the fuses of the mines with his own hands.
As the work progressed and took shape, he made ways on which he carried his heavy loads of stones and material to the top of the mountain. Every day promoted the Work and soon the large polygon appeared in its entirety
Beauty and strength; with casemates and corridors in carved Granite, with officers' quarters, provisions rooms, wells etc.; all calculated for the case of war, with an earthwork of 40 feet thick to protect the masonry, with solid slabs ormen and 1 for the large gun: every part of the olygons so constructed to create dominant and complete meeting lines to grant; finally, the heavy 25 em Krupp guns, which are the main means of defense of this work, in the port

with improvised means, because at that time there were no Ha and then they were wound up the steep hill and in Pofition pebradit, solely by physical strength of hundreds Men who had been taught to work on the rope and in the same= to work at a moderate pace, and so Port lrrthur was with its strong citadel and its auxiliary forts a fortress.

Completing the work was not easy, as the
The necessary money was not forthcoming, but soon the worrying Events of this time, which followed one another quickly, the fch authorities more energetic and willing, and so the work back in flow.

The Treaty of Paris was concluded, and since peace feen certain, the Vice=King Li visited in the company of the Vice= King of the two ang, Shang "tung and the two emperors=
Lieutenant Commissars Wu a and Chang Pei=lun Port Arthur in the year 1884, and what they had there was pleasing in their
But then came the Battle of Bac=le and France threatened Captain von Hannecken then fought hard until the

— —

1) Aluminum plant N ET Fri u

— 207 —

Extremely to prepare fine, and within three months, Since Admiral Courbet threatened to attack Port Arthur, the flop was in defensive terms. New earthworks, redoubts etc Batteries were erected. The b Geschef was reinforced and provisioned:
stocks of ammunition, 155 shells dragged on, and in a few weeks the place became so strong that.
ban I from land and water, he resisted the attacks of the united not only to resist the Anglo-French army and fleet, but Captain Lang could have repelled them, too, English naval officer who commands the northern fleet, he:
ields the order from his government, as is customary under international law is to resign his command; this he did after he had Cruiser, gunboat and all armed vehicles in a defensive position five position and Captain von Hannecken, with Granted full powers, he became Commandant of Port Arthur.
To make an attack, Admiral Courbet first demanded 5000 men, who land in the Ta=lien=Wan=Bai and then on
They were to march to the port to attack the square from behind.
But he soon found that this was not enough. The precaution to the defense, which the young German had taken, were and completely, and the Chinese troops led by annecken's and his lieutenant, Major Schnell, would be strong= fuffifcift resistance and the great sea fort would be real= 1 9 also some French ships through the devastating your fine guns have drilled into the ground. Admiral Courbet
then increased his demands and demanded 16,000 men sol= data and several Pan erfhs, but finally he gave up the attack because the French fleet in the hinterland waters was not in would have been able to compensate for the loss of several and the miserable to accommodate the preparation of all other ships.
e von Hannecken and the other above-mentioned loyal German officers made the Chinese cause at all costs and for their own and even for their fatherland they could not do more sacrifice. von Hannecken's noble, warlike devotion spirituality found appreciation at this time and for a while he was given free rein, but as soon as peace was established, his merits, he again became the object of low and zealous malice, outrageous ignorance and dishonorable intrigue.

His laborious work, his superb citadel, his incomparable fortified and masked Ban fine splendid swiftly created Ver= means of defense, its creation of order from a 1 chaos, loyalty was abused to his detriment and fine position unbearable for a noble-minded soldier and Gentleman. In May 1880, His Imperial Highness visited the 7. Prince and the Vice=King Li Port Arthur, and Captain of Hannecken, who showed the great Manchurian, received the first degree of the third class of the double Bra and the civil rank of third class. In November he left Port een, torpedoes etc. w. come -

5
- - - - - . -

.
- -
- -

- 208 -

Arthur and returned to Tientsin: but immediately sent him the Vice=King Li to prepare fortification plans for Ta=lien= wan and Wei=hai=wei to prepare, and his laborious work, which with were adapted to the circumstances with extraordinary skill, were finally recognized. A few days before he left for Europe, Captain von Hannecken was promoted to General by Special Order Inspector of the fortifications of Ta=lien=wan and Wei=hai=wei appointed, while at the same time maintaining the honorable and exceptional position as a aide de camp His Excellency the Vice=King Li retained. .

The services rendered by Captain von Hannecken to China has, are . fene Lobulit his military and organizational talent is so great, his loyalty so proven and solid that there is no longer how appropriate it is that we should make a short list of the Work and the excellent Siigtiten of a knight without Fear and blame, which is an ornament of the German Empire, and whose current career will always remain a model for all who will ever enter the service of the Chinese Empire.

This article was probably primarily intended for English people calculated, because in German newspapers, where he is in this form could hardly have been seen, it was published in a modified form at the end of 1887, reproduced in 1888. What a lovely humoresque for military Turkish specialist journals!

– 2 –

| h.
Short Husmg from In Memoriam, made for His Serene Highness Prince von Bismarck.

After Mr. von Brandt and Mr. von Ketteler had unsuccessfully had made suggestions to manage my business affairs in China in a way that is neither commercial nor legal Raifon had, and a von Ketteler on 26 April 1888 to Tientsin ab a, I noticed the confused nature of Mr. von Brandt Mi and finally, that I serve myself after the spears opened by him felt, at the same time, all the urge to return to the embassy This led me to take a promise that had been wrested from me, to stay at the Legation on 7, 8 and 9 May 1888, not to follow, but on Sunday the 6th with Mr. von randt to table IX, where I knew that several guests except were invited to my table. The night from the 6th to the 7th I slept on embassy. On the morning of the 7th I was sent for the second An exceptional breakfast in my room. I enjoyed some of it and felt uncomfortable. On the pie I was assured of extradition on the orders of Mr. v. ndt

– 200 –

Papers (see reports no. 15 and 16) were refused. On the morning of 8. sent me Sn v. Brandt, although I had refused the gift, a smoked salmon fillet (see private letter from Brandts dated May 8, 1888) and, as far as I know, other foods besides bread fhis kitchen (Brandt had recommended my cook to me through the mediation= development of the one concerned). Appreciated malaise: |

On the evening of the same day, unmotivated mysterious broadcast of Dr. Lenz in my apartment (see report no. 16 and 18 and Interrogation of the servant! I move away from my temple and Upon my arrival in the city I encountered a persecution of Chinese to be paid (which will still be evident after a year and a day and in which Europeans were probably involved, in which I almost lost my life, and which finally forced me to To spend the night outdoors. The next morning around 6 o'clock I arrived at the German embassy: I found several gentlemen, who do not usually get up so early, including Dr. Lenz. »I was told that Mr. von Brandt had gone for a walk. The gentlemen Lange and von der Goltz were still asleep: I told my experiences of the last evening and the last night. Among other things, the statement was made. that I was wanted last evening. (How could anyone want, Since the gates are closed at 7 o'clock, 50 are no longer in my apartment if no one knew about the persecution?)

Finally, Messrs. Lange and von der Goltz appeared: with me, last night there were dispatch boxes in the embassy rupture, it is not yet known exactly which papers are missing, but they would probably find themselves in Tiensin.

2
.
- - — — - a ie

u — — — — —

a statement that it was too late for Mr. von Brandt to take up the matter?)

0

I've already had it published in the newspaper. It's out now.

outside the embassy, the noise of crowds.

expects an uprising caused by the measures which I to get rid of my 55. on the night expedition of Lord von

I still have no idea.) Great dismay: von Brandt er= finally heint, deathly pale, with Dr. Dudgeon, the latter in high spirits emotion.

have sunstroke. I protest against any treatment, but especially against that of Dr. Dudgeon; one asks and I invite me to breakfast, I refuse, finally they want violence apply; I say, if anyone wants my life at all, do I decided to take it myself. Finally, I was persuaded by

Requests for surrender. As soon as I am in the power of the gentlemen. I am being forced to take medicines which Dr. Dudgeon immediately brought with him. I am thrown into bed and treated brutal. The speeches which immediately followed at my bedside & I will talk.

für: were, the blasphemies, troubles sec. elude
en
I. Documents. ö

the
| eibung and were only too suitable to the Ue and "u 0700 that such things were
. 7 |

=
> RER

randt after my temple

von Brandt says I am sick and have to take medicine, I

—

— —

00.

—

4

two full days of brutal treatment, constant insinuations of medicines, subcutaneous injections, treatment with ice on the Head, deprivation of food, air and light, not even the cleaning such as washing and relieving oneself is provided, but there were all kinds of unknown people acting as so-called guards. After two days of this unbearable treatment and after I had convinced me sufficiently that there was no way out, I would rather try to end my life than to be humiliated in a shameful manner; this was done after careful consideration interpretation and with a perfectly clear mind. (I claim, except perhaps a short time as a result of the morphine injections and after for a few hours during the resulting nt Wound fever, always in full consciousness was too fine) I had I have just as little desire to end my life now as I do today. The attempts fail (and it is to this circumstance alone that I owe my Life!), I break my right arm, great shock to the Be theiligen, you change the policy, become friendly and finally let another doctor, whom I have long been demanding. von Brandt ver fures me with tears of his greatest friendship and asks me, to trust him again, whether I had lost all trust in him I say: certainly! and his future behavior should be whether I would ever give it to him again. von Brandt sits down forcibly took possession of the keys to my suitcases, which my Papers included. On May 17, against my wish, I will be in a house rented by Sir Robert Hart. A house described as mauvais The notorious Irishman is assigned to me as a guard and table companion Mr. von Brandt had already given it to 5 invited to make the same socially acceptable for me make. 8 In addition, an English Constable Cox from Tientsin telegraphed to cause a sensation there. My service= Several more coolies will be added to the embassy's staff; I am strictly guarded and am not allowed to take a single step unsupervised: von Brandt visits me two or three times a day, brings me Cards of foreign ambassadors and diplomats, which, according to my inquire about your well-being. No one is allowed into my apartment except a few members of the n and two in the service of Sir Robert Hart Dr. Dudgeon gives the Irishman Collingridge Bing Strychnine, with which he poisons dogs that disturb their night's rest (demonstrable, poison is being handled again in my house. Despite his bad reputation, Mr. Bing does not seem to be a monster. Sir Robert Hart plays Mr. Bing, who has no means at all. relatively short offers for entry into the customs service (detectable). t. Bing fol then within 24 hours nad)

Shanghai. Mr. Bing rejects Sir Robert's offer allegedly because he had the prospect of a position with a Chinese Ministry. Great expressions of friendship from the Lord of i calculations

Brandt, but ung of my private letters, empty x. 2c.

*

– 211 –

Finally on 12 July 1888 departure for Tientsin, loss of my Report No. 7 to the 10 Embassy by Sir a

Fa Heu oft. Simultaneously with the customs post courier, which is via because only this one letter is supposed to have been borne, a private ourier von Brandt's to Pekin 8 5 Intrigue of

Mr. von Brandt at Li, as described in reports No. 16 and 18.

All facts asserted here, where they are not supported by lege verifiable find, can be proven. Bu the Ro ments which Sir * Hart's heil 2 in the intrigue in diciren, there are several others, such as my Pens 8

K Relationship to Sir Robert, some remarks von Brandt's earlier hostile, ei in Be e relationship with Sir Nobert and several others circumstances.

.. * „„ » %% 00.

14°

/

EN

\
*

— — —, — p F Fk— . nn and

, 4
ee... 2 *
D — 2
24 2 — —

—

A u 2

Subject Index to Part II.

egg
Pavutingfu and Beijing. *
Report No. 1 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated
Paoutingfu, February 2, 1888.
Report No. 2 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking. dated Poutingsu, February 3, 1889. 8
Private report to the Naiferlid German ambassador in Peking, dated Paoutingfu, February 3, 1888. . nn 7
Memorandum No. 1 for the Imperial Chinese Government by Karl Paasch
about railways and mines in China 11
Report No. 3 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated Beijing, March 9, 1888. 28
Memorandum No. 2 for the Imperial Chinese Government by Karl Paasch about railways and mines in China en" 29
Memorandum No. 3 to the Imperial Chinese Government by Karl Paasch on the Nufifian=Transcaspian Railway gg 99
Report No. 4 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated Beijing, April 10 IN.. " 4 43

Confidential Memorandum A for the Imperial German Ambassador in Peking

by Karl Paafch on administration and organization, dated Peking,

April 22, 1888. 48

Confidential Memorandum B for the Imperial German Ambassador in Peking

by Karl Paafch on the handling of business, dated Peking,

April 22, 1888p. ,,, 48

Confidential Memorandum C for the Imperial German Ambassador in Peking

by Karl Paafch on state participation, dated Peking, April 22nd

iI y 8 59

German Bank in East Asia. A proposal for the establishment of such a bank;

prepared by Karl Paafch, together with two newspaper articles 8

Private letter from Mr. M. von Brandt to Mr. Paafch, dated Peking on .

May 8, 18g. "" "" 67

Private letter from Baron von der Goltz to Mr. Paafch, dated Peling,

June 5, 188. "" ae en ae a ie 68

Commentary on the Correspondenz between Tientfin and Dolo hama 69

Cieninn and Nokohama. ö

report No. 5 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, batirt

Tientfin, June 28, 180888888. – 2... 72

– 213 –

Report No. 6 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, June 26, 1888999...

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Paafch, dated Peking,

237. Jun . we a va ee as

Decree of the Imperial German Embassy to Mr. Karl Paafch, dated

Beijing, June 28, 1991

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Karl Paafch, dated Peking,

June 29, 18e 3

Report No. 8 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, July 1, 1899

Report No. 9 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peling, dated Tientfin, July 5, 1888808098)ee. rn.

Report No. 10 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, July 10, 188))32822 ...

Letter from Karl Paafch to His Excellency the State Minister Mr. von

Maybach, dated Tientsin, July 10, 1888 9

Letter from Karl Paafch to His Serene Highness Prince Bismarck.

dated Tientsin, July 10, 1888899 3

Report No. 7 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, June 30, 1888

Report No. 11 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientfin, July 14, 1800

Decree of the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated Peking,

FF A / – te

Report No. 12 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated .

Tientfin, July 16, 189999p0tW. 2 2 2 0...

Report No. 13 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, July 17, 6:99 p.m. een.

Report No. 14 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, July 21, 1888

Decree of the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated Peking.

21: Jun 1888 s° ee et

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Paafch, dated Peking,

A en e, ie ee

Decree of the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated Peking,

24: Jan ie, ° a

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Paafch, dated Peking,

24: July . ei re 7□

Report No. 15 to the Imperial German Consulate in Peking, dated

Tientsin, July 28, 1888 » . 2 2 0 0 .

en son Brandt and dern Bas, Udet bes, ben

8 -r- % e „% em N - 2 E % oe

8

5

- - . - VEN 5 * . . ix

- - . aa eee

- 214 -

Telegraphic dispatch from Mr. Paafch to His Serene Highness the Prince von Bismarck, dated Tientfin, August 9, 188 . 102

Letter from Mr. Paafsch to Mr. Consul Feindel in Tienfin, dated Tien= tfin, August 11th Id s. A ä

Report No. 17 to the Imperial German Embassy in Being, "Dated

Tientfin, August 11, 1888 8 a. V102

Report No. 16 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientfin, August 9th I.... Fe "03

Letter from Mr. Paafsch to His Serene Highness the Prince of Bismarck, dated Tientsin, August 20, 1889. 5 ;

Telegraphic dispatch from Mr. Paafch to His Serene Highness the Most von Bismarck, dated Tientin, August 30, 1889. 116

Letter from Mr. Paafch to His Excellency the ._. Li en In dated Tientfin, September 24, 1889. 116

Letter from Mr. Paafch to the Mandarin Li 8 200, dated "Zientfin, September 21, 18 88u-- ...d 116

Letter from Mr. Paafsch to His Serene Highness von Bismarck,

Tientsin, September 24, 1888 – 117

Report No. 18 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking, dated

Tientsin, August 29, 1888 “ “ “ “ 118

Report No. 19 to the Imperial German in Beijing, dated

Yokohama, October 18, 1888 E 8

Berlin and Minden.

Letter from Mr. Paafch to the State Minister Mr. von Naybach, dated

Berlin, December 18, 1888 ar ie 129

Letter from Mr. Paafch to His Serene Highness the Prince of Biömark, dated Berlin, December 18, 1888. “ “ “ “ 129

Decree of the Ministry of Public Works on the Paafch, dated

Berlin, December 19, 1888 129

Decree from the Foreign Office to Paafch, dated Berlin, December 19th.

IRB 5 3 1 oe B 190

Letter from Mr. Paafsch to His Serene Highness the Duke von Blömark, dated Minden, February 28, 1889. . . I 0

Saving the project with Herr von Brandt.

Preface 0 0 S + W » o 8 w D q mw – Ve * „“ % 0 0 0 0 U} 0 146

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Seren ie dated kai den

28, Mar; 1889. 2 2 6 “ “ 150

Extract from a private letter from Herr Paas to Mr. von Brandt, dated Beijing, July 6, 1888. een. Bl

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Paafch, dated Peking,
ain. 181

Extract from a letter from Mr. Paafch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientsin, July 10th Id 1888 “188

From a private letter from Mr. Paafch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientsin, July 18, 1888 132

Private letters from Mr. Paafsch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientsin, July 18, 1888 162

– 215 –

Private letter from Mr. Paafch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientsin, 27: July ids U e ö

5 of Mr. Paafch 8 om von Brandt, dated Tientsin, 1

July 30, 18

Private letter from von Brandt to Mr. Bag. dated Peking, / A c are

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Paafch, dated Peking,

August 2, 188020000

Business letter from Mr. Paaſch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientſin, August 4, 1888, together with Account-Current © – © 2 2 2 0 2 0 ne.

Business letter from Mr. Baasch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientſin, den August 6th In..

Letter of correspondence from Mr. Paaſch to Mr. von Brandt, dated Tientſin, August 7, 1M

Private letter from Mr. von Brandt an der Paaſch, dated en
. August Ins.

Business letter from Mr. Paaſch to von Brandt, dated Tientſin, from 30. August RB He re.

Business letter from Mr. von Brandt to Mr. Banker Hermann . 0
Berlin, dated Peking, July ., 1888. ;

This letter from Mr. von Brandt to their banker, Dean Paaſc=̄
Verlin, dated Peking, August 8, 16.

Letter from Attorney Graffo: Berlin to Mr. C. . 14 Finden, dated Berlin, July 6, 18810).

Letter from Mr. von Brandt to Attorney Graffo-Berlin, dated Berlin, July 5th IS)))

Letter from Mr. C. Paaſch to Mr. Attorney Graflo-Berlin, "Wetirt
Berlin, August 10, 1889. 2 0 0 0 0 Er 0 2.

Filing of Mr. C. Paaſch against Mr. von Brandt, by en

lawyer Graffo, dated Berlin, September 10, 1880

Letter from Nechtoanwalt Graffo to Mr. C. Paaſch=̄ Berlin, Sa
Berlin, April 25, 18900

Defendant's response to the complaint by the attorneys at law Simson
and Hermann II- Berlin, dated Berlin, April 24, 1800

Letter from Mr. C. Paaſch to Mr. Attorney Graffo=̄ Berlin, dated
Berlin, April 27, 1890...

Application by Mr. Graffo-Berlin, dated Berlin,
April 20th Inv "

Letter from Attorney Sraffo to Mr C. Baaſh-Rinden, dated
Berlin, May 2, 18900

Letter from Attorney Grafie to Mr . 4 – betirt

Verlin, June 7, 18000 0

Copy of the judgment in the case against Deren von Beenbt, filed in Berlin, the 12th time in 1800

Bet db The d- n . 1 fe i sins,

June 10, 1800 99 8 5

Letter from Mr. Grafio's Co-Attorney C. Vasfch-Bab Pansen

Date Berlin, 14 Dual 18060.

- 216 -

Page

Letter from Mr. C. Paafsch to Mr. Oraffo, dated Bad

Nammen, June 16, 1890 185

Letter from Attorney Graffo to K. Paafsch dated Berlin,

July 11th 1:00 180

Letter from Mr. Kechtsanwaltö Graffo to Mr. C. Paafsch, dated Berlin,

November 24, 1890 186

Letter from Mr. C. Paafch to Mr. Rinder,

December 17, 1890. . . . 187

Attachment.

a) Interrogation of the Chinese servant Matthias 188

d) Medical and other certificates 189

c) Lifts of Mr. von Brandt transferred objects for him. In institute 192

d) Postal documents, correspondents with over 1000 copies in the United States and Canada
Eveline Detring 0 193

©) Two articles from the North Chins Herald:

The Germans and their Ambassador 109

Providing an address to the German General Consulate in

Ehangh 200

f) Bettungenstih via a powder contract via Firme O. Ban & Ce. 2023

g) Article from the Chinese Times about Captain von Hannecken 204

bh) Short extract from an In memoriam, prepared for His Excellency Durdhail the princes of Bismarck 208

Drac von Bär 4 Hermann in Seipsie.

a

\

7)

*.

| 'Hifterifihes Bürgertum.

of the Empire of Both and

ud

Works by Otto Glagau.

— 2 — — — —Eä— nam nmnmnn

The Rulfur Fighter.

Bean for public affairs.

. Fest 1144 (18 br.). a

— Serlin, Erxytd. d. Autura fighter.

| Prein rn. D0 m. |

— 2— en

The Dofemik inddes Alenfchenopfet

of rabbinism.

Paderborn 1888.

Ireie 1 m. 60 pla. He

My answers

to the Ralbiners.

14 and Beindunge—Shwinde

in Berlin,

Fourth revised edition.

Gerlin, Exped. d. Suitur fighter.

Printing house (J. Zeman & Co.). is 80 Pie.

Biden and supplement ini Mainz 1882,
Berl Kirch
in Prulfal rlag von ang 5 heim, Berlin, 5 "ie _ Abbe Dr. Clemens Pielor.

The bankruptcy of the National-
Liberalism and the "Reaction".

Ninth edition.
Berün, Bei Iriedrich Luck hardl.
Price 1 M.

question and public opinion.

Leip pain 169
Cover of 2 Ixilfch.
Price 1 m. 20 pfa.

Dr. Juftus.

— A pñ— — — Din Dar N

Per Judenspiegel.

Paderborn 1883.

Third revised edition.
Osnabrück, with Bernhard Wchberg.
Price 4 M.

— — —

Beutfces Bandiverk and Schröder!

Price 50 Pfg.

Dr. Jarub. Ecker.

Fifth edition. Paderborn

from France
e ny d 105 loot back and translated into Serbian.

t by Carl Paafch.

Keipiig 1801. * ecipng 1891. g
ee. Chevodor Artisb. f Verlag von Hufen AL. - en ode Dr es si a =

Druck und Be Bonifarlus-Drudere

!fillings over the Bay. via ferilcien
Foreword by Carl Paafk.

Works by Prof. Dr. Aug. Rohling. |

Printing and publishing of Bonlfacius ; Drucerd, ge

Prague 188g. 8
Printing and publishing of the €: Ido. Tcthod' (dien

Oracle and Jauberuunder.

Prof. Dr. Rohling, the Jews=

7

2
u

BER ——— – TEN – 2 – SER DE RE

number Et the Dahee

Cesabtää, by Bernhard Wechberg. sc and. 45 4 benden | Prits 40 Na. Ichroder) x the | Price 1 m. 60 Pie.
by Prof. Dr. Aug. Rohling. | _ __ Monaml.
– “The Bomb”.

This book should be returned to the Library on or before the last date stamped below.

A fine is incurred by retaining it beyond the specified time.

Please return promptly.

This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Google books

<https://books.google.com>

Google

About this book

This is a digital copy of a book that was kept on library shelves for generations before it was carefully scanned as part of a project to make the world's books available online.

The book has outlived the copyright and can now be made available to the public. A book in which was never subject to copyright or whose copyright term has expired. Whether a book is vary from country to country. Publicly accessible books are our gateway to the past and re and scientific potential that is often difficult to discover.

Traces of use, notes and other marginal notes contained in the original volume can also be

A reminder of the long journey the book has taken from the publisher to a library and then to you. We hope you will find it useful and enjoyable.

usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize publicly available materials and make them accessible to the public. Public domain books belong to the public and we are only their custodians. Nevertheless, digitization work is costly. In order to continue to provide this resource, we have taken steps to prevent commercial parties. This includes technical restrictions on automated queries.

We ask you to adhere to the following guidelines:

+ Use of the files for non-commercial purposes We have designed Google Book Search for educational and non-commercial use. Use files only for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ No automated queries Do not send automated queries of any kind to the Google system. If you are interested in machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to text is useful, please contact us. We encourage the use of publicly available material for these purposes and we may help.

+ Retaining Google brand elements The Google "watermark" that you will find in every file is part of this project and helps users find more material through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Stay within the legality Regardless of your intended use, you must be aware of your responsibilities to ensure that your use is legal. Do not assume that a book that we believe is legal for use in one country is publicly accessible, is also publicly accessible to users in other countries. Whether a book is available varies from country to country. We cannot advise whether a particular use of a particular book is legal. Do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means that it is available in your country or the world. Copyright infringement can have serious consequences.

About Google Book Search

Google's goal is to organize the world's information and make it universally usable and accessible. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books and supports authors and publishers by making their work more visible. You can search the entire book text on the Internet at <http://books.google.com>.

— — = Z—

\
N
\
\

0
.
 \ \
 \ 05 N
 \) iN i \ h 0
0 N
 \ N 0
* NN \
AN N
 \ \ 4 |
We 0 \ 0
NN \
W \ \
2 \ N \ \
h \ \ \ \p \ 0
 \ \ 1 0
 \ 5 N
(3 IN 0
 \
 \ \ N
 \ \
 \ Aa
N\
* \ \
 \
 \
M
 \

| A

Nil de 1 Gef af
their beer

Secret Identity, Expropriation
and Jewish rule

Carl Paafch.

— — — —

Part III: The Jewish Demon II
Part IV: The Jewish Demon II.

Printed as a manufactory.

Teipzig 1891.
In the author's opinion.
RN 185 A RED Rz; -

-

* *

.
8 8

.
* - - 5 & 5

x
. " 8
- 8 g

E 5 j
. 8 8

7 - 8 * -. iz .

. . 5 9
8 5

N
* - '

®
* . »

*
. 5 -
* NR a 5 R
" * - * EN

- * 8 7
2 5 a
= *

.
-
8 e
B . g 1 '

= o 8
» &

= % .
® . 2 .

. .
-
- 5 .

2 5 : . :
. p "

- 5
* -

- = =
. 5 es
-
. 4 R .
. x „ . 5
5 5 2
8 2 -
.
. - a - 5 * 5 2
1 = 1.
R 1 . © . 8 % .

*

0

| III. Cheil.

Per Jewish Demon l.

These are races, people and cliques
of men whose behavior is determined by their own= like organization is regulated, and with this A statesman must take circumstances into account. But what is meant by Latin race?
Language and religion do not make a race – that Blood, and only blood alone makes a race.

Disraeli Endymion Tauchnitz=Edition p. 20.)

Contents

sun n -

Part III

table of contents
Introduction

The Talmud ;
First impression of the same Sur on an unprisoner

The Shulchan Arud) . ö Be
 The Jews do not tolerate any translation ee he
 The Victims of Jewish Rage
 The Hundred Laws from the Shulchan Aruch
 Is the murder of a . to be endured by the Jews?
 purposes allowed or not? . . ;
 Dangerousness of the Hundred Laws
 L'Alliance israélite universale
 The organization of the Alliance.
 The Call Crémieux s 5
 Blockade of the Russian-German fortress of the German Alliance.
 The map of the blockade .
 The Central Committee of the Alliance

The Jewish Press and its Work

Page

— —
 D SS % co — 2

Speech of a Chief Rabbi, which the “ ve Subentgund in meter portrayed in a literal way

Extract from reports and notes of Derjawine, Chief Prosecutor in St. Petersburg, which explains the machinations of Judaism in practical terms.

 Jewish practice

The Ringworm p. 67. — The wealthy non-Jews are responsible for the Jews only fattened pigs p. 68. — Jewish officers, officials and Rankings p. 69. — Jewish Charity p. 70. — Jewish Associations follow p. 72.

Inden 8

Characterization of the Jews from Antiquity to Modern Times p. 78. —
 Jewish deceptions. — Artificial foreskins. — The dead Levi. — Lasker's Confession of a Man's Soul p. 76. — Ritual Treatment of the German Reich's gold p. 77. —

Baptized Jews

Sham baptism is permitted. – _ Danger of baptized women p. 73. – Baptism is of no use p. 79. – Disraeli's Baptism p. 80. – The English Treasurer Mr. Göschen p. 80. – The Delbrücks p. 82. – Proffor Franz Delitzsch p. 84. – The name Spaniard among the Jews p. 87.

Jewish offspring

Ifidor Schiller, Daniel Deronbe, Zadoc Khan and Derrünele French Nobles p. 88/89.

Jews and rulers

The bloody sacrifice of a king of the Gentiles to the Jews especially holy. – The teachings of the Shulchan Aruch concerning the King of the non-Jews p. 96. – King Louis Philippe p. 92. – Mustapha Ben Ismail, Bey of Tunis p. 93. – Kaiser Friedrich III. p. 93. – The Emperor of Austria and the Jews p. 95. – The Activity of the Jews in regicides and the overthrow of thrones p. 97. – Jewish Auxiliary forces and resources p. 98/99. – Jewish clouds around non-Jewish thrones p. 100. – King Itzig and his Mifchpoche, two short stories with Replay p. 100. – The Kahal or Kagal p. 104. – Heinrich Heine and the Kingdom p. 106. – Jews around the Emperor p. 107. – The Kaiser, the Kaiser captured p. 108. – The Saffoons on the English royal court.

The Jews and the Christian Church

Pastor Dr. Schwalb in Bremen p. 110, – – Battle of Talmudism with Christianity p. 111. – The hostility of Judaism P. 112. – St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna soon to be a synagogue P. 113. – The sacred grove of Egeria leased to the Jews p. 114. – The geß baptized Jewish fraudulent bishop Johann Maria Bauer p. 114. – Pope Pius IX. a Hebrew p. 116. – Cardinal Antonelli, also a Heß bräer p. 117. – Judaism and the Jesuits p. 117. – Doctor Paulus (Selig) Caffel and the Privy Legation Counsellor P. Kayfer p. 118. – Clergy as joint-stock companies p. 119. – Business clergy in the Southß carolina p. 119. – An example that baptism is of no use p. 120. – Mrs. Adelheid von Mühler, née von Goßler as Prussian cultß minifter p. 121. – The Ministers of Culture Falk and von Goßler p. 122. – The JewishßCatholic Bishop Field Provost Aßmann p. 123. – The Antifemitism p. 124. – What is a Socialist? and the core of Christianity p. 125. – Why is the knowledge of the laws of Shulchan Aruch withheld from the Germans? P. 125. – The holy Itzig p. 126. – Beware of the teachings of the Talmud

p. 128.

Jews, politicians and diplomats

Various remarkable testimonies pp. 130–132. – Letter from the Count von Wimpffen p. 133. – Machiavelli p. 135. – German Diplomacy in East Asia p. 135.

Prince Bismarck and the Jews

His alleged Jewish origins. – Paul de Lagarde on fine real

Page

78

89

90

110

130

139 lichen Merits p. 139. – His assessment of the Jews p. 141. –

– VII –

His use of the Jews and his dealings with them p. 145.

– Prince Bismarck and the Jew Bleichröder p. 145. – Prince Bismarck and the Jewish Press of Dr. Hirsch Hildesheim p. 148. – Fürst Bismarck and Mr. Abranyi p. 149. – Le prince de Bismarck démasqué p. 150.

The Inden and the Army

Pharaoh and the Jews. – Jews and Buboni. – Their Inadequacy for military service p. 151. – Egyptian Cavalry p. 152. – The

Page

151

Hope of our army and the Rabbi of Jastrow p. 153. – The Aims of Judaism in the Army p. 154. – Jewish military doctors p. 156. – Indebtedness of the officer class p. 158. – The Synagogue during the war 1870/71 p. 161. – Entry of the Germans into Paris 1871 p. 163. – Entry into Berlin 1871 p. 164. – The stock exchange during of the war p. 165. – The next war p. 166. – Jewish military clergy and nurses p. 168. – Probable Jewish rule after the next war p. 169.

Jews and the Civil Service

Indebtedness of the civil service p. 172. – Audacity of the Jews towards our civil service p. 174.

The Inden in the Jufité. A j

Impunity of the Jews p. 177. – The Reich Court President von Simfon p. 178. – Judith Grévy p. 180. – Bargaining Jewish lawyers etc. p. 181. – The Hildesheimer een p. 182. – A Privilege for the Jews p. 183.

Jews as doctors

An experience in Potsdam p. 185. – = Giger, Naudh ind Radenhausen about Jewish doctors p. 186. – Jewish doctors and Professor Dr. Koch p. 187. – The Case of Levi p. 188.

The Insane Asylum in the Service of the Indies and the Moral Decline of Judaism Börne wants to put the Germans in the madhouse p. 191. – Mendelsfon about the moral decay of Judaism; he is fupon by his followers were taken to the madhouse p. 191. – Dr. Morris de Jonge, an act of modern torture p. 196. – The Jews Dr. Mendel and Dr. Baer. – Alberti Sittenfeld, modern Judaism p. 199. – The youngest Germany p. 201. – Insane asylum letters and Lettres de cachet p. 202.

Jews and colonial policy. f

Baron von Bleichröder, Professor Dr. Virchow, Emin Pasha, the Ab-ordered Bamberger, Rabbi Eliezer and "Lieutenant" Siegmund Israel
P. 204. – Who is Emin Pasha? P. 205. – Emin Pasha's rescue and the Prophet Elijah p. 206. – What do the Arabs think of the Jews? p. 208. – The so-called English intrigues in East Africa
P. 208. – A huge fraud P. 212.

Jews and the Ariftofracy . . k

Judaization of the nobility, the Almanac of Golgatha p. 217.

Jews and Social Democracy ; gr

The Jews are the originators of social democracy p. 222. – Means, 185

191

204

– VIII –

to fight it p. 223. – Aristocracy and Kakistocracy p. 224.
– Ferdinand Laffalle (né Feift Laffal) and his Queen p. 224. – Karl Marx, the social-democratic chief p. 226. – He is said to embalm and hang in the chimney as a mad herring laffen p. 226. – The Jew Singer p. 228.

Jews in Literature, Art, Science and Theater

Jewish poets in ancient Rome. – The salon of the doctor Marcus Herz.
– Rahel Levin, Dorothea Mendelssohn p. 229. – Paul Lindau in America. – Meyers Conversation Lexicon. – Leffing a plagiarist
p. 231. – Heinrich Heine. – Germany in its deepest humiliation
P. 232. – He should have a monument P. 233. – Jewish
P. 234. – Theater Jews p. 234.

Jews and Music. 5 5 .

Meyerbeer. – Halevi p. 236. – Levi. – Star. – Rubinstein. –
Mareczek. – Strakosch. – Ullman. –Felicien David. –Hector Crémieux. –Offenbach. –Sir Arthur Sullivan. – The real ostrich and the Jew Strauss. – Liszt on Jewish Temple Music p. 237. – Moscheles. – Felix Mendelssohn. – Jewish Music Production p. 238.

Jewish Vanity, Arrogance and Cynicism 8

The Children's Ball at Rothschild's, p. 240. – A Frankfurt Vereinsthaler.
– Lord of Madai. – The Poison Tree. – "Hate" and Love p. 241. –
The company Bismarck & Son. – King Ludwig II of Bavaria. –
Rothschild a family of Nimrods. – Der Jude Stern p. 242. – Baron Hirsch. – Baron Rothschild. – How the Children of Israel are p. 243.

Jewish patriotism and love of country.

The Rabbi Dr. Bernard Fifer and Rohlings Talmud p. 245.

– A beautiful example from Hungary p. 246.

The Jew as a Useful Member of Aryan States

An essay with heavy content. Reprint prohibited.

harbingers of catastrophe

Will we still see the bloodbath? p. 248. – The Jews are preparing for the extract before p. 249.

The Solution to the Jewish Question

All property belonging to the Jews is illegally confiscated and must be returned taken p. 250. – The Thugs in India. – It is easy to drive the Jews away. – The Jew is sick p. 251. – Should one lock them up in ghettos or send them away? p. 252. – New Guinea 253. –

The Jewish export business. – Where is the cat? – The Judometer p. 254.
– Brutus and Adien Vetter Levi and Cohn p. 255. – The deed! –
What a cosmopolitan night watchman says p. 256.

Page

229

236

240

"

The following five articles

I. The Talmud,

II. The Alliance israélite universal,

III. The Jewish Press,

IV. Speech of a Chief Rabbi,

V. Extract from reports and notes by Derjawine

I believe I have gathered all the material needed for Understanding of Judaism and the manner in which it that dominates the world today, is necessary, and could serve as a guide serve all politicians and laymen who have the e, the yoke to shake off Semitism.

The Jews have always denied it and will continue to do so to try to deny that such abhorrent teachings exist in the Talmud, respectively. Shulchan Aruch are contained and that they are followed. Belief Don't! On the contrary, there are even worse laws and These are also followed. Open your eyes and see what is in The Jews will say that what I have said about the Alliance israélite universelle is a lie. Do you believe Don't do it! Stick to the facts!

Not only I, but also a hundred others have the opportunity to observe the work of the Alliance around the world, and everyone who wants to see how this Alliance works has the opportunity= ity when he opens his eyes.

The Jews try to deny what Major Osman Bey regarding the Jewish press. They further say that on the Israelite Council Assembly in Krakow in 1840 It was not Sir Moses Montefiore who had the infamous gave advice on taking possession of the press.

Who said these words may be of no interest to us; stick to what is actually the case. You have the largest part of the press of the whole world either seized, or exert an influence on it, and only to earth

1

their, the Jews', interests and to deceive and stun us. In the same way, they control the most important telegraphs= and advertising bureaus and exploit them to plunder the non-Jews out.

I have added the speech of a Chief Rabbi to the work of Kalixt de Wolski "La Russie juive". I have not found whether this speech was actually given or whether it was fiction It is also completely irrelevant. It is a masterpiece and shows the goals which Judaism, and by what means it pursues them.

Every man is able to judge how far the
The content of the speech corresponds to the current state of affairs, and I call on our German landowners, our German industrialists, our German merchants and our German clergy to reflect on it.

Derjawine's reporting is authentic, and a Evidence for all previous articles. It shows what Jewish Corruption can and "how it is done".

May these five articles contribute to the understanding of the "Jewish question" help spread!

.. | . J. | |
The Talmns.

A few months ago I was in Berlin with a good Be= knew each other. This gentleman was otherwise a worldly man and believing Christian. We came to speak about the Jewish question, It turned out that, although he was well versed in the Bible,
took the question very lightly and mocked anti-Semitism.
I told him that he was wrong; the question was very serious and it is actually the duty of every good person, and especially of such a great patriot as he is the question at least to examine. He should take a look at the legislation of the Talmud. But he praised the Jews and wanted to len hear nothing.

A few days later I received a letter from this gentleman, in which he asked me where one could get the Talmud; he
I looked for it in various bookstores in vain= hears. The book is not available anywhere.

I replied that the Talmud is a non-Jewish forbidden book and gave him, for his information, the Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth by Dr. Jakob Ecker, from which he could gain some knowledge of the Talmud.

After a few days he sent me the book without further enquiry.
comments; and when I met him again, I asked him,
why he gave me the book because I had given it to him and now it turned out that the book in his hands which had become like red-hot iron. And what do you think I asked: "We must not have such a religion among us tolerate!" was the categorical answer!

But where is your tolerance then? – No answer! –

What do you think should be done? – The Jews must all be baptized and become Christians! – That will be of little use, over=

This cannot be forced; even mock baptisms are permitted;

Further discussion was fruitless and my friend tried the

to banish evil thoughts; he did it like the ostrich, who buries his head in the sand when he is persecuted. He had taken a look into the terrible future and was excited!

K *

.

So let us see what the Talmud is:

| 5

a Me

The Sources of Jewish Law.

Since the Talmud is supposed to teach how the Bible's

Laws are to be interpreted and followed, and only a small

Part of the laws of the Talmud is contained in the Old Testament,

–ift the Talmud is to be considered the main source of Jewish law.

I. The Rabbis tell us that Moses on Mount Sinai to the Torah, the law that he wrote down on God's behalf, still receive explanations and additions that are not recorded,

but from gender to gender through oral tradition should continue to exist. 8

II. As the Talmud assures us, the law could not be completely abolished.

be written because no book could have contained the material;

and indeed only such a small part was recorded, so that the other peoples should copy the laws and use them for their own ends.

III. Since the Bible only seeks to explain and distort the Talmud is to be understood, and by far most Jewish 15 are only contained in the Talmud, the Talmud is, according to the opinion of the Orthodox Jews far above the Bible, and it can hardly be considered as a source of law anymore.

IV, The Talmud does not contain the laws in a systematic order, but they are scattered throughout it, with extensive discussions and subtle musings and sophisticated fictions= and fable of hundreds of useless stories and childish fairy tales and fables.

V. The Babylonian and Jerusalem Talmuds are not the only sources of Jewish law: other older

Works, primarily those between the end of the Mishnah and
The books written by the Gemara are used as secondary sources.

The Jewish Code of Law.

For practical reasons, it was necessary to remember to extract the essentials from the extensive sources and to
to put together and thus the = |

Shulchan Aruch.

This book met all the requirements that to a legal code: with the omission of all outdated regulations, it contained all the applicable laws in a clear presentation, in fotable clear sentences and short paragraphs .

1. The Shulchan Aruch was written by Joseph Qaro, Rabbi in the Palestinian city of Safet, (born 1488, died 1575) the best already a commentary on the Arba'a Aurim of Jacob Ben Afher
The Shulchan Aruch, which contains the quintessence of
He worked on this larger work for over 20 years. The first Edition appeared in Venice in 1565. | |

The Shulchan Aruch, meaning "prepared table", "covered

5

Tifch" (cf. Exod. 23:41; Pf. 23:5) falls apart like the Arba'a Aurim in four sections.-

Since there are differences in some minor points between the legal customs of the Orientals and Occi= dental training, wrote Moses Iserles, Rabbi in Krakow (born 1540, died 1573), who also wrote a commentary on Arba'a Aurim under the title Darkhe Mofche, additions and corrections to all four parts of the Shulchan Aruch, which among Western Jews the same reputation as the words
Qaro's received. |

3. As the original one written by Rabbi Joseph Daro Shulchan Aruch in the Orient, so was the one by Moses Iserles accepted in the West as a legal code and as the true
Jewish legal code is generally accepted.

4. The generally accepted as the true Jewish law code Shulchan Aruch is still valid as such up to the present day day. (from Dr. Jacob Eckers: The Jewish Mirror in Light of Truth.) N

Talmud and Shulchan Aruch are therefore for our purposes synonymous expressions.

N *

1*

To impart something from our religious teachings to a non-Jew, is equivalent to killing all Jews. For if the non-Jews knew, what we teach against them, would they not kill us all?
(Talmud. Dibre David $ 37.)

8

*

The key to Judaism is the Talmud, and whoever does not knows what the Talmud is, is absolutely incapable of understanding the history Judah's and to penetrate its secrets.

Gougenot des Mousseaux. Le juif, ©. 78.
%

*

*

1st

1st

If you want to get to know a people and their actions, fo one must first study his religion.

*

.

*

No ruler, no statesman, no clergyman, no officer, no civil servant, no tradesman and no farmer, in short Nie= Nowadays, one can fulfill one's profession without the legislation of the Talmud.

* *

442 b

The translation of the Talmud as well as that of the Shulchan

Aruch has been tried at times. But almost always the Jews knew how to thwart it. Complete information suppositions have, to my knowledge, not appeared at all, and the Translators have always been hindered in their work.

From the following it may become clear what great value the Jews are committed to keeping the laws of the Talmud secret.

Dr Prospectus.

No people on earth has such an extensive religious literature than Judaism. The so-called "Poseqim" and "Saaloth-u-thefuboth" alone comprise more than ten thousand folios. Two outstanding Jewish scholars, Joseph Daro and Moses Iserles, who lived around the middle of the fifteenth century, imagined the task of writing a work in which the quintessence of entire religious literature of Judaism, from the Old Testament

from the latest cafufist, briefly summarized foll, and also fulfilled their task by the constitution of the Shulchan Aruch in a masterly manner. The Shulchan Aruch is a book in which all rites and laws, except those which refer to the temple service in Jerusalem and especially to the time, and is therefore valid for years= hundreds of Jews from all parts of the world as the only authoritative textbook of his religion.

The need for a translation has long been felt this highly interesting book is felt throughout the civilized world. However, the long-term work required to translate this work has always frightened the experts of this company back.

We must now be all the more grateful to the learned authors of the present translation, which addresses this extremely difficult and almost ten years of work and finished it in in the most brilliant way. That the Lord's authors when translating only from the truth and not from any religious or social bias, may also be clear to every layman who reads the translation; from the high However, the erudition of the authors in this field will be Convince experts sufficiently.

The undersigned publishing company therefore believes that the value This translation should not be overestimated if it is Hope, the same of all educated people, without distinction of the confession of faith, appropriately appreciated and with joy welcomed, and therefore takes the liberty of recommending the highly praiseworthy libraries to the gentlemen experts, the gentlemen Israelites, as well as the PT educated public to subscribe to this work to invite. |

afel, in November 1887.
Marugg'sche publishing house.

The above prospectus was visited by approximately 290 positions from all parts of the world. The work should be approximately consisting of 25 deliveries of 4 Marks each. Among the countries were represent:

Germany with 51, England with 47, Austria=Hungary with 90, Russia with 24, Switzerland with 18, France with 11, Holland with 8, United States with 7, Italy with 6 subscribers. The remaining Subscribers were distributed among Algiers, Corsica, India, Egypt, Balkan countries, Palestine, Türkiye, Brazil, etc.

eu: MM: ger

Among the subscribers I would like to mention for the sake of curiosity:

The Count Erbach's Rent Chamber in Erbach in the Odenwald;

25 copies. Ä

Anton von Suzänszky, Canon and Archbishop's Library= thekar in Gran, Hungary; 10 copies.

Th. Fritsch in Leipzig; 3 copies.

Ernest Rénan in Paris.

Professor Dr. August Rohling in Prague.

His Majesty Dom Pedro II, Emperor of Brazil.

Countess Fünfkirchen=Liechtenfstein in Vienna.

Prince Alfred of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Prince Alois of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Prince Franz of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Prince Henry of Liechtenstein in Vienna.

Margrave Alphons Pallavicini in Vienna.

Some orders were placed for university libraries=
For the e library in Berlin by the Ver= communication from the Jewish booksellers A. Ascher & Comp. Selbst Lord Rothschild in London had made the great sacrifice of money and the
I did not shy away from the risk of subscribing to three copies.

Various rabbis are also among the subscribers, and significantly, a whole series of Christian pastors of Jewish descent, which must be assumed to have been created solely for the purpose have subscribed to the anti-human and anti-Christian 8 of
To combat Shulchan Aruch and put it in the right light.

I will only name one, namely Dr. Paulus (Selig) Caffel
in Berlin. | | |

The work was dedicated to His Imperial Highness the Grand Duke

Nicholas, Crown Prince of Russia. After the first Four deliveries had appeared, the others did not arrive.

Inquiry to the publisher resulted in the following printed Circular: | | .
Zurich, January 1890.
P, PE. |

The enquiries I continually receive regarding the Er= seem to be the continuation of

Shulchan Aruch,
the ritual= and legal code of Judaism x.

compel me to declare that I have not received sufficient information on this matter.
future, Navi can only couftat that the editor,
Dr. Jean de Pavly, has disappeared and has not been heard from again
Thus, the publisher of the work, Mr. Stephan Marugg in Basel, also unable to make further deliveries of the same to be published. Since I only deal with the commercial distribution this work, I can in this matter nothing more to do than wait quietly until the publisher sends me a continuation of the same.

a Me

With regret, I cannot give you any good news to be able to, I draw
Yours sincerely
Publishing Magazine (J. Schabelitz).

The "Jüdische Preffe" No. 28 of July 10, 1890 brings here
about the following article:

Basle, June 5. (Own report) "In January 1887, from here a brochure is sent out in all directions of the compass rose,
in which under the title "Shulchan Aruch, Covered Table, a with explanations and remarks of all commentaries Translation of the Ritual and Code of Law of the dier € ange was terminated. The editor was a certain Stephan Marugg, who gave himself the pompous title of Chef du Bureau national as translator the association "Theologoumenon", whose president dent was supposed to be a Dr. Johann von Pavly, who allegedly had the "her most outstanding scholars of Germany and England" as fellow workers. The editor assured that the "fully permanent manuscript of translation" and that in which "not a single inaccuracy occurs, the ignorance, Pa against or sympathy for Judaism."

Many reasons made this supposedly purely scientific Companies appear suspicious, and since "all those Israelites who cannot read the Shulchan Aruch in its original text," were asked to subscribe, your correspondent considered it required to get to the bottom of the matter, which Stephan Marugg and obtain details about the translator Dr. Pavly and the association "Theologoumenon". Then it turned out, that Marugg, the "Chek du Bureau national", in a small,
dilapidated house as a job agent and neither Dr. Pavly nor his staff know, although he
The former a contract for one hundred thousand francs, which he gave me in Original submitted, had completed! A few days later, mir M., Dr. Pavly is private secretary to the Queen of Romania and among others a Rabbi Nachmann Levy in Stefanefti was his collaborator. When it soon became clear that neither a private secretary of this name, nor a Rabbi Nachmann Levy in Stefanefti existed, there was no longer any doubt that it was neither a crude hoax, nor an anti-Semitic
It was a rogue's trick in which Jewish money was also speculated on.
Fortunately, our fellow believers were encouraged by the knowledge ficient figurehead should not be deceived, and after the speculation had failed, the faifures stepped forward with the actual tendency good days, by letting them explain in the anti-Semitic papers,
The work brings "revelations about the dangerous content of the Shulchan Aruch", every "true Christian" is obliged to do the same support etc. c. Soon the most vicious insults were heard in all keys – is looking for the advertising drum for the "meritorious enterprise" moved, and, as usual, the Vatican press reported the Most outrageous, by even spreading the news, Marugg was "attacked by three Jews and stabbed with knives been so damaged that it is absolutely impossible to remember his appearance come to think of it!" The anti-Semitic papers of all countries seized on this robber story, exploited it to the most shameless Hate attacks against Jews and Judaism: new Neclame notes followed, and the "Marugg's School was ultimately one of the most outstanding weapons of the international hate-mongering clan, for which the "Osservatore Romano" in Rome, the "Reichsbote" in Berlin and the "Deutsches Volksblatt" in Vienna with full cheeks blew the noise trumpet loudly. But The effort of love was in vain, despite all efforts, the The company has completely failed. The Zurich publishing magazine sends the following message to booksellers:

"The continuation of the much-mentioned work: "Shulchan Aruch. The Ritual and Law Book of Judaism" has been discontinued. The Editor, Dr. Jean v. Pavly has disappeared and leaves nothing hear from you. As a result, the publisher of the work, Stephan Marugg in Basel, also unable to provide further supplies to make the changes appear."

This laconic statement leaves some questions unanswered. Marugg had fanfaronically assured in his prospectus that the "complete anufcript". Why is he "not able to

to let further deliveries appear"? Marugg boasted of the "Cooperation of the most outstanding 1 where German-canton and England" and "great learning, reasoning ity and love of truth" – none of these experts (me Marugg personally named Professors Vigoureux=Paris, Jovino=Loewen, Delitzsch=Leipzig, Erichson=London) have agreed, to continue what has been started? And what about the anticipated paid subscription monies? Immediately upon the appearance of this excess relocation=project you expressed the suspicion that behind the "Dr. Jean v. Pavly" is none other than the arch-scoundrel Briemann=Juftus is hiding. The outcome of the enterprise speaks for those Assumption, which a. found its support in the fact that the blood-lying scoundrel, Briemann's employer, the translation fhightly recommended and orders on the same 1 In any case, the history of this failed company a new, very instructive contribution to anti-Semitic morality!"

Note the anger expressed in the Rabbinical Journal

What is it actually about? You want but only know what the children of Israel actually teach. The Shulchan Aruch is their law book all over the world. Why
So, secrecy when there is nothing criminal behind it?
But let us hear Wahrmundt:

"As self-evident as it is for the connoisseur that our Judaism form a state within a state and aim at the destruction of the host=

10

ft state, it is so difficult for the Christian layman to decide, to believe in this. But it is enough here to read the small text Jacob Ecker's "The Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth" (2nd ed. Pader-born 1884), in which the legislation of the Talmud short and clear summary, for three centuries as orm for the rabbinical practice and also in the last years ago, the law code "Schulchan" was expressly recognized as such.

According to the provisions of this Codex,
the Jew does not bring his Jewish opponent before a Christian court (See Law 90) and non-Christian witnesses against the Serve Jews (21); Christians can appear before Jewish courts (as well as before Muhammadan) (23); the marriage of non-Jews among themselves is not recognized as such, but rather the togethernesslife of animals (88, 96, 98); the Jewish court can impose the death penalty (19, 50); the Jew who has the felimination of the national» religious association of the Jews by denunciation to Christians or by apostasy from Judaism, is to be killed (45, 46, 50) – lanter things through which the existence of the Jewish state within the Christian states is proven. In
In 1866, a Hungarian-speaking Jewish community consisting of 94 rabbis
The Synod held on the ground decreed that "in every place and should follow the Shulchan at all times." In the year
In 1882, the now deceased Chief Rabbi and Reichstag Member Schreiber ordered in the name of the Rabbinical Council of Krakow from Austrian Ministry of Culture the state recognition of the Shulchan as the religious law applicable to the Jews=- book, and this demand has since been repeated again
As I said, it has already become customary in Algiers, that Christians in disputes with Jews before the Jewish consistories
go. Something similar happens here and there in Poland. |

(A. Wahrmund, The Law of Nomadism, pp. 121-122.)

As for the fate of those who in earlier Times Translations of the Talmud or Communications from the Same to make, or I just tried to write against the Indians have, let the following instruct us:

The old Eisenmenger had to experience that his book first was confiscated, then, when it became known that he only had the truth had stated that the Jews had given him 10,000 thalers (one for this time, in 1700, a very significant sum) if he a publication of the book.

Another scholar Raabe, who translated the Mishnah, received an offer of 3000 from a Jew from Mannheim Thalers and a beautiful villa on the Rhine if he publishes his book wanted to suppress.

Braßmann, who was credited with such remarkable revelations about to Rabbinism, died in such a strange way that 5 that he poisoned according to the Talmudic laws has been.

x

– 11 –

A similar fate befell Doctor Pinner, whom the Death surprised him at the moment he finished the first part of the Talmuds Mon had. |

Des Mouffeur received his death on Sunday morning judgment and he died suddenly on the following Monday. What a book As far as the first edition is concerned, it was almost entirely reprinted in the shop of a small bookseller on the rue Cafimir=Delavigne, where she never came out again. N

| Nobody knows what will become of the book by Achille Laurent about the murder of Father Thomas in Damascus, a grievous the collection of documents for Judaism, which can no longer be found today. (After my death from Paris, probably bought by Rothschild.)

Dr. Briemann=Juftus the author of the Judenspiegel had a translation of the Talmud, even with the permission of the Austrian government. The Jews nevertheless knew the challenges publication of the work and Briemann is persecuted the Jews to this day. (See details there over to "Profeffor Dr. Rohling, the Jewish question and the public Opinion", by Abbé Dr. Clemens Victor, 2nd edition. Leipzig, Ver by Theodor Fritsch in 1887.)

Dr. Juftus (who, by the way, is a baptized Jew) can be found according to the latest news from the "Jewish Press" on Corfu. It seems that the Jews do not let him go for a moment the face and pursue him with implacable hatred.

Professors Dr. Rohling, the author of the work "The Talmud Jew" suffered greatly under the persecution of the Jews and still suffers from it and also Abbé Clemens Victor, the author of the book "Prof. Dr. Rohling and the Jewish Question" and Dr. Jakob Ecker, who received the information from Juftus from the Shulchan Aruch extracted and translated 100 laws upon request of the court.

Dr. Eugen Dühring was violently executed because of his anti-Semitic tendencies from the Berlin University. Mr. Herrmann Scharff von Scharffenstein had the following books about Judaism in prospect: –

1. The Jews in Frankfurt a. M. 2. in Bavaria. 3 in Hefter= empire. 4. in Bohemia and Moravia. 5. in a and the neighboring= the countries. 6. in Prussia. 7. in the North German Confederation. 8. in Würtemberg= Baden. 9th in Holland and Belgium. 10th in France. 11th in Spain. 12th in Italy. 13th in Serbia and Romania. 14. in Sweden=Norway. 15. in Poland and Russia. 16. in England= land. 17. in America. 18. in Türkiye and Greece. 19. in Klein= Asia and Persia. 20. in Tunis and Tripoli. 21. in Africa and Egypt. 22. Newspaper Jews. 23. Theater Jews. 24. Morality of the Jews. 25. Jews as musicians. 26. as banknote counterfeiters. 27. as thieves' fences. 28. as owners of casinos. 29. Jews among the Jesuits. 30. Jews in the Masonic Order.

Of these writings, which are the result of 25 years of studies were, only No. 1 and 2 were published. In addition, another Brofchüre. Mr. von Scharffenstein named names and delivered the most interesting material. What happened to Mr. v. Scharffenstein What happened to Dr. Jean von Parvy?

– 12 –

I will now follow the 100 laws "simply without citations."

They are understandable for everyone. If you want to know more, he should get the book: N

The Jewish Mirror in the Light of Truth, by Dr. Jacob Ecker Paderborn 1884. Bonifacius Printing House. Price Mk. 1.80, in which the Hebrew text and a strictly scientific critique the translation, which was undertaken at the instigation of the authorities was included.

Jewish Mirror

or 100 newly revealed, still valid today, the traffic of Jews with the non-Jewish laws of the Jews; of

Dr. Juftus. Fourth edition. Paderborn, 1883. Printing and publishing the Bonifacius printing house. (JW Schröder.) Price 50 Pf.

The 100 Laws from the Shulchan Aruch.

Ego scio, quoniam intrabunt post discussionem
lupi rapaces in vos, non partentes gregi.
Actus Apost. 20. 29.

Law 1

"The Jew may not wear a garment that has zizis (fringes on the corners of the garment, as the Jews wear it during their morning prayers have, f. 4 Moses 15, 37), an Akum (= non-Jew) buy"; "he may even give such a dress to an Akum (non-Jews) not even as a pledge or for the purpose of keep it. Because if an Akum (non-Jew) wears such a garment he will have, then there is a fear that he could be a Jew deceive him by saying that he was also a Jew; and if then the Jew will trust him and alone in his company will be, the Akum (non-Jew) would kill him"

agents."

Law 2

"Everything that the Jew ritually needs for worship (such as e.g. the above-mentioned fringes etc.), no Akum (non-Jew), but only a Jew, because this is made by people and the Akum (non-Jews) as people of the Jews may not be considered.)

Law 3

"The Kadish prayer (that is a prayer which begins with the words: "Ithgadal Vejthkadasch" begins, meaning "exalted and sanctified" and

= AB 2

(hence the name Kadish prayer) may only be prayed where ten Jews are together, and they must be together in such a way that no unclean thing, such as feces or an Akum (non-Jew), fit separates them from each other." f |

Law 4

"If a Jew is attacked by an Akum (non-Jew) with a cross fit is strictly forbidden for the Jew to cut his head bow, even if he is praying at that moment; and if he is in his prayer he reached such a place where he could raise his head must bow (there are some passages in the prayers of the Jews, where they must bow their heads), he should now avoid."

Law 5

"The sons of Aaron the high priest shall also now, when Jerusalem is no longer a temple or a sacrifice, but among the Jews dispersed certain distinctions and honors from the ordinary Jewish people have in advance and always have the right to their blessing to be given to the Jews on every feast day; but if a child of the same has become an Akum (non-Jew), then the family desecrated and consequently loses its priestly Right."

* Law 6.

"A Jew who has become Akum (non-Jew) is, to the extent condemned that if he had lights or the like for the synagogue gives, it is forbidden to accept it."

Law 7

"The Symun prayer (the prayer which the Jews recite after Efen perform, in which at the end also the host of the house is blessed is not allowed to pray in any Akum (non-Jewish) house, so that the Akum (non-Jew) will not be blessed."

Law 8

"For every enjoyment of the smell the Jew must make a beracha, a short prayer of thanks, except when the spices or which otherwise fragrantly once were on a toilet, to to eliminate the bad smell of the toilet, or if the fragrant in the hands of a H. . . , which suffers itself with well-smelling things to provoke people to sin, or if the fragrant was in a church (namely of the non-Jews) then it is forbidden to make a prayer for the enjoyment of smell to hunt it by taking it through the toilet, through the H... or has been polluted by the Church."

Law 9

Every Jew is obliged, when he is present at a church (the non-Jews) that has collapsed, to say: "Ge=

En

Praise be to you, Lord, for you have eradicated this idol house from here hasft"; and if a Jew in front of a still standing church (the Gentile) passes by, he shall say: "Blessed are you, Lord, that you prolong your wrath on the evildoers," and if he 600,000 Jews gathered together, then he should say: "Blessed are you, white lord"; but if he sees Akum (non-Jews), then he should say: "Your mother is in great shame, and those who has become a laughingstock" (Jeremiah 50:12) and when a Jew passes in front of a Jewish churchyard, then he says: "Blessed be you, Lord, for you have created them righteously"; and in front of a churchyard of the Akum (the non-Jews) he should say: "Your Mother is in great shame etc." "If a Jew is good-built houses of Akum (non-Jews), he should say: "The "God will destroy the houses of the proud"; but if he destroys from the house of an Akum (non-Jew), he shall say: "God is Lord who takes vengeance." |

Law 10

"On the evening of the Sabbath every Jew is obliged to as soon as he sees the light, to say: "Blessed be you, Lord, Creator of the light"; but where the light shines from a church (of the Gentiles) it is forbidden to thank God for the enjoyment of such light."

Law 11

"On the Sabbath it is strictly forbidden for the Jew to buy or to sell; but it is permitted to buy from an Akum (non-Jews) to buy a house in us, even to write is permitted in this case, so that one can have an Akum in Palestine (non-Jews) less and one Indian more."

Law 12. |

"Any work on the Sabbath that is for the salvation of a Jew can be done by death is not only permitted, but obligatory. So if on the Sabbath a house or a group If stones fall over a Jew, the pile may be carried away, to save the life of the Jew lying underneath; yes, if also several Akum (non-Jews) with the Jew underneath and the Akum (non-Jews), if we saved the Jew, would also be saved (and that is to save an Akum [non-Jew] from death save, even on a working day, if, as we further [cf. Gef. 50] [shall be seen, a great sin], [however, we must, in order to save the Jew, remove that pile of stones.]”

5 Law 13.

“The Jewish midwife 5 is not only allowed, but is obliged to help a Jewish woman on the Sabbath, and and to do everything that would otherwise desecrate the Sabbath. Helping a non-Jewish woman, however, is forbidden, even if one can help her without desecrating the Sabbath, since she but can only be regarded as an animal.”

Law 14. |

“On Pascha eve (the first evening before Easter) every Jew must pray the prayer Shephoch (a prayer of the Jews, in which God is called upon to turn his wrath upon the Goyim [non-Jews! pour out) and if they (the Jews) pray devoutly will perform, then the Lord will without ig the prayer er= hear and send the Messiah, who will bring his wrath upon the Goyim (non-Jews) will be poured out. |

Law 15

“On the holidays, when all work is forbidden, Cooking is also forbidden; only everyone may cook what he wants It is permitted, however, if he needs to eat for himself cooking, it is necessary to put more food into the same pot than he for himself, even if he gave the extra money to the dogs want to use; because we are obliged to let the dogs live. On the other hand, to buy more food for an Akum (non-Jew) is strictly forbidden, as we do not allow the same to live are obliged.”

Law 16

“At the time of Cholhamoed (a Jewish festival which was held in the spring and the autumn,) is any business= Agitation is strictly forbidden; however, it is permitted to use a Akum (non-Jews), since the growth with an Akum (non-Jews) is always pleasing to the good Lord.”

N Law 17.

“If the plague has broken out somewhere and as a result many people have become prey to the pestilence, so the Jews gather in the synagogue and, without the, whole day having eaten and drunk, pray that God will look upon them mercy and free them from the plague. But if a plague is among Animals have escaped, then you don't need all that,

but if it is broken among swine, since their innards
are similar to human intestines and also, when the plague is among Akum (non-Jews), because their bodies= natural constitution is similar to that of humans!

Law 18

On the Haman Festival, all Jews must recite the prayer of thanksgiving Arur Haman pray, in which it says: "Cursed be Haman and all Akum (non= Jews), blessed Mark and all Jews!"

5 Law 19.

"Every Bethdin (ie Chief Rabbinate) may proclaim punishment, even today, if it is necessary even if the crime itself does not constitute a death sentence.
would deserve punishment."

Law 20

"If two Jews get into a fight with each other, be it over money=

or other matters and find the decision of a judge forced to call, yes they have to go to the Bethdin (rabbinical office)
and submit to his decision, but may not an Akum (non-Jew), not even before a royal Court seek justice where Akum (non-Jews) are the judges; and even if their law is identical with the rabbinical law
it is a great sin and a terrible blasphemy.
But whoever violates this commandment and goes with another Jew before a non-Jewish court, the Bethdin (rabbinical office) the duty to condemn (ie to excommunicate) ciren) until he had convinced his nearest Jew of the demand freed."

Law 21

"A Jew may not call an Akum (non-Jew) as a witness against serve another Jew. Therefore, if an Akum (non-Jew) demands money from a Jew, and the Jew gives it to the Akum (non-Jews), then it is another Jew who he knows that the Akum (non-Jew) is right, forbidden to the Akum (non-Jews) to become witnesses. But if a Jew has this commandment transgressed and is an Akum (non-Jew) against a Jew witnessed, then the Bethdin (the office of Rabbi) is obliges one to condemn the same (ie to excommunicate). N

Law 22

"Only he who has some humanity can serve as a witness and honor; but he who throws away his honor, as, for example, who goes out naked into the street or who is Akum (non-Jews) asked for alms when he had the same in his possession can do at home (ie take according to need), which is a dog, because he does not respect his honor, and is therefore not capable of testifying." |

Law 23

"Only those who can be considered as witnesses Names people have, an Akum (non-Jew) or a Jew who has become a non-Jew, who is even worse than a (ge=borner) non-Jew, can not be considered human beings= be seen, therefore their testimony has no value!"

Law 24. |

"If a Jew has an Akum (non-Jew) in his fine claws, (in Chaldean expression: Magnrupia ie to flay, continued cheat, do not let go of the clutches) so another Jew can go to the same Akum (non-Jew) and lend him money and cheat him so that the Akum (non-Jew) loses his money Because the money of an Akum (non-Jew) is lord= loose goods, and whoever wants to has every right to to take possession of the same!

= I

Law 25

"The citizens (namely the Jews) in a community have the Right to prohibit other merchants from entering their place come and sell goods cheaper; except when the goods of the foreigners are better than those of the inhabitants. Then The residents cannot prohibit it, since the buyers have better would get the goods. But of course this is only the case where the buyers are Jews, but where the buyers are Akum (non-Jews), you can probably forbid it to foreigners because it is a sin is to give good things to the Akum (non-Jews), because it is a principle among us (Jews) that it is permissible to give a dog to throw a piece of meat, but not to a Nochri (Non=Jews) to give it away because a dog is better than a Nochri (non-Jew)." | |

Law 26. |

"If a Jew has a clerk in his business with whom he made that everything he would find would belong to the principal, and the clerk has cheated an Akum (non-Jew) by he still had to recover from the Akum (non-Jew) a long-paid debt paid again, or has the Akum (non-Jew) in the calculation disadvantaged, etc., then this profit belongs to the principal, because such profits are also to be regarded as found objects."
(The property of non-Jews is ownerless compared to Jews Well, therefore the Jews can take as much as they can get can.)

Law 27

"If a Jew sends a messenger to collect money from an Akum (non-Jews) and the messenger has the Akum (non-Jews) be deceitful and more than right is taken, then this belongs to the messenger."

Law 28. | |

"If a Jew does business with an Akum (non-Jew) and another Jew comes and deceives the Akum (non-Jew), be it by wrong measure or wrong weight or by wrong Calculation, yes, both Jews must be in the position given to them by God (?) share the resulting profits."

Law 29

"If a Jew sends a messenger to an Akum (non-Jew) to to pay him a debt, and the messenger notices after he has arrived that the Akum (non-Jew) has forgotten the guilt, then the messenger must give the money to the Jew who sent him, return; and the messenger must not say that he wants to change the name God thereby (namely by returning the money to the non-Jew) worship, so that the Akum (non-Jews) should say that the Jews would be honest people, because what can he do with fine
Make money, but has absolutely no right to take other people's money away—throw it at me!"

2

– 18 –

Law 30

"If a Jew sold something to another Jew, Mo—

property or real estate, and it turns out that the seller-buyer felt the items were stolen, and as a result the owner has taken back the goods, the seller is obliged to return the money received to the buyer because he would not have fupon stealing; but if he gave the things to an Akum (non-Jew) stolen and the Akum (non-Jew) takes it back, then the seller does not have to pay anything back to the buyer."

Law 31

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to to cheat, and it is already considered fraud if he cheats him the 6th part of the value; and whoever has brought his next has cheated another person, he must pay it back. Of course, But all this is only the case with Jews, an Akum (non-Jew) On the other hand, he is permitted to cheat and he may not give back what he has cheated him of. For it is written in the Holy Scripture: "You shall not deceive your neighbour brother", and the Non-Jews are not our brothers, but, as above (cf. Law 25) has already been mentioned, worse than dogs!

Law 32.

"If a Jew has rented a house from another Jew, 1 a third Jew will come and more 1 than the first nn and rent the house for themselves. But if the landlord an Akum (non-Jew), then he is banished (the expression in the Chal= Daefchen is: Menuda ie he is not allowed to go to the synagogue come until the Rabbi loosens the bonds of the ban), who causes the non-Jew to get more money!" –

Law 33

"It is a duty (namely for the Jew) to do everything that a sick person in his will, except if he has commanded something sinful to be done. If therefore a sick person in his will to an Akum (non-Jew) something has given, this may not be followed; because, as we will see later, it is a great sin to give an Akum (non-Jews) something to give!" –

Law 34

"It is the duty of a Jew who has found something to it living, be it inanimate things, it back to the owner= admit. Of course, all this is only possible for a Jew who has lost something, but if the found item belongs to an Akum

(non-Jews), then one is not only not obliged to return, if it is a grave sin to give something to an Akum (non-Jew) to return, except when it is done so that the non-Jews want to say, "the Jews are decent people." –

19

Law 35

"If a Jew encounters a burdened animal which is under the load has fallen, or a loaded wagon, in front of which the draft animals, over-exerted by the heavy load, have fallen, he is obliged to assist the driver or carter come, unload the load, and where necessary, reload help. For every Jew, both his owed to our fellow human beings as well as to animals; and therefore he is also obliged to do so, even if only the cargo is given to a Jew and the animal belongs to an Akum (non-Jew), or vice versa, if the animal belongs to a Jew and the cargo to a non-Jew and the driver is a non-Jew. But if the Animals belong to a non-Jew and the cargo is also the property then hear all compassion and all mercy against both the owner of the cargo and against the animals, and in such a case no Jew is obliged to to provide assistance to the owner of the cargo or to the animals."

Law 36

"If a Jew owes money to an Akum (non-Jew) and is the Akum (non-Jew) has died, it is forbidden for the Jew to to repay the money to the heirs of the non-Jews; provided However, no other Akum (non-Jew) knows that the Jew owes money to the deceased non-Jew. But if a Akum (non-Jew) already knows about it, then he should tell the heirs Pay money so that the non-Jews do not want to say: "The Jews are fraudsters." |

Law 37. Ä

"It is forbidden for a Jew to give a Jew or a

To steal something from a Goi (non-Jew), but a Goi (non-Jew) to cheat, e.g. to cheat him in arithmetic (in the Chal= In Danish there is the same word as before, namely thauth = to deceive) or not to pay him what is owed to him, he is= but caution must be exercised so that it not know, lest the name of God be profaned."

Law 38

"If a Jew buys from a thief and sells the property, bought another Jew, and then a third Jew and claims that the purchased goods are his property and takes it in itself, the seller is obliged to return the money to the buyer. But if an Akum (non-Jew) comes to the buyer and says that the purchased item is his property, it will not be returned to him. If he files a complaint with their (the Akum – non-Jews) court and he has received the item back through the courts, the seller does not return the money to the buyer" (because namely the one who bought from the thief, no mistake committed, since it was the purchased goods that could be given to a non-Jews).

2*

– 20 –

Law 39

"If a Jew is a monopoly tenant (who grants the state a monopoly for a city or a wider area for a certain amount leased), another Jew may not take over this monopoly lease not damage (e.g. by smuggling), but the tenant is a Akum (non-Jew), then the harm is permitted, because this is also much is than not paying your debts and that is how we above (cf. Law 37) is permitted."

Law 40

"Is a Jew Muchas (namely state tax collector or Customs guard) ie he has the right (namely to collect the duties levy), but rather he collects the taxes for the state, fhe is forbidden to use force against another Jew. Why? Because the king (for whom he is acting) is a Goi (non-Jew), and not paying taxes is the same as being a Goi (non-Jews) not to pay debts, which, as we seen above (cf. Law 36), is permitted. Therefore, a Jew may cannot force another Jew to do so. But if the be-officials concerned feared the king that the matter would be revealed can become, he can be forced against the other Jew-proceed wisely."

Law 41

"State laws must be obeyed. But this applies only from such laws from which he, the state, profit (money-revenue); and such laws (tax laws) do not need fom all of them, but only those who are on land (i.e. land and building tax must be paid); but as far as other tax laws are concerned, You do not need to follow them. Property and building tax must be paid because the land belongs to the ruler and he can say that he wants to welcome us in his country under the condition live in such a way that one pays the property tax."

Law 42.

"It is forbidden to play Kubja with a Jew, i.e.
to cheat at cards or dice or other pocket games, because all this is robbery and robbing the Jews is forbidden; with But one may play Kubja with an Akum (non-Jew)."

Law 43

"Has a Jew sold something to an Akum (non-Jew) and taken more than it is worth, and another comes Jew to the Akum (non-Jew) and tells him that "
fe jo much not worth, and gives the Akum (non-Jew) in consequence
If the other Jew returns the purchased goods, the second Jew is obliged to

– 21 –

first (the seller) the difference between the value and the price for which the item was sold to the Alum (non-Jew),

to replace." | |

Likewise: "If a Jew offers an Akum (non-Jew) high interest and another Jew comes to the Akum (non-Jew) and offers him money for lesser interest, the second Jew is a Raschah (ie a God loser) and he is obliged to reimburse the first Jew what he to the Akum (non-Jew), if he is from the second Jew takes the money, could have earned more."

Law 4. |

"If a king has natural products (wine, straw, etc.)
legally to be paid as taxes, but a Jew evades
this benefit in kind, but is received by another Jew denounced and must therefore pay the taxes, fo is the denouncing Jew is obliged to give the first the natural products 5 (of course also other damages, possible penalties) replace." ;

| Law 45.

"It is permissible to have a Muser, that is, a person who boasts of wanting to denounce someone, where as a result the denounced person's body (e.g. with imprisonment) or in his wealth (with money), even if it is only little money, could be punished by killing, even today. First tell him: "Do not denounce." If he then resists and says: "I will not ziren", then it is not only permitted, but a good work to kill him and he will be blessed who kill him first. But there is no time to warn, you can refrain from warning him and kill him immediately."

Law 46

"If someone has three times a Jew with an Akum (non-Jew)

denounced, one should, if he also promises to

to improve and not to denounce again, to think of ways and means, to get rid of him. The expenses which were incurred shall, in order to eliminate it from the world, the Jews must pay obliged who are resident in the city (at the place of the crime)."

Law 47. N

"If the ox of a Jew butts the ox of an Akum (non-Jews), the Jew is not obliged to give the Akum (non-Jew) the To compensate for damage, because it is written in the Bible (II Moss 22, 35): "If one man's ox gores his neighbour's ox" etc., the Akum (non-Jew) is not my neighbor. But he has the ox of an Akum (non-Jew) turned the ox of a

– 22 –

Jew, the Akum (non-Jew) must give the Jew the compensate for the damage because he is an Akum (non-Jew)."

Law 48

"It was not permitted for the Jew to live in Palestine at the time when the fields belonged to the Jews, to keep small livestock, because thereby the neighbor could be harmed, because the same (small cattle) in foreign fields fe a habitually to juchen; but in Syria and everywhere where the fields did not belong to Jews, The Jew may have kept small livestock. Today, however, when even In Palestine the fields no longer belong to Jews, he may also Palestine keep small livestock."

Law 49

"It is forbidden for the Jew to have a bad dog, which to hold a person who bites without putting him on a chain But this only applies where Jews live; where Akum (non-Jews) live, the Jew may not have such an evil have a dog."

Law 50

Since the Sanhedrin and the Temple (in Jerusalem) no longer exist, can punish death as before (by the Sanhedrin ie the Judges of the High Court may no longer be imposed; only According to Law 19, death sentences can be imposed by the Chief Rabbi's Office Apart from the permitted killing of a mufer (cf. Law 45) is in the following cases 1 even without the The Chief Rabbi's ruling declared it a good work.

a. (There is a case reported here which we will not can communicate.) |

b. "A Jew does a good deed when he Apikores kills. Apikores means a liberal, a unbeliever, scoffer, etc., who denies the teachings of Israel and boasts of his disbelief, or who is an Akum (non-Jew). If he can do it publicly, If he does it publicly, he cannot do it publicly because of the state authority, he should think of means to secretly The Jew does not have the Duty to have an Akum with whom he lives peacefully to kill directly, but he is not allowed to save him from death to save." os

Law 51

"An animal that is killed by an Akum (non-Jew) or by a Jew who has become a non-Jew is slaughtered, the Jew regard as a dead animal." |

Law 52

"The Jew may not have an animal that is not yet 8 days old is, slaughter. But if an Akum (non-Jew) comes to the Jew

"IE,

to sell an animal, claiming that the animal was 8 days old, the Jew should not believe him, because the Akum (non-Jews) are liars and deceivers." 5

Law 53

"It is forbidden for the Jew to use a Nochrith kn as To take a wet nurse, if he can have a Jewish one, because the Nature and the essence of a wet nurse in the 1 5 to the child go and the Nochrith (non-Jew) dumbs down the child and teaches bad qualities."

Law 54

"The Rabbis have forbidden to receive from an Akum (non-Jew)

baked bread or something cooked by an Akum (non-Jew)

to eat or drink spirits at the same time, because a socially friendly traffic could emerge. Where but a Jewish baker is not available, one may non-Jewish bakers (but not from private individuals) because since the above danger is not so much to be feared. – An Akum (non-Jewish woman) as a kitchen maid, however, the Jew may keep, if this is done under the supervision, instruction or in the presence of a Jewish woman cooks, she also participates." |

– Law 55.

"The Jew may not trade in impure things (e.g. pigs, things from (non-Jewish) church etc., as we will see below), but to an Akum (non-Jew) that take (ie not buy, but as payment for a fictitious Accepting guilt) is allowed because it is always a good thing is to snatch something from an Akum (non-Jew)."

Law 56

"If a Jew takes dishes from an Akum (non-Jew) has bought, whether it is made of metal or clay, he must wash it clean, because the Akum (non-Jews) are impure in their senses

he Jews). Even if a Jew finds an Akum (non-Jew) dishes sold and the Akum (non-Jew) returned the same to him brought, the Jew must wash it clean again, because it is contaminated by the touch of the Akum (non-Jew), (such unholy creatures are the Akum [non-Jews])

Law 57

"It is forbidden for a Jew to drink a bottle or a glass of wine, which an Akum (non-Jew) has touched, because the Wine contaminated by the touch of the Akum (non-Jew) ist." (The law also has the special purpose of preventing social interaction arises between Jews and non-Jews.)

– 24 –

Law 58

"For the Jew, every pleasure or advantage that he derives from a Idol house of the Akum (non-Jewish temple) could have, bots, for example, he may bring wax candles, carpets, clothing, the priest wears during the service (but not those he otherwise wears as private person) who has been in a Christian church or e are, use; he may not use non-Jewish songs–

sell books to priests, but to laymen; but whoever Anyone who can bring themselves not to sell such things to laymen should Furthermore, it is forbidden for the Jew to external construction than for the internal equipment of a non-Jewish lend money to the church, let alone engage in trade with things that are used in the non-Jewish church.

Furthermore, the Jew may not give water to an Akum (non-Jew) give or sell if he knows that someone wants to baptize with it; Furthermore, he may not sell incense that has been burned in the church– – But if an Akum (non-Jew) is in the place fuch things that are used in the field of the J. Church, sell, then the Jew may also trade with it, so that the Akum (non-Jew) does not deserve the money. Even if some of these ecclesiastical things which the Jew declares to be unclean, among thousands of other non-ecclesiastical things of the same kind would be mixed, then any enjoyment or advantage of this thousand is forbidden to the Jew; likewise he shall rise from the ashes of such things or a burned down (non-Jewish) church no advantage."

Law 59

"The Jew shall not be afraid of any cross or religious image, what he finds in villages, on the roads or in smaller towns, enjoyment or advantage, because they are worshipped—and are unclean for the Jew. But if he finds them in large Cities, where they were not worshipped but for decoration 1, the ban does not apply. On the other hand, the offered to every cross before which one kneels."

Law 60.

"For the Jew, every pleasure or advantage is Akum=(non-Jews=/ Church, e.g. in summer in its shade to walk, listen to the organ playing or look at a beautiful picture to behold such things, to delight in the sight, strictly forbidden." |

Law 61.

"It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to be next to a (non-Jewish) Church to build a house for himself. But if he has foone one that stands next to a (non-Jewish) church and if it has collapsed, it should be replaced by the (non-Jewish) Church and the space between fill it with human excrement."

– 25 –

| z Law 62.

"Of church property (properties of a non-Jewish church, land
a Jew may not enjoy or benefit from
if the proceeds are used for religious purposes
But if the proceeds benefit the clergy personally,
He may enjoy it or benefit from it, but without costs him something." Ä Ä |

Law 63.

"It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to take part in a collection for a (non-Jewish) church to make a contribution. This applies but only where the Church itself has to manage its assets, and thus used the gifts for themselves. But if the state has the Administration, then it is allowed to make a contribution by fe can imagine giving it to the state and the state can also for other purposes." |

Law 64. |

"It is a good deed that every Jew should, as much as he can, endeavour to support the (non-Jewish) Church or what belongs to it 55 or what is done for them, to burn and destroy to scatter the ashes to the winds or to throw them into the water Furthermore, it is the duty of every Jew to seek – to exterminate every (non-Jewish) church and to make it a disgrace– to give names." |

| Law 65.

"A Jew who, by mentioning the name of a (non-Jewish) Church, 39 lashes are said to have been be even; in general it is forbidden to use the name of a (hierarchical) Jewish) Church, it is only a derogatory term Even the holidays of the Akum (non-Jews) may not be named, except those which have human names" (e.g. Peter and Paul, St. Andrew's Day etc.) ö "The Jew is permitted to marry the Akum (non-Jew)

mock him, saying: Your God will help you, or your Thun bless. The Jew thinks: the God of Christians, whom he considers to be idolaters, can do nothing, and fo bless, so he would not." – (The blessing of the Jew towards a non-Jew is therefore only mockery and ridicule.) |

| Law 66.

"The Jew follows an Akum (non-Jew) 3 days before a fhis (the non-Jew's) feast, nothing borrow or lend, at all not do business with him, because the Akum (non-Jew) is interested in the Holidays could be a pleasure. Against high On the other hand, he may borrow usurious interest so that the Akum (non-Jew) the pleasure of the aftermath of the later payment feel sick."

=. 96 2

Law 67. a

"It is forbidden for a Jew to give to an Akum (non-Jew) for to give a gift on one of his (the non-Jew's) holidays. Only then is it permitted for him if he knows that the Akum (non-Jew) is unbeliever. It is also forbidden for the Jew to Feast days of an Akum (non-Jew) a gift from him= But if he fears that non-acceptance will have bad consequences could arise, he should accept it and throw it away secretly.

| The day on which the Akum (non-Jews) will have a new King received (the day of the accession or election) should be observed by the Jews on the other feast days of the Akum (non-Jews) be treated equally", (ie they may not give them a gift do not do business with them unless they non-Jews can cheat, for example)

Law 68.

"It is forbidden for every Jew to eat on the feast day of an Akum (non-Jews) to go into his house, not to greet him But if he meets him on the street, he may greet, but in a forced, cowardly manner" (in the text it says it: with weak lips and heavy head).

Law 69.

"It is always forbidden for the Jew to give a gift to an Akum (non-Jews) with the greeting "Peace be with you" or similar greetings to words", (because the Jews believe that peace belongs to him opposite the blessing: "Peace π c." for the second= (It is pronounced twice.) Therefore, the Jew is advised to "as soon as he sees an Akum (non-Jew), to greet him first, so that the Akum (non-Jew) does not greet first, and he (the Jew) be prompted to answer him and so, God forbid want to contribute to the blessing of an Akum (non-Jew)."

Law 70

"It is a commanded good work that a Jew should (non-Jewish) church 4 cubits away (e.g. if his It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to (non-Jewish) Church. For example, if he a thorn in his foot or money has fallen to the ground, fo that he must necessarily bend down, fhe should in this case turn their backs on the church."

"Located at the outflow openings of water bodies— images of non-Jewish saints or non-Jewish Symbols, the Jew may not drink from them, because it might seem as if he wanted, by leaning towards the opening, to kiss the holy image or symbol (ie to venerate).

Law 71.

"It is forbidden for the Jew to appear before kings or priests, who have a cross in their garments or one on the chest, bowing or removing the hat, so that it does not seem as if he were bowing before the cross

In order not to violate external decency, he should either taking off his headgear before he approaches the persons concerned (i.e.
also the cross) or he is supposed to be in her presence Drop money and bend down to pick it up. (It should so his behavior appears as if he were proving the person he met, whereas in truth he was a has a different intention.)
| j Law 72.

"It is forbidden for Jews to live in any of the district or in a street inhabited by them to rent or sell to 3 Akum (non-Jews) so that it does not come to the point where the district or the street has a non-Jewish." The sale of 1 to one or two Akum (non-Jews) was previously only permitted for the "purpose that the Houses were used as warehouses, not for living in,
because the Akum (non-Jews) had their idols in it", "but now, where this is no longer the case, the Jews may two Akum (non-Jews) also rent houses as apartments
or sell." | |

Law 73.

"It is a great sin to give an Akum (non-Jew)
to give something. But it is permissible to give something to the poor of the Akum (non-Jews) to give alms, to visit their sick, to
To pay their last respects to the dead and to comfort, for the sake of peace, so that the Akum (non-Jews) want to believe that the Jews are good friends of them,
by showing sympathy."

Law 74

"It is forbidden for a Jew to marry an Akum (non-Jew) in to praise his absence, for example, to say: "What is that for a "beautiful non-Jew" (if he is a physically beautiful person);
but even more so it is forbidden to practice fine virtues to boast, for example, to say: "What a good person he is", or:
"What kind of learned man is that?" or "What kind of a wise man" etc. But if he has the intention, by he praised the physical beauty of an Akums efchbpf, thereby

To praise God for creating such a beautiful creature, it is permitted to him, because the Jew may praise God the beautiful-ity of an animal and also of an Akum" (non-Jew).

Law 75. |

"It is forbidden for a Jew to take part in the wedding feast of a Akum (non-Jews) to take part, even if he has his own food and bring his own servant (ie eat kosher), because a social friendship is developing

- 28 -

could (which is known to be avoided by the Jew); but if the Akum (non-Jew) to the Jew in his house live poultry or If a Jew sends slaughtered meat, the Jew may take it in his "Eat well at home." |

Law 76.

. "It is forbidden for the Jew to follow a non-Jewish doctrine-institution to send his child to school or to a non-Jewish To hand over his child to the master to learn a trade, because the Akum (non-Jews) would lead the same to evil: Furthermore, the Jew may never be alone with an Akum (non-Jew) because the Akum (non-Jews) are bloodthirsty. Go Jew and an Akum (non-Jew) up or down the stairs, fo fhall the Jew go first when going up and last when going down (also always above the Akum [non-Jews]) fine, otherwise the Akum (non-Jew), if the Jew was of lower rank, would kill him. Furthermore, the Jew may not, in the presence of an Akum (non-Jew), do not bend down, because otherwise the Akum could cut off his head. The Jew may also answer the question of an Akum where he (the Jew) go, do not tell him the truth, so that the Akum non-Jew) not to sneak up on him and kill him."

Law 77

"It is forbidden for a Jewish wet-nurse to nurse the child of a Akum (non-Jews) to breastfeed, even if she is paid for it, because she thereby contributes to raising an Akum (non-Jew); only if she is in great pain due to excess milk and If the milk can be dangerous for her, she is allowed to do so. It was forbidden for a Jew to teach a craft to an Akum (non-Jew), what he can feed himself with."

Law 78 .

"It is forbidden for a Jew to be treated by a doctor or a Pharmacist who is an Akum (non-Jew) free of charge heal to 15 because it is assumed that the doctor or pharmacist-

bartender would poison him in this case; but the Jew may need an Akum as a doctor or pharmacist if he paid him because he would then be careful not to steal him poison so that his reputation does not suffer. |

| Law 79.

"It is permissible for the Jew to be in a state of mortal danger Illness Unclean (ie what he considers unclean according to the law to keep and which he is otherwise strictly forbidden to enjoy) enjoy if he believes he can expect healing from it; Even in this case it remains unlawful to speak of something too fine to make use of the right to freedom (in the sense of the Jews) 8 namely, a Christian church-

ört." |

- 29 -

be Gefetz 80. | |

"It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to speak of an Akum

(non-Jews) cut their hair (head or beard hair) to let him go because the Akum (non-Jew) wanted to cut his throat could; it is only permitted if several Jews are present or he has a mirror in front of him to detect any evil fight of the Akum (non-inden) to cut his throat, immediately notice and then be able to get away as quickly as possible."

Law 81.

"The Jew is not obliged to have an Akum (non-Jews), with whom he lives in peace, to death, but it is strictly forbidden for him to even have such an Akum (non-Jews) from death, for example, if the same is Water had fallen and even if he had given him his whole assets for the rescue. Furthermore, it is forbidden for a Jew to heal an Akum (non-Jew), even if he receives payment for it, except if there is a fear that Christians will would develop a hatred against the Jews. In this In this case it is even permitted to treat him free of charge, if he (the Jew) does not evade treatment A Jew is also permitted to participate in an Akum (non-Jews) to check whether a medicine is healthy= causing or fatal. Furthermore, a Jew is obliged a Jew who was baptized and became one of the Akum (non-Jews) has converted, to kill and on all= strictly it is forbidden for him to save such a person from death save."

| Law 82.

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to To lend money at usury (at high interest rates); on the other hand, it is him, an Akum (non-Jew) or a Jew, the Christian has become to lend money at usurious interest, because it is in the Holy Scripture: "You shall let your brother live with you." The Akum (non-Jew) is not considered a brother-strives.

| Law 83.

"It is forbidden for the Jew to know the life-span of Akum (non-Jews), rather, he should be as far as possible try to distinguish oneself, e.g. in one's clothing, in one's hair= grew, in the house furnishings, etc. Least of all he should wear clothes that have something specifically Christian (cross and the like). But certain Christian classes, 5 For example, if doctors or craftsmen wear certain clothing, it is also

A Jewish doctor or craftsman is allowed to wear such if he can earn money by doing so." |

- 30 -

Law 84.

"Among the Jews there is a rule that at certain times Purifications (cf. III. Moses 12) by washing with Water must be taken. "If, after taking the same, they encounter something unclean, disgusting or an Akum (Not: Jews), they must undertake a new purification, because the mere sight of an impure thing or an Akum (non-Jews), without any contact having taken place, already contaminated."

Law 85. | |

"If a Jew felt something towards an Akum (non-Jew), denies this in court and is forced to swear an oath, jo should other Jews who know about the theft, a to mediate between the Jew and the Christian- But if a compromise is not reached and the Jew cannot, if he does not want to lose the case, does not want to get past the oath, then he may swear falsely and in his heart the oath destroy it by thinking that he can not do otherwise. This law has

However, this only applies in the case that the Akum (non-Jew) catches the thief—ftahl cannot find out; if he can find out, then the Jew may not swear falsely, so that the name of God may not be profaned. It is a principle that the Jew may swear falsely where Corporal punishment may be imposed, even if he has perjured himself and the God's name can be desecrated; but where only fines threaten, he may only swear falsely if he does not oath and the name of God cannot be profaned.”

Law 86.

“It is forbidden for the Jew to give a denier even one Law and even more so it is forbidden to give a Jew who has Akum (non-Jew) to give alms or to do something borrow, because you are not obliged to let them live. but it is permissible to give alms to an Akum (non-Jew) that= with no hatred against the Jews arise.”

Law 87.

“It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to speak of an Akum (non-Jews) alms”, because according to the Jews the= the one who gives alms to a Jew, from God Jide el wird”, so the Akum (non-Jew) would be blessed if the Jew accepts alms (the Jews assume that the Non-Jews still exist because they once had the Jews something good to come out of it. “If the Jews took these lives would soon crumble like a rotten vessel break” (ie perish). Therefore, if a 1 or e of the Goi (non-Jews) to distribute money to the Jews ung among their poor, they should not give the money to send it back so as not to offend the king, but they should not to their poor, but in secret to the Christian poor “But if the ruler gives something to the synagogue, it should be accepted because the blessing from it is not so significant. But from a Jew who has become a non-Jew, this

2. BE 2;

Law 88. Mr ,

“Marriages between non-Jews 8785 no connection=

ity, ie the coexistence of the same is the coexistence human life of horses." Therefore, the children not related to the parents in any human=kinship relationship and can, "if parents and children become Jewish, the For example, a son may marry his mother." However, the rabbis against the application of this principle in life, "so that the Akum (non-Jews) who have become Jewish do not hunt fshould, the Akum (non-Jews) ftill be more pious than the Jews, in that among them (the Akum) it is not permitted that a son mother marry." 39

| | Law 89.

The Jews had the law, "when harvesting on the edge to leave something standing on the field or to leave ears of corn lying on the field for their poor." But since you are among the Akum (non-Jews) scattered and their fields between those of the Akum (non-Jews) lying this is forbidden because the poor of the Akum (non-Jews) could collect this."

Law 90

Among the 24 cases in which the Rabbi excommunicated must, there are the following two which are of interest to non-Jews.

a) "If a Jew wants to sell a piece of land to an Akum (non-Jews, he must, if he has a Jewish neighbor has, give it to him in writing upon request that he for all Inconveniences which he suffered from this neighbourhood would grow, he wants to be responsible. But if he wants to If he does not accept responsibility, the Rabbi shall to condemn, that is, to excommunicate." |
| b) The second case is that provided for in Law 21.

Law 91.

"Is it a Sa when another Jew dies, fhe should, in the moment when the soul separates from the body, as As a sign of mourning, a piece of his clothing tear, even if the deceased was a sinner. But if he äugegen at the death of an Akum (non-Jew) or a Jew who has become a non-Jew, this sign of mourning is forbidden because the Jew should be happy about such a case." N Furthermore, it is forbidden for the Jew to give to an Akum (non-Jew) to pay the last respects, e.g. to bury his body or to give a eulogy, only there he is allowed to do it where it is done for the sake of peace." | | not be accepted."

– 32 _

Law 92.

"It is forbidden for the Jewish priest (cf. Acts 5) to touch dead people or even just to be in a house to stay where there is a dead man. Under the man but only a Jew is understood, because in IV. Mos. 19, 14 ftände: "If a person dies in a house, everyone who enters the house, unclean," But the Jewish priest may Entering a house in which an Akum (non-Jew) died, "because the Akum (non-Jews) not as humans, but as animals to be considered."

Law 93.

"If a Jew has an Akum (non-Jew) as a servant or a Akum (non-Jewish woman) as a maid and is this servant or maid died in his house, it was given to another Jew— offered to inform him of the death as the death of a human comfort, but he may say: "God make amends for your loss", as one says to a man when an ox or donkey crosses him— pirt ist." N

Law 94.

"It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to give an Akum (non-Jew) to give a gift at New Year, because the Akum (non-Jews) see this as a lucky sign for the new year and be happy about it. But if the Jew does not comply with the custom If he can withdraw it, he should send it earlier. But if he the failure to donate the gift on the day of the festival itself or the previous sending may cause harm or hatred, so he is allowed to send him the gift even on New Year's Day."

Law 95.

"It is strictly forbidden for Jews to encroach on their churchyard— unclean, i.e. to perform certain needs on the same or to let an Akum (non-Jew) enter it. – It Jews are never allowed to take food from a Jewish cemetery. profit or advantage; but if the land of a Jewish cemetery belongs to an Akum (non-Jew), then it allows any proceeds from the churchyard (e.g. grass or trees) in order to use the proceeds to gradually transform the churchyard into To acquire property, as it is a

It is shameful to trespass on the property of an Akum (non-Jew) rest."

Law 96.

"If an Akum (non-Jew) marries an Akum (non-Jewish woman) or a Jew who has become a non-Jew, a Jewess who is non-

has become a Jew, marries, the marriage is without obligation-

Therefore, if an Akum (non-Jew) or an Akum (non-Jewish woman) has become Jewish, so they can call themselves Jewish again advise without the need for a divorce, even if it were earlier

- 33 -

20 years together because the married life of the Akum (non-Jews) may only be considered as H. . . . rei.

f Law 97.

| "It is strictly forbidden for a Jew to tell his neighbor man (ie a Jew), even if he is a sinner, ftrife, and he who ftrifes his neighbour is a Rafcha is a godless man and is excommunicated for a long time until he asked his neighbor for forgiveness. Under the next But only a Jew can be understood by fellow human beings, an Akum Beating (non-Jews) is not a sin at all. Is an Akum (non-Jew) has become Jewish and is beaten by a Jew, fo the latter must compensate for the damage (the healing process), he will however, he was not excommunicated and the offense was not so great to him as if he had struck a born Jew."

" = Law 98.

"If a Jew has married an Akum (non-Jew), he should be given 39 lashes and the marriage should not be binding. kei and the Bethdin (rabbinical office) shall have the same in the ban; yes, if a Jew has even married a Jewess, Yes, if the Jew has become a Christian, he may take another wife without the need for a divorce, because the Akum (ind as J must not be considered as human, but are to be regarded as horses." f

Law 99.

"If a member of a Jew's family has died,
for which he must mourn, he may leave his house seven days
not leave and do not do business yourself to make money
But if he has the opportunity to work with an Akum (non-Jews), then he may leave the house and the Interrupt mourning, for this is a good work which he cannot make up for it if he does not take the opportunity-takes." |

Law 100.

"Every Jew is obliged to reproduce and attitude of the human race. He should therefore have a Take a woman with whom he can still have children, so no old, or another one with whom 6 Fr (namely to have children) is not possible. Only if the woman has money and he
If he wants to marry for money, he is allowed to do so, and the Bethdin

(Rabbinical office) cannot prohibit him from making such a marry someone with whom he can no longer have children." f

v If a Jew has children who are bastards or stupid,

he has fulfilled his duty to contribute to the propagation of the human race with

to work, e But if his children are Akum (non-Jews),

3. B. a non-Jew has become Jewish and has children from earlier times who

3

se BE

not become Jewish, then he has a duty to continue planting and preservation of the human race fulfilled because the children of the Akum (non-Jews) do not even Jewish bastards and idiots are to be treated equally."

For the Jews, the murder of a non-Jew allowed for worship purposes or not?

The space left on this sheet according to Law 100
I thought I should use it to say a word about the much-venti-question, "whether the murder of the Jews of a non-Jew for worship purposes is permitted or not." – Already from the fourth century we have News that non-Jews were missing children, that they were seeing Jews in the thought they had eliminated the children, and that here and there the suspicion arose that the children had been taken to worship by the Jews—slaughtered for human purposes. This suspicion has been raised in every century by repeated occurrences in various countries—similar cases have received new impetus. To judge whether and in which cases that non-Jews were murdered by Jews, This was done for worship purposes, was a matter the judge and is now a matter of historical research. Likewise In the Tisza-Eszlar affair, it was up to the court to Facts regarding the murder of Elther Solymoffy and To investigate the purpose and motives of the murder. The question, with which I am dealing objectively here – apart from everyone and everyone Case – is whether the murder of a non-Jews are permitted to worship for religious purposes.

In this regard I note: The religious books of the Jews, which contain their religious laws and teachings, disintegrate into 2 classes: Pefhat and Kabala (also Nigleh and Nifthar ie Public and hidden. There is a rabbinical expression for the different types of their teachings, namely "Pardes" ie Garden. The word "Pardes" is an abbreviation in Hebrew from Pefhat, Remez., Derafch, Sod.) Pefhat means something like a-subject and to this type belong the law books: the Talmud and the extracts from it, i.e. the Shulchan Aruch etc. According to The Shulchan Aruch will now (cf. Law 50 and Law 31) It is not considered a sin if a Jew kills a Christian. The Jews also, according to the Talmud edition of Bambe-nesti (according to rabbinical spelling) (Amsterdam) v. J. 1646 (Jewish. Bill 5407): Sanhedrin Perek 10 (Cheleck) and Aboda Zarah Perek 1 (in the editions of the Talmud there are two places where which after the words: "A certain person" a space of near one side is left unprinted. In the mentioned pine of Bambenefti is this room described and the content does not form sentences to be reproduced about the Savior, as well as sentences about fine followers, the non-Jews; the duty, the followers of the Naza-rafters. However, there is no law in the Pefhat-books of the Jews, which makes the murder of a non-Jew prescribed or permitted for ritual purposes.

BE, gun

The books of Kabala are higher than the books of Pefhat. Kabala means tradition: it contains teachings that are traditionally have reproduced in a secret way and is full of allegorical and mystical interpretations of countless passages of Holy Scripture.

Anyone who is not initiated into the study of the Kabala and If you do not have the key to understanding them, you may use the Chaldean Words and sentences read in it, but he does not understand the min= defte. The Jewish people have come to understand the Kabala through= ftitly foreign, even most rabbis and chief rabbis are not initiated into the understanding of the same. To first give an example to give an example of how the Kabala scriptures are interpreted,

I refer to Seph. Halk. (Jerufalem) p. 131, 2. It is hereafter the passage I Samuel 17:25, which says: "The man who kills him (the giant Goliath), the king will be rewarded with wealth and give him his daughter", thus interpreted: "Whoever

God slays, from the world creates, to him the Lord will give his daughter, that is, God will unite him with himself."

In another place Sepher Halk. p. 156 the blood of the young= women of non-Jewish women were declared to be particularly pleasing to God.

a The passage reads: "It is written in the Holy Scripture (Proverbs 30:
19): "The way of a man to a virgin" etc. (it
There are three things mentioned in the Bible, of which it says: Three Things are too wonderful for me and the fourth in the following verse
This fourth is labelled: "The Man's Way to a Young Woman= woman"] I do not understand at all.) What does the Holy Scripture mean by this?
The meaning in brief is as follows: It is wonderful that the virgin blood of the unclean, the Klipoth

(of the non-Jewish women), heaven is such a fragrant sacrifice. Yes, to shed non-Jewish virgin blood is as holy a sacrifice as the best spices, and a means of reconciling God with oneself and receiving grace to withdraw. This is what the Holy Scripture means: It is wonderful

It is dangerous that the virgin is personally impure and Klipa (non-Jewish woman) and yet the shedding of her blood such a is a precious sacrifice." |

Further, cf. p. 156 and 157.

Furthermore, in the Kabala and Pri ez Hachajjim (Baghdad)
(Author is Chajm Vital, a student of Ifaak Lurja) p. 33 fol=
This act was praised as one that was particularly pleasing to God:

"It is written in the Holy Scripture: The wise

will shine like the brightness of heaven. What do you think with it? – Those who have the power of God with blood the Goijm nourish – and these are the truly White ones – will shine like the brightness of heaven.

|

– 36 ze

For although the Lord has taken away from us temple and sacrifice has, he has left us a substitute that the soul even more than one sacrifice enlightens and sanctifies: blood of Goijm on a dry (Zechiach felah fts there) stone in front of God (ie in the face or before the opened tablets of the law, and these are found only in the synagogues) to shed." Similar There are still many passages in the Kabbalah.

Whether the murder of a Christian for God's service purposes is permitted among the Jews or not, to judge that, is left to the reader. |

I close with the sincere and heartfelt
Pray that the all-merciful God and Savior Jesus Christ, the said: "I do not want the death of the sinner, but that he convert and live", assumed the form of a servant in order to Self-abasement to raise us, the fallen, to ourselves and without which we all still sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, even have mercy on the Jews and show them the light of his truth wanted to show them that they might put off the works of darkness, the truth-ity of Christianity, open their hearts to the long-come Serve Meffias Jesus Christ through a virtuous life and May his holy name be praised forever and ever! Dr. Juftus.

The judgment of Dr. Jakob Ecker on the hundred which he himself as an expert before the district court in Münster at the beginning of 1884, 1 says in a few words e Real errors only relate to minor matters.

The worst sentences in the Judenspiegel are right from the rabbinical original. It is expressly noted that Dr. Juftus could have cited numerous other laws, the mention of which would have been even more unpleasant for the Jews, than some of those contained in the Jewish Mirror. Thus, Israel can One cannot complain at all when one says that in the Shulchan Aruch the inhumane laws contained in the Jewish Mirror.

The Jew Heinrich Ellenberger, who certainly knows Judaism, writes in his "Historical Handbook" (Budapest 1883 p. 47):

"There are only Shulchan Aruch Jews left!"

Whoever says this must answer for it; but one thing is certain: Every Shulchan Aruch Jew who still has a sense of shame must-blush when he looks at his face in this "mirror"!

At the beginning of the chapter "The Talmud" I have the first I tried to describe the impression that the hundred laws had on a Make an unprejudiced mind. Must one not ask oneself whether it It is possible that in a civilized state such things can be taught under the guise of religion?

No one has ever prevented the Jews from doing so want them to worship their God, to practice circumcision among fpractice and perform other ritual acts which we may seem outdated and outdated, as long as keep them within the limits of humanity and decency. But I ask, what is taught in the hundred laws called will, religion?

| – 37 –

| I call the Hundred Laws the worst criminal code, e how one should think, hatch a human brain could.

| But not only do these laws exist, but as Lord Dr. Ecker says there are even worse laws in the Shulchan Aruch. In addition, other books and unpublished secret teachings exist among the Israelites, who teach even worse things. |

It is not my purpose to discuss this topic further here; I abide by the hundred laws.

These hundred laws incite a state in Germany= citizen population (Jews, baptized and unbaptized) against another class of the population (the native Germans) in in a manner which endangers the public peace; This incitement is all the worse and more dangerous because it in secret, because it involves murder, manslaughter, lies, fraud, en not only approves, but under certain circumstances even recommends.

Are these hundred laws really taught?

They are not only taught, but they are zealously taught! Not only in the Talmud=Torah schools, on the Rabbis= seminars, in the synagogues, but also in countless clubs and in the families of baptized and unbaptized Jews.

For example, in Berlin there is a Talmud Society, which since its founding in 1852 every evening its members gathered to study the Talmud. Such Jewish associations and orders exist all over the world today. One only needs to read a few rabbinical newspapers to be convinced to convince. Just read the advertisement section of Hirsch Hildesheimer's "Jewish Press".

Yes, they are taught not only with zeal, but also with Zealously followed throughout the globe wherever there are Jews.

These laws are the product of the Jewish brain, which is different from that of all other peoples of the world.

For thousands of years we have known the history of the Jews, which left like a streak of blood and dirt through the history of other peoples move there. |

Long before the Talmud, long before the Shulchan Aruch was written were, the Jews have the laws contained in these books Even the Old Testament provides us with the most infallible Evidence for this. ö | Ä

Countless attempts have been made at all times and by all peoples made to improve the Jews. |

But always in vain! In Europe they have been found for about 100 years successfully emancipated in the various civilized states. In In Prussia they were granted the same right in 1848.

– 38 –

If one reads today the speeches which were given in 1848 at the United Diets, where the question of Jewish emancipation was discussed was, one would like to believe oneself to be transported into a political nursery.

The Minister of State von Thile, the deputies Baron v. Mylius, Müller, Greger, Krause and named Bismarck, the later Chancellor of the Reich.

The government was opposed to emancipation.

A number of MPs were in favour of emancipation, who won the victory.

Among the supporters was the deputy Freiherr v. Binde (Rgzbk. Arnsberg, Province of Westphalia), who Speech began with the words: "The Jewish religion contains no regulations that prevented Jews from becoming good citizens to be than we Christians."

And now I ask you to read the hundred laws!

People spoke about the Jewish religion as if they knew it. I do not know whether baptized Jews were present in the meeting were those who could know the religion and then of course But I also believe that those who are against who spoke about emancipation, although their speeches were factual and were based on a rich life experience, no approximate Knowledge of the statutes of the so-called Jewish religion have had.

If the members of the united state parliament had elected Shulchan If Aruch had known, emancipation would certainly not have been possible came.

Representative Krause said in his speech:

"If we now emancipate Judaism, we will in forty years we will see how things will be with the Jews! It may be that we will not all see it, but I am I am also at peace with myself, but hopefully future times will ne f and contemporary history will judge the gentlemen who sit with me."

The forty years are over. And what is the result of the Emancipation? We have a Jewish rule such as has hardly been seen before in the world. Not only the German imperial throne, but also the existence of our Germany is threatened by it.

In all countries of the world where modern European culture, international Jewry reigns supreme.

Like the longitudes and latitudes on a globe, jo has this Judaism the civilized states with a network of interests over= in which Pope, Emperor, Kings and Princes, great states and small principalities with all subjects and relatives like flies in a spider's web. | It is a wonderful spectacle that shows us the end of the 19th century offers: the majority of the Aryan population of the world like the sheep of Panurge into certain destruction to see it fall, but on the other hand it is a refreshing

Feeling, with an active minority like a salmon in clear water to swim against the current. j

How was it possible that such Aryan nature conflicting conditions could arise, that a minority, who lives among us and whom we see every day and whose old Testament we should not only know, but which we also in our religious teachings, to such a rule
has arrived? N |

Because they always keep their criminal teachings secret from us Because they tried to conceal their race; because they their race and religion, which in this case is the same thing, by Sham baptisms, by adopting foreign names, by denial their origins in order to make us feel safer under these masks
to be able to deceive |

In every Jewish brain lies the tendency of these hundred Laws hidden like a seed that germinates and develops into Plant develops as soon as it is fertilized. The Jews know this quite precisely. This explains why they always find each other; why they stick together so much. They know their . only too well. En

One will now understand why the Jews always have 5 large

Emphasis on the secrecy of the teachings of the Talmud or Shulchan Aruch, which is why they neither poison nor other crimes to ensure the translation and dissemination of their teachings to thwart. | |

It is the knowledge of the Shulchan Aruch that we lack!

The Ecker's or rather Juftus's Jewish Mirror can once serve as a substitute, but we also have other authorized Sources from which we can draw.

It is this: Eisenmenger's "Discovered Judaism".

Johann Andreas Eisenmenger was born in Mannheim in 1654, studied oriental languages in Amsterdam and died on December 20, 1704 in Heidelberg. |

This learned Orientalist, most recently professor in Heidelberg, had worked for many years on the work, on whose publication he
But as soon as it was in Frankfurt a. M.
prints, the Jews offered the author a sum of money if he
the publication and inform them of the already finished edition
When he refused, they obtained an imperial Order, as a result of which the entire edition was confiscated.
The imperial councillors had instructed them to take this measure through the fpeeling: The work contains dangerous attacks against Catholicism. Whether there were also sound reasons, may remain undecided, although it looks very much like it.

The heirs of the deeply offended and author, who died soon afterwards, lifted the confiscation

They therefore sought help from King Frederick I of Prussia, who referred the matter to Emperor Leopold I and then

r . ee Ze

– 40 –

to Joseph I, and both of them the groundlessness of the Jewish
He explained the procedure and said the strange words:

“That it would be degrading to the Christian religion, if the Jews were really fine, that they would be a defense of them, as well as to refute their errors could suppress the book that was produced.”

Nevertheless, nothing helped, the Jewish influence proved successful– richer in Vienna than the intercession of the most noble German Empire– Princes. Then this king seized the truly royal information means that he had the work reprinted at his own expense, which then had the consequence that the resulting useless confiscation of the first edition–
was raised and the work finally reached the public.

Frederick I ordered the universities of Giessen, Heidelberg and Mainz to investigate whether any position of professor Eisenmenger was misquoted or distorted; at the same time he forced the Rabbi, to examine Eisenmenger's citations and to indicate whether and in how far and where something was wrong. Everyone unanimously declared iron= Menger's texts and versions for irrefutable The judgment of the universities and rabbis mentioned was subsequently well-known orientalists such as FG Budeus, OG Tychfen, CB Michaelis, Wolf et al. repeatedly renewed and expressly referred to the Importance of the work for governments and sworn colleges on= made noticeable. In the Royal Chamber Court in Berlin, 1787 the following assessment of this work was deposited:

“The works of Eisenmenger from classical Jewish writers
The extracts provided are delivered and translated with a fidelity that withstands any test. Since it is a crime committed by the Jews themselves is obliged to declare their rabbinical statements as absurd, eo they can only attribute it to themselves if reasonable readers

There is no honey from poison, no truth from nonsense, no intolerance

no tolerance, no friendship from enmity and hatred and Love is capable of being extracted even with the best will in the world."
(Pawlikowski, The Talmud, Regensburg 1866.)

As regards the judgment of the Berlin Higher Regional Court
As for Eisenmenger's "Discovered Judaism", Recently a scholar asked for the same for inspection. He received the answer, he should give further details, which of course was impossible for him.

Concerning the murder of Father Thomas in Damascus in 1840=
The documents were at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs—
e deposited in Paris; these are in 1870 under disappeared in the ministry of the Jew Crémieux. .

Should the assessment of Eisenmenger's work be a similar have experienced a similar fate? That would be worth the effort, to investigate! .

Eisenmenger's work still exists in many copies.
The most beautiful edition is that of 1700 from Frankfurt a. M. A Writer could earn a great merit if he

= 4] —

famous work, omitting the Greek and Hebrew texts in modern language.

The secret teachings of Judaism, the Jewish nation, the HL KUeT We must learn to know race if we want to fight against the want to protect them. A translation of the Shulchan Aruch should ae a and the content should be taught in all schools.

When the horrific crime of 1875 in Bremerhaven occurred= had come, no nation wanted the criminal Thomas as recognize one of their own. In no legislation in the world, it was said that there is a paragraph, but the possibility of a jo horrible crime. — That was simply not true. In the Shulchan Aruch there is a legislation which under certain circumstances approves, praises and jogar_ commands.

Yes, gentlemen, the Aryan brain is different from the Jewish one. Our senses are hardly able to comprehend the infamy of a such legislation

II.

L Alliance Israelite Universal.

The General Israelite Alliance.

(Based in Paris.)

I. The general Israelite alliance has neither in France nor legal existence elsewhere.

II. The coat of arms of the Alliance consists of an allegorical figure, which represents the globe, dominated by the Moses tablets. The Alliance announces the demand that these very boards be place of the cross or the crescent moon should rule the world.

III. "All Jews stand in solidarity with one another," is the motto, the motto of the alliance.

IV. If all Jews are in solidarity with each other, it is evident, that the pact which unites them, brings them into a mass, a self-evident-drawing body, in contrast to all non-Jews.

V. If the Jews are exclusively in solidarity with each other, as Can they then be with the peoples in whose midst they live and whose Do they boast about being fellow citizens and showing solidarity?

VI. If the Jews declare their solidarity with each other with-fecclusion of the non-Jews, how may they be fupon by those who keep away from their solidarity, the civil and political equality ity? This is a market where everything is taken and Nothing gives!

VII. Jewish solidarity consistently makes the civil equality is illusory; this solidarity destroys the social and political balance in favor of the allied Jews and to harm the divided citizens. A compact and strong minority faces a fragmented and weak majority.

VIII. When all the Jews scattered throughout the earth darifch, "All for one, one for all", so every Jew one of 9,999,999 others, that is, of the cosmopolitan Jews-fociety supported unity. What is reduced to this powerful Unity, the non-Jewish unity, is now a matter of an English or Russian citizen?

uf very little!

The national solidarity that supports the non-Jew is limited to one country, one race, it is illusory. That is the 12

– 43 –

Secret of the upswing, which the Jews are experiencing more and more take the cost of the other races. | he:
The task they have successfully solved is this: One centering of various points of the globe on a given Point (or a personality) a 1 of power and influence, which is capable of breaking any resistance. |

The noise of the “Union générale” provides the latest and most shocking clearest proof of the application of this theorem.

IX. But Jewish solidarity is still incompatible with the civic duties and the oath of allegiance, which the subjects of this sovereign is chained. The Jew who is in solidarity with foreigners, who he gave his consent to an anonymous and foreign authority has, that very universal Israelite alliance, has in reality with the country and the state whose subject he is supposed to be, broken, he stands outside the law.

X. It is through the alliance mentioned in the bulletins and registered documents proved that the general Israelite alliance was a Corps, a political machine that hides under the mask of Philanthropy hides. | |

1st Bulletin 1874, p. 17: Report from Königsberg – the Alliance decides to launch an offensive by preventing the emigration of Jews and rather the same to the center of the Russian empire. |

2nd Bulletin 1877, p. 47. and 1880, p. 48: These two Reports confirm the aggressive action of the Alliance in its relations with Russia. |

3rd Bulletin. After an analysis of the reports and other documentation elements of the Alliance (1875–1880) it is true that the question Alliance a siege cordon of 56 revolutionary committees of the along the Russian–German border, from Memel to Brody to support the nihilistic revolution.

Although the Israelite Alliance is an eminently philanthropic Although it claims to be a society, it nevertheless has no scruples about to get rid of the Tsar by means of revolver shots and dynamite

See "Revelations about the assassination of Alexander II. Bern at ydegger and Baumgart"). |

Ates Bulletin 1875, Second Semester: Steps of Mr. Crémieux with the Persian government. Page 22: Intervention of the Central Committee in the Tunisian turmoil.

5te3 Bulletin 1875, II. Seméfter: The Alliance allows itself to to denounce the Austrian-Romanian trade agreement; she accuses Austria accused of having sacrificed Jewish interests.

6th Bulletin 1877, p. 27: Intervention of the Central Committee of the Alliance at the Swiss Federal Council to oppose the incorporation any provision in the Swiss laws that is detrimental to the Jews Romanian trade agreement to protest. |

| 7th Bulletin 1878: Intervention of the agents of the Alliance at the Berlin Congress.

a BA

Stes Bulletin 1880, II. Semester: Intervention of the Alliance at the Madrid Conference on Moroccan Affairs.

gtes Bulletin. Hunt of the Alliance's emissaries for the Europa traveling Shah of Persia. The Shah was released after—to whom he had promised to take Jews into his service.

10th Bulletin 1883: The Alliance seeks a refuge for the Jews expelled from Russia and Germany. She speaks the guest-friendship of King Alphonsus XII and is heard. Spanish Ministry resists and the Alliance takes revenge by that cowardly demonstration in Paris.

XI The universal Israelite alliance, a political body-ftity, a power; to tolerate it is to create a state within a state—recognize. But what am I saying! It is even worse, it is called the Tolerating permanent revolution is to have a volcano under one's feet. feet. As long as this Camorra, this hearth of Agitation and the shady conspiracy exists, there is nowhere Rest in peace. | |

XII. The Israelite Alliance is no secret its policies and intentions, because it loudly declares that its purpose fe is to fight all those who reject the Jews as such. A Such a demand seems quite natural at first glance and justified. In reality, however, it aims no more and not less than to overthrow all barriers that prevent the existence of other race riflemen; a true war cry is thus raised against—above the nationality principle.

Let us cite some examples and we will see how far such a claim.

A market town is suddenly flooded with Jews: the frightened residents seek refuge in safety= or, as what is called protectionist measures. Immediately the War cry of the Alliance: "You persecute the Jews only because because they are Jews! Long live tolerance! Down with intolerant people-fomity! Down with the tyrants!"

This pious call brings with it a retinue of false rumors, Slander and intrigues, which have upset everything in the country and at the end of the song the unfortunate inhabitants see that that famous war cry: "The Jews are being expelled!" wants to be ftanded:

"Israel shall eat everywhere and eat everything!"

Another example: You are facing elections; some one-born candidate believes that he is better off than Naquet or Cohn Immediately the Israelite alliance takes up the feud-glove and helps her Jew through intrigues and sounding Thaler to triumph, precisely because he is a Jew.

Finally, an example borrowed from family life. Simon asks for the hand of Miss Duprat; but the father gets Goosebumps and shivers at the thought of his blood with Jewish blood mixed in. He then gives Simon a basket, while at the same time wishing him all possible opportunities elsewhere.

a A,

When the Jewish community hears this, a unanimous A cry of indignation filled the air: "What, you set a unique can= didat, a rich, young, handsome, well-bred man who has all the good characteristics, because he is a Jew? Never and never again! Papa Duprat, you will have to deal with us!"

From that moment on, Duprat is of the sect which belongs to the She will not shy away from any means of defeating her victim, All kinds of rumors begin to circulate about him; tries to ridicule and discredit him. A slogan= word flies through all editorial offices and bookstores, and in a few weeks the author of "La Dame aux Giroflées" sinks down to the rank of Batzenschreiber; his income decrease from 100,000 to 30,0000 francs!

Fortunately, Duprat has a fine nose in financial matters and found enough common sense and self-denial to to do constant penance. He deigns to embrace Simon and agrees with philosophical equanimity, the grandpapa of a

To become a quarter of a hundred most lovely and interesting little Jews.

| XIII. Until now only such minor intrigues had been the speech, which relates to society and internal affairs= ties of a country. Only the universal Israelite Alliance has (hence its title) its large global inter= national politics. Here she takes her political high flight and allows itself to negotiate from great power to great power.

XIV. Russia is the terror of the Alliance because it stubbornly insists on treating the Jews as what they are, as Jews. The Alliance therefore fights this empire with all means;
in order to get in the way of the same, she makes common cause with the English in the Orient question; to put it in To ruin the interior, it supports and fuels the nihilistic movement.

XV. The Kingdom of Naples and the other states of the half= infel continue to regard the Jews only as Jews. The Alliance gives the House of Savoy the mandate to subdue all press, under the crocodile cry: "United Italy!" The
The most rebellious of all, the Pope, is brought into his chambers closed.

XVI. At the Berlin Congress, Beaconsfield and his Accomplices from the Israeli alliance Romania, Serbia and Bulgaria and hand them over, bound hand and foot, to the hungry fellow believers. Waddington plays at this market the role of an honest and obliging negotiator; he lets France the merit, the glory of a beautiful action. The fat broth and the good bites of Judaism, this reason= loose, gaping maw, closed.

XVII. According to the general Israelite alliance against= According to the communications signed, the number of its affiliates amounts to

To. From.

26,000. This meaningless figure is clearly indicative of the need

Without being a great mathematician,
fein, we believe we are right to add a zero,
which brought the number of Jews affiliated with the Alliance to 260,000=
rei. Incidentally, this figure is in relation to the total
The Jewish population, which in both hemispheres is 10 million endures.

XVIII. The alliance was formed in 1860 by Crémieux, the famous Trimvir of the "Government of National Defense", publicly It is therefore very young, only 27 years old Existence. Its wonderful development in such a short time-space should be enough to open everyone's eyes, especially those lulled to sleep by modern liberalism. If not a European Congress hastened to take energetic measures against this To meet the enemy of all humanity, then is our ruin, our Humiliation, our slavery sealed forever.

IXX. The conspirators=chiefs of the Alliance unite three times monthly on the second floor of a house (35) on Treviso Street. Nothing from the outside indicates to the hiker that there is the seat of a society, which only stomps on the ground needs to make us all dance. |

XX. The house number 35 on Treviso Street is mainly inhabited by circumcised tenants; there is the beehive, the General quarters: one meets there correspondents, reporters, businessmen-agents &c., all Jews. Several third-rate hotels further Down the same street, the rabbis and other Israelite notables who come to Paris especially to

to discuss with the Alliance's sleuths.

XXI. Without Paris knowing it, a rabbinical Seminar was set up where the Alliance Juterne was represented by all four ends of the earth and breathes into them the Spirit which to revive the sect. This establishment is the university of Jewish sophistication.

XXII. Within the Alliance there is a select committee, whose members are entrusted with important and delicate missions There are only thirty of them in total, but they are well selected and It is found that influential, high-ranking people with (what more hunting) 50 – 100,000 francs in rent. In winter visit these secret agents the fine circles; in summer they go to the Seaside resorts and health resorts where propaganda was made among Jews and the uncircumcised society is being spied on. (Osman=Bey, The Conquest of the World by the Jews.)

a A

9 Call of Crémieux")
to establish the "Alliance israélite universelle".

The alliance we want to form is neither French nor English, neither Swiss nor German, she is Jewish, she is universal. The other peoples are divided into nations; we alone have no fellow citizens, but only religious comrades. Not rather the Jew becomes the friend of the Christian and the Muslim until the light of the Jewish faith, the only Ver= reason=religion, will shine everywhere. f

Scattered among peoples who oppose our rights and interests are hostile, we will especially Jews remain. Our nationality is the religion of our fathers, we do not recognize any other.

We live in foreign countries and we can choose the changing interests of these countries are not of interest, as long as our moral and material interests are in danger.

The Jewish teaching must one day conquer the whole world fulfill. | |

Israelites! Although scattered across the earth, You always strive to be members of the chosen people. If You believe that the faith of your ancestors is the only patriotism= mus is; if you believe that despite your external nationality, nities are only one people; if you believe that Judaism alone is the religious and political truth represent, if you believe all these things, Israelites of the whole world, come, hear our call, give us your approval= mung. The work is great and holy, the success is certain. Catholicism, our sworn enemy, is defeated, hit on the head (frappe à la tête). Every day the net that Israel has cast over the earth will spread, and the sublime prophecies of our holy books will will come true. The day is coming when Jerusalem will House of Prayer for the United Peoples, where the flag of Jewish monotheism on the most distant coasts. Let us use all circumstances. Our power is great, let us learn to use it. What do we have to fear? The day is not far off when the riches of the earth will belong exclusively to the Jews. (Les richesses de la terre appartiendront exclusivement aux Juifs.)" (Taken the French magazine "L'Antisémitique".)

When a few years later the Alliance had already made a powerful appearance had gained momentum, Crémieux wrote in fine reports under

—

) Crémieux is the same who became Grand Master of the Lodge in 1870 a price of one million francs on the head of King William of Prussia suspended.

— 48 —

Others: "When the Jew rises, he rises well:
We are making giant strides!"

"A new Messianic kingdom, a new Jerusalem must arise in the place of the emperors and popes."

These few samples are probably sufficient to characterize this Jewish charitable society." (Thomas Frey, Antisemitics—Catechism, Leipzig, 1889.)

It may be mentioned here that the Alliance, at least in previous years, to hold their meetings in Paris at the Folies Bergère—a place similar to the Reichshallen in Berlin corresponds; and in such a place the world government meets.

The Alliance israélite founded by Crémieux ift, like Paul de Lagarde quite rightly says, "Nothing but a conspiracy to best of the Jewish world domination", whose "mere existence confirmed that in Germany, France, England Jews living there were not Germans, French, English, but Jews." (Paul de Lagarde, German Writings III. 27.)

Every member of the Alliance, whether open or secret, would therefore be a conspirator against the fatherland.

Germany would thus have a large number of traitors, who hold office and dignities, feed.

For the sake of curiosity, I read from Pascal, "A Report about a General Synod of the Jews".

Strangely enough, it is the same year in which the Pope Pius IX opened the Vatican Council, which despite the opposition—fay of the most respected bishops, under the personal influence of the Pope, who accepted the dogma of papal infallibility. For more information about the Jewish Synod, see also the book by Gougenot of the Mouffeaux "Le juif", Chapter 10, p. 331 and ff.

On June 29, 1869, a large Jewish synod was held in Leipzig. The representatives of the Jewish Nation from all parts of Europe under the chairmanship of Prof. Lazarus from Berlin. The debates among the various factions of Judaism were very lively. Finally, the following Resolution, which was introduced by Dr. Philippson from Bonn and supported by the Chief Rabbi of Belgium, Aétruc, was unanimously adopted by all members of the assembly:

"The Synod recognizes that the development and the in-force-realisation of modern principles the safest guarantees for Judaism and its members for the present and for the future. They provide the most vital conditions for the growth and highest development of Judaism."

We are not childish enough to understand the importance of the great Words: "modern principles" are not to be understood. Basically

– 49 –

This means nothing other than "the revolution", the "antic christian" social revolution", which dominates everything. Compare those who know the history of the present, once the Years 1869 and 1886! Can they deny that the "realization" realization of modern principles" is becoming more and more complete? Do you doubt for a moment that through this ever more perfecting realization of Judaism and its members "the surest guarantees for the present" and are on the point of having a brilliant unft to reach"? Is the current existence of the Jew's thumbs is not "expandable" to the highest degree and goes not "its highest development", "world domination" Who has opposed this realization of modern principles through which was voted at the Israelite Synod of 1869? The Jew! This progressive Jew, whose humanity, whose philosophy philanthropy and charity, whose tolerance is celebrated, etc. (G. de Pascal, La Juiverie, pages 22-23.)

blockade

the Russian-German border by the Jewish, from the Israelite general alliance in Paris (from 1872 to 1882) and | led committees.

Left wing.
Königsberg.
headquarters, under which

of Rabbi Bamberger, Lieutenant of the Alliance.

Right wing.
Liegnitz.

Headquarters, under the command of Dr. Landsberg, Lieutenant
the alliance. j

Memel. Breslau.
Outpost of the attack cordon, Jarotshin.
under the command of Dr. Rülff. Plefchen.

Ti.lfit. Ostrowo.
Johannisburg. Kofchmin.
Schirwindt. Krotofchin.
Infterburg. Trachenberg.
Gumbinnen. Trebnitz.
Tapiau. Schweidnitz.
Consecration of Oppeln.
Weißenburg. Falkenberg.
Lautenburg. Wierufowo.
Strasbourg. Pitschen.
Graudenz. Gleiwitz
Briesen. Ratibor
Bydgoszcz. Rybnik.
Kulm. leß.

Thorn. Katowice
Strelno. Tarnowitz.
Krufwitz. Königshütte.

4

Left wing. Right wing.
Inowrazław. Laurahütte.
Gniezno. abrze.
Wrefchen. rakau.
Samter. Brody.
Obornik.

Posen.
costs.
Schroda.
Schrimm.

NB. One look at the map is enough to see the whole ingenuity-ity of this strategic plan, which envisaged the envelopment of the Russian
This is impossible for a
to be attributed to simple coincidence.

Nowhere else can you find such a huge collection of Jewish forces or a wise distribution. The committees were divided: I. into attack committees, which were based on the Russian areas; II. in alarm committees, which were on the opposite side, i.e. those which in the rest of Europe spread all kinds of news that seemed suitable to
to influence public opinion and help the nihilists.
(Osman=Bey, The Assassination of Alexander II, pages 221-223.)

Osman=Bey wrote in 1885: "Since then, this remarkable-worthy charitable society has made giant strides."

The blockade system on the Russian border will of course
but how many other such systems exist today?
Every ruler, every state is surrounded by such a system.
The philanthropic society has achieved recent successes:
the " the Emperor of Brazil, the Argentine calamities that Mac Kinley=Bill (because Mac Kinley serves only as a straw man) and finally the case of Baring Brothers.

To the Bank of England, this bastion of the prosperity of the
The Jews have laid their hands on the civilized world, and in order to
On the imperial throne, Semitism is making itself precarious very lively.

We are facing a huge coup by the Alliance, which is expected will obviously overthrow thrones and cost much blood and tears.

For a better overview I have attached the map on the right-have it manufactured.

- 2 -

= Be

• •

.-

*

Galiz 1i e N

eo >- -

—

BLOCKADE

Russian – German Border

by the Jewish, van der Israelite general
Allianz in Paris

5

– 52

composition of the Central Committee

* the Alliance israslite universal.

members in Paris.

SH Goldschmidt, President.
Joseph Derenbourg, Vice President

Nareffise Leven, Vice-President.
Léonce Lehmann, secretary.
Ed. Kohn, Treasurer.
G. Bedarride.
Charles Berr.

Jules Cavallo.
ng Derenbourg.

ichel Erlanger.
Lucien Heffe.
Baron M. de Hirsch.
Grand Rabbi Zadoc Kahn.
Eugene Manuel.
Gaston Mayer.
Ferdinand Meyer.
Dr. Arnold Netter.
P.-M. Oppenheim.
Jules Oppert.
Eugene Psreire.
Salomon Reinach.
Camille Rodrigues.
Jules Rosenfeld.
Ad. See

Erneft Levi=Alvarss, Ehren=
member.
a Rodrigues, Ehren=

member.

Members abroad:

EA Aftruc, Chief Rabbi in Bayonne.

Dr. Baerwald in Frankfurt a. M.

Dr. Bamberger, Rabbi in Königsberg.

JM Bielefeld in Mannheim.

Ifrål Costa, Rabb. in Livorno.

Alex. A. Daniels in Amsterdam.

Bernhard Deutsch de Hatvan
in Budapest.

Samuel Dreyfus-Neumann
in Basel.

Moses A. Dropsie in Philadelphia.

Dr. Feilchenfeld, Rabbi in ofen

Dr. Frank, Rabbi in Cologne.

Dr. Fuld, lawyer in Frankfurt a. M.

Dr. Graetz, Professor in Breslau.

Sir Julian Goldsmith, Bart.
in London.

D. von Gutmann, President
the Allianz in Vienna.

L. de Hartogh, Professor of Rights in Amsterdam.

Myer S. Ifaacs in New York.

Dr. Joseph, lawyer in Nuremberg.

Eude Lolli, Grand Rabbi in Padua.

Benjamin Lurix in Hamburg.

Dr S. Neumann in Berlin.

Th. Ofchinsky in Breslau.

Dr. Perles, Rabbi in Munich.

Dr. Leone Ravenna in Ferrara.

C. Limon-Salomon in Metz.

Dr. A. Salvendi, Rabbi in Dürkheim ad H.

Cr.-A.-A. Wolff, KD Groß-
Rabbi in Copenhagen.

III.
The Jewish Press.

Around the year 1840, an Israelite council was summoned to Krakow; the most outstanding figures of the chosen People were present. The purpose of their calling was to find the most suitable means to the Jewish world= to complete the conquest. |

One of those present, a ruthless and cunning man, raises suddenly and addresses his colleagues in a sonorous voice:

"Great are the advances we have achieved, our kingdom= cities are growing rapidly, our influence reigns everywhere; the Goyim (the unbelievers) are our subjects; but remember, Dear colleagues, what wealth there is still to plunder, what Billions are still to be caught! We must not give up on our Rest on our laurels: we must hasten to rob the whole world; the faster we do, the sooner the prophecies will come true in fulfillment. |

"I have found a remedy," added the worthy speaker, "to give a new impetus to our operations; this is the use of the press as an instrument to influence the masses to deceive, to put to sleep and then to pluck.

I therefore propose a strike on the press of all countries as urgent. We must acquire the monopoly of the press."

The bravos and cheers, the clapping erupted from all sides, even before this ravenous animal returns to its seat had taken.

"What a brilliant idea! What a discovery! On one page the press will serve as a fanfare, on the other hand the stockbrokers catch the Goyim in their nets. "O what a dawn, what a dawn!" cried those in the hall= wolves towards each other.

The following day, all of Israel received its watchword: "Get to grips with the daily papers! The more we have, the better it will go!' |

Since that time it has been a fundamental idea of Judaism that To transform the press into a kind of powerful artillery, capable of the political, as well as the financial, sphere.

For this purpose, the press of all countries is as follows classified: 1) The newspapers with Jewish flag; 2) the newspapers with two faces, which are basically completely Jewish and but some nationality stands out; 3) Goyim newspapers, the 1 supported or muzzled by the Jews become.

1) The journals of the first category are exclusively addressed to the Jews to enlighten them and to stop their attacks on the other To lead classes properly. So the "Judenthum", "The Jewish Chronicle", "L'Univecs israélite" and many others.

2) The journals with the two faces are the most dangerous, because under the English, French, German, etc. mask of Jewish demon hides itself from the eyes of the deceived reader. While the audience in these organs the reflex of the public opinion of Germany and France on this or that issue to be seen are only Jewish puppets, of Jewish, Behind the curtains a scorpion moves.

Every country patiently carries some of these infernal machines on the Back; the "Times", the "Daily Telegraph" and the "Echo" are considered than English and belong to Ísrañ. Well, one will object, that is little; but consider that the "Daily Telegraph" has a report-stock of 120,000 copies. The Jewish=French organs are less fat, but more numerous and more ostentatious, like they are just necessary to amuse the French. There it says in first and foremost the "Journal des Débats", the patriarch among this masked gang, then the "Gaulois", the "Lanterne", the "Liberté", the "Nation". As for the "Figaro", a good number this coffins, which shave and fhave the public, the ghetto – Italy has no need to envy its sister nation, for there the Israelite choir is complete: the "Liberta", the "Raffegna", the "Perfeveranza", "Italia" etc. w. Poor Italians, your ears will be ripped out! A Jew named Oblieght wanted even buy up the press of the whole country. That was too strong, In the beautiful center of the hemispheres, the Jews were greeted by a solemn Kick! – In Germany there are plenty of Jewish newspapers, but all are known to the police; they are toads which hiss, but not too are allowed to shout loudly. The "Berliner Tageblatt", the "National-Zeitung", the "Voffifche" and the "Frankfurter Zeitung" are the most important Jewish organs in Germany.

In Austria, on the other hand, the Jewish national journals a real witches' cauldron. The big blunderbusses among them are the "Neue Freie Preffe", the "Wiener Tageblatt", by Papa Sepzes-Clemenceau and all in the major cities of the Empire published daily newspapers.

3) With regard to the newspapers of the third category, which consist of supported and muzzled by the yawning Jewish fund, it is impossible for us to say anything; we would have to have a full police force

v

– 55 –

keep staff to hunt them down and remove them from their homes terrestrial nests. What we have said so far is enough also enough to explain the existence of a secret, but terrible, moral lic power. Truly, the hundreds of sheets, who follow the commands of Judaism are just as many fires= fludges, directed against us, to destroy and stun us. What can the few small, evil cannons do, which are called upon to protect the honor, interests and existence of others Defend peoples? Absolutely nothing; their voices are immediately stifled amidst the hellish noise.

The attack on the press draws the usurious purchase of the Advertising agencies, telegraph agencies, printing houses and Bookstores. The agencies Havas, Haafenstein & Vogler, GL Daube and Mofte have set themselves the task of to take almost all the journals in Europe on a leash. These Gentlemen lease the ads on the fourth page. That is enough for them, to gain access to the editorial offices. If you all editorial staff on their backs, and this combination is by no means stupid.

The Jews arrogated to themselves the privilege of giving all humanity to provide intellectual and spiritual nourishment, and that only the purpose of deceiving and outwitting them at will. Woe he who does not think like them! He is condemned to be on the pavement To die of hunger. . The conquest of the world by the Jews. Bonn 1888.)

* *
*

“Until we put the newspapers of the whole world into the hands to deceive and stun the peoples, remains our rule is a figment of our imagination!” is the infamous phrase of the philanthropist Sir Moses Montefiore, which the Jews first now after his death he would like to deny.

– 5 –

IV

speech by a Chief Rabbi

held in a secret meeting.

Extract from an English work by Sir John Readclif: Report on the political-historical events of the last ten years.

Our fathers have given the elect of Israel the duty of—killed, at least once in every century at the grave of the Grand Master Caleb, the holy Rabbi Simeon=ben=Ihuda to whose teachings are given to the elect of every generation the dominion over the whole world and the authority over all descendants of Israel. |

The people's struggle has already lasted for eighteen See about the power that Abraham had over the Yule, which but was stolen by the cross. Trampled underfoot, he= humiliated by his enemies, always under threat of death, the persecution and insult of every kind, the people of Israel are not inferior, and when it has spread all over the world, fuch this happened because the whole world must belong to him.

For several centuries, our enlightened ones have fought courageously and with untiring perseverance against the cross. Our people er= is gradually rising, and every day its power is growing. Ours is the God of the day, which Aaron established for us in the desert, 19 golden calf, this universal deity of the present time—age

If we consider ourselves the sole owners of the gold—
of the whole world, then the true power pass into our hands, then the things given to Abraham will fulfill the promises made. f

Gold, the greatest power in the world, — the gold which the power, the reward, the means to every pleasure, everything what man fears and desires — see, that is the great secret, the deep science of the spirit that rules the world!
that is the future!

Eighteen centuries have belonged to our enemies, but the fee and the future must belong to us, to us, the people
Israel, and they will surely be ours.

See, for the tenth time, since a thousand years of persistent and constant struggle with our enemies, gather on this cemetery at the grave of our Grand Master Caleb, the holy Rabbi Simeon=ben=Ihuda, the chosen ones of each generation of the people of Israel, to consult on the means of one for our cause from the great mistakes and sins, which our enemies, the non-Jews, continually commit, benefit can pull. | |

Each time the new Sanhedrin has fought without mercy with proclaimed and preached to our enemies. But in none of the previous For centuries, our ancestors had succeeded in mining so much gold – and accordingly power – into their hands, than we nineteenth century. We can therefore, without frivolous illusion, hope that we will soon reach our goal, and look to the future with confidence. | |

The time of persecution and humiliation – these dark and painful times, which the people of Israel with such heroic patience has endured – are fortunately over for us, thanks the progress of civilization among the non-Jews; and this progress step is the best shield behind which we seek protection and act to move through the room with a quick and confident step= step which still separates us from the highest goal. |

Let us now turn our attention to the economic situation Europe and consider the resources that the Israelites since the beginning of this century, solely by accumulation of immense capital in their hands and over which they have at this moment.

So the Israelites found themselves in Paris, in London, in Vienna, in Berlin, in Amfterdam, in Hamburg, in Rome, in Naples and in all the Rothschilds everywhere through the possession of many billions of masters of financial market; quite apart from the fact that at every place second or third rank they also possess the cash, and that everywhere without the children of Ifrael, without their direct influence, no financial operation, no significant work was undertaken= that can.

Nowadays, all emperors, kings and reigning princes are Debts which they had to incur for the maintenance of the numerous permanent armies to support their tottering thrones. The stock exchange records and regulates these debts, and we are for the most part, gentlemen of the stock exchange on almost all places. To go further, we need to study the bonds to to make ourselves the sole regulators of all values and, fo As far as possible, as security for the capital which we have countries, the exploitation of their railways, their mines, their forests, their large ironworks and factories, as well as like other real estate and even the administration of taxes.

Agriculture will always be the great wealth of every country. The possession of large lands brings us au.

always brings honor and great influence to the owner. It follows that we must also strive to ensure that our brothers in Israel to acquire large land holdings. We must therefore destroy fragmentation of the large land holdings in order to enable us to acquire them to facilitate.

Under the pretext of helping the working classes, one must bear the full weight of the taxes and when the property has passed into our possession, then all the work of the non-Jewish day laborers and even for us the source of immense wealth become.

Poverty is slavery, says a 15 The Proletariat is the lowly servant of speculation. But the oppression and the influence finds the low servants of the spirit, whom the light inspires and inspires. And who can give the spirit to the children of Israel, Deny intelligence and penetrating gaze?

Our people are ambitious, arrogant and pleasure-seeking. Where There is light, there are also shadows, and it is not without reason, that "our God has given his chosen people" the ability to live—the snake's cunning, the fox's cunning, the hawk's gaze, the Memory of a dog, the mutual obligation and the The beavers' instinct to unite. |

We have rejoiced in exile in Babylon, and we have become powerful!

Our temples have been destroyed, and we have Instead of building thousands of temples!

For eighteen centuries we were slaves, and in this century we have pulled ourselves together and overcome all—whose peoples were raised!

It is said that a great number of our brothers in Israel to convert and take the non-Jewish baptism ... that is indifferent! . . . the baptized can serve us well white; they can become auxiliary troops for us to create new Towards goals that are still unknown to us since the new converts always stick with us, and despite the baptism of their body, spirit and soul remain Israel

but always faithful. In a century at most,
no longer be the children of Ifrael, who are Gentiles—want it, but the non-Jews will be holy faith; but then Israel will reject them with contempt.

Since the non-Jewish church is one of our greatest enemies,
we must persistently seek to reduce their influence.
One must therefore give due consideration to the understanding of those who consider them confess faith, as much as possible the ideas of freethinking, of scepticism, instilling disbelief and religious disputes abilities which in non-Jewish society are so fruitful for division and sectarianism.

— 59 —

Reasonably, we must begin by examining the priests
this religion; let us wage open war on them

explain, let us suspect their piety, their private life;
and then we will lose respect through ridicule and mockery,
which one pays to one's class and clothing.
The natural enemy of the Church is the Enlightenment, which
The result of the widespread use of schools is. Let us try To gain influence on the young students. The idea of the Fort=

This step will result in the equality of all religions, and
This in turn leads to the elimination of the non-Jewish Religious education in the school curriculum. The Israelites are through skill and intelligence without difficulty seats and positions as professors at non-Jewish schools.
religious education will be pushed back into the family, and since in most families there is a lack of time to monitor this
If the subject of instruction is lacking, the religious attitude will decrease and gradually disappear completely.

Every war, every revolution, every political or religious upheaval=

The rise of Judaism in the non-Jewish world is drawing nearer to the moment when we highest goal we strive for.

Trade and speculation, two things that have great advantage must never slip out of the hands of the Israelites.
First, one must be aware of the trade in alcohol, butter, bread and Wine, because by doing so we will become absolute masters of arable farming and agriculture in general.
We will be the givers of grain for all; but if Un=

discontent as a result of hardship among the proletariat 5, then it would always be easy for us to take responsibility to pass the blame on to the governments. |

All public offices must be accessible to the Israelites, and once we are in possession of the offices, then we will through the flexibility and acumen of our "makers" to the first source of real influence and real Power to advance. It goes without saying that it is Pri only those offices which are associated with honor, power and rivilegies; for those who want to know, suffice it to say that the work and effort is left to the non-Jews The office of judge is for us an institute of of the utmost importance. The legal career best develops the power of civilization and initiates us most into the affairs= units of our natural enemies, the non-Jews, and thereby we can make them serve us. Why should not Israelites become Minister of Culture, when they had so often been Minister of Finance find? The Israelites must also strive for the abolition of the Goyim against the children of Israel to bring about that strive to become legislators, they are the only ones who maintain faithful adherence to the 8,915 laws of Abraham.

In this respect, our plan is almost complete. because progress has recognized us almost everywhere and has the same civil rights as the non-Jews; but what important to achieve, and what the goal of our persistent efforts ftrengungen must be, this is a less strict law for ban-kerotte. We turn it into a gold mine for ourselves, which is more productive is as the gold mines of California once were. The people of Israel must direct his ambition to those places of power from which Reputation and honor flow. The most effective means to achieve this to reach: all industrial, financial and commercial to dominate the social societies and to protect them from every trap and danger: lure which could put you in danger of being pursued before the country's courts.

BP RE

Therefore, when selecting this type of bridge, the Wisdom and tact, which he requires for this kind of fshould not be alien to us ft who are capable of achieving an outstanding position in society- to conquer: philosophy, medicine, law, music, national Economics; in a word, all branches of science, art and literature form a wide field where success gives us a great advantage and put our capabilities in the forefront- These professions are inseparable from speculation. For example, the composition of a piece of music, even if it is mediocre, give our people a plausible excuse, to raise the Israelite author to the pedestal and present him with a glory. What the sciences: medicine and 8, they are also in our spiritual area. A doctor is in the innermost family relationships relationships and as such has the health and life

our mortal enemies, the non-Jews.

We must examine the marital relationships between Israelites and Seek to promote non-Jews; the people of Israel have no fear of to lose in this trade, because on the contrary it can only be the introduction of a small quantity of impure blood into our race blessed by God, cannot destroy it; and our Sons and daughters provide us with these connections

with non-Jewish families of certain position and power.
It is fair that for the money we give, we get an equivalent influence. The relationship with non-Jews caused no deviation from the path we have set out for ourselves
On the contrary, with a little skill we can become core of their life. It would be desirable for the Israelis
There were no mistresses among the daughters of our holy religion region, but that they did not choose such out of the row= Jewish virgins. Of great importance would be
It would be for us if the sacrament of marriage was celebrated by a simple Contract before any civil authority could be replaced, because then the non-Jewish virgins would come into our camp-overflow. |

If money is the first power in the world, then the Press without contradiction the second.

11

But what can the second do without the first?... But since we without the help of the press we cannot achieve everything that said and proposed, it is necessary that our
at the head of the management of all daily newspapers in all countries
The possession of gold, the skill in choosing and the use of means to make important men venal will make us leaders of public opinion
and give us dominion over the masses. | |

By moving forward step by step on this path
we will, with our characteristic persistence, the non= Jews and destroy their influence. We write to the world what it should believe in, what it should honor and what it should curse. Individuals may perhaps turn against us lift and curse and condemn us; but the docile and unknowing masses will listen to us and stand by us. Are We are first of all absolute masters of the press, then we can

our views on honor, virtue, righteousness change your feeling and take the first attempt and the first hit against the most sacred institution, namely the family, and bring about their dissolution. We can then believe ben to destroy everything that our enemies, the non-Jews, have so far and, by creating a passion for weapon, we declare open war against everything that still respected and revered. i

All this should be understood, remembered, and every child Israel should adopt these true principles. Then our power grows like a giant tree that bears fruit,
who call themselves wealth, pleasure, happiness, power, and offer replacement for the unworthy state in which the people of Israel lived for centuries long Alba has!

As soon as one of our people takes a step forward, follow him
another immediately; so that if he slips, his faith help and support fellow citizens. If an Israelite is brought before the courts of the country in which he lives, then his fellow believers hurry to give him help and support, but only if the defendant acted in accordance with the law which Israel has strictly followed for so many centuries.

Our people are conservative and attached to the religious cere monies and customs handed down to us from our fathers
Our interests require that we address social issues, which are on the agenda, especially for those who
the improvement of the lot of the workers, feign zeal; in
In reality, however, our efforts must be directed towards to control public opinion regarding this movement and to direct them to other general questions. The delusion the masses and their inclination to sound from an empty but to be guided by the eloquence that resounds in the streets, make them an easy and docile tool for Po= pularity and trust. We will without difficulty=

– 62 –

ity among our people there are those who find the expression hypocritical of emotion and resounding eloquence.

The proletariat must be preserved as much as possible and subject it to capital. In this way we can Incite the masses if we please; we drive them to change ftumble, to revolutions, and each of these catastrophes brings our home interests a big step forward and us faster closer to our only goal: that of dominion over all peoples
the world, as was promised to our father Abraham.

(Kalixt de Wolski. La Russie juive. p. 4 ff.)

V.

abstract

from "Reports and Nolizen"

by Derjawine (Moscow 1860).

Derjawine was chief prosecutor in St. Petersburg and a member of a Commission appointed by the Kaiser to study the Jewish question in New States.

Derjawine says that the Jews have all kinds of staged by intrigues, steps taken and seductive offers made to ensure that the discussion of the Jewish question leaving the matter at rest and leaving it at the status quo remained, that is, on which it was located when the Emperor fembly of the commission. A letter which was received by a Jew White Russia and was taken up by a Chief Rabbi of that country to a very wealthy and influential Jew in Strasbourg, bore eloquent witness to the powerful organization of the Jewish people and their willingness to spend an enormous sum to deal with all, even the dishonorable= most effective means to support the activities of the Emperor of To paralyze Russia in the Commission. |

In this letter it was stated that the Jews were treating Derjawine as cursed the greatest enemy and persecutor of the Jews; that a Hevem Anathema was issued against him, which was synagogues of the world to whom this was communicated that in order to deal with this matter (the Commission) to arrange it to their advantage, that is, to resolve the Jewish question on fimperative, all Jews of Russia and other countries had come together and sent a million silver rubles, to bribe everything that could be bribed, in order to get out of the Emperor's appointed commission their sworn enemy, the chief public prosecutor To remove Derjavine, that if all means were in vain to to expel him from the Commission, poison or any other lovable means this great persecutor and enemy of the people of Israel must disappear from the world; that in order to fulfill this task to carry out the Jews of St. Petersburg a period of six years; in the meantime, all levers must be pulled to use money – which is plentiful – to make high profits to gain influence in order to prolong the Jewish question, because any hope of a beneficial solution is illusory as long as Derjawine was a member of the Commission or had not resigned to live; that, in order to support the efforts of the Jewish Committee in St. Petersburg to help and discuss the Jews=

question to hinder and confuse the Emperor's appointed Commission from all countries and in all languages, which were edited by the competent Jews, which dealt with the question and explained how it was dealt with in Russia would have to solve; because it is indeed an important question for the Jews, since it was nothing less than depriving them of the Right to sell spirits in small towns and in the country, where the art of stupidity of the peasants through alcoholism, the abuse and Adulteration of spirits is the most productive speculation. | 1

And indeed, a short time later, the Emperor's appointed commission with a veritable flood of printed matter, Brochures and all kinds of letters in German, the others in French, others in English, all of which solution to the Jewish question. All printed works, Brochures and letters were to be carefully be checked.

While the Commission is working on this extensive work A Jew named Notko, who was exhausted by a alleged commonality of ideas about the solution of the Jewish question and by a proposal to build factories that would Jews should be given means of subsistence through work, the confidence Derjawine's had known how to obtain it by stealth, to the same in sympathetic and generously made the following confidential proposal: "You will never, he said, the great influence which was exerted in favour of the Jews, and since I am commissioned to To offer you 200,000 rubles in silver so that you commit yourself, never against the decisions of your colleagues on the Jewish question Opposition, I sincerely advise you to accept the offer gain weight and keep calm."

Accepting this proposal would be a had been a threefold betrayal: betrayal of his own conscience, Betrayal of the interests of the unfortunate Russian peasants and ultimately treason of the trust of his ruler! ... His rejection on the other hand, paralyzed his opponents! Faced with such an alternative, he chose the path of turning directly to the Kaiser, openly and to clearly explain the state of affairs in the Jewish question, in which Hope that the Kaiser, edified by his faithfulness and loyalty W provide help and protection in this delicate issue would.

In fact, the Kaiser was at first embarrassed about these sad revelations; but upon repeated requests, which Derjavine addressed to him and asked him for behavioral measures

asked, the Kaiser was content with a certain embarrassment to say: "Wait, wait. I'll tell you later, when and how you must act."

Meanwhile, the Emperor had the letter which Derjavine had and in which of the million for the corruption of the Commission determined silver rubles, from the assassination attempt on the Life of Derjavine was mentioned, kept in order, as he said, the 1 of the letter by the secret police

u let's go. |

' After this conversation, Derjavine was convinced that the Kaiser would henceforth distrust his environment, which gifts of the children of Ifrael would be so easily accessible. But the Family connection which united the Emperor with Count Valère, son of Alexander Zubow, had this from the whole story
In his turn, Count Valeïre had a certain Speranski, Director General of the Ministry of the Interior, as a friend, who was the factotum and first hand of Minister Koczubei
Count Zubow had now informed Speranski of all the details of the Jewish question, which he knew from the mouth of His Majesty, exactly and since Speranski devoted himself body and soul to the Jews sold (through an intermediary named Peretz, with whom he was publicly friendly and with whom he lived), so did not appear an imperial decree, which condemned the unworthy tripotames in the Jewish question condemned and destroyed, but the Commission decided that nothing would be done about the Jewish question, that is, that The Jews also retained the right to live in the small to sell brandy in cities and the countryside.

But since Derjavine of the meeting where this decision was taken was not present and therefore the decision was the most important the required formalities, namely that of absolute unanimity=ity of the members, was missing, it remained unfeasible and The question had not come any closer to being resolved. Since this But the Emperor received Derjavine with a certain reluctance attitude and the letter which he wrote under the pretext taken Baie to have him verified by the secret police, so the Kaiser had not only failed to issue a corresponding order, but also avoided talking about it.

A Draft for the Solution of the Jewish Question, edited by Baranow and commented by Derjavine, was handed over to Speranski, who the same entirely and in his own sense and with oppression of Derjawine's commentary. The latter's name did not even figure in the imperial ukase alongside the other members of the commission. When Derjawine was informed of the result of the When he heard the report, he jokingly said to Baranow: "Judas had sold Christ for thirty pieces of silver. For how much have you betrayed the fate of the unfortunate peasants?" To which Baranow replied laughing: "For 30,000 ducats to every member of the Commission, of course excluding me, because the draft edited by me was completely reworked by Speranski and his neglect of duty is well known."

(Kalixt de Wolski. La Russie juive. Page 53 ff.)

- . -

Jewish practice.

If one tells an unbiased person something of the extraordinary influence which Israel had in all levels of society. population, from the emperor to the last day laborer, he will shake his head. Usually he has no idea of the existence of an "Alliance israélite universelle". The name He may not have heard of it at all, or if he did, then only as if it were charitable society. He has heard of the Talmud, but than from a boring religious book of the Jews, in which strange stories about circumcision, slaughter and the like ft, but he knows even less about the contents of this book than perhaps that of the Koran. The name Shulchan Aruch is Even for an average educated person, it is a Bohemian village. One sees and hears little of Rabbis and also of Talmud=Torah= schools and Jewish associations.

If one now claims that the Jews are not only us, but to rule the world through their teachings and their observance, one may, under certain circumstances, be suspected of being insane.

Everyone knows that there are social evils, but few know where they come from. Everyone believes that the next person is guilty; because the Jews accuse all others in their papers except for oneself. |

How could the Jews come to have such a large To be able to exert influence in a state which is Christian calls:

Whoever thinks so, is in danger of one or the other to be harmed in other ways by Judaism.

However, whoever reads the Talmud, the Shulchan Aruch, the Jewish Mirror knows and has once been bitten by Jews, he sees the world with other eyes. |

In the first two of the previous articles we have discussed the learned about the legislation of the Jews and their secret organization, in the third one of its main tools, the press, in the fourth their quest for world domination and in the fifth a authentic report of a great bribe.

Basically, the whole of Judaism is already characterized here, and I will try to examine the Jewish practice a little more closely. lights.

and #7

Above all, the Jews have the secret of blood; Jewish legislation is a racial legislation, as exclusive as fit is only conceivable. And now listen to the cries of the Jews, if one considers them as a special race, as a nation draw or even treat. Then ignorance, in= tolerance and fanaticism, and yet they know that best that they belong to a race that has a very special whose organizational talent and instinct is gifted. To give us this To make them forget, they use all means, they get baptized, take false names and deny their origins. They tolerate well, that we speak of other races, even of the Semitic, fom the Arabs are concerned, but Judaism should be for all other peoples do not exist; that is a noli me tangere, that they just want to know themselves.

Our great Professor Virchow, for example, the anthropologist par excellence, teaches us all sorts of entertaining things about the various lawn and sometimes knows how to find the finest differences, but when it comes to Judaism he is tricky. He also poses probably in Prussia surveys on the color of hair, eyes but finally he regularly comes to a result which deliberately ignores or spares the Jews. Yes, he tries to prove that they would soon be absorbed into the other nations, and fuch results are then made public through the trumpet of the Jews= press trumpeted to the whole world. Nevertheless, I believe that no one knows better than Virchow himself what Judaism wants, and I I have a little suspicion that he is thereby deu Goyim Sand in wants to scatter the eyes, this apostle of the great mass of peoples.

Do you know ringworm? It is a common disease in India= Coming skin disease. Several spots appear on the skin surface bright red round spots, which become larger and larger until The white skin reappears in the middle of the spots. The spots have become circular rings, and these grow until two or three rings touch with their peripheries. These agree and soon form a geometric circle again, and when all the rings are united, they form a single large ring, which sometimes covers entire body surfaces, the edges of which are increased, and secrete a corrosive moisture, until then the Disease finally disappears. It is not fatal, but it is scary and causes an annoying skin irritation. It comes in the miasmatic, humid river valleys of India and always disappears in clean, cool air.

This disease is a faithful picture of the occurrence of the Judaism in the life of nations. The stain is the individual Jew, the small rings the Mišchpochen (families), the larger ones the Kahal, the lodges, the clubs, the orders and finally the last one the Alliance universal Israelite

This tendency to form rings, which together act to attack the individual, form the dangerous part of the

5*

– 68 –

Judaism. Such rings are found everywhere where there is money, Power, influence, positions and external reputation can be acquired, and the repertoire of tools used by the Jews to achieve their Achieving goals ranges from the most cunning flattery and hypocrisy to daggers, poison and dynamite. N

In other chapters it is dealt with in particular how all professional circles are represented and form rings and upwards push.

I would like to cite some cases from life which characterize Jewish practice, and here I would like to For example, take the fate of a rich industrialist, who has valued his Jewish friendship and fellowship have to pay: 6

"After I wrote this months ago," says Ahlwardt, "it me just now, while this book was being printed, the tremendous-news that Mr. Albert Thomas, this multi-millionaire, who has never known debt, who has debt-free houses in Victoria-ftafe etc., cannot consume his income and has no children, is completely bankrupt and has also sold all properties loren. The reader will ask in great surprise: How is that possible? I don't find this surprising in any way. All well-off Germans are towards the Jew – Please forgive the expression, which has absolutely nothing offensive foll, but it fits perfectly – what the fattened pig has to farmers. The more fattening such an animal proves, the more it is naturally fed. With its fat, With its ham it more than pays for all the effort and costs. Mr. Thomas had become very rich as an intelligent manufacturer and had increased this wealth through some clever speculations The Jews knew how to win him over, induced him to Speculations, where he always earned money, left him behind the scenes and he already counted himself among the initiates who were on the stupid audience. Surely it made him feel good when his hump scratched, that is, when his insight was praised was. ö Ä

Finally he was fat enough and was sold into large time stores. wrapped, the abyss opened, and differences of many Millions stared at him. The rest is silence!"

(Herm. Ahlwardt, The Desperate Struggle. Page 101.)

This case is a very nice example of Jewish Make and show how they know how to ensnare their victims. How many others may not have reached the same fate, and how many industrialists are not already in the clutches of the stock exchange, from which they will not be able to get out so easily. The Jews know how to cast their nets so calmly and seemingly harmlessly! A Jewish commercial director in a large establishment is usually the beginning, then come Jewish agents, and so it continues until the entire industry is chained to the stock exchange.

2 97
3 *
m PT
e 69 – 2 = 8
–

–

In a similar way it is the case with princely and other large Pri 100 which are all destined to gradually become Jewish Moloch. 8

We have just witnessed that one of the largest non-Jewish Banks, Baring Brothers in London had to surrender, This is also achieved in a very similar way to the The Thomas case and, as before, the fall of the Union générale of Mr. Bontoux. In the German Reichsbank the Jews are almighty, they also control the corresponding financial institutions in France, Austria and Italy and, it seems, the Bank of England more and more into their hands. Have they the latter first completely raped, then their world domination is such a quite a fait accompli.

But we do not want Israel to be on the path to world domination but see how they fit into the civil service, Military and administration know how to force their way in. |

| Let us assume that the Jews wanted to kill one of their own to become an officer. The written confession is, however, still required in Prussia, but why should a Jew cannot be baptized today, since he can still remain a real Jew can and must remain.

It is said that the officer corps have the power to to reject those who did not suit them for some reason.

How illusory this is can easily be calculated if

Considering that by far the largest part of the German officers is in the hands of Jewish usurers. Ahlwardt gives

These are quite frightening numbers. Well, if an officer—corps show a tendency to reject a Jew or Jewish offspring, then only a little bit of the golden whip needs to be swung to make the recalcitrant submissive. The usurer, who previously instructed, can show his claws quite gently. But This remedy is not even necessary so often these days. Officers of Jewish descent and related to Jews are white in the distributed throughout the army and often have higher positions In this case, comradely considerations must be taken into account, which restrict free will. A military ranking like this the Jews for their own purposes must look strange. every officer who is of Jewish descent, who has Jewish blood in his veins, which is Jewish connected. In Jewish communities— Even in the shops one knows such people, and they are there with treated with courtesy. Then the wealth of the—various officers in these lists and above all the debts of the gentlemen, and from which usurer he has contracted them. A Such lifts are of course an extremely practical tool in the hands of the Jews. |

Considering that the same is true of the civil service

then it is not surprising that the Jews find it very easy suffered to accommodate their people everywhere, and that we have a future

| Digitized by Google *
8 En 4 8 Ti Ba 9 ä Zum ee 2

2

– 70:

where all high offices in Germany are occupied by Jews
and Jewish offspring 1 0 will be.

The Hildesheim transfer case, where a number of young Jurists because he refused to accept a Jew as table companions – which is ultimately a purely private matter –
u accept, shows sufficiently with what ruthlessness– since Ifrael Doreen. Who would have been behind the Higher Regional Court– President von Bardeleben was looking for a Jewish offspring? Only this incident brought it to light.

Besides usury and corruption, the Jews have also– other means to advance your people. For example, there are Aid organizations for Jewish students, and it hardly needs to be– to be toned that the people of such associations in the civil service launched officials, whether pure Jews or half-Jews, the are devoted to Judaism.

Then there are Jewish families who raise young Christians– support and, with the help of their fellow tribesmen, enter the civil service Sometimes even several families participate in the charitable works, and then a real stock official finished. That the young German is eternally grateful to his benefactors remains, is self-evident.

In public ostentatious charity, the following play a key role:
Jewish women play a major role, arranging festivals, bazaars, lotteries etc. It is purely for sport. That may be in do good in some respects, but the downsides of such kind of Charity is not enjoyable, and most of the time it only serves as a means to an end. Through this charity, the to give Jews access to the higher social circles first and knew how to maintain it afterwards.
fhowever, they cannot miss it, there is no other way of saying that–
In the placement of tickets for charity– sweden, in the procurement of objects for looting or for the buffets that are set up on such occasions,

He developed a fabulous activity, sometimes a barbaric, which is reminiscent of the revolver press. |

Just as in Paris, where the rich proceeds of such prosperity activity festivals are celebrated by the committees, we are probably still not come, but there is still a future ahead of us.

By the way, I would like to tell you a story from my life.

A Jewish lady showed me a letter from another Jewess, in which the latter asks for support for a poor Christian Family asked. The described circumstances in the family in question were extremely sad. So I contributed. A world lady who was present asked me afterwards why I was so—I thought that this really seemed necessary I was simply taken to task for my naivety—laughs. Of course, it was said, the letter writer pockets the money.

About the commercial charity of Lina Morgenstern is Much has already been written, and there too people complain about countless irregularities moderations, with how much justification I do not know, but whose— Therefore it is necessary that a Jewess should business of the public kitchen; why can't Germans do; must everything be left to the Jews? It is questionable It seems to me that Mrs. Lina Morgenstern only recently Contrary to doctors, he advocates the use of saccharin. This seems to me to be the most unsuitable means for public kitchens, since it contains no nutrients. However, it is very cheap. Hopefully the authorities will take care if you bring it to their attention, once about this matter.

— 11 ne

Such Jewish charitable undertakings often take not very pleasant end. Who would not remember the story to remember the "German Woman" Simon, the significant Role it played in the last war and how it ended?

An officer who had participated in the last war told me, how, when he returned home, on one of the railway courts of Berlin sat down at a table to satisfy hunger and thirst to satisfy. When he wanted to pay, a lady stood in front of him, Lina Morgenstern, and indicated to him that she was the well-being perpetrator, Mr. Morgenstern was also brought out of a corner and introduced. "Now say thank you nicely!" was the message, ie he had to sign some document in which he stated his free meal. These are the documents with which hence the name and influence. How many officials— ft want to put up with the favorites of the public kitchens and Charity heroines are forgiven!

I do not know whether any reasonable person still believes in Humanity and philanthropy when people like Pereire, Rothschild or Bleichröder occasionally make larger gifts, which then be trumpeted out to the whole world. I believe the time is over; these are just bits and pieces that are presented to the audience. thrown in order to be able to exploit it even better.

And what about the gifts of the famous Baron Hirsch?
this tribesmen, now the true Danaan spirit
Israel should arm itself with "education" to help us
Anyone who wants to know something about the use of these gifts wants, read the booklet "The Jewish Rule in the Carpathians= countries." (see book list.)

I know of a case from Russia where a Jew may have left for a newspaper which was specifically intended to
to demoralize the people.

In Germany we experienced that a Jew had his fortune left to the Social Democracy so that it could be sold to Judaism remains chained, and I am told of another case where a Jew left his significant fortune to an influential prince but only on the condition that he always gave his entire river for the benefit of the children of Ifrael, ie with other words, so that they could plunder the subjects with as little punishment as possible others are likely to.

– 72 –

At the end of this chapter, an authentic case be communicated how the children of Iśrael have an inconvenient man knows how to pursue.

One cannot form any idea of what is meant by gewisfen circumstances means the fight of an individual against a whole nation. See the journal "L'Antisémitique". The bookstore Hachette, which has the monopoly of newspaper sales at the railway stations, rejects it; the post office lets its Numbers do not arrive; one rents an office No. 7 rue de AN and a German Jew, the tenant of the whole house terminates; one deposits one's collections with a merchant. One has the same seized by law and includes in the seized violating any right to sell the collections of the Journal which are simply in the depot there.

Then comes a moment in which the person thus tributunfortunate man could no longer distinguish his friends from his enemies

knows how to distinguish; he insults some and trusts others
Then comes the illness, which is called persecution—delusion calls itself quite natural, and is based on the very clear, very precise, very understandable awareness of an actually persecution. The Jewish or Masonic doctor who is well informed, confuses everything and accuses the ruined, that he had lost his mind because he drank too much.

(Drumont. La France juive II. P. 224.)

Auden.

Greece is through the defeat of Phoenician Semitism emerged, and Rome owed its world domination to the struggle on Life and Death with Carthaginian Semitism.

(Curtius. Greek History).

* *

*
If only Judea had never been defeated and thrown to the ground,
Neither by Pompey nor by Titus's violence.
The poison of the cut plague boil is now spreading further
And its victors now oppress the defeated race.
| | (Rutilius. Roman prefect.)

* *

*

The Greeks and Romans knew garlic (Hebrew schum) hated, and this aversion may also be extended to the garlic= effer. Horace (Epod. III) exclaims:

"Once one has cut the throat with a wicked hand

Impressed on the aged father,

The efe garlic, more harmful than hemlock juice."
Martial counts in his epigrams among the stinking things the jejunia Sabbathariorum. When Marcus Aurelius, the victor over Marcomanni and Quadi, through Palestine, he was, as Ammianus Marcellinus reports that the stench and noise of the Jews were so annoying, that he is said to have exclaimed: "O Marcomanni, O Quadi and Sarmatians, I have found even worse people than you."

(R. Andree, On the Folklore of the Jews. p. 69.)

* *

*

ll First

Brought foreign customs into the city,
The dirty gold the entrance; our Age's power broke fimperiously effeminate
The spawn of wealth, waste and addiction.

(Juvenal.)

5 1 *

Sat. III, 296. In general it does not come up easily, –
He who has ability but no wealth. (Juvenaol.)

* *

. *

It was the state of affairs peculiar to all countries.
solution in which the Jews succeeded in removing all the motives of to take control of the state, to control its economic situation

– 74 –

– This was the situation in which Poland found itself,
before it was eliminated from the ranks of the nations.

The scholars tell us more about this point than the Men of politics; they know the class of Perasitic worms, which live in colonies in the bodies of various animal organisms organisms. Nestled in the most nutritious parts, where the Stream of red blood flows, where the yellow fat develops, the rich nutrients accumulate in laboriously produced juices; blisters= worms in pigs or cattle, tapeworms in humans or in dogs; eggs in the soil, under the protection of stones or plants, these hook-armed uncanny looking creatures, ringed, grooved, in rows, in Chains, in hangings, full. Then they become lazy and remain satiated, quiet for a while. Suddenly they come alive again and continue their devastating migration, favored by their extraordinary proper digestive power, continued.... What is their goal? Where come they? Which is their way? Sometimes lazy and sleepy, sometimes full of life in their absorptive activity, always harmful, disturbing

the zoologist and the thinker.

In the social world, this faithful image of animal life corresponds to the Jewish nation, which is only a higher grouping, step by step this vagabond blood-fuckle. Supple, intrusive, agile and daring, always ready to strike and destroy their hooks, crammed with gold, burdened with the guilt of countless crimes, aesthetically odious!

How these parasites devastate the strongest organisms, the Sheep in the pasture and the pig glistening with fat-fall, the Jews also attack the man whose noble brain him the more lively counteractions, the safer and faster decomposition 1 0

Rampant barbarians, precursors of decay, fall upon these Microbes attack the social histories that have fallen into decay
They come from the Orient and move westwards, towardsfideally paving the way. Infinitely small, infinitely numerous, unbelievably quickly, they produce two hundred generations a day. Sons of Life, brothers of death, they form groups, colonies, multiply fet up, transplant themselves and – intensive destroyers – produce the Suppuration, so that the unity must perish. They disturb the-bonding through decomposition, transform the substance into liquid, the Liquids into gases and the gases into any other state, which our coarse senses are no longer able to grasp.

(Drumont. La dernière bataille. P. 192.)

* *
*

While the despotism of anarchy only the arrogant and proud, it is different with the Jewish despotism
mus of the money bag.

This penetrates both the poor man's hut and the palace of the prince. ie the subtle mercury, which by virtue of its

en

Heavy and thin liquids penetrate into all pores of the barren rock penetrates to get the smallest particles of the precious metal, which it contains, to take possession of; like the hideous tapeworm, whose parasitic chain links all the windings of the intestines of the human body, the Jewish vampire sends his Proboscis to the last branches of the social organ

organism to suck out all the strength and juice.

(Touffeneel, Les juifs rois de l'epoque. I p. 134.)

* *

*

Recently, the "Agricultural Journal for Lower Saxony" Austria" under the title "Turkish Sabres and Jewish Exchange" Article in which it was explained how in the valleys of the Eastside of the Vienna Woods, the peasant families living there, despite the terrible devastation caused by their presence during the repeated Turkish invasions by fire and sword, but always worked up, as their houses and stables always rose again from the rubble, the devastated fields and Forests always recovered under her diligent hand, and the old family names on the Be- inherited from the ancestors fitztume continued through the centuries until – Jews came.
What the sabre of the cruel Turk and the red cock he over the roofs of their huts, over fields and forests, not What had been able to do was accomplished by the smooth Hebrews – with Dar-fiefs and bills of exchange, with timely claim and execution – within three decades. The old names disappeared from the valleys, where they have been for centuries, some perhaps for a have been mentioned with honor for millennia, since the first Bavarian Immigrations, and Cohn and Levi from Egypt are now intabulatedtenland and rose tree and Sprinzeles from Canaan. |
If such processes, which have been going on for three to four years, tenth in almost all areas of Central Europe so often repeat, to journalistic discussion, what do our state officials say?
philosophers and economists in the wisdom-filled columns of the Jewish newspapers? "They were unhealthy existences." – Why unhealthy? – "The actual course of events has proven that were unhealthy, otherwise they would not have perished," is the answer, – because why? because of that!
(Wahrmond, Law of Nomadism, p. 157–158..)

* **

*

Touffeneel is not entirely wrong when he writes: "The Pig is the symbol of the Jew, who does not have the slightest Feeling shame, in the filth of meanness, of disgrace in Usury rolls, only to increase his capital, to which no speculation-tion seems too criminal if only a profit is to be made to do is." (Drumont, La France juive US 765.)

*

The 14th edition of "Rembrandt as Educator" has just been published.

It has experienced a remarkable enrichment:

—

—

The author now takes a decisive position on the Jewish question and essentially in our sense. In the section "Polarity" page 283 –285 he illuminates in fine as well as factual as aptly the hostile foreignness of Judaism within the German people. – "Their greed for exploitation knows no bounds—go, they go crooked ways; their morals are not ours. They devalue art and science. They are democratically minded; they are drawn to the mob. They sympathize with of decay." "There is no covenant to be made between the sons of light and those of darkness." – (Deutschesoziale Blätter.)

* K

*

At the end of this selection of quotes I would like to cite typical cases of Jewish deception: Even in old age~~=~~ thume they used all kinds of means to protect their race and religion Richard Andree writes in his work "On Ethnology of the Jews": "When the Jews were scattered, They were attacked because of circumcision and persecuted, where their origin could be confirmed by circumcision, fie repeated to create deception in this respect, artificial foreskins. At the time of Antiochus Epiphanes, some Jews who wanted to mix with Gentiles, a gymnasium~~=~~ nafium. But so that they can now play the games where they are naked had to appear, would not be recognized as Jews, they made how different from Luther, the correct translation is, a pre~~=~~ skin (1 Mark 1:16)." The recipe for the production of this artificial Andree also gives us foreskins, but I don't want to reveal it, so that those who are curious in this respect can rather read the interesting work Andrees may purchase and read.

Another amusing case of deception from modern times is following:

In Königsberg lives a man who is respected by his tribesmen Jew, who is called the "dead Levi." It has to do with this The reason for this is as follows: Levi was formerly in Russia and had committed some crime there. The authorities were searching for him, and to escape persecution, he had hunted, he was ft died. They knew how to get a corpse, but now it was necessary that eight people swore that the body was really the one of the sought-after Levi. Seven Jews were only Hand, and to complete the legal number, Levi swore bravely stated that the dead Jew was his own corpse. His Fellow believers then helped him across the border.

This last case vividly reminds us of our deceased Legislator Lasker. When he was at the height of his fame, he wanted to delight the world with his memoirs. He imagined for this purpose dead, dead as a doornail, like Levi, and published anonymously in the "Confessions of a Man's Soul" his failed love affairs= expensive, which he left in a Jewish family deeply saddened by his death The small work, which the Jew Auerbach wrote as

5

"of lasting value for German literature",
The living Lasker bought it again quickly, because a
There has hardly been a more ridiculous literary work than this-
What a pity that it is so rare today! |

Finally, I want to see Lasker, who is now really dead, at the Deception work with his living friend Bamberger show:
"When in circulation, crowns and double crowns may be worth 5 per mille, the half crowns lose 8 per mille of normal weight. Gold-pieces which, as a result of "circulation" and "wear and tear", are still lose more, sink below the passive weight, will be on Expenses of the Reich." This beautiful law regarding
We owe German Reichsgeld to the combined efforts of the Mr Bamberger and Mr Lasker, and anyone who wants to know more about it If you want, look in Glagau's "Des Reiches Noth" p. 200 and ff. That the Jews knew what this law meant for Israel purpose, probably no longer needs to be emphasized. Since With the entry into force of this law, all of our German Reichsgold must have been re-minted five to six times. The Reich has to bear the loss. (Whether five or six times correctly I cannot guarantee that this is the case; the information varies widely, in any case, an enormous amount of gold has been minted). You almost never get to see the final Reichsgold. How come it now that such a great wear and tear still takes place? How can How can we solve the riddle? Let us try it by The word "circulation" with circumcision and the word "wear" with Translate baptism. | | |

If one had previously observed the Jews cutting the gold pieces caught, they cried out about religious fanaticism and intolerance, because in their religion circumcision is a sacred ritual. Circumcision actually does little damage to gold today, fimplicitly because of the knurling of the gold pieces, therefore one proceeds to Baptism, in septal water of course. This is more contemporary, simpler and more productive. Circumcision or baptism, it doesn't matter, gold

The Jew knows how to obtain it in one way or another, and baptism is in this case more dangerous than circumcision, and such is the case in life. The circumcised Orthodox Jew is less dangerous than the baptized Jew or Jewish offspring.

Couldn't Mr Bamberger just give us the patriotic bank= Can you name the houses that perform these baptisms? Please! (and then maybe give a little information about the famous Hon= de died I would like to know whether Mr. Bamberger the people knows who have done this latter business?) |

Mr. Bamberger also speaks of the advantage of emigration= ability of German gold. He is quite right, emigration gets our German Reichsgold just like the Electorate
the fat Jews who went to Marienbad every year=
and are a few pounds lighter and "comfortably
Our good German Empire must then feed again afterwards.

Baptized Jews.

"Where loyalty and truth towards people are not respected
There is no truthfulness in relation to God.
liches. Therefore, Rabbinism teaches that the Jew should outwardly may also confess Christianity. Joreh deah § 157 (ed. Wilna 1875 p. 365) states: |

"If the Jew can deceive the Akum (non-Jews) that they think that he is an Akum, then it is permitted." The Jew who was baptized sincerely or after receiving a false baptism in fing and sincerely becoming a Christian, if one who knows God is angry and should be killed; this is shown in Joreh deah § 158, 2: "the Baptized people who were baptized (pro forma) and then mingled with the Akum to practice idolatry like them, they are like those who were baptized to provoke God, and ftrap her into the pit and do not pull her out." The Scheinbaptism and the false confession of Christianity is here clearly stated as a permissible thing, only the sincere An= Acceptance of Christianity is a sin that angers God. This also shows the passage Chochen hamischpat § 425, 5th blank.
The Polemic and the Human Sacrifice of Rabbinism (p. 14).

* *
*

(Glagau'f n fe.) On 2 November 1882, the Berlin Regional Court on the motion to dismiss, in respect of the

Mr. Gartz and Mr. Friedberg. (The latter had been dismissed by Glagau because of his Jewish origin – he is a nephew of the former Minister of Justice – want to reject).

Both judges had stated in the files that they were not felt embarrassed, and Mr. Friedberg had explained: fhis father IK was still a Jew, but he himself was already a Christian born. –

“What do you have to say about that?” asked the President of the Senate–
dent 7 von Holleben the defendant. Glagau replied:

“In Kulturkämpfer I have repeatedly shown how reasons of state and for the welfare of the people, not only the so-called emancipation of the Jews was reversed to make, but also to determine that the descendants of ge–baptized Jews only became state and civil officials in the fifth generation–municipal offices may be permitted. In my opinion the Jewish question is only a racial and social question, the old Orthodox Jews nor the Jews; more worrying are the Reform Jews, but most worryingly the baptized

u MG,

Jews and their immediate descendants. (Booklet 143 of the Glagau cultural warrior. "Antifemites and Judges" 15 August 1888. Glagau's trials see also issues 45, 46, 53, 55, 58, 63 of the culture warrior.) | |

** *

*

“Baptism is the entrance ticket to European culture.
| Heinrich Heine.

*

*

“Do Börne and Heine also belong to Jewish history?”
Indeed! Not only Jewish blood flowed in their veins, but also Jewish juice in their nerves. The lightning, the fhe sometimes in rainbow-like colors, sometimes in bright colors over Germany was fueled by Jewish electricity invited. They both outwardly distanced themselves from Judaism= said, but only like fighters the enemy's armor and flag seize it in order to hit him all the more surely and all the more forcefully–to destroy it more easily.”

(History of the Jews. Prof. Dr. G. Graetz, Volume II, page 367).

**

*

*

"Above all, the writer of these lines must say that he was a Jew by birth and only became a Catholic Christian was to have the right to remain a Jew without danger."
(EM Oettinger. On the purpose of Jewish baptism in his writing: "Open Billet-doux to the famous Hepp=hepp=Schreier and Jew-eater Mr. Wilhelm Richard Wagner." 1. Auflage, Dresden 1869, page 5.)

a * *

x

"Professors Eduard Gans used to say from the lectern:
"Baptism and even crucifixion are of no use, we remain in the hundredth generation of Jews, as 3000 years ago. We do not lose the smell of our race, not even in ten= multiple crossing; and in any coitus with any woman dominating our race: young Jews will emerge from it!
Covering the Soul" by Prof. Dr. Jäger, 3rd Edition, Volume I, Page 247.) (See also pages 246–248 of this book.)

* *

E

"When on the part of individuals, society and the State is serious about converting Jews to Christianity in large numbers be violated, this question is of the utmost importance. The New Christians would become even more numerous in state and church. and the Judaization of both could, for example, in Austria, lead to a reach a similar high level as his time in Spain, which would again lead to defensive measures of an inhuman nature.

380

but it is known that the most enraged inquisitors and informers are Jewish-fhān descent – they also had business from the Inquisition
This is also why it is recommended to intern larger Mafen, possibly as an international measure. The fate Spain and Poland, France and Hungary serve as a terrible Warning sign to all those who take the matter lightly-believe in.
Wahrmund. The Law of Nomadism. Page 245.)

as one of the baptisms that became fatal for the world
The following cheerful story shows what a motif is based on.
The father of the famous Disraeli was appointed by the parish priest—was elected as a member and refused this onerous office.
He was promised to be spared if he paid a compensation of 500 Lfr. He, on the other hand, offered only 150 Kfr., and when the two—When the two sides could not reach an agreement, he defiantly let baptized and so his Benjamin became a Christian; however, not of damage, because only through this did he rise to the first minister. However, he remained a true Jew from the
to the sole of his foot, and he will not be buried on his deathbed.
have to pray "Shema Israel". | |
C. Radenhausen. Esther, page 88.)
Let us now turn to the present and give Drumont the floor:

Mr. Göfchen.

English Treasury Secretary in the Metropolitan Society in London. Ä

This John without Land, as Schopenhauer called the Jews, these fair Jews, merchants, begin, in the name of humanity
free access to the property of the native, the resident citizen; later they take away what is his and chase him away in the name of their right.

In Paris, as well as in the special newspapers where Israel prepare their own little political soup and pass the laws which the Masonic lodges impose on the chambers,
The Jews are still a little embarrassed; they at least observe some forms. In England they implacably proclaim their right, to possess the earth and to have the natives of each country as to treat intruders.

"The Banner of Israel!" translates this presumption into script of the paper: "The remnant of Jacob will be among the heathens among many peoples, like a lion among the beasts in the forest, like a young lion among a flock of sheep, which no one can defend himself when he goes through it, trampling and tearing." Micah V, 7.

"His glory is like a firstborn ox and fine ears=
ner are like the horns of unicorns; with them he will rule the nations took place in heaps to the end of the land. (Deut. 33:17.)

Do you think that the unfortunate Irish people, who have been hundreds of them cultivate the land of Erin by the sweat of their brow, have the right to stay there? Don't give in to such nonsense believe that the Irish are strangers on their own soil and Soil; the rightful owner of Ireland is the Jew.

Under the title "Home rule in a new light," one reads the Report of a speech delivered at the annual meeting of the Anglo-Israeli Metropolitan Society in Exeter Hall on June 6, 1889. The Hatred of a Göfchen (German Jewish offspring who always claimed to be a good Christian) to the good Irish people comes from the following bold declaration forth:

"The Irish," says the speaker, "forget or become quiet and happily left in ignorance of the fact that the all= May God not only give their land to the children of Ísrael as an inheritance has given, but that he himself delivered them to them, in order to destroy and that they are actually punished for did not eradicate them immediately and on the spot.

This is the key to the whole question and the only possible solution. That is why the Catholics of Ireland are irreconcilable. The Roman cult is nothing other than Canaanite paganism, which was sifted through in Rome and Greece, and was directed to the Christian thum; therefore all Irish Phoenicians are pious Catholics. It is absurd to demand Home Rule from them. administration) because they are not found in abundance, but in the midst of Ifrael's possessions and only one a day's journey from the seat of the Israeli government.

Therefore, when they rise up, it is in fulfillment of the inevitable command of God, who wants them to perish.)

"Their downfall," the speaker explains a little later, "is their own fault."

This is the tone in which the gold-soaked Semites from the poor Irish, who barely have potatoes to satisfy their hunger, before the future Jewish mayors of London, who do not work on Saturday.

(Drumont La dernière bataille, p. 136.) |

Let us now look at the Göfchen family, yes we find about it in the Jewish-friendly Meyer's Conversations=Lexikon The following: 8 |

1) Georg Joachim, bookseller born in 1752 in Bremen, founded the large publishing house, which was later taken over by the Free= was purchased by Mr. von Cotta. Died in 1828 on his estate Hohenstädt near Grimma. .

2) Johann Friedrich Ludwig born in 1778 in Königsberg; Professor of Law in Berlin and Göttingen, where he died in 1837.

3) Georg Joachim. English statesman, son of the Berlin Wilhelm Heinr. G. and grandson of G. 1, was under the direction Dr. Tait's, the present Archbishop of Canterbury. later as a partner in the banking business Frühling & G. Since *) The Banner of Israel July 17, 1889. N. 655.

6

– 82 –

1864 Member of Parliament. In Parliament, G. proved himself to be an advocate liberal principles, especially in religion, that Ruffel appointed him Vice President of the Trade Office in 1865 Ministry. 1866 Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. 1868 President of the Poor Office. 1871 First Lord of the Admiralty etc.

Since G. has a political position in England 51, he writes he called himself "Göfchen" in English, as he did in several Opportunities not very friendly to his family's homeland has demonstrated his moral convictions." | |

Before the middle of the last century, the family lie Göfchen in Germany and professed Christianity. In 1887, the brother of Minister Göschen, who was Legations= discussed in the article "How to become an anti-Semite" Secretary Göschen in Peking, his and his family's Judaism. And What do we read now in the "Banner of Israel," – Do you not believe a Reading fairy tales – is that not the voice of Mordecai?

An English minister in office and dignity can dare to use such language?

London the seat of the Israeli government?

Otherwise, one hears that Queen Victoria, that a narrow= Russian Parliament governs there!

No example is as suitable as this one to show us in the danger we are in. Mr. Göfchen finds it in the Time to throw off the mask his family has worn.

When will our baptized Jews find it time to To do the same?

Let us now look at a Jewish-German family that Prussia and Germany played and still plays a major role. The 5 notes are also based on Meyer's Conversations-Lexicon taken from:

| The Delbrücks.

1) Johann Friedr. Gottlieb. First tutor of the king Wilhelm IV and Kaiser Wilhelm I. born 22. Aug. 1768 in Magdeburg, studied theology and philosophy. In 1800 appointed by Friedrich Wilhelm as tutor of his two sons. (1800 – 1809.) Died in 1817 as superintendent in Zeitz. Wanted Reintroduce private confession.

2) Johann Friedr. Ferdinand, brother of the previous one, born 1772 in Magdeburg. Died as school councillor and professor of the beautiful literature in 1848.

3) Martin Friedrich Rudolf son of D. 1) born 1817 in Berlin; studied law, studied economics, was an assistant in the Ministry of Finance, then in the Ministry of Trade. 1848 real. Go. Senior Councilor. Right hand man Bischoff since 1866 marcks. 1867 President of the Federal Chancellery. Minister of State. He gave in 1871 a donation of 200,000 thalers for his services in the war.

– 83

The latter made the following statement in the Reichstag session on 4 April 5 on the occasion of Lasker's founding speeches the following statement:

"It is beyond the power of any legislation
5 1 who want to get rid of their money, to prevent."

This reflects ...

Member of the Bundestag Dr. Alexander Meyer, which he later during the discussion of the usury laws, namely that "Whoever falls into usury falls under the guardianship of the creditor."

Both are the "voice of nature"; here the race speaks pure and unadulterated, the statements are in my opinion nothing as a parliamentary reproduction of the text of the law No. 24 of the Judenspiegel.

I am only quoting this one statement from the Minister. Who
If you are interested in more, read the works of Glagau and you will find that not only other words of the Minister but also his actions and those of a large part of the numerous rich Delbrück family only too clearly represented the Semitic race guess. |

A member of the family is a professor of philosophy at the University of Berlin and his name is Hans Delbrück. This gentleman has,
If I am not mistaken, also a role as an educator in the Imperial family and still seems to belong to the court, at least to the Empress Friedrich, in relationships to marry. Around Easter 1890, His Excellency issued...

His Majesty the Emperor issued a cabinet order against luxury of officers in the army. On April 17th of this year, the "Echo" the following note:

Hans Delbrück tells of his time as crown prince in the "Personal memories of Kaiser Friedrich": "On a walk= walk through the park of Sansfouci, around the year 1883, the problem (the Jewish question) was discussed back and forth, and a
The defender of anti-Semitism culminated in his confrontation with the sentence: "Would the Prussian e still be what it is, when the manors of the Mark and Pomerania once all from the hands of the Alvensleben and Bredows into the possession of the Levys and Cohns?" Then the Crown Prince became somewhat ftutzig and said: "Yes, yes, something should have been done earlier."

The estates of the Alvensleben and Bredows in the possession of the Levis and Cohns!

The time will come and must come, and just as surely the Time when the castles of the Hohenzollerns and other German princes fts will be inhabited by Semites – Unless something is done– than will! Professor Delbrück knows this as well as any fhis tribesmen. From the goods of the Alvensleben etc.
It is always only one step to the princes' estates.

The Delbrücks have always been good patriots. The Göschens have always been good patriots. The Delbrücks have been 6

Additional 0J:

have been good Christians for a long time, the Göschens may have been even longer were good Christians and nominally still are. In the family Delbrück we find all sorts of echoes of, and relationships to,

Semitenthum. The same is the case with the Göschens.

Both families are undoubtedly of Jewish origin. Whether they have Aryan blood in their veins and which of them more, must remain undecided; it is also basically irrelevant.

Drumont shows us in his book "La France juive" how every Semite dreams of world domination by Israel and is uncanny= looks to the future with a smile.

Every time I hear a statement like the one above, which Transfer of German possessions into Jewish hands and the future, necessarily resulting demoralization of the Officer Corps, through femific, friends" feeft, yes, I the depiction of the Dance of Death before our eyes: "The image which to illustrate the power of death over human life, where death with veiled face Pope, Emperor, Empress, King down to the peasant, youth, maiden, child in the dance." e 55 Dance of Death is the image of Semitism in its present shape! f

The Semite loves the ruins that produce his work must see in the spirit, yes he even loves to sacrifice it u show. 5

| What is Professor Delbrück thinking when he starts this conversation with the cowardly answer of the Emperor Frederick? Is he happy about the sad situation? I don't know. Regrets he fell? I don't know either! but then he wouldn't have put them down= write or at least not publish. Have the Delbrücks ever done anything to prevent this threatening evil= fts to prevent? Nothing about this is publicly known, but that several members of the family were exposed to these conditions worked.

May Heaven protect us from complete Judaization= But if it comes to that, would there be someone who the Jewish question is surprised when some Mr. Delbrück German people, following the analogy of Mr. Göschen, says:

"See, for nearly a century we have been serving your emperors and served kings, we have educated them. They have fallen, in Fulfillment of the inevitable command of God who says: You will all nations will devour them... You shall not spare them!"

I hardly believe it! because people only follow the un= stipendiary laws of the race, the law of nomadism, can't do otherwise. |

A valuable example, perhaps the best of recent times, as little the baptism of Jews on a simple confession of faith useful here and what abuse can be made of it is Professor Franz Delitzsch, who recently died in Leipzig.

An insight into his rabidly pro-Jewish activities and his Character can best be found in the following works by Rohling:

– “BB ei

“The Polemic and Human Sacrifice of Rabbinism.
My Answers to the Rabbis” and in Abbé Dr. Clemens Victor's: "Profeffor Rohling, the Jewish question and the public-personal opinion.

Professor Delitzsch was awarded the Order of Merit in 1890.
Death was praised to the skies by all Jewish newspapers, but also German Christian newspapers, which only knew him through Jewish advertising had known, dedicated warm obituaries to this “Christian”.

As the Bavarian Jews often did when changing religion
The “Munich Volksbote” reported on this under
May 9, 1852, the following amusing story:

“– – The Jews travel on possible trades: For
The Hebrew lives by trade and haggling and fills his purse.
All this is nothing new, because they have been doing it since ancient times driven; but now one even travels on religious smuggling and “makes in Christianity”. A few years ago, a child of Israel, Born in Wangen, he came to Munich and after the Christianity. A local clergyman taught him and a respected man has been so kind as to take over the godmother position to take over from him, in short the child of Ifrael was publicly baptized “Well,” the reader will say, “that’s nothing new,
for many Israelites are baptized and our Lord Kul= Minister Ringelmann himself is of Jewish descent.” Quite right, says the Volksbot', but the best is yet to come. Not long after The same baptized Jew traveled to Vienna and there= once again demanded to become a Christian, has again as a Jew Christian religion received fofe instruction, was baptized again and afterwards
Now someone might say that the second Baptism would have been fruitful for him, but cry, nothing of the sort, but the same swindler has recently returned in Munich with a fresh Baden passport, in which he recently referred to as “Ifraelite”. From this it seems that, because speculation has brought him all kinds of “profits” so far, he came up with the idea that “all good things come in threes.”
If the Jew boy should register again somewhere, he hopes the Volksbot' that instead of the holy baptism he was given another baptism= is administered, the healing impression, although not on his chess spirit, but on fine body. The whole story'
The Volksbot' can, by the way, completely guarantee and only wants to add that the same person, who was baptized twice and yet lived as a Jew= wandering subject wanted to return from here to Vienna, presumably to do some "business in Christianity" on the way to do". |

About another Jew, who also had business in the religious 1, writes the same paper on March 23, 1855

the following:

"— — Our Supreme Court has just declared the annulment
ity complaint of a clean individual has been rejected, which Country after country has made itself notorious. The same subject

— 86 —

fays Heinrich Monheimer and is a Jew by birth, but because his Jewish community did not grant him a scholarship
He has become Protestant. However, since his new If his fellow believers did not support him as he wished, he through all sorts of tricks and tricks the favor of the Catholic spirit= lichen, is then also Catholic for a while ebecame, whereby he again did not find his "profit", so that he tried it out with the Anabaptists for a while until he
of these finally converted back to Protestantism.
During this time he pretended to be a writer and has sought to make fine mas1 mats by having collected subscriptions and n on books that were the St. Neverday not to be printed, whereby he especially spirit= ly cheated and swindled considerable sums of money. A
For a while he also claimed to be a "professor from Pofen", who was deposed because of his religious beliefs, for which Once again the clergy had to come up with pennies. In the jubilation=
In 1849 he became secretary of a democratic association
, but afterwards he and the members of the same association denounced to the government of Middle Franconia. With the forced=
He has also already made acquaintance with the workhouse, and the people= bot would have to be very wrong if he had not seen this bird a few years in his paper and especially the spiritual Lord had warned about him. Lately he has been doing "business" by making people believe in inheritance
ten money out of the bag, finally a farmer 50 fl., with which he ran away to the "beautiful free Switzerland", from where the honest rogue was returned as a vagabond so that he was finally convicted of 13 crimes and 8 misdemeanors of brought it before the public hearing by the Court of Appeal of Middle Franconia of the city court in Ansbach, whereupon Monheimerche has now taken the complaint of correctness in vain, fo that he would soon be given a decent care will undoubtedly be provided."
(Scharff=Scharffenstein, Judaism Unmasked. Pages 20–23.)

At the end of this chapter I bring a statement by Jews themselves reported history, which is evidence that the Jews, in which countries and under which "confession" they live like, always know how to find each other.

To corroborate the factuality of the following narrative I can also mention that a friend of mine in China, who had Jewish blood in his veins, once told how Jews who had just arrived from Baghdad or Damascus and who had never seen him before, recognized him as a fellow tribesman and addressed. Such examples could certainly be given in thousands DE RU if you pay more attention to such things wanted.

On the Secret Judaism in Spain, its Existence= left and Existence the German Jews until very recently

> BT

After a short time they always denied it, a Mr. Ullmann in Frankfurt a. M. in a meeting of the local Association for History and Alterthum in February 1868 the following piquant announcement, when he on the origin of the Frankfurt Jewish family name "Spaniard" spoke out. He reported verbatim as follows: "After a declaration based on an oral tradition, took the The year 1519, when King Charles I assumed the German imperial crown as Charles V. received, the Jews in the Reich were anxious, as they feared that in a similar way against them, as in Spain against their fellow believers, which at that time was the Jews were forbidden to enter under penalty of death. Nevertheless, there were in Spain many Jews, who outwardly differ from their religion, but in their innermost hearts they were Because of the constraints they remained so deeply attached to her and Time hoped that they could get rid of this constraint. This Concern now that one also against the Jews in the Reich jo- like in Spain, the Jewish community in France furt, not to wait idly, but to send an embassy to Spain Two brothers agreed to undertake the journey. They dressed according to the local custom and went, accompanied from the blessings of the community, from there. They came happily to the Spanish capital; but only now did they think of the solution to the question that probably troubled them on their way How to get to the Emperor? Her good fortune led her to the market in Madrid in a buyer at various locations- habits recognize a secret Jew whom they followed, discovered themselves and from the one who was the imperial fool, they secretly were brought to the emperor, who showed a willing ear to their requests and signed a letter of protection for all Jews in the Reich. After many difficulties they arrived in Frankfurt, where they were immediately recognized at the gate of the Judengasse and greeted with the

"The Spaniards have arrived! The Spaniards are here!" by Alt and Jung were greeted. They kept the name "Spaniards" also for all time, while until then they had been called Cohen." (Scharff=Scharffenstein, The Jews in Frankfurt a. M., pages 16 and 17.)

external rungs.

"There are very strange, very peculiar cases of atavism. The race purifies itself and returns to the purely oriental type. Consider the young Ifidor Schiller. The father of 5 German, ftron, blond, chubby, the son huddled in himself, with fvery small head, resembles like one drop of water to another stocky prisoners of the bas-reliefs of Nineveh; he is a true Contemporary of Menafche and Yoyakim."

(Drumout, La France juive IS 124.)

Daniel Deronda.

"Even the religious question plays only a secondary role next to the racial question, which precedes all others. Even among those which Judaism has cast off for two or three generations the Jew knows how to find his own; he notices ge= white signs whether a drop of Jewish blood is in their veins Sometimes he even spares an enemy because he sees in him a recognized brother who had gone astray.

In Daniel Deronda, this wonderful study of the Hebrews= thumbs, for which the Jew Lewes fhis partner, George Eliot, after Dickens the most important novelist in England, two to three hundred volumes of historical works read, this point is illuminated in an admirable way.

Daniel Deronda is a novel hero in the full sense of the word; a young lawyer, handsome, clever, eloquent, who has no idea about that he belongs to the Jacobs family; the attraction of the race makes him fall in love with a Jewess. Now Mordecai appears, one those enlightened ones, those sectarians who are currently turning the world into in favor of the femift cause. He has the tribesmen recognized under the gentleman; he lifts up before him a piece of that veil that covers the politics of the century, the incomprehensible for the superficial and simple-minded.

Daniel immediately understands the truth. He is the son of a famous singer, the Alcharifi. The Alcharifi has one of her love= lord, Lord Mallinger, to adopt her son and to be educated as a future peer of England. While the child grows up, the singer pursues her successful artist career; she marries a German prince and when Daniel

– 89 –

When she has grown into a man, she decides to tell him the secret of her burt, which she assumes will sadden him:
"Mother," Daniel simply replies, "I am happy and proud, to be Jewish".

Mordecaz further initiates him; he shows Daniel the services which he can show his people the actions he has to perform
he proves to him that it is necessary to restore the kingdom of Israel
You have no idea why? "To give liberated Europe to serve as a model!" Deronda has understood, he has, as he says, "discovered his social profession." He travels to the Orient, where the whole of Semitism is stirring at the moment. He has Gambetta before his death, with the Jewish bankers and influential politicians and told them: "Look, old Brothers, let a few thousand of these stupid
Slaughter the French, that will be good for Israel, for England and for your purse!" (Drumont, La France juive. I p. 41.)

(Eliot. and Daniel Deronda Leipzig. Tauchnitz. 2 vols.)

"It happens," says Chief Rabbi Zadoc Khan, to whom Parisian correspondents of the "Nowoje Vremja", who published this article on 5/17 June 1886 published that a Jewess, by Christians, raise their children according to the rules of the Jewish Cultus educates. This is what the Duchess of Grammont does, a Countess and a Marquis, who diligently visit the synagogue, although they are married to Christians.

Look here, said the Chief Rabbi, here is a letter that I have just received from a young lady who is a Christian married against her parents' wishes. Listen to what she writes.
Zadoc Khan read the letter.

The young girl apologized to the Chief Rabbi in the most affectionate expressions that she wanted to give him a message which would not be pleasant for him. It would be Mr. X.
But he was a weak character, and she asked the Chief Rabbi, to be assured that they adhere to the religion of their fathers, and asked him to be faithful for them and their future to keep a place in the synagogue free for each family.

So you see how it works, said Zadoc Khan; this beautiful young lady, who has now become Madame X., is always in our four society. I will love them as before, and their way of life will not change in any way."

(Drumont, La France juive, devant "opinion. pp. 34 35.)

Auden and Herrfcher.

As has already been shown, the kings and maidens of the Akum (non-Jews) stood out from the rest of the Akum, which is why their bloody sacrifice is especially holy. In relation to the The Zohar II. 19. a also says about the murder of princes: "R. Jehuda says: Come and see that wherever their (the non-Jewish) princes give if the dominion over Ifrael, the prayer of Ifrael is not heard will be; but if the prince of the Akum falls, as it is written: it ft the king died, then their cry to God rose up."

| (Rohling, The Polemic and the Human Sacrifice, p. 44.)

* * 2

*

And when I leaf through the acts of the revolution, even of 1848, the desire for rebellion against the rulers and be-standing order among the Jews is described as downright endemic Who does not think of the duty of the Orthodox Jews, three times a day for the downfall of the "proud empire" of Christendom in the Birkath hamminim to pray and to the numerous similar wishes of Rabbinism, the Professor Eisenmenger I, 913-915 and II, 1038 ff. has outlined?

N (Rohling, My Answers to the Rabbis, p. 32.)

*

*

*

Time has reduced the monarchy to its natural state depressed. The age of fiction in politics is over. A government of worship, cult and mysteries is not possible. Everyone knows his rights, and what is outside the The realm of common sense is impossible, even except for the favors, the last illusion of the absolute Monarchy; everything is weighed, everything is examined. Do not deceive not; a new era begins for the nations. - Will it be happier? Providence alone knows!

(Chateaubriand, Mémoires d'outre tombe, tome VIII, pag. 23.)

From the Judenspiegel.

Law 40

"Is a Jew a Muchas (ie state tax collector or customs guard) ie he has the right to collect the duties=levy) but collects the taxes for the state, fhe is forbidden to use force against another Jew Why? Because the king (for whom he is acting) is a

\

22 20. 6

Goi (non-Jew) is, and not paying taxes is the same as Goi not to pay debts, which yes, as we have above seen (compare Law 36), is permitted. Therefore, a Jew may cannot force another Jew to do so. But if the officials concerned feared the king that the matter would be revealed can become, he can be forced against the other Jew-proceed wisely." |

Law 41

"State laws must be obeyed. But this applies only from such laws from which he, the state, profits (money=revenue); and such laws (tax laws) do not need to be followed by all, but only those which are based on land (i.e. land and building tax must be paid); but as far as other tax laws are concerned, You do not need to follow them. Property and building tax must be paid because the land belongs to the ruler and he can say that he wants us in his country under the condition live in such a way that one pays the property tax."

Law 44

"If a king is entitled to natural products (wine, straw, etc. 5 legally payable as taxes, but a Jew evades this benefit in kind, but is received by another Jew denounced and must therefore pay the taxes, then the denouncing Jew is obliged to give the first the natural products (and of course other damages, possible penalties)

he set."
| Law 67.

"The day on which the Akum (non-Jews) will have a new king, (the day of the accession or election) should be observed by the Jews on the other feast days of the Akum (Non-Jews) are treated equally." (That is, they are not allowed to Make a gift, do not do business with them, unless they can deceive the non-Jews). |

Law 71.

"It is forbidden for the Jew to appear before kings or priests, who have a cross in their garments, or one on the chest, to bow or to take off the hat, so that it does not seem as if he were bowing before the cross In order not to violate external decency, he should either taking off his headgear before he approaches the persons concerned (i.e. also the cross), or he is said to have been in her presence Money falls 05 and bends down to pick it up." (It his behavior should therefore appear as if he were proving the person he met, whereas in truth he was a has a different intention.)

Law 87.

It is strictly forbidden for the Jew to speak of an Akum (non-Jews) because according to the Jews the

– 92 –

the one who gives a Jew Zedaka, ie alms, from God is blessed, so the Akum (non-Jew) would be blessed if the Jew accepts alms (the Jews assume that The non-Jews still exist because they once something good would have come to them. "If the Jews this opportunity, they would soon become like a rotten vessel break.") Therefore, if a king or ruler, the Goi (non-Jew) is to give the Jews money to distribute among the poor fends, they should not send the money back to the king not to offend, but they should not do it to their poor, but in secret to the Christian poor. But if the ruler gives the synagogue something, it can be accepted because the Blessing from it is not so significant. But from a Jew who has become a non-Jew, this may not be accepted either."

King Louis Philippe.

Crémieux, the founder of the alliance (archives israélites XXV, pag. 514) said: "May (other) nations disappear from here! May (other) religions perish! This small people, – it is the greatness of God (quite correctly, namely that of his own henotheistic God, whose majesty or Shechinah is personified in him ist'ṛ). The religion of Ifrael will not perish; this religion – fie is the unity of God!" The same Crémieux had in the year 1848, forced Louis Philippe to abdicate and flee and when he, against the advice of the soldier Bugeaud Following the Jewish Council, Crémieux, in Parody of the words which the confessor of Louis XVI. said to him on shouted to the scaffold: "fils de Saint Louis, montez au ciel" to Ein those who climbed up called out: "fils de Saint Louis, montez au fiacre!" – apparently the right accompaniment from the mouth of the Jews to the overthrow of the Frankish kingdom, whose last representative went to the stock exchange was wrong, and whose actual generals, as they said at the time, the bankers were. The real king at that time was already Rothschild, (Toussenel, les rois Juifs, Paris 1847) which is also quite natural is when the nominal king goes among the bankers, because Rothchild is in any case the bigger banker.

– – – What satisfaction for the Jew, who, according to his nature There is nothing that one can hate more deeply than the Germanic kingdom, the strongest pillar of all steadfastness in political matters! And in

The Jewish press, which is itself fthaltlich also can have no other goal than the Jewish world through leadership, incitement and exploitation of all nationalities and parties, initially towards the Jewish Republic – and she proves herself much more adept at this than the Jews themselves may grant. (Dr. A. Wahrmond, The Law of the Nomad thumbs and the present-day Jewish rule, pp. 123 – 125.)

a Y0

Muftapha-Ben-Jsmaïl, Bey of Tunis.

The History of the Possessions of Mustapha-ben-Jsmaïl, Bey of Tunis, is a chapter of financial history of a hardly re-admitted ridiculousness.

Once in Paris, the unfortunate Mustapha, who in the Bardo was always so exuberant, in the Parisian Jewish filth like an old horse into a swamp full of leeches. Having run into financial difficulties, he was happy when the Transatlantic Bank offered him a million francs and he blessed Allah that he had brought such friendly people into his path. After

After having been left alone for a few months, he was asked finally to repay. – Bring at least someone, yes, he was told, he guarantees your guilt.

The unfortunate man was very sad when Volterra and Alfred Naquet and received from a philanthropic society which was intended not only to control land ownership, which she had in Tunis, but also the one which she one day into shares. Mustapha told the two Jews his distress and they said to him: "We are those which you are looking for, and you are the man we are looking for. Sell us your property and we guarantee your million!"

Truly, thought Mustapha, Paris is a wonderful city! You can find everything there. He gladly accepted the offer this debt to guarantee, what his new friends fo became easier than those who threatened him with death, and the others who wanted to save him, the same group of financiers.

Mustapha was nevertheless not yet at the end of his trouble with his Jews. He should have them in all colors and all the vicissitudes. As long as you are He passed through the anteroom surrounded by respectfully greeting lackeys and sat down at the place of honor at the table of the administration council, where he was respectfully addressed as "Your Excellency General Mustapha ben Ismail" addressed. Something. They asked briefly: "What is hunting General Mustapha to that? Finally, as in his youth, he was became a simple Banabak again; he was left at the Bureau servants waiting and called him from the door with a contemptuous Hey, Mustapha! come in. |

(He had been cheated out of 50 million dollars worth of real estate.)

(Drumont, La France juive, IS 478 ff.)

Emperor Frederick III.

How Frederick William IV was treated by the Jew Jacobi Everyone knows what happened. (Unfortunately, I don't! Editor's note) Not many will know that Emperor Frederick III was also a victim of Judaism. The verdict on this high=

– 94 –

sweet man is still wavering. Gustav Freitag, from which one could have expected clarification, has only scratched the surface skimmed off. I want a definitive picture of Kaiser Friedrich

Never has a prince in the world lived with a nobler heart and more benevolent intentions than he. In the happiness of others he saw this own happiness, and like Titus he has every day for a different-lore, where he could not make happy. The countless good things he has done are hidden from the world. His Income as Crown Prince was, however, in line with his sense of charity not in harmony. |

Kaiser Wilhelm had from his ancestor Friedrich Wilhelm J. inherited the thrifty, economical sense and considered his family not overly rich. Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, who for his person was more than destitute, got into debt, fell into Jewish hands, and everything else is self-explanatory. His Bills of exchange issued at a rate not lower than 50 per cent were the worst usurers around. One of 3300 Marks I saw it myself in 1882. Of course, the Debts were so huge that help was difficult to obtain. Kaiser Friedrich has also paid off his debts for many years fought hard, as all mortals do with theirs. In order not to grieve his father, he has the same kept secret until his savings at that time were no longer would have been enough to pay off all debts. Finally, several Jewish banks, but probably in the hope of securing for their Tribal members thereby to achieve advantages in the future, which all-bills of exchange and then gave the money to the Crown Prince moderate prices. But even this interest payment took the Most of the Crown Prince's income disappeared. Soon after the At the time of Emperor Frederick's accession to the government, these debts were 85 of almost 15 million marks were paid. Of course, Kaiser Friedrich owed thanks to the last financiers, and since he Never forgot tokens of friendship, he will occasionally return to the same have spoken a word about the anti-Semitic movement, but then exploited and disfigured in the most shameless way, without him could speak out against it publicly in the current situation. How But the fact that the femitic activity disgusted him is evident from the Reitag's revelations. After that he was already in the healthy days very seriously with the idea of not having the government Such a decision can be made by an energetic man only if he finds himself in a serious conflict of conscience. His views, which are attributed to him throughout the people, contradict just his real views completely. a Kaiser Friedrich was a thoroughly German man, his boundless good nature, which has already been fatal to several Hohenzollerns became, was his only weakness. With ruling princes This usually comes more from the immediate environment such as the The Jews have this Weakness used to this darling of the people, the victor of

W

To put Königgrätz, Wörth and Sedan into shameful fetters, from whom other Jews then approached to win his heart for the interests of their name to win, barely liberated. Kaiser Friedrich is perished because of this, sacrificed by Jews, even in death a prophetic warning for the German people to stand up for themselves To save the hour, so as not to share his fate. When later his When the situation became known to him confidentially, a local merchant this entire assets interest-free under the condition that there was never any thought of a reward. It was too late. The Offer was not accepted. The fate is similar King Ludwig of Bavaria.

(Herm. Ahlwardt. The Desperate Struggle. Berlin 1890. p. 183.)

* K
*

Austria-Hungary. Großwardein, 10 September. (Own. (Wednesday) For the third time since his accession to power, Emperor Franz Joseph within the walls of our old royal metropolis, from the enthusiastic homages and from the bottom of their hearts urgent The cheers of his subjects greeted and surrounded him. The spontaneous zeal, with which the love of the people for their ruler here at the Ein= at the reception of the deputations and everywhere where the dear Guest shows himself, steps forward, it is he who gives these demonstrations their special value, and the words that fall on this occasion, an elevated one, beyond the meaning of mere polite forms= This was eloquently expressed in this occasion also the feelings of deepest veneration, which our fellow believers 1 on land for their sovereign, as well as the unchanging affection and grace which the ruler has shown to his Jewish subjects at all times, and the words which he addressed to the delegations of the same will certainly have left their impression In this delegation, in addition to the leaders, ftenders of the local two, as well as the Debrecen Orthodox religious community, including all local and county rabbis. The head of the Orthodox community, Mr. Ifidor Ullmann, permission, covered head the preceding to be allowed to recite the written blessing. The Emperor granted graciously accepted this request, said "Amen" at the end and Dante bowed. After the head of the if= Raelite religious community, Mr. J. Adler, and Mr. J. Ullmann Addressing His Majesty, His Highness replied: "Graciously I receive your homage and sincerely wish that your believers and their religious institutions in peace may enjoy all the well-being and contentment which the protection of the Law and My unchanging Grace to you= fecure." Enthusiastic Eljen calls . these magnificent imperial

Words which once again demonstrate that the heart of our illustrious Monarchs are equally close to all subjects, and certainly above beyond the borders of our fatherland with sincere satisfaction welcomed and awaken a joyful echo in all Jewish hearts

r. "V. . N lady a une ua La ei I

Here in this country, anti-Semitism is, thank God, one of the overcome standpoints; the imperial words are intended to— than, the last remnant of the spirit of intolerance, which is here and there, occasionally, still dares to give the rest. It should be noted that the gala dinner taking place in the afternoon, to which only 63 invitations were sent out, including the gentlemen Adler and Ullmann are commanded.

(Jewish Press No. 38. September 19, 1890.)

* *

From Silesia. On the Imperial Days in Breslau, still afterward= ly the following interesting facts: Not only that of the 101 Maids of honor who greeted the Majesties on their arrival, after According to the Jewish Press (No. 38), 20 Jewish women had to the festive dresses for all ladies from the company Moritz Sachs, the shoes were delivered by the shoe dealer Alexander Mohr the bouquet that Her Majesty received from Miss Friedens= burg was made by Mr. Max Cohn. The Bouquets presented to the Empress in the Deaconry in Bethlehem and offered in the monastery of the Brothers of Mercy, came from Mr. Max Cohn. — For the personal use of His Majesty J. Wachsmann supplied items of linen; uniform items, however, were supplied to His Excellency His Majesty the Emperor, the Duke of Connaught and the Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria Moses David Hellinger. In the ladies' dressing= and white goods=confectionery from J. Nomann, the Empress ordered a English dress made of striped velvet, and also caused the Princess Leopold for a similar order to this company. — You poor German merchants!

(Deutsche Sozial Blätter No. 113. October 12, 1890.)

* *

de

Again, when the people rule, it is no different possible, the bad must creep into the public fwives, no enmities arise among the wicked, but

but firm friendships, because those that spoil the common good, are under one roof. It goes on like this until someone comes to the head of the people and drives those people away.

| (Herodotus)

* *

*

“But we ourselves are in favour of the use of effective means “educated”, and so Michel is suffering from the Jewish mange gehen (Preface.) f

But we have one consolation.

“What would have been the end of Judaism, the Jews have under= let us tell you in the book of Esther. When the thrones in Germany be adorned with Jewish queens, when Jewish barons at German yo shine when the ministerial portfolios in a hands, and Jewish federal envoys meet in Frankfurt

—

a BR

so that “the fear of the Jews would come upon the people”, then it would be possible that “Michel” would have a thorough cleaning of his house of circumcision. (Written around 1859.)

(Naudh, The Jews and the German State. p. 111.)

* *

*

Should the time come which Mr. Naudh as the turning point?

Let's hope for the best!

We have legions of Jewish barons and not only Jewish counts, but even “Kali-Counts”, which we “bleeding heart” and “Hippo-Counts”, with which Emperor Napoleon has given us. King “Louftic” of Westphalia out of gratitude for the enjoyable time spent in Germany
the German people some newly created noble families from the ranks of the children of Israel.

Ministerial portfolios in Jewish hands are nowadays nothing new anymore.

We have not yet reached the point of Jewish queens; unless one is a Mrs. von Rothschild or a Mrs. von Bleichreder than that, but that is a matter of taste.

The way Jews deal with potentates maintain, once they are in their hands, is in the three examples I have given. will easily find a certain analogy, although depending on the time, There are some differences in the place and people. Basically, the procedure is always one and the same.

All the potentates have listened to the voice of the Jews given, but for different reasons, as the three rulers are very different. The Jews, however, are in all three cases the same; only in the case of Kaiser Friedrich they did not experienced the end they desired.

Anyone who wants to know what part the Jews played in the murder Emperor Alexander II of Russia had, read a brochure "Revelations about the Assassination of Alexander II" by Major Osman-Bey

At the assassination of Sultan Abdul Aziz, the Hungarian Jude Midhat Pafha present.

That the unfortunate King Ludwig II had dealings with Jews Everyone knows what he had; I will only mention three names here: Baron 9 Hirsch from Paris, the Jewish actor Joseph Kainz and the Privy Legation Counsellor Rudolf Lindau.

Crown Prince Rudolf of Austria was known to have had dealings with Jews much to do. He was generally considered a friend of the Jews.

How far the Jews had to do with the dethronement of the King Milan of Serbia, one can see from a Belgrade 1889 published brochure "Bombe".

That the Jewish-friendly Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil through Jewish activities is also becoming more and more well known;

uf 4
Digitized by OG 18

and that the unrest in the Argentine Republic was only caused by Jewish bankers, is beyond doubt. All this and a number of other events are signs that it is high time is to cut the teeth of the increasingly widespread Judaism show if one does not want to give up the monarchy and German rule.

The way the Jews seduce their victims search is extraordinarily diverse.

/ This is the most difficult piece of work and requires the greatest skill, endurance and, in some cases, long periods of abstinence. But deception and stun are always the means.

For some, simple bribery is enough; open, brutal Bribery, through money and monetary value. Then come the hundreds of types of disguised bribes, through asset management, Stock market games, lottery, etc.

Then legions of Esther and Sarah stand ready to enter the field to be led. | | Ä

ardachai is always at hand, and Papa Abraham, who woman if he can do business with it, still lives today in many copies. Salons, such as that of the Jewish doctor Marcus Hertz with Rahel Levins and Dorothea Mendelssohns, are already become the "common property of the nation"; but there are other Salons that you hear little about and that you don't even told out loud, if you have been there, although the greatest luxury and all kinds of art and other pleasures are offered which cost huge sums of money. These are genuine oriental Orgies. The Jewish press, which otherwise likes to boast about everything, What Israel can afford, it is careful not to report about. These salons are real mousetraps for young members of the aristocracy. 8

If wine, women and gambling are of no use, then the great Arsenal of Arts and Science, Charity and Pietism for disposal.

Semitic poets, writers and dramaturges, actors and actresses, professors of all existing and non-existent the faculties and sciences, from Virchow to Bellachini.

Semitic benefactors and benefactresses, Talmudic, Protestant ftantifch, Catholic.

Semitic Pietists of all three denominations.

Semitic Africa, North Pole and other travelers.

Jewish anti-semitics and philo-semitics. |

Semitic Social Democrats, National Liberals, Freethinkers, Conservative. |

Semitic representatives of haute finance, large-scale industry, shipping and trade. Not to mention the officials and military of the race.

Finally, there are writers of the "chosen people" abroad, which the princes to be ensnared in brochures or entire works, so that the idea is taught that he is the greatest and the smartest man in the world, possibly also the most powerful, because once you have a prince on brought to this point of view, then he is easy to guide. Then he believes he rules and is controlled by the Jews according to their wishes.

| – 99 –

All this is there to instruct, advise, and guide a prince. to clarify, to amuse, to divert, to edify, to give him as needed to flatter, to warn, to threaten, to frighten, to sadden, to blame, to insult or to praise. |

| All are united by the instinct of the race; they are guided by unknown superiors, as Moltke puts it.

All this is in stock and is just waiting for a nod from King Ifrael to begin his activity. It works with a= other, messing around with each other and making way for each other.

And over all this the Jewish press spreads its wings which carries out mock maneuvers, all functions of criticism, advertising or, if necessary, silence.

If unfavourable conditions occur, strikes, socialist Movements that have legitimacy, then come Jewish people= and make proposals to reduce the social damage that Israel to fight against the felf-created, but be careful not to do anything serious, but always work into the hands of their apparent enemy.

When the Workers' Protection Conference met in March last year, In the Parisian newspaper "Gil=Blas" of 31 March one read the following dispatch: |

' j Berlin, March 29th.

Au diner du Kaiserhof, M. de Berlepsch available on the right M. Jules Simon, & qui l'ev&que de Breslau a porté un toast très-eloquent and très-remarkable. M. Jules Simon a repondu en buvant "a Thumanité souffrante."

What a mocking laughter the company must have caused in the "Rue de Trévise" No. 35 when she read this dispatch.

The French Republic writes:

"The existence of the conference is modest, the existence is modest. result of their work... ... even if the conference has some practical consequence, this circumstance is outweighed by the Kaiser's mistake: "to put himself at the head of the socialist movement" and "the desire of the socialists is futile to have excited me!" 4 '

XK

_ Yes, how could an emperor dare to endanger the situation of his people to want to improve; it is written that Israel the nations They should not spare them.

If an honest, astute potentate sees through the weave and try to create order, then the shrines open the Jewish pharmacy and show from afar their sinister Remedy for the stubbornness of non-compliant potentates, which allow themselves to desire the salvation of their peoples.

With hydrogen cyanide N eggs seems to be the latest achievement the science of Israeli medicine and pharmacy, and as

7

He and
g IR INK *
- 100 - e
*

The very last resort is nitroglycerin and dynamite.
are the conditions under which we live today! >

Truly, it is not an enviable fate to be a single to be a powerful potentate.

What a thousand snares lie around his throne, unnoticed=
bare, hidden, concealed! |

Three, four, five clouds of Jews and Jewish comrades surround a throne nowadays, partly so finely that, as Drumont says, our crude Aryan senses are not able to grasp them.

Advanced men are sent near the prince;

chance encounters are arranged so that the prince can choose his dealings, and should the prince decide, to have a friend who is independent and in danger, that something might come to the ears of the ruler, which the children of Israel's is not favorable, then this friend will also again be surrounded or removed by a fateful haze.

Just don't think that what I'm writing here is fiction, I know them, these Jewish clouds; I have seen them in their composition as well as in its origin; in Europe both like in China. |

The courts of Brussels as well as Copenhagen seem to be the to be pure beehives, where Israel is buzzing.

The Vice-King Li Hung Chang in China is without doubt today the most powerful and influential man in the empire. The— He is easily approachable and loves to be with people with whom he has something to negotiate directly. This is how it has been with me for years and no Mandarin has succeeded in intervening. Now Mr. v. Brandt suggested that the area around the Vice-King and thereby influence the Vice-King. This probably happened because Mr. v. Brandt

'id) felt seen through by the same. He subsequently compared this maneuver with the Jew Mandl. . sought; he wanted to bribe the Vice-King through a ring of men—a isolate it and any inconvenient personality that the Vice-King could openly oppose him. This is. However, he did not succeed. Hence the disgraceful successes of his Policy.

| Such an envoy as this Mr. v. Brandt and a legation— A secretary like v. Ketteler are making great strides towards the fact that only the prestige of the German Empire, which feeds them, but also the reputation of the person to whom they owe their position as Officials owe, is degraded. Mr. v. Brandt, for example, praised the friendship and favor of the highly revered Chinese Kaiser Wilhelm I, Field Marshal von Moltke and others national heroes. Mr. v. Ketteler boasted of the protection of your Her Majesty the Empress Frederick, the acquaintance of the Grand Duke von Baden and other high personalities.

I must confess that I too have previously used such information for true; but today I allow myself at least the "intimate

1
.
f

Digitized by NIC) 08 –

e en Zi ET TTS

– 101 –

relations.” – What should the Chinese think now, if they see such people in intimate relationships with people like Mandl which is described as a “mauvais sujet”. What should
The Chinese think further when a man like von Brandt comes to Europe is going, under accusation of embezzlement etc. by me and the Dishonor by active officers, when suddenly a telegram arrives, the ambassador Mr. v. Brandt is from His Majesty the Kaiser and presented him with a gift, which His Majesty has deigned to accept. (These damned femific gifts!)

When I spoke to the Viceroy about what had happened to Mr.
v. Brandt in Berlin, I was of the opinion that would depose him. The Vice-King, however, was of the opinion that would simply recall him; we argued about it and I proposed the Vice-King a bet of 1000 taels, the proceeds of which a charitable purpose, that Mr. v. Brand should be deposed
He will certainly not be sent back to China, said the Vice-King, but he did not dare to accept the bet.
We agreed that v. Brandt was impossible, it was simply a matter of removal or peaceful dismissal. But one can see, Israelis have different concepts of official dignity than Germans and Chinese.

Yes, the blows which have damaged the reputation of German princes, German Justice and Germanness are inflicted, some sometimes from the end of the world and from people from whom you can
The opposite should be assumed. This is the Jewish race, which everything undermines and drags everything into the dust. That is the thanks two Jewish offspring, both of whom were exiled because of debts and stupid Streiche had to leave the fatherland and which perhaps would have perished if compassionate German princes had not
they would have accepted it. |

Let us now take a look into the mixed bag of a
"Königs Itzig". 3

(If you want to know what such a king looks like, see Dru-mont's "La dernière bataille" p. 102.)

Two stories.

A prince of the Second Roman Empire.

When Kaiser Wilhelm returned to Assassination attempts by the Jew Sprouts Nobiling on the pain-

camp and one has not yet
knew whether he had carried out the assassination would live, then happened that

A princess of Israel.

Around the beginning of 1888,
a Mr. v. Uechtritz the sister of the adjacent Mr. v. Bleichröder. Mr. v. Uechtritz was from respected old noble family
and a smart young officer, who lives life to the fullest

well-known incident with the son of the banker Bleichröder. The worthless Betaking of the young Mr. v. Bleich-Röder, however, bore him the punishment that he was expelled from the countrywehr-officer corps, to which he-heard, was expelled. So but not endangering his life,
was arrested by the Berlin police,
at the head of which Mr. v. Madal-ft, whose ancestors in the Book of Moses I, 10. 2 already he-believed, a duel foiled,
and to protect him from unwelcome behavior
action from another side
fto protect, he was sent on a Travel around the world, for which the Foreign Office with Letters of recommendation to the German

fchian consuls abroad
fah. The judgment which the Honorary Council of Officers, which about Mr. v. Bleichröder in Ge= richt gefeften, had fallen, was mitigated and in the newspapers in a less hurtful form reproduced. So now Bleich= Röder's honor somewhat restored be produced and he the court= society is not lost,
he became British Vice= appointed Consul General.

102

|

!

1

— EEE

enjoyed. Miss v. Bleichröder,
the daughter of the Jewish Croesus,
was of course admired by many Hundreds had gathered Hope, the rich heiress
to conquer, and apparently they were given hope,
for there was in the world a Lots of people who are stiff and firmly asserted that they would banker's daughter.
This was known, as was that Miss von Bleichröder be= already at court and elsewhere= had played various roles. Among The applicants were awarded Mr. von Uechtritz finally took the lead.
On one side was a handsome young officer who this good old name, and on the other, the Jewish young lady who has a rich family is considered from the millions of their aters. The trade was

Mr. v. Uechtritz took on the honeymoon
Maitresse with herself; the young woman of course did not want to tolerate this—and returned to the parental house. The young couple was divorced, Miss von Bleichröder had the name and
Mr. v. Uechtritz kept the dowry.
Mr. v. Uechtritz was first declared mentally ill and after—removed from the army. The Jewish newspapers reported the News that an army order had been issued, according to which the expulsion of Mr. v. Uechtritz from the army in every officer—
corps of the army proclaimed—den fotte, which is not the case has been. |
In any case, Mr. von Uechtritz from the society closed and alive, as far as I white, now in Austria.

— 103 —

What is the difference between these two things?

layers? | '

The young De 5 Mr. v. Uechtritz has king

His Majesty has the old man; a 8

Emperor Wilhelm I, the officer= Ibig N 4 Mbenfchat x

— forp3 and the whole of Germany is sorrowful. — For this he will be de=

People shamefully insulted. — That= is demoted and expelled from society for he is protected, recommended, nice promoted and expelled from society.

resumed.

I refrain from making any judgement about the two persons and their actions, but note that Mr. v. Uechtritz, according to Jewish acted morally. Compare Laws No. 88, 96, 98 and 100 of the Jewish Mirror about marriages.

Who rules Germany today?

Where have we come?

Is this not already a victory of Judaism over the manentum? |

Both stories have a sequel, which I do not
I will refrain from telling you here:

1) The young Mr. v. Bleichröder arrived in China and reported fhe presented himself with his letters of recommendation from the Foreign Office on a the consulates of the coastal towns of China. The consul himself was wefend, and an acquaintance of mine had taken it over, meanwhile to represent the Consul; he knew about the events in Berlin nothing; he therefore granted the young Mr. v. Bleichröder and his Jewish traveling companion's hospitality. |

The gentlemen stayed with him for about eight days; they produced during their stay fake rings with fake gemstones, Facsimiles of the genuine ones, which they wore, with which they were in Quan=
ties to pay for their love affairs.

When they left the house in which they enjoyed hospitality, the young Mr. v. Bleichröder asked whether it would be necessary to give tips to the servants. Of course, my friend said no! The two Hebrews left without the usual drinking money which the host later gave to the servants
fhaft replaced.

What might this noble Hebrew couple do on their journey around the world not have everything set up. A beautiful trip around the world and that under the German flag!

2) When the news of the misfortune in the marriage of Miss v. Bleichröder spread the word, and all four directions, even from distant parts of the world, brave knights who offered themselves without fear and without hesitation, – like Marcus Curtius once did it in Rome, who, with full armour to save the fatherland into the enormous abyss which fshould have appeared in the middle of the Forum, – the

– 104 –

to close the gaping hole in the lady's heart. And there Let no one tell me that the Germans have no courage!

Do not accuse me of being harsh towards the lady wants; she has found a "good man" who hopefully which healed the wounds inflicted, and with which I gave her I wish you a happy marriage from the bottom of my heart. Should there still be a silent partner have remained behind, then this too will have found relief, because in the newspapers you read about a happy family-event in the new ménage, namely that the young woman after very short marriage has already brought happiness, -- to win a big prize in the lottery!

The Jews seem to be interested in such bought sons-in-law usually not much joy to experience.

The Marriages of Baron von Korff with the Daughter of the Music Jew Meyerbeer, the above-mentioned one of Mr. v. Uechtritz with Miss v. Bleichröder and the following Petersburg history are for some evidence:

A scandal in Petersburg society. writes to the "XIX. Siecle" from Petersburg: "A peculiar Scandalous history makes a lot of noise in local society talk. The daughter of one of our greatest financiers, the Baron v. G., had turned into a subordinate employee of her father and knew how to make him accept his mood for the union. The engagement was celebrated committed and the father-in-law did not miss the opportunity to-future husband of his daughter with a reasonable sum to grab the arms so that he can appear "befitting his status". The son-in-law hurried to comply with this wish and, in order to appear appropriate to his status, he initially only the most urgent, namely two ladies from the ballet corps of the Imperial Court Theatre. Baron v. G., however, was not happy with this He was so dissatisfied with the use of his money that he daughter caused the future son-in-law to leave the house- He thought of revenge and resorted to the following boyish idea: He had a photograph of his former bride in Hundreds of copies reproduced and sent the same then, with tender dedications from the Baroness v. G., to all the guard officers and bon vivants of Petersburg. Baron v. G. has now brought his daughter's former fiancé to justice before the civil courts for defamation."

| After this brief digression we can return to our topic return. These Jewish clouds, of which I spoke before, have an organization very similar to that of the Kahal or Kagal.

Strangely enough, Meyer's Jewish-friendly Conversations-Lexikon a pretty good description of this institute, probably accidentally, sneaked in: 5

"Kagal (ruff.), originally the local council, which decides the donations of the Jews in Russia for the care of the poor and the sick, etc.

Gradually, this institution developed into a

– 105 –

kind of Jesuit order, a secret, systematically managed authority about all Jewish communities of the Russian Empire and perhaps even beyond its borders. The K. (although he was officially not in the above form) dictates taxes at will in order to promote Jewish interests; he governs the commune, the school system, and indeed the private life of every Jewish family. He holds the property of all non-Jews for the common property of the Jewish commune and reserves the right to distribute it. As a result, he sells against a certificate and receipt the right to exploit other individuals or their property. Whoever such a monopoly acquired by K. is the sole owner of the object; no Jew dares to get involved in any business that The authority is retained by the K. partly through the enormous financial resources at his disposal, and through which he can achieve the unbelievable in Russia, partly through the severe punishments which he received through the Bethdin, the tal-Mudical court, imposed on the guilty: first money= fent, then disrepute. No Jew may then have any kind of traffic with the outlaw, he is not allowed to continue his business and his wife is not allowed to enter the "Mikveh" (the purification bad). In the Jewish communities of western Russia, Such a ban is equivalent to civil death. Of course, fuch arbitrary rule also included vile extortion; but only In exceptional cases, a Jew turns to the Russian authorities, where he cannot do anything because there is a lack of evidence and the K. fmuch and rich Jin Of course, such a state is only possible with a people like the Polish Jews, who, fanatical slaves of the ossified literal belief, outside of European culture door." | |

Compare Braßmann, the K. (Wilna 1870); the same, the Hebrew ar 19 general associations (in French translation Peters= urg 1872). i

This description is quite accurate; only the last sentence is incorrect, because the Kahal exists all over the world, where Jews, non-Jewish potentates and non-Jewish property owners.

Since the writings of Braßmann, who, by the way, is Jews were killed, may have been bought up, so I recommend for the who wants to find out more, the reading of the very interesting Book: "La Russie Juive" by Kalixt de Wolski, Paris 1887, which deals in detail with the Kahal and other relevant things. '

With the power and influence of the Jews today, it is

It is easy for them to educate the children they will later to exploit potentates, so that they imperceptibly be brought into their waters, and it is half a miracle, if such a person succeeds in seeing through these Jewish rings and to break through.

Even the brave General Boulanger, who almost rose to power would have been enough and thank God it did not happen, is due to the

– 106 –

Jews Arthur Meyer and Alfred Naquet failed miserably, and
The French pretenders to the crown have, by with the clan at all, their honest followers largely alienated.

The year 1848 was an unlucky year and we almost having experienced the disgrace of creating a German Empire “by the grace of Judah” receive.

“It was on that infamous occasion in Potsdam in 1848
a hard fate for a king that a Jew boasted to have personally admonished him to listen to the truth. But It was a severe punishment for the Jewish voting people that the political truth was robbed of its prestige by such a herald–
But at that time it was not far from being German imperial crown, instead of as before by the hand of the descendants– successor of Peter, henceforth from the hand of the descendants of Abraham– and “Michel” did not consider what Noih he would have had later to remove the Jewish moth-eaten from the imperial ermine again.”

(H. Naudh, The Jews and the German State. Pp. 79–80.)

* *

*

The patriotic poet Heinrich Heine, for whom all– Jews of Germany today call for the establishment of a national monument, gave in his last poems the wishes and Hopes of his tribesmen in the following verses probably correct expression:

“It does not break yet, but it cracks;

And is it the Brandenburg Gate |
Still as big and as wide as before,

And you could be thrown out the gate all at once,
All of you, including the Prince of Prussia. –

The crowd does it!” |

Should the wishes of our Hebrew fellow citizens today be different
I doubt it, despite all their assurances of loyalty.

Since the time when Heine wrote these words, children have Israel has made tremendous progress. Three successful wars have behind us, and the fruits of the last they have almost entirely appropriated. Officials, military and clergy are associated with Jews prevailed, at the universities and among the teaching staff they are strong Jewish doctors are countless and threaten, at least in the capital cities, to displace the German doctors, as is it in the legal profession.

The Jewish bank is gaining more and more prominence and is beginning to exercise a reign of terror. The good Patriots see this state of things and wonder how it will end.

Without the involvement of numerous ministers of Jewish descent—which we have had, it would be hardly conceivable that we these circumstances would have arisen.

At the time of Emperor Augustus, all of Rome, except the Kaiser himself, to which excesses his only daughter

– 107 –

Julia. But when he heard of it, he banished her and sent them to the island of Pandataria.

One involuntarily asks oneself: “May our current emperor have any idea of the extent to which he is influenced by Jews and their descendants?” In the past, for example, there was little known that the minister was called Mr. von Lucius urfpeinglich The Hecht family) was of Jewish descent. From the minister Mr.
Miquel is still little known today, and yet he wrote in the year 1875 Mr. Ottomar Beta in his to Prince von Bismarck dedicated to “Darwin, Germany and the Jews” on page 35–36: “Every nation has the Jews who deserve it, one can fe pull. The Pole has his fe with the last act of the Reich= day ennobled, the German Michel has the Miquel, the German National Liberals the Lasker, the German Conservative the Stahl, the German democrat the Jakoby and Laffalle, the Catholic the Antonelli, the English Tory the Disraeli, and he is still the most bearable most clearly, because at least he tells his lesson without any side jumps.
Almost all of them are humbug makers, because they are in the childhood of the Children of the human race.

But unfortunately it is world-historical humbug – the world-historical Intrigue.

The statement concerning Mr. Miquel (Miguel), who
To my knowledge, this claim that it is of Spanish origin has not been refuted.

Mr. von Goßler had a gentleman prosecuted who claimed that he was of Jewish origin. He even sent him a stick letter, but only after he knew that the person was out of the country.
Why does Mr. von Goßler deny his undoubtedly Jewish origins?
future, which is not only seen in him, but which is now generally my is being discussed? We have high officials of Jewish origin to Dozens, without this being generally known.

Is it surprising that the Germans are concerned
ask why the Semitic race has such an advantage?

Let us just take a few facts from the recently published newspapers:

“His Majesty the Emperor is travelling to Heligoland, accompanied by Privy Legation Counsellor Dr. Rudolf Lindau is in charge.”

"His Majesty is travelling to St. Petersburg and in his accompaniment Privy Legation Counsellor Rafchdau is in charge.”

His Majesty the King of the Belgians makes our German Kaiser a visit. We read in the newspapers on October 31, 1890:

“The King of the Belgians visited the Mausoleum yesterday morning to Potsdam and laid a wreath in the Belgian colours on the Emperor Frederick's grave. Before that, the king had Bleichröder received in audience.”

On October 31, 1890 we read: “Potsdam. On the morning ft, which took place yesterday in the New Palace, was attended by, in addition to the Belgian ambassador Baron Greindl and the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs current office Baron von Marfhall, also the conductor of the Colonial Department Dr. Kayfer, the Gest. Legation Counsellor Lindau, ai yr

– 5 N 3 –
2 f

– 108 –

Major von Wißmann and Dr. Peters theil. His Majesty the King

The Belgian awarded Major von Wißmann and Dr. Peters longer speeches and awarded Dr. Kayfer the commander-Cross of the Order of Leopold."

"At 9:15 the Kaiser arrived at the city palace. His Majesty then went with the King of the Belgians in an open four-horse-drawn carriage with frontrunners to the officers' mess of the Leib-Garde-Hufaren-Regiment, where their Majesties were received by Colonel von Moßner at the head of the officer corps." -

"The farewell of the two monarchs was extremely cordial, as was also the farewell of Prince Henry from the King of Belgians. Apart from the Prussian honorary service, which accompanied the king to Cologne The general adjutants and the wing adjutants were also the city commander, as well as the Belgian embassy and the Belgian Consul General Goldberger present at the station."

During this royal visit, gentlemen of Jewish descent particularly preferred.

Can one be surprised when one considers the composition the school commission recently appointed by His Majesty the Emperor because of their strong intermarriage with gentlemen of Semitic descent-due? On the purest will of His Majesty the Emperor, To create something good and viable is never the least Doubts have been raised, although in expert circles the speeches of His Majesty have been examined and criticized from all points of view. One only asks oneself here and there in confidential circles: "Why femite ft so ftrongly involved in our German school affairs-shared? Does His Majesty the Emperor know which of the gentlemen of Jewish descent?" One even goes so far as to say that the gentlemen Dr. Güßfeld and Privy Councillor Dr. Hintzpeter as not free from femi-tic blood. I leave this aside entirely Perhaps one or the other loyal patriot Sense danger where there actually is none.

A few weeks ago, the Minister of the Royal House, Mr. von Wedell, representatives together and instructed them, all possible rumors circulating in the country that His Majesty the Kaiser was to blame for opposing this by doing the same-were factually unfounded. Attempts had been made to find out where the-kind of rumors had their origin, and they were spread on stock exchange circles believed that they could trace it back.

Well, such rumors were indeed circulating throughout the country-spread, even in provincial towns it was talked about.

"The Emperor, the Emperor, captured!" was the shout of joy of the children of Ifrael. Of course caught in the snares of the usurers, they thought. That had to yes a feast for the "chosen people" if it had been true Amounts were given. Some spoke of a total sum of 80,000,000 marks, others were more modest and said, the banker Cohn in Deffau had 5 million, Mr. v. Bleichröder 6 million and the rich Colonel v. Moßner 1 to 3 million

Digitized by N ,oogle

7

– 19 –

Good patriots were already discussing the question among themselves, whether it was not possible to convince the emperor in one way or another to free ourselves. What kind of conditions are we living in!

Thank God that these rumors are unfounded.

But whether in the country, despite the assurances of Mr. v. Wedell the concerns have been allayed, must remain undecided, because the revelations of the Honourable Member Eugen Richter (which I I am inclined to think that nothing better than the revelations of the MP Lasker in the founding era, namely by once to find out how much the Jews can offer the German people) about the stamp tax case of Mr. von Lucius, the Jew's haggling Schweinburg with news from the Ministry of Finance, have felldress the trust in the ministers is shaken. In addition, that the Lucius affair, instead of being left to a frank to discuss, to cover up. Furthermore, it is known that a certain Mr. Schunck, editor of the Staaten-Zeitung, a Relative of Mr. v. Lucius, to whom the latter in a similar Relationship is said to have been like that between Mr. Schweinburg and Mr.
Minister v. Scholtz. Yes, the trust in the country has been shaken and one faces a bleak future! 5

In other countries too, people complain that Judaism around the thrones. I will quote here from a book published in Shanghai in 1888:

"Mr. EE Sassoon has been in Shanghai lately, and he is now en route, it is believed, to London, where, according to publish report, his family are to be honored by the smiles and kisses of British royalty." (Geo. Thirkell, Some Queer Stories of Benjamin David Benjamin and Messrs. ED Sassoon & Co.)

The Saffoons were people who were in the 1970s
years in Shanghai refused entry to the German club;

Today they are all-powerful at the English court, and so it seems everywhere to go. The bottom comes to the top. In the above-mentioned Buche were court-proven frauds of the Saffoons public= stigmatized, but this did not affect their success. have seemed. Bad times that when the Jews everything un= ftraft allowed!

But I am convinced of one thing!

The people who first dare to shake off the Semitic yoke, will become the first civilized people on earth. The other peoples will thank him and follow him, and the prince who took the initiative takes action, his name will stand alone in world history.

I know a young monarch who would be called to do so= seems to have taken the lead in the looming turf war and free the Aryan peoples from the yoke of Semitism But he would have to break through the Jewish rings by force, which have formed around his throne, and in which he saves will perish like any other monarch who has Jews. What a beautiful historical task that would be for a young prince!

. The Jews
and the Christian Church,

Theology ift Anthropology.
(fire bath).)

It was in the year 1866 or 1867 when I was in Bremen at a sunny morning I met a gentleman wearing a cycling coat and top hat and leading a child by the hand.

It was in the beautiful ramparts of Bremen. When I saw this When I looked into the Lord's face, I had a feeling that I I could hardly give an account of it. It was as if I was in the middle at night in a lonely street a sinister figure I had met someone from whom I could assume a crime, and involuntarily I looked around to see if there were people nearby.

It was as if from some pictorial representation of the Hell a demon suddenly came to life, and now in modern clothing. The gentleman in question had red-blond hair and gray eyes with a piercing gaze.

For weeks I had to think about this apparition; the image did not want to leave my soul, and even today the place is the encounter just as well in the memory as the whole picture, which I hadn't thought about for over twenty years.

At the same time, a new Protestant Preacher, a certain Dr. Schwalb, has a lot to talk about. Although not ecclesiastically minded, I nevertheless read some of his sermons, for which great advertising was made, and for whose content a fierce battle had broken out. I liked these sermons currently quite good, because they were sensational and the related polemics too.

There were currently three preachers in Bremen, named Vietor, Thikötter and Zahn, who belong to the old Orthodox direction and when you read in the newspapers that: cattle, Thor and the dogs with poisonous teeth fought in vain against Dr. Schwalb then there was a lot of laughter, I also found the jokes out of-Prebiger was witty and sympathetic to the dashing unknown

editor. |

The advertisement for this gentleman was, if I am not mistaken, a Jewish editor, who also had some scandalous stories, and

If my memory does not fail me, thundered Mr.

Pastor Schwalb particularly against the impending dogma papal infallibility and against Pope Pius IX.

How astonished I was when I occasionally discovered that the same

Man who had made the uncanny impression on me, the tolerant, intelligent pastor Dr. Schwalb.

i 171 a person's appearance can be deceptive! thought

I am with myself.

3 twenty years later I learned by chance that Pastor

Dr. Schwalb is still a great fighter before the Lord, that he contributed a great deal to the internal disintegration of the Protestant Church contributed and finally that he was a baptized Jew.

i The first impression I had of him was not entirely unfounded. It was the instinct of the race who had spoken, this natural instinct which through our modern upbringing and so-called education with the help

is violently suppressed by science and politics, so that Israel can now calmly assume the world domination it has longed for.

* 5 *

Zohar I. 238 a is also derived from Messianic motifs.

that "a harsh judgment will come upon the peoples of the Akum"
and "Ifrael all the peoples of the Akum and the kings of the world under should trample on itself."

a (A. Rohling, Polemics and Human Sacrifice, p. 45.)

%* *

Mr. Gougenot des Mouffeaux wrote in 1869 in fine Book "Le Juif" page 99: "There is a fight for life and death between the Talmudic Jews and the Christian society, whose end is perhaps not so far away, between the Judaizing and the human being of the sole and only civilization, which the world is capable of producing when experience and understanding reason tell us the truth." |

This struggle has continued since 1869, and if Friedrich Wilhelm IV was once impressed by Meyerbeer's opera "The Huguenots" could say: "Protestants and Catholics shoot each other dead on the stage, and the Jew makes the music", so we can safely say of our present circumstances, Catholics quarrel fight with Catholics, Protestants with Protestants and all among themselves; and in this general confusion shoot the synagogues with their anti-people and bloody teachings like Weeds grow out of the ground and threaten Christianity and to stifle European culture.

Israel must be very happy about the current situation
The cuckoo eggs, which it laid everywhere in foreign nests 10 5 are taught in church and school with particular care and in great ahl have been hatched and may have greater services there done than anywhere else. |

Digitized by 008 le

el

2

*

u de a

4 u; A mms mam

4 1 i er PA. BT. *
2 a 5. "
. x 1 Zr
* 1
12 | ER
— — 3
en.

8

. 1

There is enough warning from all sides; but the inner owl, which the Church still continues to cultivate within itself, has these conditions caused.

"Afflicted with the three evil afflictions,

With poverty, bodily pain and Judaism,
The worst of the three is the last,
The thousand-year-old family evil,

The ancient Egyptian unhealthy belief,

The plague brought from the Nile Valley.
Incurably deep suffering." (Heine, Book of Songs.)

It is this incurable suffering that torments the Church, this inner suffering has made us forget Luther's warning:

"Therefore, dear Christian, know and do not doubt that you next to the devil you had no more bitter, more poisonous, more violent enemy, for a real Jew who seriously wants to be a Jew

If a thief steals ten guilders, he must be hanged; if he robs the streets, his head is lost. But a Jew, if he ten tons of gold ftears and robs through his usury, ft is he prefers them to God himself. Their breath stinks of the heathens Gold and silver, for no nation under the sun is more greedy than They have been, still are and will always remain, as one can see their accursed usury. — If you do something good, then know, that it is not done out of love, nor for your benefit, but because they must have space to live with us,

They do something out of necessity, but the heart is and remains, as I have hunted And would a man who has hunted the devil do not know, may wonder why they are against the Christians others are so hostile, since they have no causes, because we do everything good for them. They live with us at home, under our Protection and shelter need land and streets, markets and alleys.

The princes and authorities sit quietly and let the Jews out their open bag and chest, steal and rob what they want, that is, they let themselves and their subjects through the Jews usury and exploit them and with their own Money makes them beggars. – It is not my opinion, to write against the Jews, as if I hoped to convert them They teach usury as a right that God has commanded them through Moses. They keep us Christians in our own country– catch, let us work in the sweat of our noses sit in the meantime behind the stove, lazing around, pomping... eating, drinking, living gently and probably from our hard-earned goods, have us and our Goods captured by their accursed usury, mocking them and spit on us that we work.” (Luther, Of the Jews and their lies, and of the Shem Hamphoras. Pp. 40–41.)

ae x

*

Wahrmund tells us in his “Law of Nomadism”,
p. 189: “In his own national schools (Talmud=Torah schools, Teacher and Rabbinical Seminars, Universities for Science

2

1

– 113 –

Judaism teaches to this day
the exclusive chosenness of Israel and its only calling to rule over all non-Jews, to whose enslavement the holy War by all means, including those of lies, perjury and deception. While Judaism must of course keep every non-Jew away from these schools, “It demands not only access to Christian schools,
but also demands that in these Christian schools his own (exclusive national=religious essence spared, yes, that it as a superior (higher) is recognized. In this sense, it has e.g. in the larger cities, where many Jews live (ins= especially in France) the removal of the Christian

Symbols from the Christian schools enforced so that his own relatives are not harmed by them. The Names Christ, Christianity, Christian principle, from which our schools have grown up, they should no longer be mentioned because the school is supposed to be "non-denominational" (as the cunning expression is), ie because hearing these names for a Jewish ear always remains embarrassing, which is very understandable for the connoisseur is that the Jew, as the offensively hostile element, is responsible for everything Hindering has a very fine feeling; the relationship touches strongly to the comic" (cf. Wahrmond, "The Christian School and Judaism", p. 37 ff.). And in the same book he says on page 130: |

"Johannes Scherr said in about 1884-85 that he had Mouth of a diplomat accredited in Vienna) Statement heard that St. Stephen's Cathedral within fifteen years will be transformed into a synagogue. During the French Revolution of 1789, the Jews had destroyed many church buildings Purchased and then rented them to the Christians against high annual interest, which is discussed in Drumont's "La France Juive* can read more about it. Let the reader recognize the fear here= bare, unshakable power of natural principles! In Hungary has recently been repeatedly addressed by Jewish journalism, which the whole country dominated, the question of the confiscation of the churches= goods. Now ask yourself what is happening in Muslim Countries the believers would say and do if it were their Jewish landowners might think of converting the Wagf=Güte in securities that would be tradable on the stock exchange?"

These are the same conditions as in ancient Rome, about which we Dr. Th. Jof. Hilgers in his "Juvenal", Leipzig 1876, page 298 in note no. 4 to the third satire:

"Since C. Julius Caesar the Jews were granted the free practice of their God= service, they carried out a thousand different transactions, including Dream interpretation and fortune-telling. Tiberius restricted their ritual, sent their youth to rougher provinces and forbade the other under penalty of slavery, the capital. This bore fruit little: Claudius had to remove them again because they were constantly making noise Vespasian protected them again for an annual fee;

8

– 114 –

Domitian, however, restricted them and is said to have even given one of his followers turned to Consul Flavius Clemens on suspicion of over-entry into indenture. But this can also had another reason, and the question arises whether confusion relationship with Christianity. In any case, the thought the tendency to do so was dangerous. Interesting are the passages III 296 and VI 544. The grove sacred to the Muses in the valley of Egeria was leased to the Jews at that time. On business trips or other way they carried a basket to the camp filled with hay their ef Otherwise they liked to live in the forest and stayed under trees her side."

Satyre III verse 20 states:

"Here, where with his friend Numa
At night time rendez-vous was given, is now
The grove with holy spring, close by

The temple exhibited for rent

To Jews, whose entire property

Consists of a basket full of hay,

Because every tree is taxed
For the people; that is why, since the Muses were there, Driven out, the forest is full of beggars."

Let us now consider the misfortune that a Jewish Soul seller who studies theology:

"Enter the Holy of Holies, whose threshold even the Kaiser does not enter, and you see a kneeling woman who
a priest about her concerns as a ruler and mother of the approaching war.

This priest is the German Jew Johann Maria Bauer.
Never since Cagliostro has Jewish fraud, which foft jo produces many remarkable people, a jo completely created a type that would be valuable to such an extent, to capture the interest of a historian who later
once tried to describe our strange century.

One fine day, this suspicious convert Frank= empire, this France, whose clergy because of the majesty of their spirit, the depth of his learning and his exemplary life= change enjoys the admiration and respect of the whole world;
he sets his mind on the venerable Abbe Deguerry, who ft has been the Empress's confessor for many years, and to take up this position of trust, which is preferred over all other positions, and he succeeds.

Does he achieve his goal through hypocrisy, by pretending to be Virtue? Not at all; his principle, like that of all other Jews is simply that they can share everything with the French he organizes these notorious "spiritual deities"

jeuners", in which the future councillors of Paul Bert participate, which undoubtedly has to do with a republicanism
knew prelates sing: |

"Our paradise is a lovely bosom."

– 115 –

Dressed by the best tailor, he wears a fantasy costume
with a great wealth of e which enchants the ladies.

The siege begins: this acrobat in purple stockings puts on riding boots, he is the general chaplain for the field laza= rethe, he rides to the outposts and his excursions bring him so close to the enemy that he has enough time to 15 15 useful information about the besieged city to be able to. | j

When everything is over, he laughs at those he has baptized
he throws his prelate costume behind the backdrop of a small Theater, lets pornography about the demi-monde of the second Kaiserreiches and paraded in the opera, where great Gentlemen received this unworthy priest in their lodges;
In the afternoons he can be seen on horseback in the Bois de Boulogne, where he to General Gallifet a military salute b which the same by a movement of the hand with an episcopal Blessing returned. Finally, in financial difficulties, he goes to Brussels to get married there. (The brother of this farmer fplays the same role in Madrid as Lambert, the one Roth= fchild married, played in Belgium; he is the main agent of the Jewry in Spain.

While the poor Empress, who had paid so dearly for her imprudence had to pay, chose this lowly intriguer as his confessor, She followed the general trend of those who had influence on the state leadership 5 more and more all that French is called and originates from the country, alienated.

The war was almost prevented at the last moment Napoleon III, a humane ruler, very kind-hearted, with gifted with great foresight, but without much willpower and in the eyes= fuffered by a painful illness, resisted the
The Empress insisted as long as he could, until she, incited by the Jew Bauer exclaimed: "This is my war!"

The foregoing, which is Drumont's "La France juive," Vol. I Pages 378 /9 and 383 taken ift, shows us the Jewish Swindler entirely in the functions of his "social behavior" call". We find the origin and previous life of the same in another Works described as follows:

"An even greater trumpeter of Judaism, reflective of gossip about the second emperor of France from Jewish descent was the so-called Abbé Bauer, a baptized German Jew, who achieved an influential position at the court of Napoleon III. The Cologne newspaper wrote about this secret Jew at the end of the year 1867:

"Abbé Bauer comes from an Israelite family from Pest to family that had moved to Vienna. In 1848 he joined the Vienna Academic Legion, as whose representative he – actually he was engaged in painting – he went to Paris to study at the French student body to promote the common liberal interests

8*

= +6 =

After the bloody end of the Vienna Revolution,
The advice of his family was to remain in Paris for the time being, since his name also appeared on the Windischgrätz proscription list.
So he stayed in Paris, occupied himself with painting, but with preference for plastic studies, such as those of modern Babylon easily available to the ambitious During this time he made the acquaintance of several ladies from the Faubourg St. Germain, which introduced him to the aristocratic circles of this district, and in which he quickly felt at home. This new environment brought A significant inner transformation soon took place in Bauer; and he made the journey from Babylon to Jerusalem with fanaticism He converted to the Catholic Church and settled in southern France in a monastery of the barefoot Carmelite monks, where he spent several years. The extraordinary mortifications to which the staunch prophet here, however, caused so much damage to his health, that his family, although initially confused, had been informed of this. allegedly intervened until his brother, who lived in Madrid, succeeded (he is there afocié of the House of Weißweiler, ie representative von Rothschild), through Roman and Spanish influences Bauer's To effect dismissal from the Order. From the Carmelite "déchaussé" now became an Abbé, as which he soon had a large Developed a talent for speaking that did not go unnoticed for long. In the previous Years later he was appointed assistant preacher in the Tuileries Chapel, 1 and very shortly obtained a position as a clergyman hold."

"So says the Kölnische Zeitung. We add from our own experience memory that it is not only, as the Jewish Corre= fpondent of the Rheinische Blatt to visit the 9 student body, but that the revolutionary Bauer 1848 as an envoy of the blood-red government in Vienna from Robert Blum was sent to Paris to personally deliver dispatches which, which the Jew Schwarzer had written, and which were addressed to the Jew Crémieux. Instead of going to Vienna to return, as would have been his duty, he remained at that time in Paris and was baptized in order to later, under the guise of a Catholic priest the position of rabbi under Napoleon III. Through the late Chief Rabbi Ullmann he was had already been introduced to the mysteries of Judaism much earlier, before he was baptized. Not honest high dignitaries of the Catholic Church, but Spanish clergy of Jewish descent, respectively secret Jews, mediated the absolution from the order at Pius IX, who himself, like the Marquis of Consolini in "Pio nono un ebreo" claims to be of Jewish descent, namely a descendant of the Jewish family Maftai is." (Scharff-Scharffenstein, The Jews in France, pp. 98 – 100.)

That Pope Pius IX was his origin is also not yet generally known. The communication of Mr. Scharff-Scharffenstein might perhaps raise doubts; but here we have another other evidence. Doctor Jaeger reports in a fine book: "Discovery of the Soul", first volume, page 246 by a Dr. M., who, as follows, writes about Hebrews:

"— — — Later I also recognized through my sense of smell such persons who either by crossing or by playing the Nature sees nothing less than Jews, whom no one in the Those who thought it was remotely possible, and who perhaps hardly knew it themselves, that they are of Jewish descent, or at least know nothing about it In 1847, when I kissed Pio nono's slipper in Rome, I was the first to claim the Pope's Hebrew descent — which he himself presented to the Cohn brothers from Lyon in 1861 admitted — and without knowing that Cardinal Consalvi had already long been hunted: "E un Ebreo!" (He is a Hebrew.)"

Jews and initiates are of course already aware of these facts been known for a long time, but they have been carefully kept from the public kept secret. The notorious red Cardinal Antonelli was just as if of Jewish origin and came from a run-down Family of lawyers and robbers, and he as well as the Pope themselves maintained all possible relations with the international Judaism and honored its members.

The dogmas of the Immaculate Conception and Infallibility, which we owe to this Pope, have contributed infinitely much to this to damage Catholicism in itself and to create an army of protestants against him. (After the According to the Talmud, every rabbi is infallible, and Pius IX has the same maybe you don't want to be left behind!)

rich against the Catholics were the consequences of the rule of Pius IX.

and Cardinal Antonelli. On both sides were Jews and Jewish offspring are the spiritual originators of the struggle. What is the end of the cultural struggle? A desolate battlefield! And countless baptized Jews entered the church on both sides.

As for the Jesuits, whose return we will soon perhaps have to expect, it would be quite interesting to examine their Jewish content. Even such an informed Writers like Drumont indulge in the delusion that the Jesuits took some sufficiently free from Jews; but he seems to me to be mistaken in it. On the contrary, it is only to assume that the teachings of Jesuitism have a great deal of appeal for the Jewish character, because the culture The teachings of Jesuitism, which are hostile to many peoples, bear the stamp of the Talmud. Mr. Scharff=Scharffenstein writes about this in fine Works "The Jews in Bavaria", page 61:

"It occurred to me (a Jesuit priest of Jewish descent had "a business") a harmless question, which I once considered Young man to a venerable teacher in Düsseldorf, a Benediktiner said: "Why should, after the great Loyola and the noble Lainez's death, the Jesuits have become so bad?"

N..

– 118 –

"Most likely because they had so many baptized Jews and have taken in secret followers of Judaism, and this their malice, their hatred and poison against humanity, in the order which was originally founded with a high meaning." That will probably be fine, and a strictly scientific investigation An investigation into this would certainly be timely.

Lord Beaconsfield hunts in his "Coningsby" (Tauchnitz=Ausgabe, page 232): "The first Jesuits were Jews." This is of course ly not true. But that later many baptized Jews in the Orders have admitted, is beyond doubt. The current Jesuit-general bears the name Anderlevy, and among the Jesuits find we also the famous Mortara, whose conversion said so much about himself talked about and his father made so much capital from the business hit. (See Drumont, La France juive.) n

A paper proposed by Mr. Scharff=Scharffenstein:

"The Jews among the Jesuits" has unfortunately not been published, and so you will probably have to find another solution.

The hostile teachings of Jesuitism basically consist in nothing other than that a good purpose may be the application suffering sanctifies evil means. This is a doctrine which is can be dangerous in the hands of Jews and Jewish descendants.

While Jesuits of Aryan origin believed this in and of itself—will only follow the objectionable doctrine in case of need and rarely, Jesuit Jews and Jewish offspring the same according to their racial character immediately in the sense of the Talmud, which is to every weck, even the worst, all means, even the most reprehensible, not only approves, but even commands, provided that it only serves rule over Israel.

. In these few words the whole difference of the Jesuit and Talmudic morality.

The Protestants can also confront some strange figures, and if the—fame also not as influential and as interesting far like the man of God mentioned, they still offer the Strange enough. One of the most outstanding personalities This type is the Berlin preacher Dr. Paulus Cafsel. The same I could well imagine him as a rabbi, but as a support He makes a rather comical impression on the Christian Church.

I have already painted the picture elsewhere, which The impression it must make when, for example, a man like the current Ge—heime Legation Counsellor P. Kayfer of the Foreign Office, who until fhe was a Jew for the forty years of his life, for the purpose of teaching Christianity and priestly baptism turns to the aforementioned Pastor.

a what kind of Christianity may have been which two Hebrews gathered together, and what faces what might the gentlemen have done?

No entrance fee would have been too high for me to may attend such an edifying hour for a very short time may.

— 119 —

Mr. P. Kayfer is now head of the Colonial Office, and has played a role in the fate of Christian missions, Protestant and Catholic, to have a say, and perhaps even to decide the same.

Jewish-Christian and purely Jewish missionaries are now will probably soon bring German culture and education to Africa, provided that the positions are well remunerated and there is no danger in it; the good Germans can do the rest worries.

I would like to refer here to my conversation with Mr. von Brandt to draw attention to the fact that he sent a Protestant bishop to China, whose support the Berlin Jewish bankers supported through a pious lottery, somewhat along the lines of the patriotic castle lottery freedom lottery. For the occupation of such a
There would hardly be a German to be found
I would like to know who Mr. von Brandt is had in mind. Shouldn't that perhaps Dr.
Paulus (Blessed) Caffel? I hardly believe that the same would have any reservations about accepting such an episcopate= take. ee
Stock clergy, stock officers, stock officials, what future flourishes the German Empire!

I have met Dr. Paulus Caffel only once in my life; the impression will remain a lasting one; if I
If my eyes were not deceiving me, I saw on his coat the greasy Traces of some good meal. I also know of a whole number of these I, that e clergy and I can Lord Dr. Paulus Caffel assures that he is not the only one who such stains. I even knew one who whose garments were, so to speak, one single stain.

What should the German children expect from such a priest think when he teaches them Christianity?

But I also got to know other Jewish=German clergymen learns who kept themselves very clean in clothing; the extraordinarily were kind and placed great value on fine manners.

What I don't like at all is when such gentlemen in anti-Semitism. Anti-Semitism in and of itself could One can accept it, as long as it represents a departure from the racial characteristics. But what can one say about that, when such gentlemen make fun of the foetor judaicus, when They preach intolerance against Judaism because of the confession.
Can one consider such a pastor a real Christian,
who accuses the Jews of defects for which they cannot be blamed?

When will the clergy finally understand that
To treat the religious question as a racial question, which leads to its necessary for one's own preservation?

In South Carolina, a German-American tells me, all Protestant preachers who persuaded the Negro population to Christians, baptized Jews. They consider their profession simply as a business and form a solid corporation in which they not let any Aryan in. At the same time they use their position to 3 purposes by pitting the Negroes against the non-Jews etzen.

I have no reason to doubt these statements, although I am not in South Carolina; and one may assume that similar Conditions prevail in other American states, and the Jews will play similar roles among the Indians and Chinese. For the Jews know best of all that the racial question is the first is what moves the world, and try everything to keep ourselves To prevent recognition of this fact; and we Germans in particular are the ones who most urgently need this knowledge. We will not succeed in assimilating the Jews either, like all other peoples who previously also tinkered with it Naudh writes about it:

“The possibility of assimilation of the Jews by the German people is doubtful to us. The fusion of different Peoples only happen through oppression and blood mixing, never by simply living side by side. In closely related branches, it has of the Indo-European tribe in France and England despite these tools have been used for a long time, but in history no example of the mixing of a people of this family with a member of the femific, and even less of the equalization without Mixture. These races are as foreign to each other as oil and Water. What irreconcilably separates them is the perception of the personal honour, which the German bases his life on, and which the Semites lack entirely. Because of this contrast The Punic Wars were wars of extermination, and neither the Roman, Arab or Ottoman Empires have ever been able to to abolish it with the utmost force. And German and Jews represent the extreme poles. The Germans are the most ideal branch of the Indo-Europeans, and the Jews are considered even within half of the femific predatory animal group among their own relatives as the most ignoble offspring of the family, as they already knew in the Physiognomy lacks the nobility of the Arab.”

(H. Naudh, The Jews and the German State. Pages 42–43.)

And how true what Naudh claims is, a Anyone who wants to see seriously can see it. For the tenacity with which the Jews cling to their race and religion, I give the following nice example:

“Until a few decades ago, in Spain, secret Jews who publicly professed Christianity; a German co-religionist, who under Napoleon the German field

ug once told us the following strange story ftory: "I was," he said, "once quartered in a house in the head of the family was lying deadly ill. While I my evening meal, a clergyman appeared to the
To administer the last rites to the sick. But he pushed 3 – With great effort the priest retreated and shouted: "Schema Ifrael!" Then the priest let the raised cross fall to the ground

– 121 –

I fell down and cried out: "Hofhem Elohenu!" But I laid down my knife and fork, stood up and said in a loud voice: "Hashem Echad!" What a scene of recognition! Sick and clergyman were both secret Jews who saw the soldier as their brother=
The sick owner recovered and lived a few days; when he died, he had the consolation that faith= enjoyed closing his eyes T"
For more information see the book: "The Bible in Spain."
(Scharff=Scharffenstein. "The Jews in Bavaria." p. 28/29.)
I would now like to raise the question: Has anyone ever heard of a German, Englishman, Frenchman, American, etc., who converted to the Jewish religion and became a rabbi?
I have never heard of it and hardly anyone will to report such a case. How is this to be explained? The
The matter is very simple and is explained by the racial religion.
While we allow the Jews to observe the statutes of our religion while encouraging them to convert, they are closing themselves off against us. Here and there some come over convert to the Jewish religion, but they are rare; and the converts=
Those who entered are then treated as second-class Jews, as Noahides.
Now one should say, what is right for one is fair for another.
Why do we have so many Jewish Christian preachers, while there is no rabbi who converted from Germany to Judaism?
How did we get into these unbelievable circumstances?
This can also be explained if we consider who in Germany have been our ministers of culture for many years.
We want to go back a little while, and from the jewish friend=
Meyer's Conversational Lexicon: "Heinrich von Mühler, born on November 4, 1812 in Brieg, attended the gymnasiums in Halberstadt and Breslau, studied law in Berlin since 1830, He received his doctorate there in 1835 and, after studying at various courts of the province as an auscultator and trainee had, in 1840 von Eichhorn as an assistant in the Cultus minifterum Since then, he has been particularly involved in the development of a new constitution of the Protestant Church and in 1846 the General Synod as Secretary; at that time he also gave a "History of the Protestant Church Constitution in the Mark Brandenburg= burg" (Weim. 1846). In 1842 he became a government councilor, in 1846 Senior Counselor in the Ministry of Culture, 1849 Member of the Supreme Council church council. On the establishment of the business area and the effectiveness

He took an active part in the work of this new authority and was also Member of the Eisenach Church Conference. At the same time, in him under the influence of his ambitious pious wife Adelheid, née v. Goßler, expressed an inclination towards Pietism, which his lovable qualities, spirit, disposition and sociable Talents, as expressed in his "Poems" (Berlin 1842), suppressed, without giving him independence and energetic power. As On 18 March 1862 he was appointed Minister of the Hohenlohe Ministry who took over spiritual, educational and medical affairs, which he also retained under Bismarck (September 1862), he showed this position was not at all up to the task. Although he lacked skilled lawyers do not lack the gift of using well-formed phrases about the duties of the government established by God to the to counter the attacks of the opposition; but in the actual In the administration of his office he essentially did nothing, went the decision of all questions of principle, came to the an- demands of the church authorities in a downright pernicious manner and allowed his wife to make decisions in important matters Influence. His administration had a significant impact on the highly harmful: The Protestant theological faculties were filled with Orthodox nullities, the Catholic ones Bishops, the elementary schools in the Polish districts handed over to the fanatical clergy, and all educational institutions severely damaged by the scarcity of funds. Neither the Protestant church constitution nor an education law were passed in the ten years of his ministry. Ever larger The discontent against him, which was caused by his weak behavior- seek to oppose the Vatican of the Catholic hierarchy, was not appeased. Finally (in January 1872) it e through that Mühler's dismissal was approved by the king became."

– 12 –

Who the actual Minister of Culture was is clear from these lines clearly enough. One should also note that the Protestant faculties were filled with Orthodox nullities; and perhaps even more remarkable is the sudden death of the Lord von Mühler in Potsdam on April 2, 1874. |

This amiable man was just a weak character, and completely overgrown by his wife. The famous Adelheid was a Jewess, as she is written in the book and her actions were demented= speaking.

The Mühler Ministry was followed by the Falk Ministry, the famous cultural fighter. Falk's Jewish origin is Experts generally claim, and I do not know what this belief- claim should make it unbelievable, on the contrary, everything speaks for this; also the small fact that in September 1890 a Commission of Japanese lawyers appointed by the Jewish legislator Mofe (Mofes) were recommended to Germany, Hamm, the new sphere of influence of the former Minister Falk in order to to become familiar with German law.

After Mr. von Puttkamer took over the Ministry of Culture in 1879= Mr. von Goßler, our current Minister of Culture, appointed as Undersecretary of State in the Ministry. |

Meyer's Conversations=Lexikon says about him:
Gustav von Goßler, Prussian civil servant, born 13 April 1838 in Naumburg a. S., son of the later tribunal president v. G. in Königsberg (nephew of Mrs. Adelheid von Mühler) visited the Gymnasiums in Potsdam and Königsberg, studied in Berlin, Heidel= berg and Königsberg, joined the

De A u

*

– 123 –

Prussian judicial service, became a trainee lawyer in Königsberg in 1861, 1864 Court assessor in Infterburg, 1865 District Administrator of the district Darkehmen and 1874 assistant worker in the Ministry of the Interior.

Since 1862, Jewish influences have been found in our worship= ministry has always been active, if not even decisive.

I intentionally do not go back to earlier times, because if we see what we have in this time alone in terms of Jewish clergy, Jewish professors and teachers, Jewish military and civil doctors and Jewish officials who were employed by this ministry refortiert, have received, this already results in a tremendous Preference for the Israeli race to the detriment of the Germans. If one fould ask how this could have come about, it turns out in response that it was only through the secret Jewish organization Statistics on the number of religious Jews have long been missing. Now they are given to some extent, but about Jews= descendants, we still lack any precise information.

There is a lot of sailing under false flags among Jewish offspring, and our Minister of Culture himself seeks, as I have explained elsewhere to conceal his Jewish origins. It is a general Complaint that the statistics in the German Reich are increasingly being influenced by Jewish hands, which, according to their nature, use it for their purposes exploit. Many German clergymen, Catholic or Protestant denominations are aware of these evils, but fear, false shame, collegiality considerations hold him back, his voice to raise; and that is what the Jews are speculating on, which have created a strong position for themselves through their favorites.

How can this evil be overcome? Wahrmond writes in his Laws of Nomadism on page 242: "The Catholic It would be incumbent upon the Church to support all those who participated in the defeat Jewish demon to march forward. Except for a few Articles in certain journals close to the Vatican are nothing to feel. If the Jewish papers were to be trusted, one would have to believe that the majority of bishops flirt with the Jews just as the Jews, where it seems advantageous to them. The pastoral letters drip formally from Old Testament quotations and the Jews do business with it."

In the Volkszeitung of August 20th we read:

"A bishops' conference is meeting again in Fulda, which is committed to goals; the "Köln. Volksztg." hears that the conference with the establishment of a German mission house for the African-nic colonies in accordance with the letter of the Pope to the Archbishop of Cologne from 20 April of this year; furthermore The issue of blocking funds will be the subject of discussion. the agreement of a joint pastoral letter against the social-democracy is likely.

But the pious gentlemen are so little satisfied with pastoral letters something like the secular arm with its police measures."

Among those taking part in the Catholic Bishops' Conference were the Catholic field provost Dr. Aßmann Theil, who recently even was on the list of candidates for the archbishop's chair in Pofen.

– 124 –

Is it not strange that in Peking I heard the name of this Propfles Aßmann heard on one occasion that I thereby conclude its connection with international Jewry had to? and then again in Germany from en

Heard from the clergy that Bishop Aßmann was a Jew?
claimed the Jewish building inspector Aßmann in Peking, a relative to be this bishop! |

Now imagine such a bishops' conference with a member members of the Alliance in its midst, through which it is separated from the entire negotiation. Should there be social reforms be conceivable? The Alliance wants to support every social reform by all means and lets from above and from below, from the right and from left-wing, and no means is too bad for her. By the way, nor did I mention that Mr. Aßmann was the only Jewish origin, and I would not be surprised if it turns out ftated that the same still exists with one or the other of our German bishops. There are many Jewish-Catholic lish bishops.

As in all other professions, they are also pushing for Church upwards and seek to seize the leadership in order to the Church will then be hit all the more forcefully at every moment
The field provost Bishop Aßmann, for example, reorganized, as I hear the entire field service at this moment.

While Wahrmond believes that the Catholic Church came to advance in the fight against Judaism, Protestants think differently about it and believe that this role
But it seems to me that in this fight
no distinction should be made between Catholics and Protestants.

The various political parties should also be completely disregarded. The German nobility could also claim to take the lead, but what has become of the German nobility as such? What elements does it have in itself
If the German nobility could decide to accept the un= fane elements, then the matter would be different, but This is not even remotely possible, because even the nobility
Judaism is thoroughly disintegrated, and so the good German elements come together wherever they are found. Only in this There is a way to deal with Judaism, for the Jew is everywhere in all kinds of garments and all shades.

The Corporator Rudolf Eichhorn in the Jewish-occupied dominated factory villages Florisdorf near Vienna – said recently (Oest. Volksfreund, 1 August 1886): Anti-Semitism is, however, not Christianity, but among Christians it is the economic, enlightenment and aesthetic resistance against the complete de-Christianization ichung.“ .

What we have to fight against are social evils, and every Every citizen has the duty to be a socialist. What is a socialist?

"To be social, to be a socialist, that is to say, the total inter-
the people's greed over the crude desires of the individual that is, society against its own weakness and protect against one's own errors, that is, think and act to preserve humanity."
(Auguste Chirac, L'Infamie.)

The one who has the task of a socialist in these words and acts through his actions, is an atheist, because Christianity has become alien to him through its current practice.
suffers. Nevertheless, these few words contain the essence of the Christianity, as it should be understood. That is the true practical Christianity. On this point, Catholics likes and Protestants, Pope and Emperor, with the simplest citizen And if one adhered to this principle, it would soon
the world would be much better off.

| But the nation, the race, which is absolutely outside Capable of grasping such a thought and through-to bring, that is the Jewish one! |

Our last ministers of culture were, significantly, all Lawyers. In their position as Ministers of Culture, these gentlemen should be familiar with the statutes of the three confessions. All the
The Ministers of Culture were Protestants and in this religion educated.

During the expulsion of the Jesuits it was shown that one follows the teachings of a Hermann Bufenbaum, a Paul Laymann, an Antonius of Escobar, a Sotus, Toletanus, Navarre, Vasquez, and whatever else they may be called, and who basically only teach the same thing in all keys, namely that a good purpose under certain circumstances bad means, knew well enough,
in order to then order the expulsion of the order.

What about the knowledge of the Shulchan Aruch and of the hundred laws? Does Mr. von Goßler know the hundred laws, which are included in the Shulchan Aruch or not? Did he

He didn't know her before, but he knows her today!

Why is the knowledge of these laws withheld from the people?
The Jew may practice the Protestant and Catholic religions get to know, there are no secrets there! And what is right, is fair to the other. Why should not Protestants and Do Catholics know what the Jews teach? |
At a railway crossing or at any other

Place where it is dangerous to pass, there are barriers

or warning signs that alert pedestrians to the danger

famely. For example, if a barrier guard neglects his duty and people are harmed, he will be punished because of his duty= neglected. The Minister of Culture is also a kind of hit= tree keeper. |

By practicing and obeying the hundred laws of Shulchan Aruch through the Jews infinitely more people come for life, and what is sometimes worse, for honor, property and Well, as it happens through railways, even if there is no impact trees, warning signs and guards would be there.

Why, if one considers the practice of the Jewish religion, which includes such laws which have absolutely nothing to do with religion to do with it, is generally permitted, why isn't there a sign at every synagogue, at every rabbinical seminar, at every Talmud Torah school, at every Localities of the countless clubs and orders in which the study of the Talmud, at least a warning sign, on which should be read: ä

“Here a hundred laws are taught, which prohibit prince murder, murder, Usury, lies and fraud and everything imaginable against non-Jews not only allow, but under certain circumstances even command!

“Here a certain section of the population living in Germany– population in the crudest and most brutal way against the native Population incited, so that public peace in the long run must be endangered!”

That would be the least one could ask for.

In addition, there is also the pseudo-baptism, which the Jews is permitted, and Christian Jews make themselves aware of their baptism funny. Allow me to mention the German Poet Heine quote: f

“When he was still an Itzig,
He dreamed that he saw written

In the sky his name
And in front of it the letter H.”

“What does this H mean?”

He asked himself, "perhaps Mr. Itzig Or holy Itzig? Holy

It's a nice title – but

"Not suitable in Berlin." – Finally Tired of brooding, he called himself Hotzig,
And only the faithful knew:
There is a saint in Itzig."

H. Heine, Hebrew Melodies.

One may say that Heine was only a mocker, but I assure the Minister of Culture that I have not yet was fortunate enough to know a Catholic saint in person learn, but an innumerable number of such saints as Heine describes, and they are dangerous!

I know a provincial town in Prussia where a Zion club exists; in this association Zion a whole number of pious people work– men women for charitable purposes for Palestine.

All kinds of handicrafts are made there, which in Germany sold so that cash comes to Palestine. A
A Protestant pastor of Jewish origin leads the association.

Would it now be permissible to know in what way this hard-earned money is used in Palestine? Is it for

Digitized by Google

– 127 –

Jewish mission? One should be aware of the futility of such efforts have now become a little convinced.

What is currently happening in Palestine is the settlement
there from all possible Jewish people, which from other countries was expelled because it was too lazy to earn its living there.
nourish.

People are now buying land, vineyards,
hand tools, etc.

Will they not soon be provided with Christian slaves to

To find work, they sell their land and equipment and go then again on robbery and trafficking. Anyone who knows anything about Jews= colonies, you will know what this means.

The Jews have more money than all the emperors, kings and empires. together and I ask myself now, would it not be downright wrong if the good faith of German women and their work is abused, to bring money to Palestine for such purposes, where in Germany there is so much innocent misery to be alleviated.

Pastor, shepherd, is a beautiful, meaningful word. The Auf= The task of a shepherd is to look after his flock and to care for it, lest the wolf should break into the flock. But he also has= to ensure that the wolf does not come in sheep's clothing, and he must use his mind.

If this duty were not fulfilled by the shepherds and especially by the If the pastors had often neglected the Church, then there would not have been so many People have become disliked of the sheep. But in order to kill the wolf To learn to distinguish between sheep and sheep, it requires it is the study of pragmatic ethnology, for which heaven does not not only gave us our understanding, but also through external and other racial characteristics a hint with the fence posts.

Nowadays, after the wolf has killed the sheep, eat, he will soon also attack the shepherds. Part= He is already there, and the best parish positions will be Jews and their offspring claim it for themselves and their relatives. Now we have to think about self-defense. The Jews show ourselves the way how to start. You can see with what The Jews are furiously persecuting all those who shed light on the teachings of the Talmud. on:

That is the sensitive point! The hundred quoted poems fetze tell us exactly what we need to know from the Talmud need, and that is not religion. That is race! Existence from the doctrine of this duty and several such laws It would be the duty of the church and also of the school to spread the Laws are so simple that every child can understand them; they could preached from the pulpits as well as in the elementary schools taught to ward off murder, robbery, usury and hypocrisy on the part of he Jews.

– 8 8 A

But is it not the human duty of everyone who laws, and knows that they are taught to protect one's neighbor to draw attention to their existence?

Let us assume that all Social Democrats support this
If they knew the laws, they would not have concerns when realize that they are run by Jews? The whole infamy of the Jewish character and Jewish behavior can be from the laws, and once you are attentive to the matter, then you will soon see through it; the social-Democrats would soon realize that the Jew was not their neighbor, but the most distant one. Between the Germans and the Jews
First are all the other Germans; then the English, French etc., in short all Aryan peoples, then Chinese, Malays and get to know all the peoples that I have known.

The Jewish nation is the very last race, the worst race-shaping the Semitic race into a particularly dangerous nation-nality, as Dr. Eugen Dühring hunts. As a motto for my book
I deliberately quoted the statement of a member of the Paris Commune, a great philanthropist who has learned to know and detest the double game of the Jews. "The Semites are the shadow in the midst of civilization, the evil spirit in the world. To understand the Semitic spirit and Semitic view-fight is the task of the Indo-Aryan race."

Every schoolchild should know the hundred laws, as well as every ruler.

Has our emperor ever heard Talmudic wisdom?
Does he know what the Talmud or Shulchan Aruch is? ever get Dr. Rohling's Talmudjude, this important book, into his hands come? Has he ever heard of it? Every Jew knows it.

The German Rabbi Dr. Bernhard Fifcher hunts in his book
"Talmudical Chrestomathy" (Leipzig 1884) on the German-Jewish side
"the whole effort of demonstrative loyalty and dedication Husbandry love of country" only happened to Professor
To refute Rohling's attacks on the Talmud!

This shows, on the one hand, the extraordinary importance of Jews to the book of Professor Rohling, and on the other side, how the Jews issue the slogan among themselves.

The entire Jewry of Germany obeys a signal and follows orders in demonstrative loyalty and love of country;
what a comedy!

Who gives the signal for this comedy? Some one-home superior, who perhaps holds high office and dignity among us, who professes Christianity and whom the German fatherland fed. Who leads the Poiffe? The synagogue! and the rabbis laugh in their sleeves, while the deceived ruler does everything for
must take it at face value. |

The synagogue today is above all a social-political institute.

Digitized by KH00) le

– 129 –

Just read the little dispatch from the Kreuz=Zeitung. London, 23 April 1890. (Private > Telegram.) "Here soon an international conference of representatives of the Jews=thumbs to investigate the causes of the recent anti-Semitic unrest on the mainland. The suggestion came from the Berlin synagogue." a

Well, anti-Semitism is a political, not a religious Movement.

Beware of the politics that are taking place in the synagogue is being carried out, because it is international and anti-people!

Br,

Ansen, politicians and diplomats.

"What do you want? "At the present time there is no politician, even with a very sincere Christian spirit, which is not terrible power of money. People resist for a long time, but finally one gives way to sums which are so significant that the consciences are thereby crushed. The Aller=They hesitate for a moment, then look at their surroundings, understand the meaning of certain silent glances and capitulate." Statement by Anne of Austria, around the year 1650. (Comte de Vasili. "La société de Vienne.")

"One will find that in every great intellectual movement in Europe the Jews have their large share, the first Jesuits were Jews.

The mysterious Russian diplomacy, which the Western Europe N is organized and run mainly by Jews
The terrible revolution which is currently taking place in Germany country, and which is basically only a second, but more effective Reformation, and which is spoken of in Eng=country has hardly any idea, unfolds and develops completely lich under the auspices of Jews who in Germany

Professorship almost completely monopolized. Neander, the Founder of Pectoral Theology, Royal Professor at the University Berlin, is Jewish. Benary at the same university, no less is Jewish. Weil, Professor of Arabic in Heidelberg, is Jew ... and what the higher teachers of this race in Germany As far as they are concerned, their number is legion..."

I believe there are more than 10 of them in Berlin alone etc.

(Disradli in Coningsby, Tauchnitz=Edition p. 232/233.)

* *
*

"The Semites today exercise a very great influence on all fhabilitations of the world, through their smallest but original= ft branch, the Jews. There is no race that has so much tenacity= ity and as much organizational talent as she does. This talent has given them unprecedented control over property and secured unlimited credit. To the extent that a non-Jew prosper in life and gain business experience in which= The Jews will work against him in the same way. Since For a long time they have been involved in our (England's) secret diplomacy stole in () and took almost complete possession of it; in a For a quarter of a century they will publicly share their share in the direction= demand. Now this is a race, people and corporations rations whose actions are controlled by a secret organization tion, a race with which a statesman Language and religion do not make a race, blood, the Blood alone makes the race, –" (Disradli, "Endymion," Tauchnitz=Edition Volume II pp. 18–28.)

– 131 –

* ri *

The Jews themselves often tell us the truth in their vanity ity, but strangely enough it is ignored, and only believe them when they lie and deceive us.

How often may these two passages from Disrasli's works be quoted have been; and yet one cannot repeat them often enough= and it cannot be emphasized enough that Dis= Raeli Christian and Englishman too refined, and that he nevertheless, fo= Whenever he speaks of Ifrael, he always emphasizes race.

What Disrakli prophesied has come to pass; stolen
The Jews have entered the diplomatic service in the true sense of the word; and what kind of Jewish diplomats do we now have on= assign! |

* *

a

"And if 1 an Israelite politician has a more or less little actual disinterest, then one is mistaken not, his tribesmen are making plans around him, and his state of spiritual dependence in which he is opposed to them over, forces him to use his influence in the service of their interests to make food.

Who has not, for example, seen the zeal of the Israelites, who themselves not trade, have been struck against the customs tariffs imposed by the cosmopolitan Jew detested and persecuted with eternal hatred?"

(Kimon "La politique israélite" p. 45.)

* *

*

"The absolute domination of the Jewish bankers over the

. whose career they have made is a remarkable one
ug. Such a person feels to the depths of his soul, that he owes everything to them and that he belongs to them.
He never thinks about breaking the bond, and one almost wants fay that the idea of giving the Jews signs of trust and attachment, he is actually pursuing him; he lets her stay with him live, shares his greatest secrets with them and moves them before all others. This goes so far that one has to ask oneself, whether he is not ultimately a Jew himself, whether he is not a secret Instincts follow! No, that is not the case! Nor is it solely the gratitude that makes him act. This blind, inexhaustible bodily devotion, which can only be compared with the subservience of the creature against his Creator is basically full of fear.
If the Jews help a person from the 9*

– 132 –

Nothing to rise, then they do it in such a m
White, that he is forever chained to them. The thing with Jews
The alliance concluded is like a pact with hell: It can can no longer be broken.

One can see how such a person, surrounded by a Group of Jewish bankers, for the same party takes against another group of Jewish bankers; for Israel lives in strife and strife as in a fine natural element. One detests there, one ruffles one another, one conspires incessantly, one against the other, and only the hatred against the non-Jews brings them back to unity. Perhaps the astonishing Just like the old Jerusalem, the evildoers and criminals of all Neighbouring countries to assimilate, something to do with this constant quarrelling= fought to do with Judaism? (For if there is somewhere a rooted criminal, he was sure to find asylum in Jerusalem to be found; and the Jews were always in the habit of quarreling among themselves. Tacitus (History IV, Chapter 12.) |

(Kimon "La politique Israélite", page 174.)

* *
*

Wherever you look in politics and diplomacy today, you come across one on Jews and Jewish influence, and if the same is not a goal is set soon, then we are heading for certain doom and against total Jewish rule. |

Just think of Minifter, as Kimon describes her to us, all our embassies and consulates abroad with Jews and Jewish offspring, who of course with their Tribal members in foreign lands always have contact, that but also always with the Jews or Jewish comrades in the Homeland in direct relations, what must then finally come of German trade, German industry and finally from the German state?

When the ambassador von Brandt in Peking explained to me that Mr. Bleichröder ruled in the Foreign Office, and not Prince Bis= Marck, I didn't want to believe him, because that was stated quite clearly that our entire foreign policy incl. Diplomacy and consular service are led by Jews. Officials employed in these branches of service would then be directly or indirectly, with or without their knowledge of the Bleichröder house, that is the alliance israélite universal resorts. |

But if I now consider what I have seen in Europe for some time and When I put together my previous experiences, I really don't know what one should believe. That such circumstances are not entirely impossible, This is shown by the following letter, which also cannot be read often enough can repeat.

=. WII:

Letter from Count von Wimpffen,

Austrian ambassador in Paris, to Baron Hirsch, found after the
The former are suicides.

Mr. Baron!

If you receive this letter, you will only open it hesitantly, because you will suspect what it contains. Fear Don't let me blame you.

As I gradually became more and more impressed by your kindness=
I did not think that you were a hateful goal in mind. By pointing out my character weakness you have relentlessly led me onto the slippery slope of honor disgrace, shame. My country would not love me judge harshly if it knew with what skill you
You have played your role. You have led me to errors and blinded with your gold, as you also Davoud, Mahmoud, Nedhim Pafha, Count Beuft, Count Zichy,
Mr. Schlegel and others have seduced you, you have made us all traitors to the fatherland for the sole purpose of the millions you gave to the holders of the Turkish lottery tickets stolen, to add a few more.

My death will reveal what I have done wrong, and that shall be my atonement. The fact alone that the messenger= Emperor of Austria-Hungary committed suicide and wrote a letter to Baron Hirsch will be enough to
to bring public opinion onto the track of the truth.
You may have your interests represented by the Paris press and the Let Viennese newspapers defend themselves as much as they want, my death will still leave your gold in Paris and Vienna—
I'm not talking about Berlin, because you'll never be able to has taken it seriously for the first time. Berlin is now the centre of Oriental politics. Some time ago, people turned to Berlin supported us in everything that concerned the Eastern question.
did not know that the ambassadors of Austria in Kon= stantinople as well as in Paris only agents of the
Mr. Hirsch. It was very close and you would have succeeded to bring about the infamous deal with Bleichröder. Now I am sure Radowitz will make sure that Germany in Kon= stantinople acts independently and that it takes a stand against Your absurd demands. At the last moment I to Count Kalnocky a general report on this matter which we have always considered as yours, although it was ours.

If I were an Austrian merchant, I would

Austro-Hungarian diplomacy has long been accused of
has been influenced by you for 12 years, although you have done everything do what is in your power to reach an agreement between the Turkish and Austro-Hungarian railways

– 134 –

May my death have the success of the German government for my unfortunate fatherland a little goodwill
In Berlin, people have every reason to be angry with us, because we were about to do so in your interest
influence that Germany has in Constantinople, abuse.

I die to calm my conscience; the ambassador Austria-Hungary will kill me in the open street in order to
To admit injustice in the face of the world.

There is no question that your honour and conscience will always foreign concepts, no doubt because you Talmud as Tartuffe. But divine vengeance will even reach the stock market princes, who like you without Principles are. Within a short time you will be informed of the 200 Millions, which you have obtained through the Turkish iron-have known how to create paths, nothing remains-and you will be held accountable for your actions.
have to give an account.

Paris. Christmas Eve 1882. \
signed Wimpffen.

Poor Count Wimpffen! So far, his prophecies have drawings, and probably he has also Germans had too good an opinion. Baron Hirsch continues his Drive with unweakened means, and a Berliner
University professor has given himself over to his dubious ten matters. (This professor is also Became a member of an association to combat anti-Semitism
How long will this economy be tolerated, who will overthrow these people? Whether the executioner's axe or the gallant may wait for him!

Apropos Baron Hirsch, I can however add the following make a verified statement: In November 1890, Mr.
von Bleichröder in Berlin a conference of the alliance israélite universal, or rather some of the heads of the same. They wanted

-in Russia they are trying to thwart the measures against the Jews zen and Russia in general more warmly to the Jewish heart.

—

Note: Just now, while this sheet is going to the press, I hear that the Austrian W is said to have made a statement which the genuine denies the authenticity of the above letter. For many years, despite all Baron Hirsch's efforts to prove that this letter was inauthentic were unsuccessful. And now the Austrian government seems to be ready to expel Hirsch from the In the end, it is even Mr. Kalnoky himself who he should have done that a few years earlier if he was lucky 5 wanted. It is significant that the entire Jewish press, which ementi spread, as a man speaks of the deceased Count Wimpffen. The truth is that Count Wimpffen was in the open street, in one of the small convenience stores that stand on the sidewalks in Paris, shot.

— 135 —

Mr. von Bleichröder is said to have shown little interest in the purpose to dig deep into his wallet, but Baron Hirsch was willing to give a quarter of his fortune (179 million Franks) and actually travelled to Russia, to try the matter on your own.

Mr. von Bleichröder soon donated the advertising million for a hospital; whether this million is for already earned earnings sacrificed as atonement money or for raids yet to be undertaken must remain undecided for the time being.

It may be mentioned here that the Bischoffsheims in London

the criminal Honduras scam also a hospital founded in order to be able to figure as benefactors of humanity and to appease public discontent. The foundation still bears her name today.

. I have had the opportunity to meet with politicians and diplomats from all over the world. Among them I have from= got to know distinguished, honest and highly talented people, besides but also very insignificant and low characters. I don't want feem that the good elements are increasingly being pushed out in order to to make room for the doubtful. This is exactly the ten= denz of Jewish power. |

How harmlessly the much-maligned Machiavelli takes himself Infamy towards Jewish politics. In his book "Vom Princes" he says in Chapter 22, which concerns the election of councillors:

"There are three types of heads. The first sees everything by itself the second understands it when others explain the matter; the third does not understand anything, neither by itself nor through the efforts Others. The first are the most excellent, the second are still always excellent, but the latter kind is of no use."

He at least recommends to his prince the best way of heads and warns him in the following chapter against flatterers.
He reaches up while the Jewish politician reaches down to, if he can make it possible, the last kind of heads office and dignity, since these in his houses willing become tools, which is a major trick of Jewish diplomacy.
Then they find themselves "damned friends" and chained to him forever.

From the consular and diplomatic service I can believe that we can have a say from our own experience. In the years From 1869 to 1872 I lived in Saigon in the French colony of Cochinchina.
The boss of the house in which I was employed was a North German Consul, and during these four years I have been working of the Consulate was by far the most concerned. We had with the extremely busy German shipping traffic there is a lot to do and were often called upon in the event of accidents, shipwrecks, etc.
taken. |

When the Franco-Prussian War broke out in 1870,
we were forced into a political-diplomatic role that
The French, for example, supplied us with the teams of the East Asian

– 136 –

Waters captured ships, for whose advance we have to
We also had German ship captains and to issue protests to federal citizens and to seek all kinds of advice and negotiations with the French government were no end. Finally, after the declaration of the Republic, the probably= French government, which wants to punish us for the Jewish-incited communist movement to protect our lives.
We have worked with healthy people through all this work= understood, and my friend von Brandt, with with whom I often spoke about this matter, claimed that One had the experience that during the war the Commercial consulates have consistently functioned better than the professional consulates consulate. But I was currently a keen advocate of the replacement of the commercial consuls by professional consuls, because on the one hand Experience has shown that cases can occur where a trade= consul unable to cope with the volume of business entrusted to him and he also involuntarily gets into political and diplomatic entanglements lungs, and on the other hand I had heard that kauf= male consuls used their official position here and there misused for personal purposes; however, I did not know at the time that The very consuls against whom such a complaint was made, chosen people.

Later I witnessed how the trade consuls in China were replaced by professional consuls, which was also due to the jurisdiction which the consuls have here, to the necessity
5. This not only gave rise to a generally felt needs, but also met the wishes of many merchants.

At first everything went well; properly trained judges were sent Later, however, the consuls were recruited from the Dol= mefcherdienste, in which people without the necessary legal knowledge and other qualifications, and if the matter fuch continues, I really do not know what will become of the consular service in China.

By the way, everything in China happened in a logical way:
The ambassador von Brandt is a failed lieutenant and All Jews. While he was consul in Japan, he found himself with Rudolf Lindau, and the instinct of the race has 1 quickly brought together. Lindau was a merchant and has
v. Brandt probably not only handled financial transactions, but probably also helped him with his professional work, that is what Lindau is also became Privy Legation Counsellor and can now Protect and protect friend Brandt. In Japan, von Brandt helped but also other Jews to consular posts. This paves the way for Jews mutual paths.

Later in China, of course, v. Brandt had to ensure that no one can see his cards and his
He therefore had to make do with completely harmless and submissive people or "âmes damnées" and carefully

– 137 –

serious people away. In recent years he seems to have not only the Foreign Office, but also the Ministry of Culture
I have the gentlemen who in
in the years 1887 and 88 in Peking, elsewhere charak=
terifirt; as with the other younger officials in the consular service
I do not know exactly what the coast of China looked like at this time exactly, but so much that among them there are also Jewish offspring and people which were of no other use in Europe.
And from such material the German authorities in China be educated. Precisely where good and capable people are needed= fend, one knowingly sends inferior material
It seems that Brandt's tendency is to 3 to Judaize and become dependent on the Jews make.

The diplomatic and consular service in China is Expensive and absorbs sums which are in no way niffe to current and future expected trade between China and Germany. Von Brandt also knows this Exactly, since we have discussed this point several times; but it seems as if Israel intends to make itself quite comfortable in the future. A few years ago, for example, a vice= Consulate was established. "To make it impossible for the government, if "She should show her talent later on," said Mr. v. Brandt, "To abolish this consulate, we must also hold a consul= fulate buildings". Such consulates with beautiful buildings are now apparently in the small squares of China and Japan everywhere. These small consulates are pure sinecures and In this way, the offspring of Israel can be raised at the expense of Germany. country a comfortable existence and on the side all kinds of business in the manner of Mr. von Brandt.

In a few years, I fear, our official Consulates abroad are occupied by Jews and Jewish progenitors; the consulates will then hardly be anything other than abodes quarters for travelling Hebrews and institutes where German merchants spied on in favour of the Jews, where the results their work abroad. The Jewish offices in Europe can then do as they please with their tribes. mesgenoffen exploit the things.

This is roughly how things are in East Asia, whether they are elsewhere I don't know if it would be better.

The occupation of foreign consulates in Berlin and other large cities of Germany by Jews is taking place on a large scale I have experienced it myself in Berlin that with such Consulate offices were literally haggling, and even now the way the Children of Israel hunt for Consulates make, remarkable. Only quite N told me a from= country's General Consul, who had just arrived in Berlin, and had to appoint a consul, as he had been idolized.

– 138 –

Only friendly, dutiful gentlemen had come to him; all declared that they were very respected people; all wanted to be relationships with big people and influential circles; showered him with invitations and presented him with all kinds of gifts nuefts of earthly life in sight. He was literally seized with Finally he found out that all these lovely

Hebrew gentlemen who saw to it that the consulate in question just doesn't want to fall to anyone other than one of your own.

Just as here, it will probably also be the case on similar occasions go here.

- - .

Prince Bismarck and you Jews.

"The great Jew interested me through his knowledge of European European fellow believers. He knew of Crémieux, Sir Moses, Montefiore, Beaconsfield, Rothschild, Lasker, etc.; that he also Gambetta thought he was a Jew, I let him get away with it, as but he claimed that Prince Bismarck on his mother's side descended from Jews, I had to put a stop to his zeal."

(Wilhelm Joeft. Through Siberia, 2nd ed. Cologne 1887. p. 97.)

* *

*

This liberal era in the ordinary sense of the word is turned out much differently than anyone could have imagined in 1853 was. Otto von Bismarck became its exponent. I am not known that a methodical investigation of the species has ever been in which individuals refer to the history of the Humanity. Actually, famous ones seem to me At any rate, only those among these individuals have ever become which the executive for the thought content and the desires a group of people who have been trained, encouraged and inspired by others Like Luther, the first Chancellor of the German Reich in this category. Not a single one of the Bismarck's ideas, which he had put into practice, were born in his head. ftants: he thanks the most important to liberalism and will himself know best that this first in the Gothans, last in the Liberalism embodied in national associations was the real father of today's German Empire, the powerful Chancellor is only the one who with unparalleled, never-tiring energy, using every Weakness of his opponents, who are rich in weaknesses, and each of the Providence offered the idea of this liberalism to has brought to the forefront positions which by nature only instinctive but very powerful aversion to them. The lively hatred, however, which formerly had the later so much admired Mann, was aimed at the still extremely clear noticeable aftereffects of the pre-liberal period of our state a period which Bismarck could not have done without, as he the ideas of the epoch of our history that ended in 1848

The boldness with which he implemented these ideas, is due to his origins in the old Prussian lower nobility. — — — — —

=; 40:

— — — — It is wrong to talk about ingratitude towards Bismarck
What is called ingratitude towards him is nothing but the awareness — although still completely unclear at the moment — that Bismarck has solved his task and that now other tasks than those which have been given to him are to be redeemed. Has 0 the Friday, not the workload, to be happy about what was done on Thursday to be happy or to do the same thing again, but the very more important to take up his own work, because he not Thursday but it is.
This situation gives rise to the duty to — this expression again understood in a good sense — new public to form a personal opinion, which in turn also finds the man must be able to put it into action, as well as being powerful enough to a will to force such a man, to empower,
to strengthen.
(Paul de Lagarde, German Writings, Complete Edition, Göttingen
| 1886. Pages 105 and 106.)

* *
*

The idea suggested by the first of the two notes that the Prince of Bismarck was of Jewish descent on his mother's side, and from this his since 1866 more and more active
The first thing I have to say is that my preference for Judaism been completely rejected. The first author of this idea is the Siberian Jew quoted by Mr. Joest; and this thought was by the envoy Mr. von Brandt, another Jews, sought to continue propagating.

Only once in my life have I had the thought heard express that this may be so, and Prince von Bismarck a secret Jew could be. The investigations into the stance of the mother of Prince Bismarck are of course not easy and not yet completed.

If indeed Jewish blood is in the veins of the prince flow and he should be aware of it, then of course Documents that could provide information about this, made inaccessible. He would have the greatest interest in have ensured that this ancestry would not be made known for the time being.

The idea that I initially rejected later resurfaced and prompted me to write a short summary of the Bismarck's relations with the Jews.

I just want to mention some facts and names of people here which are intended to stimulate thoughts, to raise the sentiments of the prince, which especially in the last period of his rule and after his fall, mysterious and contradictory seem to be judged in this new light. Nevertheless, such Research is interesting even if it does not lead to any results.

But nothing in the world is impossible!

To return once again to Mr von Brandt and this claim that the prince is a corruptible person, I must

– 141 –

I would like to mention that I have previously doubted this claim and denied.

We discussed a small note which was in the eight= 1970s in the Berlin newspapers. It said, that the banker Gerfon von Bleichröder owned a piece of land= section in the Voßstraße out of respect for Prince Bismarck and wanted to leave it built on, since the rear facade of a house built on it would have turned to the Chancellor's garden.

The Chancellor had previously complained that he had Walks in the garden of the Reich Chancellor's Palace by curious people, who watch him from the back windows of the houses on Vossstrasse, felt harassed.

The note about the Bleichröder property was of course

However, a strong piece of Jewish prestige, which the Reichs= Chancellor, if he had heard of it, in my opinion, I was of the opinion that the Prince would have remained unknown. Mr. von Brandt had a different opinion about this. fight and thought that the prince had the sacrifice of his friend Bleich= Röder was fully aware of how he felt about= main view was: "No one in the world acts disinterestedly."

The speech of Prince Bismarck in the united state parliament of 1847 against the emancipation of the Jews I may assume as well known= It proves sufficiently that he excluded the Jews from the practice knew His statements about the Jews and Judaism in the book "Graf Bismarck and his people" by Moritz Bufch show also that he paid some attention to the Jewish question.

However, he never seems to have undertaken a deeper study of the same to have, because he remains in all expressions mostly at the top= surface. –

Ex treats race and money issues as roughly the same thing.

The following passage from the book is often quoted:

"Yes," continued the minister, "I am of the opinion that must be improved by crossing. – The results are not bad." He named some noble houses and remarked: "Everything smart, nice people!" Then he added after some thought and with the omission of an intermediate thought, which probably refers to the Marriage of noble Christian daughters, German baronesses with rich or talented Israelites, added: "By the way, it is probably the other way round, it would be better if you had a Christian stallion from Germany breeding with a Jewish mare. The money must come back into circulation, and there is no such thing as an evil breed. I don't know what advice I will give to my sons." (January 10, 1871).

Mr. von Bismarck thus seems to have less aversion and opposition will against the Jewish race than is the case on average with the Germans are the case. Basically, he recommends here= by even selling the inherited nobility in exchange for Jewish acquired money, which must bring about a decomposition of the nobility,

A

– 142 –

5 he thinks of it only as an institute of the native race arist.

Elsewhere Bufch says:

"He then said that recently a negotiator from Gambetta was with him, who had told him towards the end of his discussion asked whether we would recognize the Republic. "I replied him: "Without doubt and hesitation. Not only the Republic, but, If you want, even a Gambetta dynasty; only it must a beneficial and secure peace." "And in the Indeed, every dynasty, whether Bleichröder or Rothschild," he added, whereupon the latter two gentlemen became the subject of discussion for a while. speeches were." – – (October 28, 1870.)

Well, a Rothschild dynasty actually exists today in France. If the prince had understood the nature of Judaism precisely knows, he as a German would have the emergence of such a dynasty under no circumstances should we tolerate it. Heaven grant us now protect against a Bleichröder dynasty in Germany.

At another point the prince says:

"If you want to use your position, you can arrange it so that that the stock exchange telegrams are interchangeable with the political dispatches sent from all stock exchanges by obliging officials at the Legations. The political ones take precedence over the telegraph, and so profits It takes about twenty to thirty minutes. And then you have to fast-running Jew who uses this advantage to his advantage. There are supposed to be people who have kept it that way. In this way you can earn fifteen hundred to fifteen thousand thalers daily earn, and after a few years, that will give you a nice profit But my son shall not say of his father that he made him a rich man in this or a similar way. He can become rich in other ways if it has to be done well – – – (September 2, 1870).

This is indeed very nicely hunted, but the Institute of Wolff's telegraph office and how the same is done by bankers was used, the prince must later have known have been.

What is meant when he says: "My son can "to become rich in other ways, if necessary," is not really clear. A correspondence from the Figaro dated 19 February 1890, about the journey of Kaiser Wilhelm to Constantinople gives us much easy to find out more about it.

In this correspondence we read:

"What Count Herbert Bismarck had to do he was here (in Constantinople) as well as in Athens. He went a lot took a walk, worked even more and talked about politics, and here begins the journey to become important. You are not alone in this content to offer the Sultan to buy two ironclads for him, to cover the costs, they even took action – it is lungs? etc."

– 143 –

The correspondence signed by Jaques St. Cére, alias Jaques de St. Cöre, alias Armand, alias du Salins, né Rosenthal, the current lucky owner of the runaway second wife of Mr. Paul Lindau, née Kalfisch.

This note deserves some attention in that between the former Menage Lindau and Count Herbert Bismarck friendship = Relationships are said to have existed and M. St. Cere some white. – |

According to this note from Figaro, Count Herbert Bismarck would have been in the ironclad trade. It seems that this large statesman has truly cared about such things, because At the beginning of 1889 he received a Chinese medal allegedly for services he rendered to the Chinese in shipping matters (1) There is always a small connection with to have some connection between things is usually present, but in the awarding of this order I can really no other moral motive can be found than that on the order (it is the double dragon order) there is an animal with two backs. |

The prince commented on the embassy reports as follows:

“It is mostly paper and ink on it,” he says, which fworst is if they make it long. Yes, with Bernftorff, if who always sends such a ream of paper with outdated newspapers cut out, you are used to it. But if someone else 1 1 This makes you annoyed, because usually nothing rin ist.” –

“If they write history after that, nothing will be I think that after thirty years the archives will be opened to them; they could be let in much sooner The dispatches and reports are, even where they once what contain, those which do not contain the 0 and ratios Who knows after thirty years what the writer himself was a man, how he looked at things, how he represents them according to his individuality? And who knows the people always closer to the things he reports? One must know what the Gortschakoff or what Gladstone or Granville meant by that, what the envoy reports. Rather, one can see something from the Newspapers, which the governments also use, and in which you often say more clearly what you want. But it also includes knowing = nissen of the circumstances. But the e is always in private = letters and confidential communications, including oral ones, which is on file. (February 22, 1871.)

I would like to quote a passage from my report No. 16 to the Imperial German Embassy in Peking on 19 August 1888 from Tientfien to quote: (see Part II)

“I have already taken the liberty of reporting to Your Excellency No. 7 to draw attention to the inadmissibility of important Business matters should be treated in private notes, as these evade both control and responsibility.

– 144 –

All your private letters, which I have received since my arrival from Peking here, deal with the most serious, big deals, pertinent questions in a way that gives the air and light of an official—can hardly tolerate the daily correspondence. They form a peculiar counterpart to her short, sparse official correspondence."

If one allows an ambassador, as Prince Bismarck seems to admit that the main thing treated confidentially and privately, it will result in evil—stände, as I had to praise them in my notes. What Mr. As for Brandt's reports to the Foreign Office, the same, as Mr. von Bismarck says, mostly paper and much ink on it.

For example, I complained that Mr. von Brandt was deceiving me and I suspect that he is omitting in his reports what the foreign office should know.

The question now is, did Mr. von Brandt write to the Chancellor the necessary information or even to a person outside the office Person, whether with or without the prior knowledge of the Chancellor?

If such a practice is even allowed to a messenger, it, then he can go one step further and a report to business people and will then in this way become the Chancellor, Parliament and, last but not least, the Sovereign cheated by him. The spread of such bad habits must be attributed to the lead to fraud in the long run! " |

What is the use of presenting white papers to Parliament which only contain official documents and embassy or consulate documents reports?

I recently took the trouble to read through the white papers which concerned the Samoan affair, and there I have all—However, you get the impression that there is paper and ink on it were, while the purpose and meaning of the whole Samoa=NER il. for Germany and Germanness to this day a mystery remained. |

In Bufch's book: "Our Reich Chancellor" then speaks Mr. von Bismarck on various issues regarding the usefulness of the Jews in diplomacy, and one gets the impression that he Dangers of such use are greatly underestimated: One can the use them as traitors and predators, that is what Bis—Marck himself said it elsewhere, but you can't get rid of them if you get too involved with them.

Now I would like to name some people from whom the prince preference for Jews and Jewish offspring seems to emerge.

Already earlier, many years ago, he had been involved with the Jewish Singer Pauline Lucca photographed together with the same Lucca, who in 1886 in Berlin a large charity concert and with almost all the proceeds of this concert zertess crossed the border, which today is again in

– 145 –

Prussia Concerts were organized without a public prosecutor calling them accountability. |

His dealings with Ferdinand Lafalle and his later relationships inclination towards his ideas. Mr. von Bismarck makes Mr. Lothar

Bucher, the friend and executor of Lafalle's will to his intimate advisor. ; =

Under a fine regime, the following are made ambassadors: Mr. von

Brandt, Baron Magnus and von Philippsborn. To Miniftern are appointed: Delbrück, State Minister, Falk, Minister of Culture, Friedenthal, Minister of Agriculture, von Bitter, Minister of Finance, Friedberg, Minister of Justice, Lucius, Minister of Agriculture, von Goßler, Minister of Culture; in the Foreign Office, the gentlemen von Kufferow, Count von Berchem, Rudolf Lindau, P. Kayfer, W. Kahn, Mr. Rafchdau et al. |

We miss his intimate relations with the Jews Lord

Beaconsfield, von Bleichröder, fine 5 to Jules Ferry; Mr. von Madai is the police president in Berlin. Mr. Simfon is appointed President of the Reich Court. Through his son he maintains Relations with Lord Roseberry, Roth's Jewish son-in-law fchild and all kinds of Jewish people.

In 1878, Mr. von Bismarck negotiated on the Ber= liner Congress with the Alliance israélite universelle, although it was is not officially recognized by any state, and forces the emancipation of the Jews in Romania |

The young Mr. von Bleichröder is appointed Vice-General=Konfu for England after he was expelled from the army. The same receives recommendations from the Foreign Office to all Consulates for a trip around the world. Jews are taught in German=

country in large numbers made consuls of foreign states and confirmed. N |

Mr. von Bismarck lets the anti-invasion measures
"Jaoxuden petitions of 300,000 signatures and a Student petition ignored. A petition by Jews against the Although he officially ignores anti-Semitism,

he receives the Jewish deputy Dr. Goldschmidt in secret Audience. Messrs. Ohlendorff and Lühdorff are created baronial.
Paul Lindau frequented his house, he is in contact with the Jewish merchants Godeffroy, Gebrüder Hergensheim, Behrens, Alexander in Hamburg. He is extremely irritated by the Asra
Article in the Kreuzzeitung, probably because it touched on the sore point
The large collection for his 70th birthday=
days are mainly staged by Jews. |

d.

*

The already mentioned family tree, which belongs to Prince Bismarck of was presented to Mr. von Bleichröder as a birthday present, was built by the local company Hulbe after a larger sketch of the Professor Adolf Hildebrandt in leather. The work of art is, fuch is how the "Voff. Ztg." describes it, about 1.50 meters high and from

R 10

– 146 –

fpeaking width. It shows a handsome, flowery Wieje oak tree, whose leaves and acorns are gilded
On the branches hang the coats of arms with attached motto-bands on which the names of the tribesmen are recorded (Kreuzzeitung, April 2, 1890.)

* *

*

The entrepreneurs of the so-called National Monument for Prince Bismarck published the first evidence of contributions received. It amounts to 84579 M. Far over half, almost three quarters of this sum have the local stock exchange and the large banks, one third is accounted for by the banks Bleichröder and Mendelssohn. As contributions of the

The former's salary was 17,000 and the latter's 11,000 marks.
The Aachener Hüttenverein Rothe Erde has donated 10,000 Marks donated; otherwise, the industry is only weakly represented, the local, among others, by Mr. Ifidor Löwe. For the former Reich Chancellor the review of the list will be very interesting: his eyes will on the contributions of Mr. Schwenninger, Pindter and others friends who remained, including some officials from the foreign Discover resorts and – miss many names. Enjoy
It may be that the liberal faction of the Reichstag is represented among the contributors. The deputy G. Siemens, Director of the Deutsche Bank, did not, as five years ago at the collection for the knight's estate donation, for an considered appropriate to join the Committee as a member, but nevertheless en t, fine enthusiasm for the former Chancellor by a contribution of 500 marks. The German Bank, whose director is Mr. Siemens, is, as is well known, also the Cen= tral point for the collections. The hundreds of “employees”, in the large banks are represented with contributions, self-proclaimed–

Of course, according to their boss, they only “voluntarily”
44,841 marks were contributed from Hamburg;
There are also some large companies whose owners have only recently bought a few rural properties and offered for sale agreement with Friedrichsrub to Prince Bismarck, have contributed the most. The great mass of the people apparently no desire to participate in the “national monument”.

(Berliner Volkszeitung, May 13, 1890.)

** *
*

It is not very pleasant that some Indians are Prince Bismarck was particularly conspicuous on the occasion of his departure Baron Bleichröder has a laurel-framed leather tablet, multiply gilded and silvered, with the family tree of the Bismarck's family since the 16th century as a birthday donation. The “Frankfurter Zeitung” also writes:

“A very well-known writer called out at the departure of Prince Bismarck at the Lehrter station shouted loudly “Here

r

ee – 1A

stay”, caught the “Watch on the Rhine” and made in fine enthusiasm fiasmus with a bouquet of flowers in his hand and two ladies at

Arm repeats the hopeless attempt to set up the parade of the Guard Cuirassiers. "He loves the German Empire and its founder with all the enthusiasm of the poet and Non-politician, although this empire was for him, the Austrian Jews, despite seventeen years of residence, the naturalization failed. The bitter feeling about this has his recent spirit is not weakened. Not only by being burned at the stake contributes, even if it piles up the laurels, the sancta simplicitas." ö N

This enthusiastic Jew is Mr. Kohut, who once came from Berlin expelled, but then recalled after he had written a book "Bismarck as a Humorist." – A real joke, who writes sometimes right, sometimes left as needed, will be the resourceful Man will soon have discovered a new ideal that he can flatter can. (Deutsche Sozial Blätter, May 18, 1890.)

* *
*

All true friends of humanity, including our far-sighted Emperor, hurry now as quickly as possible during the calm to fulfill the legitimate wishes of the workers.

Then suddenly Prince Bismarck, to the astonishment of all German and Christian-minded people raised their voices against it: "The workers will never be satisfied; the more you offer them, the they become more covetous and only reward with ingratitude; therefore it is the only right thing to do is not to agree to anything and just fight etc.!"

Wiel This is the view of a German Christian, whose The first commandment is: "Love your neighbour as yourself, even without Profit and recognition?" |

According to this view, parents would not have to worry about their Children worry, because usually children thank their parents not the good deeds, worries and troubles and sleepless nights etc. – So we should only do what is worthwhile and known? If someone else is bad, we can also be bad fh! Wiel This view is supposed to be Bismarck's, i.e. a German Christian fef? No! This is a purely Jewish materialist one! – | As I am still thinking about it, my gaze falls on the time ment "Das Volk" and I read: "The following cute, as true, 11 we are told: Three students recently made Prince Bismarck a visit and were admitted while The prince's "intimate friend", banker von Bleichröder, against. The latter attests during the reception his fec= honor for the prince by kissing Bismarck's hand.

When the prince was just with the "fox" of the fraternities in a conversation is deepened, the short-sighted von Bleichröder comes over, takes the hand of the "fox" and wants to put it respectfully to his lips when Prince Bismarck intervenes: "You are mistaken, Mr.

Baron." Tableau!" How tender and confidential! Yes, yes, \ 10°

– 148 –

the Jew has often spoken of his "friend Bismarck" fpeaked. It was previously believed that the "Prince" only travelled from political reasons with the "Jews"; but now we see, unfortunately, that the "Prince" not with the "Banker Bleichröder", but with the "Friends Bleichröder". –

(Deutsch-Social Blätter, August 24, 1890.)

* *
*

What a scene!

"The Jew licks well without barking, without moving, quite smoothly! La Rochfoucauld rushed to the twelve peers:

Meyer (the editor of Gaulois) is not a paragon of finesse, (la fleur de la delicatesse) but it is still pleasant to be licked like that."

(Drumont's preface to Rohling's "Le juif selon le Talmud" p. XIII.)

* *
*

A rally looks very strange in which The Jewish press of Dr. Hirsch-Hildesheimer in its No. 34 of August 21, 1890, as follows:

As a flaming symbol, the downfall of the prince, which indirectly the entire modern anti-Semitism. No matter how infinitely the former all-powerful Chancellor personally over the real Jew-hunt-fuuperfely exalted, he was afraid of accidental political successes by no means through a sad silence the in Germany on-to make the emerging anti-Semitic movement viable. Fürft Bismarck was silent when the first battle cries of the tailor's apprentice Grüneberg and the court preacher Stöcker rang out, and he remained silent, when the flames of the Neuftettin synagogue exposed the teachings of the anti-femift morality; Prince Bismarck remained silent when the Berlin Jewish community an urgent petition to the government and he remained silent when a two-day debate was held in the Prussian Parliament. "Jewish debate" raged, Prince Bismarck remained silent when his ministerial-colleague von Puttkamer an anti-Semitic gala performance in the Tonhalle, and he remained silent as thousands of Russian Jews expelled from the German regions, as countless existences were destroyed-were revealed.

And now he remains silent, the grumbling Achilles. – Indeed sooner or later "every sin on earth takes revenge!"

The grumbling Achilles is excellent!

Cain sounds fait, as if the Jews were one of their own, a Noahide, whom they know to have done great things for fhe has done, but from whom they would have liked to expect more and on whom they still place their hopes.

The environment of Prince Bismarck after his fall also a femific character. We find there the Mr. Pofchinger and Chryfander, the deputy Alexander Meyer will be received.

5 Digitized by Google a us 4

– 149 –

The behaviour of Prince Bismarck after the fall is have raised concerns even among his greatest admirers.

The majority of the scribes he received were Jews, and what he told them was mostly not nice.

A small incident that I recently witnessed in the newspaper. a

An admirer of the prince held a e to the same and praised, among other things, his kindness of heart. The prince's answer was something like: "I didn't know anything about that until now."

The facts and experiences of the last Time repeatedly brought to mind the thought that it should be possible that Bismarck is a secret Jew? That he is perhaps like Daniel Deronda discovered his race only occasionally, that the dormant germ of the Talmud, as soon as it is strongly fertilized from outside was the robust German nature which we honored in him and ftätigen, overgrown?

I once asked a sculptor what he thought of the physical Bismarck's circumstances, whether he believed that the prince as a statue without clothing.
The subsequent considerations remained without result. When, after the After Bismarck's fall, the prince's pictures were sold out in the shops were, I noticed a picture that depicted Prince Bismarck and fhis son Herbert, who theatrically portrayed the hands reached out. N

Well, it is known that the symbol of the Alliance israélite has two 8 are (who wash each other?). One for all, and all for inside!

Would it be conceivable that the Prince could be a member of the Alliance or a puppet of the same?

The Triple Alliance, a Jewish alliance with the bankers Rothschild= Bleichröder?

Hungarian MP Abranyi recently claimed that Prince Bismarck and had a conversation with him, which he published.

Mr. von Bismarck denied this reception and claimed claimed not to have seen the MP at all.

f. G.. Abranyi brought counter-evidence and maintained his claim upright. 3

In general, one got the impression that the claim of Mr. Abranyi would be correct. |

Mr. von Bismarck had received many scribes that could be indifferent whether he received one more or one less
There had to be something special going on.

Mr. Abranyi wanted to ask Prince Bismarck:
"Do you believe in a resurrection?"

Prince Bismarck is said to have replied: "In politics
nothing is impossible." |

Is a resurrection of Prince Bismarck in the manner of
Is his downfall conceivable under the current emperor? Hardly!

F

– 150 Sa Se

What would a resurrection of Prince Bismarck mean
A Jewish Republic under the presidency of Bismarck?

Crazy thought! But thoughts are duty-free, as one to say, and so let this thought pass. –

But Mr. Abranyi subsequently played a very strange role.
He addressed a pain-filled letter to the "grumpy Achilles" and resigned his mandate as a Hungarian MP, just as if he wanted to say: "Yes, if I had known beforehand who you were, then I would not have punished you for lying."

Anyone who wants to know something about the last policy of Prince Bismarck
If you want to orient yourself, we recommend a book: "Le Prince de Bismarck démasqué" 1887–1888 by M. Charles de Maurel, Paris 1889, Nouvelle Revue, Boulevard Montmartre 18.

Whether the prince has Jewish blood in his veins or not, one thing is certain, he has worked with and for the Jews in the managed in the most extensive way.

What will history say about this man? Will he Did it do more good or more harm to Germany? Who knows?
Will he ever be seen as the great man we admired him for?
have, can exist?

The most beautiful part of its greatness is gone. The scent of Germany! The bad smell of the ghetto has mixed in!

"The German only fears the falling of stock prices, Nothing else," the prince should have hunted rather than his famous-tenth saying, which penetrated the Germans down to the bootjack
That would have been more contemporary.

The way in which Prince Bismarck used his old Unfortunately, I only recently learned about the treatment of my friend von Dieft-Daber known, otherwise I would have already read some things in this policies could have been explained.

But there is one thing I have regretted before, namely that the highest product of Aryan culture "of the gentlemen" under his regime seemed to become increasingly rare. Hopefully we will experience better times!

The Jews and the Army.

Pharaoh hunted:

"For where a war arose, they would like to strike our enemies and fight against us."

Exodus, I. 10.

Since H. Naudh wrote his booklet "Israel in the Army", Many things have changed in our army. However, we have not yet the synagogue he prophesied in the cadet institution in Lichterfelde, We also do not yet have any Jewish army rabbis, and the Christian The Jewish Confession is, at least in Prussia, still nominally the officer rank is required, but nevertheless the army is strong with Officers of Jewish descent. Military pastors of Jewish descent origin are common; and the number of military doctors of Jewish Origin, nik and unbaptized, is abnormally large.

Before I go any further, I would like to mention two classic passages from Naudh's brochure will find space.

* *

*

"When they had made a march of six days, they had buboes and therefore they rested on the seventh day after they into the land that is now called Judea, and called the Sabbath day, which the Egyptians kept, because the Egyptians call the bubonic disease Sabbatosis."

(Josephus c. Apionem lib. II.)

* *

*

"If one tests a people for its expediency, it is not not only the intellectual disposition but also the physical one, and This corresponds to the Jew's origin. In this respect Compared to the Germanic tribes, they have the deficiencies of 1 Race without its advantages. – They lack the body= physical strength and vigorous temperament. They do not have the abundance the muscles of Nordic peoples, and they lack the taut tendons of the Arabs. If they are fleshy, that is not a k of the strongly developed muscle fiber, but an accumulation of loose , spongy fatty tissue. Their bones are not strong like among the Germanic tribes, and not solid, as among the southerners. – Your

The entire bone structure is defective, the chest is not broad and arched, the shoulders not straight and flat, the neck and head not upright; the arm is incorrect at the shoulder, the thigh incorrectly positioned at the hip, the knees are rarely straight, mostly facing forwards and backwards, the ankles crooked, the heels outwards and long, the metatarsal bones more or less flat foot wrapped, and balls and toes not resting evenly.

– 152 –

"From this incorrect construction, from the lack of tension their muscles produce those energyless and unsightly movements, which we laugh at in them, and that fear of physical work and effort that has such a significant impact on their shift." |

"It is an experience that repeats itself every year that Military conscription gave Jews a relatively much smaller Contingent of more useful recruits than the rest of the population, and that during marches and maneuvers the ailing men are quite unproportion of Jews."

(Naudh, Israel in the army. P. 5/6.)

* Ri *

Where the expression "Egyptian cavalry" comes from for the Jews, I have not been able to determine; in any case, it is often found in popular parlance; and it is said that Pharaoh already only for the service of the cavalry, since they were Machines were incompetent. Furthermore, in Berlin one hears of a "King Solomon's Regiment" in which extraordinarily sufficiently many Jewish descendants are to be represented. 3

But now to my own experiences: |

It was at the beginning of the year 1887; I was sitting in Berlin in a box of the Circus Renz, first alone, then came two Jewish gentlemen added.

Look, said one to the other, there he sits, young S. he will make Carriere, because the officer sitting next to him is his Uncle. His name is W. Both were Jewish names. Involuntarily followed I look in the direction which the hand of one is pointing at pointed and over there sat a young man in uniform with a helmet, (it was Sunday) apparently an avant-garde man and next to him a higher Cavalry officer with a distinctly Jewish facial type. was spoken clearly and distinctly. The young man had to Carriere because his uncle held a higher position in the army. I told this little incident that same evening to a

Friends from China, who stayed with me in the same hotel, and who has many relatives in the army. He had a promised his brothers to have a glass of wine with him the next morning To drink wine in a restaurant on Leipziger Straße. He went met only officers there and overheard the following conversation:

“Major M. is in the Regiment X (a preferred cavalry unit) Regiment),” said one of the gentlemen. –

– “Well, that is understandable,” remarked another officer, “the is Jewish and rich. –“

– 153 –

So even in Berlin officer circles you can find it quite natural, or rather, it was considered natural that a Jew not only because of his wealth but also because of his e or Jewish kinship, preferably became.

It is good to know these two little incidents in case that the Jews had their usual lamentations about ill-treatment ment in the army. Names are up for discussion.

Anyone who was in Berlin in the middle of 1889 could often see a couple walking on the streets; an infantry officer, along with his conspicuously dressed elderly lady.

When they are in the wide streets at the shop windows of the shops As they passed by, they smiled happily, as if to say: “Look how wonderful the world is! All these beautiful things hear us, belong to our people. They made such a satisfied and ingenious, but at the same time so strange impression that not only the Goyim, but also the children of Ifrael for a while stayed to send a few glances after this strange couple. The same thing seemed to come from the provinces. But one could have so well believe that it came directly out of Noah’s Ark. had come.

| I had not yet gotten over this overwhelming impression, when I met a Prussian general. He was in company a pronouncedly Jewish-looking female person, and between Both marched, led by each hand, a very small Jewish boy.

I asked the officer accompanying me whether the female being a bonne, since she is not particularly well dressed was. No, my friend corrected me, that is Mrs. Excellency and what goes on between them is “capital” (as Jews tend to 5 offspring to name) the hope and the future of our rmee!

I thought of Frederick the Great and f. wu f. w.

The fact that Jews seem to be pushing themselves towards military service, While they previously avoided it, a special have other meaning. Here is another small quote from Naudh; (Ifrael in the Army p. 5).

* m *

"Our Jews have less desire for warlike glory; because when they were called up for conscription , they asked for permission to buy themselves out with money fen, and the Rabbi of Jafrow presented on behalf of his community in an immediate petition to the king that "ten thousand thalers are more useful for the war than the cowardly rabble."

* x
*

If you want to find a side piece to this story, read

"Les Juifs en Algérie", by Meynié. pp. 19 - 22.)

1

I intentionally refrain from telling the same story so that may deal with this book himself. |

Both facts show clearly that the Jews are not concerned to serve the fatherland as a soldier in which sense, as the German, French, English, etc. do. He wants, by agreeing against his nature to use the military to take up work, to achieve something; and what he wants to achieve is the rule in the army.

The Jewish general will always show his people the way in the Army. How far we have already come in Germany in this respect It is difficult to say how many Jewish military personnel we have, since such things are carried out very secretly; but one should not the slightest illusion: |

The . plays a very important role in our German army. incredibly important role and just like in all other professions There is a connection there, from the Jewish general to the Jewish common soldiers; and on the other hand a connection among the members of the different degrees; not to forget fome are the numerous Jewish military chaplains and above all the military doctors, nor should one believe that it is a coincidence that especially recently, many Jews and Jewish offspring have joined the military=ft and that we today have so much military spirit=medical and military doctors.

Israel knows exactly where its children and relatives
, and how many of them are in the army and elsewhere.

If the Deputy Judge complains that Officers of Jewish confession are not allowed, so I am inclined to this Member's interpellation for nothing else
as a mockery of the Jews, who through such occasional claims (such as those relating to justice, by the deputy Bebel in =: raised) the Germans 1 misrepresent the true state of affairs in the army
,want.

"The Jew wrestles us with eternal lament
Cunningly the booklet from a clumsy hand!

If one believes that the Jew, by taking the king's robe attracts, changes his nature, then that is a mistake. He cannot not, even if he wanted to. The Jewish general will always be in touch have with his people, who are mostly bankers, army suppliers etc., and which in turn contain all possible relationships and the entire Jewish community of the Reich. Yes, the Jewish Officer also knows his fellow tribesmen in the armies very well
the other European and non-European countries, including those
the colonies.

The synagogue and the Alliance have very precise lists
Although we in Prussia still have no officers of Jewish con=feffion, we still have a whole series of Talmudic educated officers, and what that means is revealed by a look at the hundred laws.

– 15 –

The Jew must have just as disruptive an effect in the army as he it does everywhere else. As the general in his sphere, so the remaining degrees down to the common, each in his circles. They obey the inexorable law of nomadism, which Wahrmond in his admirable, eponymous
writing on paper. a

They have to because they have no other choice! Naturam expellas furca. tamen usque recurret.

A recently published brochure entitled "Anti-Semitic Mirror", gives us some valuable material about the Confessing Jews in the German army.

It contains a paper by Dr. Ludwig Philippson from Bonn from the year 1871. (I note here that it is the same Dr. Philippson, who was elected to the 1869 General Assembly under the chairmanship of Professor Lazarus from Berlin held a general lecture in Leipzig= synod of the Jews of all countries, its famous, by the Belgian Grand= resolution seconded and unanimously adopted by Rabbi Astruc See article Alliance israélite universelle.) It is said in it: We can especially refer Bavaria as a inclined, Jewish to regularly advance in military service. our list we have 86 doctors, 25 lieutenants, 5 Junkers (Bavarian), 3 corporals, 11 sergeants, 14 sergeants, 19 vice-cadets= webel (some of whom served as officers), 2 sergeants, 3 vice= Sergeant, 2 Captain d'armes and 133 non-commissioned officers (without the privates). We have in this our first list and first supplement 2531 soldiers are listed. Thereafter For every 100 Jewish soldiers there were just over 3 doctors, 1 lieutenant, over 5 Non-commissioned officers, officers in general almost 12. |

Why does this writing quote from 1871 and not chase us, as the things stand today; what from the Jewish offices of that time and how many are there today? The brochure tells us further:

"In France, for example, four Jews became divisional generals "(Alexander Joseph Picard, Leopold See, Abraham Lewy, Lambert), 3 Brigadier Generals (Brifac, Bernard Abraham, Hinftin). And The Jews in France constitute a relatively much smaller Number – 60,000 souls among 38 million – as in Germany, where they are 562,000 souls among 47 million.

Why doesn't the brochure tell us how things are in Italy, where in the high positions of the army and the Fleet numerous Jews? In the next war there will even be the Jew Ottolenghi became Generaliffim.

What is the situation in Austria=Hungary? What is the situation in the other countries?

Why does the brochure not give us the names of the baptized Jewish officers and Jewish descendants in the armies and fleets of different countries?

The author of the brochure knows very well that the anti-semitic tism is nothing other than a racial question and not a re=

– 156 –

religious question. For us, the main merit of this, as well as other such Jewish brochures in that they give us some outdated, partly quite well-known things, which our attention from the more important things. This is genuine Jewish practice.

The brochure is nothing more than "sand in the eyes"!

As for the Jewish confession and its admissibility in the
As far as the army is concerned, I would ask you to read Laws No. 40, 41, 44, 67, 71, 87, which describe the behavior towards the ruler of the country prescribe, read through.

How is it possible, then, to make a Jew an officer?

With regard to army chaplains, one should always keep in mind that the Sham baptism is permitted to the Jews as a means to an end. I refer to the chapter "Israel and the Christian Church" and "Baptized Jews". |

What disastrous activity Jewish military doctors, especially in Can and must wage war if they comply with the Shulchan obey, this is shown to us by the numerous laws about Mor and manslaughter, laws 81 and 83.

We have had so many sad experiences recently with Jewish civilian doctors that one begins to realize that something must be done to prevent impending dangers.

Should a Jewish military doctor be better qualified than a Jewish civilian doctor? |

Already in the United Diet of 1847, the Representative Krause pointed out that already at school the Jews begin to do business with their comrades.

A French writer who wrote under the name Gyp writes, tells us that even the babies of the noble French Christian Jews playing with Christian children in the Tuileries Garden, try to take advantage of them when they can barely speak.

We hear of rampant Jewish students, we hear of rampant Jewish officials. Shouldn't there also be rampant Jewish officers?

The author of the Antisemitic Mirror has described Bavaria as describe the country which is most inclined to receive the Jews to advance in military service.

A Bavarian military man, Mr. Herrmann Scharff-Scharffenstein, has written a lot about the Jews in the Bavarian army. He tells us, among other things, that there was a Jewish officer named Eichthal, ne Seligmann, who had the infamous Lola Montez drove around until King Ludwig came to the= became aware of him; in other words, that he was a pimp= services in the interest of the Jews. What disaster which Lola Montez instigated, is known to everyone or can everyone can easily experience it. As a sample from the writings of the ge= mentioned gentlemen may the following serve:

"As in Augsburg, so in Munich the Jews had after 1848, several of "their people" on land= military officers. In particular, they also brought a a certain Marx, probably the eldest son of the forties, previously mentioned Jewish banker Marx gradually rose to the rank of colonel of the entire Munich Landwehr. (This cunning Jew, "the old Marx", had primarily targeted the nobility. The counts

– 157 –

von H., the Barons von P., the family of C. and B., which

who had entrusted him with their assets, were ruined by his bankruptcy been completely ruined. Many honorable Munich bourgeois families were also destroyed. Nevertheless, his son Ludwig soon afterwards his children a tutor and his wife, a Jewish woman, Equipage. A second son, who died in the bankruptcy of the Jews in 1848, where they shouted "Death to the nobility" had called, went to England in 1850, but is now supposed to returned and live in Munich) It was said of him towards the end of . 1865: 5

"In the local Landwehr regiment, the Major and Comrade

Mandate of the 1st Fufilier Battalion Mr. Ludwig Marx to Colonel lieutenant and the lieutenant colonel and regimental adjutant Mr.

Auhguft Friedberg as Major and Commandant of the 2nd Fufilier= battalion."

He was promoted to major at the same time as rc. Marx. Mr. August Friedberg is also Jewish. So things went well continued with regard to the Jews, who were all "Lieutenants" and "Cavaliers",

"Knights of the Order" and "Noblemen". In April 1866,

then Lieutenant Colonel Marx was actually promoted to Colonel and commanders of the entire Munich Landwehr Regiment. On April 8, the Munich Jewish newspapers wrote: "Today In the morning, our militia had honoured the newly appointed Colonel and Commandant Mr. Marx in the Glass Palace a pro= prettiness parade took place." |

On April 25, the following folent report said of a Jew as follows:

Munich, April 25. The excellent spirit that the Landwehr Munich, has recently been the subject of several announced again. Yesterday evening the non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the Landwehr Regiment? the newly appointed Colonel and Commandant of the same, Mr. Marx, in the utmost tastefully decorated localities of the Westend Hall a brilliant A festival was held in which patriotic speeches were given to express the sentiments unshakable loyalty and devotion to King and Fatherland, Law and order was given the most vivid expression. Toast on His Majesty the King as supreme warlord, His Royal Highness

Prince Adalbert as district commander, Major General

Stöber as Commandant of the Landwehr Brigade Munich and Colonel Marx, whose appointment was greeted with such general joy was greeted by the entire regiment, then to the regiment itself, increased the prevailing patriotic mood. The entire officer= corps of the regiment attended the splendid festival, which was masterly performances of a series of selected pieces by of the regiment's music corps under the excellent direction of his Kapellmefters Herr Hager, who also received the most thunderous applause and received undivided recognition, was embellished and lasted until late. Similar festivities had recently taken place the officer corps of the 2nd Fufilier Battalion, then the non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the 8th Company of the same in honor of the honorably completed 27 years of service in the active Landwehr= services and departing from the command of the said company Captain Würzburger, who tastefully Certificates were presented expressing the feelings of the

– 158 –

Sing and love, which all fine comrades and subordinates will always protect him."

The last person to be dressed was Mr. Würzburger, also a Jew, had already joined the army in 1841, after a Already a Corporal in the first quarter of the year and of course a Lieutenant in 1848, 9 it soon brought to the captain and now rests on its orberries.

The Landwehr Colonel Ludwig Marx has also been In 1868 it was said of him:

"Mr. Landwehr Colonel Marx, who has temporarily held a more= weekly holiday, and, as we are told, intends to to leave the military service. (Order pains?)"

(Scharff=Scharffenstein, The Jews in Bavaria, pp. 124-127.)

What the Jews are striving for in the army is absolute rule in the same and about the same. To obtain the same, let No means untried. The closest to them and their The most appropriate means are bribery and Usury. Through these means they believe they can achieve everything, and have indeed achieved a lot.

I am quoting here an excerpt from a recently published Book follow:

"How terribly deeply indebted the officer class is, I have from the above-mentioned Mr. Siegbert Cohn, who Time was probably one of the most initiated and during his travels through the various garrison towns in order to understand the conditions and agents, has gained a lot of experience. He carried whole packages of officer's badges with him. and the same is strictly forbidden, and an officer who but has been persuaded to exhibit such a thing, is also fad about how an official who pawns receipts, false exchange, or in the manner described above in a Cafè has let it catch. But now, what with time is unavoidable= becomes applicable, the written word of honor is broken, fhe is lost forever. Such a certificate of honor from a former officer, who can no longer be harmed by it, wants I print here. |

"" en
" Ea

I hereby declare on my word of honour that I accepted bill of exchange for 1800 marks, written eighteen= hundred, due on punctually redeemed.

Berlin 18.4

signed by Schlippenbach.

This bill of exchange originally had 300 marks with 25 percent
Despite considerable interest payments, the same but gradually increased to 1800 marks. Mr. Cohn explained very dryly: "Whether 50 marks more or less were bet on the boy
It doesn't matter!" Recently I was informed that this
Mr. von Schlippenbach was one of our most capable officers.
On 14 August 1870, at the beginning of the battle, he received a ferious wound. He continued to fight. Later that afternoon he was wounded for the second time. Nevertheless, he remained in the battle line.
Late in the evening, a third bullet struck him lifeless.
was carried dead from the battlefield, but recovered.
Since then, he was known in the army as "the Immortal." Yes,
He was immortal against the honest French bullets, but not against the malice of the Jews, for whose possession and fhe had also fought. He is said to have met his end in London.
found. Have parents or relatives provided everything for the rescue= given, then the lost one disappears as quickly as possible in silence.
Just don't make a fuss, that's their main concern, rather on Be= fpunish the crooks who, with effort and worry, raised child, whom they would have so gladly sacrificed to the fatherland, whose father's eyes so often rested with pride, whose mother's eyes so often nn has ruined. The false shame,

This has always been the best protective cloak for the Jews.
If all the victims had come forward openly, much Disaster has been prevented. Some of the indebted officers are trying funtil finally to save themselves through a rich marriage and are on
In the end he was forced to marry a rich Jewish woman.
God forgive them! But should the nobility already be so deeply
"It would be that such connections would form a rule,

then of course the other estates would have to help themselves
The nobility would then become allies of the worst tormentors of the fatherland. That this alliance between Jews and nobility is evidently growing, must unfortunately be considered as established Recently, a German Officer with the daughter of Mr. von Bleichröder, which marriage admittedly did not go well. The Jewish banker Hainauer has married two daughters to German nobles. Major von Goldammer married a rich Jewish woman who had a Million as a dowry. For less, this gentleman explained, he would not let himself be dragged into the stable.

Even nobles of Jewish descent no longer belong
8 the rarities. Let us start with Baron von Cohn, aron von Hirsch, von Goldschmidt, von Rothschild, von Bleichröder, von Oppenheim, von Mendelssohn, we also find carriers of Names of old noble families of Jewish descent. Who would This is what we believe, for example, in the case of a family from Treskow: A Jew Trefekow had large army supplies and would of course in this business with leisurely a rich Man, while the troops in front shed their blood for the fatherland— He was named after Treskow (not ck) and, what The most astonishing thing is also the Tresckow coat of arms.

– 160 –

Many officers hold out for many years despite their debts, but is then often at an advanced age and as a colonel or general still forced to reach for the revolver. Gablenz, the winner of Oeversee and Trautenau, had long since reached the highest military level climbed up when he reached for his pistol. The colonel of the Zittau garrison regiment had two adult, uncared-for daughters, as he had to shoot himself because of debts. With what feeling he took the gun in his hand! Recently shot a Lieutenant von Sydow and a Lieutenant von Holtzendorf of the 64th Regiment in Prenzlau, and in Metz, in the very last time a whole number of officers were shot, all of whom were destroyed by a single Jew.

When old Wrangel saw that his only son was not more help was possible, he sent him the pistols himself, with which he actually shot himself. A field marshal who was in won great honours in the last war and was also mentioned much later declared to his son that he himself was with His Majesty the must apply for dismissal, because an indebted officer His Majesty cannot use it! The value of the army must necessarily suffer from such indebtedness, because an officer, who is always worried, constantly threatened and rushed, must sufficiency suffers from damage! Unfortunately, it is the most capable, most talented officers who are thus brought to The surplus of spiritual gifts often pushes egoism, the interest in external well-being. The army administration would be grateful if you could collect material about it and would be made public.

How far we have come with the eternal cover-up is
I am assured by the most competent authority, that 90% of all officers are in debt.

That things may look even worse in other countries than with us, proves the usury trial in Vienna against the Jew Ifidor Selinger.

He has hundreds of military trainees—
Educational institution to ruin or at least the germ of the corruption in them, to which they later succumbed as officers findefinite misery has been created by him, countless old noble and middle-class families have sold their property in order to sons, but in vain. An indescribable movement walked through the courtroom as a witness, a venerable, gray-headed gentleman, approached Selinger and with a moved voice

— 161 —

and said with tears in his eyes: "That you are the murderer of my son find, is certain! The debt of Lieutenant Franz Neugebauer, who also shot himself, was in a very short time from 300 to 3500 guilders. In his possession was found a Gulden. He had all the better fittings and gold borders pawned or sold to second-hand dealers. The usurer received 6 years

Prison, which he had under the humane Austrian prison laws, since he has the ability to do so, he can make it quite pleasant. His anger serfs naturally continue this lucrative business, while he runs the case from prison. N (Herm. Ahlwardt, The Struggle of Desperation, pp. 178-180.)

; * *E

*

This shows us in what bonds Judaism has bound our army has already defeated. The entire army including emperors, kings and princes, try to bring the Jews under their obedience, fothat these are only their generals, who the Aryan peoples to the advantage of the Jews in the war. One should no illusions; these are the real final goals of Judaism, to consolidate their world domination. What share the Jews have in the outbreak and occurrence of the previous war,
This can be seen in the works of French writers such as Drumont, Chirac and others, have a lot of experience. In any case,

It can be concluded that the Jews see a European war only as Consider the business matter. | |

What has become of the billions that the last French Austrian-German War as war reparations to the German people brought in? They have mostly passed into Jewish hands= gone! Even the Disabled Fund, the Fortress Construction Fund, which from this compensation was before the robbery

the Jews are not safe. |

The last war was, after all, a national war. What will be the next one? |

But before I go any further, let us take a look at the activities of international Jewry in the last war.

The Synagogue during the Ariege.

"The "Correspondence 1" reports the following about a grand religious celebration, which took place in Paris on December 19th in the Con= iftorial=temple. Solemn prayers for the rest of the Israelite dead who fell on the field of honor, and alms for the widows, wounded and children of the fallen are collected. After chants from Psalms David's prayer of deliverance was heard. The Chief Rabbi of Paris, Mr. Zadoc Khan, ascended the pulpit and prayed for the numerous Israelite heroes who fought for the liberation of their Fatherland. He spoke eloquently of the most famous, like Commandant Franchette, from the less known, such as the numerous soldiers, mown down in the middle of the 11

– 162 –

ranks of the army. The Grand Rabbi of France, Mr. Ifidore, fayed a prayer for France and cursed in sublime Language the scourge of war: "God," he said, "bless the holy Wars of liberation; God curses the wars of conquest and ambition. The Maccabees, David, whose Psalms we fang, are the chosen ones of heaven, the conquerors sullied with blood and golden laurels, are cursed before God." The ceremony was just about to close with a collection when the secretary of the con= fiftorium, Mr. Albert Cohen, well known among the poor of

I took the floor and addressed some moving words to the audience directed: |

"There are more than 100,000 () Jews in the Prussian Army; they do their duty as Prussians, but their hearts are frank-zö fifisch, because it is the victorious France of 1792, the owe their independence. Let us pray for them, my Friends, and let us thank the Frenchman, who is Minister of Foreigners. In a Jewish house in Ferrières he has nobly courageously spoke words of peace in a Jewish house our enemies have the God of mercy and man-ity by refusing to support our government hear. The righteousness of God will be done!" |

Many notables attended the celebration; called The gentlemen von Rothschild, Anspach, Cremieux, Halphen, Cohen, Levy, Lazare, etc. Then a large number of officers-adorn the army and the national guard.

The wars of conquest, "which God curses," are only on the war of the Germans against the French, which had fallen to the Jews-rich. The mass of hundreds of thousands of Jews in the Prussian army we cannot believe, since Mr. von Roon, the Prussian Minister of War only a few Berlin Landwehr officers Jewish name to the militia when the war against Frank-Reich began. Even the common Jews were kept away as much as possible and left many who were afraid of the fire and were afraid of breast-pain, gladly returned. That the heart of many Jewish Sol-We do not want to deny that data in the German army is "French"-We find it very naive of Albert Cohen that he thinks that the Dentfians "have the God of mercy"-annoyed when they refused to listen to the French government.

It is perhaps appropriate here to recall the lovely anecdote think of what the otherwise Jewish-friendly "Kölner Zeitung" wrote in the second quarter of this year. |

She said: "A Berlin Jew had in a battle French Jew, who had a decorated with an eagle standard, and greeted him as a tribal brother in the most friendly way-to let him have it. The Frenchman also told him this surrendered under the condition of "half part" without a fight. After returning to the North German residence, the Berliner had received the agreed reward for his military deed, but then his Tribesmen told quite comfortably how it happened with the eagle.

9 » 4

Digitized by 0 ogle 2

whereupon all those present (at a ceremony held in his honor) given lunch) for his intelligence." (Scharff=Scharffenstein, Judaism in France, pp. 139– 142.)

* *
*

And after this edifying image I will follow another, namely the

Entry into Paris in 1871.

It was not the army, writes Mr. Renée de Lagrange in Figaro of February 25, 1883, which we first saw, but the General Staff, which apparently reconnoitred. This outpost came in a short troop; a restless eye on the thin rows of spectators who had positioned themselves on the right and left sides of the road.
The riders who formed the vanguard – I can still see them – were almost all tall people of beautiful stature, who like horsemen from birth Horses were sitting. They mostly wore the shiny uniform of the cuirassiers.
The helmets of these riders, whose tops bore eagles, and their Cuirasses decorated with coats of arms shone in the first rays
the March sun. 5 8 |

The facial expression of these aristocratic warriors was in perfect harmony with their manly armament.
The impression was magnificent. Her red-blond hair, her strong beards, their fresh healthy complexions, their defiant blue eyes, deceptively reminded of the picture of the same men, which formerly Tacitus' stylus once drew: Oculi caerulei et truces, rutilae comae, magna corpora To do justice to his opponents
one must admit that these figures have a great cha= actors.

When you looked at these gigantic equestrian figures, you would believe that Bard from the banks of the Rhine, the contemporaries Barbaroffas, as can be seen on the facade of Heidelberg Castle sculpted or seen on the copper engravings of Albert Dürer. The whole Group breathed the feudal Germany, the iron 1 the Reign of violence, the military Middle Ages. This small cavalry troop, in the middle of which is the King of Prussia and Heren von Bismarck, fully armed as he was, advanced as said with great caution. In Paris, this revolutionary abyss, after a five and a half month siege, the
was not entirely safe, that meant going into the volcano Before risking the army, the General Staff examined the terrain; no doubt out of concern that despite all precautions= reprimand any dynamite mine under the feet of the recruits= army would explode! There was a king, princes and generals, who performed the service of the Uhlans on that day.

This troop of soldiers was immediately followed by another group, but these were in civilian clothes. The second group was certainly even more strange diger than the former; behind these iron-armored and steel-shining= the Centaurs rode, like pliers clamped onto the horses, strange People in long brown padded overcoats. Long, fights, golden glasses, long hair, ringed dirty red beards, wide-brimmed hats; just as many Jewish bankers, like Isaacs Laque= those who followed the Prussian army like vultures. At their From their outfit it was easy to recognize their trade.

11*

– 164 –

It was undoubtedly the financial Jews who were responsible for the were commissioned to seize our billions. Behind the general ftaff of the military, the general staff of the ghetto! It is unnecessary to say that on these distraught low faces the expression great fear could be read.

After this double train had passed, a long Time, at least an hour. We learned the following day that The reason for this pause was that the General Staff had met at the Elysée. to have breakfast there. The Jew Ernest Picard had the favor, fine friends, the enemies, a champagne To have breakfast served as a welcome.

Having enjoyed this republican breakfast and having eaten enough was moistened with wine, the train started moving again, the TChamps=Elyfées to take the lead of the army, which moved in there. Again we see the armored and gold= shining centaurs parade past us, followed by the children Ifraels with dirty beards, but this time the facial expression was= print another. The breakfast had a fine effect: The Face flushed by the wine of the best harvests of France, the Eye sparkling, liquor on the moustache, posture challenging, Furthermore, it was certain that no attack would take place, that no mine would be laid their feet would burst, the generals rode at a sharp trot Arvenue up. (Drumont. La France juive IS 398 ff.)

Should one not believe that the patriotic Frenchman, who created this picture, despite all the misfortune that his father= country affected, has a certain feeling that it would not have been a disgrace is to succumb to such opponents as he describes them to us. With

But what feeling of disgust does he describe the second group, this sinister society of bloodsuckers! But you have to here we must ask, who are the real masters? the victorious steel- and gold-shining warriors or the flick-looking Semites?

On the Entry into Berlin in 1871,

we read in Ahlwardt's "The Desperate Struggle", page 163:
"When Kaiser Wilhelm was in power in 1871, the city Berlin and the entire German people, among others two daughters of a merchant, conceived in adultery—Councillor Kahnheim, whose father had defrauded the state of millions and hanged herself in prison, were appointed as honorary maids to figure."
"One of these daughters, it is said, later even became a model stood at the statue of Germania in Moabit. The police-President Mr. von Madai then met Kaiser Wilhelm at the unveiling days of the monument to the family, who was Committee was reasonably not invited."

— 165 —

What awful cynicism of Semitism lies not in these actions!

How might the loyal Hebrews think among themselves about such Jacob's-pranks laughed!

Ä oh let us move on to another picture, where another patriotic Frenchman, Israel in its element, at the Stock exchange shows; when a national disaster struck France—was broken, and thousands of Frenchmen lost their blood and lives in distant land in the belief that they were in the service of their father-country fought:

The Stock Exchange During the War.

| The misfortune of Lang Son, writes Drumont, was in the That was an unexpected boon for the Jews and the stock exchange shone once again in the splendor of days gone by. 5

ö A writer whose uneven talent sometimes shines—He created fully luminous images, he Octave Mirbeau, has given us a moving portrayal of those circles which, in the face of such Catastrophes only think of pleasure and gain:

"You had to see the stock exchange, yes the stock exchange! and what you could see there saw, filled the heart with disgust and revulsion. Every time France is in danger when the blood flows from its flanks and tears well up in his eyes, then thousands of these gang of robbers to attack the unfortunate country, To collect blood and tears and, like horrible alchemists, into gold. From which caves, from which breeding-houses, from which ghettos did these wretches come and rushed over? With a twisted mouth, arms stretched out longingly, with eyes eager for prey they run, fall, tumble, one over the other and a tremendous cry arises, raw and more sinister than the Chinese victory cry.

The wide staircase of the large building is completely black and swarming with the noisy gesticulating crowd that fills the house, which looks like a large eyeless monster, seems to carry and from which one can hear noises, as of a collapse, from the collapse of France's fortunes. And one asks fisch: Isn't this France lying on the stretcher, pale, beautiful, soulless? Do not all the greedy hands that are drawn to the approaching the motionless body like the tentacles of a polyp, lay him down and slowly with their thousands of suction cups and embraced by gels, the still warm blood from fine open

ern

The terrible misfortune was not yet great for that band of robbers, the defeat was not yet thorough enough. Messengers of bad luck were invented fcafe, as if what had happened was not already terrible, the grief not

—

was already big enough. It was not enough for them that our little eer in Tonkin probably lost that perhaps none of the fighters should return home; they even spread the Rumor that an uprising had broken out in Paris, that people were fighting and murders at the Palais Bourbon and on the boulevards. If they had witnessed the collapse of France, and if the whole Land from Marseille to Lille, from Nancy to Bordeaux nothing but a large blood-soaked field of corpses, what a raging wild Cries of victory would then have been heard! And with every sinking of the Course, with every devaluation of the rent, which in the panic and under the pressure of these robbers to the point of immeasurability had to, a convulsive joy flashed in those faces, as among the dirty Jews who, late in the evening after the fight, broken carriages and guns on the battlefield the Ver-steal from the wounded and rob the bodies of the fallen.

Yes, I confess it and swear that I have for a moment wished that cannons and mitrailleuses were among these jackals clean up and stone by stone and pillar by pillar remove those want to destroy the cursed temple, which stands like a permanent monument of disgrace and treason in our midst=

And at the same moment when pleasure-seeking people rushing from pleasure to pleasure, from vice to vice, while these greedy people continually commit the most shameless robbery, our poor troops, without help, without hope, but full of courage in those countries brimming with cruel enemies killed, and perhaps bring their corpses back to the fatherland turned pale face and the face cut off by the enemy fickleness between the teeth, the rice fields and peftilenzia= lish swamps of those distant lands."

And from all this disgrace and shame, Drumont The pure and noble figure of Admiral Courbet stands out. This steadfast man, the slave of his loyalty, who risking his life to obey the orders of people who he despises from the bottom of his soul, appears like an inter= nation of the military spirit of the French etc."

(Drumont. La France juive IS 514.)

What will be the next war? Against whom will it be fought become? Heaven only knows! R

Israel, which incites the nations against each other, feseif disunited, desires war, war at any price; the greater the War, the better for Israel. N

A general European war in which the non-Jewish he tears them apart, can only result from fine wishes speak.

The more blood flows, the more pleasing it is to his God.

The terrible prayer of this people is:

"Pour out your wrath upon the Gojzim who do not and over the kingdoms that do not call on Your name:

– 167 –

For they have devoured Jacob, and his dwelling place they have devastated." |

"Pour out upon them your wrath and the fierceness of your anger reach them. Pursue them in wrath and destroy them under God Heavens above!"

A beautiful prayer before the battle! |

And what terrible means to achieve a general euro= Ira perhaps even provoking a world war, does not have

rael a

Through bonds, it has put the states into debt. Most Princes are bound to it by money or by any Chained to complicity. |

The majority of the officers are gagged by usury, and Things may look just as bad in the civil service.

A large part of the nobility and landowners are in need of rescue loosely wrapped.

Israel awaits with impatience the moment when the guilt will be has grown so large that the ruling classes have no other wish more than the general disgrace of a bloody war to blur. u

Ifrael does not fail to point out to those in power the advantages of a such business, which it through fine taken from the peoples Money subsidized, because that is what a war is, to
by promising a share in the booty; but by promising in reality he only thinks about their ruin and his own rule.

The tremendous militarism which is beginning to harm the peoples and to become bearable is nothing but a consequence of Jewish incitement, which it has been able to pursue with impunity for decades.

Europe resembles a society of armed gladiators, which tormented by an inner illness, wanting to attack each other believing that the neighbor was to blame for the suffering.

Yes, the children of Ifrael would like it to come to pass that there would be to reap the spoils and then build up a power and to fasten.

The most despicable of all the miserable Jews in Paris, Dreyfuss, can can hardly wait for the moment, he is openly rushing.

Israel smells the smell of corpses! The whole of Europe is in a nervous
The excitement caused by the Jewish rot and corruption
The Aryan peoples have for too long been a foreign element in their midst, and now the end is preparing divorce proceedings.

The thought of the next war is terrible. The peoples who go to war will no longer be supported by the Awareness that they are going to war for their country. cheerful spirit will be lacking.

In war itself, the courage of the individual is less than ever come into effect.

are, a

– 168 =

In France, Italy and Austria the highest positions are in the armies and fleets often in Jewish hands, the leadership perhaps completely. If one believes that a Jewish general would act differently, dle than the Jew described to us by the "Kölnische Zeitung" who did business with his namesake in the field? It is quite unthinkable that he would act differently, because the Jew knows no fatherland, even if he swears it a thousand times. How many Jews we have in Germany in high military positions, is It is difficult to determine this here, as I said. Perhaps the Alliance some time before it lets the war break out, in order to to prepare better for their purposes in Germany and in the other countries to further perfect it.

For the Jews, the next war would be a pure war of plunder Assassination, poison, and common robbery would cause endless Demand sacrifices. The Aryan peoples would fight among themselves the slaughter. The Aryan officers of the various European A chunk of the booty would be thrown to the European states– the one, somewhat in the manner of the fisherman who fishes with the cormorant and who puts a ring around the bird's neck so that it can catch the cannot swallow the caught fish; the fisherman then takes takes the fish away from the bird and gives him a little miserable 1 Israel is slowly preparing for the holy destruction= rieg vor.

A field provost of Jewish origin, Bishop Aßmann, organized abolishes the entire Catholic military service in Prussia; about Protestant military chaplains and military doctors of Jewish descent I have already hunted enough, they find disproportionately numerous: They are pushing themselves into the care of the wounded and sick with Violence occurs even though one does not want it. We are experiencing this strange spectacle at this moment. What is the purpose of Jewish people with it, what do these Jewish benefactors and welfare workers want? perpetrators, these uninvited? Should it be humanity, what the drives, selflessness? Hardly! One can see the laws 25, 73, 86, 87, 89, 94; furthermore, read only once the laws 50 and 83, finally the laws on manslaughter 19,

Consider who you are in field A "Jewish officers, Jewish doctors, Jewish pastors, Jewish nurses, followed by the hyenas of the battlefields, also mostly Jews.

Again, do not believe that it is a coincidence what is happening in this direction everything in the armies and around them complete Everything is carefully monitored by secret superiors and the synagogue ie Every Jew, every Jewess receives at the right time In= ruption.

Yes, the greedy hands that have seized the French 5 billion who knew how to evade the Austrian war contribution, the same ones after the war, they did not shy away from the disability fund and the

– 169 –

Fortress building fund, this blood and tears condensed into gold, the emergency funds of the relatives of the fallen, to attack their Fingers already curl with greed at the thought of new robbery.

But let us assume the most favourable scenario, that Germany is in a next war victorious and succeed in giving another country great What would happen if the country won? of the troops in Berlin? There would probably only be Jewish Maids of honor would greet the emperor and surely Jewish Infamy manages to make even worse mockery of the Germans, as Mr. von Madai did in 1871.

What can the Jews, for example, do with the following demand to= other purpose than to destroy the German flags, the cross, mock? (See Laws 4, 8, 10, 56–71, 79, 83–91.)

"The Regimental Flag in the Synagogue? A Test

The following incident from the recent Jewish history provides an example of Fah As is well known, the recruits are sworn in with the led to the church, where, according to previous divine services then the oath of allegiance is taken. Rabbi Levi in Gießen (be- known for his fine, famous treatise "Anti-Semite=Antichrist") now a few days ago to the colonel of the local 116th Infantry= Regiment, Mr. Rogge, and suggested that the flag should fuch as in the church, fuch also during the swearing-in of the recruits Jewish religion to the synagogue. Only the anti= word was: "Mr. Rabbi, our flags are marked with the cross decorated, do not belong in the synagogue!" (Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 121 of December 7, 1890.)

* *
*

During the military service, the synagogue would take first place claim and covered head the Rabbis would appear before the Emperor, just as it is already happening today in Austria 8 (See article "Jews and rulers.") The feasts and love feasts would, out of respect for their comrades and fellow citizens, Beliefs must be prepared kosher. It almost looks as if one should prepare oneself for such kosher meals.

* **
*

"Kosher officer's table? The "Allgemeine Zeitung des Juden= thums" happily prints the following charming joke:

"The residents of a well-known kosher hotel in Berlin, tells the "BB=C.", were not a little surprised when these days the entire officer corps of the 2nd Guards Regiment z. F. with its Ladies drove up to the hotel. The officer corps held a intimate festivities. The regimental chief medical officer had some time ago, he attended a party in the hotel in question; the new Hall and the service had ftill him very well Halles and so had he recommended the hotel to the officer corps. The innkeeper offered everything

N.,

– 170 –

to satisfy the guests, and they have kosher food was particularly enjoyable." |
| (Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 125. January 4, 1891.)

* *
*

After the war, a new Gründerzeit would emerge, and Ministries and justice are entirely in the hands of Jews, one needs ft even less embarrassed than after the previous war, the whole War contribution including invalids= and other similar funds belongs of course to the Jews, because they have the business of War, and the stupid Goyim, who are even want to let them live, get at most enough to just not starve.

Soon after, all secret Jews in Germany threw the Mask off. The Jewish religion is declared the state religion, Professor Virchow, who has already spoken in the name of the dear animals clarified that the slaughtering of the same person was extremely more fun than the painless one for the Germans to be killed in the prescribed manner now also explains that it For hygienic and ethical reasons, it is absolutely necessary to to introduce circumcision generally. Then the Jews will show us through the Old Testament, the Talmud and other works clearly shows that since we are now at such a height of civilization, they must devour us, because it ft is written: "You will devour all nations You shall not names –"

The good German is educated enough to understand everything and Now he is faced with the difficult choice of how he wants to be eaten, either in raisins= or in garlic sauce, as Leviathan once to be eaten in paradise during the triumph of the children of Israel.

Michel is a little slow on the uptake and is wondering how he can Children of Israel should make it palatable etc. The Kaiser is gone= The Berlin Castle is of course a large hotel (Hotel International). In the royal castles hausen Pinkus, Feilchenfeld, Itzigfohn and others, who because of their "Merits" in the war, where they were suppliers, all ennobled.

The estates of the Hohenzollerns (the Jews today actually say and in all seriousness, it is a favorite thought that haunts her: "The Hohenzollerns actually have too many goods, it would be better if they came among the people (the chosen ones, of course) are confiscated, just like those of the Prince of Eu today, son-in-law of the Emperor of Brazil, to be confiscated.

The long-awaited crown diamonds shine on the arms, on the shoulders and heads of the fat Jewish women, that would be so unbearable the conditions we face. Whoever does not believe If you want to, just look around a little in Drumont's books and pay attention to certain symptoms in Germany. With a little good

– 11 –

Will, one can easily convince oneself that I am not in the least exaggerated.

"There are terrible revolutionary elements in Germany, The most powerful of these is the Jewry, which with its Newspaper writers, poets, speakers and bankers through and through revolutionary and what a terrible time it was for Germany which will probably bring a more terrible time for IR itself will follow." (Rougeyron. De I' Antichrist. 28.)

But is the thought of such a war and its Consequences terrible, how much more terrible is the thought of the terrible massacre among the Jews and their comrades, when the A light is dawning on them how they are deceived. Not only in Germany, but throughout the civilized world, this A race war will break out. In one way or another, this Lawn issue will be resolved and this will undoubtedly be the big event at the end of this century.

But there is a more peaceful solution to the question and the should be treated elsewhere.

Auden and civil service.

What was discussed in the previous chapters by diplomats and officers What has been said applies more or less to all officials in Germany. Mr. Ahlwardt tells us about the situation of the civil service thums the following descriptions:

"– – – Nevertheless, the situation of the civil service has constantly worsened and is currently a completely unbearable situation. The uninitiated cannot possibly understand this. He must say to himself as a reasonable person: the official has a fet income with which he has to settle. If he limits his needs, as is the duty of every poor person, fhe can still make savings that will one day benefit his children If three quarters of all civil servants are in debt, they simply do not understand how to organize themselves economically and raise Claims that do not apply to them. But if this is the case, then one may rightly exclaim: "Finis Germaniae!" This ver= the civil service, which is made up of all sections of the population ftrates would indicate a depravity of the entire people that would lead to a rapid downfall. But There is, thank God, no inner reason for this unfortunate state of affairs. moral corruption, in most cases not even recklessness or an overly expensive lifestyle, but the loss The coarseness is conjured up from outside, through Judaism. The civil service, like the other classes, is subject to sophisticated The cleverness of Judaism was not up to the task. first captured individuals, and through these with the help of the surety, which a friend rarely denies to a friend, ever wider circles Only after the civil service had reached the top was completely gagged, Judaism could not fhis actual goals emerge."

(Herm. Ahlwardt, The Struggle of Desperation, pp. 40-49.)

* *
*

"No category of civil servant has protected itself from the proliferation Almost a quarter of all civil servants are hopelessly have fallen into usury, while an incalculable number of less indebted officials from their situation still a strict secret.

- 173 -

If we include those who are covered by guarantees damaged, as well as those who owed money to indebted colleagues- loan and have not received it back, we may be- claim: 90 percent of all civil servants are affected by usury damaged!' |
(Hermann Ahlwardt, The Struggle of Desperation, p. 55.)

* * 1

*

I now ask, how can, if these numbers are even close correspond to the truth, a state machine in the German sense work, how can such indebted officials and officers Fulfill their duty joyfully, how can they fulfill it at all, when the Jew with the golden knout always stands behind them.

But it is not Mr. Ahlwardt alone to whom I owe the knowledge of these facts, although I never had a clear idea of how bad things were in the German Empire. Already I have discussed this point several times with my friend von Brandt¹ who has spoken, but I thought he was a pessimist when he made such statements, I could hardly have guessed that he was anticipating² so quite precisely about the percentage of all officials and also of the persons who are in the hands of the Jews, knowledge. |

At the beginning of 1889 I spoke with a liberal ordered about the low quality of the current official³ thumbs in China. He said, we know exactly how it is with such officials are appointed, and if you file a complaint against them you must be prepared to find that Perjury is as cheap as blackberries. That was his long speech short sense. I meant the official launched by the Jews⁴ thumb. Such conditions are just to get out of the skin drive, and it seems to be high time that one cleans up properly and puts an end to the Jewish economy by force End. In what way Judaism expresses its will through fupposes, the following gives us a proof:

Paderborn, May 13. (Own report) Almost 14 days lived the members of the local Jewish community in excitement and Unrest, the cause of which is also of interest to wider circles. Like an 18 out of the blue, the parish council⁵ A district police ordinance would be issued that in the future immediately after the slaughter of large and small livestock, the beating A letter addressed immediately to the President of the Government Request for annulment of this order, since the blow to the head also where ritual slaughter is forbidden by religious law, was rejected Then on Sunday a telegram was sent to the Ober⁶ President in Münster made the request to temporarily suspend the order to fistir; since no answer was received, the request was withdrawn on Monday renewed, and we received the notice that the President of the Government in Minden had been asked to comment on the matter. At the same time, a letter came from Minden stating that

You issued a police order to the Royal

– 174 –

the request could not be accepted because the regulation with the approval of the district committee, and even There is no reason to abolish it, since the ritual impurity laziness of this slaughter process has not been proven by anything; only after providing proof of this, the President of the Government to take a closer look at the matter. The municipal council then submitted the the expert opinion of Rabbi Dr. Hildesheimer=Berlin, Dr. Gronemann=Hannover and Dr. Prager=Caffel, and the board then received the following decision from the director-President of the Council:

Royal Government |

Journ. No. 1337 IP

Minden, May 10, 1890.

On the presentation of 7 May of this year concerning the approval-in § 3 No. 5 of the District Police Ordinance of 12 April d. J., (Official Gazette page 93) I announce to the Synagogue Board, that through the material presented I have gained the conviction that the above-mentioned provision corresponds to the generally accepted I have therefore, subject to the Approval of the District Committee, under today's Police ordinance issued by which the authority in question This police regulation will be repealed in the next ft pieces of the Official Gazette, which was published on 17th of this month will be published and will come into force on that day I have sent a copy of this order to the local police station. administration.

The government president JV Lüpke.

We confidently hope that the district committee will will give a vote to repeal that order and thus our Worry and anxiety are permanently eliminated. It should also be emphasized that that our community, in the face of the tragedy, stands together unanimously= ft was that not a single member, even those who otherwise had no ritual household, took Trefah meat. It cannot be There is no doubt that this provision is also part of the agitation of the Animal protection societies owe their existence, which apparently, as was recently highlighted in your paper, that what they could not obtain through Reich law, through administrative Seek to enforce regulations. Also videant consules!

Jewish Press No. 20. – May 15, 1890.

8 *

2 |

Warburg, May 18. (Own report). In the previous issue, 15 government to Minden of 12 April of this year, according to which the Jewish ritual slaughtered animals immediately after the throat cut an anesthetic= This regulation came into effect immediately force, and any attempt to hold back or leniently handle to obtain the same was difficult during the slaughterhouse inspection.

stubborn resistance, even the offer of Jewish butchers,

– 175 –

to accept the threatened punishment was rejected. The
The next consequence was that here the ritual slaughter with the eyewas discontinued in view of the entry into force of the regulation. As you can see,
As already announced, the municipality of Paderborn, to which the Ver-order one day earlier than it reaches us, immediately with the necessary seriousness and energetic steps to withdraw them, should quickly obtain the opinions of the Rabbis
Dr. Gronemann-Hannover, Dr. Hildesheimer-Berlin and Dr. Prager-Cassel and submitted them to the government. In a similar
The board of our community acted accordingly. Already on Friday
On the 9th of the month a request was sent to the government, in which-
It is said that "the board is convinced that Royal Direction-
The government does not want to impose any religious coercion, but rather to provide the a Reform Rabbi declared that this procedure was permissible, that we, on the other hand, have such views on a world that has been shaped by the millen-fend sacred institution". The two requests had the desired effect. An immediate response was received from the Royal Government, which has approximately the following wording:

To the Synagogue Board of Warburg.

In response to your submission yesterday, I inform you that I, according to the expert opinions submitted by the municipality of Paderborn,
I have become convinced that provision No. 3 of the § 3 of the Ordinance of 12 April the generally accepted mofa-is contrary to the laws of the country, which is why I reserve the right to vote of the district committee hereby revoked. On the 17th.

– M. this order shall be published in the Official Gazette.
von Pilgrim, President of the Government.

The seriousness that was shown on this occasion is certainly a beautiful
Testimony to the religious spirit still present in some communities Sense. But it would be a fallacy to conclude from this that that all Westphalian communities consider the Shechitah as a holy institution. Because the conditions in this respect are frightening. Since Sutro's death, the rabbinate has been deserted. The Kaboloh the trading Jews present themselves to each other. Some Merchant, who also went from being a corner shopkeeper to a slaughterer
In some cases, nothing is known about the Sealing of the kosher meat and in some even the Bedikah ft already gone. We are certain that, like Paderborn and Warburg, all communities opposed a measure such as the present one, because every pressure awakens

Resistance and the awareness of togetherness and standing together when we are threatened from outside threatens, has not died out anywhere. But it would be much higher to be appreciated if the Westphalian communities of all places oppose the decline, against the unworthy and degrading handling their thousand-year-old religious institutions and to tried to save what could still be saved. Oppenheim.

Jewish Press No. 21 – May 22, 1890.

3

– 176 –

Videant consules! that looks all too clearly like the golden whip.

Who is the man who dares to speak in this tone to our German authorities? It is Dr. Hirsch= Hildesheimer, Editor of the Jewish press.

Anyone who wants to know who and what kind of man Dr. Hirsch is– Hildesheimer is, and we can tell from our clan has, buy the brochure: “A boy’s play” devised for one To destroy man's honor and document his Trial against Hirsch=Hildesheimer by Dr. König, Witten an der Ruhr. Price 50 Pf. Hagen in W. 1888. Rifel & Comp.“

Sapienti sat!

7

The Jews in the Auftiz.

To demoralize a country, to undermine the administration of justice discredit and completely invalidate the law, contribute nothing more than the impunity of the guilty.

La Lanterne, November 15, 1883.)

“The impunity of the Jews was one of the greatest complaints, which was raised against them in Spain before their expulsion. Who with the newer French literature, especially with the works Drumont's will find that the Jew in Frank= rich today is almost completely unpunished.

In the chapter "The Talmud" it is stated that they also in Austria-Hungary and Poland according to their own wishes, and I could give examples that the same thing happened in England and America, although not as generally as in the countries mentioned, Ahlwardt's book raises some very worrying questions light on our German justice system; and also in this book There are some things that could give rise to serious concerns against the former Minister of Justice Friedberg. I only take the points mentioned in the article "How to become an anti-Semite" Relations of the Minister to Judge Moffe in Japan and Dr. Herzfeld, who came from America, Berlin, District Court I. The case of Mr. von Brandt, which has been reported by many sides as accused of crimes, everything in Germany will probably be Da= past ones in the shade, because such crimes have been committed his friend, the former police chief of Madai, guilty.

Let us take a look at what Drumont says about the legal conditions in Paris: "The Jew often says, in a place, where he believes he is unobserved, the truth about the present State of affairs." Mr. Zadoc Khan has in a brochure, be= titled: "The Biblical History and the Talmudic Slavery" about the current judicial situation as follows:

"This wonderful Roman law, which has inspired so many modern legislator, had to give way to the subtle and penetrating spirit of the authors of the Talmud."

And in fact, Byzantium and Jerusalem are now fraternizing in Palace of Justice under the management of Freemasonry: These two dead Cities have taken possession of the living Paris. The Pha= riseer and the jurist of the Eastern Roman Empire, who for each other were created, have found each other again after centuries and do something together.

12

– 178 –

The Jew's gross deception is complemented by the subtle Clue of the Greek. The cunning of the Talmud is based on the subtlety= abilites of the Byzantine orators.

(Drumont, La Fin d'un Monde, p. 462.)

* *
*

Doesn't this picture fit our circumstances? No, I
I don't think so. Due to the much larger number of Jewish Don officials, Jewish judges and Jewish lawyers are the conditions in Germany are even worse, especially since the Jews in Germany are distributed throughout the entire empire.

"But Jews also sit on our judges in large numbers= benches. Imagine a panel of judges in which the Jewish judges predominate – and they easily predominate without the absolute majority, especially if the chairman is a Jew is – then one would have a rabbinical consistory, which the letter of the law in the spirit of the Shulchan Aruch

interprets". ö
(Wahrmund: The Law of Nomadism, p. 188.)

* *
*

Yes, the Shulchan Aruch is the code of law according to which the Jews seek to judge us. I have this codex in the whole so-called civilized world in action, in order to finally to be treated accordingly. Who else but this Codex, Mr. von Brandt and his comrades have their previous impunity? Who are the relatives and Comrades of Mr. von Brandt? Who are the relatives of the
Mr. von Ketteler? The relatives of Mr. von Brandt are the President of the Reich Court, Mr. von Simson, and his family; to the companions of the Lord of Samfon one may without doubt the former Minister Dr. Friedberg. The representatives of Mr. von Brandt in a small lawsuit which I brought against the same has been made, is a Mr. v. Simfon, son of the Reich= court president. *

A close relative of Mr. von Ketteler is the Ober=
Public Prosecutor in Berlin, Mr. von Luck, who was also a Jewish man future. How should a German, under such circumstances,
Can Germany still get its rights? |

How much less can this be expected, where the Reichs=
The President of the Court himself is suspected of having a relationship with his relative Sn von Brandt and Jewish bankers in business relations to stand?

As I have said elsewhere, Mr. von Brandt and the President of the Reich Court von Simson demonstrably for about ten years in lively, extensive correspondence.

Peking is a quiet place where relatively little happens–

and that Mr. von Brandt to Mr. von Simfon only writes things like: “Yesterday evening cousin Michel was here” etc., is not to be assumed, nor is there any need for such correspondence heavy recommended letters. But one may assume, that Mr. von Samfon is the confidant of the thoughts and accomplice all of Mr. von Brandt's plans. Let us once again draw fran– domestic conditions for comparison.

x

*

“In 1877, the Dreyfus brothers had succeeded in to plead for them in a trial with Chamber President Grévy.

It was a Peruvian loan and guano, and
On 18 November 1884, the lawyer Barboux pleaded against the Dreyfus. This was again guano and 50 million francs.

During the proceedings, the lawyer Barboux was forced to
to a position of former advocate of Mr. Grévy for Dreyfus to come back, and he said:

“The one whose words I repeat here is a excellent lawyer, a friend of Mr. Dreyfus, who Confidant of his thoughts, acquainted with all his plans.

It is the same one who, motivated by long-time friends– fhaft, has been found ready, from the seat of the chamber– president to come down to Mr. Dreyfus in front of the cabinet– ence of the court with the authority of his word and the good to cover the sounds of his name.

It is the one who, if one follows the statements of a Correspondenz, which is certainly forged, and which I am reluctant to publish to the audience, nor with Messrs. Dreyfus doing business together and giving them advice for the outside world—fugge which this correspondence is transparent—nude 5

After he had expressed his thoughts in such a subtle and clear way Having expressed this, the skilful lawyer drafts the following Portrait of the financier:

“I do not consider Mr. Dreyfus to be an ordinary man.

He possesses to a high degree the audacity which fortune seduced, and this stubborn persistence which holds it back and captivates.

If one adds to this a rare liveliness of temperament
mentes, a vehemence which sometimes reaches the point of insult—degenerates, and a complete disregard for everything that what is called conscience, then one has the main features of this original and powerful man.

In the 16th century he would conquer Peru in the manner of Francisco Pizarro by selling thousands of Indians would have died in the mines.

12*

8 sle
Digitized 5 III X IC
8 L. '
13 Ps 2

— 180 —

In the 19th century he proceeded in a different way:
He saw that one could escape from this society, which was a seemingly had corrupted its prosperity, and who perhaps after the harsh punishment which she has just received, she manages to could squeeze out gold.

My opponent spoke a few days ago of the omnipotence of the
Mr. Dreyfus. He was right: And far from believing, that I am hurting him now, I know well enough that I am the arrogant weakness of his heart by describing the great adventures of his life publicly branded. N

Under Pierola and under Balta he is in a certain sense the 18 of the Peruvian Republic. Then his power fell, and, as usually happens, through his own excesses.

But believe me, gentlemen, nobody leads a such existence without punishment; one has not gone unpunished Price of all consciences known. One brings from such a an insatiable lust for power and a contempt for humanity, which felf in formulas like those which I gave fourteen years ago days on the lips of my esteemed opponent:

"The government can do anything, even disarm the law and paralyze it."

I know that my opponent was thinking of Lima, but his Client believes that it is the same in Paris as in Lima.

Well, you can tell him that we do not fear because we know the impartiality of the courts, because we plead before the successors of those judges who formerly had no hesitated for a moment to condemn other financial giants, who were also friends of the powerful."

(Chirac, Les rois de la république II p. 325/27.)

* *
*

Mr. Grévy was born in 1807. His first names are in reality Francois Paul Judith. To avoid ridicule to bear a biblical female first name, he exchanged the name Judith with Jules.

That Mr. Grévy is of Jewish descent is, to my knowledge, has not been proven, but in politics it will be time as the most successful type of a false honest man For many years he has impressed his contemporaries with extraordinary skill, which Grévy the incorruptible, the honest. Finally, The scandal broke out, and to the surprise of the whole world, this modest president, this model of all civic virtues= as a consumptive criminal; Grévy was 70 years old when he pleaded for his friend Dreyfus, and he was over 80 years old, ai he was exposed. So you can see "Age protects against foolishness not."

I have already mentioned elsewhere that Mr. v. Simfon with the Professor Moritz Lazarus, the same one who in 1869

– 131 –

chaired an international synod in Leipzig, jointly political tisch tätisch aktiv; furthermore, in the article “How to be an anti-Semite is” emphasized that I heard from a reliable source that Profeffor Lazarus at the Leipzig Fair in this national costume, i.e. in a caftan, did business. Accept= men is well aware that Professor Lazarus, if he finds himself in such procession at the fair, also his friend, the President
v. Simfon visited, and that the latter was also the accomplice and trusted the thoughts and affairs of Mr. Lazarus.
If you pursue the idea a little further, you ask yourself,
why not also the President Mr. von Simfon the favorable
The opportunity of the Leipzig Fair should have been used to raise some to do business, whether he might not be with his friend Lazarus half part goes or not disguised, with the same a little on secret business?

As far as Jewish officials in business are concerned, they seem not to be rare. Apart from all the major accusations,
For example, I owed Mr. von Brandt business, under which Pretexts to be an art collector for a museum, and thereby the state to evade taxes.

Furthermore, Mr. von Brandt conducts a regular business; he gives patterns, like a merchant and takes orders, also like one of them. The building inspector Aßmann in Peking, probably encouraged by the example of his superior
v. Brandt, buys Chinese articles, allegedly for a museum in Hanover.

If In the German Social Papers of 17 August 1890 No. 105
we eat: g

“The Jewish magistrate Lanzberg in Vic (Lothr.) seems to be in this profession does not bring full satisfaction, especially not sufficient to find a use for the most important talents of his tribe
He therefore also carried on financial transactions, hop trading etc. The locomotive driver Scherfin and the innkeeper Bock in Vic had felt compelled to write about this peculiar private drive a magistrate to a higher authority to make a written report
They were to be guilty of insulting Lanzberg discussed – but were released before the criminal court in Metz= spoken.

The Privy Legation Counsellor Rudolf Lindau from the Foreign Office=
The office used, at least in the past, to employ officials who were sent abroad went, a subscription to the magazine of his brother Paul “Nord and South" is recommended.

It is extremely amusing to finally hear how the members of a Officials' College searched for one of their Jewish colleagues, the They suspect that he is travelling on business at the same time as used for business trips and always travels with samples.

But in order not to drive this topic into infinity, please I only want to comment on the conduct of our courts in the trials of Neufttin and Skurz, the blood sampling in Breslau to be examined

– 182 –

It also seems quite incomprehensible that our Public Prosecutor's Office did not violate the Morris de Jonge case compromised Jewish doctors. Where will this lead? In the end, Germans will be completely dominated by Jewish people-fworshippers and then the image arises in me, which Bunyan was judged by a jury in the years 1678–1684 designed.

"Then the jury entered. Their names were:

Mr. Blind, Mr. Do-gooder, Mr. Malicious, Mr. Lust, Mr. Ludicrous, Mr. Impetuous, Mr. Arrogant, Mr. Enemy, Mr. Liar, Mr. Cruel, Mr. Light-shy, Mr. Unforgiving. Everyone Some of them gave their verdict when they were still among themselves were, and afterwards they unanimously decided to bring him before the judge to declare him guilty. And first, when they were still alone, Mr. Blind, the Chairman: I see clearly that this man is a Heretic. Then Mr. Thunichtgut said: this man must be disappear from the ground. Yes, said Mr. Boshafft, because his appearance-res is hateful to me. Then Mr. Sinnluft said: I could never Neither can I, said Mr. Lüderlich, because he used to take care of me always to blame. We want to hang him, said Mr. Ungestüm. A miserable wretch, said Mr. Hochmuth. I am hostile to him-fays, fayed Mr. Enemy. He is a scoundrel, fayed Mr. Liar. On hanging is too good for him, said Mr. Cruel. We want him out of the way, said Mr. Lichtfheu. Then Mr. Unconciliatory: And if someone offered me the whole world, I would still remain his enemy; therefore let us immediately pronounce the death sentence speak about him."

(Bunyan, Pilgrims Progress.)

*

** *

I would like to remind you of the Hildesheim Transfer case, where the President of the Higher Regional Court Dr. Bardeleben, a Jewish offspring, transferred several young lawyers because they had a Jewish did not want to allow their colleagues to have lunch.

Furthermore, the appointment of the Jewish Higher Regional Court Judge Dr. Litten.

– The “Voff. Ztg.” wants to defend its Jewish Ober=Landes=Ge=judicial council and defends it in a just Proud of the new achievement with fierce zeal against the “Frankfurter Zeitung”, which summoned the official in question to a 5 Jews. She thinks that the “Fr. Ztg.”

effer has done to curb their zeal for correction and keeps their quietly fine. upright according to the full wording. Israel can therefore be calm. |

Meanwhile, the name of the much-loved=ftreasured Falk. It is a Mr. Dr. Litten from Hamm in W., where Mr. Falk, of cultural militant memory, as supreme justice office of the Province of Westphalia. We have no doubt that the extravagant imagination of the “leading” Jewish circles in

– 183 –

Mr. Litten, the future “German” Reich Court President

denten. Or should one first consider the occupation of the Prussian

Seek the post of Minister of Justice with a full Jew. |
(Deutsche Sozial Blätter, January 4, 1891. No. 124.)

Then the appointment of Mr. Moffe as Chief State Governor judge

Berlin, December 28. Mr. Landgerichtsrath Moffe is Senior Regional Court Judge in Marienwerder – within a few weeks the second promotion of a Jew to this open judicial dignity, which none of our fellow believers has yet clothed.

(Jewish Press No. 1, January 1891.)

It is the same Mr. Moffe whom I mentioned in the article “How one becomes an anti-Semite”, and which in such a strange way in the Japanese nian civil service. In the same article, I also mentioned a Dr. Joseph Herzfeld, who was under the Mini=

Friedberg in his later years as a trainee in our judiciary= entered service (Regional Court 1 Berlin), after fifteen years in America had been.

Finally, I request Laws No. 19, 20, 21, 50, 98 and 100, which concerns the Jewish jurisdiction, and Nos. 20, 21, 23, 33, 36, 40, 85 and 96, which concern courts in general, must be observed.

* *
*

PS In today's issue (23 January) of the "Leipziger
The following article can be found in the Tagesanzeiger:

A privilege for the Inden has introduced the Grand Ducal Heffian Public Prosecutor's Office through a notice to the public prosecutors and public prosecutors; this

This notice instructs the authorities mentioned to, in all penal years, anti-Semitic tone, in which Israelites are portrayed as insulted private plaintiff, because of the assumed public interest, the
to take prosecution of the relevant complaints into their own hands.

So: if a Jew complains of insult, the state
legal profession officially takes over the prosecution of the lawsuits take, while the non-Jews are known to rely on private prosecution and thereby at their own risk with regard to the legal costs wiesen find, "public interest" is used by the public prosecutors a private individual is almost never granted. Jews are in future enjoy the privilege that the violation of their persons constitutes a violation of the public interest.

Can one admit more openly that the Jews have a special Have gained power in the state? Authorities have clarify that the Jewish and public interest in particular species related.

– 14 –

One should not object: this is not a matter of recognition of power or privilege of the Jews, but rather to defend against anti-semitic endeavors that endanger the state. Dangerous future are, in any case, the social democratic aspirations; that in Be= in relation to them such a general order would ever have been issued, not known to us. The anti-Semitic tendencies persist through on legal paths, although the situation is such that

It is very difficult, in view of the teachings of the Talmud, the Shulchan Aruch not to violate § 166 of the Criminal Code, although it has been proven in court by sworn testimony of Professor Ecker that the Shulchan Aruch contains teachings which completely contradict and probably suppression not but deserve state protection.

Nevertheless, and despite the outrageous villainy which anti-Semitic men are exposed, despite the brazen insults which Jews and Jews rise against them, the anti-Semitic Movement on legal paths.

In the Grand Duchy of Hesse, however, the masses incited to physical attacks against anti-Semitic groups. Repeatedly Furthermore, meetings of anti-Semitic groups were disrupted by intruders Jews and Social Democrats were blown up.

But also the Grand Ducal Public Prosecutor's Office grants the Hessian Jews the privilege of a special law through the criminal justice system! |

We see the consequences of this measure coming. The Jews will regard the latter as a kind of invitation to diligently behave. There are no costs to fear – what would therefore stand in the way? |

We know how farmers and Jews interact with each other; Expressions are not weighed. How often and with what The farmer says: "Jew, you want to cheat me!" In the future the Jews will run in droves to the public prosecutor. Is If the Jew has also become insulting, the official version The counterclaim was subsequently terminated.

Such measures as those taken by the Hessian Public Prosecutor have seized, are perfectly suited to the people, which until now his self-defense against the Jews on strict ground 5 50 has to push away from this ground. It only takes a few defamation suits in which the Jew, with the help of the public prosecutor has fought for a right which, according to the vox populi, is a crying disgrace right to provoke riots against the Jews.

Such a success cannot be achieved by the Grand Ducal Chief Public Prosecutor – it can be achieved very easily, especially if the judges should feel inclined to join the "anti-Semitic riots" with to impose harsh penalties in defamation lawsuits.

I want to begin this chapter with a small experience.

In June of 1885, three ladies known to me came to Germany and I was asked to Berlin. All three were Americans, mother and daughter, who had lived in Paris for many years, and a young relative from New York. It was their first visit to Germany-country, and I was happy that the Parisian ladies were so felt pleasantly touched by Germany; they had a very different idea of German nature and German essence. We also visited the new palace in Potsdam. In a the halls, visitors are asked to wear felt slippers. One of the ladies slipped, but still supported herself on an arm. When she stood up again, she felt great pain and I immediately suspected a broken wrist. So I the half-unconscious lady to our stopping in front of the palace car and we drove to the nearest doctor. It was a military doctor. A boy opened the door of the front garden and led us into the Corridor. I sent a card and asked the doctor to come. The boy took the card to the doctor sitting in the back garden, who had seen us by the way. The gentleman said that he had no time. I asked again, saying that it was taking care of a lady and providing first aid in the event of an accident. The doctor said he had to go to work immediately, but he didn't come. With great difficulty I was able to get away from the boy who was ashamed to give the address of the nearest doctor, Dr. Scharenberg experienced where we found ready help.

While we were in the house of the first doctor with the boy parliament, only to be rejected, then happened to me what allegedly happened so often to our Jewish deputies, namely, that I blushed with shame, especially since the two younger ladies understood German to some extent. The ladies have by the way, later out of consideration for me this shameful pre-never mentioned it. Do you know the doctor's name? The gentleman was called Deutfch and was currently an assistant doctor. Now I believe he is a staff doctor. I need to know which nation he belongs to. I guess I can't say.

PiSi A, 2000 S
LIGIIZEO Dy UI UI IK IN
2 years old
* 00
—
ru

The Jews, who pretend to be doctors, bring the Christians for their bodies and property; because they think they are doing God a service, when they secretly . And in his table talks He says: "It is a harmful people, it exhausts everything with this usury. If they give a thousand guilders to an authority, On the other hand, they suck 20,000 guilders from the poor citizens."

(Luther's Works, Volume 5. Wittenberg Edition.)

K *

*

— — — It will be objected that in earlier times the Jews as doctors have occupied an important position. They were through their church pointed to the art of healing, because the Pentateuch makes every priest a doctor, and so a have to gather great medical experience from them. But only in early Middle Ages, after the decline of the Roman and Greek Science they have gained medical reputation and they have probably more to their connection with the Arabs than the At that time, the healing arts were more of a bold application of individual drastic means as a scientifically based logical principles, and it is not surprising when the effect-seeking ruthlessness of the Jews is obvious achieved successes, the back of which is covered by a silent lawn. However, since science has developed a more scientific apparatus received comprehensive, thorough knowledge and conscientious Investigation is no longer replaced by seemingly ingenious frivolity can be, the value of Jewish doctors has changed. The few awarded with reason and not by advertising are in no way comparable to the countless bunglers, which often traded profits with inns and pharmacies mainly prevent overpopulation in the provinces.

(Naudh, The Jews and the German State, p. 92/93.)

* *

*

The Shulchan Aruch also offers medical positions Confessors have significant advantages. As is well known, the strong competition-difference that has occurred in the medical field, the rise younger doctors and is further aggravated by the fact that the older supposedly for the sake of class honour, the younger ones, who in their Associations wishing to join are prohibited from advertising in public newspapers recommend. This makes them more suitable for some other aids driven, which cannot be denied to them. Jewish doctors, if they accept the Shulchan Aruch as a guideline for themselves, have a good means at hand to gain reputation and customers to obtain it; by following XXXVII. (Judenspiegel, Law 81) attempt daring healing arts on non-Jews, whereby they either If successful, you can gain reputation and customers, or Failure to bury one of the non-Jews, of whom there is no shortage is in the world. An operator of this kind also chose the peculiar supplementary remedies, in difficult cases other doctors for

To invite participation and found such, because he afterwards a th meal. He chose such companions from whom he had no competition to fear because they were bottle doctors, which, in some cases, could even bring in customers. After consulting with them for the sake of appearance, he carried out with great skill the operation. The following meal

0 the patient or his heirs had to cover the costs of the operation,
* and after dinner a small game was played, where

N the surgeon could test his skills again, so
He usually managed to cover the costs a second time through his 3 colleagues to cover. One may hunt: "Whoever the Shulchan,

"For him who knows and follows the Book of Aruch, all things must work together for the be

A serious accusation is made in large cities against Jewish 4 | Doctors raised, namely that some of the honor of written women and
They did not protect pregnant women sufficiently, and even women who had just given birth
A are protected against them. This can of course only affect doctors, which, according to the Shulchan Aruch, equate Christian marriages with those of horses and donkeys, or pigs and dogs, and therefore believe that Christian women are not entitled to any other consideration, than they owe to animals. The sexual desire of the Semites is recognized to be much stronger than that of the Aryans and also find-half her marriages are less productive, but in the medical field she can They can be very useful to sensual women, as they are behind closed doors with their doctor they can do everything undetected, whatever pleases her or his greed. If one reads the stories and could collect assumptions which in female circles roaming around, one would probably find that Jewish doctors make a disproportionate contribution to this. The other doctors We might be able to add more if it weren't for the-supposed class honor prompted them to spare the lechers, instead of to draw the attention of the relevant authorities to this steer. (C. Radenhafen, Efther, p. 129/130.)

We have recently had the opportunity to explore the nature of
to get to know Jewish doctors in all their splendor.
It was this on the occasion of Koch's invention. When the
When the first news of it reached me, I had to unwillingly recently think of the excitement which Pasteur's invention caused in 9 05 and I had the opportunity to participate experience.

The manner in which the invention was published by the press—
puffed up and the advertising drum was beaten to unhappy Patients to move to Berlin in large numbers, immediately caused the Jewish Razzia, which began with this invention of the German scholar—fought, recognize. Quiet people simply said to themselves: in the manner and wisely, as the newspapers now want us to believe, Nature will hardly allow itself to be interfered with.
ftant physicians were carried away by the general stream of excitement

Egg bone 0 ogle

" 1

— 188 —

also did not get carried away and were of the opinion that the important Er= Dr. Koch's findings are probably premature and merely brought to market by Jews for exploitation.

As one can later actually see from reliable sources
Dr. Koch had no intention of taking his decision cover without prior further attempts to reveal it to the public, and that the premature publication, which may have caused some confusion fortunate circumstance was the result of an indiscretion.

The first Jewish raid seems to have been successful.
But complaints are coming in from all parts of the German Empire about miserable haggling that has been carried out with the invention, and From abroad we hear that fake lymph is being sold
In any case, it is significant that the complaints in most cases cases against Jews and it will be interesting to later once the whole Jewish machinations, which Koch's invention in the hands seem to have fallen, to establish historically.

The Minister of Culture von Goßler is busy with the cooking fch invention to create an extraordinary amount. Up to a ge=
To a certain extent, this is his job, but one hears more about the Minister, rather than from the inventor himself, and if the

If the remedy did not bear Koch's name, an unbiased person come up with the idea that the Minister of Culture was the inventor and have taken the whole matter into enterprise.

Among all the ugly scandals in the wake of Koch's The case of Dr. Levy, who not only demanded quite exorbitant sums for his treatment, but, What is even worse in my opinion is that his patients are in a has treated the most discontent.

One might have expected that our authorities here would have intervened to control such specifically Jewish nonsense and the German public not only from a despicable appearance exploitation by the Jews, but also from the frivolous practice in the Jewish clinic. But how great was the fear surprise and disappointment of the Germans when the Lord Cultus = minister thought it good to even put a lance in favor of this man= (I here request the Law No. 81 of the Judenspiegel to compare and ask yourself whether Dr. Levy in the sense this law, as far as he believed he could do so with impunity, acted.)

In all the advertising tumult, three Jews got into an argument, namely Guttman, Perles and Adler, because one of them believes that "its interests" have been damaged by Koch's invention; There was a bribery story or something similar going on.

The disgusting affair of Dr. Levy is brought before the honorary council a so-called collegiate association of doctors of the royal city in Berlin, who declared Dr. Levy an honorary man or something similar. The following note from the Staats= bürger=Zeitung of December 7, 1890 shows us what kind of men=

– 19 –

nern the honorary council is composed, and there it is hardly It is surprising that the verdict was as it was.

* *
*

In the matter of Dr. Levy, we find the "extremely reasonable Judgment", which the "Collegial Association of Doctors of the Royal City" received numerous letters, all of which expressed the Surprise was expressed at this verdict. The Surprise, but will give way to understanding when the Readers will find out more about this "Collegial Association of the doctors of the royal city" and from the best informed Source. From this association the Christian fellowship members have withdrawn more and more, so that now 105 Jewish and only 3 Christian doctors belong to it. The chairman of the association One thing is that no Jew was elected, but Dr. Benicke, "because he is such a harmless and good-natured man that he cannot can do something bad to people." He is therefore happy to let it go; that as chairman he became the Christian figurehead for the one is needed. However, he is not the chairman of the honorary council, but a simple member and as such he has also in the last club meeting the announcement of the "extremely favorable judgment part" of the honorary council. We believe that this is a matter for the Chairman of the Honorary Council. This is probably one of the 105 Jews of the association, and one seems to be shy have to announce the result of the surveys in honorary capacity so that one can be known in public with the Christian name Dr. Benicke's could parade."

This honorary council stands worthy at the side of the one which recently met about Paul Lindau.

The Levy affair still seems to be stirring up dust, like 1 following note from the same issue of the newspaper proves:

Still Levy! Every day we lose friends and family feres Blatt contains information about Levh, which has a peculiar Shed light on the "lack of interest" of this doctor and in lively contradictory to the reports by Jewish newspapers about Levy's practice spread news. So we are again written: The provincial tax secretary Fuchs himself turned to Time also to Dr. Levy to seek healing for his breast-sick wife He spoke to Dr. Levy personally; he asked him if, without asking about the financial circumstances, 300 marks for each injection with Koch's lymph."

In the German-Social Papers of 11 January 1891, one that Dr. Lipperts, who is known to be alone with the Ab= entrusted with administering Koch's remedy is a Jew.

From the cacophony that the Jewish press started, one heard the voice of the inevitable Professor Virchow; he, to whom every giant beard, every invention pays tribute must crowed in the general cheering and claimed to be recognized as a "co-inventor" in any way den. Perhaps he did not succeed in doing this or has there been any What is the reason? In the Berlin "Volk" of 11 January we find

– 1% –

but the following note:

"The hopes raised by Koch's remedy were in yesterday's meeting of the Medical Society a bitter Damper. Based on the results obtained through sections—Privy Councillor Virchow expressed the suspicion that the incorporation of the "Kochin" promotes or directly causes new tuberculosis cular affections in parts of organs that were previously intact. Particularly accessible for this purpose would be the serous membranes, pericardium, Pleura, Peritoneum, shown. It is therefore natural to wish to Koch's cure should only be used in patients where can be assured that they have the necessary reserves of strength—to overcome these potentially serious complications. In the "Deutsche Med. Wochenschrift" reports, however, that the new experiences with Koch's healing method "quite favorable" A final judgment on Koch's discovery will only be possible after years."

* *

*

It is a real chaos! What can one do still believe? and who?

About twelve years ago, I wanted to urgently It would seem worthwhile that the authorities in fire insurance matters societies would like to determine the percentage of Jews who suspected fire damage.

Today, something more urgent seems to me, namely that the practices of certain Jewish doctors would be brought to light and warned the audience.

Why don't German doctors rise up to protest against the machinations of Jewish colleagues whom they know and condemn? Why the false considerations? Are there no German men? ner more?

But let us look at our humane fellow citizens in next chapter in more detail.

The Madhouse
in the service of the Jews
and

The Hillenverfall of the Jewish people.

The Jew Börne was convinced of the right of Judaism to a dominion that cannot even be touched in literary terms is overflowing! In a sly and audience-introductory review of a learned work on Judaism by L. Holst, Mainz 1821) he made a statement to the author of the same, which is still for the Jew's behavior is characteristic. It leads him to heart that he, Börne, hopes to live to see the time when every Such seditious writing against the Jews either to prison or to the madhouse. |

Börne worked around 1837. In the 1880s, Diele pious wishes of the Jewish race, despite the increased power since then, still unfulfilled. However, they have responded with some serious People's movements against the Jews, which in turn supported Börne's Wish to have been expressed in the most immediate call to the bailiff.

(Dühring, The Jewish Question, p. 59.)

* *
*

Mendelssohn on the Moral Decline of Judaism.

In the autumn of 1878, after the assassination attempts on Kaiser Wilhelm, A small brochure was printed in Berlin, the title of which was: "From the moral decline of Judaism." Edited by Mendelsohn. According to the available material of prayers and lamentations for the ninth edition of RJ Fürftenthal, Joft and Goldfichmidt." – The Author Mendelsohn was a Jew, wealthy and generous, but a fierce enemy of his own tribesmen. Back then, when There was hardly any talk of an anti-Semitic movement, Mendelfohn pointed out at every opportunity the public danger of Judaism, and stopped in beer bars, where he liked= seen guest, short lectures in which he neither the Talmud, nor the Jewish scribes and the other celebrities

– 192 –

Ifrael's fpared. The small writing mentioned above was intended to combat of Judaism were distributed on a mass scale. During the printing Mendelfohn received several warnings, but ignored them. Then his relatives had him taken to the madhouse, where he died within a short time. The writing was suppressed. However, I was able to obtain a copy and presented it to Serving of the "Culture Warrior." – – –

o our friend. – The writing is therefore notable– worthy because here a Jew is zealous against Judaism. Mendelsohn raises against his people the same accusations and accusations which ever put forward by anti-Semitic groups. The bro- ftirely incite the grossest insults against Ifrael, so that we ft dare not print it. We give some extracts, under Elimination of the most offensive passages and strong words. – Mendelsohn writes: "The Jew is a comfortable, but highly sophisticated man- delender character that has spread throughout the universe, and with all possible manipulations, fshould be es direct or indirect

The largest industrial enterprises, palaces, capitals etc. he has understood how to defend himself through actions that are not always praiseworthy and it has succeeded in establishing itself ever more firmly to nestle among us. Its political character is for the human ical society is not a blessing, because it is rightly said assumed that he is the father of social democracy, at least but the source of constant agitation of the same. For this purpose he also took up literary ventures, newspapers, etc., to win the press for himself and his actions. All this makes it clear that the pressure of Judaism the entire civilized society not only has to suffer, but

Step by step ownership, sense of righteousness and n mundane decency. Therefore it is and must be the responsibility of the fshould be the duty of every individual to fight against Judaism to enter."

"Rabbi Moses brought the greatest misfortune into the world brought; he made the Jews. When the in Goshen ut went, they became lush, voluptuous, lustful; finally burst Me were poisonous and became dangerous to the Egyptians. the out of Goshen and set them to work. That was But the did not fall, because they found idlers in general, may only live by lies and deceit, by robbery, by fraud and wind-out; but don't work. That's where you have the placed under supervision. Rabbi Moses did not like that and he became a murderer. Then he looked around everywhere and, Since he saw no one, he killed the supervisor and fled to a Priests As is well known with certainty at that time the Priesthood consisted of black artifice, so the clever Rabbi Moses learned very well. Then the black man gave Artist gave Moses his daughter. When the Rabbi Moses gave his

—

After he had learned the art of black magic well, he set out and went returned to Egypt and practiced all his black magic there to King Pharaoh. Pharaoh's priests made the Rabbi Everything according to Moses, except for the lice, which Moses alone kept

.

"As a result, Rabbi Moses gave the the first Commandment. The should poison everything in Egypt, should house go into the house and poison everything.

There was a great cry of distress in the night, house near The poison has worked in the house. During this great misery= thry Rabbi Moses gave the the second commandment. The were supposed to break into the houses and steal everything, which is movable. In Egypt there was damask, silk, Camel yarn, diamonds, the most precious thing we have neither here nor somewhere. The Egyptians are among the ancient peoples the largest and richest in valuables From this robbery of damask, silk, gold, jewels, pearls, diamonds, terrible much, Moses built a temple and Aron, his brother, built a golden calf. Then the Jews cried out: This is our God, who brought us out of the land of Egypt."

Then Rabbi Moses gave the 613 commandments. When they come into the land, they shall be punished with the severity of Sword slaughter infant and old man: eye, for eye, for leg For a bone, a tooth for a tooth. If someone comes into the country and sees a beautiful woman, then he should shave off her hair, and should let her mourn and fast for four weeks, and then he should sleep with her." |

Then Rabbi Moses commanded that all his brother Aron and his descendants shall bring to Jerusalem. The best cattle, rams, bulls, lambs, calves, pigeons and the The best poultry were to be taken. The animals were in three days of Aaron and his descendants were slaughtered; Blood soaked the earth, the temple and the altar, and the walls were sprinkled with blood, and the people stood by and shouted for joy; rejoiced as a sign that they had once shed a terrible amount of righteous blood shed in this place. Then it came true, as in the prophet Isaiah said: "Your hands are stained with blood!"

Out of Egypt came a who ruled over all the En= that of the earth, causing harm and destruction everywhere. by sucking blood. The ... was expelled from the land on land, from place to place, where he could neither nest nor breed, and his brood did not mature. In 1816 the fought with us and stabbed us in the heels until we were in pain; and After 30 years, in 1848, he stood up and built, in community with Robert Blum and his comrades barricades. Then he sucked. our fatherland; now he is fat and luxuriant and controls the press,

Society and business. The sucks our blood and Mark looks like a trichina, and is still happy about it when it

13

– 194 –

we are doing badly. He still mocks and writes poems and writings, when we are on our last legs. It suppresses the most sacred Right without fear. A flood of Jews is streaming into Berlin, to lie in wait for prey, and shoots from houses, caves and Hiding greedily, like a predator. The Jewish society has Representatives up to the highest authority, and intervenes without distinction– sanctified, highly honored and venerable personalities.

“The Jew is no friend of work, nor of negligence.

ity, and also likes the dirty women, with which he finds amusing. The Jew is always thinking about Exploitation of his fellow human beings; he lives by usury and fraud, his His whole mind and desire is directed towards exploitation, he has finally, the largest part of our industrial assets is taken over– brought and sucked out. With this the Jew grows, grows, sucks, presses and pinches the flesh of Christians. He buys and builds palaces, he is lavish and fat and thinks how he should become ruler get there with his many billions. He gives money to the time– editorial offices, makes newspapers on and on, more and more.
They pollute everything with poison and bile, they obscure the law and suppress the law without fear.”

UVM, This makes him directly or indirectly a revolutionary, and also raised the Social Democracy, which he represents and promotes, by demanding counter-services from her. They both form the sub– agitators of the state order, support each other, and seek to make every person acquainted with the existing form of government
The poor Christian people groan under the pressure of the Jews, and the Jew scoffs at it. He has his representatives everywhere and dominates schools, imperial offices, judiciary and magistracy. In a few Years ago, Manchester Jewry devoured everything; there is then there is no more salvation.”

“But now that we have, thank God! a new Reichstag, whose elections are unfortunately influenced by the Jews, but many highly honorable gentlemen in the same and will be our beloved, sacred and highly revered Majesty and his Government with property and blood. Christianity is called to do this, but not Judaism; and can the so-called Jewish Can't help Manchester MPs. They want Judaism.
The religion of Judaism is the French Revolution; it want instead of just and Christian morality Judaism, Fa-natism, anarchy, blind people who follow them unconditionally...”

We have very honourable representatives in our Lordship Houses that thirst for Christian righteousness, and these which will hopefully not allow Judaism to arise, and will not tolerate that it causes harm. May it be for the= be eradicated forever and ever."

(The Culture Fighter by Otto Glagau, Issue 112, December 15, 1884.)

E-- 2 un

- 195 -

Dr, Morris de Jonge.

An act of modern torture.

3 Under this title the "Kreuzzeitung" publishes the following

Inscription: |

5 I hereby feel compelled to make the following public declaration to hand in:

On October 23, 1889, at the instigation of a number of Jewish stock exchange circles in Cologne, Berlin and Paris sons, headed by my own father, the pensioner, former Banker Jakob de Jonge, chairman of the Jewish community in Cologne, was classified by the Berlin police authorities as a "publicly dangerous mentally ill" to the mental institution of Dr. Levinstein in Schöneberg

This measure was taken on the basis of letters, which I wrote in September on the occasion of my move from Cologne to Berlin to the persons concerned, through whom I had years of loosened family and social ties to finally resolve and abolish, and in which I to motivate this renunciation, insofar as it has not already been done for years long, severe personal hardships and undignified treatment, which I had to endure, was justified in sharp words about the materialistic and idealistic, of greed and conceit fulfilled fatherlandless and in many respects for German culture downright dangerous spirit that exists within the international stock exchanges= circles. The purpose of the action against me was, unless it was simply revenge and passionate desire= acted as a motive, my literary advocacy for the calculation substantiation of moderate anti-Semitism, especially insofar as it against international stock exchange Jewry. About=

This was supposed to be a case I made at the beginning of October against a Jewish doctor in Cologne filed a complaint for lèse majesté, which is suitable was to compromise a large part of the local Jewish community-- and apparently raise fears that there could still be I have brought some similar incidents to the public appear as the act of a mentally ill person. Likewise, evidently my intended conversion to Christianity, although not prevented, but as the step of an insane person be put up.

Some of those letters have now been selected and marked with fty put together, so that the same, from the combination= hang torn and so natural in their motives for a third incomprehensible, in connection with one-sided, partly distorted, partly actually untrue representations and descriptions of my person personal, which the police authority on the part of a number of against me embittered persons out of fear, hatred and revenge were, and on the basis of which it was possible to obtain the information in those letters to present the views expressed as "delusions", as a basis of action against me.

13°

= 416

Three weeks after the last of the letters that were ever come into consideration, was written on October 23rd morning ens, when I was completely unaware of the fact that I was in full health and working condi

aft sat at my desk (in the latter respect I only note, that an article I published in November in the "Gegenwart"- "A law against the abuse of freedom of association" was two days before October 23rd), appeared in my Apartment a gentleman who introduced himself to me as a senior "police officer"- ft, but as I later learned, the district physicist Dr. Abraham Baer was, and talked to me with reference to those letters, which he described as "very elegant", about half an hour about my family circumstances, about which I him, although I naturally find this police interference in my Family circumstances were completely incomprehensible and despite his- fidely, he found himself in ever-growing embarrassment, so that finally feven the statement slipped out that he did not understand the whole thing, in most objective and polite manner all desired information

The district office was then seized by Lft of my person, and I was taken from there after several hours Waiting without any official notification or notice according to Art. a mentally ill person without reason and will accompanied by a Criminal police officer who told me that it was going to the public prosecutor- fhaft (), in an ambulance until I reached the destination of the Trip was communicated, I was in the mental institution in Schöneberg. - From week to week, and then from month to month, I, as well as the hospital doctors, that I have been authorized by the authorities- and initiate a regular procedure for determining my real state of health back into possession of my Freedom. After more than half a year had waited without any prospect of release in the foreseeable future, I saw no other means to still completely intact mental health and freshness before serious and-predictable dangers than with my family, whose

I have made repeated attempts to approach her energetically and with un-had rejected with unshakeable firmness, to enter into negotiations step.

In a conversation I had in the first days of the May with a broker on the Berlin Stock Exchange.
with whom I had long since broken off all relations
had led, I was made to understand in a blunt manner, that I would be kept interned until I was released by my "Delusions" regarding international stock market Judaism, as I fhealed" as she had expressed in those letters – if it were
It will take several years. In this torture-like situation,
I believe that only an apparent change of mind can save me from the most miserable
I have fucceftively and all-Since the beginning of May I have gradually become closer to my family again, and in particular, it seemed as if I had my hitherto un= concealed intention to refer the matter to the Defence

– 197 –

possibility, and in a series of oral and written statements this apparent change of mind
with such skill and success that my family
my dismissal, which then took place on June 24th. – –

Despite the radical treatment that was given to me with respect on public safety, completely the Old! Still convinced that Judaism in its present cultural and religious special existence that it has in the midst of our Christian-German state, no independent state has no right to exist and the complete dissolution of Judaism in Christianity and Germany is a historical necessity, but that international stock exchange Judaism in the most diverse relations a serious threat to our entire national culture and German idealism in particular, and with with unshakable determination to pursue my convictions this as well as in that direction fearlessly and steadfastly through To defend and represent word and writing in the awareness thereby not acting in a "publicly dangerous" manner, but in a public-benefit manner,
I see myself exposed to the danger of being labelled as a "dangerous mentally ill" to be taken to a mental institution and then probably given the state of Prussian medicinal legislation on Never again! j

In this situation in grave danger for my freedom, my Honour, my mental health, even my life, which is through a repeated long stays in a mental institution

 I feel compelled to protect the public
 I ask all those newspapers to take up this report clarification, which, regardless of whether they subscribe to principled anti-Semitism or not, stand up for Germany and Christianity, and the An-fecht that devoted love for the German fatherland and full connection to the Christian-German culture is not the danger of the most miserable destruction and that no one as the criminal judge is authorized to intervene, if not the written
 HE expresses such attitudes beyond the limits of what is permissible.
 dough. |
 But to everyone who, regardless of party affiliation obedient to the sense of the highest goods of man and citizen gers, for freedom and honour, has preserved unimpaired, I judge the question: By what rights may the citizen of a constitutional state, in which personal freedom is guaranteed, on the basis of private letters that do not contain any threat to life, limb or property hold, and only because of their form to judicial ne because Insult could give rise to a clique of Fear and passionate bitterness filled people under flag most utter violation of the most elementary legal principle, that even the other part must be heard as a "publicly dangerous spirit" sick" and without any regulated procedure in the administrative channels to the most shameful and dangerous imprisonment be judged? By what right may he be judged by such means?

– 198 –

forced to break family ties that he had for years–
 long conflicts and severe pressure that he had to endure, to fully realize his ethical, political and religious
 To be able to live convictions, to reconnect, and to find a deeper to recognize the most common feelings and attitudes as "delusions" and to revoke?

By what right can such an act of spiritual and mental torture?!

Dr. jur. Morris de Jonge, writer.
 Berlin NW., Mittelstraße 25, July 12, 1890.

* a
 *

The case of Dr. Morris de Jonge is still pending, while–
 While I am writing this and it seems to be a case to act where the Jews one of their co-religionists, who sincerely wanted to convert to Christianity, actually to destroy

were looking for. |

Hermann Ahlwardt writes about this case in "Der Ber: struggle of doubt, etc." as follows:

"Where we have come with our doctors is clearly shown
The case of de Jonge is horrifying. This gentleman, himself a Jew, is far-sighted enough to realize that the catastrophe for his people must come in a short time. He tries to save it by he pointed out the mistakes of the same and called for repentance-warned. The 5 of them took him to a madhouse, in which he was buried alive. This was made possible by, among other things, the Jewish doctor Dr. Mendel, by issuing a certificate of public danger-mental illness, without which Dr. de Jonge also only to have seen.

The Jew Dr. Beer, who was also a district physician, then lured him by the most common fraud into the trap. By God!
In this way, the Jews can attack any of their opponents at any moment neutralize and condemn to spiritual death. I must confess that I myself, who would not otherwise be considered a coward belong, I cannot defend myself against a secret horror."

How many crimes of this kind have succeeded and remained unpunished fare, may be evident from the fact that I have a Dr. Morris de Jonge's crime, which was only is not brought to court because it is feared that the German doctors to be heard as witnesses and experts
could be made breadless by the rancor of the Jews.

Furthermore, I know of another case where one sanatorium for the benefit of a Jewish offspring in order to whose alleged temporary disorder caused some of his crimes-break to cover up. E

In Berlin there lives a banker Mr. Elias, who voluntarily converted to Christianity. In revenge for this,
he was literally stoned by his former co-religionists
have been.

- 199 -

I will now follow another case, where also a Jew turns against his fellow tribesmen, I take the same the Kreuzzeitung of December 25, 1889.

Alberti Sittenfeld.

"Modern Judaism."

In the last "Political Weekly Overview" we pointed out the Description by the Jewish writer Sittenfeld (pseudonym: Alberti) by his own tribesmen in the "Munich
The essay is directed against anti-Semitism, but at the same time falls on modern Judaism fharsh judgments that we cannot withhold them from our readers
Those who are primarily concerned will anyway
Essay in the usual way to try to silence. |

"The modern Jew, the enlightened Jew, is the model of a tragic figure. No one feels the deep tragedy of his fate fal fo, as the members of the younger generation of Jewish descent, and our whole existence is an unstoppable struggle with ourselves, an eternal bleeding to death. I can boldly claim that it among the very young, saturated with modern education Jewish generation there is no member who is of the superfluous ity, harmfulness and rottenness of Judaism not in the deepest soul would be convinced. Judaism has every right to exist lost."

Alberti characterizes the food as "superfluous and senseless" regulations and the circumcision of the Jews and continues:

"Judaism is harmful in political terms as a at the same time ultra-reactionary and ultra-radical element. With fanatic tenacity, it depends on the most outdated, senseless facilities fentiments and views and at the same time builds with the same fanaticism mus barricades, throws bombs and dynamite cartridges where there is only
This is not a consequence of historical development, but of the essence of Judaism. By combining the extremes
it becomes the natural enemy and hinderer of the gradual, organic development." |

"Judaism has ceased to be a religion, a race, a Nation – it is just a clique. It is nothing more as a social community that exclusively pursues the material interest
The so-called ideal togetherness, the family life etc., which even Christians consider a special Jewish virtue praised, are no longer there. The Jews
The Jew today is regarded only as a natural or posiactive allies in the economic struggle. The cases that Jewish relatives starve and perish without mercy, happen every day."

Alberti then explains why the Jews use their synagogues
"While the Jewish banker and the Jewish broker in the e stand side by side, they negotiate their stock market manipulation-ations."

"Judaism is the most characteristic and consistent Representative of the principle of modern capitalism, accumulation (capital accumulation)". "No one can deny that the Jewsthum in an outstanding way in the swamping and corruption all relationships. A characteristic of the Jew is the persistent effort to produce value without expenditure-cessation of work, ie since this is impossible, the dizziness, the Corruption, the effort to use stock market manoeuvres, false news, with
With the help of the press to create artificial values, to acquire these values and then exchange them for real goods created by work values from oneself." | |

Sittenfeld then comes to his own area, art, fpeak, and claims that the same, especially the theatre, by the Jews, by men like Blumenthal and Lautenburg corrupted. Also from the social characteristics of its Our informant is evidently not very pleased with the tribesmen. He says: The Christian is more honest. The Jew is generally not more educated than the Christian, but he always practices educational hypocrisy. For the Jew, art is mostly just an object, his wit in it to practice, and the dangerous thing about this property is that he insipid joke with the greatest audacity in the world as genuine criticism After Alberti confessed to us that the Jew will never become an aristocrat, but will always remain a parvenu, he further describes the peculiarities of his tribe:

"The Jew cannot descend to such a level of brutality ity, like the Christian. The only exception is the ge= bad traffic, especially the behavior of rich Jewish boys poor girls, seamstresses, etc. This achieves an incredible level of cynical brutality, to which I Christian I have never seen younger people sink. These protect the woman still a last remnant of shame, which our stock exchanges-jobbers until the spark goes out."

"The instinct for self-preservation is always the strongest instinct in Jews. The sacrifice of the same, the unreserved devotion to a other, of one thing, he hardly knows." |

"One of the most dangerous, specifically Jewish characteristics is the brutal, almost barbaric intolerance - again a strange Contradiction in a tribe that cries out loudly for Du= at any moment dung. A worse tyranny cannot be practiced than fhe Jewish clique practices. Of respect for the views or the The person of the opponent is not mentioned. The German fights his opponent in open, honest combat. The Jew seeks the

To destroy opponents in the intellectual field by giving him the mate= deprives him of his real basis, undermines his civil existence, or by revealing the existence and aspirations of his opponent to the world. fecret as much as possible, trying to deceive them. The most vile of all forms of fighting, the dead silence, is specific

0

– 201 –

Jewish. Served as an opponent in the social as well as in the spiritual struggle The Jew prefers the lowest means, because he knows that The Germanic Christian would rather give up the fight than give in to the area of meanness follows."

Should Sittenfeld-Alberti wrongly "contre=" his fellow tribesmen? feit"? We hardly believe it. He must know them best."

Comparing the cases of Mendelfohn and Dr. Morris de Jonge with the Alberti-Sittenfeld case, it appears at first glance puzzling that the Jews could impunity Mr. A.=S. with such bad Let the Jews say things. But that has its good Reason. At times when the Jews see disaster approaching, fhe suffered from one of his own, of whose loyalty he is convinced, fpoorly, and thereby pursue certain goals. A man, who is so convinced of the bad qualities of his faith= enjoyed, one should reasonably think, would be better and striven, to reach a higher standpoint.

In No. 100 of the Deutsch=focialen Blätter of 13 July 1890 we read the following about this Mr. Alberti=Sittenfeld:

"The 'youngest Germany' was recently in some of its main representatives in court. The still quite young Writers. Conradi (25 years old), Alberti-Sittenfeld (28 years old) and Wilh. Walloth (33 years old) were the authors, and the Bookseller Wilh. Friedrich in Leipzig as publisher, immoral and accused of blasphemous writings. (In one of the noble powers= works were, for example, the mother Mary as a prostitute, her husband as holder with the most vulgar expressions, in relation to the The death of Christ on the cross is an expression that can only be used by Cattle used etc.) – The hearing took place on 26 and 27 June before the Regional Court of Leipzig. The reading of the relevant bodies, as well as part of the negotiations on it, followed with exclusion of the public. N

The defendant Walloth claims that he published his book in a
I wrote in a pathologically overexcited mood. After collecting
He was so afraid and excited that he could no longer bear the charges know and go to the mental institution of Dr. Hecker in Johannesburg Hecker is invited as an expert and makes true=
He not only declares Walloth to be a talent, but for a genius and seeks to dissect the court to assume that madness and genius are very related to each other would be, and therefore Walloth as a genius must have a ver= diminished ee be accepted! – (What a Court has to let everything happen (-) – Conradi is soon died after the charges were filed.

This is what the heroes of the “youngest Germany” look like!
fend them with bold manly courage the grossest obscenities in the world, and when they are held accountable, they will half mad with fear. – Real men's souls!

– 202 –

The Jew Sittenfeld behaved most heroically. He asserted with self-confident attitude that his book was of enormous moral significance and among all the classics in the world hardly If we have an academy of arts and knowledge–
fcies, like the French, he would certainly be one of the first, who would be awarded prizes. But of course, our German public prosecutors mostly did not have enough education to ... Here the foreman cut him off– fitting man interrupted him and rebuked him with sharp words.
(This fun cost Mr. Sittenfeld 40 marks extra.) The long
The torrent of words of the clean boy breathed such excessive arrogance– so much that it aroused lively displeasure among all listeners, and the most of them had the feeling: why would you strap on such a guy not over the goat and pay him with the pipe, as he deserved. It almost seems as if the Jews were sent into the world, to keep the moral sensitivity of the peoples awake and to to put it to the test. They are constantly testing how far they can go must in order to incite a people to an outbreak of moral anger; and a people that is no longer able to beat the Jews with the whip
To serve as Christ did, has the moral strictness and the Mental strength lost and is heading for decay. – Already at
For the sake of the Jews, it is necessary to reinstate corporal punishment in court
There are ways of thinking and acting for which the whip
is the only true means of atonement. |

Sittenfeld was awarded for his “highly moral, award-worthy” writing for 300 marks and because of his Hebrew nobility sentenced to 40 Mk in court, Walloth to 100 Mk. – The Publisher Friedrich was acquitted because he had the fwinish manuscripts– scripts before printing. –“

Sic transit gloria mundi!

There we have the exemplum ad oculos that a Jew gives a moral name, makes in morality, the errors knows his race, pretends to detest it and yet a Jew remains as he is written in the book.

The Minister of Culture would be particularly concerned, even more than the Minister of Justice to ensure that the horrific nonsense with madhouse certificates. Nowadays, people from the Lettres de cachet of the French kings, with which many—a lot of mischief was done than by a horrible medium—ancient tyrant tools. It is precisely the Jewish liberal papers, which at the mere thought of such abominable tool of tyranny in “moral indignation” We now have very recent positive evidence that that exactly the same nonsense is being done with madhouse certificates, as before with the notorious Lettres de cachet, as well as to neutralize undesirable people as well as to to avoid a deserved punishment. Furthermore, we have the fact= It is worth noting that the asylum is threatened if it should get certain people to tell the truth.

0 (N

– 203 –

This proves that nowadays, insane asylum certificates are just as good to be had, like Lettres de cachet in previous centuries. In the past, kings used such Lettres de eachet, and whoever uses the madhouse certificates today? I only know of cases to indicate where Jews can find this despicable instrument served and could only name Jewish doctors, who have given themselves over to such terrible certificates ficate. Is there a fee for such madhouse letters? What does such an instrument cost? Who are the privileged doctors, who are allowed to do this with impunity and without being hanged? Perhaps there are also privileged doctors who, through vaccination, or subcutaneous injections or other apparently harmless means provide useful services in inheritance or similar matters allowed? |

In the interest of humanity, science, etc., it would be desirable if one of the gentlemen to whom this book is dedicated met is to invite the Prussian Minister of Culture, Mr. von Goßler, to a wanted to publicly initiate a concise answer to such questions.

Andes and colonial policy.

"You are, I hear, at the colony of Angra-Pequena involved', Mr Baron?"

"— what does that mean? You want to be disadvantaged

agen! —

(Baron von Bleichröder.)

The great colonial politician Privy Councillor Professor Dr. Virchow once lectured from the lectern of the Reichstag that the word colony comes from the Latin colere "to cultivate" and that a colony is actually not a colony. |

The Jew Emin Pafha is chasing that the German possessions in Africa is not suitable for agriculture, but only for exploitation.

| The Jewish MP Bamberger claims that he has nothing of colonial issues.

The Talmud tractate Jebamoth 63a states:

"Rabbi Eliezer says: "There is no more miserable business than Agriculture." Rabba adds: "If a Jew has a hundred guilders, in order to do business, he may allow himself to eat meat daily and drink wine and can live in a palace; he but thousands in agriculture, so he must eat vegetables with salt, in live in a poor hut and sleep on the floor."

Furthermore, in the same treatise, in the same chapter, it says: "Rabbi Eliezer, son of Abina, says: "All the plagues in the world come men by the Jews." a |

As long as the world exists, no Jew is the bearer of culture been, and if two-thirds of the human age experience in over-seafaring colonies to have a say, then

I maintain that the first principle in colonial enterprises which must be: No Jew may ever have a say in them or participate in them. work if you don't want to have the worst experiences.

Our entire German colonial policy has from the outset a had a femific touch. |

No sooner had the now negotiated Angra-Pequena been acquired,
The famous Lieutenant Siegmund Ifrael went as a pioneer of the German trade and industry there. He has the Germans showed how it's done.

| What was the whole Samoa affair? What did it mean to German Empire? Some Jews quarreled. German—

The country paid a lot of money and the Jews had the pleasure of

to see the hated Goyim drown. Finally, the question from the world. Pleasant reminiscences are every—

if not retarded.

After the first work was done in East Africa by some Germans—was accomplished, the children of Ifrael began to make themselves known, for the time being, however, only about patriotism among the good Germans to bring them to market their skin in East Africa,
and they could later appropriate the fruits of their labour.

Our Foreign Office, which is full of Jews, seems to
to have understood everything according to the wishes of the Siraelites—prepare.

It made a very strange impression to see the creations
the colonial associations in the interior of Germany, even in small provinces—cial cities, and the enthusiasm which is everywhere artificially created by time—reports.

People were asked to give lectures in such associations on Good of the Fatherland, and if one said that, in order to to talk about African colonies, one has to be on the spot—
If you had to be someone who was not your own person, you were laughed at. Everyone felt called to have a say and believed that he was a paragon of colonial wisdom—to be happy after reading some newspaper articles.

Even today it is difficult to get an idea of our German colonial conditions and the merits of the people, who have played a major role in their real
To assess values, because the Jewish press ensures that after the respective interests of the children of Israel and is denied.

But it had hardly become known that a Jew in the interior Africa, when he was raised to the shield and for German—land should be taken out.

Who is Emin Pasha? What has he achieved? This question I often addressed it to people who should understand something about the matter, but never received a satisfactory answer. Above all he is a Jew; then he left Germany by abandoned his wife; then he was a doctor in the service of a Turkish-Pasha; then he joined Gordon, because where he had is, chips fall off, and collecting them is the Main business of the Jew. Finally we find him in Wadelai as so-called Governor of the Equatorial Province. How he There is a darkness over the fact that he got the post. It is said that he fe had been a bearer of culture in the province, but what we positive knowledge is that he knows the values of the land there, ivory, has accumulated in large quantities.

– 206 –

Stanley finally marshals him out of the country; it is said, that Stanley wanted to steal his ivory. Whether this Whether this claim is true or not remains to be seen, but from the From Stanley's descriptions it is clear that Emin was a real is Jewish and Stanley rightly treats him as such.

The entire Jewish press exalts Emin to the skies and Stanley's actions are belittled.

Quarrels and disputes are happily present, and an animosity against the Englishman. Germany immediately takes the noble Hebrew into his hospitable arms. He is honored and he performs felf a fall out of the window, in which probably every other person that would have blessed. f

In the Talmud, tractate Kiddufhin, p. 40a, it says: "Rabbi Zaduk was once drunk and threw himself from the roof. The prophet Elijah came 400 miles quickly, so quickly that he He was able to catch the falling Rabbi with his arms. But the good Elias was sick for three days from the rapid journey and was badly angry at the rabbi."

Shouldn't we believe that the prophet Elijah also Emin received?

Emin Pafha is given office and dignity and moves into The interior is back. Dispatches arrive saying that the grateful Emin now founded an empire in Africa on her own account will. Would such assumptions be made to the traveler any other nationality other than the Jewish one?

Two Germans who actually achieved something in East Africa come to Germany and in the "Volkszeitung" from

September 30, 1890 one reads: =

"In the case of the Beterd-Commer3, the absence of personal-killings of the Foreign Office, which is located in his honor banquet given by the Emin Pasha Committee, At least one employee of the "Post", who which is close to 1, to make the following remarks close:

In colonial circles, people are aware that the personal-ity of Dr. Peters, who ensures a quiet and limited activity fit is not very suitable for satisfactory placement, especially in the present-moment when everything is in the process of development, special Difficulties. As your correspondent recently pointed out, was to be communicated, are with regard to the later use of the Lord Major Wißmann also expects some changes that will be much-will easily initially upset some colonial friends. It is taking into account that the provisional structure is naturally subject to change suppression of the uprising must come to an end; there must be a steady Falun, which will provide the necessary trust for the future. Because even if the anger over the German-English ical agreement has gradually disappeared, it is still a certain mistrust still lingers, especially among the capitalists, that the German Empire occasionally invades other parts of our colonies

nien

Worth emphasizing that Mr. von Caprivi recently had the opportunity as compensation. On the other hand, it is has taken to assure that we now have what we fit, and that he attached importance to the fact that this become known everywhere." |

x *
*

It seems that the two Germans are to be released after their work, because we now have a "sym-pathetic" Jew in Africa, who "exploits" for himself and the

One can take care of one's better. There is a great deal of talk about the great Services that Emin Pasha could render to science. The Science has to serve as a pretext for everything today.

says that Emin's papers are interspersed with scientific records—forums and in the "Köln. Zeitung" of 17 October In 1890 one reads:

"The German Colonial Society has decided to work with Emin

Pasha by sending a typist for him in conjunction—

The intention is to use this method to attract the rich Experiences to save Emia in Wadelai from destruction, and also about the latest works of the deserving researcher to be informed directly, from which a rich benefit for our colonization efforts are to be hoped for. It must be assumed—that both these purposes can be achieved if Emin is provided with a skilled typist. The Preparations for the implementation of this plan are already ediehen that only the affirmative answer of Emin had to be awaited lives." —

* *

*

The gentlemen seem to take Emin really seriously. In ge—
In some respects I do the same, that is, where it is ivory or Gold trades for him and his family, but with science
That is a separate matter. He would give us an instruction on give the same, as the Christian Rabbi gives the good Deut—fight of the kingdom of heaven, while he makes merry and his pockets, or he would do it like Mr. von Brandt, who—cher the Foreign Office a mass of so-called scientific—reports, while he gives the unscientific, ie such which are related to earning money, directly to relatives or bank—kiers or interested parties. Do we even know whether it Didn't it cost Emin a lot of trouble to lose his papers?

ambetta, for example, burned his when he had to give an account fould, ft always be. Losing documents at the right moment—ment is a specifically Jewish manipulation, and in any case it is The safest thing to do when dealing with a Jew is to be prepared that he uses such a convenient means, if one does not already previously very significant and positive evidence of his reliability—power in his hands. Recently we have seen that he is against EM (_NNO e

Digitized by) 8 10

Jin a

1 8 een Bi

– 208 –

the Reichskommiffar is on strike, that is quite natural, how could that it is different. I am just surprised how the matter ends. –

But I would like to highlight one point here. How do Jews and Arabs with each other? Drumont tells us in his “La France juive” II., p. 14, that an Arab does not kill a Jew, because he finds it too despicable. That would be a long Preservation of Emin may be beneficial. Elsewhere one hears that the Arab does not allow a Jew to mount the horse because the animal was too noble for him. Who else knows anything about this Bun wants to know, read l'Algerie juive by Georges Meynie and it juifs en Algerie from the same. L'Algerie par Raoul Bergot, Les odeurs de Tunis par Honoré Pontois, and to whom it belongs it is boring to study these scientific works, and scientific wants to know how much the Arabs love the Jews, read this very interesting–Reffante literary work “Au soleil” by Guy de Maupassant.

The Arab is known to have a very fine feeling for race–characteristics, and now I ask you to consider what the Arab of us Germans should think when we compare him with Jewish officials, Teachers, clergymen and African travellers? He must a peculiar concept from us Germans. We otherwise they care so much about “reputation” among foreign peoples.

In Algiers, the Arabs submit petitions against the Jewish plague and send letters of thanks to anti-Semitic writers.

What would the Arabs say if they knew that the
The management of our entire colonial policy is in Jewish hands?

I am reading an article from the “Export” of 26 February 1890 via East Africa:

The so-called English intrigues in East Africa.
(Sent by an old German overseas sailor.)

When the Sultan of Zanzibar became known in Germany, some German colonial-political papers added to that news the information that the Sultan had apparently been poisoned, that the new Sultan had long been-secret contacts with the English Consulate-that English naval doctors did him the favor to state that the body of Seyd Chalifa did not contain any Injuries show that hopefully the English government under Be-taking into account the existing treaties of their sub-companies with Germany-thanes and the representatives of English interests in Zanzibar-members of the English East African Society no intrigues against German interests etc. The whole on the basis of the news compiled in this way and the-The same assessment had to be made in every case, no matter how objective

F u ae BA Er ER

- 209 -

thinking reader the opinion that the English more or less the intellectual perpetrators of the assassination of Seyd Khalifa or that they at least had the same effect on the promotion their East African interests and the intrigues of the fanatics supported the Arab party hostile to Europeanism, to bring the current Sultan, Seyd Ali, to power and to play him and his followers off against the Germans.

That even without English and European intrigues, Asian and African despots in a not unusual way from the World is well known, and accordingly the causes of the death of Seyd Khalifa even without reference to eng-ical assistance can be interpreted. However, it is still in in no way certain that the Sultan really died a violent death has died and to determine the causes of the same is difficult ever succeed. After all, the possibility is not excluded-concluded that Seyd Khalifa died of fever, the consequences of the illness regularities of harem life or the like.

A disease similar to influenza can also be introduced which are known to have been in the south of Europe and in the north of Africa has claimed more victims recently than in the countries but with less temperate climates. Basically, but such discussions have little value. "Le Sultan est mort, vive le Sultan" - the system remains the same. That Seyd Khalifa hated the Europeans and Christians, is certain, and no one will blame him, because he owes the destruction of his An-to them. in East Africa, as well as the territorial losses on the mainland. Neither did his brother, the skilful Seyd Bargafch, see the intrusion

the Europeans could prevent them from entering the East African sphere of interest, Seyd Khalifa was not able to do it and neither will anyone in the future. Seyd Ali and the orthodox Islamic party are able to. In such conditions the English as the intellectual participants to denounce the Sultan's death is downright rude and silly! But if now expressly to confirm this claim and to increase the argument the facts are turned upside down and it is claimed: English naval doctors had determined, at the "request" of Seyd Ali, that external injuries on the body of Seyd Khalifa could not be confirmed, while the doctors concerned have only given this opinion after they had offered to autopsy the corpse, though they cannot be permitted for religious reasons alone could, suspicions such as those mentioned appear as an infame Perfidy! It has indeed become a comfortable fashion in Germany has become a country that is a country that is a country of dread, and especially our colonial-chauvinistic circles seek the disadvantages of all mistakes and errors they made to the "English intrigues". Of course, it was these who caused the loss of Lamu should have been in debt, and yet two years ago it was the Germans frankly and freely, the islands in the area of their rulers' shaft. Now the English are looking west of the lakes to get a firm foothold, stations have already been set up there! a year ago, the Germans would have had free rein there and the means which, without the exact knowledge of the circumstances and the situation of Emin Pasha wasted in vain to relieve him have been successfully used to set up stations at the Lakes can be used. As for these, so for all half-measures, indecisions, wrong measures and thoughtlessness the "intrigues of the English". The same silly tale resounds in Witu, on the Tana, the lake district, Zanzibar, and now The English will also be with the faithful and patient denounced by the German colonial public as a poisoner. With such You cannot make a successful colonial policy without means and you also not the fiasco that has so far affected all German-East African private companies. If the Reich had not intervened, a fleet would not have been mobilized for a period of one year and if a capable man like Wißmann had not If the management of the operations had been taken over, an atom of all the so many costs, sacrifices and reputations left over from the private ventures undertaken. Not a single one of the under-performances staged with such great promises has fulfilled its purpose With what sovereign over all legitimate concerns and warnings were addressed, with what impudence the most brilliant colonial images from East-

14

– 210 –

Africa presented to the German public! What a comedy, what Advertising had to be used! If it had been done to support the colonial To help the idea to victory, this would be achieved through excessive zeal be excused, but in fact it was done to avoid personal mis- successes. And after finally this whole system was- has been managed and no one believes in the reputation anymore, "Perfidious Albion" is blamed for causing the failures have – lupus in fabula.

German colonial policy is alive and will not only continue live, but hopefully also continue to exist with honor. The new Sultan will not change anything and would go to his or her If he wants to change it for the English, we hope that without hesitation and in the most ruthless way is defined that we are equal to the latter. Moreover, it is our task to Arabs of the mainland and the Negro tribes in the interior of the Con- tinents through actions the conviction that we are just as energetic colonizers and commercial entrepreneurs, like the Englishman. This proof has not yet been provided, and that the Arabs and natives now – according to agreement= the statement of independent German African travelers – with the English countries rather than with the Germans, is a fact that is not very flattering to us is. However, this fact cannot take away our wonders, because what material were our colonizers (!) made of?! Bureaucratically trained, clumsy people whose advancement in Germany took too long, aspiring farmers from Pomerania-

Eu 2 " *

"

- 211 -

her provenance, full of innate and acquired arrogance because of their long family tree, whose fruits already tasted bitter, Economical lieutenants who, without having smelled gunpowder, with a broken marshal's baton in his knapsack in the "blessed Africa" dreamed of a feudal workers' paradise, from the middle from them, lying in the hammock, countless cattle= and slaves= directing herds, of slaves – the color of the slaves is what matters yes not on – let yourself be fanned; seat and other rest actors, who left half a dozen or more editorial offices unsafe and now those who dictated to them, under the influence write reports octroyed by the tropical East African sun; in addition, some other failed existences that were affected by the victory awareness of her irresistible personality. And with it revolvers, floppy hats, gun boots, a holy, big, German mouth full of patriotism and reputation, as well as a phenomenal mental appetite and equally eternal thirst! These are the people, who, in association with their protectors, a friendly people at insult and suspect at every opportunity!

Where was the insight, the reasonable practical consideration
Where, above all, were the ideals? What could it help that, after the funds were almost exhausted and by those elements
the colonial interests were botched on the spot, a individual clever and intelligent men under Vohsen's leadership tried to bring the carts back onto the right road?!
Is what has been said perhaps described in too dark a light? Tace! De te fabula narrative!

Undoubtedly, we are now or soon at a turning point= points of German colonial policy. We think far too highly of the Reich government, than we could assume that the same would lead to an energetic continuation of the work begun be inclined to renounce. But it is just as certain that they will neither to continue alone nor to complete successfully may, if you do not have the necessary support among the people itself. Even if the East African Empire were to become a crown colony under his own administration, jo can think of a successful cultivation, trade and plantation=colonifation only then be thought of when numerous private interests of German citizens entrepreneurs there and to support the Reich administration in a position to do so. The people who have been working there so far foccupations and sole proprietors are unsuitable because the means of the fteren are almost used up and a successful action by the previous existing private interests is therefore hardly to be expected. If We must therefore also wish that a reconstruction of the oft-
African society and other societies on a broader

1

economic basis under the leadership of already proven persons succeed, but at the same time we hope that numerous other

Enterprises will emerge which will open up the hinterland to the German fec interests and secure them. This is undoubtedly the case location of a railway to the sea areas is more necessary,

14*

– 212 –

as well as the English will proceed to build such a

However, the implementation of such and similar undertakings still has to completely different private funds than those previously mobilized by the German side will be made available. More on that shortly! Just a energetic action can be taken against the so-called "intrigues" of the English help. When they see that we are acting energetically everywhere—go, and when they see that behind this desire there are sufficient means and experienced, economically competent people, then it is with the core saying: öte toi que je m'y mette, once and for all—

"Just stop by!"

1 ia *

What the author of the article is chasing is harsh, but seems true to be, because this is confirmed by other sources. We have Here again the case that inferior human material sent to where the best should be sent. I want to go here—ft that a lieutenant who had failed because of a trifle, named—lich, if he is strangled by the Jew, has my sympathies, because his upbringing did not prepare him for the outside world and he is usually very disappointed. If you like that—But if you want to help people, then it is wrong to start from the beginning—to make them independent and to place them in authoritative positions feat. Exceptionally, one or the other person may—last, but as a rule, those elements that are do not have a strong character, always in danger of becoming a prey of the Jews—thumbs, if they are not under very firm, secure German leadership that encourages them to work.

But how Jews know how to benefit from colonies, that The following article from the "Berliner Tageblatt" by An= shows us beginning of January 1891 about a sensational trial in London:

A huge fraud.
(Henry Marks – Butterfield and Rae=Goldmine.)

The "Berl. Tagebl.", a certainly innocuous source, reports about a short sensational trial set in London, The following 00 of course fails to mention that Marks – Benjamin etc. Jews!): |
"After nine days of negotiations, today the court of Henry Marks, the founder and publisher of the "Financial News", against Mr. Butterfield in trial for defamation and libel insult has come to an end. In the position that Marks here, and given the severity of the charges brought against him= complaining, it was only a commandment to remain silent until the "twelve honest and truthful 1 made their judgment, and this in such a way more than the witnesses and allegations against Marks white" were by no means above all doubt. Only those who attended the entire hearing and paid attention to her in the courtroom.

famely followed, could form a judgment as to what was true and what was false

– 213 –

on the subject, and the audience had to, like the Be= judge, wait for the verdict of the jury before it Verdict. The verdict has now been lifted, and the ban that tongues and feathers has been released.

The reason for the complaint was, if I remember correctly, brochure published in February last year, in which Mr. Marks and others were accused of "seducing" a widow in New York, fhe cheated out of all his property and was then left in the lurch and in the greatest need after he had made the attempt to to be locked up in a public mental institution as an insane person. This claim was very damaging to Mr. Marks, as he not only achieved a respected position in society, but but also in the new London City Council (County Council)– and was considered as a candidate for parliament. As interesting as this love story with the interesting widow was, the audience was still interested in the second accusation, which The completely failed Rae gold mine was much more expensive. It was a notoriously fraudulent foundation, in which the public fold its 80,000 to 100,000 pounds, and the anonymous brochure claimed that Marks was the soul of the whole, that he He cheated the audience with the help of his paper and put all the money into ftucked into his pocket. The anonymous accuser explained everything in detail and revealed such a precise knowledge of all the details, that his statements were generally believed. The founding According to his statements, it went like this: A brother-in-law by Henry Marks, a Mr. Benjamin, traveled with a brewery= Engineer who is on his way to Cape Town to work in an in= engineer for mining, to the Cape Colony. There The first worthless farm was sold for the ridiculous price of 500 pounds. The newly qualified "expert in mining" fach" then gave his findings and his report, which the farm as a true Eldorado, and with the purchase deed, the estate– achte and some gold-bearing quartz bought in Cape Town= Armed with weapons, Mr. Benjamin returned to London. He immediately bought the "Gold Farm" to a "Mr. Smith" for 50,000 pounds, and he sold them on the same day to a consortium for 80,000 pounds, which invited the public to vote for this "cheaply acquired" farm 100,000, captivating with its gold wealth Pound to fubferibiren. The "Financial News" recommended the Rae Goldmine as a "very solid and promising investment" in small articles and in the editorial office's mailbox. After a few Months ago, according to Kabel report, a diamond was also found on the Rae Farm tied up, and the Aetien fhoored jo into the air, that the founders – they all got rid of it with agio!

But when it came to paying dividends, things started to go wrong Disturbing news came from Cape Town, and finally The whole thing turned out to be a colossal hoax. The shares fell from 25 shillings and more to 1½ shillings and – Someone bought them up. A general meeting was called to transfer the farm to a neighboring "gold mine" decided and so the whole thing fell into the water, and no tap crowed more about it.

– 214 –

Then suddenly the anonymous brochure appeared, which claimed that Benjamin, Smith and all directors and original The illustrators were just front men for Henry Marks. He bought the farm and sold it to his straw man Smith and then handed over to the company, all shares replaced by strawmen, which were then driven up by his sheet, attached to the audience, and when the "founding fraud" Light came, with the "Financial News" reporting the outraged Cenfor fplayed, he bought the shares as waste paper and then in the General Assembly itself the abfolutorium. The brochure listed the names of the original original draftsmen, quite close relatives of Mark, then the governess and the servants in his house and a untraceable Miss Fanny Chamberlain, who 2000 to 5000 pounds shares and happily sold them before the crash came! "It was Henry Marks under 30 different names," said the brochure. He bought the farm, he hung it around the public 80,000 pounds and sold worthless shares for 100,000 pounds with premium in circulation.

The defrauded shareholders of the Rae Gold Mine raised a fuss. The matter became unpleasant for Mr. Marks; he found himself in his Position in society, as a newspaper editor and as a city He declared himself, like Parnell, innocent and immediately filed a criminal complaint against the printer of the brochure. This printer became afraid and called the author, a Mr. Butterfield! | |

ne Henry Marks breathed a sigh of relief. Butterfield was a American who had come to London to create an "American Goldfeld" to the British public for the small sum of one million. Marks spoiled the founding of this American-Canadian Rae Farm thoroughly that Butterfield not only has no pennies from the pockets of the British public, but also spent all his possessions. He was a poor devil- and his brochure was an act of revenge! Marks hung this ostensibly to the big bell, Butterfield, who was in danger was that he had escaped British jurisdiction by fleeing could arrest, continued the prosecution of the "Berechers" by the greatest lawyer in London, Sir Charles Ruffel in Gang and, given Butterfield's pennilessness, saw the further development development of things with calm.

Only Henry Marks had, through the impudence of his appearance (the "BT" says "intrepidity") among the Greens- but made many enemies! Especially from the nitrate fields a seed that was fatal to him grew up! With kings, and even if only with nitric acid, it is bad to eat cherries! Butterfield found bail and money, a huge amount of money, in order not to not only to accept the famous lawyer Hill, but also witnesses from America and Africa, including the "interesting tante" widow, a Mrs. Koppel, and the straw man "Smith" of the admitted to Marks for his role as buyer and seller Eau of Rae-Goldmine 200 pounds tip to receive have. Ä

- 215 -

Without going into the lengthy process in detail, said that the jury believed the widow's testimony and the information Butterfields about the Rae Gold Mine and Butterfield acquitted. Not enough, the jury explained, that they the charges against Marks were proven to be complete and that Butterfield, with the publication of the brochure acted in the public interest. Against the printer The charges were then withdrawn and Marks was ordered to pay the costs N trial, which cost him several thousand pounds should.

The verdict was received in the courtroom with enthusiastic Applause was received - the audience consisted for the most part from shareholders of the Rae Gold Mine and from the Financial News slaughtered founders. The judge, however, was very indignant and declared that he did not agree with the verdict at all. The Walt Hill noted that fortunately this did not change the verdict, and the audience will have to decide. He is looking forward to "to have uncovered the most dangerous man in London!" So ended the sensational trial, which will not be without consequences, and could lead to further legal proceedings."

* *

*

Such frauds are repeated all over the world in all possible forms. For one of the most competent judges I consider our Reichstag deputies to be the ones who are Ludwig Bamberger, who would do well to benefit and promote men of our German fatherland about the way in which it is done to provide information so that the German public be warned in time and our colonies to the children Israel not only offers a means of using the stock exchange to carry out raids of the type described above.

It cannot possibly be in the interest and desire of Germans, that our colonies are exploited in a Jewish manner and also little that we can relate to our colonial neighbours, whether they are English, French, or whatever else they may be, are at odds. But as long as we have Jews in our colonial affairs, whether in administration or in exploitation, there is little feeceived that the development of the colonies will have a peaceful The Jew will always manage to or the other way of creating murky water in which to fish His tribesmen, whom he has in the other camps, will always support him in this.

– 216 –

Wherever I found English and Germans living together– I have always found that they got along well, although they made fierce competition in trade; only when Jewish When an element came between them, discord was sown. This is evidence how English and Germans lived in harmony for decades until a Jewish element created a discordant note, is the Part II. Articles from the North China Herald, p. 199. The legitimacy of the accusation expressed in this article was by all the Germans who had agreed to it– to sign an address to Mr. von Brandt, recognized.

We should, wherever we are with Englishmen in colonial– affairs, never forget that they are a every German who comes to their colonies the same rights like every Englishman. This has always been the case and is still so today. In contrast, the call which was made at the Inauguration of our colonial policy was: "One must give in to the English-countries on their own soil," for someone who has long lived in English colonies, at least strange. This The solution had a strong, hostile aftertaste and sounded according to the customary practice among the children of Israel, granted guest-to reward friendship with ingratitude.

I would like to raise one more question. What qualification a man like Dr. Kayfer from the Foreign Office can lead our colonial affairs 1 What merits has he in this direction? Where could he have acquired his knowledge? What was the purpose of his baptism?

I have experienced a lot in colonial matters. But we seem everything that has ever been achieved in Cochinchina and Algiers in the shadows to want to put.

Andes and aerofotography.

A French writer has made the claim that that for a future generation the noble diploma will be the only would consist solely in proving that there was no Jewish blood in his veins. This would not be entirely unthinkable, because a Nobility only has meaning if it is national. Unfortunately a large part of our nobility seems to lose sight of this, how far with and how far without awareness of the consequences, which What must arise from this for him remains to be seen. The gentlemen must know best what they are doing.

One may assume that among the nobility themselves opinions= differences prevail and a large part of them are not agreed that the title of nobility was reduced to 1 is appreciated, and since it is out of color, that within a short time the The time will come when it is time to show our colors, It would be desirable to know the part of the nobility which to pure Germanism. The other part of the nobility has has lost its right to exist. No less interesting It would be a complete lift of the mixed nobility and one of the Jewish pure sang. A complete "Almanac of Golgatha" would meet a long-felt need.

I have no reason whatsoever to dwell on the matter but limit myself to making a few notes about Mifch= to give them as they are at hand and to draw attention to a small book, which was published in 1889 by of Kyffhäuser in Salzburg and was entitled "Ennobled Jewish Families". Neither this booklet nor the ones I brought Lists make no claim to completeness, but % can still be used as sources for larger works of this kind of useful. |

* *

*

"On the occasion of the recent marriage of Prince Alois Liechtenstein in Vienna, a German journal noted that, although here and there a Liechtensteiner brings home a commoner, but no one will ever "lower themselves" to marry a Jewess, "cases, as they can occur in Asian Hungary, would be in German Nobility impossible." In contrast, the Karlovy Vary "Sprudel" now receives from a friend a small collection of aristocratic-Jewish Marriages, which does not claim to be complete, but still teaches that despite the anti-Semitic current, they just in the last decade cennium were closed quite frequently. It is known that Prince Heinrich XIV of Reuß-Greiz with Marianne Meyer from Berlin who bore the title of Frau von Egenberg and in 1814 ft died. Only recently, the reigning Prince of Monaco Daughter of Michael Heine; Prince Radziwill (a close relative of the Prussian royal family) married Marie in 1880 Felix, daughter of the gaming tenant Francois Blanc and the Charlotte Henfel, Prince Michael Cito-Fitomarino, Prince of Rocca d'Afpide, Marie, daughter of the merchant Moriz Embden in Hamburg, sister of the poet Heinrich Heine, Heinrich Decazes (1888) Ifabella, daughter of the sewing machine manufacturer Singer, Victor Maffena, Duke of Rivoli (1882) Paula Heine, the adopted daughter of the banker Carl Heine in Hamburg and daughter of Mr. Furtado, a brother of Madame Heine, Prince of Polignac (1874) Marie, daughter of Mr. Langenberger and a née Erlanger, Armand de Chapelle de Jumillac, Duke of Richelieu, Alice Heine, now married Princess of Monaco. Prince Ludwig of Sayn-Wittgenstein-Sayn, Amalie, daughter of the broker Lilienthal, who as a widow (1882) married the Baron Prince of Reischach, who was 12 years younger than her, married.

– 218 –

Prince Frederick of Sayn-Wittgenstein-Berleburg married (1868) Pauline Lilienthal, a sister of the previous, Prince Jofef Sulkowski Victoria Lehmann, Prince Ernst von Lynar Louise Löbenstein.

Even more numerous are the marriages of members of counts Houses with middle-class Jews. Count Ernst von Batthanyi of Nemet-Ujvar married a Miss Robitfek, Count Wolf von Baudisin, the famous Shakespearean translator, Sophie Kaskel from Dresden, Count Charles Louis Marie de Bertier (1859) Alice, daughter of Jeremias Singer, director an insurance company, Count Hyacinthe de Boisboiffel (1883)

the daughter of Jacob Libman, Vicomte de Chappedelame the Daughter of Emanuel Ginsburger and Rofa Leweil, Count Ch aptal, Nadine Rafalowitz, Count de Corberon's daughter of Leon Löwenstein, Count of Desart Miss Bischofsheim, Count Despetit de la Salle Amelie Goldsmith, Count Ludwig von Dohna Fanny Aronfohn, Count Valentin d' Eftourmel the daughter of Hermann Oppenheim. Countess Marie von Firmian married (1884) Karl Kuffner in Hungary, Count Heinrich Giovanelli married thete (1872) Pauline Morawetz, his brother Melitta Morawetz, Count Kurt Bogislaw von Hacke, the daughter of the banker Oskar Heinauer and Julie Prins, Count Georg von Hardenberg (1879) the daughter of Victor Heymann, merchant in Rio de Janeiro, Count Guido Henckel, Baron von Donnersmarck (1871) Blanche Lachmann, Vicomte de Jousselin (1888) Miss Avigdor, Niece of Baron Hirsch, Count Stefan Jundzill (1879) Julie, daughter of the bank director Anton Laski in Warsaw, Count Franz de Montigny-Jancourt (1864) Lina Steiner, Count of Raciborska Morßtyn Miss Reichmann, daughter of a banker in Warsaw, Vicomte de la Panouse the singer Marie 1 Count de Perein (1885), the daughter of Joachim Ephrussi and Henriette Halperson, Countess Bertha von Pourtales (1871) Benjamin Schlefinger, Imperial German Consul in Bofton, Marchefe Respaltizza, a supporter of the pretender to the crown Don Carlos, Miss Morwitzer, Count Maurice Reffeguier de Biremont Bertha, ver widow Abeles, Count Gottfried von Rumerskirch Louise Goldstein, Viscount Franz de Salles (1869) Annaide Leven, Count Gotthardt Saurma-Jeltfsch (1860) Maria Rofa, daughter of Dr. Samuel Dreifus in Stuttgart and Henriette Benedikt, Vicomte Louis Carl Maria Heinrich de Serrurier (1872) Hermine, Daughter of the banker Jacob Freund, Gaetano Trapani, Marquis de Montepagano (1872) Bertha, daughter of Virginie Goldber, Count Rudolf von Weftarb (1883) the daughter of Jaques in Ham castle and Emma Hertz, Count Joseph of Westphalen of Fürstenberg Katharina Friedberg.

- 219 -

From members of baronial families who married Jews and Jewish women were mentioned: Baron Ferdinand von Andrian-Werburg, the daughter of Giacomo " Lord of Baillon Jofefine Morbitzer, Baron Jofef de Baye Carie Oppenheim, Baron Alfred von Buffsche-Ippenburg the Daughter of Commissioner Cerf. Baroness Marianne von Duval Dampierre, which belongs to the family of the brave colonel, the savior Emperor Ferdinand II, married Heinrich Ludwig in 1881 Jeitteles, Professor of Natural Sciences at the Teacher Training Institute institution in Vienna, Baron Carl v. Donnersberg the Sophie Würzburger from Munich, Baron Wilhelm Gorup von Bejänez Anna Deffauer, Baron v. Grainger Eugenia Koulla, Baron v. Grothuß

Sarah Mayer, Baron von der Hagen Clara Löwinfohn, a 5
von Hammerfstein Dorothea Rofenthal, Baron Robert von Hein Julie Abfolon, Baron Heinrich von Hügel, Royal Württemberg Colonel (1856) Adeline Benedict, Baron Emanuel von le) Blanca Meyerbeer, Baron Hugo von Lütgendorff=Leinburg, kk Haupt= mann, the daughter of Moritz Löwenfeld, Baron Friedrich von Maltzahn (1879) Louise Ladenburg from Mannheim, Baron Georg
v. Mitis Anna Seligmann, Baron Karl von Münch=Belling= hausen the daughter of Simeon Friedrich Popper, Baron Karl August von Obercamp Anna Libofschitz, Baron Joh. Anton Puget the daughter of the banker Eduard Mylaund and Marie Enoch in Warsaw, Baron Eugen von Richthofen Fanny Mendelsohn, Baron Eduard von Sacken Elifabeth Pollak=Höger, Baron de Santos, Portuguese Embassy Secretary, Henriette Julie, the Daughter of Jacob Landau and Jeanette Johanna Wolff and

– 220 –

Widow of Bernhard Figdor, Baron Albrecht von Tefchenberg 1887) Bertha Winternitz, Baron Oskar Lehrer von echtenthal (1885) Elifabeth daughter of Moritz Hirsch, Baron de

Vergniolle Johanna, daughter of Ferdinand Wertheimer in Vienna

and Pauline Goldschmidt, Baron Friedrich von Wichmaunn–

Eichhorn Elise Marie, widowed Schlesinger. |

(Jewish Press No. 24, June 12, 1890.)

** *

*

Judaization of German princely families. In the last Months ago, the news was in all the newspapers that a baron von Rüttenstein inheritance claims to the Saxe-Coburg family–
, but was flatly rejected. It Only a few people may know that this Baron von Rüttenstein of Jewish descent. His mother, Constanze Geiger, was the Daughter of a Jewish musician in Vienna. She was Actress. As such, Prince Leopold of Saxony–
Koburg, she married in 1862 in morganatic Marriage and made her Baroness von Rüttenstein. It belongs in Germany is unfortunately not one of the exceptions that high royal personalities associate with Semites. This is Prince Ludwig of Bavaria, the brother of the Empress of Austria= rich, morganatic with a Jew, Henriette Mendel, daughter of a

Munich jeweler, who now bears the title "Baroness von Wallerfen". Prince Heinrich XIV of Reuß-Greiz married the Jew Marianne Mayer from Berlin, later known as Baroness Eybenberg (?). Prince Radziwill has had a Jewish wife since 1876 (Luise Blanc); Prince Emil of Sayn-Wittgenstein married 1868 morganatically married Pauline Lilienthal, to whom he bestowed the title of "Baroness von Kleydorff"; Prince Louis von Sayn-Berleburg has the sister of the previous one as his wife. – Does this sound drawing, which does not claim full isn't it quite edifying?! |

(Deutsch-Sociale Blätter No. 118, November 16, 1890.)

* *

*

Fraud of the aristocracy. The "Allgem. Ztg. d. Judaism" reports in its No. 47: "Aryan-Jewish Blue-blood. In 1890, between Christian aristocrats and The following marriages took place with girls of Jewish descent: Count Xaver Holynski married the daughter of the State Councillor Johann Bloch and Emilie, born Kronenberg; Count Georg Orßich de Szlavetice married on 14 July in Vienna Katharina, first mime artist of the Vienna Court Opera, daughter of Jacob Martin Abel and Therefia née Goldmann; Prince On July 29, Wladmir Worniecki led Marie, daughter tenacity

" A

– 221 –

the Persian Consul General Eduard Epstein and Theresie née Pninska to the altar."

(Deutsch-Sociale Blätter No. 127, January 18, 1891.)

* *

*

The Frankfurt Erlanger daughter – Princess. We read in the "Frankfurter Zeitung": In the Frankfurt Standes-Books appear under the 27th of Mis. the following banns: Solms-

Braunfels, Alexander Friedrich Carl Maria, Prince, from Podibrad
in . with from Erlanger, Esperanza Paula Victoria Rafaele, from here. –

(Deutsch=Socialle Blätter No. 128, January 20, 1891.)

Andes and you Social Democrats.

If one considers the social movements that have shaped the entire civilisation
If you want to understand the world, you have to understand the cultural history of last 100 years. One will then come to the conclusion, that the social movement, insofar as it has general legitimacy– known as a protest of the so-called fourth estate, which wants to improve the situation, is against the Judaization of the upper classes, ie against the unlimited exploitation of the working classes, not solely through capital power, stocks= and other companies of this Art, but mainly through the stock exchange and its unclean, operations based on the teachings of the Talmud.

The Judaization of our upper classes and especially of the so-called bourgeoisie has proceeded quite imperceptibly, without that they had an inkling of it and some of them still do today have, while the Jew himself as a result of his secret organization and Cooperation is well aware of this.

When the Jews realized that as a result of their own operation and as a result of the influence which they have had since the beginning of this century had won, disproportions arose, they immediately took over the sifting of the revolutionary elements and incited them against the upper classes of the population, whom they blame solely blamed the unfortunate circumstances and demanded at the same time, in the name of humanity and tolerance, their complete equality.

When the social evils, instead of diminishing, increased even more, they again sought the leadership of the masses and to teach them again the lessons of 1848, but in to preach in larger numbers with an absurd future state, and thus social democracy came into being in its present form.

At the same time, the Jews also had an influence upwards.
authorization and sham baptism had opened all offices to them, and fo we already have a whole number of Jews as ministers
The people who are apparently loyal to the king and monarchy and pretend to preserve Germany, are basically following the Herzens no other purposes than the Jewish leaders of the social– democracy. Their goal is the same: "world domination by Israel."
While the Jewish minister and his followers in loyalty and Patriotism "make" so that the honest German has to stand back,
The Jewish leader of the Social Democrats "makes" the people through untenable national-economic axioms and models-conditions of an impossible future state by giving the sovereign People flattered. The work above is exactly the same as the Work below; there is also a perfect harmony between the people, although they have expressed themselves in Parliament, newspapers and in public in every fight in a socially ostentatious manner and detest each other and avoid. The alliance between these royalists and people-The synagogue or so-called new-tral men who belong to any middle political colour or nor do they belong to any group: Reform Jews, professors, Jewish officials, bankers and the like

To understand this system, however, one must become familiar with the teachings of the Talmud and learn to understand that the Jew is an absolutely different person from us and that he lives in such ambiguities in his element; that he is a through-from unreliable character. But it is this knowledge which has been lacking so far, both above and below; even as soon as the Jew-known, it is on the one hand just as impossible as on the other others. This has always been the case throughout history and will soon on a grander scale throughout the globe as-repeat.

With our Jewish ministers and high officials we begin only now beginning to gain some experience, and I have the over-belief that we will experience much more within a short period of time. We are at the beginning of the end. The Social Democrats are It could also happen. As the German official against his Jewish to have a justified distrust of superiors and colleagues and doubts their loyalty to the king and the empire, just as they begin the masses already, especially after the abolition of the social list law, to look at things more calmly and the possibility of Jewish future state and the honesty of the Jewish and Judaic-to doubt the siren leader.

If one wanted to give up social democracy as it still exists today, break off its poisonous tip, then this would first and foremost be necessary-wise, the people with the Jewish legislation, as it is in the Synagogue, in the orders and associations, as well as with to make known the work of the Alliance israélite universelle, in in one word to inform them of who and what the Jew is and what he wants. We have the means to do this. just spread the 100 laws as Juftus drew them out for us has, among the people and lead the discussion on it. Spread the Knowledge of the organization of the Alliance israélite universale, their goals and purposes and finally describe the personalities some of the fathers of social democracy, that would be be sufficient, everything else could be left to the healthy left to the will of the German people. The need has People think educated and in the lower classes of the population one thinks just as quickly as in the Judaism-pervaded and numbed the upper classes. That Judaism was

– 224 –

is to become the spiritual leader of the lower masses of the population—raising the question of injustice is merely the indolence of the ruling class which is now at a loss as to how to deal with the threatening situation—danger of social democracy.

The German people are an aristocratic people, workers—Workers and craftsmen will instinctively, whenever they work together—go to improve their situation, the best and most worthy among to give them the leadership role. But now, without any Jew pushed in between and through beautiful phrases from a Future state and monetary donations have deceived the common sense of the people.

If we succeed in persuading the lower classes and the Social Democrats—what purposes the Jew actually has throughout the world pursued and must pursue, then they will soon understand who the real enemy is, that the Jew is just their own enemy, as well as the classes against which he incites them. The so-called To try to absolve better classes of guilt would be wrong, = some of them unknowingly fell into the hands of the Jews guess. f

But as I said, this knowledge does almost as much need as below, and we can only achieve this by spreading knowledge of the teachings of the Talmud, or of the Jews themselves.

But once the Jews have been recognized as a common enemy and him from the participation and regulation of our social Questions excluded, then we will still have a focial question, but she will lose her focial side and instead of a threatening fruitless war between nations or a bloody revolution we would then only see an evolution before us, which without unnecessary shedding of German blood could carry out.

The Jew, in contrast to the German, is always among his people, entrust the leadership to the one who is the most clever and the most vile, that is, the best practitioner in the sense of Talmud. Of course, such a Jew can be the most lovable Being human, the finest manners 1 under which he hides baseness; he can just as well be a minister as the mitre wear, but one must never forget: the Jew is a “Kakiftocrat” in the full ft sense of the word, and therefore it must be taken from our social efforts are completely excluded.

Even the best and most viable plans would be thwarted by the Jew's work is always thwarted.

As for Laffalle, the creator of social democracy, we have a description of his personality from the pen of his former lover in the book: "My relationship with Ferdinand Laffalle von Helene von Racowitza née von Dönniges". On page 107 it says: "Laffalle asked now, after he had recovered a little had calmed him down: "So speak now; is the lot that I have given you enough? have to offer you?" And when I answered "completely," he continued: "That's what I wanted to hear, you should love me as I shown before you. But – aren't you ambitious at all?"

– 225 –

"My ambition is to be Ferdinand Laffalle's wife and fine. To divide by lot," I say. | |

Then he laughed again happily and cried, rubbing his hands: "You have, by God! – not chosen badly; for it shall be your It is not a pity. Ferdinand Lafalle's wife is said to have First of all, let us talk about it sensibly, Have you got any idea of my plans and ends? – No? – Well, look at me – (sitting upright and peculiar eyes similar to the king of birds, the eagle wide open) I look as if I wanted to meet a second role in the state? Do you think I give up the sleep of my Nights, the marrow of my bones, the strength of my lungs to finally pull the chestnuts out of the fire for others get? – Does a political martyr look like this? – No! – I want to act and fight – but also enjoy the fight, – and you this – now let's call it for now the victory diadem on the forehead! – Believe me, it is just as proud a gesture feel of being the "people's elected president" of a republic, firmly and to be sure of the favor of his people, as "King of "By the grace of God" to sit on a rotten, worm-eaten throne! Come here! – here by my side in front of the mirror! – see us Both of them. Isn't that a proud, a royal couple in there? Has not nature brought these two people into the most arrogant sunshine? daytime mood? And don't you believe that the power, – the supreme power will clothe us well? Yes, child! You shall still shine in proud joy that you have loved me, above all you voted! Long live the Republic and its golden-haired President!" –

He had spoken himself into a real passion and tore into his stream of enthusiasm dizzyingly carried me inside; my gaze clung to him admiringly and faithfully, and when he noticed this, he continued: "You believe with me in our star, don't you?"

Since I found you, my path to the top has become even clearer become; united with you I must reach the goal, – then: – Hail to us! and to our friends! We both have enemies – enemies like sand on the sea. For me it is natural, for you it is understandable; but just let them struggle, just let them with their dirty drool

the hem of our garments, they shall all Bend your knees when we make our entry!! Isn't that right, foxes= lein, do you also understand this ambition? And "Ferdinand the People= chosen one" is a proud name? – That is what they should call me, if succeeds!" – |

You can see from this what Laffalle wanted, he wanted for himself the Pulling chestnuts out of the fire, but neither is it safe for the people as for the king. The book naturally portrays Lafalle in the most benign colours, but even the most unprejudiced will see it as nothing but an ambitious, unscrupulous Jew.

His "queen" with whom he will enter Berlin
wanted to marry first the boyar Racowitza, who Laffalle, ne
Feift Laffal, then became an actress, married

15

– 226 –

flater the "famous" mime Siegwart Friedmann, from whom she fe feparated. What else she went through,
I don't, but not long ago she lived in New York and lived:
returned to a German hotel "Bellevue"; in what capacity
I don't know, but it seemed like a "dame d'attraction".

From the famous Karl Marx we find the following drastic Description in No. 8 of the Leipziger Tages=Anzeiger of January 11, 1891.

Carl Marx, the social democratic chieftain.

Dr. E. Dühring writes in his "Critical History of Philosophy," 3rd edition, p. 451 about the Jew Carl Marx in London, the high priest of social democracy and author of the book: "Capital," the following: "There is no lack of real ftones of the clumsy style of thought and jargon of Hegel Dialectics. Among the special sciences there is even national economy has not remained untouched by such petrification; because one that lacks any originality and tends to confusion and deception–
A dedicated worker in this field, Mr. Carl Marx, has his opinion– sought to remedy this poverty by using his young Hegelian deformation and the chaos of Hegelian scholastic categories in his Book fragment about the capital and, moreover, the social history presented in a Hegelian way."

The same Carl Marx was told by a Leipzig professor, Mr Geheim-Councillor Lujo Brentano, in a dispute over the programme ("the Inaugural address) of the "International Workers' Association" an all surpassing "brazen mendacity" (literally!) clearly after=

The dispute was settled by Mr. Brentano in the "Concordia" of 4 and 11 July and 22 August 1872, by Mr. Marx in the "Volksstaat" from 1 June and 12 August 1872. Unfortunately he has not become so well known as his highly interesting course deserves; it is all the more worthwhile to follow him in his sources, as he provides irrefutable proof to which unqualifiable Demagogues the scholar Marx in one of the most important actions his life, the founding of the International Workers' Association In order to prevent the hopeless degradation of the workers at To prove the continuation of today's social conditions, Marx in his "inaugural address" refers to a statement by the English Minister Gladstone, which he made in a budget speech on April 16, 1863 on the "increase of wealth" within of the period 1842 -1861. This alleged Gladstone's statement on which Marx's argument is based is, as Mr. Brentano demonstrated, "formally and materially lied." Like the octopus in a cloud of swear words disappearing, Marx explained to his time that due to "lack of time" To have to stop polemics. This is social democratic Scientificity. Recently, Mr. Brentano has taken up this dispute presented in a brochure (title: "My dispute with Carl Marx"). If the Social Democracy sees the complete defeat of its Chief in this scientific dispute is dead silent, then that is understandable, but it is unforgivable when social democratic papers circulate the falsification of Marx. (See e.g. "Future", Year 1878, p. 345). With what low means Carl Marx fought, is clear from the following passage of his communist manifesto:

- 227 -

"Our bourgeoisie, not satisfied with the fact that women and daughters of their proletarians, from the official Prostitution is not a topic of discussion, but finds great pleasure in to seduce wives mutually." |

The manifesto concludes with the words: "The Communists disdain to conceal their views and intentions. They declare openly that their purposes can only be achieved by the violent overthrow of all previous social order. May the ruling classes be protected from a communist revolution tremble! The proletarians have nothing to lose in it except their Chains. You have a world to win. Proletarians of all countries unite!"

Do you not believe from these words a demagogue of all= lowest be heard?

At the last Reichstag election I heard Mr Reichstag= deputy Geyer – it was in Gohlis – Karl Marx one of the “noblest” people in humanity. Mr. Geyer will probably have no objection if I share here how a perōn= ual friend and admirer of Marx, the political refugee v. Techow, who spent years in exile with him= lived, judged him: “Marx is the first and only one among us everyone I trust to rule. ... I regret for the sake of our goal, that this man does not besides his eminent spirit has to provide a noble heart. But I have the conviction that the most dangerous personal ambition has eaten away all the good in him. He laughs at the fools who repeat his proletarian catechism, as well as the bourgeois. The only people he respects are the aristocrats crats, the pure ones, and those who are so consciously. To separate them from To displace the ruler, he needs a force that he alone in the proletariat, therefore he has directed his system at them. Despite all his assurances to the contrary, I the impression that his personal rule of the The purpose of all his activities is.” Even the editor of the “Volks= newspaper”, Dr. Franz Mehring, says in his “History of Socialdemokratie”, 2nd ed., p. 58: “In the scholarly world of all It may perhaps be without precedent among peoples and times that a abstract and deeply educated theorists in indissoluble fusion at the same time such an ordinary one, the lowest passions was a low-level seditious agitator.” And p. 56: “Laffalle is in his 1 only too often violent, passionate, reluctant funsighted, even cheeky and rude, but it was always a wild rage that carried the whole man away, while the

Marx's polemics are unspeakably nitpicking, petty, ftucked, disgusting trait. Visitors from Germany in London often have the repulsive contrast of his biting=petty Nature to the mild, faithful nature of a Freiligrath and Kinkel Even among the emigrants, Marx procured his bilious temperament many enemies.”

15*

– 228 –

The main achievement of his life was the founding of the inter-National Workers' Association at a London meeting. The statutes of the International, which he wrote, preach the Communism in its most crass form and form the basis of today's social democratic program. Even then, the well-known phenomenon that communism has its most effective finds supporters in Judaism. At a Stuttgart congress

In 1868, the Stuttgart and Frankfurt Jewish Bankers' adherence to the statutes of the International.
the French Jew Jules Simon joined the International.

The Lassalleans of his time wanted nothing to do with Marx, indeed Bernhard Becker, the testamentary successor of Lafalle, presented even to Carl Marx in the first year of the "Socialdemokrat" the loving= worthy invitation, .

"he should be involved with fine international associations

embalm and as a mad herring in let the chimney hang."

But Mr. Liebknecht, who had given his dear club brother Becker a "vile slanderer and hopelessly incurable idiot"
called, has gradually made the Laffalleans for the international Communism. Rosy pictures of the "international"
Future states have it Mr. Liebknecht, the disciple of Mr. Marx, of course not to be missed. We wish him and his friend,
Mr. Bebel, for their foggy ride into this cloud cuckoo land, which "international communism" is a cheerful "Heil!"

* 5 *

The current leader of the Social Democrats in German= country, Mr. Singer, is quite sufficiently characterized by its own Statements that "the Social Democracy completely substitute for religion (while remaining a Talmudist himself) and that he had only become a Social Democrat because he feel safest in this party. |

The social question today is essentially the Jewish question, says Glagau and "We must be enlightened and everyone must be convinced, that the torch had been used to illuminate every corner
it. Then the people will be calm, said the Jew

Lasker on February 15, 1873 in the Prussian House of Representatives.

Therefore, shine a light on the Jew's brain and form his thoughts.

The knowledge of the laws of the Talmud should be spread immediately and Above all, get to the heart of secret Judaism by it exposes. |

The solution of the social question is unthinkable as long as nor is a Jew involved in it!"

Zusen in Literature, Runft,
Science and Theater.

"We are the fools of the most complicated education, the fools

2 not only of the arts and sciences, but of the most miserable Dilettantism in politics as well as in history.

a (Bogumil Goltz, Behind the Fig Leaves.)

* *

*

8 That you are jealous of my books, constantly
You insult me, I forgive you. You are, poet, circumcised, clever.
It does not concern me that, despite criticism, you
Plunder. You are like that too, poet, circumcised, clever.
This only torments me, that in Solyma*) itself born,
You, poet, seduce my boy.
Behold, you deny it, and swear by the Temple of the Thunderer, Swear by Anchialus 550, otherwise I will not believe you, circumcised one.
(Martial.)

41.7

* *

*

1 AJgn of literature they trade with the political and social ideas put forward by others; in party service
They spread the slogans and brought the Mogami to the man, which came from others.

(E. Dühring, The Jewish Question, page 10.)

*, *

*

The Aesthetic Society of Berlin Jewry had 105 Mendelfohn's death takes its centre stage in the doctor's "salon"
* Markus Herz, a funny ending with a beautiful and divorced woman stood by his side, and in whose house the daughters Mendelssohn, Dorothea, later Friedrich Schlegel's wife, and Heeriette, as well as Rahel Levin, later married to Varnhagen, much—

en.

>». in Jerusalem.

De Er mocking name for the Jewish god, from anokhi Eloah.

12

Digitized by Google

— 230 —

professionally, and where German writers and scholars of Call out and in. an ft with Jewish vanity daily mentally in front of the mirror for hours to analyse oneself and then to admire; one tried to hysterically express feelings to be able to write them down, in short, it became unnatural much spirit. Through the whole society, however, or at least through the essence of the 1 was a streak of sultry, lecherous sensuality ity, which we already described in the previous chapter as a characteristic of Jewish race, and who, in association with another Such characteristics, the lack of shame, are among the most disgusting scandals. In most circles of the Berlin reform—Jews had gone from rationalism to complete indifference against all religion. Mass numbers of people left business or other worldly reasons to Christianity, which according to enne Am=Rhyn "within thirty years probably half of the Ber—Jewish community." Jewish people ruthlessly surrendered Women, including the favorite daughter of the "Jewish Luther", the "third Moses", with her holy dark eyes, "with her long fharsh hair", the archetype of Schlegel's shabby "Lucinde", the wild urge of their lust in the most unclean circumstances, and others performed matchmaking services. "The worst of these Blindness," as Henne Am=Rhyn claims, "in the participants at the Herz's salon, which at that time, as Graetz put it, mentally expressed, a "Midianite tent" or, as we call it modern term, a fentimental brothel was." The friends who frequented this place deceived their blind—married husband with young scoundrels, among whom Gentz was the main—role. "With impudent scorn the morally corrupt both sexes their union, in which complete communism of pleasure, the "League of Virtue". Dorothea ran away from her husband away to go through all the leaps with Schlegel that from one folly to another, to Catholicism, to the wisdom of Jews, to absolutism and finally to that goose liver pate

after which he died in Dresden

"Dorothea's friend Rahel, however, gave herself completely to the princess

A downright disgusting company, but, as noted, of great influence on post-classical German literature was, because from it emerged the "young Germany" with its Jewish and non-Jewish followers in the present day."

(Ifrael and the Goyim, pp. 238-240.)

* *

*

Thank God, this topic is now being discussed more frequently and I have already touched on it in various parts of this book, so that I can limit myself to a few things here.

Who does not know all the famous journalists and writers of the day, which is presented to everyone with advertising and in the . –

The majority of them are Jews. How amusing and 1

– 231 –

At the same time it is sad to read about literary days where Jews
as representatives of Germany and where they were entertained at the expense of hospitable cities and the grand lords
There we find people like Julius Rodenberg, ne Heymann Levi, and Paul Lindau at the top. How nice to read a Richt von Rodenberg, when he represented German literature in Belgium fentirte, or a travelogue by Paul Lindau from America, where he was among others for the first and probably also the last Male visited an American barber shop, where the cleaner ity and refreshment. The Americans are with Quite proud of these establishments. Mr. Lindau, however, finds the whole interior of the barbershops comical, regrets the in the same time spent and feels after the opera= tions uncomfortable, which is understandable, because so pure and clean he has perhaps never been before in his entire life. Come
If you go to America, you will hear that the Americans
kaner for their part this remarkable representative of Germanness
"funny" because he, for example, approached ladies there with his has harassed him with intrusiveness.

I would like to point out a product of German literature here=
This is Meyers Conversations=Lexikon, Encyclopedia of general knowledge, certainly the most read work of this kind in Germany. It is quite good in some respects, but it is one-sided, because in it everything is carefully suppressed that could be detrimental to Judaism, but everything that Judaism glorified, painted with brilliant colors. Whoever For those who know how to handle this work, it offers many Interesting, especially because of what is not in it, but also through some funny stories that are mentioned therein. we find, for example, among other things, that Professor Virchow Er= discoverer of the expression "Culturkampf" and Mr. von Goßler fe calls himself the nephew of the pious Adelheid von Mühler.

The fact that this encyclopedia contains the German and certain things was undoubtedly the reason that Several years ago, people thought about creating a so-called conservative To create an encyclopedia that would bring to the public what was suppressed in the current lexicon. The task was given to the highly conservative Mr. v. Nathusius, and if I do not wrong, the first four volumes of the new work appeared. Then the matter ended suddenly, and some scandal arose about it. I don't remember exactly how the whole thing came together, but fo much is certain, even in the pious Lord of Nathafius there was a saint. Who except the faithful could know that this Mr. von Nathusius is a ne Nathanfon.

* *
*

Leffing – a plagiarist? – It is a separate matter Leffing – or as he spelled himself: Leszing. Some still honor him as an archetype of the German spirit and want him at least as the third poet=hero alongside Goethe and Schiller see him as a clever man; the others let him be seen as a clever man Critics consider and doubt his poetic power very strongly. Eugen Dühring even accused him of having "journalistic Jewish attitudes" and the question of his Jewish or half-Jewish origin raised. – This much is certain: Leszing is not a creative genius; – he himself openly admitted this in hours of contrition admitted, – also that he mainly borrowed from foreign poets. In the last piece of Hamburg dramaturgy of 19 April 1768 he reports that he neither saw an actor still feel a poet in himself, that he only barely knows how to use pressure= work and tubes squeeze something out of themselves: "I would be so poor, fo cold, fo short-sighted, if I had not learned to some extent, to borrow foreign treasures modestly, to burn at foreign fire to warm up." – That he told the fable of the three rings (in Nathan) from Boccaccio would still be OK, but now someone wants extensively demonstrate that the entire "poetic" Lessing consists of Borrowings from foreign poets.

– 232 –

The Royal Prussian Professor Dr. med. et phil. Paul Albrecht, which was published under the title: "Lessing's Plagiarism" 10 volumes of 30 sheets each. – The poor Jews are once again being deprived of one of their most popular oath helpers come. – Prof. Albrecht suggests as an inscription for Lessing=Denk= painter presents the following epigram:

"As long as you lived, you stole far and wide,
You finally steal immortality." –

(Deutsche Socialer Blätter, 21 Dec. 1890, No. 123.)

How the above matter will develop remains to be seen.
wait. In any case, it will offer enough of the interesting and the Children of Israel are causing a lot of pain. I am glad the poet Heine, who was a genuine Jew and in his Art a great man and is certainly more interesting than many sometimes extremely boring reading.

Yes, Heine was not only a great poet, but also a great prophet. In "A Winter's Tale" Chapter 26 he tells us, how he looks into the future of Germany, and what he smelled there. The man was definitely right, because what he there perceived, that was the present Jewish economy in Germany. |

He had smelled his tribesmen, fine tribesmen
in office and dignity with their current influence.

He had a sense of today's Germany, "Germany in its deepest humiliation." |

When the French Emperor arrived in the government building in 1808 in Erfurt from the parquet of kings spoke, there was German= land by the power of arms. conquered, and yet it was – 233 –

after all, a Napoleon who made this statement. But today we see Germany defeated, not by honest weapons, but unnerved, run down, bound by deceit, usury, trust abuse and fraud; defeated by pliant Hebrews with their infamous gold which they themselves took from the Germans.

And who are the people who today, with good reason and evil=laughter, not only from one parquet, but from a whole Chain of captured emperors, kings and princes speak? How do these people look? Their pictures are rarely seen. They look bad so bad that even their victims would hesitate to to be seen with them in public.

And because Heine was so prophetic, I would, among all circumstances agree that the grateful German people will give him a Monument, but only when the last Hebrew from out of the country or in the ghetto. One could say to the poet create an extraordinarily practical monument in the position indicated to him in the Winter's Tale, Chapter 26, on top of a temple that can accommodate 36 worshipers at the same time, in which he looks down, and in which one can see the noble poetic face of looking down. Allegorical figures for artistic perfection= There would be no shortage of decorations for the temple. For example, the masterpiece of the great philosopher Mendelssohn: his daughter Dorothea, also Rahel Levin and finally a number of sacred animals, the majority of which rhymes with the poet's name. The whole Planting in a lovely garlic garden could be a worthy The Germans will become a national monument to the poet Heine. Children of Ifrael would then have achieved their will and could not Furthermore, the Germans are accused of ingratitude. But the Hebrew we would have repaid him in his own coin.

* *
*

For real and true science for its own sake
The Jews still have no meaning today. If they deal with the Science externally, they negotiate as best they can, the thoughts of others, and all their activities in science has, if not directly a commercial purpose, then always the business character. The Jews themselves never manage to a genius, but in the most extreme case and exceptionally once to a talent that is capable of trading with foreign ideas to falsely give the impression of one's own creation.

(E. Dühring, The Jewish Question, p. 48.)

Anyone who wants to know how true this remark of Dühring is, only needs to spend a short time in the Jewish professorial circles in Berlin to look around a bit. A friend of mine recently told me the drastic remark: "If this class of professors of talking to each other and one says of the other that he is an ignoramus rant, it is the most favorable judgment he can make about his opponent can make, and has roughly the same meaning as "he is a brave man" among ordinary mortals. As a rule, however, the professors have much stronger terms for their Colleagues, among whom "Thought thief", "Appropriator of other people's intellectual property," are the most common."

*

– 234 –

Last year I met in Westphalia, at the time when the blueberries were ripe, a botanist in the forest; he was looking for after white blueberries, ie blueberries that have lost their color is missing, i.e. a phenomenon in plant life, as one also found in humans, which are then called albinos or cockroaches I asked the gentleman what he did with the white blueberries whereupon he explained to me that a well-known Berlin professor Ju had asked to procure such. I made some joking remarks about the Jewish professors and shared with him the ftant en of my acquaintance with. Then the Lord saw me surprised and said: "My client, however, just in his last letter that someone had given him his intellectual property= thum would have turned away." "You see," I said, "there we do it!"

"The Jew wrestles with eternal lament

"Cunningly the booklet from a clumsy hand."

You are tormenting yourself for your professor here in the forest and have the effort, and he acquires cheap fame through your work.

* 1.

**

The role of Jews in the theatre has been shown to us by the latest Case Lindau shown.

Richard Wagner says of the performance on stage in his famous work "Judaism in Music": "We We cannot imagine a modern or ancient character on stage, be it a hero or a lover, portrayed by a Jew think without involuntarily thinking of the ridiculously unsuitable to feel such a representation."

Anyone who has lived in Berlin or other cities in recent years
Anyone who has been to the cities will have noticed that most heater are in the hands of the Jews. The Royal Theaters in Berlin, for example, is making the fiercest competition, and constantly she seems to pursue the idea that they should be completely eliminated

In Berlin, for example, they are considering the idea of
to build a new opera house, probably because the thank uncomfortable tft to sit in a royal theater. The Royal Playhouse is currently being used as much as possible by the Jews avoided, and it is a truly refreshing impression to be in the
to see almost exclusively Germans.

A humorous story to the contrary recently told me
a philofemiftic acquaintance who was a follower of Ibsen's
"Nora" at the Leffing Theater. On stage played Jews, in front of him in the stalls sat Jews and to the right and left of him

* = From, = | him also 3. During the interlude, the seated Jews and turn their faces towards the audience.
This is somewhat annoying to him and he gets up and turns also 3 around. Then he notices that behind him there are also only Jews fit, as well as in the stands and in the boxes; in short, he sees in
There were only Jews in the whole theater. That was a bit much for him, 110 angrily he sits down again to look at the playbill

When he brings it before his face, he realizes that he u honors and reads the name of the piece from behind "Aron" (Nora). So, can you not escape the Jews, they are true
Here – he thought, and laughed and resigned himself to his fate.

Digitized by Google

Outside and the music.

"The Jew is the plastic demon of the decay of humanity." – "The Jew, who is known to have a God entirely for In everyday life, we first notice what a person has through his external phenomenon, which, regardless of which European nationality we belong to, something unpleasantly foreign to this nationality has; we involuntarily wish to be with such a looking person to have nothing in common." – (R. Wagner.)

* *

**

"In this respect I only recall the well-known and therefore easily judged by all the Jewish musicians Meyerbeer and Comrades." "Through the performances and plays all over the world "Huguenots," recalled the Jew Meyerbeer, as the Berliners aka Catholic Ostendzeitung on July 7, 1882, "to the old unhappy dispute between the Catholic and Protestant churches and thus cleverly incited the nation against the Catholics; the audacity, contrary to all historical truth, to accuse Catholic priests to call for the murder of Protestants in the theater, could only have originated in the brain of a Jew. In his "Robert the Devil" Meyerbeer had nuns dance, In the "Huguenots" he incited the Christians against each other. He mocked in many ways, especially through the procession, the Customs of the Church. In the majority of the half-Meyerbeer's operas and especially the "Huguenots" the hatred and disrespect against the Catholic Church reawakened and significantly increased. The memory of the Bartholomew Mouse Night was a true sacrilege against Catholicism. But how much fame and money does this Jewish music have, whose intention which few people saw through, the whole cohort of Jewish Swindler registered! The tendency of the opera libretto by Meyer It is the same with the Jews Halevy. Halevy's "Jewess" has contributed significantly to making the Jewess fall in love in Europe. How I find it beautifully portrayed in it, and how despicable is the character drawn finally! Halévy's "Ahasver" has the same tendency: he makes Judaism interesting and Christians bad. That is how it with all its creations etc.

May this verdict of the Berlin Protestants make clear to the Jews make the Christian denominations aware that

– 237 –

The victory over Talmudism is also the victory over the Christians nationally and religiously inciting and subversive elements means."

(Rohling, My Answers to the Rabbis. Pages 13 and 14.)

*
* *

"In a Talmud dispute," Bloch continues, "the Music Jews are not mentioned. But they have a place in our negotiations because they represent the intention of Talmudism, the Christianity, practically very effectively supported. If fuch a Meyerbeer, with or without the help of the Jewish comrade Scribe, if Levi, Halévy, Stern, Rubinfeld, Mareczek, Strakofsky, Ullmann, Félicien David and Hector Crémieux with fine "Knight without Fear and blame," when Offenbach with his "Orpheus in the Underworld" of the "Grand Duchess of Gerolstein" etc., if these and other "masters" without number added the rhyme to their libretti "for the interests of Judaism", everyone would know where ran he was, but Israel would not be so well."

(Rohling: "My Answers to the Rabbis" p. 33.)

* 2 *

To the above-mentioned music Jews must be added the Jewish composer Sir Arthur Sullivan, who with his also known in Germany: "Mikado" and "The Two Pinafores" in the English-speaking countries the same tendencies followed, like Meyerbeer, Offenbach etc. in France and Germany. The "Mikado" was also performed in Japan, but under called "The Three Little Schoolgirls!"

Little is known about the nature of the Viennese Jew Strauss, who is so popular today. The following provides information about this:

"Another of Napoleon III's very proteges at this time The musician was the Jew Strauss, (the successor of Musard, the previous former director of the court opera balls in Paris) who made his name wisely exploited and sold himself for the till the end of 1849 in Vienna deceased, faithful and genuine German waltz composer Johann Strauss or, depending on the circumstances, for his son. He also received the direction of the Tuileries Orchestra through Jewish intrigues and played almost only German and French Jewish music." 8

(Scharff-Scharffenstein: "Judaism in France" p. 88.)

* 1 1

"About the reformed temple music of our non-Jews, the Abbé Liszt: "I have only once had the opportunity to To feel an inkling of what a Jewish art will become could, if the Israelites could experience all the intensity of the spirit living within the feelings in forms of their own spirit to the To praise God of the Ark in misery and captivity, to call upon Him in firm faith, full of the certainty of one day salvation

– 238 –

from endless slavery, one-time escape from this damned-hated country, one day returning to their kingdom before the eyes of the terrified nations (Goyim) with a triumph full of unequal splendor," – victorious and plundered return from the thousand-year-long raid against the hated Goyim under the sound of trumpets and nomadic military drums."

(Wahrmund, Law of Nomadism. p. 82.)

* *

*

Schindler says in his Beethoven biography on page 172 starting from Moscheles: "that Moscheles was in touch with Beethoven—no, to say this in my lifetime is a joyful unheard audacity (let's say 3 of the kind from no side became noticeable, and further on page 173: "But another other important circumstance must be discussed on this occasion come, which, like a tower-high bar, will mark every contact between Moscheles and Beethoven impossible! This was Beethoven's hatred against the children of Israel in the art, because he saw like everyone else turned to the newest direction and soon have made the most lucrative bargain with it."

* *

5 *

Friedrich Grau, who emphasized the necessity of the Jewish element it very strongly emphasized, says (origins and goals of our cultural development p. 120): "As numerous as the participation of modern Jews in art and science may be, and yes, great their successes among contemporaries, nowhere is this participation a truly creative and groundbreaking. So skillfully their appropriation and of the created, so effective their exploitation of the present, the pulse beat as genius is missing. When the heroes Bach and Handel, Mozart and Beethoven have created, so can an outstanding talent, like Felix Mendelssohn, can do what the multitude of those creations cannot be distinguished. It remains as Richard Wagner claimed: "What the sweat of the Jewish banker, who had worked hard for centuries, brought into his hands with skillful stock market manipulation; what was achieved with the sweat of genius, the Jewish To exploit it in the most skillful and captivating way in a virtuoso manner."

* *

R |

I read somewhere that in a Süterjchtächte a In Galicia a Jew is said to have said: With the Farmers are just like the straw that is in a chopper machine is cut into small pieces. "As a farmer he comes into our hands and come out again as a day laborer"; and so it goes with everything, whatever falls into the hands of the Jew, including music. Most of the countless productions of Jewish composers are nothing but plundered, cut up and disfigured products of Aryan Artists. Wagner has already shown us how Meyerbeer fabrication of his operas. The example of this “Master” has, of course, inspired countless Jewish disciples to imitate Oratorios, chorales and other church music are Jewish people as little as the highest secular art products of our great masters, they are, so to speak, put into a barrel organ and, as required, into a cancan=waltz=tinkling= or other rhythm from the front or from the back, and In this way we receive the usual part of our present Dance and operetta music. That is the fate of beauty in the hands of the Jews!”

– 239 –

Jewish vanity, arrogance and Eynism.

That it gives the children of Ifrael much joy to rejoice over the Making fun of stupid Goyim is a fact that we experience every day. It is perhaps not out of date if one today the great “German” poet Heine once again in the recalls memory.

*
**

I can imagine that wonderful feeling, Mr. Hyacinth. But which of the Rothschild dynasty have you such amputated? Was it perhaps the noble Brit, the man who was a pawnshop for emperors and kings= directed

Of course, Doctor, I mean the great Nathan Roth= shield, Nathan the Wise, where the Emperor of Brazil fhed his diamond crown. But I also have the Had the honor of meeting Baron Salomon Rothschild in Frankfurt learn, and even if I do not want to see his intimate foot Although he was happy, he still appreciated me. When Mr. Mar= ak said to him, I had once been a lottery collector, said the

aron fehr weg I am something like that myself, I am the boss= collector of the Rothschild lots, and my colleague may not eat with the servants, he should sit next to me at the table (the corn surgeon). – And as true as God wishes me all the best tremble, Doctor, I sat next to Salomon Rothschild and he He treated me like one of his equals, like a family man. I was also with him at the famous children's ball, which was reported in the newspaper I will never see so much splendor in my life again I was also at a ball in Hamburg, which 1500 Marks and 8 Schillings, but that was just like a Chicken droppings versus a dung heap. How much gold and silver and diamonds I saw there! How many stars and medals! The Order of the Falcon, the Golden Fleece, the Order of the Lion, the Order of the Eagle – even a very small child, I tell you, a very small child, wore an elephant medal. The children were very beautifully masked and “played bonds”, and were dressed like kings, with crowns on their heads; a big boy but was dressed precisely like the old Nathan Rothschild. He did his job very well, had both hands in his pants= pocket, jingled money, shook himself sullenly when one of the little kings wanted to borrow something, and only the little one with the white skirt and red trousers He gently stroked his cheeks and praised him: You are my Pläfir, my darling, my splendor, but your cousin Michel fhall stay away from me, I will not lend this fool anything, who spends more money on people every day than he has to consume annually, Through him, misfortune will come into the world, and my Business will suffer. As God bless all things I admit that the boy did his job very well, especially when he fat child, dressed in white satin with real silver lilies was wrapped, supported him in walking and sometimes said to him: Well, well, you, you, just behave well, eat honestly, Make sure that you are not chased away again, so that I do not lose my lose money. I assure you, Doctor, it was a mistake enough to hear the boy; and also the other children, all lovely children, did their job very well – until they were given cake was brought, and they fought over the best piece, and tore the crown from their heads, and screamed and cried, and some I even – – –. (H. Heine, Travel Pictures, Chapter 8.)

* *
*

It may be old, but it remains forever new.

The Jew Rothschild once made the free city of Frankfurt the joy of having the picture of his beloved Anna on a Vereinsthaler von Nordheim as a symbol of the city of Frankfurt, and so that no misunderstanding could occur, he also nor put the name of his girlfriend under the bust. The good Frankfurters were happy with this. a

The Jewish police president of Madai had, as already mentioned, mentioned elsewhere, the daughters of a disreputable commercial councillor Cohnheim at the welcoming ceremonies when the troops entered in Berlin as maids of honor and one of these ladies
even later modeled for the statue of Germania in Moabit
How must the sons of Shem have been upset by this cynicism
were happy. |

When Minister Maybach made his famous statement about the Poison tree of the stock exchange that had to be pruned,
There was a wild cheer on the stock exchange, and people joked that this was not necessary, because he was already circumcised. a

What may Jews still think today about the names of the Charity Councillor "Haß" laugh, which in Christian
"Love" makes? 2

A few years ago a Jew was murdered in southern Germany= which was so full of lice and vermin that had to have him cleaned in Frankfurt because he was unclean= ity was downright dangerous to society. A trial ensued about who should pay the cost of the cleaning; the Jew did not want to pay and neither did the city. Finally, the city was sold-judged to bear the costs. This process aroused the most lively Interests of the Jewry of Germany, and as the city of Frankfurt was condemned, there arose in the camp of the children of Israel greater howl of joy than when one of your own

16

Order of the Eagle. |

When His Majesty the Emperor showed great inclination to travel,
The riddle was posed on the Berlin Stock Exchange: "Which is the finest company in Berlin?" The answer was: "Bismarck and Son, for they have the Emperor as their traveller." This joke, which in and of itself is already weak and tasteless, could one can at best put up with it on the stock exchange, but what does one that the same in the immediate vicinity of His Majesty of the Kaiser, in officer corps, which are however filled with Jews, was not only widely circulated, but even found to be witty?
This shows how much the Jewish spirit destroys and drags down everything.

A nice example of Jewish cynicism is the following:

In 1879 I had a New York trading company a business relationship was envisaged, it was to facilitate future business between China and the United States United States. I did not know that the owners of this company Jews and only found out after we had already received codes

for the telegraphic correspondence. – At

When choosing ciphers, merchants usually use such a word to choose the name of their company, which either corresponds to their den-type of business, or the nature of their business, or the personal taste of the persons concerned. The code which this Jewish company was the word “Bafouer” (French for mock), a word which they probably used with regard to their Christian business friends had chosen.

When King Ludwig II of Bavaria in the well-known tragic When he had lost his life, Thersites struck the French press, the Jewish androgynous Albert Wolff, immediately in Figaro, the sad event as a subject for an operetta to use. –

* *
*

Baron Hirsch has his coat of arms in the sand of his horses-ftables of Beauregard. Ephrussi settles in the honorable dignified palaces of the Luynes and Rothschild says to the Duc d'Aumale: "I share with you the passion that our driving for hunting."

(Drumont. La France juive I., p. 253.)

* *
K

No one protested when the Jew Stern appeared in the circle of the Rue royale said: "I really do not know how a Christian can ten years still want to make it possible to earn a living

– 243 – |
earn." And this word is heard at least once a month repeated by the newspapers.

(Drumont. La France juive I., p. 529.)

* *
*

Baron Hirsch said one day to his son, with whom he at the top of the stairs of his house the dukes, princes and marquis came up: "Do you see all this people there, in twenty years they will all be our sons-in-law or our porters f." (Drumont. La France juive II, p. 89.)

** **
*

It was Baron Hirsch, who became a leader of the Legitimists Party said when they discussed a marriage project between the son of banker and the latter's daughter: "I have become rich enough to entertain the daughter, but I have no desire to entertain the father.

to feed." (Drumont. La fin d'un monde, p. 219.)

* **

Rothschild once said: "The French are like sheep, they like it when they are cheered, it refreshes them." (Drumont. La dernière bataille, p. 34.)

* 5 * |

The Europeans expelled by the Jews! – Baron Hirsch in Paris was balloted out a year ago when he prepared to set up taking part in the "Cercle de la Rue Royale". Now he has avenged, as only a multi-millionaire can do; he has the property with the magnificent palace of the noble Clubs for an enormous amount of money and terminates the club he and was therefore expelled from his home. (Deutsche Sociale Blätter of October 12, 1890.)

Later we read that Baron Hirsch did not expel the club has, but lets him live there and does not even pay the rent it has increased. In this way the Hebrew will probably gain the force entry into the club.

%* *
**

How beautiful the children of Israel are teaches us the "Märkische Tageblatt":

Witten, October 8th. (Pyramidal!) The "Frankfurt Zeitung" by Mr. Löb Sonnemann dares to present to her German readers No. 278, and in the editorial, to offer the following. In the Article dealing with the first congress of English dockworkers, It says about London: "How refreshing, in comparison, is a walk on the wide pavement of Whitechapel Road and Mile End Road! On the boredom and unnaturalness of Piccadilly and Haymarket There is no trace to be seen. The young men and the Girls walk briskly, arm in arm along the sidewalk and her laughter is natural, if a little loud, and her words come straight from the liver, albeit a bit coarse and strong. And what new types do you discover there! Since the Jewish Mass immigration has taken place in the Ostend, the people – happy face, which expresses beauty and even nobility of facial expression and As far as the elegance of nature is concerned, infinitely elevated. (Who's laughing? (Editor) It may have been a Jewish holiday, I know not, (? 2 2) but rarely have I during my travels in the East – end such a large number of beautiful Jews () – men and women – seen as today. And good and clean (?) even elegant (?) and many of them were richly dressed – a striking contrast to the clumsily built, shabbily dressed and mean-looking – poor East Germans of English descent." That's how it is – ly to read in the above-mentioned Jewish newspaper. Stands this impudent infense not exactly in the "Frankfurter Zeitung", one would be tempted, to believe in the joke of an anti-Semitic prankster. But it is deadly serious. The Jewish writer – sorry, he wants not be a Jew, he does not even know the Jewish holidays – really has the noble audacity to tell his readers what he described so beautifully above. We have no special pre-love for our English cousins, but that they the immigrant Polish and Galician scroungers, guys who mostly Use of soap and comb not even by hearsay know, are portrayed as shabby and mean, that is over the hat cord. From this you can see quite clearly in which – chem reputation we Germans have with the Jews, who in the Rule the English still far above the Germans. We quit – thank you and assure the "Frankfurter Zeitung" that our "Relationship of respect" is mutual. We ask the "jauber elegant" and brimming with nobility of mind, even more often naively chatting about school!

Bi,

– 244 –

Iritual love of country and Patriotism.

The German Rabbi Dr. Bernard Fifcher says in his book: "Talmudical Chrestomatie" (Leipzig 1884, p. 230 ff.) literally as follows: "Let us not deceive ourselves and admit openly that all Whatever effort we may make, the Talmudic and later To impose enthusiastic patriotism on Judaism is a futile attempt –

Judaism is old enough and has the sad experience—travails and arduous journeys too much to be able to continue cozy melancholy felt bound to the soil where his Cradle, than that it still has this childish inclination in the Great, as I would like to call love of country, is the Jewish God as absolute being and highest moral world order a philosophical thought that should concern every thinking person must, and is the Jewish religion the teaching of morality, without which no praise can stand, so is there, where this God is thought of and this religion can be practiced, the fatherland of the Jewish people; and how finally his religious—moral teaching was the prototype of two of the largest world religions, Christianity and Islam, so is this historical life in the history of all peoples the prototype of cosmopolitanism." |

Furthermore, this German Rabbi declares outright, "German—On the Jewish side, the whole effort of demonstrative loyalty—lity and enthusiastic love of country only happened, about Professor Rohling's attacks on the Talmud (The Talmud= Jew xc.)!"

There we have it from the mouth of a rabbi, how it is with Jewish love of country. It is always good to have such an expression—saying, since we experience it every day that the Jew father—love of country and patriotism and unfortunately still believers finds that take it at face value, while he at most for commercial or other selfish purposes.

The Jew remains the same everywhere. If the Jewish If a doctor wants to kill a patient, he does it with kindness and is full of honest sympathy for the sufferers as well as their relatives and inconsolable about the death he himself brought about. If the Jewish If a professor wants to seize other people's intellectual property, then (-mnmole

Digitized by 8008 le

0

A

 u 8 0

— 246 ze *

he accuses others of having robbed him of his. And

It is the same with the Jew when he leaves his fatherland or wants to betray the ruler. Then he talks about father= love of country and loyalty and accuses others of treason and disloyalty. These are things that we experience every day.

"An example of how patriotism and the sense of law= felf is raided! An Austrian hussar officer, from from whose own mouth we have heard the fact, was in the 2 sixties with his squadron as an executor in a Hungarian village community, which refused to pay the taxes.

Poor farmers naturally had to feed the soldiers and did This continued for several weeks without paying. The brave officer

| his heart bled at the misery that increased from day to day
3 He asked the individual farmers whether there was no a There would be means for them to raise the amount necessary to cover the taxes and learned that behind the whole story there was a Jew

The same had the villagers, who, when approaching= were willing to pay for the execution, at their Magyar Patriotism and urged them to continue refusing because the taxes are illegal and the government only aimed at destroying the country's freedoms. In the extreme

In this case, he himself will provide them with the necessary sum without interest.

The farmers had meanwhile forced him to keep his promise warns that he now demands an interest rate of 100 percent.

had been his plan. The officer went to the Jew and threatened him that he would report the matter in Vienna if he did not advance at legal interest, and the Jew

was content." |

3 a A Wohrmund "The Law of Nomadism", p. 206.)

– Tr 295 –

Digitized by @ 000

– " Be Au

The Jew as a Useful Member
Aryan state structures.

Unfortunately, there is nothing to hunt from me, even the smallest Epigrams, remember, I do not give to the muse ller.

Herald Ser Kataltrophe.

‘Should I share the room with you,
Poodle, stop howling!’ (Goethe.)

There are terrible revolutionary elements in Germany,
The most powerful of these is the Jewry, which with its newspapers– writers, poets, speakers and bankers through and through revolutionary– tionary and which brought about a terrible time for Germany– which will probably bring a more terrible time for themselves will follow. (Rougeyron. De I Antichrist, p. 28.)

* * *

Throughout the Middle Ages up to the present day
the prevailing worldview was not in direct contradiction with that idea which Moses imposed on the Jews, to provide them with holy straps, cut into their flesh; yes, from Christians and Muslims did not differ in any opposite synthesis, but only through interpretation and Schibo– leth. But if Satan, the sinful pantheism, wins to whom we have all the saints of the old and the new Teita– ment and the Koran, it extends over the heads of the poor Jews a storm of persecution, which will far surpass their previous endurances

(H. Heine, Portia.)

* 8 *

Cremieux: “We have made it too bad, it will cost us dearly come to a standstill." (Corneilhan, Juifs et Opportunistes, p. 175.)

* * 8

*

M. v. Brandt: "Will we still see the bloodbath?"

| | (Peking. Beginning of 1888.)

**

*

*

Even the Jew Disraeli, despite his fine boasting and The boasting is a sure premonition that the Jews will one day in the world would go badly. After all, every Jew has this Thoughts and he himself will be least surprised when the

– 249 –

catastrophe suddenly strikes him with elemental force.
And if you take a little look at the events on the globe in their
If we observe the context, we will find that this point in time is not too far away anymore.

Drumont tells us in his works that the Parisians Roth=
fchilds everything for this catastrophe and a sudden departure=
In a few hours all valuables can be be removed from their houses. The boxes for such a mo= bilisation are already in place and everything is prepared for a sudden Disembarkation ready. The same will probably be the case with an= their Parisian Jewish millionaires. Baron Hirsch even lets himself in France, because he hopes to be able to participate in a catastrophe ftrophe to enjoy more protection as a foreigner and to escape more easily Even the Jewish millionaires of Berlin live in be= constant fear that something might happen and invest their capital often in foreign land ownership.

The Semite Jay Gould in New=Pork, who, incidentally, was hunted, swears that he is not a Jew, although it is obvious and No one believes, in critical moments should always Keep the steam yacht heated so that you can get out of there immediately
And how much the little Jew resembles the big one is shown by that the miserable Jew Mandl in Tientsin, the clerk of the English= lish company Jardine Mathefon u. Co. and representatives of the company Friedr. Krupp in Effen is always prepared to run away.
He makes no secret of it and says that he immediately China would leave, how something would happen, that is, if he were to is caught in the act of foul play and someone wants to get to him.

As a no less symptomatic sign of the approach
The way in which the Semitic people mus is stirring all over the world. Where a drop of Jewish blood on earth, he seems to be tracked down and called to cooperate= While the major financial catastrophes
follow each other ever more rapidly, the number of Jews crimes and thefts committed are increasing at an alarming rate.
At the same time, Jews in various countries are trying to
to use all your influence to get as many of your people as possible to office and dignity, and in Germany and Prussia
we do not seem to be inferior to any other country in the world. It looks almost as if it meant: "Quick! Steal! Steal! Only as much as possible and quick! We are impunity, because the rulers are for the most part our accomplices, our brothers in office and dignity protect us and the press covers the cloak of love about the whole thing."

Yes, the Jews see the end coming, but if they deal with the hope that when the catastrophe in Central and West= Europe is breaking over them, they are still being taken in by other countries will find, then they will probably be mistaken, because the Jew will be recognized pretty much everywhere at the same time, and it will eventually thank every country for taking in this tribe.

Hi 5

The solution to the youth question.

But the world wants to exist above all things – in a just way, if it can be, – on unfair if there is no other option.

(Julius Fröbel, Theory of Politics.)

"It may be said to them (the Jews) with good intentions that There is no point in indulging in deception, because the situation is too serious. Even less is it enough to disdain the movement, because anti-Semitism is growing especially in influential circles, and in the lower classes it only takes a push to to help the long-suppressed hatred to flare up. The over-courage is ill-placed and the disproportionately strong Participation in extreme endeavors makes them all ruling Parties are disgusting. Time is pressing and misfortune rides fast.

Christians might think of rejecting the overwhelming doctrine of the highly celebrated Rembam (Maimonides): "All goods of the important Jews are masterless", to which the Shulchan Aruch adds: "Whoever seizes it first has the merit", in the following Century, the doctrine already followed in the Middle Ages deliver: "All property of the Jews was acquired illegally and must be taken back!" The debtors of all Tribes could find it very convenient, as it was then, if all Bonds, mortgages, etc., in favour of real or issued to baptized Jews would become invalid at once if all landed property, like all movable goods, belongs to the state—and they only retained the right to emigrate with the to be provided with the necessary funds. It must not be forgotten that the so-called socialist tendencies extend far beyond the reach beyond the circle of Social Democrats, and the scientific Designation of such withdrawals as re-indication is very convenient for such cases. For the present, such a thing is not to be expected—fear, but the near future would like to take decisive measures—

measures if the clampdown prevailing in agriculture is could not be eliminated by increasing state aid and not to continue the already high taxation of food Necessity and political wisdom could force all pledges—and bills of exchange, which burden agriculture, until further notice to be declared non-terminable and non-transferable, as well as the annual Interest rates should be reduced to 2%. The moral consciousness would In general, this state support for agriculture is for a lesser evil than the difficult living conditions of the whole people, and the indignation of a few thousand work-shy money men would be less to be feared than the many millions of oppressed fathers of families." (C. Radenhausen, Eftther, p. 257.

— 251 —

* *
*

There was a sect of Thugs in the East Indies who practiced robbery—and murder to a religious dogma. If one had believed the English Government can expect, even if practically still innocent, connoisseur of this dogma in the state? And if the Thugis—and mus fince three thousand years the hereditary property of a very had been a special, unmixed tribe, one would have can reasonably demand from the state that it racial peculiarity, but the individual after the at best only very imperfect acquaintance with the—and fould judge it? The English followed a simpler Anthropology: "they hanged the whole sect" — not according to the points of individual practical indebtedness, but on the theoretical religious confession. N

(Naudh, The Jews and the German State, Foreword.)

 ri *

One only has to observe an Israelite closely to see to find that he always has dark forebodings at the bottom of subtle – soul.

"If you look at their bold gait," says Boffuet, he speaks of demons, "and their arrogant and confident Facial features, one first thinks they are strong and powerful; one sees But if you look closer at their gait, you will easily find their lists and and when you get to the bottom of it, you notice one that they, who have the proud, presumptuous expression, inwardly ft already broken and destroyed, that they tremble and are terrified at think of their defeat and escape, and that it is easy to get them away= chase!"

The Jew is sick; he is lazy to the bone and stinks like Heaven! A Rothschild is becoming mentally ill; the Reichsgericht= President von Simfon becomes melancholic; the Jew Naquet withdraws back; the Jew von Brandt can no longer breathe European air and flees back to China; a Jewish pornographer makes fet to America, from where he hopefully will not return. The measure of adversity is filling up quickly and threatens to overflow! A Jewish protection ring is forming. Wherever we look on the The whole globe, everywhere we find the Jewish question in one or the other form; everywhere the most serious accusations are against the Jews and everywhere we find the Jews trying to to deny this through the press. We find the same

– 252 –

Complaints about the Jews among his own tribesmen, the Arabs in Africa, as with the natives of Alaska: in Siberia He is cursed just like in Surinam (South America), and the fhunder Negro despises the practices of the Jew just as the yellow Chinese. Neither poverty nor wealth changes the nature of the Jew and no education and no upbringing can change the race= peculiarities. They are a neglected people!

The general hatred against Judaism has such a degree that an outbreak is to be feared within a short time Where the dike, which still protects Judaism, first in will break on a larger scale, it cannot of course be said, nor how this question will be resolved.

Of warnings and wishes to avoid the impending danger–

There has been no lack of attempts to counteract this in a sensible way. The most well-meant Council proposals have been condemned as incitement and fanaticism and rejected. And so one must be prepared for that the solution will come in a hard form. The simplest The most practical solution would be to put the skewer repented and did to the Jews what they teach against us and whatever they do against us, as long as they do it with impunity They would then, as the English did with the Thugs in the East Indies, regardless of age and Kill the entire sex.

Of course, such a solution, at least for us Germans, excluded. Another solution would be to simply expel them from the country, leaving them only the means which are necessary to reach another country. A Witzbold said that they would like to export them to America as quickly as possible, before the Mac Kinley Bill was extended to the Jews; there Perhaps the Negro would like to be called to the cultural task, to worry about the killing of the Jews, which is contrary to our wishes. But even such a solution is excluded, because other peoples would be very grateful to welcome you to our company.

So one will probably have to resort to the means of removing them.

neither, as our ancestors did, back into ghettos to imprison or to exile the whole society in any country isolating them and forcing them to feed themselves. In America, for example, 8 The idea of settling them in New Mexico is being considered, Europe speaks of Palestine, but all this does not seem to me to be practical. Nor do I believe that the Jews' question will be dealt with unilaterally nationally, but it would probably be It is conceivable that one nation made the first move and the other Nations the way to solve this question in a humane way could be solved. |

It cannot be the purpose to explore this topic in more detail here. but only the different types of solution in Consider, for example, the island of New Guinea large enough and suitable to accommodate the entire Jewish people of the globe The land would actually be too

W CC g
. * x \

– 253 –

It's a pity for the Jews, but at least they can't complain that they have not been provided with a beautiful fatherland. They could be interned there, and the European fleets would find the guarding of the coasts a useful occupation. But the Jews themselves would be able to show what culture they can produce after they have educated and education enjoyed in excess by other peoples. Has soon a nation has decided to take such a step, it is not doubt that the other nations would follow suit very soon. No article would prove to be as exportable in all countries as the Jew, especially if one takes away his valuables, such as weapons, from which he only knows how to make bad use of.

Such a proposal sounds a little burlesque and Home remedies, but why should such a solution not be be possible? Perhaps it even turns out to be the only possible ple. Just look at how the Jews of the whole world are organized, and perhaps a joint and violent exile and internment of the Jews not only as a duty of self-preservation, but also as a means to To protect Jews from the fury of the nations. The task could be already today as a humanitarian preventive measure for future cases. The Jew has his sense of acquisition à tout prix so widespread among other peoples that he should not be surprised may, if they think of it, to profit at his expense to enrich.

Suppose the Jew had such a question to solve it; he would certainly not make a big fuss and the carry out the same with great emphasis and ruthlessness; he would simply view the whole matter as a business matter.

The Jewish MP Ludwig Bamberger published in April or May last year in the magazine "Die Nation" a Article on the gold circulation in the United States by America. He had discovered where and in whose hands the largest Part of the gold is (of course in the hands of his tribe= He still lacked certainty about the whereabouts a fraction of the gold present there and, by probably thinks of a well-known Vampir picture or how to put the dog on a cat, he asks the question: "Where is the cat?" namely the gold.

Mr. Bamberger has already made many a beautiful statement with In terms of gold, he said, for example, at an earlier meeting situation: "There are few things in the world that make you deep meaning in itself, like gold." But this expression faying characterizes the Jew even better. His entire intense His thoughts and desires are directed towards gold, and the gold which he in America, he undoubtedly also claims for himself and his comrades. Ä

I honestly do not understand why we should ask the question tragically and want to understand it meticulously and conscientiously; why one should

– 254 –

could not simply operate in the Jewish manner; in a word, that we simply see the removal of all our Jews as a large export business. We would then be in first and foremost to ask: |

"Where is the cat?"

Answering these questions would not help us much. We know pretty much exactly where the gold and we also know our Jews pretty well. However, fail a lot under false flag or hide under German names and swear ten thousand oaths that they are not Jews; but even this last difficulty would be leave aside.

Let me lift the veil of a secret a little here. A great scholar has been striving tirelessly for many years—strives to distinguish the blood of different races through analysis. Nature has finally rewarded the admirable diligence of this researcher—ferely rewarded by the fact that she answered the questions he had been asking her for years. He has answered unambiguously. This modest answer—taught, who bears an honorable German name, has his great works and the results achieved so far in the world made no communication; he also remembers, since he is very wealthy is not to take advantage of his discoveries, but rather To make a legacy to humanity free of charge. With a Words, this scholar has discovered the “secret of blood”. He has produced an extraordinarily sensitive instrument, which he the “Judometer”, and with deadly certainty knows how to find the smallest fraction of Semitic blood and—which flows in the veins of every human being. The value This instrument is further enhanced by the fact that the instrument fvery easy to handle, by not subjecting the patient to any fpecial cial treatment. No one will value underestimate the importance of such an instrument for science! That—fame will be the famous mirror hypfometer of the head forester Fauste=man in practical importance by far. So, woe all those who make false statements and claim to be Aryan they will be exposed in no time! The scholar ge—thinks of this instrument first with the progressive representative Eugen Richter and some other well-known gentlemen of progress—party into application, and its results of the surprised world unexpectedly. But I cannot say more than that—ftated and we want to return to business.

After we have determined the number of existing

Jews, we would determine the number and tonnage of the ships, which are necessary to transport them to their new homeland. Agricultural equipment, tools and livestock Food for a year could be given to them, otherwise they would have to but see how they manage themselves. |

That would mean putting the question in a simple, practical, businesslike and humane way, and I wanted to once 18 755 whether not

8 all countries in the world would follow this example. That would also be at the same time a new spectacle that the world would have and at least more amusing than a European war of annihilation in which the nations tear each other apart, with only Israel taking the spoils and then consolidates his rule.

If we were to get rid of the Jews first and then have war-desires, one could fight to one's heart's content; one would then have only honest opponents and no Jewish traitors and Bankers on both sides and no Jewish doctors, welfare-perpetrators, army suppliers and body snatchers. But I believe the Aryan peoples would have little desire to fight, but rather shake hands over the dead Jew and to establish a new cultural life on a common basis. eternal incitement, which the Jews have been perpetrated through the press for a century with impunity would be abolished, and could then discuss other common questions, such as how to to behave towards the Mongols and the Chinese, ie a Rafe question, which will surely sooner or later go to the Aryan peoples, which until now have been ignored because of the eternal incitement of the Aryan peoples among each other, disregarded seems to have left.

One might object that the New Guinea project will not be carried out, because of the mixing of the German with Judaism; but this difficulty is also There will probably be some shouting, but that is simply unavoidable. A war will cost much more Tears and also a lot of money, while this project above-which is very profitable. When it comes to the welfare of the fatherland-that is what happens, sacrifices must be made. When Brutus learned that his sons were plotting against the fatherland, he will execute them without mercy. Such heroism is needed But we do not demand anything from anyone, but at most that he Cousin Cohn and Levi say goodbye, whom he has left in a beautiful country in good hands and the useful and healthy occupation of agriculture, as well as the education of his nation; and who can not separate himself from his dear Jews, may yes, always be free to go along. -

What do you think the Jew would do if he were away? Do you think he would be surprised? Not at all! He would, however, cry out, again to the abused humanity and hospitality, but finally with an indecent gesture and heap mockery on us that we have allowed ourselves to be fooled by him for a century. One might also object that not the whole island is his property, but this case is already taken into account—sation, as well as a dislocation of the natives New Guinea. Since the export of Jews from all countries in the world is an un—1 would be stronger and the different nations in this fn turellen Wettexport in conflict or any inconvenience—sufficiency may arise, so all those who have such think, said that this is also thought of, that already on contracts with all nations based on great expertise and expertise are prepared in a statesmanlike manner, the execution of which requires no— would face particular difficulties. To achieve of the whole project nothing more would be necessary than: "The Thing!"

. Bez 1

— 256 —

* *
*

Whoever has the energy to propose some projects to solve the Jewish question— fee, I recommend studying the works of Dühring, Wurm, Paul de Lagarde, Drumont, Chirac and others. w. All these Writers have more or less dealt with this problem— and meet on many points. The book "Israel and the Goyim" gives valuable hints. But I fear that, before discussing all these programs and deciding on one of them agreed, the catastrophe will already break out and then you will have to help yourself as best you can, and maybe nothing will remain left than the simplest of all projects, to adopt "New Guinea".

They are gone, the much-maligned days
The leaf has already turned gently,

The Jew wrestles us with eternal lament
Cunningly the booklet from a clumsy hand.

Emancipated, as you once barricaded it
These tough people! Fashion changes!

It has long since gathered in heaps
And stand as a power over you.

The farmer is forced to leave his seat

It chases the shopkeeper away from the market

And half for gold and half for slave jokes

Buy it from the spirit of the times, fine watchword.— — —

What can benefit the tribe of Emancipiren

Who never emancipated himself from haggling?

What you wanted to give him, he has taken,
While you are disputing principles.

Wherever you touch, you will touch Jews,
The Lord's favorite people everywhere.
Go, lock them back in the old streets,
Before they lock you up in a Christian quarter!

(Dingelstedt in 1841. Songs of a cosmopolitan night watchman.)

IV. The
The Jewish 7th Demon II.

I represent the ossements of P. Thomas de Sardaigne, missionary apostolique capucin, assassine par les Juifs, le 5 fevrier 1840.

(Epitome inscription of the man murdered by the Jews Father Thomas of Damascus.)

* 5 8
. * a . " *

2 1 NB 2
* Mi 5 2 - ' 8 = . 8 , .
4 N . 5
. . . . - .
N 5 2 ' 0 . # .
3 9 ' 5 . .
" 5 1 . . . 7 8 *
" ; 9 5
" SR . 2
- 4 8 N . -
* Le . I 0 » „ D
A » i . .
on 5 3 N b - .
. ä 5 t . Dee . " . 3 7 5 . 2
x ® ge 5 . 1
x * . - en * . = . 5
1 in 1 * 5 5 + * „ 5
* . 6
8 . - 3 * A .
* = 5 pr a
. e ö 8 ;
* 0 8 4 . f
* 8 5 . 5 r 7
" * - 1
Br . , 7 8
- . 7
- * a - -
* " . 2 E 8 e
. . = an 5 . > . \ . NF 8
> . B
- 5 x
- 9
g ö is E pe
" * * .
. . hx 5
J x 8 ER and 2% Gar:
> on x . . N REN 5
. " x ? & a - 25
. 53 { u ars *
7 . g . ö A -
. * 8 7. 2 ' - 5
.
N = - a N '
4 ' 5 .
2 2 85 .
. 5 & 8 8 5 x - = .
. = . = \ » 25
8 5 * © 2 + % + .
* * . 2 N 8 *
5 5 v 7 .

. 1 . >
* ** . .
D & 8 2 ® N 2 5
2 x * 2 8 + $ " En .
2 A . 8 =
4 * . f 1 e
" 8
5 15 # 1. .
+ * 2 - ® *
. * 5 5
e Ba 5 7 D Ri 1 8 8
>
wur h %
.
.
f . ,
2 . 8  4 a
.. - 8 © . a 5 5 AR i . 8
f ä " 5
5 5 . -
r * ; 1 5 " -
. 8
. Ri 5 . pr
D s " N $
» 0 2:
" .
9 5 ' - 6 *
B
. 8 -
u - 8 . - 2
. * * ee 8
. . = he . '
- 2 . 5 ö *
* . ® f
. a 2 .
* . * .
. 8 . " . =
U * * 2 5 * *
0 - * 1 *
4 Pr ® „ * 2
- 2 0 1 3
. ee 8
n * 8 2 2 . 5
Pe © » " x .
} ? 5 - " wre *
= - = ri -
-
- 7 *
- B
* 1 . x
. 1 ' _ =

•
• x 5 2
*
+ 8 "
; f 5 - .
f * 2 & 8
en
r
5 . 8 . . .
2 . -
x
+ Ps
• = * E
• 8 2°
= *
8 5 * Be
5 8 N 7%, :
' 8 u: 5 Se ne 8
8 N . 3 2 8 .
- 5 . 5 . 2 . 5 " .
• 23 N 9 * = 1 * . 1 7

=

" *
•
•
Br ie a * 8 - - " 8
*
= -
92 2
N
•
• * .
•
8 r.
u " 5 *
*
4
-
• .
U
\
0
•
U
R .

vr 8 -
"5 vs
- .
we e *
2929 1 "
4 8 5
a N
5 . fi
N *
.
5 ni 8
N 1
5 a
" *
/ f N
. 5

Contents.

Part IV

Table of Contents . :

Jewish Crimes, Introduction.

Ritual Murders of the Indies from the Year 418 nad Sheiftus sis beute

Damascus 1840. The Murder of Father Thomas

Neufttin 1883, synagogue fire in Introduction: Court proceedings. - (The aftermath of this

The process can be found under Sturz 1884 p. 66.)

Lutfcha 1881. ne and Gittel three times a eu Ben and saved .

Tisza=Eszlar 1882. The trial at the anti-Semitic sea.

Skurz 1884. The murder in Skurz before the court with a brief recapitulation of the Crimes of Tisza=Eszlar, Lutfcha, a. en von

Neufttin (aftermath of the latter trial)

Breslau 1888. Blood sampling. . 5

Wadowice 1889. Human trafficking with

Damascus 1890. Blood Secret

Bialyfock 1890. The Jewish Boy f

Painter Graef, fine models and the press 3

Justice Councilor Simson. -Paul Lindau. - Professor Julius Lessing. -

Dr. Wolff. - Dr. Levin. - Dr. Liman. - Privy Councillor Dr. Siegmund.

- Lawyer Caffel. - Karl Frenzel. - Davidfohn brothers. -

Holdheim and Phillips. - Fritz Dernburg. - Trainee lawyer Rosenstock. -

Trainee Salomonfohn. - Trainee Ifaac. - Lawyer Bern=
stone. - Anna Adler.

Contemporaries, Images from the Present

The Lindau's a

They want fine German, writings and pastor's sons p. 121. - The Lindau's Spartans? p. 122. – Rudolf Lindau, the Jew Mandl and Herr von Brandt p. 123. – Paul Lindau and Blumenthal p. 124. – Paul Lindau orders an expulsion p. 126. – Paul Lindau and Fraulein von Schabelsky. – The Theatering p. 127. – Paul Lindau awards medals p. 135. – Paul Lindau threatens with his big brother in the Foreign Office p. 136.

Page

IIF

1
?

10

24

121 121

u VE

Page:

Mr. J. Neustadt, Epifode from the life of a lg a simple but true story a 139

The Journey to China p. 139. – His Mifchpoche p. 140. – Hekr Neustadt has a court-colored complexion and wants to become Consul General. – Mr. Neustadt and Profeffor Julius Leffing p. 143. – His Fraud p. 144. – Mr. Neustadt in San Francisco p. 146. – Mr. von Brandt's judgment on Mr. Neustadt, p. 146.

Monseigneur Constans, Minister of the Interior in France 1
Mr. Conftans as burglar and thief p. 147. – Mr. Conftans is accused of murdering his benefactors p. 148. – Mr. Constans commits fraud, bribes and thefts in Cochinchina and is by his successor, Governor General Richaud in a state of impeachment transferred p. 149. – The Marquis de Mordes puts the things on the day-light and confirmed that Constans had committed unclean acts in Peking
The Governor General Richaud is suddenly under suspicion

Circumstances died. – Further frauds and) OBDeRUNEN of Mr. Conftans p. 151. |
Privy Councillor Professor Dr. Rudolf Virchow 152

The Triumvirate of the Berlin University p. 152 – – Ludwig Löwe, the Friend of Virchow. – Virchow and the School Question p. 153. – Virchow and the Jews. – The Brussels Skull Collection. – The Matadors the Progressive Party and Saint Louis Löwe, né Laib Levi. (Je Suis veuve d'un colonel . . . es-tu content mon colonel?) – Der Hungerfweide p. 154. – The Elephant Roftom p. 156. – The African African earthlings and the important discoveries of the Virchows. – The Dakota Indians and the Cowboys p. 157. – The Mexican Princess and the Jew. – Professor Virchow and the inalienable Rights of the people. – Versatility of the professor p. 158. – The ab carved human hand. – The Emperor's Civil List. – King Sigismouth of Poland and the Bishop of Krakow. – The Dechenhöhle near Lethmate. – The big hole p. 159. – The small hole. – Münster Cab drivers about anthropologists. – A Berlin medical congress p. 160. – Gorilla, snake people, dwarves, giantesses, wild men, Megalithic tombs, dead Negroes, mummies, etc., Patent Medicine p. 162. – Dubois Reymond competes with Virchow. – Fleur de mille juifs p. 163. – Professors' sons. – "Brave children of heaven's joy; For the pious Father's breast!" – The Electric Eel p. 164. – Professor Virchow as Strategist p. 165.

Herr von Goßler 166

Mr. von Goßler does not want to speak of Jews 0 just as finely Father-in-law, Lord of Simpson Georgenburg, the German fort fhrungsmann Frentzel, says so p. 168. – Rumors to the contrary p. 171. – Aunt Adelheid von Mühler and the statues in the Berliner Mfeen p. 172. – A relative of Mr. Ignaz Moscheles and the latter's achievements p. 173. – The Ministry of Culture and the Jews in Hesse p. 174. – Mr. von Goßler and the Social Democrat Friedrich Engels p. 176.

Mr. Miquel. > ee

Mr. Miquel as a politician. – Miquel and Bennigfen back on the Plan. – Miquel as Director of the Discount Company p. 177.

From different countries

Jews everywhere. – Jews and the North Pole p. 179.

Jews in China. Modern Judaism in China.

Doctor Hirsch Hildesheimer proves from a reliable source that the German barbarians and the Chinese tolerant people find p. 180. – What the situation with the Jews in China really looks like p. 181. – A high Chinese official sends a memorandum to the Emperor and brand market two Jews, Mandl and Myres p. 184. – The German Ge fentered should be requested to protect his countrymen from the Jew Mandl to warn. – The Emperor of China issues an edict to that effect p. 185. – Mandl and Friedrich Krupp in Effen. – The Barber Abraham Höflich p. 186. – The Jew Oppert and the Saffoons p. 188. – Foundations in Hong Kong p. 189. – The Man of God of the Children Israel in Shanghai p. 190. – Jewish Protestant missionaries p. 191. – The German-Asian Bank p. 191. – Count Mitkiewicz p. 192. – The Alliance in China p. 193. – Jews in the maritime customs service and Monfieur Conftans in China p. 194.

Jews in Siberia

Toughness of the Jews p. 196. – Zuei Ehrenmänner p. 197. – Wie love the Siberians the Jews p. 198.

India in America.

Antisemitism in America p. 199. – Jewish Millionaires in America P. 200. – Profeffor Dr. Rudolf von Gneift on immigration of Jews to America p. 201. – Flower reading from the anti-Semitic Works The Original Mr. Jacobs ©. 203. – The American Jew p. 203 and Judas Iscariot p. 205. – The distribution of these p. 297. – A Jewish Order p. 208.

Jews in Japan

The Fruits of the Legislation of Judge Moses (Mofes) – – German Jewish officials in Japan p. 213.

Jews in Suriname (South America)

The natives say that the Jews are thieves, robbers, fraudsters and Murderer find. – Desolate conditions p. 214. – The Negroes make a great difference between Europeans and Jews ©. 215.

Jews in Italy

Jewish Generals. – Jewish Hotten Officers p. 215. – Jewish En fuln. – Israel triumphs in Italy p. 216. – Antifemitism in i Italy p. 217. – The Jewish Question in Italy p. 218.

Jews in France

The Correspondent of the New York Herald on the Jubilee Question, p. 220.

Jews in England .

Baron Worms p. 222. – The English and the persecuted Jews in Russia p. 223. – Anti-Semitism in England p. 224. – Pictures from Page

177

195

199

212

214

215th

219

222

9 units

Page

of the Judaized English Society p. 225. – The English want no more Jews p. 226. | |

Jews in Russia 227

Usefulness of the Rabbis and the Kahal p. 227. – Measures of the Russian government against the Jews p. 228. – The Chinese Re= government appoints Russian officers; a success of Mr. von Brandt
P. 229. – The political significance of the Jewish question in Russia p. 230.
book list

234

German books p. 234. – French p. 240. – English p. 242

England p. 242. – China 242. – America 242.

Overall contents. ee DA

Name Index zz 2

Ende Sud' – Alles Zud!

Jewish crimes.

I begin this part of the book with a series of specifically Jewish Crimes, almost all of which have a ritual character; everywhere
I have indicated the sources from which I have drawn, so that a Anyone who is interested in dealing with the relevant issues to deal further, may be able to return to it.

The non-ritual crimes of Neu-Stettin, Wadowice and Bialystok
I found it appropriate to include the rest, because there have a say in important religious and political moments.

During the court hearings of the various cases, which I report in detail, the conduct of the judiciary deserves special attention attention and is suitable to give an idea of the influence that Judaism today. a |

Finally, I bring you a reproduction of the sensational Process of the painter Graef, because from this it is clear that the majority of the Jews living among us is one of the native Germans has a diametrically opposed way of thinking and view of morality.

The painter Graef himself is, as far as I can determine, not a Jew, but his close relations with Judaism and the fact that he married to a Jewess, make it not unlikely that he is of Jewish origin

—

Actual murders of the Jews.

The first reports of ritual murders of the Jews date back to from earlier times. The first case in post-Christian times is the crucifixion of a boy in Imm, between Aleppo and Antioch, in the year 418 AD, who suffered terrible tortures.
was sacrificed. Baronius also reports the crucifixion of a boy in the year 425 AD. Bishop Palladius then attempted an assassination of the Jews to a priest living as a hermit at the Dead Sea Named Gaddane, who survived (about the same time

Saint Leo the Great reports that at some time (440 –461

IV. 1

u Bi a" ee

egg 2

In Germany, the belief was widespread that the Jews
on certain occasions innocent people were sacrificed.

Baronius further reports that in the year 614 the Jews Christian bought and killed prisoners.

The following list of ritual murders comes from Dr. Clemens Victor's
"Prof. Dr. Rohling, The Jewish Question and Public Opinion

Leipzig

1071.

1114.

1160.

1179.

1181.

1244.

1255.

261.

1283.

1285.

1286.

1287.

1293.

1294.

1303.

1345.

1401.

1407.

1429.

1462.

1887".

In Blois a Christian child is crucified by the Jews.
Count Theobald has the guilty Hebrews burned. (Pertz, Monumenta Germ. 6, 520.)

In Norwich, twelve-year-old Saint William of Jews were drained of blood. (Pertz ibidem, Bollandisten 3rd volume, March p. 588).

The Jews crucify a child at Gloucester. (Pertz ibid.)
Saint Richard is brought to Paris on Holy Thursday slaughtered. (Boll. ib. 591.)

Saint Robert is killed in Paris around Easter.
(Bolland. March 25, p. 589.)

Likewise at Saragoffa the child Dominicus from the still existing Val family, which is currently represented by a Spanish ambassador is also represented in Vienna. (Hispania illustrata 3, 657.)

A Christian child is martyred in London. (Baronius ad annum num. 42.
At Lincoln, the holy hunt is taken as a child by the Jews stolen and crucified. Bolland 6 July, p. 494.)

in girls of 7 years to Pforzheim in Baden killed. Bolland April 2, p. 838.)

in Kind in Mainz is murdered. (Baronius ad an 61.) Likewise in Munich. (Monumenta 17, 415 and Roderus, Bavaria sancta 2, 331.)

A child in Oberwefel on the 5th will be slowly tortured to death; it is the blessed Werner. (Bolland. 2nd volume April, p. 697; Monument. 17, 77; Baron. 1287 AD 18.)

Blessed Rudolf of Bern at Easter. (Boll. 2nd vol. of April.)

A child in Krems who was taken away from Brno.
(Monum. 11, 658.)

A Child in Bern.

The child Konrad, a schoolchild from Weißensee in Thuringia.
(Baron. n. 64.)

Blessed Eric of Munich. (Raderus 351.)

30 ie at Dieffenhofen in Württemberg. (Boll. 2. Bd. of pril) | |

There is another child. Bolland. ibid.)

The boy Ludwig von Bruck. (Baronius 31; Boll. 3. Bd.

April 978.)

The blessed Andreas von Kinn near Innsbruck. (Boll. 3rd vol. of July 462.

– BEER

1475. The martyrdom of the famous fel. Simon of Trent, which Rohling told exactly. .

1480. A child killed on Good Friday at Motta near Venice.

(Bolland. 2. Vol. April.) |

1480. A similar case at Treviso. (Baron. 569.) .

1490. A child is crucified near Toledo. (Boll. 1. Vol. April 3.)

1494. A child martyred in Hungary. (Boll. 2. Bd. April 838.)

1503. A child at Waltkirch in Alsace. (Boll. 2. Bd. April 830.)

1520. Two children in Hungary. (Boll. 2. Bd. April 839.)

u. f. wu f. w.

From here on I use Desportes, “Le mystere du sang”.

1525. A murder in Buda (Ofen), Hungary, which caused a general movement against the Jews.

1540. At Sappenfeld in Bavaria a four-year-old child is a Dark Festival slaughtered by the Jews. (Raderus Vol. III,

. 1760

Several ritual murders in Germany in various spaces.

1547. At Raw in Poland the Jews steal Moses and Abraham the child of a tailor and killed it; they were burned and expelled their fellow believers.

1569. In Witow in Poland, the two-year-old Johann Kozanina sold to the Jew Jakob from Leipzig and murdered.

Ludwig Dyex, Governor of Krakow, reports bielen Vor= fall to the king and at the same time that in Bielko and elsewhere much vengeful blood was shed by the Jews.

1574. The Jew Joachim Smierlopicz kills shortly before Easter Punia in Lithuania the six-year-old girl Elisabeth. A Inscription and a picture in the Chapel of the Holy Cross in Wilna testify that their blood was mixed with the flour which is used to prepare Easter cakes. To make the= At the same time, similar crimes are reported from Tarno and another city in Galicia. 4

1575. The child Michel de Jacobi is killed by the Jews; they escape punishment.

1590. In the village of Szydlow, Jews stole a child on the field, and after his blood had been drained, the body was buried; the crime was discovered. (Acta sancta II. vol. d'Avril 839.) 5

1592. In Vilna, seven-year-old Simon is brutally beaten to death tortured, more than 170 wounds were counted on his body. The body was handed over to the St. Bernards in 1623. (Acta Sancta III. vol. de juillet.)

1595. In Gofin a woman sold her child to the Jews, who tortured it to death. Two Jews were executed for it.

1597. Near Szydlow the Jews stole a child, mar= killed it and used its blood for impregnation consecration of the synagogue. (Acta sancta II. vol. d'Avril 839.)

1 *

N.

Fe Vi

—
—

1598.

1650.

1655.

1665.

1669.

We have fewer records from the following century.

openings
1764.

1791.

1810.

April 835.)

E

– 1

In a province of Poland, a child was slaughtered. It was four-year-old Albert, and at his
The most respected Jews in the country were
The crime came to light, the Jews offered everything to bribe the judges; they brought false witnesses and made death threats to intimidate the witnesses.
Three Jews were broken on the wheel. On this occasion, Rabbi Isaac, that the blood was partly in wine, partly in would enjoy the Easter cake. (Acta sancta II. vol.

Matthias Tillich, 4–5 years old, was born on 11 March Caaden in Bohemia. At the same time, similar Cases have been reported from Styria, Carinthia and Carniola.
(Tentzel, Entretiens de janvier 1694, p. 148.) |
In Tunguch in Germany the Jews murdered a Christian-child for Easter, several Jews were burned.
(Ibid. July 1693, p. 553.)

On May 12, a woman was murdered by Jews in Vienna cruelly executed; the body was found in a pond,
in which he was placed in a sack weighted with stones thrown in. The body was covered with wounds, the head was cut off and so were the legs at knee height.
(Spect. de Zirgler pag. 553.) | |

In Metz, a three-year-old child is murdered by the Jew Raphael Levi was executed and horribly mutilated. This murder gave to a famous trial. (Desportes, "Le mystere
you sang" p. 164.) 4

of ritual murders, whole lists of which have disappeared.
On 19 June, the ten-year-old disappeared in Orkul (Hungary).
Son of Johann Balla. On 25 June the body was of the child in a neighboring wood. Three Jews confessed to the murder; one of them converted in prison to Catholicism. (Tisza-Eszlar, par un deputé hongrois p. 108.) |

At Tasnad (Transylvania) the thirteen-year-old boy Andreas Takals was murdered. A detailed report can be found man in Desportes, "Le mystere du sang" p. 180.

Another crime was reported from Hollefschau in Moravia and another from Woplawicz in the Dublin Governorate reported.

Under the reign of Selim III, who ruled from 1789 to 1808 reigned, a young Greek was killed in Pera, who was was found hanging from a tree, just as he was Sixty Jews accused of this crime and were convicted, ten by ten were tied up on ropes in the bazaar untied. a Br.

In Aleppo, a poor trader was attacked by a Jewish

,

Digitized by Google

RA De

D

>

1812.

1329.

1831.

en

Broker named Raffaoul Ancona killed for the Easter festival.
(Letter from John Barker, former English Consul in Aleppo to.
Mr. de Ratti-Menton, French. Consul in Damascus from April 20, 1840.)

On Corfu, 3 Jews were sentenced to death for child had been murdered. A little later | of the same Island the child of a Greek, named Riga, who later lived in Alexandria, was stolen and massacred by the Jews.
(Achille Laurent, Affaires de Syria.)

The interpreter Fataallah-Sayegh was from his 18

The investigation revealed that he for

was murdered for ritual purposes.

In Warsaw a Christian child disappears two or three days before Easter. (Chiarini, Theoria del Giudaismo

vol. 1, p 355.) NN

At about the same time, the 17-year-old Jewish girl Ben-Noud in the city of Antioch in the house where she lived, two children were hanging from the ceiling by their legs. They told her aunt, who told her that the children and well-behaved and that they were punished for it. As When she returned, the bodies had disappeared, but she found a vase full of blood there.

At Hamath in a Turkish city in Asia Minor,
a young Turkish woman; her horribly mutilated bodies. The Jews were found guilty; money saved fhe, fhe were expelled.

Antoine Gervalon, a merchant in Turin, went one day
day with his wife to the Jewish quarter of this city.
While he was discussing business with some merchants,
his wife into the neighboring narrow streets of the ghetto.
She was hardly alone when she was surrounded by a crowd of Jews surrounded, which led them into a house and into a

The upper body was exposed
f

and so she was brought before two rabbis who performed ritual
They said prayers and finally told her: "You must die".
Her husband searched everywhere for his missing wife; a friend told him that on certain days the Jews were Christians robbed to sacrifice them. Then he brought some soldiers and walked through the Jewish quarter, calling the name his wife cried out loudly. The woman heard it and cried out with last effort: "Antoine, here I am." They opened the trapdoor and pulled the unfortunate woman in a pitiful valuable situation. Through money, the incident was even (Excerpt from a letter from Baron von Cold.)

In St. Petersburg, the daughter of a non-commissioned officer of the
The ritual purpose was determined by four judges recognized and described as doubtful by the fifth.

1834. Ben-Noud, the previously mentioned Jewess, who had converted to Christianity, lived in Tripoli with a Relatives. There, on a terrace, she witnessed a terrible spectacle. A Christian old man from Aleppo was invited by his Jewish business friends to them in a small courtyard, which adjoins the synagogue of Tripoli borders, to eat oranges. He was offered the water-pie, liqueur and coffee and showered him with politeness-all kinds of things, when suddenly four or five Jews appeared on they threw him down, blocked his mouth with a handkerchief, gagged him and hung him by his toes from the orange tree.

– 6 –

So he stayed there from nine o'clock in the morning until noon, so that he might expel water from his nose and mouth; on this
In this way, the blood should have the necessary degree of purity for the ritual purposes. The moment the
When the old man was close to dying, the Jews cut him with a knife, such as is used for slaughtering animals-needs, the neck was cut off and the body was left hanging until all the blood was collected in a bowl.

1839. In Damascus at the customs station a Jew is arrested, because he was carrying a bottle of human blood.
The following year, this same Jew was among the number of Main murderers who shed the blood of Father Thomas on-collected.

1839. On the island of Rhodes some Jews wanted to buy eggs;
A trader delivered such and had them carried by her child from 8-9 years; the poor little one never came back. The
The matter was referred to Constantinople, but was killed with money
This is how it always goes today when one attacks Jews prozeffirt.

1840. Murder of Father Thomas at Damascus, which I have in ex-tenso give.

- - F---H -

In recent years, the Talmudic crimes have increased in the situation worsened and increased, as the power of the Jews has grown. The evildoers who know that they have nothing to fear have, carry on their work quite quietly. It is mainly the eastern-European Europe, which is the scene of their terrible crimes.

In Romania it is very common for several people to approach of Easter mysteriously disappear without to leave a trace behind; the criminals carefully cover up every trace.

Hungary, which is almost entirely at the mercy of the Jews, is experiencing often that its floor is stained by the Easter sacrifices.
Death ritual is slightly modified. In this country the Victims of the synagogue often young girls who were in Israelite houses. The Jews have them in their hands and can take possession of them easily and without danger.

Characteristic is the fact that the missing children mostly belong to the lower classes. This fact explains

SU

by the fact that the Jews in such cases do not easily make noise and
and have to fear serious investigations.

Three cases of ritual murders occurred in the year 1879
in Tallya in Zemplin County, in 1880 in Komorn, in 1881 in Kafschau. In this last city the daughter disappeared a certain Joseph Koczis; after two weeks the completely
The blood-drained body was found in a well.

Likewise, in the years 1878, 79, 80 and 81,
Stein-am-Anger four young girls, one after the other. Two of them were maids whose parents lived in the countryside, another, the daughter of a poor shoemaker, and the last, the eight-year-old granddaughter of a coachman who worked for a Jew.

No trace of them was ever found again. (Tisza-Eszlar, par
M. Onody passim.)

In all these four cases, the judiciary refused to take action against the Jews! The people blinded by Jewish gold—
The authorities declare themselves powerless and acquit themselves at will.
Hungary is beginning to get used to such acquittals. Except The crimes of Tisza-Eszlar are still about ten similar crimes which have not yet been atoned for, but have an un-left an indelible hatred in the hearts of the Magyars.

In 1875, a young maid of 16 years,
Named Anna Zampa, in Zboro, Sáros County, treacherously by attacked several Jews in the house of their servant Horowitz.
The knife had already been raised over her when the accidental
The intervention of a wagon driver saved her. The district court was informed of the facts, but the President, Bartholo-Mouse Winkler, who was in debt to the Jews, was careful not to
to take up the matter, which thus fell through.

In 1877, a certain Joseph Klec sold in the village
Szalács in Bihar County, her six-year-old niece Therefe Szäbo and his 15 0 nephew Peter Szäbo the Jews.
During the night of the murder, the wretched man was tormented by pangs of conscience, and a maid heard him say to his wife: "I do the poor children are sorry, the little girl will soon be suffering have, but the boy has a tough life." A Jewish doctor, who was called to conduct the post-mortem examination, stated that the Children had not been murdered, and that was the end of the matter.

In 1879, on 15 October in Piros in the county
Bäcs-Bodrogh the 15-year-old Lidi Sipos, who lived with the Jew Grossmann, killed by their master. Who was completely covered in blood emptied body, which bore a circular wound on the body, was found. This method of draining the victims' blood, is often used by Hungarian Jews.

Something similar happened to a young girl who was in the Jewish quarter in Budapest. One day before the Purim festival, she was put to sleep by a drink; she only woke up 24 hours later after the festival and felt so sick and weak that she could hardly
When she looked at her body, she discovered on the right

a,

upper arm, left thigh and body below the navel circular red wounds, which resembled bloody spots and in whose
There was a small opening in the middle. She immediately gave up her duties.
In 1882 the crime took place at Tisza-Eszlar, whose Description from the skillful pen of Mr. Otto Glagau continue to bring.

But not only in Hungary alone are these horrors repeated—crimes in very short intervals. The correspondent of the Moniteur de Rome in Constantinople writes in No. 15 of the Issue of 15 Inni 1883: “A few years ago a small Child, who belonged to one of the first Greek families of the place—was stolen as the Jewish Easter approached. Four days this body was later found, pierced by thousands of needles—
The mother, mad with pain, complained to the Jews openly because of this murder; the Christian population rose up in masses and stormed the Jewish quarter, where more than 100 Jews were massacred.” | i

“Last year, Balata, the ghetto of Kon= ftantinople, a child lured into a Jewish house; more than twenty People saw him go in. The next day his corpse in the Golden Horn. The result was a riot.”

“In Galata a very similar incident was repeated. The Ad= vocat Serouios, the respected advocate of the ler cen De a addressed a petition to the representatives of all Christian powers Europe's in Constantinople to obtain justice and atonement to demand, but the Jews bribed the Turkish police, who efcourageous pieces and witness statements disappeared. The ecumenical—

The Nifian Patriarchate, on the orders of higher authorities, had bribed doctors clarify that the mother was mentally disturbed. The fear was suppressed.
opportunity despite all counter-efforts of Madame Serouios and the Jews deposited a sum with the Ecumenical Patriarchate money that was supposed to compensate the mother of the stolen child.”
Since gold is the supreme god of this nation, the Jews, she believes that she can buy everything, even the silence of a mother about the murder of her child.

“Today's society has degenerated to such an extent that the Jews almost everywhere. The police in particular are easy to This is how it happened in 1883 at the head of the police in Pera and the police commissioner in Galata. Instructed to again ritual murder, they were obtained from Jewish gold and prevented the investigation. A newspaper, “Stambul”, who undertook a vigorous campaign against the guilty
was oppressed, and this oppression cost the Jews

* N 8 (Drumont, La France juive II, p. 402.)

Jewish gold had the same power everywhere. In Alexandria is the murder of the child of a ship captain from the island of Cyprus in 1880 and that of the young Evangelio Fornoraki in The year 1881 was still unpunished.

uu

In 1889, a shameful acquittal caused a Outbreak of indignation throughout the Russian Empire. This matter was sentenced in Kutais in the Caucasus. A small six-year-old Girl named Sarah was kidnapped by four Jewish gypsum merchants kills; strange wounds were found on the child's body;
between the fingers the flesh was cut as if with a knife-cuts; on the legs just above the calves there were deep 1 incisions made, the veins did not contain a drop

lut. They were the characteristic signs of ritual murder.
The whole people were convinced of this. Without the help of the powerful Jews of Russia would hardly bring the guilty to justice served punishment.

The Jewish press in all countries remains silent about such things.

I also report the crime of Lutfcha in Galicia in extenso. A ritual murder-assassination occurred in German-Lipse in Hungary around Easter 1885. A Jewish woman stole a young Christin a child, who only by a half-miracle escaped the knife escaped.

In Mit-Kamar in Egypt in the same year a young Copts slaughtered for the Jewish Easter festival.

The case of the rabbinate candidate Bernstein in Breslau in 1888 can still be found recorded in detail.

On the question of ritual murder (à la . lar), Gre=
gorovius: "History of the City of Rome", 7th vol., 2 306, 5 Fact: Pope Innocent VIII had a Jewish personal physician who wanted to refresh the aging, anemic old man with boy's blood.
The Jewish personal physician slaughtered three boys aged ten years; but the Pope refused to take human blood and died, whereupon the Jew had to flee from the people's anger. The contemporary chronicler Infeffura added to his report: Judaeus quidem fugit et papa sanatus non est. (A Jew fled and the Pope has not recovered.) If in the middle of the city of Rome a papal personal physician the slaughter of three boys emerged= took what may be in semi-barbaric countries, à la Russia, Hungary, Orient etc. still happening today from the medical point of view believe that the boy's blood belongs to ancient Jews, the girl's blood to ancient Jewish women could prolong their lives! Historical facts," as those reported by Gregorovius, no Jewish liberal deny or eliminate. R

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 122 of December 11, 1890.)

Anyone who wishes to find out more should refer to the book "Le mystere du sang" by Henry, published in Paris in 1889 Desportes, Albert Savine, editor, which is under the Jewry of the has caused the greatest indignation throughout the world. This book gives a list of rabbinical murders up to the present day, partly with details.

Mr.

==, 10 22

Anyone who wants to deal with this question thoroughly will find recommended in addition to the works mentioned here and Dr. Juftus' udenfspiegel:

Professor Dr. Aug. Rohling, "The Talmud Jew". N

The same, "The Polemic and the Human Sacrifice of Nabbinism".

The same, "My Answers to the Rabbis, or Five Letters about Talmudism and the blood ritual of the Jews."

Damascus 1840.

The Word of Father Thomas.

In the 15th century, the martyrdom of B. Simoncino of Trent for a quarter of a century the people and the Great men of that time; this martyrdom has in our times a new sensational edition: the murder of Father Thomas is gruesomely famous in the dark annals of Talmudic murders. The well-known personality of the murdered man, the indignation of the European residents, the uprising of the population, everything contributed to this—to give the crime a level of visibility that is rarely seen occurs in other atrocities of the synagogue. |

An unfortunately very rare work!) gives a complete report, from the mouths of the accused and the witnesses themselves, from the horrible ambush in which the good Capuchin perished. Nothing is as moving as the accuracy with which this book describes the one-individual phases of this drama are reported.

The Jewish character with its pious appearance of holiness and its underworld, which is riddled with atrocities and betrayal—depths shows itself there in all its perfection. O! this low, degenerate people! What disgust do not their dark hustle and bustle! | |

Purchased with Jewish gold, this historical monument is almost completely disappeared; only a few specimens are found in places which are safe from the claws of Israel. Translated into Italian² and published several times beyond the mountains, one has also there with the same persistence tried to make the book disappear. A brochure by P. de Mondovi, which was published in Marseille about the same time came out, is also no longer available, although it had appeared in several editions.

This hunt has its meaning. No effort is made to destroy the records of a person who is involved in the crime, whom they treat is innocent.

1) Relation historique des affaires de Syrie depuis 1840, jusqu'en 1842, et The procedure was completed in 1840, against the youths of Damas, by Ach. Laurent, Paris, Gaume 1846. The second volume is entirely devoted to the Jews, who Documents were deposited at the Foreign Office in Paris; from there they are disappeared in 1870 during the Crémieux ministry. I

— 111 each

J.

Father Thomas was Sardinian, he was called Thomas from Calangiano, his birthplace, where he lived around 1780

In secular life he bore the name Francesco

Antonio. At the age of eighteen, he became a Capuchin and came to In 1807 he left Rome for the mission of Damascus, where he remained for dedicated more than 30 years to the well-being of his fellow human beings, as Physician of the body and benefactor of souls. |

He quickly became popular. He was the benefactor of all the Unfortunate people who were at the big bazaar of Damascus. One could speak of him as of his divine Lord and Master that his life is a single well-being that was. His presence brought luck, and his appearance seemed like Balm for wounded hearts and lifted up those who were wavering. How Many fierce disputes and deadly enmities were not settled through his mediation. With this reconciling being He combined the gift of healing physical ailments; and this property of efficiency did not in any way affect the respect and praise which tribute was paid to him.

In his youth he had been interested in medicine and the He was well acquainted with all medicinal herbs. His long stay in the Orient had made him familiar with the diseases of the country made, and in the treatment of them he had a great skill. He was the most skilled vaccinator in the city. As an educated, far-sighted man, he had understood the full scope of the discovery of Doctor Jenner and did his best to His reputation had spread beyond the city limits, and people came from far away to see the venerable Capuchin to get vaccinated.

He gave his benefits to all, regardless of race or Religion, benefit: Christians, Muslims, Jews, Europeans, Orientals, all came to him with trust and left comforted from there. The children of Israel received his blessings first of all. did: As if he was moved by their delusion, he showed himself especially towards them all the more friendly, perhaps in the futile Delusion, to remove from their eyes the bandage of self-conscious blindness remove.

And it was precisely this holy, charitable, venerable man, whom these monsters killed under torture. Does not deserve the memory of those who had their hands on this crime-foiled, to be handed over to the high court of history?

Here is a brief outline of the facts.

It was the beginning of February. The Jews were making preparations for their Purim festival, which falls on the 15th of this month. We read in the Book of Esther (Old Testament) that this feast was celebrated- was organized to celebrate the memory of the day when the people God in Persia freed from the tyranny of the treacherous Haman Even today, this is one of the biggest festivals of the people of Israel: one celebrates it through debauchery of every kind, through a laughing-abuse of strong drinks) and by the disgusting behavior use of Christian blood. In 1846, the required victims slaughtered in Damascus. EN

-

The records of the trial show us that one cannot exactly Father Thomas had ah!, but that he happened to be the first was the one who fell into the trap. Nothing is sacred to this people and friendship can only be a means to an end, but never be the main thing itself. This story may, incidentally, serve as a teaching to Christians who are not afraid to associate with Jews. At the first opportunity they too could face sacrificial death expired.

For two weeks, the Chief Rabbi of Damascus, Yakoub-el-Antabi on means to obtain a bottle of human blood. For this purpose he had turned to the Arari brothers, rich Merchants whose luxuriously furnished house is located in the middle of the Jewish. Perhaps they would have wanted to face the delicate to withdraw their orders, but the constraint of the Talmud weighed upon them. They could not escape this blood tax without risking run to be put out of the synagogue. They said of it—half closed, even if the item is 100 bags (1 bag = 500 tur-czech piastres) or about 900 marks in our money. This sum shows us to what extent the Fanaticism has flourished among the Jews.

After the Chief Rabbi Yaloub obtained this promise he notified two minor rabbis, Khakam Michone Abou-el-Afieh and the Khakam Michone Bokhor Youda Salonikli that the sufficiency for the sacrifice that would have to take place in her presence, The most distinguished Jews of the colony received also the order to rush to the scene at the first alarm. All advance—Preparations had been made; they were only waiting for the first opportunity.

On February 5, 1840, Father Thomas was asked to child in the Jewish quarter. He went there immediately—but the child was too sick and they could not take it without. The priest wanted to return to the monastery. But when he at the house of Daoud Arari — the most pious of the Jews of Damascus and a great friend of the old Capuchin — over-comes, he is invited to come in. He does so as usual—without the slightest suspicion. The mere news that the priest was in the Jewish quarter, were at Daoud two of his brothers, his uncle and two of the most distinguished Jews of the city rushed there.

Everyone rushed at the unfortunate clergyman, they blocked his mouth with a cloth, he is bound by hands and feet and takes him to a distant room to spend the night and ) In the Talmudic tractate Megilla Fol. 7, Col. 2 it says: The Rabbi said that man is guilty of getting drunk on the festival of Purim, that he no longer knows the difference between the words: cursed be Haman, blessed is the Mardacai.

to wait for the end of the preparations. Meanwhile, Daoud sought
He met Michone Abou-el-Afieh, who was on his way to the synagogue. Come, he said,
I need your services. | |

I am going to the evening prayer, replied the Rabbi; I will come to you later. |

"Come with me, I have something to tell you,"
the first one continued.

He then told me, says Abou, who has since Muslim under the name Mohammed Effendi, that Father Thomas was in his house and that he was in the night. I asked him if the Khakam had just personality, or whether he only shed blood for the fulfillment of the religious regulations would have required. – He is just in hands have fallen, said Arari; as for you, fear nothing;
we will be there. And so I went along.

He found the murderers gathered in the divan. It was a hall, as all rooms of this kind in Damascus are furnished. Some After sunset the barber Soliman was called and ordered him to murder the priest. But the poor devil did not have the courage, and despite the seductive promises
he couldn't make up his mind. | |

Then the most pious of the Jews of Damascus, who Friend of the good Capuchin Father, who is the most highly regarded of the Christians
ft most respected Jew, in a word Daoud Arari himself, to cut his throat with a knife. But his hand is shaking, and he cannot complete the deed. His brother Aroun comes to help, while the barber holds the priest by his beard. A Scene worthy of the fanatical Indians or the cannibals Central Africa! And we live daily alongside such people who such crimes are blamed, and we close our eyes to everyone look at the hand that is reddened by the blood of our brothers.
The historian would like to remain cold, but he can
One cannot suppress one's cry of indignation at such atrocities.

The blood was collected in a copper basin; then
It was poured into a bottle of white glass called Khalabieh, which is about three to four Arabic ounces = about 1½ to 2 pounds.
liquid, as is usual for sacrifices of this kind.
gave it to Khakam Abou-el-Afieh, who was present, with the Order them to be brought to the Chief Rabbi immediately. This requires the use. |

"So I did," says Abou, "I took the bottle and went to the Khakam; he was already waiting for me in the courtyard; when he saw, he went to the library.

– Take what you asked for, I said. He took the bottle and put it behind the books; I then went into my Apartment. I did not know what to do with the body and the clothes of the Father, when I left, Nothing had happened with it yet. But when I saw Daoud and his brothers again and told them that the matter was troubling us because of the investigations that were made and that we were badly informed would have done to elect this particular person, answered the Emir: No

– 14 –

"Nothing will be discovered: the clothes are from the fire consumed and no trace of it remained and the flesh is gradually cut into small pieces by a servant into the channel until there is nothing left. By the way, I have a very good hiding place; I keep it safely hidden there and give Just take it out bit by bit. Don't worry and take courage." a

But the judgment of God should nullify all their calculations make. n

II.

During the entire duration of this terrible drama, There was great satisfaction on the faces of those present; They would also have committed a crime if they when performing a religious act, not the greatest joy would have demonstrated. |

But fear was growing in the depths of their hearts; they had did not calculate the full extent of their crime in advance, and one of them remarked that it would have been better to have To sacrifice to anyone other than Father Thomas.

The disappearance of this clergyman must have caused a tremendous uproar— Rumors could arise before the traces of the vomiting had disappeared. The Capuchin had a very devoted servant Ibrahim Amoran, who certainly has the most accurate information— would conduct research. He too had to be made to disappear and dealt with it that same evening.

Some of the interrogations give us the smallest details of this serious incident. | Ä |

Mourads=el Fatl'al, the servant of Daoud Arari, through questions harassed and in fear of exposing himself, asks: "has be-
Has anyone confessed before me?

| 1 rhei. fich, one has confessed; now you too can tell the truth.

– When I returned to my master, he asked me: "Have Did you also give a message to the servant?" I answered "Yes!"
Then he said to me: "Go back and see whether they have caught him or not, and what to do with it." I went to Meèhir Farkhi.
I found the door firmly locked; I knocked and the Maallem came to open the door for me: – "We have him; do you want to come in,
or go?"

– I have come to see, I told him. I entered and found Ifaac Picciotto and Aaroun Stambouli; they were busy the patient's hands with his handkerchief behind his back-fuffle after closing his mouth with a white bandage
The matter took place in the small divan, which

– 15 –

fituated in the small outer courtyard where the latrines are, in which the meat and bones were then thrown into.

the door was barricaded with a beam; and, after Picciotto
and Aaroun Stambouli tied his hands behind his back
He was joined by Mehir-Farkhi, Mourad=Farkhi and the others, ie from the seven who were present at the operation, to thrown to the ground. Some of them just watched.

They fetched a tinned copper bowl, brought his neck over this bowl and Mehir-Farkhi slaughtered him with his own hands Youcef Ménakem-Farkhi and I held his head. Aslan Farkhi and Picciotto sat on him and held his feet. Aaroun Stambouli and the others held the body so that it would not
I could move until all the blood was out. I stayed one more
A quarter of an hour and waited until he was completely dead, then I let her alone and went to my master, to whom I reported from what I had seen... .. 5

– Did one of the seven leave while you were still there were?

– No one, until he was murdered and all the blood had flowed out.

– How did they lure the servant into the house?

– I have already said that I heard from Houcef Ménakem Farkhi had heard that five of them were on the street near the door were gathered; that the servant asked for his master and that Moucef replied: "Your master has been late with us; he is vaccinating a child. If you want to wait for him, come in." So he entered, and what I have told you happened.

– What was done with the blood and who took it?
come?

After some evasion, the defendant replied:

– The truth is that Aaroun Stambouli put the blood in the bottle which he held in his hand. One of the new tin funnel, such as those used by oil merchants It was Poucef Ménakem=Farkhi who took the bowl to Blood in the bottle 7 55 After it was filled, Aaroun gave Stambouli fie the Yakoub Abousel-Afieh.

Then they tried to eliminate every trace of the crime.
It was like a second edition of the treatment that was given to the Father had shared it. From his whole person Nothing was kept except what the Talmudic faith required: blood!

III.

On the day following these two ritual murders,
On the morning of February 6, the people who had attended early mass of the Father, as usual to church. Until noon
No one had appeared and people became restless.

The monastery was forcibly entered. Everything was deserted.
The previous day's dinner stood untouched on the table.
It was therefore known that the priest had not returned home the evening before—

– 16 –

had returned, and the rumor spread that he had been murdered had been.

The French consul was informed and he began immediately began his investigations. The inhabitants of Damascus said open:

– Yesterday Father Thomas was in the Jewish quarter, and There is no doubt that he and his servant were there—have disappeared.

The Pafha, who had been informed of the Sa, had foft also searched for the whereabouts of the clergyman; but This was initially in vain. But soon a very insignificant
The fact that the suspicion of the masses of the people is not unfounded
was; vox populi, vox Dei. |

The priest had wanted to have posters posted.
Wednesday, the day of his death, not a single one had been glued, and two days later one of them was found at the door of the bar-
beer Soliman. r

The priest had taken her with him when he last had left the monastery, and only the authors
his disappearance these notes.

The barber was arrested. It took a lot of effort to to solve the problem, and only after several interrogations did he decide to reveal some of the things he had seen. He named some culprits.

These accused were immediately brought to justice with their accuser.
They came with hypocritically innocent faces and said
to her fellow believer with malicious good nature:

– How can you say, my friend, that you have seen us?
Dear God, please pray to save you!

When Soliman now felt abandoned by his fellow believers relaxed and realized that he could no longer expect anything from them he began to make more extensive confessions. The diner of Daoud Arari did the same. In all points the two agreed
The only thing left was to investigate
the remains of the Capuchin. | 5

What had become of them? Here are the statements of the two After the murder, the body was placed in the wooden ammer dragged. It was this room, which with the divan, of which we have already spoken, ran parallel and from the same
through the Liman or summer divan, which is open to the courtyard “There,” the barber said, “we took the clothes and burned them; then the servant Mourad came.
told us to cut the priest into pieces. We asked, how we should do this to remove the pieces; they ant=
said to us: Throw them into the drain. – We cut him into pieces; we put them in a sack and threw them and into the canals; then we went back to Daoud. When the
When the matter was over, they said that they would send the servant at their own expense.
marry me and reward me with money.”

– The bones could betray you, what did you do with the Bones started? | |

– We have them on a stone with the pestle of a mortar crushed. |

– And the head?

– We also smashed it with the same tool.

– Did they pay you for this?

– I was promised money if I would say that I had killed him. As for the servant, they promised him to marry him, as I have already hunted.

– And what was the sack like in which you put the leftovers?

– Like all coffee sacks, made of grey packing linen.

– What did you do with the entrails?

– We cut them up and put them in the sack and brought them here= thrown into the sewers. |

– Did the Sad not allow the substances contained in the intestines leak out? |

= – A coffee sack, when it is wet, does not let anything through easily= wrestle. |

– Did you carry the burden alone?

– The servant and I either carried it together or took it away. changing. f

– How many were you when you cut the priest into pieces?
How many knives did you have?

– The servant and I took care of the cutting, and the Others showed us how to do it. Soon I cut, soon the servant. We took turns when one was tired. The ee 25 like the butcher's knives and the same which is used for murder had served | |

– On which stone did you break the bones?

– On the pavement between the two rooms. |

– But when you broke the head, the brain had to come= happen?

– We took it away with the bones.

– Approximately what time did the murder take place, and How much time has passed until the blood has been completely drained?

– “I believe that the murder took place about an hour and a half after Sunset has taken place. The Father is until the last drop of blood a. was, about half an hour to forty minutes above the pelvis. When the operation was finished, it may have about eight o'clock in the evening.” |

These statements had to be checked. The French Consul Monsieur RattiMenton and SheriffPafha led operations
The investigation was carried out with the greatest precision.

More than once attempts were made to contradict the two witnesses.
fays, but it did not work. On the spot where they According to their statement, the bones had been crushed, the Mosaic embossed. On the plastered walls of the Inside, three blood stains were found and also one down=

IV; 3 2

9

a: IE: ei

flowed drops on the wall of the left doorpost. All were still clearly visible, although efforts had apparently been made– had given the order to remove them. 5

But the most important thing was that research was carried out in the channel–
where the remains of the victim were. |

This drainage channel, which originates from the mound of Mouca Abou=el= Afieh leads out, is quite long and spacious at this point.
The water from the street flows through a channel under the sidewalk
In this channel, which is used to drain the rainwater and was blocked at that moment, found one sees a black mixture of earth and blood and also a blu– fuffifcienft shreds. This channel also forms a junction several small channels from the water basins, which are located on the courtyard of every house in this district.

The bone remains that were first found were leg bones with the joints, a kneecap, skull pieces and finally a piece of heart; in the afternoon of the same day they brought in:
ward of the Consul, several Europeans and a large number of immigrants residents of Damascus also stand out: scraps of nerves, one or two Vertebrae, a piece of scalp where you can clearly see the one Part of the tonsure was conftated – the rest was still with hair provided – finally two pieces of a black linen cap, as the European clergy are accustomed to wearing such.

These remnants were recognized and identified by Mr. Merlato, the frequent consul, four European doctors, six Mohammedan doctors, a native Christian and finally from the barber whom Father Thomas used.

The crime was clearly proven, but the Jews still no confession. They had already made many efforts to induce several individuals to collect the remains of Father Thomas search and falsely claim that they have found them. When the relics we have reported on were discovered

, they claimed that this was not the remains of the aters, or that they had been played a nasty trick, by throwing them into the canal. As if this were possible would have been.

A new investigation was allowed to be carried out, and the The process was interrupted for a long time. They moved They took advantage of this by creating intrigues of their own kind to to thwart the exercise of justice.

They had turned to a certain Mr. Chubli, who had influence with the authorities, and had given him 500,000 piastres. spoken when he reached:

- 1) To prevent the translation of Jewish religious books, because this would mean humiliation for the nation.
- 2) The non-registration in the process files of the translations and explanations of the 5 books which Abowel=Afteh had made, as well as their destruction.

.

mn

– 9,

- 3) The intervention at the Consul for the purpose of setting free the master Raphael Farkhi.

- 4) Milder measures in favour of the convicted by whose death penalty was changed into another.

In the meantime, a change had taken place which gave the justice had to cause great difficulties.

Among the accused was an Austrian subject.

The Austrian Consul Mr. Merlato, who from the beginning opposed the Jews, had also called for the arrest this individual himself. But the Jewish community in Damascus did not act without help. Secret ties linked them with powerful Jewish cliques in Europe. These latter were not inactive and soon seemed to have achieved good results, because On 7 March, the Austrian Consul changed his attitude and denied the competence of Sheriff-Pafha and refused to condemn of a subject of Austria by an Egyptian court The French Consul continued to do his duty and to pursue the process, despite the obstacles that were placed in his way, despite the slanders that were thrown at him despite the Jewish money that was offered to him.

If one reads carefully what is said about the disappearance of Father Thomas is published, says Hamont, seizes a Jew a horrible feeling. A respectable official, the representative of France, urges the authorities Mehemet--Alis that justice is done, and what happens? the Jews in All of Europe is shouting and shouting! M. de is being slandered Ratti-Menton; the Jewish Commission, which was set up by the Austrian Consulate is protected, cries out for woe... and because some Children of Israel went to Europe and Egypt, a A thick veil was drawn over the bloody scene.

For some time, however, the judiciary had the upper hand. Sheriff-Pafha had made his investigations very thoroughly and he was convinced in his heart that "the Jews had murdered the Christians, to have their blood." He thought it impossible that the Honesty and justice of his feelings even for a moment could doubt, and accordingly the verdict was passed as it should be.

Sixteen of the most respected Jews were involved in this sad event. occasion. Two, Poucef Arari and Youcef Le-gnado died during the investigation. Four, Monga Abou-el-Afieh, Aslan-Farkhi, Soliman, and Mourad-el-Falh'al were arrested for their confessions pardoned. I

The ten others were sentenced to death. They were: Daoud Arari, Aaroun Arari, Ifaac Arari, Rabbi Bokhor Youda, called Salonikli, Mechir Farkhi, Mourad Farkhi, Aroun Stambouli, Ifage Picciotto, Yacoub Abou-el-Afieh, Moucef Menakem Farkhi.

It depended only on the Pafha that this sentence was carried out!

IV.

The one who unintentionally overturned this judgment was the French consul, whose conduct had been so correct that he was later praised for this in the French courts.

He thought it was right – he was so worried that he – the entire negotiations to Ibrahim Pasha, General of the Turkish troops in Syria, for confirmation. This delay saved the condemned man's life. In fact, three European Jews, Crémieux, Mund and Moses Montefiore, who Delegates of the Alliance israélite universelle, thereby gained time, to come to the Orient. They were enough for Mehemed Ali, as one must accept, substantively supported, a petition which demanded revision of the process, just as the Jews in Trent in 1474, which resulted in four trials in succession had caused.

Mehemed Ali did not want so many, and from the Jewish gold wins – one can do so without being guilty of a frivolous assumption to make, pid fay – he pardoned the condemned. Moses Kontefiore and Crémieux did not want to hear of this grace, because, as they said, grace presupposes guilt. And they were right. The Jews are like Caesar's wife, they must not be suspected have; they are such holy people!

Then Mehemed Ali left in his firman the word grace, which was so inconvenient for them. Nevertheless, the firman remained so that he made the crime suspected. Here is his wording:

“On the ideas and wishes of the Lord Moses Montefiore and Crémieux, who appeared before us as delegates of all Jews living in Europe, We have recognized that they Release of the Jews, which was the result of the investigations regarding the disappearance of Father Thomas, priest in Damascus, arrested Id: and security for those Jews who as a result who fled the same process, wished.

“And since, in view of a large Jewish people, it is not fhofo to refuse their request, We command that sets the Jewish prisoners free and grants the fugitives the Return to safety. And it shall be the Fame at ft his work, the merchant in his trade and each deal with his former profession; and all possible measures should be taken measures must be taken that none of them is the object of bad

) Theodor Reinach, the historian of modern Jews, says about the fame, without producing the document: “A firman of the Sultan of=

nunciate once again the falsehood and the hateful and ridiculous medieval defamation".

.. The firman of Mehemed Ali, as we can see, says nothing of the sort, but those who read the book of the Jew do not get to see him and must say: "These poor Jews, how they are persecuted! First a man grant them justice." f

nd

treatment from any side, and that security is sneeze as before and leave them alone in every respect.

| "This is our will, \
(Seal of Mehemed Ali.)

Upon receiving this firman, Sheriff Pasha had to whom he had sentenced to death, to freedom. This did he on September 5, 1840, seven months after she had shed the blood of clergyman, their good friend.

The Jews had the freedom of the condemned and the silence
the judiciary; nevertheless, your insane attacks says further: fthey would have liked a declaration of innocence. However, they did not dare to continue. "The investigation still=
"To record it again," says the Chevalier des Mouffieux, "would be a Madness on their part 155 because then France, which in the Orient is represented by a consul, despite the less scrupulous Regiment of Louis-Philippe have been forced to do all these
To bring the Jews before the eyes of the whole world, with their heads bowed and eyes and beard in the blood of their victim! And the condemned,
They would be in a second investigation, which would involve the whole of France
If we had followed the most detailed plan, we could have avoided it, to sprinkle their high and numerous protectors with blood?"

In the churchyard of Damascus there is still a school= fhungsdenkmal. It is the grave where on March 2, 1840 solemnly the remains of the sacrificed in the hatred of the Christian faith clergymen, a grave which is mentioned in Arabic and Italian language made the following inscription:

Here rest the remains of Father Thomas of Sardinia, apostolic Capuchin, missionary, murdered by the Jews on February 5, 1840. 5 Ä

And the last word of the famous trial is said to be
The ever-repeated expression in popular speech is: "The Jews have Priest murdered and the dough filled with the blood of the unfortunate
The Viceroy did not want to let the matter run its course, because powerful people have intervened."

V.

They kneaded the dough with the blood of this unfortunate man! This is what the people of Damascus always repeated, and this is, what they denied and what the friends of the Jews still brazenly deny it. Since the murder could not be denied, they say at least that it did not take place for ritual purposes. The Interrogations which have been preserved in the files are ant= words; we will present some of these testimonies to our readers, and he may judge for himself whether any doubt is still possible.

First, Isaac Arari admits: "It is right that we have Father Thomas called in to Daoud. There was a agreed upon, and we killed him to have his blood;

– 22 –

After we put the blood in a bottle, we gave it to the Khakam."

The Consul then asks Daoud's servant:

– What do you do with the blood?

– It is needed for the Fathir (Feast of Unleavened Bread)!

– How do you know that? |

– I heard them saying that the blood was for the matzo.

A little later, Colonel Hafey Bey asks him:

– Since you have not seen the blood, how do you know that it should be for the matzo?

– I asked for what purpose blood was shed, and They told me it was for the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

– Did the murder of Father Thomas and a religious– iōō purpose? Was there any reason to hate, or did you want your money?

– I don't know exactly the motive.

In response to a request of this kind, Rabbi Abou=el=Afieh confirmed that the murder was "for a religious purpose, the blood was necessary to fulfill our religious customs." (Also Daoud Arari himself confessed that they had accused Father En "because 5 blood," he said, "we used it to glorify our ultus.")

- What is the purpose of blood in your religion?
- It is used with matzo.

- Is blood distributed among the believers?

- Obviously not, they give it to the chief Khakam.

The same revealed in another interrogation:

"The custom is that the blood which is put into the matzo does not for the whole people, but only for a few zealous people is determined. As for the type of application of the same in the unleavened bread, I can tell you that the Khakam N to Radar (Grand Rabbi of Damascus) on the eve of first stays at the oven. The most pious send him flour there, to make bread; he kneads the dough himself, without Someone knows that he is putting blood in it, and he sends the bread to those people who owned the flour."

- Do you know whether the Rabbi still has this blood after 3 places, or whether he sent it only for the Jews of Damascus smoked?

- Rabbi Yakoub told me that he was going to Baghdad would have to send.

- Had anyone written from Baghdad demanding blood?

- He told me so.

This rabbi, who was afraid of his statements

1 Remember that the servant was called to murder the servant Ibrahim was sent away and had not witnessed the killing of Father Thomas, but only the dismemberment of the body of the same. .

- 23 -

became a Muslim during the trial. After this trial transformation, which earned him the name Mohammed Effendi he wrote a long letter to the Pafha, from which we have already have cited the largest part and where one further reads:

"As for blood, why else should it be among the Jews serve, as for the Feast of Unleavened Bread, as I have already
"How often have governments not explained the Jews caught committing similar crimes? One reads this in a her books, called "Sadat Ardakout", which contains several cases of this Kind of crimes that are attributed to the Jews. The author deals with the accusations as slander and shows how has put the Jews on trial in these cases, but those who know Jewish customs know that the more one learns about slander, one believes all the more in the truth of the can believe the acts alleged. |

Chubli objected to Muhammad:

– They say that the blood is for the purpose of unleavened bread; but it is also certain that according to their religion Blood is considered by the Jews to be an unclean thing, that the felf, if it is the blood of an animal whose are not allowed to use them. It is therefore a contradiction the idea that blood is something impure and human To prepare the matzo, you need fine fol. It requires a clarification to understand this. f | |

– According to the Talmud, God finds two kinds of blood pleasing: the Easter blood and the blood of circumcision. | |

– We still do not fully understand your argument made how the use of a person's blood can be permitted.

– That is the secret of the Great Khakams; they know this matter and the manner in which the blood is used.

(Here Mohammed=Effendi did not tell the whole truth concerning the mystery of the Purim= festival.)

For us, it must suffice at this moment to state that According to her own statement, this murder of two adults, as well as like many others, is undertaken for a religious purpose, to existing rabbinical and Talmudic laws of the Jews It matters little that 195 process does not completely revealed to those who were made of the blood; we will get to know him somewhere else. It will not be the uninter= most important chapter of this book, which will amaze people and indignation, which will rightly mark our history= writers will be accused of withholding these important questions from them to have. |

(Henry Desportes, Le Mystere du Sang chez les juifs des tous les temps. ©. 188 ff.) |

lut.

Reufteffin 1883.

synagogue fire.

Description of the process together with a memorial and a concluding remark by | Dr. Erust Henrici.

Introduction.

The people of Israel are raising anti-Semitism! This is a Truth that has been repeated throughout history for thousands of years—and which was re-confirmed by the Neufthettin synagogue fire—
No matter how dull and swampy the peoples are,
The Jews, with their never-ending desire for power, are accumulating Fuel after fuel, until finally anti-Semitism bursts into We Germans are probably the most most patiently bowed their necks under the yoke of the Jews, because we have, despite the terrible pressure exerted by the Jewish capital

lism, commits his act of violence, as in Russia, as in occurred in Hungary. The so-called "Pomeranian Jews—
"Hetze" is limited to a few thrown in ones and out—
Were the Pomeranian unrest the Work of "agitators", like the mendacious tabloid press, the mercenaries of international Jewry, trumpeted it to the world?
Today, when a verdict has been passed that the dullest Michel opens our eyes to the mischievous activities of the Jews, today me, whom the entire Jewish press had called an arsonist, the duty to raise the torch again, which is also in Pomerania: the torch of truth!

Pomerania is the Eden of the Jews. Even in the smallest villages Judaism is engaged in a systematic exploitation business:
is the grain usurer who steals the grain from the simple farmer—fchillet, there is the schnapps Jew who makes you drunk, there is the Hausirer, the Laskers' "noblest of the nation", who spread their fraudulent—were to be talked into the women, while the man was outside on the Field works; there is the always ready Jewish money lender, who the peasants with bills of exchange and mortgages, interest on interest, the throat whoever gets an idea of the bleak conditions behind—Pomerania, read the "Jew of Sofievka", that masterfully social paintings by Rouslane. First a schnapps, then a change! Materially ruined, demoralized and destitute doubt, I found the farmers of Hinterpommern, to whose Flesh and blood I belong. The love for the tribe of my fathers and the daily more urgent request addressed to me led me in February 1881 to Hinterpommern. What I found was heartbreaking:

the peasants were in debt, all their property was mortgaged; the plow with which they the field, fell to the Jews; the table from which they ate, belonging to the Jew; the cattle in the stable, the chickens in the yard, the Eggs that have not yet been laid, calves that have not yet been born, everything everything had to go to the Jew. An old seventy-year-old farmer called out to me with tearful eyes the welcome as I was at his passed by the house. "Father, how are you?" I asked. "If it for continues like this," replied the old man, "then I will burn the house, and let me be put in prison." But you will still Don't set fire to your own house. Your inheritance and property?" "My house? It was once mine!" sighed the old man and bitter tears ran across his grief-stricken cheeks.

Wherever I passed through the villages, the poor people sighed and groaned for redemption. In Neufthtin, gentlemen who had had invited there, that the people for years and days was extremely embittered and hardly able to refrain from violence I gave a speech in Neufthtin, it was on February 13, 1881. The large hall in which I spoke was filled to every corner filled by a densely packed and truly devout crowd. I have often in my life passionately spoken, but on that day I perhaps the quietest, because I had not come to rescue the people from their contemptuous tolerance=dufel, but here it was necessary to shake up the masses of violence=deeds. However, I have given the Jews the 12 0 efay, very German and crude, but the core of my speech was: Love ruder, do not resort to violence, but lead a flegal from the Jewish question. Jewish laws a I ver= Five days later, the synagogue of Neufthtin was Flames burst into flames – a poorly built half-timbered building that had "coincidentally" was highly insured. A storm went through the Jewish press of the whole World: I was publicly condemned as a temple desecrator and arsonist the Berlin "Börfen=Courier", whose clean editor, the Jew Davidfohn, not long after our Lilli Lehmann with a slap in the face, this Jewish newspaper called me a "modern Herooftrata" and called forth the wrath of the "God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob's" down on the temple desecrator. I am often urged, against these honor robbers 7 be sued; but this kind of men=fchen is once and for all too deep for me to have the feeling could have that they could insult me. Highly conspicuous It was that the Jews everywhere expelled the Christian Germans from Neufthtin accused of arson without even a single Person of active participation en en: one remained in general sayings, indeed the most striking thing was that the worst Jewish mouths never demanded a judicial investigation. Israel knew only too well who the real arsonists were.

The a in Pomerania became bigger and bigger. Again

Letter after letter came to me, and I decided at the end of May to go to Neufettin once. I found the whole area in a indescribable excitement against the Jews: "So we had to

u: 6

experience," said a citizen of Neufettin to me, "that the gang erit tightens his throat, then burns down the temple, and now us

Christians are still accused of arson."

I spoke for the second time in Neufettin, the cheering and the The enthusiasm of the good citizens and farmers was indescribable, and we led a teacher W., who was called the Jews – Judaslohn wanted to earn money, I and the local factory owner Mr. E. In the afternoon I was already firmly convinced that the Jews had burned down the synagogue. I was with a Lord went to the scene of the fire. Some Jews were now cheering followed for a while, here and there the Jews also stuck out their heads the window, but it seemed so eerily quiet: the first time, When I came, they were cheeky and impudent, this time they were cowardly and hidden. I entered the fire site and looked at the sooty guys with disbelief. ftraced arms: some Jews already understood from a distance and fcurred hastily into the neighboring houses, as I fharedly fixed on them: "The have no good conscience," I said to my companion – I suffered At that time, the charcoal burners still believed that a Jew could have a What drove the Jews away was only the fear of the prison or before But since that minute it was my It has become an irrefutable certainty that the Jews are the perpetrators had been. |

The excitement in Pomerania naturally had to reach its highest Pomerania knew who had burned the synagogue, so well, as Hungary knows, where the Maiden of Tisza=Eszlar spent her life There were acts of violence, crimes against the property. Those who, despite all my warnings, have received their punishment; but who has the conscience? Only those wicked arsonists who set fire to their own temple and blamed the poor Christian plebeians on their shoulders 575. The Temple Fire of Neufettin is the immediate reason for the exodus outbreak of unrest.

One would think that the judicial investigation would find the trace of the perpetrators. None of that! No witnesses come forward, despite high rewards offered one exposes. And why not? Because they are afraid of the Jews fear! They have borrowed it, as the temple desecrators with the Petro-leumkanne go to the temple, but they dare not say it. But my own German brothers, the progressive Jewish servants, the "arsonist" in the face. I took it easy= and continued to work for the liberation of the people, as long as my almost exhausted forces were still enough.

Now the verdict has been reached: the verdict of the jury is guilty – the Jews are guilty of arson.

And how did it happen? I only know that a Neufstettin Engineer L. to His Serene Highness the Prince Chancellor in the previous Besen years a snazzy letter in which he expressed himself with full Certainty that accused the Jews of the crime and judicial atonement

u "at

Immediately afterwards, the procedure was started, which has now exposed common criminals.

October 24, 1883.

Dr. Ernst Henrici,
Tegel near Berlin.

The fire of the synagogue in Neufstettin in court.

After a period of almost three years and after several Due to delays in the preliminary investigation, it was finally possible for the effort of the judicial authorities to bring the culprits to justice and to bring him into prosecution. The jury court in Cöslin, known for the trial against the anti-Semitic Luttofch from Neu=Stettin, which was brilliantly acquitted last year, was again called upon to give his verdict in the matter of "Jewish agitation". Attempts to influence the mood of the judges and jurors the "conscience-minded" Jewish press has once again again not to be missed. So the dared – with respect to report – "Berliner Börfen-Courier" before the start of the Negotiations, the impending Cöslin trial as a "Prussian Tisza-Eszlar", which means from the outset the accusation the tip should be broken off e All other organs of the Alliance israélite followed this example, spoke full of irony of a "monster trial" and gave the impression that as if the mere thought of a condemnation of the honest faith= comrades of Neufstettin was already an absolute impossibility. The poor defendants were in their eyes already before decisive cause just as innocent as the "martyrs" of Tisza=Eszlar.

Several days before October 18, the beginning of the memorable synagogue trial, made its mark in the Hinterpommern= A strong influx of foreigners is noticeable in the capital. The Cöslin

Hotels were already overcrowded on October 17. On the streets and in public places one saw a large number of Jews. The daily talk everywhere was the "Jewish trial", as one in "good Pomeranian" the trial against the Jewish Arsonists. Reporters from almost all major newspapers, including, naturally, numerous Semites, had rushed to the town to follow the course of the negotiations. Representatives of the Pomeranian Land nobility, senior officials from the province, among them the Ober-Landes-Court President Thümmel and Senior Public Prosecutor Henke from Stettin, officers in uniform and civilian, also many ladies of the higher We saw social circles in the audience of the jury court-fal, which, in and of itself, is not too large in dimensions, seemed decidedly inadequate for this process. The corridors and stairs were filled with a countless crowd, who also oem forecourt of the courthouse Posto had taken, literally elagert. b

At 9 o'clock in the morning on October 18th the jury trial began.

– 28 –

fale the trial of the prosecution. The court consisted of Mr. Buhrow, Director of the Regional Court, President, Regional Court Judge Leyde and Afeffor Dr. Mayer as assessors; the public prosecutor represented prosecutor Pinoff, the defense was led by the legal-lawyers Dr. Sello from Berlin and Juftierath Scheunemann from Neu-fttin, the clerk was Dr. Zelle. – After the prosecutor and the defense attorneys exercise their right of recusal Having made use of this opportunity, the jurors who had been selected took their seats. 9 A defendants were soon led into the courtroom.

ind dies:

- 1) Rentier Hirfch Heydemann, born April 13, 1810 in Brotzen near Tempelburg. Widower and father of 6 children;
- 2) Merchant Guftav Heydemann, born 11 March 1843 in Tempelburg, married, father of 6 children;
- 3) Furrier Hirsch Lesheim, born 30 November 1843 in Jakobs-Hagen, married, father of 3 sons;
- 4) Furrier apprentice Leo Lesheim, born 15 December 1866 in Neufttin; he
- 5) Merchant and temple servant Adolf Löwenberg, 37 years old old, all from Neufttin.

All defendants except Hirsch Lesheim, who is has already served a 14-day prison sentence for receiving stolen goods, unpunished. As far as the external appearance of the accused is concerned, here the comparison with Tisza-Eszlar popular with the "Börfen-Courier"

be correct – they were Jews, whose

The accused crime could well have been overlooked. This excludes Of course, it is not enough that certain "Berliner Blätter" in 9 05 published the "light-bright" representatives of true "enlightenment" and "tolerance"
While the other defendants were involuntarily reminded of the ghetto remembered, the worthy head of this famous association made the Impression of a well-off Oriental, who, when the
A whim of fate takes him to the "green beach of the Spree" would certainly have played an outstanding role here and possible= if the Berlin champions of Judaism were to compete would have. |

From the very extensive indictment we highlight the following:
"Post" recapitulates the following description of the process that the process:

"On February 18, 1882, a Friday morning between 11
and 12, at f a.m. a fire broke out in the synagogue at Neufthttn, which spread so quickly that despite attempts to extinguish the fire,
The building itself burned down to the bare walls in a short 50 minutes and several adjacent houses were damaged. Since a few days before the event Dr. Henrici from Berlin had been in Neufthttn and had given a lecture on the so-called Jewish question, 5, the opinion arose that the fire was caused by

to bring anti-Semitic agitation into logical terms, the fire was started by hostile hands. The However, half-conducted investigations soon proved this suspicion

H FRE Zum. 5; , Su. |

•
*
•

– 29 –

as completely unfounded, rather the moments accumulated which the Blame for arson on the above-mentioned members of the Jewish community. These moments are (always after the statement of claim)h essentially as follows: |

The fire was caused by chance, as The synagogue, which was isolated, did not have a heating system= was present. Experts have determined that the interior of the temple in several places, especially near the Aller= holiest, was coated with petroleum, the smell of which before the fire was noticed by passers-by; also at Auf= clearing the fire site with petroleum-soaked books etc. The preparatory activity – so the prosecution deduces after the "Cösliner Zeitung" continues – can only be assumed by persons fe, which through the possession of the keys of the temple at any time joins this. Löwenberg and Lesheim sen. were on Morning of 17 and 18 February 1881, with a tin can to Synagogue. Furthermore, several people have stated that that on the day of the fire early in the morning some windows the synagogue was repeatedly opened and closed. the windows of the synagogue were always closed, the opening of the same caught the attention of the neighbors. They calmed fome, because they assumed that the temple would be cleansed. When but smoke and fumes came from inside the synagogue, one immediately came to the assumption that the opening of the windows only to extinguish the flame slumbering within the synagogue

In addition, the Windows can only be opened from the inside by loosening a chain; on the occasion of this, the activity of a person must also take place who was in possession of the keys to the synagogue. The synagogue Opposite the property is an elementary school; from this A number of students want to be seen through the window of their class as Heydemann, father and son, stepped out of their front door, through the unlocked gate of the picket fence onto the Syna= gogenplatz, the unlocked, only latched door of the opened the synagogue and entered it. After about five minutes Both came out again; the door fell shut behind them Castle. A few minutes later the two Lesheims arrived, father and son, walking slowly down Friedrichstrasse. entered the synagogue square, ran quickly, without looking at the door to go around the synagogue. Lesheim Jr. had a höl= a stool or chair in his hands, which he placed in front of a synagogue= window. Lesheim senior climbed onto the stool, reached for a window sash, lifted it out and placed it against the wall of the Synagogue. As a result of this window opening, the actual outbreak of fire. The two Lesheims then moved away more quickly and only appeared again at the fire site when several people were gathered there and the fire was in full Both are said to have returned to the fire site behaved suspiciously. Several people tried to

– 30 –

to close the raised window. However, Gustav Heydemann suggested a key, the plumber Werner with an axe the windows of the Synagogue, so that in an instant the first to the Aller= holiest concentrated flame engulfed the entire building and within destroyed in a few minutes. A worker Buchholtz testified: On Be: Due to the lack of both Heydemanns, he had to leave the with the picket fence bordering the synagogue stacked a a remote part of the Heydemann farmstead, break out two boards from the fence itself and on February 18, Shortly before 11 o'clock in the morning, he had to, contrary to usual custom, with dung to the field. During his journey he saw the deer

Lesheim with a tin can to the synagogue. After the Further records of the prosecution were provided by the nearby Heydemann farm the most natural and comfortable exit-point for all actions aimed at committing the crime.

The Royal Public Prosecutor's Office finds the accused guilty, which has become old and dilapidated and incurs many repair costs every year—demanding synagogue to have set fire to the Jewish community from the high insurance sum and the mild benefits to be received to provide a new, stately building, whereby one hopes could, in the anti-Semitic movement prevailing in Neufthtin
1 Suspicion of arson against the so-called anti-Semitic throw.

This is, in brief, the main content of the indictment.

After reading the charges, the President addressed the defendants—defendants the question of whether they would plead guilty. Hirfch Heydemann, When asked first, he answered in a tone: "God bless me—true, I have never had such a thought in my life—"On the morning of October 18, the accused wants to Teacher Hübner heard: "There is smoke in the temple." When he When he opened the temple, he immediately noticed a thick smoke coming from the area of the Holy of Holies. He had tried to enter the Holy of Holies through an open window, but in vain. Before this He had seen footprints in the snow through the window. When the synagogue was already burning, he first wants to put out the fire in his own apartment—noticed, namely a flame in his locker, which during transport later broke. The height of the Defendant estimates damage caused by fire in his apartment to 4500 Marks, but he has received from the insurance company "National" only received 1500 marks. To prove his alleged "innocence" more credible. 8 The accused did not hesitate to express the suspicion to the worker Buchholtz. The latter had on the day of the Brandes the farm in the morning with a load and only returned afterwards. The one through his son assumed change of location with the existing wood stocks the defendant argues.

This is followed by the questioning of his son Guftav Heydemann jun. He also did not want to be in the Sy= since 8 days before the fire. nagoge. The wrapping of the wood on which the synagogue

ae

However, he had the fence bordering the goge through the 3c. Buchholtz made, solely for the purpose of giving the snow water to get a deduction on the farm. a

He describes the worker Buchholtz as a disorderly drunkard=

bold, who is inclined to violence and because of a threatened to withdraw the wage advance allegedly owed to the defendant To cause inconvenience. Regarding the burning Clothes locker he agrees with his father's comments and can also not remember what he did during the He also tells a story about the great unknown. A foreign Jew had been Time climbed over the synagogue fence and when asked explained that he wanted to pray in the synagogue. .

The third defendant, formerly a temple servant, now a furrier, Hirsch Lesheim is the one who first shouted "fire". He in his apartment, about 220 steps from the temple when suddenly his son, co-defendant Leo Lesheim, rushed in to report the outbreak of the fire. An= The defendant immediately went to the scene of the fire and already the Heydemanns and teacher Hübner 9 His question addressed to the Heydemanns: "Should I shout fire?" The latter would have answered in the affirmative and he would have heard the fire call or raised, and a passerby asked him scornfully: "So, The prosecution's claim that he was his son on Thursday or Friday a window in the system He firmly denies having dug up the nagoge.

His son Leo Lesheim also asks for the removal of the window, but his testimony still seems unbelievable= licher, as that of the father, since he is particularly concerned with Time references are entangled in significant contradictions.

The temple servant Löwenberg protests against the dictated role of the "petroleur"; he denies at all having a Petroleum can, nor has the interior of the temple nor the objects contained therein, such as prayer= books, scrolls, etc., soaked with petroleum.

After a short break, the witnessing began at 1:30 p.m. interrogation with the interrogation of the foreman Wolf Löwe, who expressed the conviction from the outset that arson was the He expresses this conviction even today and justifies this with the rapid speed of the fire and wants, like many of his Neuftettin co-religionists, held the opinion have, the Temple fire must be the result of Henrici's agitation= He believed this all the more because the The community is offering a reward of 2000 Marks. The "Norddeutsche Prefe" also had a Quote by Luther, through which the Christians are given the advice "the temples and schools of the rejected and damned To destroy the Jews with fire and cover them with earth." – Ver= The defendant Dr. Sello stated on this occasion that the–

apt quote in the "Norddeutsche Preffe" of November 30, 1880 and presents the newspaper in question. The

The President reads out the entire quotation and continues the remark that one could not see any provocation in this, since the passage in question is merely a quotation. Witness Wolf Löwe, asked about the interior of the synagogue, gives a detailed description—fcription, explains that one year before the fire, Lee was completely renewed, the petroleum lighting years before the Brande was abolished, but valuable, especially silver, equipment had not been removed from the synagogue.

The engineer Schreiber from Neuftettin stated that he had the drawing of the repair and renovation of the temple in 1880; he believes does not believe that the fire was intentional, but rather that the Fire was caused by the negligence of the temple servant.

The expert's opinion is significantly different Building inspector Kleefeld from Neuftttin, who expressly emphasizes, that the floor of the synagogue was covered with a highly flammable liquid= ity, whereby alone the fire with such speed could have spread across the entire floor.
The expert also explains the dimensions and Spatial conditions that one can see from the class windows of the temple

The fire and the resulting outbreak

ge
the same preceding circumstances and can perceive.

The testimony of the insurance witness is also very incriminating.
agent Zwick, who was with the two Heydemanns in front of the burning house and noticed that the boards in the fence
5 10 85 of the synagogue and the Heydemann property several times
5 os that it was not at all difficult to get through.

The witness has nothing to say about the dismay of the defendant Heydemann
"Bichler Kugraf, who installed the spy windows
ischler Kugraf, who made the synagogue windows, stated that the latter was so high that it could only be reached on one side could have achieved the same.

The unmarried Friederike Jaffe, formerly a light cleaner at of the e community, has from the windows of her next to the synagogue goge located parental house noticed that a great inten=

five light almost suddenly spread over the entire space of the temple widespread. |

The reindeer Briedenbeck, who also used to live in the Jaffe-
When a large group of people lived there, it was noticed that the temple was about

oche before the fire of the morning fvery often illuminated, in the Last week, however, it was completely dark. On the day of the fire he saw a window of the synagogue opened at 7 o'clock in the morning, which was closed again between 10 and 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Briedenbeck confirms her husband's statements – despite= The defendant Löwenberg maintains that there was no morning

se ONLY

Even before the last week before the fire there was no illumination of the Temple, since no religious service was held.

About this latter point, the person in the audience
Rabbi of the Neuftettin community Dr. Hoffmann as a witness
The latter states that a regular service in the last weeks before the fire in the synagogue. The
He did not have the key to the temple, but the temple servant Löwen= berg and a duplicate of the same defendant Heydemann in Ver=
preservation. |

Mrs. Kapitzki, who also lived in the Jaffefe hive next to the temple, on the morning of the fire inside the synagogue saw a man walking to and fro whose outward appearance-appearance similar to that of the older Lesheim 1 witness despite the objections of lawyer Sello, she maintains her statement to the full extent upright. N

Watchmaker Jahnke and reindeer Sonnenburg happened to about an hour before the fire, the door of the synagogue open seen.

The main witness for the prosecution, teacher Pieper, who is mentioned in the reports the Jewish newspapers is ridiculed because he declares that as a result the counter-representations of his wife, who threatened the revenge of the Jews feared that he had only reported for the certificate after a year, asks the President for protection against the prosecutor and the theidiger Scheunemann, who had interviewed him at the preliminary hearing in Neufttin Despite the many efforts of the two defenders, to cast doubt on the credibility of this matter, this succeeds not. Pieper explains to 1095 that he has the two Lesheim and indirectly before the fire under suspicious circumstances at the window in question. The teacher himself, fuch as a number of his students want to see the Heydemanns in front of the synagogue.

The 16-year-old painter's apprentice, then student Denzin, has just= if the Lesheims were sitting with a chair at a window of the synagogue noticed from the classroom, also saw that the Heydemanns visited and left the temple several times shortly before the fire The defense declares this to be impossible 15 As legal= lawyer Sello repeatedly asks the same question to these 80 people, The President tells him this with all determination, "since the process otherwise it could last for eight days." The defender Scheune= man is very forcefully told by the President that he is influencing the witnesses and experts. –

This led the organ Moses Cohn to remark that "the President, a real Pomeranian nature, more for energy than for Urbanity tends". We would like to take this opportunity to present an excellent Characteristics that the "Post" has about presidents, heads of state lawyer and defense attorney: "Truly admirable with iron perseverance the President of the Court, Mr Land= court director Buhrow, who from beginning to end with always constant calm, clarity and secure energy, with a powerful thorny vocal organ, which even after 15 hours of almost un- interrupted speech without the slightest trace of hoarseness- remember, who is leading the negotiations. This official has either no nerves at all, or they have great Similarity to ship's ropes and anchor chains. If the jurors, the defense attorney or the feeling of creation and the last after a short rest period expressed he is always extremely surprised and either grants nothing at all or, in the best case, 1-5 minutes break. With him competes in durability of the representatives of the public prosecution, Mr. Prosecutor Pinoff, an elegant, slim figure, who, he does not miss the slightest thing from the witness statements, mostly with his upper body bent forward, listening behind his small desk ft or approaches the witness table. If he asks questions intervenes in the interrogation, they always prove that in the memories even the smallest details are present and ready; and that means something in a process in which a hundred witnesses are heard and his files a whole library of folio volumes. – The " led by the lawyer and well-known secessionist member of the Reichstag Dr. Sello from Berlin and the Neuftettin Justice Counsel Scheunemann. Frankly, we miss the classic calm and Dispassion, through which the President and the Prosecutor The President has repeatedly expressed his wish to feichen begbet" that Mr. Sello impute things to him, or three, four times the same question to a prosecution witness, and has also protested vigorously against Mr. Scheunemann's sea of experts in a subtle sense try." –

Iv. 3

– 34 –

The first session of the court began with the questioning of the witness Denzin. day 11 o'clock at night. The negotiations have therefore full It took 14 hours, a feat that could only be achieved physically and intellectually robust Pomeranian natures are likely to have grown.

On Friday, October 19th, at 9 a.m., the hearing will begin. continued and began with Dr. Sello's repeated request, the court may examine the matter on the spot by its own eyes convince whether it is possible to derive from the elementary class the space of The Court rejects this request and decided by telegraph to inform the district judge in Neuffttn with the Ocular= inspection. We would like to note that the "Börfen=Courier" in its already mentioned comparison of the Cösliner trial with that of Nyiregyhaza even before the trial began a reported that in Neuftettin, as in Tisza Eszlar, cine local inspection by the court and the jury would take place. Presumably the honest "stock exchange-Courier" of this project, as execution on the energy of the President's failure, great success.

The questioning of witnesses was then continued and first The 15-year-old boy Wilhelm Ibert was questioned, who on the day of

3

Fire from the school window the two Lesheim with a Chair approaching, the older of the two then sat on the chair climbed up, dug up the window of the synagogue, gave it to the younger whereupon they both made off. Not Less burdensome for the Lesheims are the statements of the schoolboys Kaul, Krüger and Liebling, who essentially deal with the of Ibert. – The 21-year-old bricklayer apprentice Marquard has 2 years of lighting and extinguishing the lights in the temple concerned and stated that during this period never Petro-leum was used for lighting.

The teacher Hübner, whose class was directly opposite the synagogue= The smoke coming from the synagogue was noticed, it foon afterwards rushed to Heydemanns to ask them to follow see if the temple was burning. When old Heydemann saw it= fhut, a suffocating smoke came towards them. Witness has then the elder Lesheim, who soon appeared at the synagogue, instructed to run to the mayor and order syringes. Read= heim also apparently satisfied this request, but returned to a few minutes back without having completed his task, whereupon the witness shouted to him angrily: "Well, don't shout too much—ft fire." But Lesheim did not do this either, but first turned to 5 sen. with the question: "Should I shout?" Certainly a more than wonderful stage, which the old Heyde= man generously answered: "Now just scream!" In At this moment, however, fireworks were already blaring from all windows and other The bright flames came out of the temple's openings. The synagogues= The elder Heydemann has the key in the pocket of his dressing gown Finally, teacher 1 0 0 explicitly states that he also had a window sash that had been lifted out and leaning against the wall.

Teacher Schievelbein prevented the plumber Möwes from doing this= want to make a hole in the wall of the burning synagogue because this would provide air for the fire. However, the elder Heydemann insisted on it because – think! – fine prayer= coat could be saved sel Already during the fire Many Jews hypocritically shouted: "See, these are the consequences of Henrici's hate speeches!"

The witness Sonnenburg explains that there was also a locker burned, which was locked from the Heydemann's house on the street, the witness herself has one on the ground this cupboard's smoldering travel blanket was extinguished.

The burning locker was also discovered by the school administration trainee Seen for a long time.

The defendants Heydemann want to convince the jury, that through the no longer tightly closing doors of the cupboard Sparks got inside.

Witness Buchholtz, whom the brave defendants casually fembrace= thought, early one morning, shortly before 18 February 1881, the temple servant Löwenberg with a petroleum can in the Temple. He has put the boards on the synagogue fence on

| 3 .

6

Heydemann's junior order, allegedly to get through the resulting gap ice and snow thrown onto the temple grounds could be, which however did not happen. The gap cannot be closed again= nailed because Heydemann declared this to be unnecessary. He himself was on the day of the fire shortly before the fire broke out with a load say something that usually doesn't happen at that time of day. Cha= characteristic of Mr. Heydemann Jr. is the statement by Buchholtz, that the defendant, in true Jewish fashion, also stole several items and supplies (3. B. potatoes) to the insurance agent Zwick as burned or stolen, which later appeared again found or were consumed. Witness has one year after the fire the service of the what because of the too low daily wage of 1 Mark. What is more, the alleged As for the threat, he got as a reward for two months of night: guards in the fire-damaged house demanded 60 marks, but in vain and therefore threatened with civil action.

Luc from the witness stonemason Beyer ift temple servant Löwenberg with the petroleum can on the way to the synagogue, and indeed on the same days which Buchholtz had already indicated. What As for the size of the jug, the witness estimated its contents to be approximately 6 liters. Defendant Löwenberg explains easily for lies of course the encounters reported to both witnesses— oh for lies.

Defender Sello, who received the news of the consignment of a new drr from Neuftettin, the unmarried 1, asks for the reasons for this summons, of Section 245 Paragraph 2 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the adjournment of the main – The prosecutor replied that the matter follows its legal course.

Witness Restaurateur Engel, Jew, nephew of the old man, cousin and Brother-in-law of the young Heydemann, pointed out that he as a relative of the accused from the right to testify= refusal, declares his willingness to testify and stated that he came to Neuftttin 3 days after the fire and heard from his sister-in-law that a man with the An= question was whether he had the shredder of O Demann Jr. She told him not to under= A few days later, Buchholtz came personally to the meeting with the request to destroy the machine in question. was enough for that. Engel did not know where that was going. He had firmly forbidden Buchholtz from causing any damage and Controlled for 8 days.

Senge uchholtz stands up and describes these statements as a lie, which the President declares inadmissible. – Engel is not sworn in for the time being.

The statements of the witnesses master mason Kaften, tailor Zier= village, shoemaker Trojanus, reindeer Sirolet, his wife, the The widow Bidon and the landowner Spins are of no importance.

The worker Zibell, a defendant summoned by the defense

a er foft on grounds

in Schlag,

N

– 37 –

Witness, apparently had too much breakfast and is unable to
" to speak. The defenders renounce his accusations perception. | |

Zibell's wife states that after the fire, Buchholtz came to her husband and told her that Pan had found the Windows were broken and Lesheim was carrying a petroleum can.
The question whether Mrs Buchholtz had told the witness that she had much trouble with her husband; he talks and lies about everything together, and only wants to earn witness fees to buy liquor drinking, the witness denies.

Mrs. Buchholtz confirms the statements of her husband and vehemently denies his alcoholism. | 1 |
Shoemaker Greifow, who was 7 years old and also at the time of Brandes lived at Heydemanns on the first floor and the whole business, was very indignant when Mrs. Heyde= man shouted at the fire: "Look, the Christians have given us done!" – "You yourselves, Jews," he cried, "have set fire to the temple,
You wanted a new one, that's the only reason you raised the old one insured and set on fire." Witnesses said that one of the openly standing whose synagogue windows were closed again to prevent drafts Greifow takes no notice of the defenders, he turns his back on them, leaves their questions unanswered and he= clarified that he only had to answer to the President. With the After the hearing of this witness, the hearing will begin at 12 o'clock at night.
aborted. |

The third day of the trial begins on Saturday at 9 a.m. with the declaration of the President that the protocol on the inspection of the District Court in Neuftettin 143 lei. Ä

Witness Buchholtz will soon present a dispatch from his current bread-maker, in whose capacity he is a hard-working and useful man.

The new site plan submitted with the inspection will be now presented to the boy who had already been questioned earlier. The eyes= fhence confirmed that what the boys saw was school window in question could actually be seen.

Teacher Hübner points out that in the room of 10–11 27 on the day in question was a teachers' conference, and the

Ya left boy to look out of the window as he pleases could.

Preacher Clamroth explains that it seemed striking to him how Heydemann Sr. unlocked the smoking locker.

Mrs Greifer has informed Heydemann about the fine border= fence stacked planks that were suddenly removed before the fire was asked and received the answer, he 95 said it would The witness is the week before the fire often observed bright synagogue lighting in the early morning= hour noticed. Ä m

==. 38 >

The already questioned witness Mrs Jaffe steps forward and gives the witness Buchholtz the testimony of a hardworking, sober man, who only occasionally, out of despair over the poor wages and his dependence on the Jews had drunk himself into intoxication.

Defense attorney Scheunemann seeks the witness Jaffe as biased by noting that their "animosity" against the Jews from a lawsuit that she filed against the Jewish Community had to make an effort. |

Shoemaker Sperling immediately after the discovery of the fire a fresh footprint leading to the Heydemann house discovered in the snow, also seen how the plumber Werner, a Jew, »the windows were broken. Immediately afterwards, the bright flames flared up.

Shoemaker Stubbe met only the old man in front of the temple Heydemann, who made him aware that the suspected fire=ftifter must have climbed over the fence here. Witness said that There is still snow on the fence, so that is impossible. Then old Heydemann pointed to an apparently closed window with the words: "Here the fire must have been thrown into the temple." Witness replied that the window was closed and jumped at the window into the air. Then one of the window sashes fell down with a clatter. Then the Jewish plumber Werner came with an axe and smashed the windows and was also commissioned by old Heydemann to wooden wall at the Holy of Holies, and moved to the Ein= wall of the witness: "I have to leave my things (probably prayer shawl and the like)." |

The following statement by Rabbi Dr. Hoffmann about The meaning and value of the Torah scrolls and prayer shawls is neither for the process itself, nor for our dear readers in general interest.

The statement of the wheelwright Schmidt caused a great sensation, who is brought in from the prison in prisoner's clothing. Witness is not in possession of civil rights, but is sworn and deposited:

When he went to the smoking synagogue and through the window, the younger Heydemann pulled him back, then fugge Heydemann with a le a Srnadpgenfenliet, which Heydemann, however, replied that the witness should to flee, the matter was none of his business – 1 1 denies this of course. – Later Schmidt met the same Heydemann on the weekly market, where the latter shouted to him: "We will also out of the way." Later, another foreign Jew shouted the same words to the witness. Later, a Jew Aron den i who was sentenced to a short prison term for setting fire to his own house Time thereafter is punished with 9 years of imprisonment and this punishment currently serving, advises how highly insured he is. Witness concludes with the words: "The Jews 5 indeed fiery Sabren me out of the way, because I am innocent of 9 years of discipline= house condemned."

9

These words of the witness make the whole audience aware– bar a deep movement.

The defense seeks to prove to this witness, as well as to all the incriminating witnesses– witnesses to prove contradictions.

Controller Dahlitz, at the time of the fire a sergeant in Neu–fttin, was in his capacity as fire chief one of the first at the fire site and met the two Lesheims there. The younger shouted to him: "The Christians have set fire to our temple." Witness wants to gather one near the Holy of Holies– en objects formed a fire. Also Emperor Aron shouted: "The Christians have set fire to our temple." According to his, incidentally, by most of the inhabitants of Neufttin– shared conviction that this is a long–standing prepared arson.

Rabbi Dr. Hozzmann explains that even a Christian who highly respected current district physicist Dr. Vanselow in Schlawe, on the Brandfstätte said: "These are the consequences of anti-Semitic incitement." Poor Dr. Vanfelow had enough to say about this– were entitled to.

– For those who are familiar with the events of 1881 are no longer remembered exactly, we notice that the Christian– Dr. Vanselow, the son-in-law of the Jewish brewery owner

Afcher from Cöslin, always an opponent of the antifemitic movement was, which explains his hasty and incorrect judgment at that time lets appear. –

On the cause and origin of the smoke in the temple– spins between witnesses, prosecutor and the expert, Engineer Schreiber, a controversy. Schreiber develops another– his view, which has already been refuted by the building inspector Kleeefeld, regarding a merely negligent arson.

A juror wishes to know who the main– witness against the man brought from prison, accused of The witnesses were Schmidt, who was sentenced to 9 years for arson. Public Prosecutor's Office will submit the files.

Plumber Werner, Israeli, wants to go to a A window on the side of the Torah was broken with an axe that was given to someone because he did not believe in the danger of air supply Witness also believed in arson, as there were various different sides burned at the same time.

Merchant Conrad, Jew, has it burning at the Holy of Holies see and also believes in arson.

The jury wishes to see the expenditure receipts the Jewish community and the temple for the years 1879, 1880 and 1881. These will be presented on Monday.

Witness Conrad, at the request of lawyer Sello, gives the following Description of the Holy of Holies: A small wooden staircase, a wooden box with Torah scrolls, two pillars with red silk curtain.

RU nal Fabian also has the fire in the Holy of Holies seen.

Digitized by \008 le

he;

– 1

Butcher Angermann went to Lesheim and has– notices how both, father and son, often look to the window of the synagogue to look out, gave each other signs and were very excited– feemed. Witness has during the preliminary investigation substantially different of his current statements and is therefore President was sternly admonished to tell the truth. Witness stated, to have lied before, but now it had entered his heart, now he told the truth. Angermann concludes that Hirsch Lesheim 3 days before the start of the jury trial tried to bribe him. He had bought six pounds of meat and said: "Well, Angermann, on Thursday we will os, the jury trial, you have my Son not at home on the day of the fire?" the witness thrown out by the Jews.

The alibi proof of the young Lesheim failed completely, since the statements of the various Jewish witnesses that the same 10-11 o'clock, did not rule out that he was also at the kiln at the alleged time.

Glazier apprentice Geifenberg, Jew, wants to kill Leo Lesheim during of the temple fire at Heydemann's in front of the door as he received the order from Mrs. Heydemann to old Heydemann to get a pair of socks from Jacoby. Leo Lesheim was then accompanied by the witness and went to the Jacoby gone home. |

The schoolboys and Christian witnesses contradict Witnesses will be given these statements and questioned again. The contradiction remains unresolved

Furrier Lesheim, Jew, claims that 1 Piper had He said that only the improper behavior of the young Lesheim explained to him (the Piper) the reason for his serious The young Lesheim and others once told him on the Street stopped. – Teacher Piper firmly denies this statement in denial; nobody would think him so stupid, himself in the face. – The Berlin Moniteur of the Alliance israélite, whose report we would like to quote here, reports: "The Both witnesses clashed. One person's word against another. fay, without compensation. Well, the compensation should have been found that teaches the verdict of the jury.

For the sake of brevity, we also mention the irrelevant Statements of a number of witnesses, including those of the butcher Hahn, the midwife Kaske, the merchant Röfel.

The clerks Ebel and Jordan have Heydemann Vater and Son immediately after the first fire calls at the fire site Jordan testifies that old Heydemann took him to the open window with the words: "See, through through this window they have set fire to the temple for us." Witness speaks the assumption that the window was pushed open from the inside and has hit. 5 |

Defence lawyer Sello asks the President to

– A =

Witness Greifer, who is in the preliminary hearing with the witnesses who have not yet been in the room, to call back into the hall. This is done. The witness returns with the explanation that he did not speak with other witnesses. He spoke, but only from his outside bottle strengthened.

Glovesmaker Barsen has recently heard that Leo Lesheim came from the temple after the fire, he believes from the office his cup, but the latter can no longer remember it.

The Jewish wood turner Behrendt, who came from the Neufthettin Community, has previously stated in conversations that Temple brand 8 liters of petroleum were used, which were bought at the merchant Cross in Neufthettin were bought. On his informant but he can no longer remember with certainty.

Mrs. Wienäcker, now in Konitz, at the time of the fire in Neufthettin, noticed the fire and made two observations Jew she met. The answer she received was word was so filthy that even the Jewish newspapers did not Witness saw three people on the fence, two of which – namely the two Lesheims – The smoke coming out of the temple smelled of Petroleum.

Merchant Schulz stated that he had seen both Lesheims shortly after the fire broke out on the market. His clerk had At that time, I had a small argument with Hirsch Lesheim about an expression that the young man used, namely because of the Form of the question: "What, the Jewish temple is burning?" – (Our Jewish women are always very sensitive and see The mere term "Jew" is often an insult. Note the typesetter.) As the Lesheims called fire on the market, It would have been 11 o'clock, but the clock on the tower, which he had looked at, not a standard clock and sometimes very unreliable.

Innkeeper Benthner responded to the Lesheims' remark: "the Jewish temple is burning" (correctly suspecting that this people would like) replied: "Let him burn", whereupon the Both Jews cynically replied: "Then the Christian temple also burn".

The former police officer who was in charge of extinguishing the fire supervised, has half-charred and burnt Sheets and books found that were moistened with petroleum and smelled like it.

The statement of the mayor, former city secretary Kafchke is insignificant.

Report from the wife of the defendant Heydemann Jr.
the Jewish newspapers, which are very interested in this lady the seem to be 41 years old and "a stately, not unattractive woman= femenfon". She agrees exactly with her husband's statements= and finally tries to suspect the witness Greifer.

Maurer Bohmke has several locks on the site of the fire, Among them were padlocks and remains of candlesticks. During the Brandes, the Jew Lehmann offered 100 thalers to anyone who could read the Torah= roll out. The witness replied that he should only keep the money earn their own money. The floorboards were heavily charred, on the

There was a smell of petroleum at the fire site.

Commis Blau (Jew) claims to have "never carried a candlestick
he had not even taken packages to the post office."

Meanwhile it has become 12 $\frac{1}{4}$ o'clock at night and one of the
The jury explains to the President that the exhaustion of the jury= sworn in, the conclusion of the session appears desirable.
5 985 only 3 witnesses are left to be heard, the hearing set in place.

The married Messerschmidt Riedel is married to Leo Lesheim on days of fire near the Wilhelmsbrücke. In response to her question:
"Where are you going in such a hurry?" he did not answer, but quickly towards Preußische Straße. A few minutes later the call of fire would have been heard. |
| Mrs. Lesheim, the sister-in-law of Hirsch Lesheim, testifies, her husband lives with his brother in great discord, beating scenes on the open street were the order of the day. (That is the happy and worthy of emulation Jewish family life. Note of Setzers.) The words put into her mouth by the witness Lafer, the had, in a dispute after the fire, with her Brother-in-law Hirsch said: "Now I will not remain silent any longer, now you must
In point 1, the witness only partially admits this.

At 1 o'clock the Court decided on the swearing-in of the Jewish witnesses' decision, which stated that the women Heyde= mann and Lesheim not to swear the oath to the witness Engel to be taken, whereas the swearing-in of the plumber Werner only
Monday should take place. |

The meeting was then closed at around 2 a.m.
and adjourned to Monday morning at 9 a.m.

The fourth day of the trial.

On Monday, October 22nd, the crowds an even bigger one than before. Not only in front of the courthouse, but also in Mühlenstraße and on the nearby market square.
burst into an unusual life. The bitterness against the Jews, which is already not a small number in Pomerania, had by the negotiations, which did not affect the guilt of the accused Doubts remained, new food was given. Almost 3 years now had the Christian inhabitants of Hinterpommern, especially those of Neufittin, in the reputation of peace disturbers, Jew agitators and temple desecrators confessed to the most incredible suspicions and insults had to endure. Could one blame them for they longed for the hour when the verdict of the royal oath-court would provide the world with proof of which camp the real agitators are located, in which circles the real incendiaries the instigator and temple desecrator are to be sought. In all of Cöslin it was certainly – 43 –

no one who even remotely doubts the guilt of the accused-had doubts, one expected with certainty the conviction.
Nevertheless, the Jewish newspapers still dared to tell the truth
to bend crooked. f |

The hearing, which this time also included all rejected
The jury began at 9 a.m. with the Presentation of the investigation files of the witnesses and Schmidt, a wheelwright who was convicted of arson and who is known to have had declared during his testimony that he was innocent judges now that false witnesses have appeared against him. It is confirmed that among the witnesses who incriminated f. Z. against him-testified, also the Jew Manaffe was there.

Soon, plumber Werner will report on the light consumption in of the synagogue. The information in the accounts of the synagogue-Petroleum found in the district council is supposedly used for school-lighting used.

Now the witness Werner is sworn in. The assessor Land-Judge Leyde points out that the witness took the oath not performed correctly, rather omitted a word, which is why he is sworn in again.

Now that the evidence has been taken,
the President together with the representative of the Public Prosecutorthe questions to be answered by the jury.

They are:

1) Is Hirsch Heidemann guilty on 18 February 1881 in Neufthtin in community with another building designated for worship services– to have deliberately set it on fire?

In case of negative answer to this question:

2) If this defendant is guilty of causing another person to crime by advice or deed knowingly assisted to have?

If this is also denied:

3) If he is guilty of having renounced the intention of the joint committing and soon to be committed crime right= received timely information, but the notification to the authorities to have omitted?

With regard to the second defendant, Gustav Heidemann,

4) the question as in 1, in the negative case

5) as in 2, respectively

6) as in 3.

Regarding Hirsch Lesheim:

7) as in 1,

8) as in 2.

Regarding Leo Lesheim:

9) as in 1.

10) Did the defendant, who was not yet 18 years old at the time was, when committing the act, the necessary for criminal liability– have logical insight?

11) If he is guilty of causing harm to another person in committing this act | knowingly to have provided assistance through advice or deed?

12) If so, did he possess the insight required to commit the crime?

13) Is the temple servant Löwenberg guilty etc. as in 1 and

14) in case of negation as in 2?

In the meantime, the auditorium has filled up even more, even the Government President Count Clairon d Hausonville, who is currently in Prussian House of Representatives the Christian inhabitants of Neufthtin defended against the brazen attacks of the Jews and Jewish comrades and the impending investigation of the real arsonists in Aus– fight, enters the hall.

At 10:30 the placards began with the speech of the head of state-lawyer.

Prosecutor Pinoff stands up and speaks under the most attentive attention of the assembly as follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury, my task in this important Negotiation is only the one to present you with the result of the evidence Public opinion in this room has no say—are We only ask here: What happened and under what Does the crime fall under the provisions of the law? Do not expect any deductions from me—digressions into the area of day-to-day politics. Their peculiar The matter is characterized by the fact that the Jews are accused of to have set fire to his own prayer house and still the innocents of the blaze, namely the Christians, of this outrage Towards the end of my speech I will in this respect cannot help but cast some political light on the matter The difficulty which every successful arson The examination e is increased here by the The investigation has already completed the cleanup of the fire site. Fend when the fire started is impossible to determine the intentional randstiftung is not doubted by Jews or Christians Who is the perpetrator?

"In this respect, it is of utmost importance that the windows found open were locked from the inside, so only from the inside, ie in case of healing 2 0 7 only opened by such persons who were in possession of the synagogue keys or to whom the keys were easily accessible. These are the ones before you 5 defendants sitting in court. Not a Christian, but only a Jew can be the perpetrator." 5

After a brief review of the processes involved in the creation of the fire, on the statements of the schoolboys and those witnesses, which the Lesheims immediately after the fire broke out at the temple seen, the prosecutor leads a polemic against the defense, which the character and love of truth of the witnesses during attempted to cast suspicion on the witnesses.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he continued, "don't put any Weight, that is the fate of all witnesses for the prosecution. The defense

ve Ve

To

ne

- = .

4 - > whom

17 1

55 = - — 45 -

u 8

criticized that Pieper came forward so late with his information.

=:

*

I"

Well, he has done it with the greatest frankness in telling fine

most intimate family relationships. His wife told him directly forbidden. Although I adhere to the old principle: Mulier taceat in ecclesia, yes, that is Pieper's story, he wanted to domestic peace, a sufficient explanation for this behavior. You have also heard in what state of mind— The master butcher Angermann met the two Lesheims. It is a very understandable psychological phenomenon. It is— If the thought disturbed her, the crime that was staged will also succeed? that the window could not be opened is long gone—

Unfortunately, for the same reasons as

Pieper observed silence. But that is certainly no reason to doubt his testimony. You have heard how Angermann be— customer: If the barber Keller was still alive, he would also now tell the truth. The one fact that Lesheim sen. few Days before the main hearing, he goes to Angermann and to testify favorably is the clearest proof that Les— heim feared the statements of Angermann. It is strange, that at the same time the two Heydemanns repeatedly went to the synagogue— have been seen walking.

I now come to the witness Buchholtz. It is natural that one should also take into account the testimony of this man, his way of life, etc. However, you have heard that Buchholtz sometimes drinks a shot, but by no means a larger quantity than others People of his class. That Buchholtz, as well as many others The fact that witnesses have withheld information is explained by the Circumstances that they were not only confronted with the accused, who, as a result of the accusation made against them, have done everything possible—ple to criticize their character and, if possible, ly, publicly expose, but that these witnesses have a whole population class, the entire Jewish community in Neufthtin, opposite— It is also worth considering that celebratory verses for the coordination of the witnesses in the present case is undoubtedly in very be taken into account to a significant extent. Such considerations have furely also Buchholtz, who was in Heydemann's service, caused him to hold back his statements for so long. Only when he no longer had to observe these considerations, he joined with his Information N Such behavior, however, does not deserve blame, or even contempt, but on the contrary praise and recognition. The fact that Buchholtz was involved in a lawsuit with Heydemann cannot cause him to make such a denunciation. The— Buchholtz's discoveries, which are substantially supported by Beyer, in connection with all other moments leave it as doubt— appear that the defendants were involved in the arson in our— indirect connection. I have already explained that Unfortunately, it has not been possible to identify the actual perpetrator, it is However, I am fully convinced that the defendants jointly— acted wrongly. One more word regarding the motive

a Digitized by Google

= AB.

the accused to commit the crime. I will therefore— It may be necessary to briefly outline the political events of those get, but do so, as promised, in the shortest possible form. The political party movement should only enter the courtroom if be withdrawn if there is the most urgent need to do so. All of you, Gentlemen of the jury, have experienced that just at the time of Fire the population of Neufthtin was divided into two parties, who fought each other fiercely. From the anti-Semitic party discussed in public meetings and in the press, what harmful effects the influence of the Jews has on our public— substantial and social relationships. It is in the Neufthtin published "Norddeutsche Preffe" a medieval Quote has been mentioned which recommends "the Jewish schools of the various to burn the Jews and to throw ashes on them. on the occasion of which the Jews were seized with great fear, is probably Of course. I do not want to claim that the fire of of the entire Jewish community of Neufthtin and that the The accused are only the tools used. But I be— main, the defendants are among those hotheads among the Jews, who committed the crime in question because, as Jews, they anti-Semitic movement was unpleasant because it posed a threat public peace or a restriction of civil rights of the Jews as a consequence of the movement. They therefore sought means to clearly communicate to the legislative bodies make the movement lead to open violence, the public peace and that it is therefore necessary to prevent the anti- to put a stop to the femitic movement by law. A shame- The community was thus honored on the occasion of the Temple's corresponding insurance sum is not connected, in On the contrary, the defendants only achieved the community's to provide a larger prayer house that better meets the needs I hope, gentlemen of the jury, that you will answer the first question of guilt in the affirmative, in the worst case scenario at at least establishes that the defendants are guilty of assisting the perpetrator in the- to have knowingly assisted her in the commission of his act. In answering this question, it is by no means necessary to assume that the The perpetrator must be sought outside the circle of the accused. the two Heydemanns are guilty in the sense of the third question- power is undoubtedly. The public interest, my Gentlemen, it requires that such a serious crime as that before- lying, will not remain unpunished. Look at the test without all bias, strictly adhere to the present Fact. Should you, as I hope, come to the conclusion of the guilt of the accused, then you will undoubtedly also demonstrate the determination that always characterizes the German man."

There will then be a 1½ hour break at around 1 p.m. After the reopening of the session, the defense attorney will first receive Lawyer Dr. Sello from Berlin takes the floor. He begins with an attack on the anti-Semitic movement, criticizes the Be- witnesses against whom, in his opinion, the defendants The two Heydemanns, so says the gentleman Defenders, belong to the - "better social classes", it would be beneath her dignity to share with the co-accused faith- to socialize with Lesheim's friends, consequently - jo fol- the lawyer said - they would also not have had a common can commit the same crime. Defender will soon present samples that "urbanity" that Moses-Cohn has described in the President of the Court have missed so painfully. He does not speak of the defendant Heydemann sen., but only from the "old gentleman Heydemann", he calls the witness Blau (known to be a Jewish Commis) "a young man of Jewish confession". Then Dr. Sello is faulty in the conduct of the preliminary investigation. ft started properly in his opinion. "One does not check the Act, but the perpetrators." After he then considered the statements of the former student, he clings to the expert opinion- Expert opinion of the engineer Schreiber, who believes that the Arson, which may be caused by a carelessly discarded match could have been created. "The evidence", fo ...

ur AR ze

defendant, but she has also not stated anything brought to light, which justifies the assumption that the perpetrator be sought somewhere else. I therefore state with complete confidence—the motion to acquit the defendants, and I am pleased me to be able to confirm that the perpetrator is not on any other Page is to be sought. Our fatherland is fortunately protected from the The insult has been preserved that a deplorable religious excesses of individual classes of the population such a serious violation break. I therefore conclude with the firm conviction: TR uch can only read: "The defendants find and: uddig." |

Defense attorney Justice Scheunemann from Neufittin concludes fharmonizes with the previous speaker, praises the attitude of the defendants, who had definitely given the impression that fhe stood as – i witnesses in court." He also pleaded for "not guilty".

After a reply from the prosecutor, the fine request maintains, and equally brief replies from the two defenders of which Dr. Sello warned the jury of a "guilty" warns, otherwise the Jews would say: "The evil anti-semitic", the defendants are once again questioned and, of course, all of them affirm their innocence.

The President shall then issue the prescribed legal instructions. Then, around 8 o'clock, the jury retired to their seats: council chamber, from which they returned after an hour's consultation into the meeting room, led by their chairman, the Privy Government Councillor Delfa from Cöslin, who issued the verdict the jury. It reads: | ad 1) The defendants are all guilty of intentional arson— foundation is not guilty.

8

ad 3) The Heydemanns are guilty of a crime a time when the prevention of the same is still possible had received credible knowledge and refrained from have to report this to the authorities and to the courts.

ad 2) The question of whether the accused are guilty of assisting the perpetrator— committing the crime knowingly by advice or deed To have provided assistance is with regard to the two Lesheim to affirm, to deny with regard to Leo Lesheim, since the— the same did not possess the necessary insight.

Regarding Löwenberg, all questions of guilt are denied.

The public prosecutor is now filing a suit against Heydemann (father and son), 1 year in prison each, against Lesheim senior 5 years Penitentiary, against Leo Lesheim transfer to a procuration

ft and against Löwenberg acquittal. |
Since the defenders refrain from further explanations,
The Court then returned to deliberation.
The defendants and their wives and children break into loud lamentations and assure their innocence.
After a lengthy deliberation, the judges return to the courtroom and the President shall announce in a loud voice that the Court in the name of the King recognized and decided as law 105

Heydemann Sr. with 3 months in prison, = eydemann jun. with 6 months in prison,
en

esheim sen. with 4 years in prison and 4 years
loss of honor |
to punish; |
to transfer Lesheim Jr. to a reformatory:
know, to acquit Löwenberg, to condemn-
also to bear the costs.

As an aggravating factor, the Court emphasized the intention the accused, the guilt of the crime to the Christians in the
to push shoes.

After Lesheim Jr. was immediately taken into custody, the negotiations closed at around 11 o'clock. So all the rabulisticfhic lawyer's tricks, all attempts at a despicable, ideological-loose press, truth and justice, failed because of the honorable-strong character of the Pomeranian jury, failed due to the iron-clad energy of the President of the Court.

*

final remarks.

How different from Nyiregyhaza is the process in Cöslin
A comparison with Tisza=Eszlar is too obvious to we should refrain from it. Is the border settlement of Neufttin proven by a fully valid circumstantial evidence, then the proof ismaterial for Tisza=Eszlar would have been overwhelming; but the un-

1

N is

The Greek judges acquitted the defendants – it is certainly bad, that the Kingdom of Hungary is so deeply in debt to Rothschild. Prussia still has a free hand, Prussia has incorruptible jurors, Yes, there are still judges in Prussia.

We anti-Semites know very well what discipline means in the Prussian public civil service; such aberration, as in Hungary, where the Prosecutor transforms himself into a defender like a circus clown, We do not know in Prussia yet, because – we are not with Rothschild in the chalk pits.

A prosecutor who negotiated like Seyffert would be chase us to hell. f

Well, dear son of David, what about the wrath of God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, whom You placed upon the head of arsonist? Then the paper turned, and the eternal loving Providence in which we believe has your hypocritical Pharisee face exposed. Give yourself the still not a woman's hand slapped cheek a rough slap for your your own terrible stupidity; you have thoroughly disgraced yourselves! If we keep going like this, we will soon have cleaned up Germany. More than ever, however, we are urged to call for a legal settlement of the Jewish question. Where have we come? The poor People are filled with fear of the Jews who are pushing their way forward, that Jewish criminals can go unpunished because no German dares to report it. This one crime has now been atoned for, but is the poor enslaved German people thereby liberated? That dirty Press, which is cowardly written in the editorial caves of the Jews, no hair is harmed, because we have no laws that prohibit lies and punish falsification of opinion. We Germans have a right to demand laws that suppress such Jewish lying newspapers, we We want freedom of the press, but not press impudence. And if we condemn the Jews want to place them under special laws, this is not only for our protection, but for a healthy education of the degenerate people Israel. Every people has its own morality, according to which the laws In the case of cannibals, laws must be passed against the cannibalism, with us it is not necessary. So The Jew needs a lot of discipline if he lives on the same soil with us. Because unstable, like his outer man, is his inner. The so-called "dark" Middle Ages were very bright and clever when it locked the "people of God" into ghettos. If the Neufeldt Jews had been in the ghetto, then they Temple probably did not burn down, least of all the Christian

Germans can blame, because no German would dirt of a ghetto. We no longer have ghettos, Unfortunately! But the legislature can and must create laws that our moral concepts of Jewish poisoning ourselves from Jewish
The Jews of Egypt are known to be either ran away from work out of disgust or because of work-shyness from the Egyptians out of the land. We do not want to use force drive out, but I know a means that can free us from the laborious
Iv. 4

r

freed the shy Jews: give a law that would give the Jews the trade, the legal and judicial profession, the practice of teaching profession and medical practice. Then there is no Jews in Germany, and the few who perhaps still We can safely tolerate what they do. A wise government of the future will help us, as soon as the humanitarian fraud is in the legal giving circles, as it has disappeared among the working people= disappeared.
Tegel near Berlin, October 24, 1884.

Dr. Ernst Henrici.

Tutfcha 1881.

Moses and Gittel were sentenced to hang three times,
and still saved. |

The world is still under the eerie impression of the affairs of "Neuftettin and Skurz, each of which Incredible things, but they had a lot in common with each other:
The newspapers report briefly and dryly about the failure of a process, which far surpasses all previous ones, completely immerses them in the shadows, and the thinking reader will raise his eyebrows in concern
It is about the murder of Lutfcha, where the accused Jewish couple were sentenced by three different jury courts other is sentenced to death, where the Supreme Court in Vienna the verdict was destroyed each time, and finally the defendants simply
In this case, one must say with the poet: "The Inadequate, as it becomes an event; the indescribable, here it is done!" – Consider the earlier trials of "Tisza=Eszlar and the antifemitic movement" in issue 86 and "the Murder in Skurz before the Court" in issue 118 of the Kulturkämpfer –

The affairs of Tisza=Eszlar and Lutfcha run parallel to one another=

Lutfcha is a small town in Galicia. Not far from this In December 1881, in a wild ravine, the horribly mutilated corpse of a young woman. He:
murdered was pregnant; she had been Uterus was cut open and the approximately five-month-old
The fetus was removed and her hair was also cut offfhoren. The corpse was recognized as the Polish maid Franciska Men who lived with the Jew Mofes Ritter, innkeeper at Lutfcha, had been in service and was pregnant by him. On
On March 10, 1882, the married couple Mofes and Gittel Ritter, as well as The farmer Marcell Stochlinski was taken into custody. Before the District Judge Radwanski in Strzizow and in the presence of the two
After a long interview with the gendarmes who had arrested him, Stochlinski
She made a full confession in a calm and composed manner.

As he confessed, Moses and Gittel had murdered Franciska and he helped them. The girl's hair was cut off hair off because she was the concubine of a Jew, and one removed the fetus to separate the Jewish fruit from the non-Jewish Mother, so that both cannot be united in the same Christian consecrated ground. The main hearing took place in December 1883 before the jury court in Rzeszow. The public

The prosecutor, Assistant Public Prosecutor Pogocielski, pleaded Murder committed by Jews for ritual reasons, and accordingly
the jury unanimously found him guilty. But here too had the Jewish i throughout Europe unanimously the passionate defense of the accused. The
The entire blood and elective kinship of Israel stood on the side of the murderers and appealed to the "enlightenment" of the year= hundredth. Their efforts were also successful. The supreme Court in Vienna destroyed the judgment, referred the further proceedings action to the jury court in Krakow and ordered that the moment of ritual murder should no longer be stimulated.
But even after eliminating this moment, the people recognized fworshippers in Krakow again unanimously found him guilty. Now it happened, what no Christian could expect any more. The defenders of the
The defendants also challenged the new judgment and again with:
The Supreme Court in Vienna ruled a plenary session, and here the representative requested the General Procurator Hofrath Simonowicz, the caffiring of the jury verdict and the immediate release of the defendant However, such an acquittal requires the unanimity of the twenty judges are necessary to form the plenary assembly.
This unanimity could not be achieved; however, the judgment destroyed again and the matter for further investigation and Negotiation was sent back to Krakow. So a third jury court together. | |

Stochlinski had retracted his confession, the President and
The prosecutor subjected him to such intense cross-examination that he could only stutter and deny. The priest of Lutfcha, questioned as a witness, claimed that in a Polish translation of the Talmud that Jews who married a Christian girl seduce, have to kill it so that their own children can marry. The jury unanimously declared for the third time that Guilty. The court sentenced the three defendants to Death by hanging and the execution should be carried out with a rope the beginning must be made.

Everyone now believed that the matter was finally settled and gave up on the Jews. But Israel thought differently and undertook a new attack. With disdain for death, the defenders The defendant filed the appeal for annulment for the third time. The public accepted the news with a shrug of the shoulders and several Small independent newspapers published mocking articles. Meanwhile fshould the general expectation be thoroughly disappointed and the Unbelievable things still happen. The Supreme Court met again Court in a plenary session, chaired by the second

. 4 *

President Dr. von Stremayr; in turn, the plenipotentiary, the General Procurator Hofrath Simonowicz, on the multiple Contradictions which, in his view, are evident in the statements of the witnesses for the prosecution; he explained the whole evidence for inadequate and not valid, and again demanded the immediate Acquittal of the accused. This time the plenary assembly , an understanding and complied with the request of the General Prosecutor's Office- ftuited. The Supreme Court sentenced the three times to death- acquitted the accused and ordered by telegraph their immediate release from prison. However, only Moses and Gittel was set free; her Midge vit Stochlinski was meanwhile died in prison. The trial of Lutfcha is more, than those of Tisza-Eszlar, Neuftettin and Skurz together taken. He has no equal in history.

According to him, one can say that among today's Jewry no Thing is impossible. Because of the superior power which has seized it at and because of the tremendous influence it exerts, the

the natives with fear and horror. What Israel has prevailed here, no other power can succeed, and if It would be the sovereign himself. The members of the Supreme Court in Vienna did not admit any improper motives- trust, but one will not be able to consider oneself unbiased, but for being caught up in the shallow "enlightenment", in the humanitarian and Tolerance, which was spread primarily by the Jews and and which they have used with such colossal profit for themselves The unheard-of outcome of the Lutfcha trial ft in any case stands in stark contradiction with the judgment of the whole

Reich. The threefold breaking of the jury verdict must shake the people's sense of justice to the core, Eradicate faith in the justice of the judge. The Jewish press self seems to be somewhat astonished by the victory she has achieved. She no longer dares to shout for joy; she only briefly notes and dry the verdict of the Supreme Court in Vienna and ver- 1 1 it, on the crime on which the accusation is based, a- approach.

As we already mentioned when discussing the trials of Tisza-Eszlar and Skurz emphasized that in all these cases a ritual murder cannot be assumed at all; however, not other motives of Indian de When passion and crude sensuality of the Jewish race in general, with the lack of education, which are among the lower classes of Jews, especially in the former Polish parts of Russia, Austria and Prussia, – it is obvious that the suspicion is becoming increasingly strong that the bloody crimes that the Jews have been committing for centuries are accused of arising from their fanaticism and superstition The cases where children and young people both sex either disappear or remain as mutilated and dismembered dismembered bodies are found, increasing terribly in such Areas where the population is heavily mixed with Jews, which then immediately attracts suspicion and which in the As a rule, the accused appear to be more or less heavily incriminated. Public prosecutor as judges will gradually have to find themselves moved to take a closer look at those frequent occurrences, to investigate the causes more thoroughly and to determine the same But governments have a duty to to place the strangers 1 under strict supervision on all sides, to penetrate into their customs and habits and especially through native experts the rabbinic * on his to have it examined and investigated as to whether it poses a danger to the public. (The Cultural Warrior by Otto Glagau. Issue 128. February 15, 1886.)

– 53 –

Tisza-Eszlar 1882.

Trial of Tisza-Eszlar and the antifemitic Movement.

For more than a year now, the Hungarian village Tisza-Eszlar suddenly disappeared, allegedly in the local Christian girls slaughtered for ritual purposes in the synagogue Columns of the European press. After the initiation of the legal investigation, all of Israel immediately declared itself responsible for the accused, subsequently arrested Jews, and had their release load and release all levers and screws play. Every day The "liberal" press of all countries preached that the accusation of ritual murder was a product of the Dark Middle Ages, bloody persecution mania against the Jews, which the history and to the indelible shame of the 19th century be brought back into the scene by the wicked anti-Semitism. The Jewish financial powers began to react to the unfortunately rather dependent Austro-Hungarian government a significant pressure to practice threatening them first secretly and then openly by they demanded that the legal proceedings be stopped. Jewish Influence can also be seen in the whole, unduly delayed and follow the astonishingly procedural processes; the course of the sub: The investigation was continually interrupted by outrageous interventions from the outside and through a multitude of more or less mysterious incidents. – Our journal has covered the affair of Tisza-Eszlar only once mentioned: on the occasion of the article "Three hundred years without Jews" in issue 72 of "Kulturkämpfer". We expressed at that time that we only had the failure of the judicial investigation wanted to wait for the investigation, but that it would come to nothing. And so it happened. The public final verdict, treatment, which took over six weeks and resulted in an common moving, sometimes extremely stormy spectacle, all passions on both sides to erupt, ended with the complete acquittal of the accused. – Now

\

as Bi

We will also take a closer look at the matter and first present the actual, partly undisputed, partly legally proven events.
| On April 1, 1882, a Saturday – when the Passover festival of the Jews stood close to the door and in the synagogue of Tisza-Eszlar also a number of foreign Jews had gathered – went the 14-year-old Esther Solymofi, who worked for the foreman Huri was in service, in the so-called Altdorf, the actual Eszlar, to the local grocer, to green paint. With this purchase she entered between 11 and At 12 o'clock in the morning he started his way home, and was accompanied by several She spoke to her older sister Sophie on Home and return journey; she looked after her, last saw her near of the Jewish temple and then never again. In the afternoon the servant, Mrs. Huri, who is a relative of Esther, for-like Esther's mother, the widowed woman Johanne Solymofi, and a other widow, Mrs. Gabriele Solymofi, the missing girl to search throughout the village. The Jewish temple servant and Flick-Shoemaker Joseph Scharf and his wife go to the weeping mother and try to comfort her. Scharf tells us: In his During his youth he also spent time in Nánás, also around the Jewish Around Easter, a girl disappeared. The Jews faked that they had murdered it; but later it was – however dead – found on the meadow. – Very understandable

The mother immediately suspects that the Jews had kept her daughter. This suspicion becomes rock-solid faith, and spreads quickly among the rest Christians of the place, because the 5-year-old son of the temple servant, Named Samuel, tells the people: Father called the cough in, the beggar led them into the temple, and the strange shoemaker through-
cut her throat. |
The next day, Esther's mother turned to the local Judge Farkas with the request that he should visit the Jewish temple through Farkas repeatedly refused and told the woman finally to the judge at Felső-Dada. He took a protocol
In mid-May, the deputies of the Hungarian Reichstag Iftoczn and Iranyi asked whether the government knew if the judge at Felső-Dada, instead of stopping the investigation-Esther's mother was referred to the court in Nyiregyhaza and that, because the Chief Judge and the Court of Justice have made the matter a question of competence, the investigation was only initiated after weeks he became Minister-President Tisza, who always considered himself a zealous advocate of Judaism, gave no factual answer at all.
Instead, he condemned with moral indignation that the anti-Semitic agitation () even into Parliament
He recalled the persecution of Jews in Russia and assured the "Israelite fellow citizens" of the government.
The process continually encountered the most extraordinary obstacles niffe. The first investigating judge revealed facts which who suspected the accused. This judge, however, had us: BB

to fight severe financial difficulties; Jews were fine heads-believers, and they urged him to plead for the accused When this deal became known, the judge was in disciplinary investigation and took his own life. His successor
The Vicenotary Bary became, and when the Jews found this incorruptible found, they used every means to slander him and to destroy. The same thing happened with the various public prosecutors, who were to conduct the trial of Tisza-Eszlar. The first shot because he was strongly suspected of being bribed by the Jews.
while two others also fell under disciplinary investigation, because, in order to hinder the work of the investigating judge Bary, powerful, had hired witnesses against him. In secret
On the orders of the Chief Public Prosecutor Kozma, the police commissioner Barcza from Debreczin to visit the investigating judge-oe to find material against the prosecution witnesses and for to find witnesses to exonerate the accused. Barcza won the trust of Henter, Castellan in the County Hall in Nyiregyhaza, under whose care Moritz Scharf was, spoke to him about large sums of money that could be acquired and said significantly: If things end well, we will both be happy! Kobak, a farmhand at Henter, testified in court: Barcza asked him in private to persuade Moritz that the boy retracts the incriminating statement against the Jews. If he succeeded, he would receive so much money that he would henceforth be rich man could live!! Between the Prime Minister Tisza and the Minister of Justice Pauler a formal feud developed, because the former allowed himself the most varied encroachments on the jurisdiction of the latter, in that he, concerning the process of Tisza-Eszlar, instructions to the public prosecutor and the court Minister Tisza is said to have said: It can It is not in our interest to accuse the Jews of that crime because we would incur the hostility of the whole Jewish community. But we cannot currently We can easily do without them; in fact, we depend on them for many things. uch to the investigating judge Bary 11 little Samuel Scharf the story of the father's. On the other hand, Moritz, the 14-year-old son of the temple servant, claimed on May 20th before the judge that he did not know Esther at all and that he had never heard of her The next day, however, he made a statement to the police commissioner Reczky in Nagyfalu confessed: On that Saturday his Father who takes Esther away from the street Geer under the pretext she should put away the burning lights; the Jewish beggar Wollner led her into the temple, where she was slaughtered by three slaughterers stripped down to his shirt and slaughtered. After the blood that the cut neck was wrapped with a rag and dressed the corpse again. The gruesome process Moritz Scharf observed through the keyhole of the temple door Based on this statement, the investigating judge ordered the Arrest Temple servant Scharf on 22 May, later also the accused Jews. Meanwhile, powerful oppositions were again making themselves felt—currents, and the deputy Onody, who in Tisza-Eszlar, found himself compelled to re-examine the matter in the Reichstag. Minister-President Tisza was hurt—complained that Onody had spoken of a ritual murder and was satisfied felf, whose actions are to be branded as a “most serious The Semitic press was also not inactive. Newspapers in Pest and Vienna repeatedly carried telegraphic reports: Esther, who had run away from the service, had long been found; she had but took up another position. Later it was said again; Anti-Semitic agitators kept the girl hidden. The Jews They offered a reward of 5000 guilders for anyone who Esther would appear alive or dead.

=. 56:

Soon after the award is announced, on 18 June, the district of Tisza found a female corpse from the waters of the Tisza. He is dressed in the clothes of Esther, and on the left arm is the cloth in which the girl the purchased paint is beaten; even residues of this paint can be – eleven weeks after the disappearance of the unfortunate woman – still cover!! Meanwhile the mother, the closest relatives and acquaintances cannot recognize Esther, because she was only 14 years old, and was not yet developed at all, while this corpse was a completely er-adult woman. a Doctors and a surgeon, which who carried out the autopsy gave their opinion that the corpse– name of a woman who was at least 18 years old, but probably had already reached the age of 20, according to the shape of her nails I did not do any hard work, I always walked with shoes on, was no longer a virgin; as a result of a lung and Anemia caused by other diseases would last a maximum of ten days died before being found; finally, the body was already into the water and after a maximum of three to four days– been washed ashore there. The court surgeon Horvath stated repeatedly and also in the public closing statement– Action: The feet of the corpse were small and narrow and with Corns; the fingernails were well cared for and fashion; there was no hair on the body anywhere to perceive; nor did it give off any odor. The cloth in which few a paper with color, was firmly tied with several knots to the wrist tied!! – The medical examiner Dr. Traytler appeared the corpse was completely fresh: the flesh was resistant, it remained no trace left if you put the body with the young one: Only the clothes had the smell of a corpse, not the corpse. Person who wore Esther's clothes – conspicuously but the shirt was missing – had previously worn a corset, like This was revealed by traces on her body; her hair was probably shaved, which is why it was assumed that she was a Jewess and inclined to believe that the body came either from a sciftārōn or from a churchyard. In Tisza-Eszlar people said that it was a joy-girl. – The widow Solymofi was

N.

5 * R 1 –

0 peer and offered larger sums if they found their daughter. She had already been told that she had fished out corpse of a Jewess as that of Esther. Other persons also appeared before the court, who were accused of Jews had made offers of money for the same purpose. – The suspicion that a corpse smuggling took place in order to to deceive was widespread in Tisza-Eszlar and the surrounding area. Two of the accused Jews, Hersko and Smilovics, also this side before the investigating judge and before the court–

court made a confession, but retracted it in the final verdict-action. The smuggling of corpses, the clothing of the foreign corpse with Esther's belongings, the washing of the body on the Tisza three persons testified: Ignatz Matej, Kapacz (Kakoczy) and Mrs. Cferes, whose testimony, however, the court did not consider credible-worthy. From an abrasion on the right wrist, Medical examiner Dr. Traytler, that a rope was attached at this point-being, by means of which the false corpse was transported on the Tisza In order to promote faster decomposition, the The corpse was completely dismembered by the doctors, and so the burial.

The findings of the corpse incriminated the Jews to such an extent that had to be shaken at any price. November 1882, the defenders of the accused, led by the lawyer Eötvös, a further autopsy, and the Nyiregy Court-haza decided so. On December 7th, the dismembered bodies-parts were dug up again, and one half of the skeleton was returned to the university. university professors Scheuthauer, Mihalkovies and Belki in Budapest for investigation. The new discovery report claimed that the bone structure and the tooth development on the corpse only on an age of 14 years. Accordingly, the Court that the two contradictory expert opinions of the understand, as well as the remains of the alleged Esther to the unga-Russian State Health Council for inspection. The superarbitrium of the highest medical authority was that all Probably the first report of the forensic physician Kisz, Traytler and Horvath was the right one. The body in question belonged a woman who was at least 20 years old; she had at most two weeks in the water; the hair should really, as this the first forensic medical examination found that he had been shaved, to create a deception; the now missing nails were in-between probably rotted. – This superarbitrium aroused in the Jewish circles were greatly dismayed; the members of the country-The Jewish-“liberal” press immediately declared the Medical Council Antifemitics, and against them an alleged report of the great Berlin progressive Professor Virchow in the u ge= The public final hearing took place before the same court-court in Nyiregyhaza, before a college of three judges, and lasted from June 19 to August 3, 1883. Israel and its followers had made great efforts to get the matter transferred to another

4 NN

iA SAH, 200 | 8

* Digitized by 01

u

Already on 11 October, the Reichstag asked MP Cfernatony asked the government whether they would support Nyiregyhaza a place that allows full freedom of defense and defendants, as well as the dignity of the administration of justice against an outbreak the minds agitated by riots. Likewise, the Alliance israelite universelle have tried to make it 5 that the public will be excluded from the hearing. Justice Minister Pauler remained firm. As public prosecutor, not the ordinary public prosecutor of Nyiregyhaza, but Mr. Eduard Seiffert, a Transylvanian Saxon, who was the chief public prosecutor Kozma was chosen for this office, and he also particularly liked him in= ftruir. i Seiffert's first appearance aroused astonishment and unwillingness. However, the prosecutor has a duty not to not only to pursue the guilty, but also to do everything to save the innocent. But Mr. Seiffert immediately stopped. Instead of justifying the charges, he simply gave a defense speech. He exonerated the defendants and incriminated their persecutors, in particular the investigating judge Bary, whom he accused of a "feverish activity". He not only set different standards perceived the former prosecutor as wrong and unlawful, ft he made the same criticism – always in the interest of the defendants – even against the same court that conducted the preliminary investigation who was now to pronounce the verdict, and at whose head President Kornisz was still in charge. Such behavior on the part of of the prosecutor is certainly unheard of. President Kornisz replied, it was not his job to criticize the public prosecutor for the peculiar Manner to lead the accusation, to confront, but must he made the attack against the investigating judge and the reprimand against reject the Court as completely unjustified and without foundation. The defendants were represented by a select group of lawyers, mostly Jews, but their main defender was and The public prosecutor, whom they had been counting on from the first day, as if they were looking to their Messiah. Esther's mother was a private Plaintiff was admitted and her representative was Attorney Carl Szalay, who also sits in the Hungarian Parliament and is one of the anti-Semitic groups that already have quite a number of members. While the accused Jews were either completely destitute or are only poorly endowed, and therefore the band of lawyers, who certainly received a decent fee, from the Alliance is- raélite, one of these gentlemen had the impudence= ity, and to raise the question of who actually is the lawyer of the poor Widow Solymofi pays! Of course, the numerous present press reporters were predominantly Semites and they colored and falsified their correspondence to such an extent that they He was greeted by MPs Onody and erhovay were greatly reduced. Furthermore, since the Tele= graphen=bureaus are also in femitic hands, fo explain the biased and incomplete reports of the newspapers sufficient. The large audience, including gentlemen and ladies from the better classes, accompanied the more than six Weeks-long negotiations, as the chorus of ancient Greek tragedy, with murmuring and applause, heckling and loud remarks kungs. They were all hostile to the defendants. President Kornisz carried out his difficult office with dignity and prudence, fty and elasticity. The extensive and complicated material was he was already familiar with it from the preliminary examination, and he mastered it completely. But the prosecutor and the defense attorney bombarded him with complaints and protests, and the Jewish press suspected him as biased, partisan and incompetent. A Pest newspaper called the Court of Nyiregyhaza almost daily and with impunity a "ritual Murder-Manufacturing Gang". The Journal des Debats and the Liberté ftold the events at the Tisza-Eszlar trial as an assassination act on the civilization and humanity of the 19th century. The stock exchange threw the Hungarian government bonds into the course, and its organs threatened that the conversion of the Hungarian pension would either be completely be abandoned, or at least increased by several percent. Then the official "Nemzet" wrote humbly and wistfully: "Government= On the other hand, it has not been concealed for a moment that a lack of biased and biased preliminary investigation, as well as that an unclean agitation takes over the case, the opportunity has proceeded" – "The Hungarian Government has could not prevent the court hearing ah; but she has their appointed factors everywhere and at all times declared that they a ritual murder does not believe." – – In the Berlin "National-newspaper" (No. 294 of 26 June 1883) one read: "The Hungarian Re= government seems to feel that the course of the process so far is likely to cast the Hungarian judicial system in a very bleak light to appear; as is said, in the next few days in all A royal commission arrived in Nyiregyhaza in silence, which will have to monitor the conduct of the process." – In a A telegram from the "Deutsches Tageblatt" dated 4 July states: "The Defenders decided that if no favorable turn of events occurs, to request delegation from another court."

Under such circumstances, it should not be surprising that the defendants and their lawyers grew angry. Hersko, Smilovics and Schwarz retracted the confessions they had made in the previous examination before a court of law. Schächter Schwarz, who is said to have made the fatal cut, was found around 20 July 1882 to President Kornisz and declared: He had mentioned Saturday, when Esther passed by the synagogue, because she mocked him, he hit her on the head, whereupon the girl fell dead to the ground. He had the body until the evening hidden and then thrown into the Tisza. – Now The defendant retracted this statement and assured that he had only because he no longer believed that rescue was possible, and at least wanted to free his fellow prisoners. Anyone who testified unfavorably for the defendant, the defense attorneys explained for dreffirt; they speak of a "witness training gang," and

– 60 –

accused the Szaboles County in particular of providing false witnesses–
– Szalay, the representative of the widow Solymofi, characterized the behavior of the prosecutor, who through his Cross: and cross-questioning the prosecution witnesses after hours of torture while he was using the exonerating witnesses bought by the Jews treated with care and tenderness. In fact, that was The prosecutor's proceedings were so scandalous that the twelve Christian Advocates met at the Court of Nyiregyhaza and a addressed a presentation to the Minister of Justice, in which it is stated: "Under The mask of the public prosecutor appears to be a defender who trying to confuse and cover up the truth." The Be-Complainants asked to appoint another prosecutor against Seiffert, however, to open the disciplinary proceedings. This was public street by the deputy Onody, in the theater of eu Correspondents of the antifemitic journal "Flüggetlenség" insulted. |

| Similar to public prosecutor Seiffert, the expert-Profeffor Scheuthauer from Pest, who was invited to attend as a Semite
He stood up for the Jews with true passion, called the court surgeon Horvath a "defendant", and wanted to make him believe that the long, well-groomed fingernails were already missing from the body during the first autopsy. The nails, the hair is said to have already fallen off the corpse in the water, while-while the cloth, the paper and the paint are mixed for eleven weeks-
– When the material against the defendants fead when a whole series of witnesses confessed in court, hired by the Jews, or even seduced into perjury
to be, the "Nationalzeitung" from Vienna wrote (No. 339 of 22 July 1883): "The trial in Nyiregyhaza is only one link in a whole chain of phenomena, which have the same tendenzen: The unculture rises against the hated Culture. The Hungarian Jew in the villages and towns on the Theiss, as far as it is still behind, still stands a step higher than the Betyare, who carries fine harvest to the inn . . .
The statements in "Nemzet" indicate that Tisza decided to postpone the hearing-will close, although he will face the resistance of the Minister of Justice Pauler, who has the most ambiguous role." – –

It is natural, it is only human, that from all sides
The court finally gave in to the pressure exerted.
President Kornisz was even outvoted by his two assessors.

He had sent the investigating judge Bary to establish a new important witness, Mrs. Cferes, for smuggling corpses—and he had to take this order according to the court's decision—Collegiums “Since then, the prosecutor and the ver—theidiger completely had the upper hand. Witnesses who testified for the accused unfavorable statements were either not accepted for one reason or sworn, or their sworn testimony was not considered full—important. Prosecutor Seiffert spoke in his closing speech with disgust of the “ruffians” who were inspired by the blood sacrifices of the Jewish religion dream. He rejected the indeterminate and unmotivated super= arbitrium of the State Health Council, and accepted the property= respect of the Pest University professors, which the science of forensic medicine “with very valuable details.” Pre= fident Kornisz prohibited the representative of the widow Solymofi from a ritual murder and to express hatred against the Jewish religion, nor should Szalay call the accused “murderers” When the verdict was announced which completely acquitted all the accused, The chairman stated: “The opinion of the public prosecutor and The ritual murder mentioned in the defense could not have been the subject an investigation at all, since such a possibility ar was never accepted.” With this statement, President Kornisz was brilliantly rehabilitated before Jews and Jewish comrades. After the verdict was announced, the defense lawyers went to cor= pore to him, and thanked him for the just and excellent management of the trial. The lawyers thanked even more sincerely, of course= ly to the public prosecutor Seiffert. After the failure of the evidence where tumultuous scenes of the demonic passion the parties, where on both sides a number of open= blatant perjury was committed, an acquittal was to be expected and a conviction is hardly possible. For the alleged There was only one eyewitness to the slaughter of Esther, El 0 Jewish boy Moritz Scharf. The rough, unfeeling and impudent manner, with which he confronted his father and his fellow believers in court faulted, could only touch embarrassing and disgusting, had to alone fuffice to raise doubts about his statement. Apart from that, the same is also highly questionable in and of itself. The synagogue in Tisza=Eszlar, lonely and secluded at the end of the village and on the banks of the Tisza, but it is very unlikely, that the Jews slaughtered the girl without any caution= measures should have been taken at broad midday, while, As prosecutor Seiffert noted, every passerby could easily through the window into the vestibule. Presumably Moritz, in order to spare his father, has made his statement quite arbitrarily fnest. distorts the real process and misses the essential weigh.

==. 61 =

| 2 As if hunted, an acquittal was unavoidable, but if the judgment also declares the defendants innocent, fo it goes much too far and makes the Jewry an incomparable liche Conceffion. f

We do not believe in a ritual murder either, although the Cases in which such an accusation was made against the Jews and has been confirmed by evidence, probably already reach a full hundred, and also recently again several important writings on the blood ritual of the Jews appeared. ") ) Compare "Juden=Spiegel" by Dr. Juftus. Second edition. Paderborn 1883,

However, on April 1, 1882, a murder in Tisza=Eszlar out of superstition or fanaticism, a lust murder or another Crimes were committed against Esther Solymofi. This person fpective the judicial investigation seems to have been completely disregarded From what crude superstition and utter fanaticism the Orthodox Jews in Galicia and Hungary are fulfilled, prove the novellas of their tribesman Carl Emil Franzos. When the Efther was killed, it probably happened at night from Saturday to Sunday. This night until morning Several witnesses saw the temple illuminated, which struck them, and which the defendants did not want to admit. That night, As Mrs. Cesares stated, many foreign Jews lived in the house of Hebrew Leon Großberg, and they found themselves in a Restlessness and excitement, which betrayed that something extraordinary A lot of the most serious evidence incriminates the defendants, and they could only be acquitted because those who condemned them division was not enough. |

The Hungarian population, of course, high and low, educated and uneducated, is firmly convinced that the Jews are ritual purposes, and the acquittal deeply upset The people viewed the trial in Tisza=Eszlar as a Process that Christianity led against Jewry. "If the Jews are released," said Mrs. Soos in court, "can throw the whole village into the Tisza!" And on the street She said: "Now the time is coming when we will expel all Jews from Hungary drive them out, and I too will take the stick!" Mrs. Cferes wanted to remain silent about what she had seen and heard, because her husband warned her: "The Jews are rich, but we are poor and would suffer the damage." However, as the news spread, that the Christians will lose the case, you let the story- know no peace, and report to court. Moritz Scharf replies to his father, who reminds him of his religion: "I want not be a Jew! Since I have been in the county house, I know that the Jews are detested in Hungary. Therefore I do not want Remain a Jew." Finally, the lawyer Szalay, representing the Widow Solymofi, his passionate accusation with the words: "If God wills, the day will come when those now in the dust

Bonifacius= Printing House. – "My Answers to the Rabbis" by Professor

Dr. August Rohling. Prague 1883, Cyrillo-Methodological Printing House. – "The Post Jew and the human sacrifice of rabbinism" by Professor Rohling, Paderborn
1883, Bonifacius-printing shop. |

femitism now declared dead and buried, yes, this
For Israel it would be a hundred times
It would have been better if the court had convicted the Tisza-Eszlar slaughterers.
This very acquittal is like oil on the flame of Antisemitism. "Antisemitism," said the representative from Esther's mother to the judges, "is not an attack, but a Defense, and this defense can no one in the world impede". – –
(The Cultural Warrior by Otto Glagau. Issue 86. July 1883.)

briefly in 1884.

The murder in Skurz in court.

With a brief recapitulation of the crimes of Tisza-Eszlar, Lutfcha, Neftelbach and Neufstin.

but in the fresh memory of all is the process which from 19 June to 3 August 1883 before the court of Nyiregyhaza in Hungary and which we published in issue 86 of "Kulturkämpfer"
On April 1, 1882, a summer evening – when the Passover festival of the Jews was just around the corner, and in the synagogue of the village of Tisza-Eszlar also a number of foreign Jews had gathered – the 14-year-old suddenly disappeared Esther Solymofi. She was last seen around noon, near of the Jewish Temple, and then never again. The suspicion immediately turned his attention to the Jews. The temple servant Joseph Scharf was of his two sons, the 5-year-old Samuel and the 14-year-old Moritz, accused. Both stated that Esther had been taken to the temple led, stripped and slaughtered there. nn explained.

who had cut the girl's throat
the President of the District Court: When Esther on that day

As she passed by the synagogue, she mocked him, whereupon he gave her a hit her on the head and she fell dead to the ground. He had Now the body was kept hidden until the evening and then placed in the Theiß. During the public hearing, Schwarz drew this Almost four months after the disappearance of the girl, a female was pulled from the waters of the Tisza body, which was wrapped in Esther's clothes. Meanwhile the mother, the girl's closest relatives and acquaintances were able not to recognize Esther, because she was only 14 years old, and was not yet developed, while the body found was a completely adult woman who had already lost her innocence

This was the report of the two doctors and the chi-urgents who were responsible for the section. It was generally claimed that a corpse smuggling operation had taken place in order to deceive the court.
Two of the accused Jews also presented their statements to the

– 6

investigating judge made a confession, but retracted it in the final hearing.

After the investigation was launched, all of Israel immediately declared identical with the accused, and to exonerate them, he had all Playing the role of lever. Every day the "liberal" press of all countries preached, that here again is a case of bloody persecution mania against the Jews. In the Hungarian Reichstag, "liberal" members and demanded that the matter be referred to another court Prime Minister Tisza proved, as always, as a zealous advocate of the Jewish community, and allowed himself the manifold-most serious infringements on the area of responsibility of the Minister of Justice. The p continually encountered the most extraordinary obstacles. Already the
The first investigating judge established facts which justified the conviction dams were suspected of serious mischief. But he had to deal with serious financial difficu Jews were his main believers, and they be-urged him to act in favour of the accused. When he
When the trade became known, the judge was subjected to disciplinary investigation and took his own life. His successor Bary was found by the Jews were incorruptible, and now they used every means to persuade him-slander.

The same thing happened with the various public prosecutors, who who had to conduct the trial of Tiszla-Eszlar. The first shot because he was strongly suspected of being bribed by the Jews;
two others were subjected to disciplinary investigation because they gave evidence against the investigating judge Bary had hired. In secret:
Police Commissioner Barcza travelled on behalf of Chief Prosecutor Kozma from Debrecen to spy on the investigating judge Bary, to find material against the prosecution witnesses and to use it for the
to find guilty witnesses for the defense. |

During the long final hearing, the Jewish "liberty"

ral" press throughout Europe to cover the trial of Tisza-Eszlar as an attack on the civilization of the 19th century=

A Pest newspaper called the Nyiregyhaza Court almost daily and with impunity a "ritual murder manufacturing gang", and the entire Jewish press portrayed the chairman as biased, biased and incompetent. The select group of lawyers who stood by the defendants, showered the President with complaints and protests; any witness who may testify for their clients testified unfavorably, the defense declared him to be duped, and they spoke of a "witness training gang". As a public

The plaintiff was not represented by the ordinary prosecutor of Nyiregyhaza, but Mr. Eduard Seiffert, a Transylvanian Saxon, whom Chief Prosecutor Kozma was elected to this office, and he also had probably been specially instructed. Seiffert's appearance aroused just as much—much astonishment and displeasure. Instead of justifying the accusation, he simply gave a defense speech. He exonerated the defendants and incriminated their persecutors, in particular the investigating judge Bary; He even sharply criticized the court. His behavior

It was scandalous that the twelve Christian advocates at the court

a BI

to Nyiregyhaza, and a presentation to the justice minister, in which it says: "Under the mask of public

The prosecutor is represented by a defender who seeks to confuse the truth and is trying to cover it up."

The President of the Court gradually became so intimidated that he had the lawyer Szalay, who was the mother of the murdered Esther represented, strictly forbade any talk of ritual murder and to arouse hatred against the Jewish religion.

The verdict was for complete confiscation of all fishing boats and all fishing boats. The Greek population, high and low, educated and uneducated, was firmly convinced that the Jews were ritually observing Esther. slaughtered for political purposes and are deeply embittered by their acquittal. There were riots in Nyiregyhaza, Bratislava, Budapest, Kofaw, Oedenburg and other places. Those who were acquitted found themselves forced to leave the country and were threatened by the Jews with provided with the necessary means. — Of course, the

The Jewish press was very satisfied with the outcome of the trial. Berlin's "National=Zeitung" wrote in its issue 363 on August 5, 1883: "If the survey of Tisza=

Eszlar was viewed by many in justified indignation as a disgrace for Century, the conclusion of the process has a

Charge of a ritual religious murder for the future juri=

made statistically and scientifically impossible."

However, this statement was based on a deception or actually embezzlement. At the same time, when the "National-

When the "Zeitung" wrote something like this, a similar process was underway in Galicia against Jews for a Talmudic murder. The affairs of Tisza-Eszlar and Lutfcha run next to each other. In December
In 1881, the Jew Mofes Ritter, a barkeeper in Lutfcha, had serving Polish maid Franziska Mnich, who was pregnant by him was murdered with the assistance of his wife Gittel and the body was placed in a wild ravine. They cut off the murdered woman's hair because she had been the concubine of a Jew; and they removed the fifth-month-old fetus by cutting open the uterus to remove the Jewish fruit from the non-Jewish mother. These "ritual" Moments were fully proven before the jury to Rzeszow, which in December 1883 about the Jewish couple the
The Jewish press had in vain assured that the prosecution arises from the fanaticism of the anti-Semites, and the whole story feels of these fictitious. Meanwhile, Israel again set heaven and earth in motion. At the request of the defenders, and under the furious applause of the "liberal" papers, the supreme Court in Vienna annulled the judgment due to lack of evidence and referred the case for further negotiation to the Jury Court in Krakow. But here too the verdict of the
The jury unanimously found him guilty and the court found to execution by hanging. Now the Jewish press held it advisable to remain completely silent.

IV. 5

u

A third crime was also committed in the Austrian Kaiser-state perpetrated on the Nestelbach boy. In the late summer of 1882 disappeared in Nestelbach in Styria without a doctor, a 10-year-old boy of striking beauty. Only after one and a half Years ago he was found as a mutilated corpse in the forest; Heart and other parts were missing. Hungarian Jews are said to have drugged and kidnapped. What result the judicial investigation-
The results of the investigation have not been disclosed.

In the autumn of 1883, soon after the trial of Tisza-Eszlar,
In Prussia, a jury trial took place, in which not ritual, but confessional moments played a role. In Neufhtin, where Jews and anti-Semites were hostile towards each other,
On February 18, 1881, the synagogue burned with such terrible speed, that one had to suspect a crime behind it, to-a strong smell of petroleum was noticeable at the fire site Floorboards, rags, pieces of paper, even prayer books were soaked in this oil. The Jews accused the anti-Semites of Arson, but soon there were strong indications that the Israelites themselves had set fire to the synagogue in order to protect the old building-
to collect the insurance sum from the house that is due, and at the same time to

to take revenge on the anti-Semitic. The charges were brought against the Temple servants and other members of the Jewish community and the case was heard in Cöslin. The jury pronounced the Guilty; the court sentenced him to imprisonment and prison; the motive for the crime was made more severe as punishment viewed as: to blame the Christians. – Before and after, the Jewish press made the same outcry, as in the trial of Tisza-Eszlar. She again complained about fanatical persecution, about the abyss of madness and about the shame of the century; she denounced the chairman of the court as biased and accused him of all kinds of abuses. The “Berliner Börse-Courier” wrote: “Jury, mostly Pomeranian-ship landowners from an area riddled with anti-Semitic agitation area, have passed judgment.” – But Israel did not surrender, but sought and found salvation. Again, what otherwise happened under This does not happen a thousand times. The lawyers knew to enforce that the Reich Court, due to a formal error, judgment and referred the case for a new hearing to another-another jury court, to Konitz in West Prussia, which in Spring 1884. District Court Judge Arndt was elected chairman from Danzig, and he found, in contrast to the President of the jury court in Cöslin, immediately received great applause from the Jews-press. The “Berliner Tageblatt” by Moses and Cohn wrote: “Rare is the dominant position that our criminal procedure gives to the Chairman admits, has never been as sharp and tangible as here.” The main witness Buchholtz this time got involved in contradictions: früche, and the Criminalcommiffarius Hoeft from Berlin, who ver-accused him of untruth. As a result, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. In Neufthtin, however,

– 67 –

A crowd rioted, and the acquitted Jews were On their return home from Konitz they were greeted with stones and blows from sticks. A very striking parallel to the trial of Tisza-Eszlar now forms the murder affair of Skurz and the relevant oath-trial, which took place from 22 to 27 April 1885 in Danzig Skurz is a large village in the West Prussian government district of Danzig; it is located in the Preußisch-Stargard district, has about 2000 Inhabitants, of whom about 60 were Jews, 400 were Protestants and the other Catholics. On January 21, 1884, after 8 p.m. The 14-year-old Onophrius Cybulla left the house of the innkeeper Gappa in Skurz, where he was employed in rinsing bottles, to go to his parents who live in the same place. However, he did not arrive here, but was sent the next Morning near the village under a bridge as dismembered Body was found. Both thighs were missing and remained disappeared to this day; the lower legs were in near the completely naked corpse. According to the report The medical experts found the thighs to be very

Expertise and skill, as the result of anatomical knowledge or practical experience, from the pools= sockets and knee joints. With a single cut the right place was hit where the release of the bone possible. Although the murdered man was very strong and full-blooded, left, the dead body showed complete bloodlessness. There was a cross-section in the neck that extended down to the spine, which caused death within a few minutes through bleeding alone= The section produced highly important moments. Injuries to the fingers, hands, back, nose, Frontal bone and both eyes; in many places of the There were bloody marks on the body. All these injuries indicate that the murdered man defended himself violently, and that they are added to the body during life. On the head were, from the crown to the frontal bone, seven irregularly to one= other injuries of 3 to 4 centimeters in size. the scalp were numerous 1 The skull was in the in= blue, the brain had the same color. As a result of strong Blows to the head have caused severe hematoma in the cranial cavity Apparently, before the boy was killed, In addition, a whole series of other injuries present which were only inflicted on the corpse; e.g. on the extremities. These injuries had smooth edges, and also executed with the utmost skill; they must be produced with a very sharp instrument. The most wonderful thing is, the murdered man's stomach was slit open. The dismemberment the corpse, which can only have happened on the aforementioned night, must be carried out in a closed room and with full lighting Where it was found, there were no blood stains still traces of a fight. This also explains the separation of the thighs; it was done to better conceal the body and to make it easier | 5*

to be able to transport. According to the expert's findings, a lust murder is completely ruled out. Likewise, a robbery-murder, since the boy who was killed was very poor.

The story of the Tisza-Ezlar trial was also in Skurz and surrounding area. The fact that the er-murdered Onophrius Cybulla had drawn the blood and the seven Head cuts on the corpse – while the number seven in the Jewish Symbolism plays such a big role – immediately generated in the village the Rumor: The boy was killed by the Jews for ritual purposes Suspicion was directed at the Jewish slaughterer Blumenheim, on the merchant Heymann Boß and his father, fo-such as the horse butcher Hermann Josephsohn, all in short Blumenheim proved that he was on the night of the murder-had been away and then seems not to have been bothered any further fein. The Criminal Commissioner identified the suspected murderer Richard from Danzig, Joseph's son; he and later also the two Boss were taken into custody. As the witness Szprada confirmed under oath-

he saw a boy on the evening in question from the innkeeper Gappa and followed him. When she As we passed by the Boss's apartment, a woman called from the door Voice with an obviously Jewish accent to the boy: "Onufry, Onufry, come here!" – That evening, various Jews are said to have been at Boss's had been gathered; the whole night through reigned there a conspicuous life and activities; in particular, the witness widow Reimann and her two daughters, who lived in the same house, between– between 1 and 2 o'clock a very loud noise and a strong fall Katharina Kowalewska, then a maid at Boß, was On the evening of January 21, he went to a wedding and did not return until returned at 4 o'clock in the morning, but did not go to her room, but to the widow Reimann, who lived in the house, with whom She stayed for a few hours. Soon after her arrival she heard down in the Boß's apartment a strange noise, like strong Windows rattling; Reimann noticed and she noticed said she had heard the noise several times before. When the Kowalewska went to her room at 6 o'clock in the morning, she missed immediately the washbowl, which was always there. The widow Reimann noticed a striking confusion in the boss's face– other; stakes were found torn out and a slatted wall collapsed; She brought this to the attention of the boss, but he said that the goats, or someone had played a prank on him– It was discovered in the stable of the boss and on the farm in Fertilizer, liquid and coagulated blood; also bags with Bloodstains, and traces of blood were also found on a garment which the boss's wife gave it to a seamstress to alter.

Similar evidence incriminated Hermann Josephson. In the evening he should not be at home from 6 to 11 o'clock, and on Early in the morning he is to be found near the bridge where the body of the murdered boy was found, with a heavy sack on the back. On his left hand were all

ER a BE FE a re

– 69 –

Fingers and especially the thumb injured; but he claims to this injury had been sustained several days before the murder when he fell out of the car during a trip. The The expert witness, Dr. Lindenau, has Hermann Josephson subsequently investigated and testified about it before Court: There are apparently impressions of cutting edges on the index finger= teeth. Under the influence of the suspicion that was directed at Joseph= fon, one could, however, come to the conclusion that the The wound was caused by a bite while the affected person was Wanted to keep others quiet. Incidentally, Hermann Joseph= fon at that time against him, the doctor, contradictory and not at all plausible information about the 1 of the wound. On a woolen jacket that belonged to Hermann Josephson and which was later returned to him, the court stated: understanding, chemist Dr. Bischof in Berlin, traces of people= blood. Joseph's son assures that it was his own blood, which he lost when he fell out of the car.

In the course of the investigation, however, all these aggravating Inzichten was not considered sufficient, and the arrested Jews released again.

The prophecy of the "National-Zeitung": After the trial von Tisza=Eslar is an accusation of ritual murder for the future become impossible – has thus been preserved at least in Prussia= – In the meantime, the Criminalcommiffa= rius Hoeft from Berlin appeared; the same one who appeared at the trial in Konitz, because of the fire of the e in Neufstettin, a fo= played a prominent role, and the Jews accused there were probably mainly owed their acquittal. It seems that Mr. Hopes through his activity in the matter of that synagogue fire with the superior authorities, and it was now a similar task. Mr. von Puttkamer, the minister of the Interior, sent Mr. Hoeft to West Prussia to find the authors of the murder of Sfurz. At the end of March 1884, the took office in Preußisch=Stargard and soon came to the conclusion that that even in this case the accused Jews would be innocent, the actual culprit was her accuser, the Catholic butcher= master Joseph Behrendt in short, fe. The two bosses were already long since released from the remand prison; Mr. Hoeft caused now that Joseph's son also received his freedom, and instead of him He was arrested on May 10th by Behrendt. Hoeft heard that Behrendt was not at home on the night of the murder. The worker Man= kowski, who had always claimed that that morning Hermann Joseph son with a heavy sack on the back – now confessed to Mr. Hoeft that it was not Joseph= fon, but Behrendt. Hoeft learned that Behrendt had the murder was accompanied by all sorts of dubious phrases and a due behavior; particularly strong suspicion, however, The official was shocked when he was informed that Behrendt had violated the departure of the night

EEE GET EN (co en e

.

0 fe, omit or forget to take off your clothes.

re ee
. u 33

= T0

Jews were persecuted, and during the house search that took place in the apartment of

Boss would have shown excessive zeal.

On 22 April 1885, the trial against Behrendt began before the jury court in Danzig, with a large crowd.

The President of the Court was District Court Judge Arndt, who,

as noted, also presided over the jury court in Konitz where the Jews were accused of attacking the synagogue at Neufittin- The reports which were made about The newspapers reported on the sensational trial are probably flowed from Jewish pens and perhaps intentionally misleading tangled and opaque. Nevertheless, they had to fill the casual reader with astonishment and amazement. One asked felf involuntarily: How could the only thing against Behrendt be the be brought? Who is actually the accused here, Behrendt or the Jews? – Because the evidence procedure was from the outset in such a way that it only burdened the latter; Nevertheless, the Jews appeared as witnesses against Behrendt. We mainly follow the report of the "National-Zeitung" and he-complement the same with the report in the "Berliner Post".

On the night of the murder, Boss, his father, his wife and whose clerk Cohn is in the Boß's apartment completely found themselves alone; they knew of no noise or commotion; the same could only have been caused by the stove fitter Keckermann, who came drunk late at night to the Boß house fe, and here I first stayed in an empty room, in order to to let his intoxication pass. Hermann Josephson assures that he that evening until about 11 o'clock with his sisters and sat at a table with the seamstress Kroll. This claim is attended by the entire Josephohn family, the sisters, the Parents and brother Simon confirmed. The seamstress Kroll, a classical witness, however, testifies that Hermann Josephson was 6 until 11 o'clock in the evening, when she left, no longer in the room= At 6 o'clock the brothers Hermann and Simon gone, and at 9 o'clock Simon would have returned alone; his Mother asked where Hermann was and Simon answered, he did not know. Kroll's statement is supported by four other witnesses confirmed. 15 Kofchiella and Minna Kofchiella, who

the latter had a wedding at the time, were several times on the evening in question were at Josephsohn's, but did not see Hermann.

Commis Kramer and Conditor Gehrke met Hermann

Joseph's son at 10 o'clock in the evening on the street and spoke with him. The two picture dealers Wifotzki and Stanislaus Przybylski went to Joseph's at midnight to borrow a horse, and

He found Hermann lying on the ground fully clothed; he had a bad hand, and it seemed to Wifotzki as if he was only

"Joseph's son assured that he had seamstress Kroll went to sleep, and since it was already late

The statements of the previous witnesses complained exclusively

. - 6

- 71 -

the boss and Joseph's son; only on the third day of the trial

As the President noted, we came to the moments which Defendant Behrendt was accused of this. He pointed out to the audience how made a good impression on the jury; he kept his composure during the the whole time a calmness and attitude that alone suggests the assumption contradicted that he could have committed the terrible crime.

Various people state that Behrendt was already came home at 7 o'clock in the evening and was so drunk, that he had to be undressed and carried to bed; only on

The next morning at about 7 o'clock he got up and left.

Worker Mankowski had originally chosen Joseph's son as the

He was approached on 22 January before dawn with a sack on his back, later he confessed to Mr. Hoeft that he had not Josephson, but Behrendt; before the jury

but he explained again that he did not know whether it was Josephohn or Behrendt

The statements of the other witnesses are equally vague.

witnesses, or they only have unimportant things to say.

The actual prosecution witness against Behrendt is the Criminal commissarius Hoeft from Berlin. According to the report of the "National-

In poetic terms he says: I went on 30 March last year to Russian Stargard, received the documents there and presented then investigations and numerous interrogations. I found that many of the arguments brought against the original accused

1 were untrue and partly exaggerated. I found that

Ehrendt was probably the perpetrator. I was also told this by confirmed by various parties. Behrendt made himself known in particular to his agitation against the Jews and against the original From the one found in the boss's basement pot of blood, he declared that it was human blood. – The President asked the witness: What motive, in your opinion, can Behrendt to commit the murder. – Hoeft answers tete: Behrendt is one of the Jew-haters and has even declared that he wanted to rent all the apartments in Skurz so that the Jews cannot find accommodation there. – Defendant, what do you say to that? says the President. – Behrendt simply replies: All Jewish families, except for two, have their own houses in Skurz. – President zu Hoeft: From whom did you get this information? Hoeft: I don't remember. – President asks the witness whether he may know of other motives that lead Behrendt to Murderers could have made. – Mr. Hoeft answers: He murdered boy is said to have given meat and thereby given to Behrendt Competition. – The defender, on the other hand, notes how The evidence showed that Cybulla only delivered rolls. – The gendarmes Melzner and Pleger unanimously state: Behrendt had made an effort to identify the murderer– give, but the Jews were not suspected, even at the house During the investigation, Boß did not behave in an unusual manner.

The testimony of the witness Zilinski caused a stir. The Jewish Schächter Blumenheim came to him to investigate him. Zilinsli

Apparently took sides for Josephohn and against Behrendt, but only to the purpose of finding out what the Jews were up to. heim asked him to come to a gentleman from Berlin and there to tell everything bad he knew about Behrendt. He went zu Hoeft, and he constantly accused him that the Jews could not be the perpetrators; he, Zilinski, should therefore speak out against Behrendt– In a second-class coupe, Zilinski and Hoeft drove to Kulmfe, and the official gave him the travel money. Zilinski remarked: Sir, I will take the money, but I will not accept a bribe with it. – The representative of the public prosecutor requested that the witnesses Man– kowsky and Zilinski. The court responded Before Zilinski was sworn in, he assured once again, Hoeft had asked him during the train ride to against us, and not against the Jews. – Even– Understandably, Mr. Hoeft disputed the accuracy of Zi– linski, and the prosecutor made the request to exclude this witness because strongly suspected of perjury, to be taken into custody; but the Ge The Court of Justice also rejected this request.

As was obvious, the defense attorney objected to the oath the entire Josephohn family. The court, however, decided all witnesses, with the exception of the wife of the defendant Behrendt,

This decision is widely accepted in lay and legal circles
The claim of the Josephohn family, Herman-mann Jofephfohn was on 21 January 1884 from 6 o'clock in the evening
Been home and stayed at home – there were five unsuspecting 5, who expressed the opposite. There were So also Boss and Joseph son were sworn in, who were originally accused of
of the murder were in custody, and on which still There are serious grounds for suspicion. The President Hermann Josephohn: You have lived for a long time under the Suspicion of murder confessed. She may find the murderer, or do you know anything about the murder? If you now have one more
If you committed perjury, you would be committing a second serious crime go! – We almost doubt that the chairman would Anyone who has committed murder will hardly be shy away from perjury, especially when life is at stake.

After the failure of the evidence, one would have thought the representative of the public prosecutor, Afeffor Dr. Preuß, will dropped the charges. Instead, he upheld them completely;
He pleaded for the innocence of Boss and Josephson, and for the Behrendt's fault. Mr. Preuß himself said: It could not appear conspicuous when the popular voice turns against the Jews established, all the more so when in 1879 in the same area a similar mysterious murder had occurred, which to this day still remains unsolved clarified if. – Here the President interrupts the opponent by noted: This fact is not the subject of the negotiation. –
The prosecutor expressly states: the investigation against the Jews in short fe not be initiated because one has a ritual murder, but on the basis of other evidence;

However, the procedure would have been terminated due to a lack of sufficient evidence.
must be made. The testimony of the witness Szprada, who Hearing Boss call the boy Cybulla in, now and It is incredible, as there was a strong wind that evening, that Szprada could not have heard the call at all. () The collapse of the wall in the goat shed is insignificant and the nightly noise in the house the boss through the groping of the stove fitter Keckermann sufficiently solved. The suspicion on Hermann Joseph= seemed far more serious.
fon to rest; but the witnesses who witnessed him in the fateful Evening not in the house but with his parents, but on the street
faw, may be in a deception. () Mankowski was determined by Zilinski, who is also a vehement Jew-hater to testify against Josephohn. Behrendt had the Cybulla lured into his apartment and killed there; where, however, not prove. Since Behrendt himself showed no injury,
He probably attacked two people from behind. – Some of the
The prosecutor's statements are so wonderful that we doubt would like them to be accurately reproduced in the press.
According to the report of the "National=Zeitung", Dr. Preuß said: A However, I cannot give a motive for the crime, and that, what I would like to cite is difficult for me to cite; I must but still mention: it is the hatred of Jews. It is quite possible that Behrendt was paid by someone for the crime in order to blame the Jews. One has already done so on the occasion of the trial of Tisza-Eszlar and the synagogue fire in Neuttin, how far the hatred of Jews goes. – After these statements the prosecutor's actions pose a great danger to the anti-Semitic group. They are presented here as subjects where one can find worst crimes. If that view were to become general, such, if Jews and antifemetics were involved in a crime, question, or if both parties are in dispute with each other advise – the scales of justice always tipped against the anti-Semitic skyrocket. – Strangely, the prosecutor the request to possibly sentence the defendant Behrendt to death to be declared guilty.

The task of the defense attorney, lawyer Thureau from Preußisch Stargard, was a very easy one. He hardly needed to make a speech hold, and can be content with the remark with which he began that it was not possible for the public prosecutor a single factual moment for the guilt of the accused provide even a single plausible motive for the crime. The further statements and explanations of the defense However, they deserve general attention and full appreciation. 9255 Thureau said, among other things: The nature of the murder and all accompanying circumstances let us conclude that he had been preparing for a long time Where should Behrendt have found the one with the highest sophistication? In his small beginning committed murder? In his small beginning There is no room for this in the confined home. The medical facilities We would like to emphasize that the dismemberment of the body should only be carried out in illumination of the body can happen finely. In the Behrendt But there was only one poor lamp in the apartment. There was no trace of the murder either in the apartment or Behrendt's clothes. – The defense attorney pointed out, how much more heavily burdened Joseph's son appears, and most think gives the following statement: It is quite regrettable that the The defendant did not have a lawyer at his side when he was arrested ft. Would a complaint against the reason for such an extremely flimsy evidence, then such the court undoubtedly overturned. In the case of Boss, where the Verdict moments of thought were undoubtedly greater, the arrest was made on the lifted as soon as his lawyer complained. A The essential moment is that the accused is given the right to the truth. proof was completely successful, although the sudden arrest completely caught him unprepared. He could not get any witnesses, no bribe. – – One sees how the Jews have the advantage everywhere, and how much worse the situation is with the natives. Law and justice are not free either, but cost more or less money. The poorest Jew will, if he falls into the hands of the judiciary, never without a competent lawyer are missing: the wealthy believers are already taking care of that, but No Christian cares about the poor ignorant natives' soul.

–

The jury's deliberations lasted barely half an hour; then they returned, and the foreman declared not guilty. After almost a year in custody, Behrendt was finally released set free. But his previous existence is destroyed and he must first find a new one. He was a poor man always, and now he is almost a beggar. If any case, This shows how urgently necessary a law for compensation and guilty person convicted and arrested. In her article about the The "National-Zeitung" wrote about the trial of Tisza-Eszlar under the 5 August 1883: "It is with horror that one realises the progress that Blood fairy tales since the history of Damascus, like un- certain ideas are eradicable." – In the story of Da- maskus it is not a fairy tale, but real Human blood, shed just as horribly as in Skurz. In the year In 1840, on the evening of February 5, the Capuchin monk Thomas called to the Jewish quarter of Damascus to rescue a Jewish child to vaccinate; he followed the request and never returned. At night his servant Ibrahim set out to seek the Lord He knew that the priest had gone to the Jewish quarter fe, now also went there, and was also no longer After a few days, the dismembered bones of the Father and his servant in a sewer. 16 Jews were brought under investigation; among them the pious, rich David Arari, who had been a friend of the murdered priest. The The accused were arrested by the European consuls, as well as by the Turkish authorities interrogated and convicted of murder. Two of

SoOgle er |

u I

They died during the trial, four were pardoned because they made important revelations, and the remaining ten were sentenced to death. The French consul, who led the investigation had zealously pursued, sent the files of the closed trial to the Foreign Office in Paris. Here they are published by Achille Laurent in his work "Relation historique des affaires de Syrie depuis 1840-1842". From the beginning, the European Jews- fchschaft did everything to suppress the process and the To influence the judges. Since this did not work, their relatives went- nerale Ifaak Crémieux, later French Minister of Justice, and Moses Montefiore, now a peer of England, himself went to the Orient and obtained from Mehemed Ali, the Viceroy of Egypt, a firman, which which read: From the presentation of Messrs Montefiore and Crémieux, who as plenipotentiaries of all Europeans of the Mosaic faith have appeared before Us, We have concluded that they are from Desire the release and safety of those Hebrews who imprisoned or fugitive because of the affair of the Damascus in Month Zithidie 1255. missing Father Thomas and his servant Ibrahim. And since it is in consideration of the large number of It would be inappropriate for the Jews not to listen to their concerns and requests We order that the captured Jews be immediately released safety and that the fugitives can return. This is Our will. – The firman is said to have cost large sums of money.

The accusation that the Jews murdered Christians for ritual purposes, and especially Christian children, is ancient; it is common to all and by all peoples. In every year Numerous cases of this kind have been recorded, which legal evidence. These countless independent slanderous accusations and the frequent trials must make every impartial but at least make one suspicious and greatly dismay the Jews Even in earlier centuries, there was a justice given, and whether today's is better is still very much an open question. The confessions made by painfully interrogated Jews under torture remain worthless. But we also have various possibilities revelations about ritual murders written by former Jews, who converted to Christianity. Rabbi Moldavo was 30 years of age and published in 1803 a book also in the Arabic and translated into Greek, under the title "Undercourse of the Hebrew religion". Achille Laurent also wrote this text not incorporated into any of the previously mentioned works.

Rabbi Moldavo reveals the secrets of the blood passover of the Jews and says about it: The Jewish murders happened for three months. Firstly because of the great hatred that the Jews had against the Christians; secondly, for superstitious and magical purposes, which they seek to fill with this blood, as the magicians believe it could be used to cure diseases; thirdly, because the Rabbis have a suspicion, a hunch, that Jesus could be the Messiah, and now believe that through this blood, they are protected in all cases to be able to save.

To Fo

We finally have evidence of science in the writings of the well-known scholar Dr. August Rohling, who most recently served as Professor of Hebrew Antiquity at the University of Prague. In a trial in Dresden by Jews against Natives were striving to disrupt religion, Rohling has At the request of the court, an expert opinion was given, and the same official-sworn. He stated: On the basis of the rabbinical writing–

thums, the Jew is religiously entitled to all non-Jews on to exploit them in every way, to destroy them physically and morally, to To destroy their lives, their honour and their property, openly and with Violence, however secret and treacherously. This may, indeed should, be done by the Jew, if he can, do it on religious grounds, so that he can lead his people to world domination. – Not Mosaism, but the Rabbi- nism commands the Jew to hate the non-Jews, and fpe- ciell against the Christians. In the brochure: "The Polemic and the Human Sacrifice of Rabbinism" (Paderborn, Verlag der Bonifacius- Druckerei, 1883) Rohling writes: "The writings of the rabbis drip of blood throughout the centuries. Even in the last decades They dared to deliver printed works with blood spots, partly by creating new Writings on the Recommendation and Defense of Ritual Murder composed, partly continually re-editing the older secret works." – Rabbi Vital the Holy (1543 – 1620) wrote a work, Sefer hal- quthim, which was still in 1868 at Back in Jerufalem in the It was reprinted in the Jewish printing house donated by Moses Montefiore. According to Rohling, on page 156 it is developed: The violent blood of non-Jewish virgins shed by Jews is in heaven fever precious, feven for the inner life of the deity of high importance- interpretation, and make great mercy for Israel. – Another The passage which Rohling reported in court is in the Zohar, which is For many Jews it is a more sacred book than the Talmud. It has has seen 270 editions so far, and Rohling quoted after the edition, which was printed in 1880 in Przemyśl in Austria. In Zohar teaches that all non-Jews are godless, and how to her daughters should be slaughtered. "The girl is slaughtered by you stop its mouth so that it does not scream; like an animal dies, which does not make a voice. The girl is- slaughter with the butcher's knife so that all the blood can drain away and the body loses its color and turns pale, like the Dead." – Rohling was sentenced to a heavy prison sentence because of these publications. quarrel with the rabbis; they accused him of forgery and ignorance, but could not refute him. On the page The rabbis were also represented by Protestant theologians, namely Wümfche and Delitzfch, both of Jewish descent. In In agreement with the Rabbis, they claimed that the Roh= The passages cited are not literal, but only figurative. to understand, refer to completely different things xc.; or, fie were found in outdated writings that no one knows or understands anymore. eighth; they would be "old trousers from Canaan" that no one would wear anymore! | In Hungary a printed petition circulated to the Emperor of

u DT ne

Austria, in which it says: "that the manufactured dare to ffind the radiant face of his majesty the name August Rohling= ") and that "the entire Jewish community of the whole world looking up hopefully to His Majesty, so that one stroke of the pen, one Word makes lies disappear and evil cease to exist." On An=

At the insistence of the Jews, Rohling's brochure "My Answers to the Rabbis or Five Letters on Talmudism and Blood-Ritual of the Jews" (Prague, Publishing House of Cyrillo-Method's Book-printing house, 1883). The author filed a legal action against objection, and offered to swear an oath that his communications are based on meticulous research. He also explained how the Public prosecutor was not able to bring a single case to that this writing incited the people to unlawful acts would have – although the Gospels already provide evidence of such abuse could provide a reason; but that it is urgently necessary for the Christians with the dangerous teachings and principles of Judaism. The Court ruled on the accuracy of the information. Rohling did not doubt the facts established, but found that the Germans would be likely to provoke excitement in the audience, and therefore confirmed the confiscation of the brochure. The governor of Bohemia, Knight of Kraus, who himself was of Jewish descent is, granted on behalf of the Ministry of Cultus and Education to the Professor Rohling was ordered to refrain from any polemic against the Jews. Rohling protested against this order, which he described it as unlawful in every respect, since it also in scientific research and in his teaching activities is restricted. However, the idea remained unsuccessful, and, as it seems, Rohling finally saw himself compelled to give up his professorship at the University of Prague.

How moderate Rohling appears is evident from the Brochure confiscated in Austria: "My Answers to the Rabbis". He says: "We, for our part, solemnly declare that every anti-Semitism, which smashes the windows of the Jews, 5 property and harms life, is anti-Christian, and therefore rightly condemned by the governments are persecuted in every way. The Christian anti-Semitism, which we speak of, demands for the Jews well-willing tolerance and strong protection against every impropriety, it holds but for the good of Christianity certain restrictions. It is a law which our ancestors in 705 wisdom on directed."

In Prussia, too, various writings were published which dangerousness of Talmudism, were banned, and the Authors were sentenced to fines or even to prison. In Prussia, the government is said to have recently taken action against a scholar who has proceeded, because the same in a brochure the excesses of the Talmudic Judaism. As certain Rabbis published papers were able to tell, the Minister of Culture Mr. von Goßler ordered Dr. Ecker, Docent of the Semitic Languages at the Academy of Münster, because of his recent writing:

"One Hundred Laws of the Southern Catechism" in Disciplinary Investigation
Of course, there is no lack of scientific

Fighters for Israel. One such person is Dr. Strack, extraordinary _

Professor of Theology at the University of Berlin. On occasion-ity of the trial of Tisza=Eszlar, Professor Dr. Strack wrote in the "Evangelische e an essay in which he describes the accusations against the Jews were absolutely ridiculous and Spirit of our age declared offensive. The concern of this Christian-
The concern of the gentlemen for the Jewish reputation is really touching.
Recently he advocated the sanctity of Jewish oaths against court preachers Stöcker in their place. Now and then there were also Catholic Clergymen who declared the Jewish blood ritual to be a fairy tale; fo Bishop Kopp in Ban the Archbishop of Erlau in Hungary and the Minorite Father Bonaventura. However, these gentlemen only the Mosaism in mind, and were ignorant of the Rabbi-nism.

Since the so-called emancipation of the Jews, they fefe and, if possible, also the learned crafts and subjects. So it happened that for half a century the whole Journalism, like history writing, is a systematic falsification in favor of the Jews. At these breasts the "educated people of the nation", and thus arose our professors, lawyers-and higher civil service. 1 and tolerance! were the an efchrie, and any derogatory criticism of the Jews was seen as a 2 fall into fanaticism and the darkness of the Middle Ages branded. Only under this light did one learn the processes by Tisza=Eszlar and Skurz understand and comprehend. In Austria
As in Prussia, the public prosecutor and judge expressly against the assumption of a ritual murder, because they fuch thoughts for their . But even if one is talking about the "National=Zeitung" the charge of ritual religious murder legally and scientifically considered impossible, an unbiased person would have to come to the conclusion that the bloody crimes committed against the Jews are repeatedly attributed, which also probably has a different motive Is it due to passion and coarse sense-ity of the Jewish race does not at all come close to a murder from Fanaticism or superstition? - As is well known, among the mass of Jews, especially in the former Polish parts of Russia, Austria and Prussia, a jo craljer.

Superstition that almost borders on fetishism. Many writers that the common Jews in operations and as medicine against long-term illnesses the blood of animals or humans use; and hence the accusation may well come from that at the time of their great feasts, 5 at the Passover, Christian blood to obtain, especially the blood of innocent young-women and children. A murder out of fanaticism and aberration believe, it seems, the prosecutor and the judges neither in Nyiregyhaza nor in Gdansk.

The bestial murder of Skurz cries out to heaven and he must

a TON

must not remain unpunished. Otherwise, there is a risk of a deep shock to the awareness of justice in the people. The common man must defend himself against the Stranger put behind, and towards him his life and the lives of his children no longer feel safe. Probably A whole series of people are involved in the murder in Skurz It is the duty of the relevant ministers to ensure that they which could lead to the discovery of the murderers, new evidence offices and offer new high rewards. The murder from now on, but also the government must warn that they must born experts thoroughly examine the rabbinic writings, to be examined for his danger to the public. Perhaps It turns out that, like Rohling and with him de Lagarde, Professor of Semitic Languages at the University of Göttingen, be- claim that Talmudism contains elements which support Emancipa- make the Jews' occupation impossible and in particular prohibit Jews serve as officials, judges and public teachers. ö (The Cultural Warrior by Otto Glagau. Issue 118. May 15, 1885.)

Breslau 1888.

SBlood sampling.

N In the month of July, a ritual blood sampling of the antifemi- new nutrients are supplied through the metabolic movement.

On July 21, Max Bernstein, a young man from 25 years, rabbinic candidate of the Talmudic College in Breslau, on the city's promenade. There he saw a young Face a boy who was playing quietly. It was little Severin acke, son of a Catholic pharmacist's assistant.

The rabbinic candidate never let the child out of his sight. Little Severin entered a shelter; the rabbinic Candidate followed him there. As he was leaving he spoke to him. | In a flattering voice he asks the poor little one if he likes chocolate and candy. The child's affirmative answer. Bernstein gives him a few pennies and orders him to make chocolates- to buy sweets in a neighboring shop. Little Severin conscientiously returns the purchased candies. Bernstein gives him some sweets and by asking the boy to follow, he promises him cherries if they are in an apartment at home.

Bernstein and the boy go together; the Jew gives the boy from time to time a candy and encourages him to join in. Finally you arrive. |

There Bernstein lets little Severin sit down on the sofa and orders him to take off his clothes, then promises more candy. Tempted by these promises, the boy, as he was told. The rabbinic candidate now seized a sharp knife with a long blade and made several

– 899

Incisions in the genitals of the young Hacke. The blood came and the Jew caught it with blotting paper, which soon completely was saturated with it.

The child was frightened.

– Don't be afraid, Bernstein said reassuringly, I just want have a little blood.

When his wish was fulfilled, the rabbinic candidate had the Little one dressed again and sent him home, telling him gave him some treats and asked him to be quiet. The little one listened to this point and remained silent. But a few days later The little boy's father noticed the traces of the cuts and asked his Son, became suspicious and went to the apartment of Bernstein to demand clarification. Since he did not When he found himself at home, he went to the police to report what had happened.

An investigation was launched. With the audacity that the accused tried to partly deny, partly to hide behind a nervous excitement, as is now becoming fashionable, hide.

– If I really did that, then I only | done in a confusion of mind.

– So you admit the possibility of the crime? asked the | Judge.

– Yes, because it was in all the newspapers.

At this time, however, the matter was still secret and nothing was through the newspapers into the public domain. The Rabbinate= candidat, however, suffered from mental confusion, the confusion of Liars who can no longer escape from the web of their lies. His half-confession, his contradictions seemed suspicious to the investigating judges. The Rabbi was confronted= natscandidaten with his victim. Little Severin, for his part, showed not the slightest confusion, not the slightest reticence, not the slightest doubt. With the naivety of his eight years, he openly and simply condemned the Jew's assassination. |

The case came before the first chamber of the Disciplinary Police Court in Breslau. The defendant's defense attorney, Mr. Sternberg, a lawyer in Breslau, tried to exclude the public, under the pretext that it was a crime against morality. The Jews wanted, as usually, keep quiet about the matter. But the prosecutor pointed out rejected this request; for him the real motive was a ritual Blood extraction from a Christian child for the Israelite right religious worship. He also demanded a year's prison sentence.

Bernstein's defender tried to explain the simple and clear to cast doubt on the stories of little Hacke; he claimed Furthermore, there is no reasonable reason for the possible violation use of the blood taken from the alleged victim would have, could indicate. s

The Court left the question of ritual blood withdrawal rest on itself, declared Bernstein guilty of inflicting the victim's wounds and sentenced him to prison of three months. Let us add here that two of the judges who sitting in court were Jews; this was of course no reason to to impose a higher penalty.

Yan

One wonders why the court did not grant the request of the The prosecutor has given in. Apparently, it has to do with a ritual blood withdrawal; all external circumstances speak for it. Even the Jewish newspapers, such as the "Berliner Tageblatt", find the punishment very lenient and believe that the Rabbinate= candidate "might have had all sorts of ulterior motives."

"There was general astonishment and disbelief," fays the Reichsbote, "through the declaration of the Court= called that the motive of the crime has no interest On the contrary, we think that a precise knowledge of the motive alone would have been able to resolve the case 1 85 It is all the more important that this point be left it unclear when the accused did everything to

to draw a veil over the motive for his action."

But the less the Court has dealt with the motives to reveal the crime, have an even greater interest for the public; because in many places one finds the belief It is widely believed that the Jewish rabbis have a secret commandment of Talmud regarding the use of non-Jewish or Christian blood for ritual purposes exists.

That this decree of the Talmud is repeated a thousand times in the Jewish

The fact that the papers are denied proves nothing, because they deny everything that is unpleasant for Judaism. But No one can deny that this case is particularly significant in this respect. is of great importance.

The "Kreuzzeitung" also says like many other German Newspapers: "We attach no other value to this case than that he believed the existence of a ritual superstition substantiate, which has always been denied by the Jews has been, despite the infamous trial of Tisza-Eszlar and many other similar cases."

An examination of the sober facts cannot, however, leave no doubt for those who are involved in the atrocities are familiar with the synagogue. |

The wounding of the body part which the Rabbinate= candidat is an unmistakable sign that it is a Talmudic crime. The circumcised seem to Having given his word to circumcise everything.

The manner of collecting blood also provides material to think about. It could be easy for Bernstein to delete the to burn the paper when it was saturated with blood; he could thus preserved oostable ash, which today serves the Jews to Christian blood; the ashes, which they carefully placed in the synagogues, which they used during their religious ceremonies need and send their foreign faith.

IV. ö 6

N a Ba

The assassination attempt in Breslau must therefore be added to the long list of Talmudic crimes. Starting with the great Victims of Calvary, this list continues to this day Everything indicates that our grandchildren will not spectacle which religious fanaticism and glare.

(Henry Desportes, Le Mystère du sang chez les juifs de tous les temps. p. 244 ff.)

He is crazy. – Just as we predicted
It has come. The rabbinic candidate Bernstein from Breslau, who is known to have committed ritual acts on several boys having committed blood sampling, was released from custody dismissed after the Deputation for Medical Affairs in Berlin gave her opinion that Bernstein suffered from chronic suffering from religious mental disorder. Bernstein was at about nine Months of observation in the Berlin Charité, whose director is well-known Jewish brother-in-law Spinola.

There is no doubt that Bernstein in a Jewish-run mental institution was soon completely will be healthy, and he will then have the best qualification to the Chief Rabbi in Damascus.

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 122, December 14, 1890.)

Blood-tapping officially established as a Jewish religious custom
The rabbinical journal "Israelit und Jefchurun" writes in the Supplement to No. 95 literally: N Breslau, December 1st. Once again, there was nothing. The anti-femif papers, led by the wida Mar Ber, had in the world trumpeted that the rabbinical candidate Max Bernstein here has lured a Christian boy into his bus and forced him to perform ritual purposes" blood was "siphoned". Bern this crime of bodily harm in fact to a ge-sentenced to three months imprisonment, but since the Jewish magazine "Laubhütte" that he had committed the same crime on eight Jewish boys, the court decided To have Bernstein's mental state observed. The first report the doctors contradicted 12 while a senior expert opinion of the Breslau Medicinal College decided on Bernstein's sanity-
Now the third and final instance has called upon the wifen-
The scientific deputation in Berlin issued its opinion that Bernstein suffers from RA of this religious madness (paranoia chronica de Aa As a result, Bernstein was released from prison yesterday

been.

If the scientific deputation as the last instance
He issued a report that Bernstein suffered from "chronic religious madness", it has thereby irrevocably

tein was arrested last year for

u 10;

felf of the opinion that "blood tapping" is one of the religious holy acts of the Jewish rite.

This is a very valuable concession for us.

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 125, January 4, 1891.)

Wadowice 1889.

Human trafficking of emigrants.

In the otherwise little-known Galician town of Wadowice, On 14 November 1889 a criminal trial began, the significance of which far beyond the borders of Galicia, but also beyond the extends beyond Austria. | | I

The crimes charged against the defendants, namely formal human trafficking with American emigrants, were Ancestors in Austria, Hungary and Germany from the same perpetrators. Also involved in the process are the former District Captain Födrich von Biala, who was paid an annual salary of 1000 guilders in the defendants' pay, 80 were said to have been and the police commissioner and kk customs controller Marcell Iwanicki, who for years was exclusively concerned with the establishment of e and used his authority only to to swindle money from unfortunate people and To assist deserters in their desertion. The financial guard and the gendarmerie of 9 Galician towns should be in the uon | entangled fine. Things were no better in Hungary, where a chair= judges and the gendarmerie the same criminals who were in Oswieeim had their headquarters, against regular monthly salary to the Hand went, no better in Germany, where the Austrian crimes committed on Reich territory with rare sophistication and rare audacity. In particular, Ham= Burg is said to be involved in this human trafficking, about which we However, we have to wait for the outcome of the trial. Five and

The following persons are accused: Jacob Klausner from Brody, Merchant; Simon Herz from Oswiecim, cattle exporter; Julius Löwenberg from Oswiecim, cattle dealer; Arthur Landau from Krakau, merchant; his son Bernhard Landau, commercial assistant, 19 years old; Ifaak Landerer from Oswiecim, merchant; Julius Neumann in Oswiecim, railway restorer; Jofef Eintracht, painter

manufacturer; Hermann Zeitingner, former railway porter at the Northern Railway in Oswiecim; Marcell Iwanicki, k. k Controller of the ne in Oswiecim, who as kk police commissioner Aliens Police in Oswiecim; Markus Sadger, 24 years old old, living with his father; Stanislaus Haklotek in Oswiecim, former accountant of a Hamburg emigration agency in Oswiecim; Enoch Barber, proprietor in Gromice near Oswiecim; Jofef Schoner, former restaurateur at the Staats=

. 6

P un TI) 2 wer Zn De nn 11

in Oswiecim; Jan Wilduch, porter in Sucha; Karl Schramm,

—

— 84 — N

Sucha railway station (Galician Transversal Railway); S. Ehrlich, innkeeper in Pogorze near Krakow; Franz Krafuski, 70 years old, emigrant= agent; Wolf Einhorn, grain merchant in Neufandez; Bern= hard Wasserberger, landlord near Oswiecim; S. Hornung, Innkeeper in Oswiecim; Henoch Seckler, cab driver in Oswiecim; N. Kuppermann, innkeeper in Oswiecim; Salomon Raber, innkeeper innkeeper in Przeciszow near Oswiecim; E. Laufer and his 17-year-old son Leon Laufer in Stare Stawy; Wilhelm Winzer, merchant near Dziedzitz; Michal Rudawski, farmer in Krolik near Rymanowz Jan Kfienzarezyk; B. Land, 17 years old, butcher's assistant; Bernard Kuppermann, innkeeper in Brzernica near Oswiecim; Jofef Baklarz, employed by Simon Herz; the day laborers: Fran

Baranek, Martin Hodur, Jan Sternal, Jofeph Czyrwik, Josef Barnsz (called Margietfa), Jan Klaj, Jacob Kal, also Mofes Schlamowitz; Jofef Glafer, merchant; P. Karger, cab driver

clerk at the state railway station in Sucha; Adam Koftecki, kk Supervisor in Oswieeim; then the railway conductors Ignaz Zmudzinsk, Josef Rzyinka, Josef Kiendgiolek, Josef Mierow= flawski, Jan Dudzinski, Gerwazy Walhowinski, Adalbert Monczka, Adalbert Czarnecki, Theophil Trella, Kasimir Jerzuchowski, Wladislaw Nowotorski and Franz Kielbafa; finally Vincenz Zwilling, landowner in Harmenze near Oswiecim; Christian Erkenmayer from Bremen, German subject, merchant, last resident in Oswiecim; J. Stamberger, merchant; Adolf Löw from Lipto Miklos, Liptov County, Hungary; Julius German= berger, merchant from Austria: Silesia; Markus Schamner, Konimaun from Oswieeim and Hermann Huchlowitz, merchant from Berlin, German subject. The indictment against Leon Ritter von Strokowski, kk administrator of the main customs office in Oswieeim, was dropped.

All defendants who have been under investigation for more than a year imprisonment – because the arrests began on July 24, 1888 – are divided into 36 groups and the charges against them
Crimes are: Public violence by unauthorized Restriction of personal freedom, through blackmail, abuse official authority, acceptance of gifts in official matters, inducement to Abuse of authority, robbery, fraud, false assumption of character of a public official, concealment and favoritism of a deserter and inducement of a soldier to injure the military service and for assisting military Crime.

(From the Voffische Zeitung, November 19, 1889.)

Wadowire, November 15, 1889.

Today on the 2nd day of the trial in the human trafficking case
The reading of the charges continued. The main temporarily takes up the – bread question. The jury,

*

who, living in distant places, have left their families, their income had to leave work for almost two months in order to carry out their duties to practice are mostly poor people, farmers, small tradesmen and merchants. This therefore led to the entire jury, today a petition to the Minister of Justice with the request: "May they be granted during the duration of this Monftreprozeffes a daily allowance of at least three guilders per day
The jury justified their request with the Unusual nature of the current process, with which long duration and noticed that only rentiers could hold this expensive office ordinary businessmen and farmers, from which the jury is composed, this trial threatens with a complete ruin. It would be a great shame for the jury, which in Wadowice as a judge must lead a decent life, nothing left than to get into debt. Are the jurors already worried about their ristonz, how much worse is it for numerous Defendants who are at large and on their own Costs in the expensive Wadowice. And the number of these
The number of people is not small, since only 29 defendants are in custody.
The remaining 32 defendants are all poor devils (conductors, day laborers and cab drivers) with the exception of the landowner Vincenz

Zwilling, the head of the Bremen agency. The 12 accused According to the "Wiener Fremdenblatt", conductors have been besieging yesterday to the chairman that he should keep them during the trial in custody so that they do not have to travel during the two winter months Behind ce and homeless in Wadowice. Because of their Please listen, one does not know. The Chairman, State= Judge Lipka, intends to give them a Daily allowance of 17½ Kreuzer. But the conductors are urgently demanding their arrest.

ä (From the Voffifische Zeitung of November 19, 1889.)

On the Jewish trial in Wadowice. For those in Galicia= It is significant that a distribution of goods action ne The juror lives in such poverty, that he spent the first nights of his stay in Wadowice shared the arrest just to have a shelter, while one of the main defendants, named Schmul Löwenberg, in fhis pre-trial detention according to the prison records= Administration no less than 215 pieces of goose liver, 147 whole geese and four hundredweight of game fish.

(From the Antisemitic Correfpondence of December 22, 1889.)

On the judgment in the well-known case against the Jewish Emigration agents now have the following further information: After nearly four months of negotiations, the jury von Wadowice about the accused emigration agents and their accomplices and perpetrators. Of the 61 defendants As already reported, 31 were found guilty, especially the main defendants Klammer, Herz, Löwenberg and Landerer, the owners of the emigration agency in Oswiecim, because of Be-tube Blackmail and violence through restriction of personal personal freedom, as well as its numerous supporters for promoting the desertion, finally the border and police Commiffar Iwanicki, the accomplice of the main defendant, for abuse of office: violence (bribery). Among others, those acquitted were those with- accused railway conductor. In his statement of reasons for the indictment, The prosecutor pointed out the great losses which Galicia suffered through suffers from emigration. As a result of the commercial enticement More than 60,000 Poles are expected to emigrate each year, including a few- At least 30,000 from Galicia were taken to America, where they were have been nationalized. According to the information of the state- lawyer the desire of the Galician peasants to emigrate, as it was the Jews are fed, but unfortunately without success. lich 179 9 the public prosecutor the harmful and fraudulent Activities of the Jewish emigration agents in Oswiecim and their, drivers, their wonderful organization and their sophisticated system of corruption, as they do to all officials in their area, from District captain to station porter, commissions, and insufficient peaceful competitors and even rabbis paid a lot. On the other hand, the defense tried to portray the entire indictment as a tendentious, possibly antifemific; through the numerous ex-wanderer, the national wealth was not damaged, since they would have sent many millions home! The poor People who remained in Galicia were even worse off than the emigrants. According to the opinion of the defense attorney, Dr. Rosen-sheet, the emigrants are actually not emigrants, since they always had the intention to return after a few years. The Bribery of officials could not be denied. Meanwhile, Dr. Lazarski the bribes as simple gratifications, which are in common use everywhere. In the sense of the law, According to defense attorney Dr. Rosenblatt, the defendants are not fraudsters. If one wanted to do everything that is called fraud in everyday life, will be punished by law, the whole world would be locked up Riegel. (That is Jewish morality) Some of the defendants' actions were immoral, even dirty, like the business itself. But it is not about the business, not about whether the defendants men of honour, but whether they were criminals, and whether they were acquitted. The jury of Wadowice has meanwhile not let themselves be put off, but showed with their prophecy that it also in Galicia despite all the swamping and Corruption still gives men of righteousness and honor. – On Wednesday The verdict was passed, which reads as follows: Sentenced: Löwenberg and Landerer to $4\frac{1}{2}$ years each, Herz to 4, Klausner and Neumann to 3 each, Sadger, Barber and Schöner to 2 each, Iwanicki and Wasserberg to $1\frac{1}{2}$ each and Ehrlich and

– 87 –

Einhorn to 1 year of hard imprisonment; the rest found guilty sentenced to 1 week to 6 months in prison. |
(From the Kreuzzeitung.)

The following is reported about the Jewish trial in Wadowice: Jewry has tried in vain to suppress the trial. Krakow police commissioner Swolken, who told the hair-raising story According to the "Deutsches Volksblatt", the "Alliance israélite" no less than 200,000 guilders if he the authority above him by false reports about the success 91 investigations. The brave man has the resisted the temptation and did his duty. Since one fears, that the overwhelming Jewry, in order to save its comrades, will attempt to remove the trial documents and evidence,

The courtroom in Wadowice is occupied during the night by

Military carefully guarded. |

(From the Antisemitic Correspondence of December 8, 1889.)

On the great Jewish trial in Wado writes the "Tägliche Rundschau": |

"The great emigration fraud trial in Austria, which is being tried against the agents of Oswiecim, brings quite unheard of things come to light. The agents – all Jewish Businessmen – have a formal robbery and robbery pressure system into operation, whose constraints even made them iron railway officials. Some of them have Statements made that point to the intimidation methods of those people= fharriers cast a hideous light. Individual conductors who knew about the shameful trade and felt pity for the poor victims felt, tried to give them to their exploiters through Anem= recommendation to let another railway line slip away. – The Sniffer dogs of the Oswiecim human traffickers noticed this and addressed to the latter, who in turn, with the help of the miserable police com= Miffars Iwanicki, who was in the pay of the agents, the suspected Conductors were harassed. They were charged with "making it difficult passport control" or for "thwarting deserters" drawn, with dismissal from service . and through this procedure intimidated into obeying the orders of Iwanicki and the agents and furthermore the creatures of the agency in monitoring of travelling emigrants and their delivery to Os= wiecim supported. A relapsed conductor (family father) had to even the heart of one of the owners of the agency, ask for forgiveness, otherwise Iwanicki would have deprived him of his position. This in the The conductors who were forced to serve the agents have now been charged with to answer for the criminal activity. In a similar Like the conductors, the gendarmerie was attacked by the emigrants. The agency bribed the Biala agent district captain Födrich, who, in return for a considerable annual salary,

Agency also provided the valuable service of providing the gen= darmerie in Oswiecim, which wanted to intervene against the agency, instructed not to hinder their activities and to focus on Pi zn mischen, and that he furthermore the gendarmerie at that railway= note points where the emigrants in order to avoid Oswiecim who were accustomed to taking other routes, ordered the employees of the Agency to assist in escorting emigrants to Oswiecim– In Sucha, where the emigrants boarded the train to Saybufch and used to, the gendarmerie arrested all emigrants, who wanted to go to Saybufch, and held them captive for so long, until they decided to take the route via Oswiecim. The Treatment of the emigrants by the gendarmerie in Sucha They were caught by the collar, sometimes dragged out of the wagons by their hair, beaten-and dragged into the arrest or put on the Oswiecim train-

 A conductor who once criticised this approach remark was immediately sentenced to a fine. With-
 The gendarmes also arrested and mistreated passengers, who were not emigrants at all. Perhaps even worse Incidentally, the emigrants from the people of the agency in Oswiecim who sometimes beat the emigrants bloodily. Lions-berg, one of the owners of the agency, used to listen to the emigrants-cowards. As was stated in public session, the main-accused (who are all known to be Jews) have already repeatedly tried to secretly kill the children and young people by means of fpeeftions to exonerate . to move. The court-
 The chairman then ordered the isolation of the same. The Dirt that is brought to light by this process, is so great that the government has to clean a real Augean stable will have if she wants to do her duty. By the way, but also from this, how much the moral corruption also affects the lower be-office in Galicia - through the bribery
 being that the Jews introduced there. | |
 (From the Antifemific Correpondenz of January 5, 1890.) -

The Trial in Wadowice and the "Emigrant". - Nothing shows the international organization of Judaism so clearly, than the Jewish trial in Wadowice. - Here the system of Silence and denial of any, no matter how openly Fact that would be capable of informing the peoples about a dangerous and to open our eyes to misanthropic activities. It is striking the behavior of the 5 Prefe The largest in German Language-based journal for emigration, which is also published in German and Dutch seaside towns, is the "Emigrants", dedicated to the interests of emigrants to and of the Germans in America. (One should admire the Jewish German!)
 The author and editor is David Schnitzer, New York, Broadway 38.
 The issue of December 15, 1889 (16 pages newspaper format) contains-

- 89 -

deals in three different essays with the trial of Wadowice, but according to a method that is obviously suitable for this topic by a Press circular of the Alliance israélite is prescribed. In all three Articles feature in increased print the names of the officials who Everything is your fault. With the district captain, the policecommiffar, Lauf be. 8 of the finance guard appear the Prussian Border guards in the dock. The officers are charged with and surnames, their roles are broken down into the smallest detail, the
 The sum of the bribes used on each person was presented, in short, the whole process appears to be a matter for the royal civil service. N
 This simply turns the truth on its head. Not the Jewish cattle dealers, butchers and agents who ran the business conceived and made, whose 35 names the addition of Mosaic Confession, which kept its business books in Hebrew and their correspondence in that disgusting Jewish-German Rothwelfch which we have left behind the large part of the Eastern European Germans owe all the hatred and contempt, not them are portrayed as the accused, the guilty, but the Austrian civil service, which, given its low salary, is not can resist Jewish money any longer. One can see the impudence can only be called Jewish, which claims that it has The investigation has already shown that by no means the Agents were the tempters. It is said (p. 5, col. 4), the police commissioner Iwanicki himself asked for admission to the compagnie; upon being refused, he had to withdraw wanderers were robbed of their cash and their shipping tickets. This outrageous procedure was reported to the public prosecutor's office by agents " society sought protection in vain, and only then did the honest people in her moral disappointment to Iwanicki. "Police policemen, gendarmes, tax officials on both sides of the border, district captains, station managers, conductors, railway officials= directions, All had to earn it, if not the emigrant, who had to bear the costs of the strike under all circumstances, the journey should become difficult and impossible. Is it It is a miracle if the traffic managers in their distress increasingly sophisticated means of increasing their income, to meet the many demands placed on them?" Truly, Moses Montefiore would be at peace with Lord Dr. Schnitzer and his "emigrant". He wanted to use the press deceive and stun the peoples of the whole world; can one do better deceive and stun than is attempted here? The lowest Civilized people would be monsters like those Jewish human traffickers in Oswiecim, to shake off, to exterminate from his community. Klausner, Herz and Löwenberg are being criticized by the press on both sides over there as unfortunate victims of a bad environment that noble intentions, protected and justified. Must not the certainty that all, even the most wicked exploiters, will economically helpless, from the outset the Jewish press of the whole world on their side, the people-exploiting enterprises of the – 90 –

give international Jewry a sense of victory that no longer shies away from anything? – |

Who does not feel the deepest pity for the poor "Aus-migrants and the Germans in America", whose interests Dr. Schnitzer promises to dedicate!

And now read on the last pages of the "Auswanderer" the names and advertisements of those who also serve the interests of the Emigrants, especially German, not Galician, and there will be a Judaization of the emigration system show, of which only a few people, especially in the interior, have any idea

evening. |

j Kobre & Herfchmann (in Hamburg and Neu-
m their passenger business, combined with banking and exchange business.

aphael Mendel & Sohn (in Hamburg and New-Pork resident) Ship tickets to all port cities, with change to all cities. A. Falck & Comp. in Hamburg and New-Pork call themselves the only authorized passenger agency. Farrh Cohen in Bremen with a house in Hamburg with officially conceived Shipping agent and sole representative of eight major lines.
Louis Scharlach & Co. in Hamburg and New-Nork, from Hamburger Senate authorised, offers ship tickets for all lines from and to Europe, railway tickets for European and American railways, Exchanges and instructions to all places in Europe. Conrad Bär in Buffalo as agent of the Imperial German General-consulate in New-Nork powers of attorney, death certificates, ship tickets, Cash payments etc. Spiro & Co., W. Weinberger, both in Hamburg and New York, Ch. Spitzer in Derie) City, Ser-ling & son in Philadelphia, Silbermann & Jofeph in New-York take special care of their German compatriots, while Ifaak Leuenberger joined the Swiss emigrants with Louis Fries, collects inheritances and American notes and coupons Buys at good prices.

But the most powerful and most tempting is the name of Chas Kuhn over the idyllic picture of a rich farm with widestarry herds of cattle. Chas Kuhn is general agent for Län-farms in Miffouri and Illinois, offers timber land of any size cheapest prices and the largest selection of cultivated lands acceptable payment terms and sends out country catalogues unconditionally-to "any" address in Europe. Personal inquiries answered the editorial staff of "Auswanderer"; David Schnitzer and Chas Kuhn seem to be good business friends. But who Even though this is not yet certain, the references given follow-
"Recommending" names: AD Graff, banker in Stuttgart-

art, Robert Bloch, Pforzheim, Breslauer Discontobank,

Arkus Nelken & Sohn in Breslau, medical advisor Dr. Heymann, Breslau, Adolph Löwenthal in Katowice; the latter

so not too far from the much-mentioned border town - - - -
(From the Antifemific Correpondenz of February 23, 1890.)

Damascus 1890.
bloody memory.

It is a strange thing that the gruesome news of ritual murders of the Jews appears again and again and constantly receives new nourishment through mysterious occurrences. The thank that people from religious fanaticism and superstition commit murders and use human blood for mysterious purposes could turn, appears to a civilized people, such as the Germans, to pay attention that everything related to it is dismissed as madness would like to know.

And yet, in recent decades, a number of ritual murders occurred in which Jews had a very strange role played and which have remained unsolved to this day. The Death of 15-year-old Ephraïm Solymoff, 14-year-old boy Cyrenulla, the 15-year-old baker's apprentice Korny is still waiting their enlightenment. In the case of Father Thomas in Damascus (1840) 14 Jews were convicted of murder in great detail and sentenced to death, and only the European Two million francs collected by Jews, with which Cremieux and Montefiore travelled to Damascus, it was thanks to the constant slaughterers escaped the hanging.

And it is precisely in Damascus that a new mysterious The Berlin newspaper "Das Volk" published the following letter from Damascus, who was available to him from a trustworthy source was asked: |

"My nephew, Heinrich Abdelnour, suddenly disappeared on Easter Monday around 9 o'clock in the morning. Our suspicion fell on a Jewess, which often 1 My mother therefore wanted to leave the child at the Jewess, but she was prevented from doing so; and the authorities, Those who were sued sought everywhere, except among the Jews. – The strangest thing was that the authorities and ordered house searches of my neighbors under the pretext The child is kept hidden by us for the purpose of to accuse Jews of child abduction.

On April 21, representatives of the authorities appeared to investigate to check whether my nephew was not in the neighbor's well After this they went without visiting the wells of others to examine houses, and as if they had orders to do so, after a 200 steps away from us, at the entrance to the Jewish quarter opposite a barracks "There was a abandoned, long-closed well, which is always filled with a boards and a heavy stone.

This stone, which was in its place just a few The board was lifted away and after an official had explained that the smell of the corpse suggested fumm that the sought-after child was lying in the well, a man climbed and immediately brought out my nephew. It was con=

– 92 –

ftated that boots and clothes were put on wrong way and that the Cuffs and the shirt collar were missing. As a result, the Autopsy ordered and the body transported to the military hospital–
On April 22, the autopsy was performed in the presence of 20 Military and civilian doctors. The result was, that the child had been thrown into the well after blood had been drained from the artery of the right hand.

The right arm was cut off up to the elbow and placed in spirit and sealed the whole thing.

As soon as this result was known, the representative of the Authority, a Mr. Valy, it was too late to edit the report, This could happen the next day. At the same time he demanded the written records of the doctors. As soon as these have been issued were, he sealed them and then turned to the civil doctors with the words: “We no longer need your services, go now out and don’t come back in.”

The next day (23 April) the military doctors gathered alone, took the arm out of the spirit and immediately declared that no blood was drawn from the arm, the child was in fell into the well and drowned. The authorities now had the child at night, without informing us, buried and set guards
at the grave, which are still there today.

Why now the body and the arm of the child so carefully guard unless it contains evidence that a blood withdrawal took place–
And why the civilian doctors took the records away– tear if they do not contain convincing evidence of the terrible crime of the Jews?

I hope that the French government will do everything to let justice triumph.

| I should also mention that the governor of Damascus
Sister called to take her with her to prison and our whole family to threaten us with exile if we dared to speak of it, that the Jews had murdered the child.”

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 99, July 6, 1890.)

Bialnftok 1890.
The Zudenlnabe.

One will still be aware of the tremendous sensation and the horrifying-ous noise that recently the London, Parisian and Viennese Jewish newspapers because allegedly a Russian doctor in Bialyftok (Bjelostok) a Jewish boy who robbed him, the word
"Thief" in three en with hellstone burned into the face
– This affair is now taking place in the Moscow "Rußky

istok" the following authentic representation: "In the orchard of the
Dr. Granowsky used to let various Jewish youths through the fence crawling and stealing fruit. That's how it was the last time. A

– 93 –

15-year-old Jewish boy crawled through the fence and stole cherries.
At the same time, the doctor's 5-year-old daughter was in the garden.
gate, which, noticing the thief, called out to him in Polish "Where are you climbing?" The thief picked up a stone and hurled it 5 violently on the child's head, so that its skin was cut off and the
The coachman, who was an eyewitness to this incident, grabbed the boy and led him to the ruler.
Dr. Granowsky, who had not yet seen the state of the Jewish boy had pawned his daughter, wanted to stop the thief from habit, smeared his upper lip with lapis and chased him of it. At the same time, the doctor's daughter died. The Jews feared responsibility and, to prevent it, wrote fhe, with the help of a Jewish doctor, on the forehead of the murderer in hot Braşic script – which the doctor is not even proficient in! – and on the right cheek in Russian writing with lapis the word "thief" ("before"). The forensic medical examination revealed that the death of the child's death as a result of the skull being crushed.
Jews wanted to make a demonstration at the child's funeral,
but the presence of the officers prevented disorder
We are now in fact curious whether among the all the London, Paris and Vienna Jewish newspapers, which were of the branded Jewish boy Europe to a crusade against wanted to incite Russia, even one single one would be honest enough will now honor the truth and do the right deed= to publish after having previously knowingly or inadvertently knowingly kept silent about the serious fact that the branded thieving Jewish boy formerly the five-year-old daughter= terchen of the doctor had murdered.. on
(From the German Social Papers No. 107, August 31, 1890.)

Painter Graef, fine models and the press.

occupied with only one thought, the gazes from all Berlin was attached to the new palace of criminal justice in Moabit. In society, as at home, in offices and counting houses, in shops and workshops, on the street and in public places every conversation, every discussion about the Graef trial; even little schoolgirls chatted about it and crowded around the show-windows of the art shops to display the photographs of the painter and to admire his models, which are currently before the jury. The court proceedings were followed with "serious excitement"—negotiation, and devoured the reports in the newspapers. In the

For 5 8 weeks the capital of the German Empire
ewi

Night of 7 to 8 October 1885, thousands waited before the courts=

aa of the verdict of the jury: in the halls and corridors
The crowd of spectators was jammed in the spacious building, and free = 1770 the numerous police teams were able to pass received free of charge.

But even after the trial ended, the excitement continued continued, and it received new nourishment. The newspapers said that he: lucrative topic; brochures were published which discussed the dispute—examined the matter from a legal, aesthetic and moral perspective; Yes, even in public places where people took a stand on this. While the big city, where events are concentrated, also the Most importantly, he quickly gives up again and always looks for new materials—The Graef trial remained on the agenda. The un—the attention he caused, the joy of scandal and the lust in the afterspeech alone cannot explain this lasting effect; Rather, it has completely different and far more noble causes. Trial is a terrifying sign of our time, which he marks with grey=fame loyalty reflected, 1 revealed and branded. He throws a bright spotlight on our social and political problems, ftents, which are sore and festering; it signals to everyone who wants to see the dangers that threaten our entire people, and he reveals the depths to which modern society thoughtlessly Such knowledge is not hidden from wide circles—remained borrowed, but inftinctively arose. Inftinctively the honest unspoiled man, which for him as well as for the common good

– 95 –

what is at stake here: disgust and abhorrence, unwillingness and indignation ft fulfill it. It is the moral consciousness of the people that through the Graef trial, as well as through the peddling of the press, by their systematic falsification of public opinion and feels outraged and cannot find peace because of it.

* *

On 24 March 1885, the 64-year-old Portrait painter Guftav Graef in Berlin, professor and member of the Academy of Arts, under suspicion of perjury, the instigation perjury and repeated crimes against morality arrested. Lawyer, Justice Councilor Simson, a brother of the first President of the Reich Court, and a childhood friend of Graef, as he later did as the defendant's defense attorney, rushed to the fworshippers, immediately into the prison cell of the arrested man and consulted with him. According to the new criminal procedure code, it allows the accused to participate in the preliminary investigation of a It seems that Graef immediately after the arrest, even before he had his first interrogation before the investigating judge insisted on appointing his youth and close friend Samson as his defender chooses and deals with it in detail.

Although Graef was a well-known person in Berlin society, ity, and the daily press is otherwise so greedy for sensation, also 1155 Reporters constantly wander around the houses of justice and almost took up residence here – the remarkable The event was carefully hushed up by the newspapers, and It took half a year until the news finally reached the public This extraordinary consideration proved from the outset that that Graef was a friend and protégé of the “liberal” press. he had been a conservative or even an anti-Semite, she would have immediately Noise beaten, Zeter=Mordio be evi day after day against him »Created a mood – as happened, for example, in the trial, which deals with the defamation of the court preacher Stöcker For all matters of public life, the conduct of the “liberal” press is still decisive because it represents the greatest spread, draws from the best sources, has rich resources, and A understands the machinations. The conservative papers lack these requirements; therefore they play a subordinate role, lagging mostly follow in the footsteps of the “liberal” newspapers and let themselves from these wet leads. . ne

The trial against Graef was supposed to take place in June, but was requested by the defense to obtain further material to bring about the discharge, was postponed. Only then did one read in the newspapers the name of the accused and rather vague Information about the crimes he is accused of. The date before the jury was scheduled for September 28. Höchst conspicuously, the press knew about it eight days before= b The public prosecutor can only provide circumstantial evidence lead, as direct witnesses for the von Graef and the co-defendants denied events do not exist. The accused, who have also been in hiding for half a year–

were the siblings Bertha and Anna

175, whom Graef used as models, and their mother, Auguste other.

About the trial before the jury, which lasted nine days, almost all Berlin newspapers published one and the same report. A group had been involved in its drafting– nofenfefschaft of reporters, and we use it according to the Reprint of the “National-Zeitung”, since this paper is one of those– who most keenly supported Graef and visibly tried to undermine the credibility of the prosecution witnesses.
Right at the beginning of the hearing, the chairman of the court felt Court, Regional Court Director Müller, to issue a reminder to to judge the jury. Unfortunately, the press, also prominent– protruding organs of the same, about this process many, entirely false and tendentious reports; he urged the jury
not to be influenced by it, but without any preconceptions– approach the matter with a sense of purpose and draw their attention to devote himself only to the negotiations themselves. As in such cases usual and required for reasons of moral decency,

The chairman had excluded the public, but only very
Not only were numerous entry fees charged to private individuals, tickets were issued, so that the auditorium was soon filled, and in the was even overcrowded in the last few days, but Mr. Müller also let the Reporter of the press. The Er= experiences which he had before the start of the trial had to make, and which led him to think from the outset about the fsworn to make such an urgent request. As Mr. Müller
As he later explained, he had counted on the press to be objective and truthful reports, but found itself in this situation– expectations were bitterly disappointed. In the course of the negotiations he found himsel forced to protest sharply against the reports in the Zeit=
ments, which were very distorted and aimed at the public
A large part of the press does not consider correct, do not report objectively, but work “with open coloring”.
If the newspapers continue like this, he would have to check whether he
It would not be better to exclude the reporters completely.

The charges against Graef and his associates were based on the following
Material. |

The 15-year-old Helene Hammermann has been standing for about three years for Berlin artists; in particular she became an actress Clearly (without clothing) related, and in this while she also served under Professor Graef. Ä

When she came to Haufe on December 17, 1883, she complained of her Mother that Graef had abused her. According to certain sources:
dealings with Graef, the parents reported the matter,
but thereby incurred charges of attempted extortion.
Although he was free to refuse to testify,

FE

which of course put him in a very bad and awkward situation, even in dire straits—dangerous — Graef swore that the accusation of Helene Hammermann was a lie. Also regarding another
At this point, Graef made use of the right to refuse to testify, no use; he further swore that he had no use for the Sisters Bertha and Anna Rother, who were his models, had intimate relationships. As a result, Mrs.
Hammermann was sentenced to two years for attempted extortion, and the 1 other, named Krish, sentenced to one and a half years in prison judges. —

Bertha Rother, who is currently 21 years old, is now proved that she had already been a model at the age of six and since her 13th year of life she has been a model for Professor Graef.
At the age of 14 she was already working as a prostitute on the Street, figured at the age of 17 in the register of the Berlin
Morality police, was arrested by the same for conspicuous, cheeky behavior
The defendant was warned several times and, as the prosecutor stated, expressed, “a prostitute in the word’s most daring manner interpretation”. Despite all this, Graef has written exuberant poems addressed to Bertha Rother, made longer trips with her,
led into the theater by his arm 3c. c. — — N

According to the report in the “National=Zeitung”, Graef has Geigen trial, Hammermann denied under oath, Bertha Rother to have given large sums of money and claims that he and again paid her a higher fee just as a model.
fhowever, it turned out that this claim was highly untrue. After Before his arrest, Graef had to admit that he had been with the Rother family to have sacrificed about 35,000 marks, and this confession is confirmed by letters, invoices and receipts that were found.
A note from 1882 bears the following inscription in Graef’s hand:
note: “For Bertha to travel to Bremen 3300 Marks.” — In ver=
In various letters, Graef defends himself against the excessive demands for money Mother Rother; “he twists and turns like a chained slave, who wants to break his chains!” said the prosecutor later.
Graef writes: “I have nothing left! I can’t give anything anymore!

I am a man of 60 years and have to provide for my family." –
"The good times when I earned big money are over.
colossal expenses which I have made for you and yours have to ruin my family." – "They always demand and always money without even thanking me. In four months
I have spent over 7000 marks on you and Bertha, which Travel included. Where should I get it from? It is not possible keep it up!" – –

Anna Rother, now 18 years old, is 14 years old and left his parents' house and has been making a living from modeling ever since.
She declares under oath that between Graef and her sister Bertha never had an intimate relationship. Afterwards she but made a full confession before the investigating judge; she knew that she had sworn falsely and told in detail how

Iv. 7

– 98 –

they were besieged by Graef and Bertha and finally determined fe to commit perjury In the meantime, however, a wonderful
She allegedly knows nothing about more, she has everything 5 she can no longer remember anything,
She denies everything. Graef, her mother and sister assure:
agreeing that Anna Rother is not quite in her right mind and always was mentally weak.

Anna Rother is also guilty of perjury, Bertha Rother, as well as Graef, accused of incitement to perjury, and by the mother
Finally, the prosecutor claims that Rother had committed the serious guilty of pimping, always encouraging the fornication of their daughters and therefore also against Graef for years the shameless– most extortions committed. %

On the evening of the first day of the trial and the next
In the morning, "liberal" papers published colorful articles in which they
The accused were described in detail in terms of their appearance and character and treated more or less as heroes and martyrs. Especially
They praised the pleasant appearance of Professor Graef, his noble Attitude, his confident demeanor and the complete calmness which he throughout the entire trial. Regarding Bertha Rother read: "Her pretty, piquant face hardly testifies to the long period of pre-trial detention. Her entire up– step shows great chic and she seems to feel so confident that She repeats with a smiling face her very depressed sister and mother tries to comfort her." – Far less lovingly was there– painted against Anna Rother, and from the mother Rother a completely different– horrifying picture drawn. To the justified astonishment of lawyers and laymen undertook it now, when not even the In–

. was over, "liberal" no for the defendants to create a mood, to call public opinion for them and to appeal to the compassion and forbearance of the jury. The strongest achievement in this regard was made by the "National-Zeitung"; it even surpassed far the "Börsen-Courier" of the Davidsohn brothers, and the article, which she published in her morning issue 542 of September 29, 1885—published, deserves to be completely preserved as a lasting memory is reproduced. The noble paper writes:

"It is a moving drama unfolding out there in the justice system—palace is currently playing. With tense interest and participation wide circles follow the course of the negotiations. As always the outcome of the trial against the man who, from an—seemingly enviable activity in order to a number of serious offenses, he has the reassurance, the pros and cons of his trial, who only care about finding out the truth. The pre—fident of the Court, Mr. District Court Director Müller is also today the strict but patient humane chairman that he in the Dickhoff trial gained admiration; the prosecutor, Mr. Heinemann, is an accuser who in all his dark activity warm-blooded feeling has been preserved; in his defender,

— 99 —

Mr. Justice Counselor Simson, the eloquent advocate and take a lawyer to his side, whose assumption of the defense makes the matter appear to be not hopeless. In the report about the events of the first day is summarized what been established so far. It is already sufficient to put the question to formulate: Is the accused artist a criminal or a Unhappy man? — At first glance, what he himself seems to confessed, enough to crush 10 u. In the practice of his art He meets a model. He is accompanied by the family known to the other two sisters, the mother. The latter brings him the youngest daughter herself as a model. He gets into the Spell of this family. He moves in their midst, although they Education is far below him, as in his own house. He makes enormous sacrifices for them, he gives up a small fortune. The older girl has done it 1 0. He can without the same not live, it follows him on his travels, he lets it be educated, wants to future. He sings about it in glowing poems and takes her back after hearing that she is an unworthy woman, Rejected. And on the occasion of another process, in which based on his testimony, he was convicted of extortion, he swears that his relationship with the co-defendant was purely artificial fcient, friendly, morally untouchable. — How do you see now from the — there can be no doubt about it — have drawn the unfortunate man into their net? Bertha Rother sits in the dock like an actor. She explains that this in fact, it is her profession. Two beings are embodied in her. When she sits there, her gaze lowered, and then calmly opens her eyes – strikes, then the picture actually seems to come out of the frame jump, to which the artist has given its features; fairytale, dream – She is so ruifch, like she is removed from the world. But when she suddenly turns her head and looks around with a cynical smile, then she is in the mood ment the whore, as she describes the prosecution from her youth. Trusting, believing – so the man claims – he has stood by my side all these years. Cluelessly He spent tens of thousands on them, & they sank ever deeper and was picked up by the police. She was his ideal, here he got he found his artistic inspiration, it transported him from a world of realism into an ecstasy, such as the ordeal of a true a work of art. The relationship between genius and Madness has often been emphasized. Does it play a role here too? Not Only the judge, the doctor, the psychiatrist has in such a Fall to say a decisive word. Bertha's sister Rother, Anna, a few years younger, gives the impression of being half. Idiots. She is also a model, but the prosecution does not accuse her relationships with the artist; she should give the sister advice have given to swear falsely (Sic) With the affirmation of guilt – ger of the other defendants, the charges against the mother. She is said to be the matchmaker who sells her own flesh and Blood exposed to destruction. And – if the injustice in the , 7*

= 100 =

That should not have happened, it is not her merit. She is a Woman whose depravity is deeply engraved in her face. separated from her husband, she is at the same time – an old, ugly woman – Mistress of a cab driver and protector of prostitutes. She would have no objection to the act of which the prosecution speaks If one believes the defendant that he has been years only filled with the thought of his task, his painting To make “The Fairy Tale” his artistic salvation, being and saw in Bertha Rother his ideal, without which this rescue of honour did not succeed; if one considers it possible that This thought became a morbid obsession with him that he the possibility of his model, which in this case was his ideal, lose, fell into despair that without her he would have no success despaired, it is understandable that he made the enormous sacrifices that he was blind and acted like a child. Whether all this If it is as he presents it, that will be the further course of the negotiations – His appearance in court was confident. He denied of all the incriminating allegations made by the prosecution. He confesses the individual evidence. Only with regard to the motives to fhis actions, which are so heavily incriminating, he deviates from the state lawyers.” – Perhaps the editor-in-chief of the “Na-national newspaper is itself the author of this famous article. Mr. Fritz u 3 95 Advocat, has the strange honor-greed, at the same time be the first reporter of his paper 1, and he seems namely in the local reporter the most important employee of a distinguished political newspaper. The most colorful and piquant Notes in the local section of the "National=Zeitung" tend to speak of their Chief Editor, and he also greatly enriches the arts section. His dexterity and writing ability are unparalleled; betray only too clearly the Jewish origin of the versatile

Recently, Fritz Dernburg has even made an attempt at field of epic poetry. From his pen appeared fimperially in the feuilleton of the "National=Zeitung" an eee Er= count "Um einen Fidibus", which the author "Eine Berliner Ski and yet the impression began while that was still delt, so that the ink on the manuscript was barely dry can be. i

As is well known, the Press Law prohibits the publication of the statement of claim or other official documents of an otrafeffe process before they have been read out in public session, or the ver-driving has reached its end Pre But how much greater is the danger, which threatens if the press is already during the trial for or against the accused, witnesses or expert party takes, to make opinion and mood, prosecutor, judge and tried to manipulate and influence jurors; if they Judge falls into the arm, so to speak; before even in the evidence-admission has already occurred, the evidence to be presented to the jury

8 | | zze"
which in fact is a mixture of criminal and ee ist. The Graef trial already points to this.

=. 0

Questions formulated, and these questions in advance and in their sense answered?! – Shouldn't the law provide for such an undertaking punished with severe punishment, and would not have to face the whole Public unanimously raise?! – It is precisely the "liberal" press, who otherwise always have the greatest respect for the authority and majesty of Judge A and gets into holy anger when one of their Opponent dares to criticize a judicial decision in any way. This= but sometimes it was a conservative paper, namely the "Kreuz=Zeitung", which the tendentious and blasphemous activities of the "liberal" press in the appropriate light. The "Börfen=Courier" of the brothers David's son called her a hypocritical hypocrite and continued, with the heroines of the scandalous trial in a Jewish-sly manner to flirt, the "delicate oval face" of a gastro-girl and her "wonderfully beautiful, deep dark eyes." After the second the Hann family on 30 September, the "National=Zeitung" the Hammermann family and the agent Krischen, whose statements which placed a heavy burden on Professor Graef, a devastating examination. On the other hand, she wrote of Graef himself: "It also seems very strange today again the attitude of the main defendant, whose healthy appearance fight stands out. His en does not deny even in this circumstance the best company; his answers are calm, determined, moderate, but they give the impression that they come from a effort, which is busy with completely different things than those around him and yet touch him so closely, as if he had to visions that are always at the forefront of his mind. It is hardly believable from what humble beginnings he created the ideal= figure of his "fairy tale"; it could almost seem as if Even now his thoughts were still constantly searching for the final outcome pressure that he gives to this figure that always eludes him wanted." – But even the "National=Zeitung" was disgusted by the swamp that the witness interrogation revealed, too much in the nose, and she let herself The next day we heard: "The picture which today's day of the sensational trial in Moabit by the family Rother unrolled, was a very sad one. The father, formerly a potter= journeyman, lives separated from his family, with a wife from her husband feparate washerwoman. His relatives describe him as a Drunkard, and the mere sight shows the completely degenerate menen people. Mrs. Rother, a person who has grown old in vice, lives with a cab driver. Bertha Rother sought today– to hold on to the mask of bombastic pathos that they presented to conceal her true character. A witness, which found accommodation in the Rother's house, described one of the domestic scenes in which the Rother women, mother and daughter, showered herself with insults, which were written down the pen bristles. That a man of education and artistic fchem swing in such a family remains a riddle." – As various newspapers unanimously stated, Professor Graef was in the house of Mother Rother, who was husband and lives in a common-law marriage with a cab driver, also public prostitutes e for years a very frequent guest and complete house friend. He had house and room keys because he allegedly wanted to be able to convince himself at any time– what was going on in the Rother's apartment. He also came u all hours, often after 10 o'clock in the evening, Bertha Rother kissed

– 102 –

he hand, forehead or mouth, ate dinner with the family and then withdrew with Bertha to see her naked and to study his model by lamplight. Even after Bertha had left her mother and was supported by a trainee Graef continued his visits to Rother's and now checked whether the youngest daughter, 13-year-old Lieschen, would be suitable as a model, but found them still too undeveloped and therefore subjected them even more times a visit. When the members of the Rother family got into a fight with each other, which happened not infrequently, then they hurled the wildest insults at each other and threw exactly the evil things that the prosecutor is now accusing her of. On one such occasion, Bertha threatened that she wanted to kill her mother to the gallows for pimping, and then mother and daughter. Anna called Bertha "professor's whore", and this replied that Anna had sworn falsely. The witness Anna Adler complained about Bertha: she had been suffering from a relationship with Graef; at the age of 13 she sacrificed her body for a measly 30 marks; every piece that is in the apartment and in the mother's business actually belongs to her, Bertha, was purchased with the money she earned. Anna Rother told several people that she could no longer cope with see that Bertha is dealing with so many people; she has also spoke to Professor Graef, whereupon he said: "Then I will start a relationship with you; you do not so like Bertha." Among the Rother family's friends It was taken for granted that Professor Graef would go to Bertha in an intimate relationship; this assumption was also in the circles of Artists like the models spread. – Bertha's father and her beloved married sister refused to testify in court.

In the trial against Hammermann for extortion, District Court Director Bachmann presided. He was was now questioned as a witness and stated that he had then killed Graef. asks: Has there been such a relationship between you and Bertha Rother? Relationship existed? – and on 1 Graef, the question has was: Does such a relationship exist? – Attorney Graef at at the time the defender of Mrs. Hammermann, agrees with Graef and is of the opinion that he, Bernstein, not the chairman, has the Question asked; trainee Ifaak is of the same opinion, and Trainee Salomonfohn should, according to the request of the Vertheidiger Graef's confirmed; however, he was not questioned. Court Judge Kandelhardt and District Judge Dietz, the current Vorfitzer in the Hammermann trial, remember the wording of the

I cannot remember exactly, but I believe that it is not in the räfen, but in the perfect tense. Director Bachmann,

– 103 –

who has been serving for many years as chairman of courts in criminal cases, maintains that the question emanated from him and clothed in the words he gave, which which in itself is highly probable.

His claim is supported by the statements of the painter Dielitz and Professor Thumann fully confirmed this. Nevertheless, the "liberal" press from the fact that the witnesses Bernstein and Isaac disagree about whether they can capitalize on it. Under the title "Memory in Court", Jule "Volks-Zeitung" by Mr. Holdheim & Phillips published an article culminating in the statement that nobody actually knows what the Defendant Graef actually swore. Between the There is an insoluble contradiction between the witnesses questioned. "So much Heads, so many 1 statements! This creates a legal uncertainty of the most alarming kind. Our criminal proceedings are suffering, as the incident clearly proves that there is a serious problem. Graef's statement is not recorded; the accusation of Mein-oath against him is based solely on the uncertain memory of the Witnesses. – This article, which suddenly turns against the new penal procedural order, which the "liberals" have always regarded as a special achievement and as their own merit "above-quickly took the "National-Zeitung". At the same time she felt the to defend oneself against the accusation made in the "Kreuz-Zeitung" She wrote: "In a number of papers, the desire to make the discussion of the Moabit conference The sensational trial of Sun is currently underway. A very 5 Begin. It can be rightly said that for some

agen all of Berlin is talking about this process. Only the old remain silent about it, especially those who are affected by the impressions to report on the proceedings from their own perspective – that is simply tasteless! – One might as well tell the press to remain silent about a parliamentary debate, out of concern that the latter could be "influenced". To clarify The press must participate in the shaping of public opinion as soon as public interests are in question. Whether the defendants are guilty or not We leave it to the jury to judge whether they are guilty and Judges. But apart from the criminal office of the court and ul results, there is something else of the highest interest, which Understanding the state of mind, views and motives of a man of great importance in his art – an attempt that every individual takes on the problem and solves it to the best of his ability. The hypocrisy and hypocrisy in individual 1 1 5 the servility against the daß-most instincts, which the mask of morality takes, with whose Because it has absolutely nothing to do with us, it cannot impress." a |

Before entering the fifth day's session, The President, Mr. Müller, as mentioned, urged himself to introduce a new to address the jury. He realized with horror, that the management of the negotiations is more and more in his hands

– 104 –

was withdrawn and gradually passed into that of the reporters, which in their own way shaped the so-called public opinion and thereby somewhat obscuring the actual results of the process. They led the audience into believing that it was not simply about perjury, but only about the relationship of the painter to his models, and a question of pure morality. – The President then took the floor and said: “Gentlemen, sworn, I urge you to also read what the press has already now not only in reports, but in summarizing judgments Articles, in no way to be taken into account. It would be highly hasty and unjustified, you wanted to pass judgment on guilt or innocence. If other people believe this, to be able to answer, then it is highly wrong and a frivolous undertaking. I have been told by various lawyers that the press misses essential things in its reports—files silently and highlights unimportant things that they even make completely false state allegations, which also concerned the district court judge Johl In a newspaper report that was presented to me, I find confirmed this himself. He is held as if I were the witness Clara Adler was not even questioned and allowed to give a statement, but only read the protocol to her while she herself I didn't know what to say. That is untrue, only the Reporters are responsible. – – – I tell you all this. because I urgently wish that you are not misled by such incorrect representations—positions cannot be influenced. It is very possible that You can no longer remember individual points and printed reports.” – The President rightly began to fear that the jury might misinterpret the actual results of the Evidence taken with the distorted reports in the press change and trust the reporters more than their ears. – The speech was not without effect. The “National: Zeitung” felt so hurt that no one in the evening number Readers were not given the necessary report and only remarked: “About the We report on today's events in the Graef trial in connection with in the “Morgenblatt”. Published only the next morning (October 3rd)—read the speech of the jury president and wrote rather sheepishly: “There is a prospect that the proceedings in the Graef trial will come to an end today. It will be the be felt as a relief on all sides. Because every day brings new repulsive details from the cesspool of depravity and neglect, in which – with only a few exceptions – the whole society, which appears before the court, moves. It is The question has been raised several times, and we have also asked ourselves the same whether it would have been more appropriate to follow up on the revelations of this To close one's eyes to the trial by keeping a complete silence It should not be overlooked that the fee ea

Reproduction of the negotiations brings with it many inconveniences. But they are by no means as serious as ignoring such conditions. In our housing conditions it is quite un=

j

==: 405. =

avoidable that there are, often by chance, contacts of these rejected elements with the classes which resist any approximation of the= believe to be safe from it. Only with a clear eye can one evils that, in all their horrific ugliness, have been exposed! – For the next few days and until At the end of the trial, the “National Zeitung” renounced its summarizing, condemnatory article.” She even had a fit of morality, and was thus appointed for Sunday, October 4th, take: “One of the ugliest phenomena that the Moabit What the trial has produced is the idle curiosity which Ir. the “main heroine” of this. One could almost believe that here, in the audience's ranks, a piece of Parisian life takes place Building. It has already been reported that an admirer of the ertha Rother after the end of the morning session on the Corridor a bouquet of roses. It is a fact, that the holders of an admission ticket were asked is to do the same for a short time and for a very considerable gratuity to others. In the art shops the picture is “The Fairy Tale” has been out of print for a few days. Graef's “Felicia” has been well received. But now In a number of art shops, the pictures are not only Professor Graef s – there is nothing to be said against that – but also the works of Bertha Rother in various formats. The poor retouching shows how they are made, know that the demand is colossal, as is also the case with the owners of the art shops confirm this.” Several witnesses testified about Anna Rother, including her so-called groom that she was lying and unreliable. She seems to have followed her sister's path from the outset to be; she has also been warned by the police and at the age of 14 or 13. District Court Judge Johl, as The examining magistrate, gray-haired, questioned the girl four times. Before the jury he says: Anna Rother was presented to me and without any intervention on my part freely and openly the accusation against De Schfter and Graef – President: You have already raised your questions Anna is fully capable of making decisions? – District Court Judge Johl: Absolutely! I have been an investigating judge for a long, very long time and must fay: I have seldom seen a person who has such a definite fay. If all the invited guests expressed themselves so precisely, then we would only need half of our time. I have a conversation I once had with Anna in the presence of the Forensic physicians had concluded that they had an excellent simulation lantin. She suddenly didn't want to know anything anymore; not even know what perjury is. I remember a scene where they came to the interrogation crying and told me that she was physically weak and that Graef and her sister shamefully committed such a moment to persuade her to take the oath. – Now he= A highly significant incident occurred. The chairman asks

W ee
ee ie Be

– 106 –

the attending physician, Privy Medical Councillor Professor Dr. Liman, whether he had anything to say about the statement of the District Court Judge Johl Liman then gives the wonderful answer: It will be flater my task will be to refute the assumption of simulation–
– The President replies sharply: Your task, Mr. Secret– advice, will only be to provide a scientific opinion according to your best I must ask that all such premature notices be – Immediately afterwards, the state complains auwalt that the defense lawyers again had disputes with the court doctors– talks. The chairman now officially prohibits this, also has police officers watch over it to ensure that there is no beginning of the sessions or during the breaks. – In In the prison cell, Anna Rother repeatedly burst into convulsive tears and convulsive twitches, but also the overseers suspected that they were faking it. Nevertheless, the three men– medical examiners, Privy Councillors Lewin, Wolff and Liman provided their expert The expert opinion states that Anna Rother is not simulating, but suffering from a pathological mental disorder based on epilepsy. According to Dr. Wolff, she is not even able to to fully follow the court proceedings and to properly Dr. Lewin claims that epileptics habitually lie and Dr. Liman assures that the terrible disease is necessary– may at any time be epileptic
0 who did not allow themselves to be subjugated by it, e.g. āsar, Mohammed, Napoleon. – Public Prosecutor Heinemann, however, fuffered. In his folid he said: With all Respect for medicine, I must say that doctors have many Declaring people mentally ill who are mentally healthy in 1. I do not consider it impossible that Anna Rother in her cunning and cunning all her wrong answers invented to deceive the experts, and if Especially in the critical moments the forensic doctors have to face the If you put the defendant up and look at her carefully, then this is still a open signal for the same, in order to then with all force comedy play. – In fact, even the 58 5 in the newspapers confirm the opinion of the public prosecutor, although they are so strong are biased in favor of the accused. Anyone who has read these reports Anyone who reads it impartially will not be able to avoid the same impression. A number of people were swayed by the reputation of the head-accused. Trainee Rosenstock is with the family of Professor Graef, and declares that he I admire the latter like a father. Privy Councillor Siegmund, for 25 years family doctor at Graef, gives him a brilliant reference, and considers him incapable of a common deed. Graef initially had to fight hard for life, worked and strives to achieve an ever higher degree of fifth perfection= The honesty of his character has given him many He has made friends who still stand by him. The eulogy which Professor Dr. Julius Leffing gave to the

– 107 –

He has known Graef for 20 years and has learned to appreciate him as a highly honorable man. In a longer presentation position, which repeatedly deeply affects the defendant, Mr. Leffing a picture of the development of the artist Graef, of his achievements and ideals. Despite the great successes, this friend is not satisfied with just being a portrait painter. One day Graef told him that he had been fortunate enough to finally to find a model with which he could realize his ideals. That is why he went with Bertha Rother to Rügen to see her in reeds, to paint in the open air. Leffing told him at the time that would make a bad story out of it, but the artist rejected such concerns. How Rubens turned his wife into a whole series of ideal creations, Graef thought of Bertha Rother to utilize. It is very understandable that from the continuous touching such a girl gives you inspiration= which are generally no longer found in older men. Mr. Leffing, what does that mean in German?) – Much cooler were the actual professional colleagues of Graef. Defender Simfon raises the question: whether an artist who is lucky enough to have a Modell that fully reflects the thought that lives within it. to vivid expression – especially when this artist I am already in old age – not able to to spend huge sums of money on such a model? – Professor Ewald verft: I am quite unable to answer that; I mean, that must be left up to each individual. – Professor Guffow explains: It may well happen that artists look at a model= substantial gifts; however, certain cases in which amounts I am not aware of any donations to many thousands. – – With The defense had no luck with these witnesses for the defense. According to the reporters' assurances, which, due to their high level of education are preferably called upon to make such a judgment, The numerous poems that Graef wrote to Bertha Rother by a "rare perfection of form", they are "fully poetic verve" and testify to "a warm, deep feeling pfinden"; some are of our poetic beauty" and true

"Pearls". While President Müller, who has a melodious organ and has a special art of elocution, reads poems, holds Bertha Rother shyly puts the handkerchief in front of her face, but giggles constantly under the same cloth after the samples, which the time of publications, 50 sets Graef's poetry out of bombast and Reminiscences together: they are verses such as every tailor today journeyman or shop assistant 3 However, quite a few are somewhat ambiguous and offensive, e.g. the acrostic to Bertha Rother:

Rose, slender wild rose,
Dew from your young womb,
Open your fresh blossom!
Breathes youth into my soul.

When the President was criticized for certain expressions and phrases
When Graef expressed concerns, he replied that the imagination really

– 108 –

Eclectic far behind, and that one therefore from poems not to draw conclusions about facts. If necessary, he asked about this to Mr. Paul Lindau, who is in the audience, as Experts to be questioned. – Paul Lindau, who is a somewhat expensive career, according to his insurance, despite the strikingly Old Testament physiognomy, the son of a pastor, graduated from a university and received a doctorate in philosophy acquired – is present at all important events, whether it is a celebration or an inauguration, a spiritualist session or a flight. As a personally friend of Count Wilhelm Bismarck, Paul Lindau appears always at the social events organized by the Chancellor; he was even during the Three Emperors' Meeting in Skierniewice, and was introduced to Grand Duke Vladimir. Paul Lindau was also at the jury trial against Graef on the square, and he has expressed it in various articles, correspondences and reports-actions. But that the defendant as an expert in matters of poetry was just too funny.

When the "National-Zeitung" by Salomon and Dernburg:
next fell silent, the "Volks-Zeitung" by Holdheim and Phillips for Graef all the more violently into the dishes. The ratio of the Painter to his model had inspired her to the following dithyramb-ghostly: "Whoever delights in beauty for decades, into a state of beauty intoxication that makes him believe that with the help of a youthful and beautiful woman to conjure up a return of paradise to this earth. Such a fanatic regrets that the tree of knowledge has no apple left to give away if he only has this Eve in shade of the same may rest." – "Perhaps the charm of life too much from art. The beautiful Bertha became Fairy who showed him the morning light, full of blossoming spring life-surgling land of youth reopened." – Under the title "Gloffen

On the Graef trial, the Jewish newspaper Volkszeitung published a series of Articles, and opened to the court and public prosecutor—walt a formal bombardment. She wrote: "The painful gate: tur, which has been directed at Professor Graef and his co-defendants, and which one calls modern judicial procedure—driving of a civilized state has a lot of moments brought to light, which public opinion, whether the outcome—course of the process, whichever he wants, for a long time to come—The paper simply claimed that the prosecution on perjury the "contradictory statements of judges and lawyers lawyers" and the testimony of the lawyer Bern—ftone does not seem to exist at all for the public prosecutor's office; that "with tenacious persistence the OT backstairs clap broad and delve into family details that are hardly relevant to the trial relevant". In the search for witnesses for the prosecution, the Farmers Rügen's opportunity for a free trip to Berlin, and it is not excluded that even the hotel maids from would be invited to share their keyhole and door crack observations respects. — "The administrative accessories" be brought in to make the accused look good in the eyes of the to make the sworn man appear as a man to whom the That could have been overlooked." — "A deep indignation went through the publikum, as one reads the beautiful poems in which Graef expresses his feelings ffeffeffeffer of a legal Inquifitorium; when one reads these descriptions of rummaging around and breaking down the words of a poet structured as if poems were recorded witness statements." — The Jewish "Volks=Zeitung" declared that nothing was of no interest to them. "than the approval or disapproval of the President of the Court, Müller"; fhe, however, "flatly denies him the right to comment on the press reports to sit in court." "He did not criticize our reports: practices; they are above all doubt." — Well roared, Löwe! But the reports of the Jewish "Volks=Zeitung" are the same, which were printed in almost all Berlin newspapers, and which the comradeship of reporters has just written. Afterwards They have also appeared in bookstores and are known as "original reports of the Berliner Volks=Zeitung"; the famous articles of this paper form the appendix of the brochure.

— 109 —

The "strict but patient and humane" presiding judge Müller and the acting "warm-blooded" public prosecutor Heinemann, because they conscientiously carried out their duties, in the course of the actions in the "liberal" press very much in S Nach= which the taking of evidence is completed and the questions of guilt are established were, Mr. Heinemann stood up and said: "Gentlemen, sworn! We are at the end of a negotiation that will with deep disgust because of the unspeakable filth which

The impression is even more disgusting than the dirt is grouped around a man who is on the threshold of old age, a respected artist, a husband and family man. When faced with such a man, one can only decide with a heavy heart to accept such a difficult task to file a complaint. The filing of the complaint is not the work of a single official, several instances are required giving, and each instance is fully aware of its responsibility and been quite conscious. – A so-called public opinion to make their views and judgments known to the people to give the sworn man a hand; it is the same part of the press, who, from the very beginning, without knowing the situation, rushes has to stand up for the accused, his innocence in all colors to paint and to recognize the filing of the charges as a mistake. One must make a distinction between the public unity, which is truly a reflection of the popular mood, and any mere ae Menue Before the latter I have, and hopefully you too, not the slightest respect.” – Mr. Heinemann hit the Black, when he made the following statement: “It is a peculiar

Paris, Boulogne and London on the iode of international relations

e Er 1

.

Experience that the press 9 v a defendant, if he has a ge-my husband is, usually does not occur – unless it is about resistance against the state power; but that they immediately appears on the scene when the accused of high society and 5 if it is a crime against the morality. – It is a shameful distortion of the truth-ity when the newspaper writers claim that we are indulging in moral sermons, and intended to give the artist a moral mask This kind of assessment is shameful and disgusting than all the dirt that i A has stirred up. Certainly it will There are cases where an artist enters into relationships with his model, especially if he is unmarried and free. Even if he is married- The accused would not be accused of such relationships

be made – if he had not committed perjury. –

3 It is rare that someone is charged with blackmail- search can be carried out if he has not committed anything; under this Illumination it becomes understandable that a woman like Mother Rother, fo long been able to carry out blackmail against Graef. – The State-Attorney requested the guilty verdict against Graef, Anna Rother and Mother Rother; on the other hand, the innocence in regard to Bertha Rother, because the evidence against Diele was insufficient.

Naturally, the defenders vigorously took the side of the offended press, and asserted that the voice of the newspapers this time the voice of the people. The two lawyers, who who supported the main defendant, competed with each other in the admiration of her client. Attorney Kleinholz to the assurance: I am aware of the deficiencies in our legal proceedings in this negotiation became so clear that I had to lübbe, these rooms voluntarily as defenders no longer to enter! – All the defenders considered it appropriate, to make ample use of our classics, Goethe, Schiller, and Uhland. Attorney Dr. Holz compared the Bertha Rother with Mary Stuart. Lawyer Caffel, however, met when perhaps unintentionally, hit the nail on the head when he declared: The difficulty in finding the truth in this 5 lies in what the poet expresses with the words: What we all ensnares the common man!

The jury deliberated for nearly two hours, until midnight; then they returned and declared all the defendants not fured. They reportedly decided the questions of guilt by 10 to 2 Voices denied. Concerning the painter and his models, They soon agreed, and only Mother Rother had the long be– advice. That this interesting woman was also released– Few had expected that this would be the case; however, it was cannot be avoided, because otherwise the other defendants should have been convicted. In general, the statement The jury did not find it strange. Mr. 1 had told them made it easy by making a statement that would otherwise be a prosecutor rarely hears, although it is certainly not superfluous

– 110 –

*

– 111 –

is, and was indeed necessary here. The public prosecutor explained the jury from the outset: “If you are to decide on the guilt of the If you have the slightest doubt about the accused, you must acquit”. Despite the numerous moments and despite the statements but the impeccable witnesses who incriminate the defendants, Doubts about their guilt always remain possible; another Under the circumstances, the jury would hardly be able to Have had the courage to condemn them, especially considering that they had been in custody for half a year, so in any case they had already suffered a severe punishment. Ä The press, however, never had the slightest reason to

to warm up for Graef and his comrades. The claim that Charges should not have been brought at all because it was there was a lack of sufficient incriminating material – is simply stupid – | dreift After the full confession that Anna Rother made on her own drives, and repeated it three times, the Er= The charges will be lifted. Every lawyer knows that. Only when the During the fourth interrogation, Anna Rother suddenly wanted to talk about her earlier ani confessions no longer know anything, and gave himself completely to Dan That the public prosecutor's office is not prepared for such a sudden change believed, but took the girl for a malingerer, is probably felffual. The dangerous defects, which the penal procedural order suffers – e.g. the non-recording of witnesses testify in the proceedings before the criminal chamber – should in no way be denied. But why are these deficiencies only revealed when Trial Graef, and only now is he getting so worked up about it?! – Furthermore, it can be readily admitted that the examination of the witnesses sometimes went into too much detail and took too much evidence assumed somewhat worrying dimensions. But was this not even more so the case with the frog of the court preacher Stöcker against the Jewish “Freie Zeitung” are the motions for evidence of the both defense attorneys of the accused Jew Bäcker, Mr. Sachs and Munkel is not endless and outrageous? Was not detailed proof raised about the most ridiculous trifles and about things which, as is subsequently acknowledged in knowledge, feveral were not relevant? – This almost unprecedented proof= uprising took place at the expense of the so shamefully insulted, in order to “Witness” Stöcker into the “Accused” Stöcker. They happened to the great cheer of the “liberal” press, which was entirely in the It was found in order that the Jewish defendant, the court preacher Stöcker asked: Didn't you repeat your grades at school? called a “lying boy”? – And did not jump In the Graef trial, the defense lawyers were just as concerned with the witnesses? Were they not forced by the lawyers, to reveal their most secret past and things 7 even which bring them dishonor and their reputation to all gossips reveal? – | By branding the accused a martyr, the press At the same time, it elevated him to the status of a great artist. There was no hesitation

– 112 –

to compare him with Rubens and Titian, even with Raphael. That= substantially, however, Graef was only a portrait painter of moderate talent. He is not even particularly lucky in hitting; In particular, his portraits of historical contemporaries are not satisfactory. Due to his acquaintance in Jewish circles, Graef was as a portrait painter, and he was well paid. In court It was determined that his income in 1881 was around 31,000 Mark, in 1882 even 61,000 Mark, in 1883 again only 30,000 Mark– Only in old age, when creativity is already waning,

Graef became ambitious to devote himself to another area of art as he thought, to take higher paths. Because it he lacked real talent, he threw himself into the isolation-ual, sensational. He painted naked women, in the most sought-after and daring positions and situations. His "Felicia", which was created in 1878 – a woman lounging around on pillows naked woman with seductive expression – is said to be named after a Parisian Model painted, the mistress of a banker for the first time– Bertha Rother was then chosen as the model for the "fairy tale" used; it is again a naked, voluptuous woman, brightly lit by sunlight irradiated. When this picture was exhibited at the Berlin Exhibition in 1881, fitus, it was completely rejected by critics. Of course, the naked Human form has always been a reproach for painters and images– hauer, and as such it can be pure admiration, without every sensual aftertaste, but with the De and the In "fairy tales" the naked woman is not the end but the means; both men speculate on the 5 and lust, and they may – bluntly said – can be described as brothel pictures. Therefore It was a gross scandal that the photograms in Berlin were hung in the shop windows, and women and girls, also from the better classes, were not ashamed to take up post here and to enjoy those images. In Hanover, the police banned– President von Brandt banned the exhibition of the photographs because they Portrait of a dissolute prostitute. In Hamburg They were seized by order of the Public Prosecutor. In Berlin, however, the nonsense was allowed to happen, and in the press one could read: Professor Graef will now be even more recognized as a painter in the fashion comes, his "Felicia" and his "Fairy Tale" become popular in the broadest sense, but Bertha Rother will be a hot wooed beauté fein. 2:

In fact, during the trial, not only the painter, ft also his model day after day in the course. When Bertha Rother led into the courtroom, or back to the prison cell= was created, men crowded around her in the corridors, gave her bouquets of flowers and gave her a formal ovation. The chairman had to repeatedly reprimand this shameless behavior, and to control the same, call the police. Whoever this girl fbeautiful or even desirable, suffers from a mis= spoiled taste. Her facial features, her whole being betray clearly what she has been for a long time. Her behavior in court

a FR

– 113 –

was extremely indecent, not infrequently cheeky. She let people look around freely= wandering around, shaking their heads, smiling superiorly and disdainfully Gestures accompanied the President's questions and the answers the prosecution witnesses, so that the chairman was compelled to give her (here reprimand; once he had her punished even lead away. The lessons she received at Graef's expense, seems to have done little against her last lover, the Trainee lawyer, who was also questioned, stressed to HR that the girl's letters suggest that she was an "uneducated person".

Without the furious partisanship of the press for the painter and this model, the process would have taken place quietly. After the defendants were Fa Ip anen, one would have thought that the press would now calm down and forget the scandal if possible. She would have thereby harmed her charges and herself. The yellow press has done the best service. But on the contrary; the freedom of speech was water on her mill, and she celebrated it with Drums and trumpets. Now it also seemed to the "National Newspaper", that the moment was favorable to end their forced restraint to give up, and again gave her sensitive reporter the word. He began in issue 5 of October 8th as follows: "The scenes which took place before, during and after the verdict are up, defy all description." -- "At 10 o'clock, when the Latins retreated, a mass migration began to the Palace of Justice in Moabit. All social circles were under the A crowd that numbered about three thousand people and itself filled the square in front of the court. There were two painful hours, which the numerous friends of Professor Graef

Fifteen minutes after midnight, the German people slowly entered the hall. It was an embarrassing, a dead silence occurred. The tension with which one awaits the verdict against a law, cannot be described in words; it was a nerve excitement was noticeable on all faces, which was often expressed by tears. -- When the nuncio brought the accused in, led, they were already shouting: Free! Free! Graef and his Co-defendants quietly took their seats. Like bright suns a glow passed over the artist's features when the saying was opened. He wanted to shake hands with Justice Counselor Simson; But he drew him to his breast and kissed him. And that was the end of the signal for general kissing was given. During the 1st Friedrich withdrew from formulating the formal acquittal (Ö), urged Everything to the professor. There was no end to the kissing and hugging. Even strangers got a real share of it. Mrs. Rother and her Both daughters celebrated a small family celebration, but they were also soon surrounded by the female witnesses. d) Marie Reim (who the painter and his model on their joint travels as chaperone, but occasionally also modeled herself at Graef ft) sat outside in the corridor and had a fit of tears in front of Joy. There was a mood in the hall that can hardly be described Only Hammermann, his wife and the agent Krischen were sitting there, IV, 8 as if shattered. -- "The news of his acquittal was rushed ahead of Professor Graef. A dozen messengers with equipages and cabs stormed to his sura Meanwhile, The crowd on the street burst into joyful cries. And when we -- at one o'clock -- the Justice Palace Derlaflen, to quickly write these lines to the readers, hundreds are still waiting on the street to to wish the professor good luck as he leaves the house." -- In In the evening number of the "National-Zeitung" the reporter continued: "A few minutes after one o'clock last night, the prison doors of the accused: Professor Graef went fhe, accompanied by his son, in a long-awaited Car to his apartment, at whose doorstep we stop Bertha Rother, who was greeted by her friends with huge bouquets was received, found temporary accommodation with one of the same. She will, as we hear, leave Berlin immediately to famely concealed theater name an engagement at a foreign stage hook for which a well-known theater agency

==. 4

falready lively interested." -- Another note, which the previously The brochure mentioned above, borrowed from another newspaper, read: "The house Lützowplatz 10 clearly stands out in the quiet area today through the hurried telegraph messengers. Here Profeffor Graef's residence. Bearers of flower donations exchanged with them and soon the personal congratulations followed. The doorman saw soon realized that he was powerless against this onslaught, and opened the door of the otherwise closed house wide.

-- Like triumphants, the painter and his model left the prison cell, received by a certain audience, that and gave them flowers. Like a triumphant Professor Graef also published a thank you in the newspapers fafagung, since the large number of well-wishers unfortunately did not allow him To thank each and every one of you. --

Meanwhile, not only the Jewish "liberal" press celebrated its freedom fpeech: also papers which are in conferservatism and antifemi- tism, hastened to express their sympathy and esteem The free-conservative "Post", which in its manner more dangerous than many Jewish newspapers, wrote in No. 276 from October 9, 1885: "It is with great joy in the widest circles of the Berlin audience the acquittal of Professor Graef be-Berlin was pleased "that a highly respected artist, whose name is mentioned among the best of the Beitgen ovens, The honor, and he himself is given back to life and activity." –

But the strongest part is yet to come: "In the Code of Morality
The whole procedure cannot be adapted, but this codex can be him, in his capacity as an artist, cannot be applied.
Art cannot be subject to this code if it does not want to destroy and bring upon himself the accusation which in gold whose letters on the frieze of the new museum read: Artem non odit, nisi ignarus". – As is believed, 5 De Adolf Rofenberg, the art critic of the "Post", the author of the

this festive item.

e
a |

– 115 –

gen he noted that "the verdict of the Jurors of society and art have given a man back which no one has yet been able to deny respect." "The
No one will do that any more," she continued, and then took Ver= reason to repeatedly emphasize the need for compensation for to emphasize the innocently suffered Bea. Even many organs of the confer= vative provincial reffes expressed themselves in a similar way; the
that the "acquittal of all the accused" had "everywhere one hears, had a satisfactory effect." On the other hand, the "Kreuz=Zeitung" and the "Reichsbote" from the outset the pedantic activities of the Painter and his model sharply opposed enthusiastic newspapers.
In its "Revue der Prefe", the "Post" stated: "The "Germania" fure, he is also looking for evidence from the Graef trial for himself and the Ultra= montanism and the morality of our state
to make it as bad as possible." |

While the negotiations were still pending, the "Germania"
Not a word was said about the other process. Only after the Having pronounced judgment, she revealed her disgust at the promoted filth, and showed where modern art is heading.
She sheds light on the prize of Graef and Bertha Rother in the press, and exclaimed: "Enough
the seasoned crusse of a confused and spoiled day= literature, for the sake of the dark eyes of a streetwalker; enough of the insane orgies which corrupt imagination and common Calculation celebrated to excess; enough of the filth in which the worthy like-minded people sought each other, found each other and immediately
"Then the "Germania" received a letter with a disguised

5 in which it was stated: "We, until now disciples of the modern despicable art, have promised us to only create ideal creations, and instead of a Leda etc., we only want Painting biblical subjects without a model and without nudity. Attached is a Probecompofition." The appendix contained a caricature of the Kreuzi= the Savior; the figures of the Crucified Christ, the Mother of God and the disciple are hideous caricatures. – –

The jury had felt no need to Paul Lindau as an expert on the verses which the painter wrote to this model. Paul Lindau could not bear that. He decided to submit his opinion in writing and at the same time as a feature article. He must have had this feature article ready in stock have, because it appeared on the same morning that Berlin declared freedom in the defendant learned in which e under entitled "Layman's Commentaries on the Graef Trial". Paul Lindau begins with the idea of Holdheim and Phillips by using fure our trial is as cruel as the torture of Middle Ages. The embarrassing questions that defendants and witnesses brought to trial, could well provide the material for a bourgeois tragedy. (Lindau probably wants to allude to the witness "Stöcker", because he is a smart business man man, and strives to engage with all parties – if necessary, also with the anti-Semitism.) But he has something higher in mind than the bourgeois tragedy. He has always been a great admirer of demimonde literature, and of the classics of the same. He has educated himself. His first play was called "Marion"; it wanted the French demimonde pieces still surpassed, but found not appealed to the philistine Germans. Nevertheless, he from his favorite idea, and now A he Embodiment of the same in the – Bertha Rother. She is "on= grown under the worst possible influences, in the worst environment; early, almost still a child, given up on vice. The amazing sacrifices that an artist made to her are in the. On the whole, it was in vain. Then she met a lovely worthy, distinguished young man who was captivated by the nature of this peculiarly charming girl". Also The generous trainee is trying to support Bertha u lift. "Although she may still have a relapse into her have an ugly past – everyone will definitely. One might have gained the impression from the negotiations that in this last time a decisive conclusion in their existence has occurred, that now the striving for better, nobler, the longing for an uprising." Now comes the process, the "horrific police files" are read out. "She wants the head rise, and she receives a blow that sends her back into the swamp presses." – It is probably an elective affinity of spirits when the same consideration, exactly the same expressions in the editorials von Holdheim and Phillips. These two tribunes spin the a further by asking with tragic pathos the question "If the girl, after this public destruction, her reputation should fall back into vice – who will the blame?" – –

85

– 116 –

The "National-Zeitung" responded to Paul Lindau's feature article The next day, an article about the line followed. She praised the wisdom of the jury, and cast dark shadows on public prosecutor, investigating judge and presiding judge court, which allegedly made serious errors in the Graef trial. and made serious mistakes. The essay concludes: "To the mistakes against which the press has to turn, seems in In recent times, the way in which the places of Public prosecutors are appointed, and no less the habit of the public prosecutor's office prefers to fill the positions the higher judicial posts. This habit, so seems to exert on the prosecutors in political and Matters an incentive to handle them. which is beneficial to the justice system." – And now it became clear what an the enormous power that the "liberal" 910 05 possesses. After just a few Days ago, the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung officially reported: "Certainly According to reports, on the occasion of the Graef trial, over a . in the oral hearing occurred inconvenience fides, as well as the means of countering such inconveniences on the October 11th last Sunday feature: "Art and the Criminal Law". He compares

– 117 –

can be prevented on the basis of existing legislation, Conferences in the Ministry of Justice, which were also attended by the Presidents the local courts and officials of the public prosecutor's office take." – This information is received with satisfaction on all sides be taken", commented the "National-Zeitung", in fact but it has caused a lot of head-shaking: among lawyers as well as laypeople circles one was quite aware of the nervousness which the Ministry of Justice, to the press, betrayed N Fritz Pad and Paul Lindau were followed by Karl Frenzel. The readers of the "National-Zeitung" with a

the "unfortunate Graef trial" with the VV against Paul 5 for blasphemy. – "Just as indelible as the Name of the accused, from now on in the history of art the name of his accuser. And this accusation was directed, for us Everyone, writers, artists, actors, the educated society, the Women in front, under the charge of perjury, which the accused should have, against the innermost essence of art. With the Model was at the same time dragged the picture down into the dirt, verses full of melting and feeling were from the accusation on their naturalistic sediment. At this point, the public opinion. Everyone recognized that not Professor Graef, but the imprescriptible and indestructible right of art, sensual, was accused." – "How does one depict the Communication between artist and model, the hustle and bustle in the studio, the Life behind the scenes? Should it be there or not like in an honorable baker family? What the story and the Criminal Code morality is here in constant conflict with the creators of art, with sensuality and imagination How each individual case is decided is a matter of temperament. One artist marries his model, the second goes to the third it is indifferent." – According to the "Post" art and the artist may comply with the code of morality not be subjected to it. Mr. Frenzel hits the same note deeper, by making the morality of the artist a matter of his temperament. "In the question of the sensual, the Artists may well demand different treatment than the usual – Despite the acquittal of the accused, fears Frenzel, that the Graef trial has caused a serious Danger is looming. It is becoming ever more evident in the face of our The Muckerzug was born. Muckerthum revealed itself in politics, in the clubs, in the onslaught against vivisection. Voices are already being raised against the "model mischief". – The next day, prosecutor Heinemann wrote his brochure: "The Graef Trial and German Art", which he describes as an antidote to Carl Frenzel and which has now been used for more than half a dozen editions (Berlin by Friedrich Luckhardt). Very This is how the author describes the literary millennium Paul Lindau aside and only held on to Frenzel. "Mr. Paul

– 118 –

Unfortunately, I cannot answer Lindau, because he would Never believe me that I am only for the sake of the matter, and not for wounded self-love. It was he who, in the course of the negotiations before anyone who wanted to hear it, in the courageous full shouts broke out: 'We will fly the prosecutor high let him be acquitted first, then he shall fly' I do not in the least draw from these statements the Conclusion that Mr. Paul Lindau, who was almost an expert, more about art matters in this process, not having maintained the greatest impartiality; I am in On the contrary, he was even convinced that when Mr. Lindau was in Moabiter Wein-

local in the company of a trusted friend of the Rother's family family and other witnesses who were not malicious towards this family noble grape juice and enjoyed his conversation, he only wanted to cleverly and unnoticed to get behind the real truth and in his own way to become a objective judgment about guilt or innocence." – By The public prosecutor then turns against Frenzel, he proves that this repeats exactly the same trick that the "liberal" Press continuously during the trial. "Not the sensuality of the relationship between the artist and the model (from his childhood years apart) was brought before the court, in the Swear that an intimate relationship with this model is not The parallels that Frenz drew between the Por= traitmaler Graef and great artists of the past, meets N Heinemann with the question: 'Since Raphael swore, izian swore that their relationships with the Mo= were not intimate?'" – The prosecutor admits that he is not to be able to rise to the heights at which Frenzel stands, who claims that in matters of sensuality for the artist morality and penal law, but only his temperament Mr. Heinemann 1 explained how dangerous it could be would, if one wanted to grant the artist such a privilege, but thinks that true artists do not make any demands on this Despite all the press reports, this expectation is not to fhamed. Public prosecutor Heinemann received a 20 October 1885, which was against the moral doctrine of Mr Frenzel. It states: "The under= Signed artists consider it with regard to the publicity of the dispute, as well as on one's own civil and social position to declare that they agree with you on this point are in full agreement. They are happy to renounce those less honorable people do not wish to be viewed differently than any decent man, and are convinced that It does not harm the art or the artist to follow the commandments of Law and customs." – The address is signed by 172 Berlin artists, including the most famous Names like Menzel, Becker, Knaus, von Werner, von Heyden, Thu= man xc. xc. As a result of this demonstration, Professor Graef

– 119 –

from the Berlin Artists' Association. The "Volks=Zeitung" by Hold= heim and Phillips wrote full of anger: The underlings of Addresses would have liked to see their college prison and his family to shame and despair "As far as Carl Frenzel is concerned, he has felbe had already distinguished himself earlier through a very similar achievement. When nine years ago, triggered by the writings of Otto Glagau, a storm arose against the founders, especially against the Founder in Parliament, appeared in the "National Newspaper", which

yes, mainly in stock exchange circles and the founding fwindle has given such powerful impetus, on February 13, 1876
a . under the gripping title: "A short Ca= chapter of the slander". As today Mr. Frenzel the sensual= ity of the artist, he broke a lance for the founders; as he rages against the prosecutor today, 8 1 0 he then against the "informers". He poured water on the
the founder was mocked and insulted and insinuated that they made a business and a trade out of "slander".
The feature article concluded with the following sentence: "For alas! I propose to my sinful breast; all of us, whether we are Otto or Anton, Heinrich or Carl, whether we bless the "founding era" or curse: we only write because we need it, otherwise we would write we certainly 7 – – This is therefore the literary belief= confession of Mr. Frenzel. As you can see, he only makes for artists, but also for newspaper writers a special moral
In the latter case, however, in many cases it is unlikely that Both the temperament and the bread decide.

Another demonstration was the people's assembly, which took place in Berlin on 14 October, where Dr. Amman gave a lecture held: "The Graef trial and public opinion". Among others,
The speaker said: What society to its very core was the scandalous partisanship of the press for the Why did they shout so loudly? Pressed those

Today they had a bad conscience and feared that the trial would also could be done? The decent citizens know that i – We want a coalition of decent men of Berlin
The shops that sell the lewd pictures, the photographs of the prostitute who makes a business out of the meanness,
We want to avoid them and also ensure that no honorable woman,
no girl should enter it any more. – The speaker reaped thunderous applause. Only a fraction of the assembly tried to oppose, and as was soon discovered, the opposition from Jews. But that was highly significant. In fact, the
The Graef trial is once again a huge part of the Jewish question.
The woman * Graef is said to be of Jewish descent, his daughter with to be engaged to a Jewish descendant. Almost all the people who who defended the defendant in court, whose testimony was favorable, belong to the foreign race. Just pay attention to the names! Of course, this also applies to the public prosecutor Heine= man, which has not prevented any native from giving him recognition.

to pay tribute.

Only a five-hour platitude was tiring; her and interpretation of Graef's poems was supported by the defense
"hair-raising"; however, she also pointed out the fsworn a repulsive impression, and she may have= contributed to Graef's acquittal.

The lewdness that is so widespread in Berlin, the open and secret prostitution for the Jews, because they who have money, and where it is the satisfaction of desires with the Money scattered around, an excessive share. Hence also lively Interest in the scandalous trial, which she sees as her own matter— They rave about the studio and model “freedom”, which the Graef trial has only lifted the veil a little. His revelations fall far short of the truth. The customs= police have every reason to be concerned about these things, and the Mr. Frenzel's concern that the model mischief could The greatest danger, however, threatens the German people from the Jewish press, which is becoming more and more brazen, becomes more and more powerful, and our sanctuaries – customs and Faith, family and state. It also threatens, as The Graef trial clearly shows that the jurisprudence, the integrity of judges and jurors. Newspaper reports on court cases negotiations and the public nature of the court proceedings themselves can cause serious harm, poison the youth and the whole corrupt the people.

(The Cultural Warrior by Otto Glagau. Issue 123. October 31, 1885.)

**

ER la Se Se

fellow soldiers.

Pictures from the present.

The Lindau's.

If the miserable man has a genealogy, then
I am convinced in my heart that the Thief, who next to our Lord Jesus Christ unrepentantly crucified on the cross ended, must have been his ancestor.

O' Connel on Disraeli
– (quoted from memory).

“Where do they come from, what are their goals? They come from Orient and move towards the West, clearing paths in each other.

* *.

"Paul Lindau as an anti-Semite! – who's laughing? – A very white man in Berlin, who signs himself with RS, sends us following lovely postcard;

Dear Sir! – It really does not serve our cause, if incorrect facts are continually being pushed through
Among the Jewish writers, Paul Lindau. His father was a Protestant pastor, whose like his grandfather, great-grandfather – a pastor family, who up to Luther. Lindau is even somewhat disreputable because he wrote in a travel description of Styria: "I am in a country where you cannot find anything Steps against the insistent, cheeky, crooked noses that spoil every trip."

Paul's brother, the Privy Legation Counsellor, is now really no Jew or fellow Jew. So please take Note of my communication.

The good R. 8. should take a look at Paul Lindau from An= face to face. The good gentleman seems to be looking at the baptized Not being able to distinguish Hebrews from Aryans.
ö (Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 107, August 31, 1890.)

Here we find them as Christians, elsewhere we hear that Papa Lindau prayer leader in a i De fei or a similar held office in a free religious community.

– 12 –

Since the Lindau gentlemen have so much to do with publicity, it would be easy for them to to lift the veil.

But the gentlemen remind us of the prospectus of a modern Founder society, where people love to conceal things in order to To deceive buyers of the shares. If one is a cautious man fe get a Prospectus in your hands, you have to To protect myself from too great losses, an opinion about the actual state of affairs.

Well, in the case of the Lindau's, I allow myself to To further agree with Mr O'Connel's view or a to hold a similar opinion, although, as I write this, a Mr. Leonidas Lindau, who is the founding father the Lindau family were fine. In the end they even saved money–

taner, they really look a bit spartan, and we have then did not even know that we had the honor of 1 offspring the hero of Thermopylae among us.

In Glagau's Kulturkämpfer, Issue 137, 15 March 1887, The Berlin Jewry, we read the following: |

bat jokingly says in Meyer's Schriftsteller-Lexikon von Rudolph Lindau, who was appointed secret legation counselor in foreign office, and a brother of the dramatist Paul Lindau is: he was Ye: jen life course on the diplomatic Career. Both brothers and from Fandel to Literature (the third brother Richard Lindau is currently German General Consul in Barcelona). Rudolph Lindau was formerly attached to the German Embassy in Paris; he mediated the traffic with the French press and also in his current position He maintains good relations with the same. A brilliant Dr. P. Kayfer was appointed as city judge in Berlin. he married the Chancellor's second son, Count Wilhelm Bismarck, through the cliffs of the Affeffor exam and thereby joined the prince He came to the Reich Justice Office and later to the Foreign Office, whereupon he was baptized and promoted to the real legation councilor A Jewish newspaper, 'Die Laubhütte', mockingly remarks: Dr. W. Cahn was advised to convert to Christianity, but did not follow it, and was nevertheless appointed Legation Councillor been, although not in the political department of the foreign Office. In the same issue, the paper writes about another Place: 'The Jews who allow themselves to be converted, find only rags, nothing more.' – But one does not have to take this literally, Israel still sees the baptized Jew as the tribal- enjoyed it and was happy with it, and was proud of him when he the change of religion gains advantages. Between the Jews and the Jewish offspring always have an intimate relationship; both parties work for each other and fight the native as the common enemy. – Father Kayser has definitely W. Cahn. While the Lindau brothers with their sons of Prince Bismarck, Dr. Kayfer enjoys social contact,

– 123 –

»by virtue of his achievements and performances the special trust of the Chancellor and he is said to be destined to support the great Lothar Bucher to replace him, who was a master in the art of diplomatic notes to write, who wrote so many throne speeches, messages and memoranda in pirie and in addition as secret senior officifus the press inspired."

Mr. Rudolph Lindau was thus through his life pointed out the diplomatic career. That is very nice and delicately expressed; but as far as I know, it was written by Mr. von Brandt, while he was Consul or Minister Resident in Japan, discovered and by him and his family (ie the Samfons respectively. of the Berlin Jewry) mediation into the state career. What role he played there is generally still little known. knows, but I hope that the veil that lies over this is also may soon be revealed, like the one about the origin of the Lindau's. Ren udolph Lindau is also a writer, although less famous than his brother Paul. His writings lack piquancy the works of his brother Paul, which may well be due to the fact that which were written for certain purposes (in usum Delphini). That Mr. Lindau to Her Majesty the late Empress Augusta enjoyed a certain reputation, I have already mentioned elsewhere Mr. Lindau had been inspired by the stories of his experiences niffe to make itself popular in the Orient and to maintain its influence But Mr. Lindau also had great influence elsewhere= practices and is capable of many things, this is evident from what I have recently a friend writes:

"Mandl is very friendly with Lindau in the Foreign Office, he'll probably have something stuck in his mouth."

It is taken for granted here that Mr. Rudolph Lindau has the order to award and it will probably be I do not know whether Mr. Mandl has a Prussian order has come, but it is significant that Mandl's and Lindau's friendship is still so great, after Mandl was Imperial Edict in China was exposed as a common fraud, after even the Imperial German Ambassador in Peking was requested, German authorities and merchants from this runaway Jew The Foreign Office knew all this, also to fraud committed by Mandl.

This sheds a peculiar light on the conditions in the current office. Mr. von Brandt, who is an intimate friend of all three Lindau's is to me the economy in the Foreign Office so drastically described, he must have his 157 0 Rudolph Lindau in the first Line in mind, because these two gentlemen were Mr. von Brandt had already charac= Mandl in 1887,88 terifirt. He now finds friendship in the Foreign Office. One cannot help but think of the old Jerusalem, which a place of imprisonment for all criminals in the world?

err Paul Lindau has become even more famous recently, than he was before and seems to be becoming even more famous

Many years ago, two major critics

in Berlin Concurrrenz. They were on everyone's lips and people talked the following anecdote:

Once Mr Paul Lindau and Mr Oscar Blumenthal met in a "witty" society. They gave riddles, and Mr. Lindau said to his rival the following:

"The first is fragrant, the second is airy, the whole is shabby. What is that?"

"Lindau!" answered Mr. Blumenthal, who had coined blow. Since then, there has been a quiet but deep Enmity between the two gentlemen.

Lindau's activity as a writer, as a dramaturge, as Dramatists are well known enough to not have to There is no need to say much. Only one thing seems to me to be worth mentioning It is generally assumed that a writer is Mr Paul Lindau's proposal is not aware of the impact flow of fine activity, which was supported by almost the entire Jewish press— But this is not the case at all; Mr Lindau knows very well exactly what reprehensible role he plays in German literature, and for this we now want to present his own testimony:

"The French school proved itself to Paul Lindau immediately in his first play "Marion", which appeared in 1869. The author's own The verdict in his "Dramaturgische Blätter" in 1875 about this Demimonde=piece in which the fallen woman is the one in the "Boulevard=Dramatic popular studies of their case" as follows: "The subject is very much in horse. Who has the air to portray the human-misery so shot to see before your eyes? This perfume of patchouli and sewage, which especially the third act exudes, is downright disgusting, and the hospital air which we experience in the fourth breath, also has little appeal. The German poets have completely different tasks than those Germans constantly the neglected conditions of the night-barvolk; the French ensure this in great chender Weise – –". It is regrettable that the end this Self-criticism of his dramas has not continued, because in the following, "Mary Magdalene" and "Diana", especially the latter, fome from the n Shhaafspiel Grit standpoint still a lot of things and the play "Countess Lea" carries a certain intention only too much for show." Tendentious glorification of the Jews!

(German Literature=History by Robert König. 17th edition, p. 738.)

So Lindau himself knows very well that he is the German people with poor goods and knows what the profession of a German Writer's Pr Why, if he knows this, remains he with his sewer literature? Fortunately, it stirs in the German people and one begins to give the writers of this kind a little to watch his fingers, as the following note shows:

– 125 –

"The 'Stuttgarter Tageblatt' writes: As the delegate of the local fy Association for the Improvement of Morality, Private Person Klunzinger, in his report yesterday on the 7th and 8th of May in Halle= Congress of the German Associations for Combating Insecurity morality, among other things, it was decided there to protest against the writings a number of German writers to take up the fight. – Among The following names are found there: Carl Emil Franzos, Paul Heyfe, Paul Lindau, Bleibtreu, Alberti, Blumenthal, Nordau, F Mafoch u. f. w. (Strange wise man louder Jews and half-Jews! –).

"And a pen marked as a spreader of immorality= heroes have been the flagships of the "beautiful literature" for many years rature" and the family journals () of Germany! – From a Be= combating Bebel's writings was kept at a distance taken."

Combating Jewish=- immoral writings.
(Deutsch-social Blätter No. 98. June 29, 1890.)

and we must hope that this and similar efforts may succeed in freeing us from this kind of writers, who to suppress every innate talent through their tyranny I cannot resist sharing some articles from the Volks=Zeitung, which give us a picture of how our honored writer Mr. Lindau works in his profession.

A little one of his own. I.

We have got rid of the Bismarck, but we still haven't got rid of the Bis= Many iron brooms will still have to be used, before it is completely swept out of our public life; Deep are the traces left by a twenty-seven-year-old Miss economy.

It is a coincidence that draws our attention to those of these traces elenkt, which has imprinted itself on the literary=theatrical soil Our readers will remember that some months against the "representative" reception of some Maghre In the wake of the protests by the Mayor of Berlin. In the course of the polemic it became clear that we were creating a political tactful humbug, which was spread by the personal journalist of the Fa=

Bismarck family and with a capriole in Friedrichsruh. This made the fight only so more pleasant and the victory all the more refreshing, but we trusted her eyes, as we on this occasion with letters from artistic and literary circles, which us because of our proven "almost biting" against Mr. Paul Lindau fspiellose" 1 15 congratulated and accused us, not only 5 to repel incursions into the political territory, but also to destroy the tyranny and despotism that he through the nn his public position of trust as dramaturge and theatre critic has established himself.

– 126 –

At first, these letters seemed very funny to us. Funny fomuch because we are in a cheerful interlude of our public struggles should have demonstrated a special courage, as well as because the concept of a force= and arbitrary ruler= fhip us in a far too scurrying contrast to a literary personality of the dimensions of Mr. Paul Lindau fhind. However, our laughter soon faded. We became irritable presented conclusive evidence that Mr. Paul Lindau on the Boards that mean the world, in fact, entirely according to Bismarckian Muster governs. How this is possible and could have been possible, We still do not understand, but it is true, is subject to the evidence in our hands not the slightest doubt, and we must be content with that It is the Bismarckian system of carrot and stick, with whom Mr. Paul Lindau governs, and he would not have to be a small of his own, if he did not also have a very sweet little a state of siege, by means of which he could People without bread and without home. There is a difference admittedly insofar as the master, thanks to the cowardice of the German bourgeoisie, its violent and arbitrary measures a formal fetiology, while his docile student at his Rape of people he dislikes always be careful must just touch a certain building with one's sleeve. But this is finally a complete proof of his literary ability! – according to the testimony of several lawyers lawyers and a prosecutor, who were asked by the raped protection, so far with limited but just still achieved successes.

Under these circumstances, the only last resort is public criticism remains to ensure the constitutionally guaranteed protection of People also in the field of German theater– We therefore publish close information from Mr. Paul Lindau documents written in the exercise of his dictatorial activity.

The first, however, only with omissions, about which we will Preliminary remarks must be made. These 1 are for us by a principled and a tactical point of view. Prin= cipally, we consider ourselves not only authorized, but also 2 0 to publish private letters as soon as their legitimate owner submits them for publication and, to the extent that their contents

If an injustice is committed against the public interest, in this all the unlawful rape of persons, not only eugt, but in and of itself is and any other way to Elimination of this social oppression does not exist.
we do not hold the press to publish private letters for justified, let alone obliged, insofar as they are based on purely private, not related to public interests relating to the things that exist. To this, in and of itself already But there is also a tactical aspect. We know our Pappenheimer and we know very well that if – 127 –

we also distribute the following letter in its purely private parts wanted to make public, 1 55 Paul Lindau and those in his person threatened interests immediately accused us of gossip and attract general attention from the point of view of public interest and public law, which we – after the public prosecutor's office considered that intervention on its part was situation of the legislation impossible – to our advantage not only prompts, but also forces, “try These obstacles stand in the way of a complete publication of the letter; they can only be removed by an express permission of its author for complete printing, and we are cautious enough to notice right now that we are in the possible claim by Mr Paul Lindau that we are Omission of the purely private passages the intentions of his letter tendentiously distorted, see such a permission and would go beyond the unmutilated printing of the letter.

The letter now reads in fine public law,
as follows: |
Berlin, September 16, 1888.

. . . I urgently request you to leave Berlin. The fulfillment
This latter request is the only thing I value
From the “this request depends my whole Behavior towards Miss Elfe from...

As soon as I hear that Miss Elfe is ready to leave Berlin=

let ..., I will ensure that their departure is not obstacle stands in the way. I will terminate your contract with Barnay. At the same time, I will To exert influence so that Miss Else at another decent theater, either in Frankfurt am Main at Claar, or at the Stadttheater in Hamburg with Pollini, or in the Landes theater in Prague with Angelo Neumann. Miss Elfe can decide for herself which of the three I I think my case with all three is about fully too fine. With Angelo Neumdn and Pollini I will Commitment can be enforced with the greatest probability. There she will find much more opportunity to pursue her strong inclinations for the art, as it will be possible here. Because Miss Elfe, who knows me very well, will understand that It is impossible for me to sit in the a ping as a critic if is on the stage as an actress. I do not want to

I give the opportunity to myself, while Miss Elfe plays, exposing herself to the gaze of the parquet and my expression to study. I just can't stand it. The The consequence would be that I would never have an idea in which Miss 95 is busy, and the further consequence This would be that Barnay, who probably would not would be pleasant, in the most important ideas, for which he values my discussion, Miss

Elfe would not be employed. It would be completely impossible me to let Miss Else play in my play and with to meet her at rehearsals. But of course I would like ly spare Miss Elfe the insult of having an already too I think it is more important to take away the role assigned to me for their dignity and our relationships only if Miss Elfe recognizes the same facts and from the band of the Berlin Theater before the parts for the "Countess Lea" begin SEN

Miss Elfe would therefore only do so against my express Will continue to live in Berlin, and if she values it, as she writes to me and as he believes her, that I continue to- 1 without bitter resentment, if they do not come from misfortune friend who has deep compassion for her, a deeply supplicant- terten, her completely turned away and strange man, fhe will leave Berlin as soon as possible and never return here without my knowledge and without my consent .. | |

I therefore ask you not to do anything else for the time being than to speed up your departure from here. I would be happy to hear that she has left Berlin tomorrow. As soon as she has decided to leave, I request immediate notification. I will then visit Barnay and refer to Pollini or another

Telegraph Director. Within a few hours, in forty-eight hours at the latest, everything can be done fe ... If Miss Elfe 1 stays, the need will
The inevitable consequence would be that I would completely withdraw from her avert ... and further that Miss Elfe artistically will experience new and strong insults that will make me appear unavoidable. That I knowingly gave her a sickness—
She knows that she will not inflict any harm on him, but it will be ly unavoidable. In Prague, Hamburg or 3
From now on, Miss Elfe will be more in demand of her art be taken, and this is for their peace of mind and for their Recovery is extremely important. I am completely convinced, that everything would have remained the same between us if Miss N Else could have played every evening or at least when she would have been very busy acting. It always has
It bothered her that she could not satisfy this ambition, it is always been terrible to her, I ate it unknowingly
I am partly to blame. The inner artistic dissatisfaction, the inactivity ment, have mainly pushed Elfen away from me. It there is only one way out – I always come to that—back —: Miss Elje must leave immediately...

We have received a commentary on this letter from – pressure from us – blocked the most decisive places already given. It is, as we said, in essence – e of the differences highlighted above – the whole system

– 129 –

Bismarck: the taming of unpopular people through sugar= bread and whip, but at the end of 11 5 through the small siege= which Mr. Paul Lindau became so in the flesh and blood is that he himself in the eee at the latest forty-eight Hours” with a somewhat slavish tone for such a brilliant poet.
ens also the external breath of the police ID cards
funken, which were imposed on the basis of the Socialist Law
have been. | |
On the actual effects of his deportation order
we don't notice anything; we save it for a
any continuation of the discussion, as if it were our first concern
This system of social oppression 100% of its basic fuperative side. We want to counteract this now note that Mr. Paul Lindau as a dramaturge as well as a cri=
tiker, a public position of trust to mistreat others exploits people. We add a document about this, which at the same time sheds further light on the first letter insofar= as it shows that it is one and the same personality, which Mr. Paul Lindau yesterday trustingly 515 dramafurgical scepter which he has not seen on any Berlin stage today can, without her – of course for “objectively unavoidable” reasons – to inflict “artistically new and strong insults” and which he tomorrow as an ornament on the stages in Frankfurt, Hamburg or Prague and, as he claims, by virtue of his “influence” is also capable. This letter reads verbatim (the printed text is again from us):

Dear Elfe!

I have read the reviews of “The Sphinx”, a play in five Acts by M. Berthold Zwickel (in verse, it seems to me great nonsense) and “The Idol”, a play in three acts by Georg Hartwig, somewhere. Please give me brief summaries of the two pieces. It is not necessary to be much. I looked inside, the pieces are both un=useful. I just want to know what it is about.

Tonight! Your

Berlin, June 20, 1889.

Paul.

This is Berlin dramaturgy, more than a hundred years after the Hamburg dramaturgy, but in the twenty-seventh year of the Bismarck era. Which says it all.
(Volks=Zeitung No. 185, August 10, 1890.)

A little one of his own.

In general, one does not tend to make the person public=mundane disturbance of the peace, which a thief with loud shouts and who awakens the legal consciousness against the perpetrator

Iv. 9

– 130 –

But what is true for the small street thieves, seems to be true for the fshould not be considered a great conjurer. And so Leaves found – their number is almost as small as their journalistic importance – which goes beyond our editorial in No. 185 in delightful, fi indignation. Although for the little one of his family, for Mr. Paul Lindau, has, as far as we can tell, public statements, not a single Voice raised. But the widely branched Lindau clique seeks to keep quiet about the matter and good friends and loyal neighbors De felt obliged to protect us from gossip and scandal stories lovingly to warn; they have thereby, knowingly or unknowingly= lich, to that morality which is above the tactlessness of a stolen, which was given to a well-dressed gentleman in a crowded

 Street calls out: Catch the thief! |
 That doesn't concern us. We have always tried to do our best the weak against the abusive violence of a
 To protect the stronger, and if in the case of Lindau it is not a worker, but an actress, then that changes
 The situation is not the least bit different. We were only concerned with do, with an example taken from literary=theatrical life fplay the system of corruption to show that in almost thirty= years of tyranny in Germany. Although a Munich newspaper of timid liberalism has the "existence profound grievances in our entire theater world" and to prove it, we need the "strong support of the entire decent press of Germany", but it means, Such evils must be uncovered "symptomatically" and not on individual examples, the use of which is "personal gossip" and testifies to "despicable hatred". Unfortunately, only the white Sheet does not betray the art of how to cure any evil can reveal than by the individual symptoms, and it is a hundred to bet against one that this very hand, if we are completely in space= common about the prevailing in the literary-theatrical press Corruption, about "groundless slanders"
 shouted and demanded "concrete evidence".
 Well, here you will find the concrete evidence, which in the end short-sighted, national-liberal eyes a "symptomatic" meaning We expressly note that we are able to
 are concise, even for the most seemingly trivial statements, to obtain documentary evidence, and we call on Mr. Paul Lindau once again expressly declares that we will not be of error or untruth. The blocked
 Pressure in the quotations is exclusively ours. |
 An actress appeared in our editorial office, Miss Elfe von Schabelsky, asking for advice. She stated that notes of the critic Mr. Paul Lindau to become penniless
 We were skeptical and declared that only after thorough Knowledge of the entire material to do something about the matter
 Not because we can thank Mr Paul Lindau, who has taken over the position

*

a personal journalist and news negotiator of the Bis family Marck was able to concentrate on his work in a liberal newspaper understood, an abuse of his official power not considered capable. Oh no: we knew that he had even boasted that he had upheld his predecessor at the "Berliner Tageblatt", Mr. Oscar Blumenthal, who has been silent for years in his reviews. We also knew that he had anonymously written in the open sheet the theater director Devrient with a self-made because this gentleman had bold enough was one of the most unsuccessful plays of Mr. Lindau, "Marianne's Mother", not wanting to give it on the date requested by the author. Here the 1 had the playwright strongly under To what extent the hostile attitude of Mr Lindau against the theater management with this private matter in We will refrain from making a judgment as to whether this is an ideal connection. Notwithstanding these precedents, we demanded, in order to be absolutely certain go, the exact knowledge of the entire material. From the same It became clear that this was a serious injustice that could only be remedied by the public use of these letters was to be atone for. The lady such a use was in and of itself far from being used; she even had Mr. Paul Lindau, as can be seen from his negative reply As can be seen, ten months ago the mutual exchange of anzen Corresponden e For us, public Use of these documents only the recently marked Aspects were decisive: it was not only permitted, but offered, insofar as this would serve the public interest past injustice was to be uncovered and remedied; it was excluded, as long as it was a purely private matter. | Miss Elfe von Schabelsky is in the local "Refidenz=Theater", before she knew Mr. Lindau and his comrades, in a French Pieces performed and by Mr. Lindau and the other "leaders in Theatre Affairs" has been warmly praised. As Mr. Paul Lindan later tried to support his girlfriend, one may This can be seen from the fact that he authorizes them, for example, by letter, to inform Lautenburg the play "The poor Lioness" only if she is given the title role. The director is therefore here accompanied by the "authoritative" Critics patronized in casting questions. Another time writes Mr. Paul Lindau (on December 22, 1888), he will probably not be able to attend the premiere of a play in which his girlfriend is extremely busy, and he adds: "I have for all cases Wolff well inftruiured." The first critic "inftruiured" so the second critic "just in case", so that the second critic can treat the friend of the first critic well. That is the critical objectivity. When the actress complained about insufficient employment complains, Mr. Paul Lindau writes (on 10 February 1889): "There must something happened – if not directly through me, then through Zabel, Brahm, Ifidor (Landau) or Keller or anyone else–mand." You see: it is not so easy to be a theater director.

9 *

Whether Messrs. Brahm, Zabel, Landau, Wolff and Keller really ever to such menial services for Mr. Paul Lindau have declared, we will have to wait for their comments have; for the time being we consider the words of Mr. Lindau to be powerful-boastful wind-making.

Since the actress did not find the right role at the "Residenz-Theater" If you believe you have found a foundation for your talent, it is a matter of to create another position for her. Mr. Paul Lindau offers to to bring them to the "Berlin Theater" and wants to do the same Write to Director Ludwig Barnay. The actress warns him, in a pressing need to a theater-director. And this consideration was well guilty, because she had meanwhile lost control of his composition attending play "The Shadow" him with advice and help effectively supported that the shadow poet from his already there-once beloved Hungarian country telegraphed: "Remember with grateful touched by your supportive cooperation."

The "grateful emotion" of July 14, 1889 was not to last long Because on 16 September 1889 the in No. 185 letter published by us, through which the "supporting members worker" was asked to "within twenty-four hours, at the latest to leave the capital of the Reich within forty-eight hours at the latest, otherwise she would face serious artistic insults The actress, to whom Mr. Paul herself in this threatening letter Lindau cannot reproach itself with anything and does not accept this offer; she also rejects material advantages and wants to stay with Mr. Lindau, who apparently offered her a position at a leading theater-grow, neither to Frankfurt a. M., nor to Hamburg, or finally to Prague, although Mr. Lindau at the directors Claar, Pollini and Neumann of his case "approximately surely too fine" believes. The actress wants to stay in Berlin and their achievements can finally be judged objectively again. But She had underestimated the power of the polyp. Mr. Lindau had declared that he "will not attend any performance in which Miss Else busy", and since he apparently rightly assumed that "Bar-nay values fine discussions", so Miss von Schabelsky, who was asked by the author to give up the role in "Countess Lea" had been forced to leave the stage of the "Berliner Theater" – a hardly ever before! – only once in ten months They were allowed to perform a repetition of "Coriolanus" A supporting role of about a hundred words. This unique appear in a trivial role, in an unknown ensemble, after a quick scene rehearsal was enough to convince the theatre director of to convince the member of his uselessness! The three-year-old The actress' contract was terminated, and when she applied for a She wanted to find a new position in Berlin, but was offered a job by Theater-agents, theatre directors and some theatre critics the whole hopelessness of their efforts veiled or even with cynicism openness. "How can you think of being in Berlin to stay if you have Lindau against you!"

– 133 –

The secrecy of the author's name, a condition under to which she had submitted a modern play, was the gross breach of trust by a third person, Mr. Paul Lindau betrayed, and the play in which the director of the Leffing=Theater "decided dramatic creativity and the gift of keen-sighted Observation", and the director of the Royal Theater a particularly strong theatrical talent, is nowhere to be found-taken or even performed. In any case, the boycotted Dame no longer has any prospects, neither as an actress nor as a theater Writer a sufficient living, let alone N and recognition. Mr. Paul Lindau had the word keep...

" And now we look at this brave man once again It forces theatre directors to hire actresses; he concludes and terminates contracts by mere Dexterity; he allegedly "instructs" his colleagues so that they u will; he abuses his critical position to promote his theater= to help him get back on his feet and to get rid of people he doesn't like. their impeccable attitude and supportive participation in his work he must acknowledge in "grateful emotion", simply tacitly to clear the way. That is – the provision of further cha- We reserve the character traits for discussion – Mr. Paul Lindau, the playwright and theatre critic. There remains the the most interesting figure left for the general public: Mr. Paul Lindau, the dramaturge of the German Theater.

Because the critic Mr. Paul Lindau is dramaturge of the "Deutscher Theater", at least he was, despite all official denials In spite of this, last winter. He was given the submitted pieces, and he had written about them What did Mr Paul Lindau do? He sent the manuscripts, as soon as he received them, to Miss von Scha= belsky, had her prepare a report and a summary, which was then submitted as an elaboration by Mr. Paul Lindau to the Director of the "German Theater"! The poor authors might fshould never have dreamed that whoever is in a decisive instance their pieces' fate decided. It was a very orderly affair business. Mr. Paul Lindau asked in the No. 185 Letters for further summaries of two pieces in which the a: The dramaturgist had "looked inside", but without even wanting to "what it is about", this is sufficiently descriptive.

Given these circumstances, it is not surprising that the schedule of the German Theater for years hardly a single new man appeared. And one can be even less surprised that the critic Lindau always with a flood of praise – of the most fragrant kind found. But it must be said that here the 9 f Criticism has come to an end; it gives way to brutal commercial advertising, against those in the interest of art and public law consciousness – he must be confronted with ruthless determination. A man who is connected to the theatres by a thousand spider-like threads and its leaders, has the authority to aesthetic jurisdiction; a man who is in a dependent – relationships with theater directors who either see him as a dramatist maturgen or by recording his old pieces or by the Paying for the engagement or dismissal of an actress, a such a man may be much ft cleverer than Mr. Friedenstein neu – Berlin memory, for morally superior standing, our limited subject understanding cannot be maintained.

=. 34.

Mr. Paul Lindau knows very well that as a person means nothing. That is why he clings with his last strength to the Advertising, which provides his business acumen with the indispensable resonance For us, he has value only as a type of a striving era, as a symptom of a under the guise of correctness – creeping corruption. Beaumarchais' miserable opponent went to twelve Louis d'ors; it is quite possible that Mr. Paul Lindau, who in the meantime has used the old bug tactic of pretending to be dead imitates the fate of the worthy parliamentary councilor Goetzman He wanted to make a weak woman homeless and without bread, and he finds this, in his opinion, probably trivial – moderate offenses men on his way, who in his face shine and show him as he is, as one for the whole of the world – liner theater world's dangerous critic pasha.

Whether this individual case can ultimately be seen as a “symptom of a widespread injustice”? In any case, we are eager for the “strong support of the entire decent press Germany” Even now no defender of the Lord Paul Lindau? We can wait and see. For now we wash our hands.

(Volks=Zeitung No. 193. August 20, 1890.)

Don't you feel like you've been transported back to ancient Rome when you read these articles: |

That you are jealous of my books
You insult me, I forgive you. You are, poet, circumcised, clever.

It does not concern me that, despite criticism, you

Plunder. You are also like that, poet, circumcised, clever

The only thing that bothers me is that in Solyma!)

You, poet, seduce my boy, who is circumcised.

Behold, you deny it and swear by the temple of thunder;

Swear by Anchialus?), otherwise I believe, circumcised man, not.
Martial.

Isn't it as if Martial had written today?
The Paul Lindau case has, by the way, been treated appropriately

- 1) Jerusalem. n
- 2) Derogatory name for the Jewish god from Anokhi Eloah.

– 135 –

found in a brochure by Dr. Franz Mehring, entitled:
“The Lindau Case”. This brochure is extremely informative and shows behe ch what means the Lindauclique the German literary market righteous.

fche Paul Lindau also awards medals and pays out rural poets, whose intellectual products he considered important for German literature exploits the food market to earn money and fame. It is a true reign of terror that this society exercises. What Even His Majesty the Emperor cannot allow himself without reason and will allow, namely, to prevent expulsions from the capital add, this is what this press Hebrew or rather Spartan allows himself, to satisfy a whim. A whole company of pen=heroes, including even a Chamber Court Judge, approve of the heroes– that and try to cover their friend Lindau with their bodies. What What kind of views of justice and honor are these? Who rules actually in Berlin? Where is the public prosecutor? |

The current situation in Berlin seems to be similar to that in Paris four to five years ago. At that time I could I would like to tell my friend von Brandt from Paris how a talented young lady from a good family her wish to become a concert singer actually had to give up because pretty much

There was no doubt that in order to make a career in Paris, it was necessary
It would be dangerous to pay tribute with her body to any of the matadors, which art, press and theater be-rule. That these noble tax collectors of the chosen people
It hardly needs to be mentioned that they belong to the same category.

The Mehring brochure is, by the way, in another con-
education is instructive.

The Volks=Zeitung is, as is well known, the Berlin journal, about which His Majesty the Emperor Frederick III was so favourable
This newspaper, although in Jewish hands and Jewish Pursuing interests, often published articles bearing the stamp of Honesty on the forehead and which were able to convince the reader to fascinate.

From now on, this newspaper will hardly publish such articles bring: because two German editors, Dr. Franz Mehring and Ledebour, leave the Re= as a result of the Lindau scandal daction of the newspaper, and it is probably not subject to the slightest Doubt that these 1 were the ones who wrote the brilliant articles for delivered this Volks=Zeitung.

Until now, it had been quite incomprehensible to me how a man, who worked in the editorial office of a Jewish newspaper, a philosopher could be a semitic person without acting against his better convictions.

The brochure also solves this riddle; but even more so the following end article, which I just read while I am writing this, in the Rheinisch=Westphälische Zeitung find. .

– 136 –

On the Lindau case.

Messrs. Moffe and Cohn, two allies and brothers-in-law, have the freedom of expression in the former demo-ee Volks=Zeitung abfolut on the sutler of Marsala brought.

l The “organ for everyone from the people” allows the person Editor, without whom the Volkszeitung would have had absolute significance-sink into a state of insignificance and thereby lose their right to exist will not even mention the word in its own columns; Dr. Meh= ung must fi) contact the Kreuz=Zeitung to obtain the following new eldentaten of the “Lindau Ring” to be published. The Cross=
The leadership has enough tact to give the political opponent the floor.

The conservative organ writes: |

We receive the following letter, which we accept, because we believe we can deduce from the content of the same, that Mr. Mehring is no longer able to print the same in the Volks-Zeitung.

11 Please ask me to publish the following lines

u ask.

; When I was working on my booklet: "The Lindau Case", I found One day Mr. MA Klausner from the Berliner Börfen-Courier, as a friend and confidant of the Lord. Paul Lindau, in my Apartment to convince me by very common arguments that I Out of respect for Mr. Lindau, I do not want to go into detail about the publication-feeft of my brochure. A few days later, Mr. Stein, the local political correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung, I set out on behalf of Mr. Lindau and with the intention of to prove that this gentleman never told Miss von Schabelsky He only had one, but, as he assumed, the more convincing proof in his pocket; he thought namely, if Mr. Lindau had been his former girlfriend-fideigen want, yes it would be related to him by virtue of his-fcient relationships would have been easy, as a foreigner from Berlin to be identified by the police. Since I have no Prussian authority was known, which is called upon to To carry out acts of revenge against the Lindau family, I could not see tremendous merit in the fact that Mr. Paul Lindau had let him do what he could not do. Mr. Stein then said nor, by pointing to the same things as Mr. Klausner, This makes things particularly difficult for Mr Paul Lindau; in his Letters to Miss von Schabelsky contain sentences that close relatives of 85 in private and political affairs- which exposed them very much, and the thought that these passages in the baptism of the polemif could be affected, he I completely reassured Mr. Stein about this, To make matters worse, he promised to send the relevant papers to the given point of view, a particularly detailed examination to undergo the test and executed the next day, the 22nd of the month, following letter to Mr. Stein:

- 137 -

"In the wake of our conversation yesterday, I have the best relevant papers again. You can contact Mr. Lindau completely reassured that, as long as I keep the matter in the hand, everything in politics or his other private interests conditions will remain untouched. I do not have the deepest hatred against him, and what I can do to protect his personal To ease the situation, it is always gladly done, as I

I have also included a relevant section in my brochure.
I only ask that if necessary you would be so kind as to find the
to take over mediation, with Klausner, whom I met today repeatedly had to shake off, and I don't want anything to do with similar people to create. – Of course, this will be my Opinion will not change if Mr. Lindau is still so considerate= defended myself or prosecuted. That is a good right, whose use I shall be the last to take offence at."

I assume that Mr. Stein has sent this letter to Mr. Lindau, on whose behalf he came to me. It seems, however, that the "basically good guy" as whom I describe Mr. Paul Lindau at the request of his friends in my writing, loves thorough work. After my relationships with the daily press refer to a formal contractual relationship of limited duration have reduced, the day before yesterday Mr. MA Klausner attacked the Miss von Schabelsky at a third location and introduced her, now she will finally listen to her true friends. Outside
There are such beautiful areas in Berlin where she does not have the means should be missing, a wonderful life as an actress and writer Above all, she should have her lawyer Munkel discontinue the proceedings against their persecutors; they should not forget that every day they have to pass their police identification from Berlin could be expected.

Of course, I see in this announcement only a fshould be as empty as it is malicious threat. Would it be conceivable as it is:
It is conceivable that a Prussian authority might take revenge for the Lindau=Ring, yes I would not go public appeal, but another instance for protection for a helpless Call woman. But empty as she is, she is not less malicious. Miss von Schabelsky, who just again a little had taken a breath to reach their goal, a goal which no other than to earn a modest and honorable living through honest work To establish an existence, I see myself as soon as I am paralyzed.
believed that they had again been exposed to the tortures of their tormentors;
is not a day – yesterday Mr MA Klausner is already in your apartment, only to be turned away – before new fears, and this unfortunate woman, who ten times has atoned for whatever she may have lacked, must finally be lie if they do not have permanent protection from the Lindau ring obtained.

– 138 –

But, as things stand, this protection can only be provided by a Appeal to the public. Since the Kreuz=Zeitung is on the small minority of the local press organs, which still openly to the in our enlightened and advanced times quite dare to confess the old-fashioned view that a defenseless

Woman must not be hunted to death, I hope that you, Mr. Redacteur, the present lines in the next issue of your paper—and I ask you at the same time to express my thanks for this, to accept a favor shown to a political opponent
In the interest of Mr. Paul Lindau and his entire
I wish for the benefit of my family and my stomach that this publication a final end to all the harassment of Miss von Schabelsky significant goal. =

With best regards,

Berlin, October 13, 1890. Dr. Franz Mehring.

“The Volks-Zeitung always knows how to hit the nail on the head”, said Kaiser Friedrich, and by that he meant the articles of the Lord Dr. Mehring, who fought against evil and untruth, where he always found it. |

How often have I been surprised by the agreement between the two Newspapers representing the extreme poles were surprised. Now the instinct of Dr. Mehring to the Kreuz-Zeitung. =

The ultra-conservative editor of the Kreuz-Zeitung finds himself with the ultra-radical editor of the Volks-Zeitung on the same Soil and both fight for justice and humanity for a distant person.

Dr. Mehring fought against Judaism without knew; he fought against Bismarckism and now it turns out that Mr. von Bismarck has been messing around in the ghetto for many years, if it does not turn out that he has Jewish blood in his veins. N

Dr. Mehring fought against Schunck, Schweinburg and Pindter, Now he is fighting the Lindau Clique; but he has the nail hit on the head. He is in the middle of the Jewish swamp Probably even today he has hardly any idea how big and powerful this clique is, and what names in it
1. But you can get rid of them with the help of my work=

nds.

The Lindau clique stretches across the globe and drives there under the German flag the same game with all variations, as Paul Lindau did it with Miss von Schabelsky.

The Kreuz-Zeitung fought against Judaism, but made the nobility, the gown, the uniform of the officer or of the official. Both points of view are untenable. On both sides you have to go a step further to find the appropriate fight= to find the ground.

Dr. Mehring will probably experience that when he told his friend, the Aryan Friedrich Engels in London, whom

– 139 –

he mentions in a fine brochure, puts it to the test, which is just as good a Semite, like the "Christian" Lindau. It is very likely that Dr. Mehring was exploited by Mr. Engels in a similar way, like Miss v. Schabelsky by Paul Lindau, and this will still also make fun of him for being so gullible.

If Dr. Mehring is then one friend poorer, then On the other hand, he is richer in experience, namely that the race Everything is, like the "Christian" Disraeli, the Reform Jew Mendelsohn, and the orthodox professor Dr. Grätz claim. |

From a treatment of the third Lindau, Mr. Richard Lindau, I will gladly refrain from, as well as from a description of the private life of the Lindau's; that must be a German Juvenal or Zola remains reserved.

We will, however, discuss Mr Paul Lindau elsewhere, in Trial of Graef, in the company of his friends Simson, Lefing, etc.
find again.

Yes, with the Lindau's one really understands the truth of the Word of Professor Mommsen: "Judaism is an effective ferment of cosmopolitanism and national decomposition."

Mr. J. Neustadt,
Episode from the life of an ordinary Jew.
A simple but true story.

Mr. J. Neustadt is a Jew from Liffa, Pofen district, or anywhere else from this area.

In 1879 he sailed on a Dutch schooner, the "Augufte", around the Cape of Good Hope to China. On board
The first representative of Mr. Krupp in China, Mr.
F. Peil, his partner, both ladies, the procurator of the future Company F. Peil in China and finally also the office staff of Company; Mr. J. Neustadt belonged to the latter. The ship also some Krupp guns and a load of all sorts of stuff= things like watches, toys, photograph albums and the like.
The sale initiated after the schooner's arrival in Hong Kong
of haberdashery and other goods of his time in China caused a great stir and gave rise to many jokes. In fact the composition of the whole company was also a miracle cash! Krupp guns and children's toys, people who knew how to handle the most modern cannons, and the small uneducated Jewish clerks!

The energy of Mr. F. Peil, the director of this company, However, within a few years, the business was able to turn into a favorable to lead the forerunners; it is undisputedly his merit to have led the Krupp guns in China. But fate the company and its other staff will not concern us any further here but only Mr. Julius Neustadt, whom I, as Everyone in Shanghai, got to know superficially; because like his famous fellow Disraeli and the infamous Ditto, the current representative of Friedrich Krupp in China and fleeting Austrian Hebrew Mandl, he stood out through the real contrast between his insignificant physicality and the tender color brilliance of its outer shell a la derniere mode. Unfortunately, he had competitors who were related to him in these arts superior; he achieved, like them, certain hilarity, but the was everything. To gain prestige and influence and to become respected persons— His aim was to establish relationships with these personalities, but without success. It caused Mr. Neustadt much grief that a Jewish barber, Named Abraham Höflich, called George Polite, of reading and Ignorant of writing, but clever and in his way a Enjoying Figaro popularity, Mr. Neustadt claimed that his real cousin and did not want to recognize him out of arrogance.

– 140 –

In 1874 Mr. Neustadt Knall und Fall left China and indeed, as one only occasionally fawkwardly He was persecuted for committing forgery, a reason which his principals of his time had kept secret out of consideration.

In 1877 I met Mr. Neustadt in Berlin at the Chinese— fician embassy, which he tried to force his way to. On 1 acquaintance from China, he made me search.

In the aftermath of the Gründerzeit, he had, with the help of “be— praised” writers and authorities to counter a long—felt need to establish an English journal for Berlin This matter, like some other undertakings, failed, and he now complained of his distress and asked me to help him. Wherever I could, I did this, provided him with connections and helped him as best he could.

By recommendation of a former Consul of the German Empire
In China, where he had also complained of his distress, he received news-science in the diplomatic world, for which he provided furniture, commissions and luxury items. On the Foreign
In his office in Berlin, Mr. Neustadt was a well-known personality.
In 1879 he told me, among other things, that he had also worked for Mr.
Brandt, ambassador in Peking, with his brother, Colonel von Brandt, former head of espionage in the war of 1870-71, he
I also have business connections, significant ups-tasks for the embassy in Peking; that this also used it to sell Chinoiferien &c. &c. He boasted about this connection and also about fine respected Relatives, the Moll family, whose members were city councilors, judges, Lawyers in Charlottenburg, Berlin, all very well respected, wealthy and married even more wealthy. He also knew to arrange it for Mr. Neustadt so that I could make the acquaintance of some members of this family, so that I could convince him, that they addressed him informally and recognized him as a full member of the family.

- 4 - — | Ä

In 1883 I returned from China to Berlin and Mr.
Neustadt immediately came to see me. He told me that his business was
He is now making purchases for a whole number of German Ambassadors and consuls abroad: the business is indeed a one= tolerable, but for a man of his importance, this employment is too low, he would have to become something, his also turned to prosperous land and owned entire house complexes in the Friedrichstrasse and others

Since Berlin has now become a centre for most InduŸstrieen, I was often V and Be= people from home and abroad were asked to admit, and I usually recommended this to Mr. Neustadt. One my friend, who had come to Berlin and with the Neustadt's purchases, invited him one evening to supper in a fine restaurant under the Linden trees. In the course of the animated conversation, Mr. Neustadt suddenly asked him: "Say Please be honest with me, Mr. X., what do you think about me a "Very clever and martial," replied my friend

jokingly, "but a little pale and worn out."

Mr. Neustadt, visibly flattered, now made the following statement:
clarification: The fresh healthy facial colors are here in Berlin completely out of fashion, they are no longer appreciated; but such a complexion, like the one I have, is called "court-colored" here these days!

sees where Mr. Neustadt's ambitions, like those of many of his fellow believers, aimed! |

He also told me in confidence that he was counting on Consul General or at least Consul of a foreign state in Berlin; with his relatives and other Relationships he would succeed and then he would be on top. He listed a whole series of respected personalities, who frequented his office and with whom he conducted major business arranged and planned.

On the whole, Mr. Neustadt's visits were annoying to me, and I had many mockeries from my acquaintances because of this circumstance= gangs, but since he almost always "out of gratitude" or came with a request, it was difficult to reject. I used to say to my mocking friends: Neustadt is a poor Jew, but the only decent one I know.

Mr. Neustadt, always elegant on the outside, was uneducated; he could neither sing nor play music, neither write poetry nor compose; Nor did he make any scientific aperçus and was not educated; He himself spoke English only poorly: thus, apart from fine Clothing, a certain Aplomb and his court-colored complexion of the whole apparatus, which made him available to society and to consular and court ambitions without much money. Apparatus which young Israel is today using in German schools and Universities and to the detriment of the Goyim, knows how to use it to your advantage.

Mr. Neustadt's stories were highly comical when he – 12 –

the circle of his highly respected family and of their splendor and wealth told.

Now, he came to me several times, excited, now they sit all together, the whole family, and discuss about me; now my fate is decided; I am to marry. This is the case with the Jewish Families always like this, there is one for all and all for one, and I must do what I am commanded.

Mr. Neustadt also went to look for a bride, but returned empty-handed. The deal was not successful; and so It happened several times. Meanwhile, he said, he was entertaining a Relationship with a Christian young girl, whom he, when

e would have to marry a German craftsman

thought out. |

. As a rule, Mr. Neustadt appeared very harmless and ridiculous, Only once did he reveal the full sophistication of his race. A friendly manufacturer had asked me for an active and reliable casual agent for his factories in Berlin. I inquired me whether Mr. Neustadt would be interested in taking on such a representation which could possibly provide a living. He was delighted, it was after all a step forward in society fcient Scala and what particularly pleased him was that the Products of the factories also for larger consumer goods the government 11 He saw the sky full of violins. "This is my field," he claimed. "How to deal with the government makes, I know" – and now he develops in the joy of his heart the whole plan, "how it had to be done" and how it allegedly did. The matter started with the corruption of the poor paid subordinate officials, but indirectly aimed at high and ER officials who are deceived by the subordinates The whole mechanism of this system was probably from the impure practice of any of his co-religionists. Fortunately, nothing came of the agency for Mr. Neustadt. The manufacturers had, perhaps by chance, a bad experience experience with him. But I should have my Hebrew friend get to know each other even better.

The ambassador Mr. von Brandt, who was with me in 1883 had returned from China, had, as usual, for the art= trade museum in Berlin a lot of art objects= purchased. Items for the state art collections are duty-free; If a museum does not accept such or some of them, they will be returned to the collectors; even then, as far as I know, no customs will be charged paid later. If you send a lot of these art objects, of which one knows that the museum will refufir, by saving on the high import duty, you can make a good deal make it difficult for legitimate curiosities traders who pay customs have to pay, the competition. | Mr. von Brandt always spoke with great contempt of a American official who was accused of such manipulations in America. That Mr. von Brandt was involved in such business such a thought had never crossed my mind for thwarted for a moment. It is so natural that someone, who lives abroad and acquires works of art from a foreign country and buys gifts for friends and acquaintances, runs errands, but the limits of what is permitted are always easy to maintain!

– 143 –

Mr. Neustadt, who knew that I was with Mr. von Brandt had become friends in the meantime, and was questioned by the same might have that we corresponded with each other, one day to me and asked me to speak to Mr. von Brandt on his behalf about the sale of items rejected by the Kunstgewerbemuseum, especially embroidery, to intervene, he knew very well that Mr. Julius Leffing, second director of the Kunstgewerbemuseum, Mr. von Brandt is being treated badly; he is only waiting for theft and wants to do business; von Brandt is ill and Leffing is delaying the publishing of the embroidery etc. intentionally, since it is not impossible, that von Brandt passed away.

I asked Mr. Neustadt to excuse me from such discussions. Of course, under no circumstances would I agree to your request. Now a real comedy began! Mr. Neustadt implored me to spare my friendship for Mr. von Brandt, to present him before Leffing. He is a false friend and a black character. He is also ungrateful, and he has tangible proof of this. In his youth, Leffing, as a poor student, had 1 free meal in his family, as is customary among Jews, and now he plays the big guy and wants to do all the business himself. Mr. Leffing had made a career and was at very high personalities at the expense of others, He had some really incredible things to tell about it, details, which I do not want to repeat here. Finally, I had to earnestly request that you never speak to me of such things again, and He didn't do that again.

Of course, I have spoken to Mr. von Brandt about these things not talked about, even if occasionally the names Neustadt and Leffing were mentioned and he referred to the latter and the museum economy fored. Despite everything, he called Leffing his friend, but why Should I make him disgusted with such a thing, especially since the Neustadt spring because it seemed far too insignificant and too interested.

However, Mr. von Brandt finally gave Mr. Neustadt the preference, which the latter told me beaming with joy. He then asked me to come with him to a fabric store where the items would be available; I would like to give my opinion about them, etc. I did not see the purpose, especially as I had never heard of such Things I don't understand, but Mr. Neustadt finally knew me to move him, saying that he had also brought some belonging to me old bronzes, which I had given him for polishing, brought there and they are now ready. (These bronzes . I, chased by the way, made every effort to return from Neustadt taken because he absolutely wanted to sell them.)

So I went along, looked at the embroidery of Mr. von Brandt, without having the slightest idea that the Jew had put me on this apparently harmless way to a shameful maneuver to defraud other people's computers, as will be explained below.

Neustadt had asked me several times for loans for a shorter period of time, each time noting that he was ocular—is currently in short supply — today around 1000, then around 2000 marks, money, which I received back. Finally he came with a request for 4000 Mk. A gentleman from Brunswick, ambassador in a had given him orders nel which he could not 9 0, since Mr. von Brandt fvery owes a lot of money and another gentleman is also in arrears. He wants show me fine business books rc. re. I gave the requested sum. But since I wanted to leave Berlin soon after, he gave me a two-month sola bill of exchange on your company, which I gave it to my banker for cashing; but before it expired, Neustadt for a prolongation of two months, then again the same Deadline and so on several times. As the matter kept repeating itself, I asked Mr. Neustadt to repay the sum in installments and asked my banker to put a little pressure on Mr. Neustadt—to practice, but without forcing it in any way.

When I returned to Berlin at the beginning of 1885, I heard I that Mr. Neustadt had gone through and because of a series of Except for 1400 Mk. he had fhe paid off his debt to me. I also heard that Mr. Neuft should have taken a train ticket to Paris, that he Office clerks earn several hundred marks, craftsmen, such as fhis shoemaker, also for a few hundred marks, a tailor—company was defrauded of 1800 marks and a widow, a Christian, had swindled 8000 marks under the promise of marriage. I I knew that complaining would not help, but I was Mr. von Brandt, who has greater interests than the man entrusted to me, and so I went to the upholstery shop, where which I had seen Mr. von Brandt's Chinoiserie. The Boss then told me that Mr. Neustadt, before he had me had told me to come into the store, 15 that I was a intimate friend of his, with whom he always had a blank credit of 20 to 30,000 Marks. He had therefore invited me to the business go, not so that I could look at the materials, but to prove the existence of my person and the acquaintance with me.

He had boasted greatly about his friendship with Mr. von Brandt and alleged letters from him, according to which he some thirty thousand marks. He also had the name of Count von Tattenbach, former Legation Secretary in Peking, abused in a similar way as mine and through this The company was cheated out of 20,000 marks; I was also given the Address of a furniture dealer, whom he defrauded of 30,000 marks should have and where, if I wanted to hear more, I could find out more—I renounced this, but to Mr. von Brandt, from whom I assumed that the one with his name and alleged

I reported that the abuse of letters must have been unpleasant

– 145. –

what I heard. The answer was that he too was in Mr. Neustadt, whom he always considered a decent man. Of the letters that Neustadt claimed to have received, not a word was true; he had never owed Neustadt anything: it had only always found it difficult to get an account from him; in any case Neustadt gave him a silver service, "an old family piece", which he had deposited with him, which amounted to 1700 marks: valued, but as an art object it represents a greater value.

Neustadt also hired a vice-consul in China for about 3000 Marks. Later I heard that he had another Chinoiserie dealer for a considerable sum, an Englishman in London, to whom I had recommended him, for 3000 marks and a German consul, for whom he had procured a wedding dowry. supposedly cheated him out of 5,000 marks.

What else Mr. Neustadt has committed and who else he I do not know whether he may have cheated. I never investigated further, Most of the above information was only discovered by chance.

The only thing I would have liked to have noted was: Has the "rich, respected family of Mr. Neustadt", which according to his statement, he was concerned about his affairs, the details of these things? In any case, they have no expression made to compensate the cheated clerks and craftsmen – so I learned about the tailoring company, which was run by Mr. Neustadt was deceived and who worked for me. –

At about the same time, our German authorities in North-America, a small postal worker who has some very small. He was arrested amid much newspaper fuss back to his homeland, where he committed suicide in prison. I was eager to find out whether Mr. Neustadt could be found; but nothing was heard. |

When I met Mr. von Brandt in Peking again in 1887, We also touched on the subject of Neustadt. He first spoke about in the same spirit as he had written to me in 1885. But the fate of Mr. Neustadt seemed to be very dear to his heart and he often asked: "Where might Mr. Neustadt be? and what might he have done with all that money? Did he took it with him or did he gamble it away?" I said my swear: guessed in the former case and said jokingly: 1

"Well, he took a train ticket to Paris. There

he is welcomed with joy by his fellow tribesmen and if he can properly legitimize himself, that he has so many Goyim has cheated in such a sophisticated manner, he will certainly be honored= mahl. Then he will be between Zadoc Khan (the Chief Rabbi) and Baron Rothschild have their place, because in the Talmud it says wrote: The money of a non-Jew is ownerless property, and whoever wants to has every right to take possession of it

— —n

1) See "Der Judenspiegel", Laws, Nos. 24 and 55.
Iv. 10

— 146 —

And furthermore, that for the Jew there is always a good
The point is to take something from the non-Jew."

In the end, we see Mr. Neustadt after a few years in Berlin as Baron de Villeneuve, or de Neufville, covered with foreign order and as consul or general consul of a robber state, which then protects him from persecution.

Mr. von Brandt's curiosity about the whereabouts of Mr. Neu= ftadt should not remain 0 unsatisfied. A friend wrote to me from Berlin that he had just met a mutual acquaintance, a Englishman, who was flying from S ang via San Francisco came to Europe to visit. When he was on the way—travel in San Francisco in the Palace Hotel, suddenly Mr.

Neustadt and, based on the previous acquaintance in Shanghai, asked him for money, as he was currently short of money and intend to travel to South America, from from which he wanted to immediately refund 100 as money. The Englishman from the money which he could spare at the moment, happier only 50 dollars. Mr. Neustadt was grateful and touched and noted with scrupulous conscientiousness and accuracy the address of the Lord in Europe to whom he could send the money. As who, a few minutes later, happens to look out of the window and sees Here, as Mr. Neustadt with another suspicious-looking Indian—viduum of his race i and the piece of paper on which he fo—had just carefully noted his address, even more carefully throughout

tears into small pieces. j |

I read the relevant passage from the letter to Mr. von Brandt and we then warmly welcomed this new Jewish prank of our Mr. von Brandt said: "I am surprised that Neustadt did not come to you when you were in San Francisco. You certainly wouldn't have done anything to him!"

a 1 5 Interest in Mr. Neustadt was still not extinguished.

Around April 1888 he was still preoccupied with the idea whether Mr. Neustadt would have kept all the money. He ended: "the "Don't be so stupid and do the right thing."

Do you understand, gentlemen? |

This is the race!

Monfieur Conftans.
Minister of the Interior in France.

The "Curriculum vitae" of Constans is known to all, writes Drumont, and when I return shortly afterwards, this will happen merely to show the sources to the historians of the future.

After Constans was forced to abolish the legal profession in Tou= Instead of giving up his life, he went to Spain to seek his fortune, and we know how he plundered the unfortunate Puig y Puig, who, loyal like all Spaniards, believed the words of a Frenchman had given.

Be

To avoid legal prosecution, the Alfocie of Puigey Puig (Constans) the jewelry of his ai as collateral and then sneaked into Puig y Puig with a spare key. Puig threatened again with a lawsuit. Mrs. Conftans and her mother then went to him to ask him to forgive once again but Puig removed the two in the presence of the servants godmothers. ö

The letters of Mr and Mrs Puig were published, which confirm the correctness of these facts. !) |

Extract from a letter from Mr. Puig to Mr. M. 9. Fonrnier of June 20, 1864.

re As far as my business is concerned, I try to Forces to work my way out, although the villain who brought into all these embarrassments, has caused me harm again ethan has, by seeing me again in the ate that we probably can not even ripen to Vichy and from what I am told, he is amused with my Money in Paris and London. Unfortunately, this is the advantage that the scoundrels have an advantage over honest people signed Puig y Pnig.

Extract from a letter from Mr. Puig to his brother Alexauder.

f Barrelona, February 8, 1865.
My dear brother Alexander!

eb wi Sch am far from being without worries, because this Frenchman with fine ladies (you remember them well still), after they had insinuated themselves into our hearts as best friends and our friendship acquired 1 a fraud (droga) and so outrageous fraud (Estafa) that I have been since October 1, 1863
I haven't had a moment's peace until today...

I am sad, displeased and ashamed of such disloyalty truth and falsehood. Imagine that this miserable Constans has sought to flee to France, and thus escape the fate escaped that I beat him to death

1) See the memoirs published during the Malherbe trial and the brilliant platitude of Mr. Falateuf. 2

Le Triboulet of 1 September 1889 has a complete report on the life of Constans, together with evidence, published. a 10 *

– 148 –

Letter from Mrs. Puig y Puig to Count Malherbe, transferee their debt claim against Mr. Conftans.

Mr. Graf! |

You ask me whether I am able to give you further information—to make any more divisions than those which I have already given you have, about the bit which my unfortunate husband has with Mr.

Constans had. Unfortunately, I cannot give you a comprehensive individual—units, because I was not fully involved in the matter—consecrated when my husband, under the burden of his anxiety, decided to make me acquainted with his fears. Mr. Constans was given to my husband by Mr. Couffinet, your debtor's cousin—ners, who, by the way, also arrived shortly afterwards—
I knew that Mr. Puig had given him 150,000 francs lent to start the collection business in the city without that he knew the details of this deal. I heard nothing of the bad turn that these affairs took, until one day when we were in the countryside near Barcelona—found, my brother-in-law wrote to my unfortunate husband that almost every night money and valuables from the cash box entrusted to him disappeared. We returned in great haste and almost simultaneously With our arrival, Mrs. Con's jewelry disappeared ftans from the case, also without any trace of a break-in present ls would be. |

My brother-in-law, Mr. Carlos Maduell, Kaffirer of Mr. Con= ftans, who had been commissioned by my husband to make the jewelry—to take into custody the belongings of Madame Constans, which in consequence new advances were given as collateral, and Mr. Manuel Puig y Puig, our cousin, who was also employed in the business, would
To have been able to give you further information; but both of them died. |

A few days after this theft, my unfortunate husband
a very lively discussion with Mrs. Constans and her Mother who visited us and had to ask these ladies to
To leave the house immediately. Shortly afterwards, Mr. Constans fled from Barcelona and my husband never knew his address; I myself
I only found out about it in 1876, when I was asked for information about his business deal asked. |

Death has a clarification could have been given: This person brings bad luck!

Approve etc.

signed Sophie Leclerc de Puig.

Puig was an inconvenient witness, he disappeared one day on on the way from Barcelona to his country estate. Mrs. Puig gave 200,000 francs to at least find the body of her unfortunate man and had the whole country searched. Finally One day she received a letter with printed letters which

e swept away those who were on your side= |

– 149 –

one had cut out of a newspaper, in which she was presented with= shared: “It is useless for you to make so much effort, your husband is burned to ashes and no trace will ever be found.”

Here the light-shy side of the nine is the point where he
the back lodges of Freemasonry. The Free-maureret!) gives credit, it shoots a dead man in front of a debtor and the same ten the debt a few years later through ministerial Decree back. One can imagine what such a man in Indo= China has been able to commit atrocities. Letters and dispatches judge us of the thefts and embezzlements which Constans Richaud has formally accused him of Profession to extortion and by King Norodom of Cambodia in return for the re-establishment of the game of the 36 wild animals (a lottery game which the French messengers) to accept the much-mentioned valuable belt
have, which Conftans does not deny. |

Since Constans disputed the accuracy of some of the information, the Marine Minister to Richaud, who confirmed the accuracy and correctness ity of his statements. The newspaper “Petit national” – could, without being pursued by Conftans, among other de= pefchen also publish the following, which no longer has any doubt Space leaves:

General=Governor to Navy Minister Par
aris.

Tenants refuse to obey my orders, saying Withdrawal of the concession of the game of the Trente-six-Bôtes ruins it, because they pay considerable sums to King Norodom and Constans had to. f

signed Richand.

The Marquis de Mores, whose word no one will doubt,
On July 17, 1889, he wrote the following letter to the director of “Matin”:

Mr. Director!

As a friend of Mr Richaud, I respond to your article of July 14th: "Unbridled Ambition".

As you know, I come from Tonkin, where I met Colonel Richaud; I met Mr. Richaud there, him I learned to appreciate, became a fine friend and am a friend of fine widow and her children.

You have shown great courage by doing so 1
Not to defend N, I take the word for Mr.

Richaud.

2 1) Freemasonry in France is entirely different from that in Germany.
N The festival is almost exclusively directed by Jews. The German own no cartel with the French.

– 150 –

I have seen in Tonkin the results of the administration of Mr. Constans; in my opinion, no honest and intelligent administrative official the responsibility of succeeding the Lord Constans. For my part, I accuse Mr. Constans:

1) To assist the State by 440,000 francs in matters of the Chinese-Nesian guilds, the following official Documents show you in what way;

("The brutality of individual facts," said Richaud, "makes their Justification impossible." I repeat it with him.)

| 2) as Governor General of South China, the military to have falsified the judgement and intentionally deceived the government.

I returned via China. The reputation which Mr. Constans as ambassador of France left there, makes me as French people blush that I was misled by such a manand I accuse Mr. Constans, Ambassador France in China:

1) in the treaty with China, the interests of France in the Settlement of the issue concerning the trade in salt, the enclave of Paklung and border regulation have been severely damaged;

2) his position as ambassador of France through haggling with

to have dishonored Chinoiserie.

I am prepared to make these and other accusations before the Courts or the public and furthermore my friends to protect in all areas.

Please approve, Mr. Director 2c. 2c. 5
hmig 8 signed Mores.

Richaud returned, his hands full of evidence. He was left safe and sound; there was not a single case of cholera aboard of the ship that was to bring him back to France, occurred; he died nevertheless in a mysterious White, and during a terrible storm the Body of the unfortunate governor and the papers which were in his cabin, overboard. Another inconvenient witness, who was no longer allowed to speak

As for the documents of the Baratte affair, they are the same even better known, if this is possible. These are the Acts of a trial which took place before the court of Nancy—

This and the discussions that took place in the chambers have taken place, leave no doubt that Constans was accepted a stabbing sum of 10,000 francs.

This Mr. Baratte, after having served with distinction in the war—had fought for the union and was decorated, in dubious business—he tried to set up an insurance company under the name of “Ville de Lyon”, and to simple people he appointed the Administrative Council of deputies—The prospectus contained the following names: Constans, former Minister of the Interior, Deputy and General Councilor of the Department Haute Garonne, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company

— 151 —

“La ville de Lyon”; Dubois, deputy and ne des Department of Côte d'Or, former mayor of Dijon; Gilliot, Member of Parliament and General Councillor of the Department of Saône-et-Loire
f

The constitution of the society dates from June 12, 1882; on On July 28, Constans received his reward for the trade. Mr. Baratte actually sent him the following letter on this date:

Mr. Conftans, former Minister, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the company "La ville de Lyon",

18 Rue de Miromesnil, Paris. |

"I am sending you a cheque for 10,000 francs,
No. 23, dated 28 July 1882, issued by Crédit Lyonnais and payable at the branch in Paris.

As agreed between us, I will present to you as chairman of the Administrative Council of the "Ville de Lyon" except those attached following 10,000 francs 250 shares of 125 francs = 31,500 francs and annual salary 3000 francs."

On September 10, 1882, another writes about Mr. Constans recruited MP wrote the following letter to Mr Baratte:

Mr. Director!

Before I left Paris, Mr. Constans welcomed us into his home collects and everyone receives the proceeds from the sale of 40 of our shares paid out to the company "La ville de Lyon".

Mr. Conftans then told us that in the course of the September we will receive an equal payout from the sale of further
40 shares would be made. |

You would be doing me a great duty, Mr. Director, if you provide this sum, or at least let me know, when this money will be paid out.

| signed Dubois,
Member of Parliament for Côte d'Or.

Since the new company did not get off the ground despite all this,
Baratte demanded his money back from Constans, who, however, refused and Baratte had to write him the following letter:

| "Our new Administrative Council demands that the Members of Parliament neten fofort the received sums i because you from right because the funds only after the legal constitution of the company should have taken because the money belongs to the shareholders.

I am therefore more than surprised that I am with a man of your position in such a delicate matter."

Constans still did not pay back, and only decided to hand over the 10,000 francs when threatened with the public prosecutor
He had raised the 10,000 francs on July 28, 1882 and it was not until May 9, 1883, that he published it again.

That's what this man is like. He is clever and sinister at the same time, a Descendant of the ancient Albigensians, who after centuries finds his former accomplice, the Jew, and works with him.

—

To support his candidacy, Constans only wanted a Jew Cohn, Prefect of Toulouse, whom he used to recruit him for his To reward merits, to appoint Commander of the Legion of Honour—nen.

(For further details see Drumont's "La dernière bataille". p. 55 ff.)

Privy Councilor Professor Dr. Rudolph Virchow.

Boom! Boom!

It is sad to have to die, but I could almost get used to this chic
fable reconcile when I think about it,
that I finally no longer have to talk to Sarah Bernhardt and the "great Frenchman"

need to hear. 9 Leuven.

"Go away, leave Virchow alone!" I said to an older doctor who made it clear to me — it was in 1878 — you tried to make it seem that compulsory vaccination was an injustice, that Business politics and something even worse was behind it and Professor Virchow as an "unscientific idiot"
had described. | ö

| "Man loves to blacken what is radiant
And to drag the sublime into the dust."

Yes, I believed in Virchow, why I still know today not, but faith makes one blessed. The Jew believes in gold and the Aryans in God or ideals, and Professor Virchow teaches us that the German people are increasingly losing their ideals—
I suspect that he is among the Ideals of the German people count. The German is difficult to find his ideals, and so it is with me too with Professor Virchow.

For a long time I, like almost all Germans, have in silent adoration the shining trio of the Berlin University: Virchow, Helmholtz, Dubdis=Re mond admired. And when Herr von Kleft=Retzow many years ago, one should ask Professor Virchow like nailing a harmful animal to the barn door, there was I was "morally outraged like Lasker" and held Mr. von Kleist=Retzow for a medieval barbarian. The whole trio Press. yes, at that time in the brightest theatrical splendour of the entire Jewish effe.

Then came the evil Doctor Dühning, snatched the Professor von Helmholtz took out the foreign feathers with which he had adorned himself, and extinguished the fire with a large fire bucket full of cold water. Stern Helmholtz.

= 459.2

Then came the author of "Rembrandt as Educator", encompassing the noble Dubois=Reymond and attracted him like a watery woman to his Heart. And look, even the faint luminosity of this star was gone! |

But Virchow's star still shines undiminished at the firm=ment, despite all the water jets pouring down on him. Through fwift rotation and tremendous friction will keep it glowing and it sounds like a big humming top.

When will he too disappear into the darkness of the night?

– The first blow was to my rock=solid belief in the praised Virchow by Mr. Ludwig Löwe, né Laib Levy. I had I met this great man in 1879. He wanted would like to do business with China, but the routes he has before=flapped, I did not like at all and I broke the underhand=A short time was enough to bring this folk to see through the happiness.

How is it possible that the great Professor Virchow and Lion's friends? I thought; Virchow would have to know the lion=if you know.

The seed of doubt was sown!

– A few years later I was staying with a Berlin family Tables loaded. The housewife said: "We let our daughters attend a private school that does not accept Jewish children, because they 'spoil the tone'; in the same school they also strictly on the Christian education of children. The daughters of the Privy Councillor Virchow also attend this school."

– “What!” I asked, “Privy Councillor Virchow, who con= Shale schools, sends his children to such a ule?”

– “Yes, just imagine,” said a daughter of the house: “the Little Virchow told us in religion class that her daddy had told them that there was no loving God.” N

I then learned that the headmistress of this school also Virchow had drawn attention to the point of view which he in public life in the school question. This was the professor retreated behind his wife.

Yes, you know, my wife etc. |

But I asked myself: “What about a straight character compatible that one can act against one's conviction in this way and, moreover, deliberately spread disbelief among children whose parents provide them with a Christian education want to let it go?” (And this man was recently sitting in a school= commission.) .

“What is the professor’s stance on Judaism?” I asked one of the guests present. – “He occasionally curses the Jews and has even written about them.” See

r

1
Virchow's collected treatises on public
Medicine. |
1879. Vol. 2:

p. 87. “The fact that the Jews did not succeed in bringing all the natives
| the edge of the sword, although they
I must admit that we had orders to do so, but I had now always the opinion that it is the one in this point– Inconsistency was not a consequence of their humanity... .. and deduced from this the principle of intolerance for the Jewish– state.”

P. 100. “The Jewish state was built on intolerance, even on folute exclusion He made the prophecy true: You will devour all nations You shall not spare.” '

“So the professor is an enemy of the Jews?” – “None– away! His omissions only prove that he knows them, but not that he is not also intent on devouring the nations." –

"You don't mean to insinuate that Mr. Virchow is a Jew?"

"I am not insinuating anything. Just look at your son's house and observe his activity and draw your own conclusions–conclusions." 5

– In Brussels, part of the local museum once burned down and with it a collection of skulls was lost, which consisted of–fuentially came from executed criminals and for phreno–logical studies were preserved.

A Brussels newspaper wrote: "A humorous meaning has This collection was preserved by a certain Virchow, Chairman of the Anthropological Society in Berlin, some time ago Who has visited this collection, and without regard to its origin or ignorance of the same in lectures as well as in writings about it has been deduced from Flemish skulls in general."

– Mr. Ludwig Löwe had passed away. The continuation–fhrittler were in great distress and held an election in Berlin–pre-meeting. The noble champions Lion and said: "The spirit of Ludwig Löwe is among us and surely the The deceased from the afterlife kindly descend upon this gathering!"

So these Jewish and Jewish–compatriot progressives, who

Preaching atheism and most of all using the symbols from the German schools have their own saints!

Strange that they should sit in Abraham's bosom, for where should the holy Louis Löwe, ne Laib Levy, be different?

When I read this imprecation, I could not help but think of the beautiful song from Offenbach's "Vie parisienne": "Je suis veuve d'un colonel" etc. w. think.

– Once a young man came from Sweden to Berlin. The= the felbe exhibited in Kaftan s Panoptikum and wanted 30 or 40 Days of hunger. All of Berlin was once again talking about the impending 192 Event. For science, one promised rapid success– The good Germans were convinced from the results, which a

OFFENBACH

Je suis veu- ve dun co - la

Qui mourut à

- nel

lo

mole,

Te.

ver

de wa

nant

est con

II

the -

Te

de - meu -

Sa

sky,

est con

II

nel,

mon co

tent

you

ou

moins,

you

tent mon

mine

you

ou

moins,

nel?

tent mon colonel? Ess- tu content mon co - lo

Ogle

752 N

Digitized by 0

– 156 –

"scientific" observation of the starvation diet. The an-
The dawn of a golden age was prophesied. The most famous capacities of the Berlin University, which had agreed allow the starving man to be observed and examined, contributed with their names. The latter were emblazoned in large letters next to those of the victim in the advertisements. The name of the victim-most famous of the famous, Virchow, shone above all and the pl-cate of the Kaftan brothers on the advertising pillars concluded with the following-following words:

"May God grant that the young artist may be granted to successfully overcome the difficult test!" |

Entrance fee 50 Pfg.

Privy Councillor Professor Dr. Rudolph Virchow will examine the patient between 12 and 1 o'clock. 8

u Jewish benefactors,
who check in public kitchens how little a person needs to eat, in order to exist and still be able to work, turned to this important Companies showed their lively interest, because here the children could Sems yes in the name of humanity and science, without fear before being punished, determine how long a goy can go hungry.

In this scientific experiment, the heart of the Children of Israel as high as with the one who was undertaken a few years later, where for philanthropic Consider the large elephant "Roftom" in the Zoological Garden-should be hanged because he ate too much. Starvation is also pleasant sensation like being hanged, provided that both for the entertainment of the chosen people and in the name of the Science happens.

The newspapers reported on the starving "artist"
the most detailed reports every day.

One day one read how the great medical man Virchow
Patients visited: "After reading the reports of the on-duty Doctors received and in his usual, friendly,

condescendingly exchanged a few words with the young artist changed, he took his hat and stick and wished the hunger-unfortunately a 'Blessed meal!'

God the Just! sounded from all Jewish newspapers, what is
But the famous Virchow is a great, great man. He can Everything! Even distraction, this first quality of a rich tigen . Professor, honor him!

Everything was swimming in bliss and pleasure, then—then suddenly
The police came and put an end to the femiftic nonsense, and the famous scholars scattered to the four winds.

"In Aachen, people are bored on the streets
The dogs, they beg submissively,
Give us a kick, stranger, that will Maybe distract us a little."
(Heine, A Winter's Tale. Chapter III.)

– 157 –

How a few years later the police arrested the elephant "Roftom"
a humane end, the compassionate police gave the young man the torments of the cure and his health.

– In a Berlin bar, Concordia, a Family of African earthlings, cave dwellers, who Hair grew in tufts on their heads, as if they were a Brushmaker had been working on it. Science was immediately back on the spot in the form of Virchow, and in the newspapers read the results of the investigations. Papa Virchow, or his Son Hans, or both with combined forces, had discovered that the
The chief's wife was not actually a woman, but was a man in disguise. The police received a small page= that they were "taking advantage" and deceiving the public eftted. Of course, the publication of the "knowledge"

The results only came after the "artists" had left.
I do not know whether Mr Virchow is to be thanked for this great discovery.
the gratitude of Europe has already been given.

– In the summer of 1886, in the Flora of Charlottenburg
a troop of Dakota Indians and cowboys were exhibited, which there were performances there. Coincidence led me there. I was amazed to find in the imprefario of the troupe, Mr. Kronau, a man which I had met several years earlier in Stuttgart as a Ge-taught and got to know artists. Mr. Kronau was very kindly and explained to me that he had these Indian ideas only exists to raise more money for scientific purposes u acquire. He then led me into the Holy of Holies, showed me this whole troop of Indians, cowboys and horses, and made me aware of the dangers of his profession. Cowboys had entertained themselves the night before with chairs and Table legs beaten half to death, and carried along with many plasters still all possible traces of the cozy soirée in the form of blue, yellow, green, red spots.

While Mr Kronau was still explaining to me what was going on with the troops and the animal material was real and what was fake, a gentleman from Schirp and reported Professor Virchow.

I had just read a book called "The Stone of the Whites" and is only interesting because it is dedicated to Mr. Profeffor Virchow under the pfeudonym "Waldemar" and as "Artist" in his intimate circle. There, the Professor the "godlike"; he feels himself as an artist, a fame on the heights of Olympus. He wanders around, misunderstood from humanity, because no other mortal can imagine these dizzying heights of science. Such self- and reciprocity of glorification is even more there.

The professor naturally wanted to subjugate the Indians etc. search and measure, and then I recommended to Mr. Kronau, the famous Professor, who is on the dizzying heights who feels so lonely in science, to be a little among the cowboys

– 158 –

I thought to myself, that will do him good, there the great man perhaps once again became aware of his humanity.

The performance began and although the professor in the Basically more interested than the wildest Dakota Indian, so I for this time, when I was in company, my observation give up the same...

Of the "scientific findings" obtained by Mr. Virchow,

I have not heard anything about the results, but some time Then I read in the newspapers that the police in Stockholm whole troop because it wasn't real. But the Jude was real, who had participated in the performances and as had traveled as a stowaway in the American stagecoach; who was captured by the Indians with unspeakable difficulty and then scalped. And the romantic Mexican princess-efin, which was taken by the cowboys during the stagecoach raid-ni and was kidnapped on horseback, was about a hundred hours behind Vienna and spoke a language that one occasionally hears on the former Mühlendamm in Berlin. These latter developments— However, it is not Professor Virchow who has the cover, but I made it myself.

— Professor Virchow spoke at a large election meeting— he spoke of freedom, equality, humanity and the “unchanged” external” voting rights of the people. (I do not know exactly for how many marks someone gave his vote in Berlin to the progressives (Offended, he said to another speaker who contradicted: “You speak of me as if I were in the pay the government.” (Incidentally, I have always believed that Mr. Professor Virchow was and still is in the pay of the government! and never heard of him rejecting his salary and sacrificed for the good of the people, on the other hand I have often heard that the Professor is extremely focused on earning money, on earn a lot of money, you see.

If I am not mistaken, it was in the same inden where Mr. Virchow excused his early departure to his voters by that he now had to go to the Crown Prince's Palace.

“Whoever strives for the citizen’s crown,

He should not vie for the prince’s favor!”

Be once an enthusiastic progressive, but Mr. Proffeffor seems to be able to combine both. He can do everything! What can he not? While he is already in the palace with his front feet and kisses the hands there, he still wags his tail in the democratic assembly. Which side would he prefer? ly mean? I believe in neither of them; his heart will be with the Jews.

— The role played by Professor Virchow during the Illness of the Crown Prince and later deceased Emperor

.) And he often comes to school late, so that he actually should “report” that.

— 159 —

Friedrich has played, gives rise to such gloomy reflections that I prefer to remain silent about it here. In critical moments, where was called, Hic Rhodus, hie salta! the famous man traveled to Egypt or somewhere else. Ordinary mortals have understood it neither in this nor in some other cases. He is a wan= dreadful secret!

— Once in Berlin a severed human hand was found found, a crime was suspected and the hand was brought to Mr. Professor Virchow, asking him to determine whether the Hand cut off from a living person or from a corpse. Professor Virchow refused to provide information without to give a reason. Sooner or later it had to become clear how it was with this hand. If the professor was wrong, then the belief in his infallibility would be shaken.

– The Imperial Diet is discussing the Emperor's civil list; most of the liberals voted against it, the great Mr. Pro-

1 says cautiously: "the need is not sufficiently satisfied" proven."

Mr. von Moltke writes in his book "Presentation of the internal conditions of Poland", that once the number of Jews by a poll tax of one guilder per individual. At that time it was estimated that there were at least 200,000 souls, of which But the tax only brought in 16,000 guilders. King Sigismund then asked the Bishop of Krakow: "Tell me how Is it possible that 200,000 Jews can make themselves so invisible that only 16 598 were there when it came to the to pay the poll tax?" – "Your Majesty knows," he replied, "that the Jews are magicians even without the help of the devil's need."

Doesn't this incident remind you of Professor Virchow, who very thin when it comes to something positive to perform?

– We find the great man in Westphalia in the Dechen-cave near Lethmate. He explains the wonders of of nature. In a section of this stalactite cave, where it 9 has 5 floors, in the floor of the upper floor there was a och of about 1½ feet in diameter. At this point the Mr. Professor told his listeners: "You can imagine make, gentlemen, of the mysterious workings of nature, by the persistent diligence of the invisible forces which these cave, if you consider that my estimate after at least 10000 years belong to this hole, which You see here." Everyone listened attentively, believed and went away edified.

Six months later, 58 of these audiences led one to due back into the Dechenhöhle. The keeper of the cave recognizes the errn again and asks him whether he still remembers what is newly the great professor from Berlin had taught. He led him then to the conscious place and look there – the hole was still there, but only just big enough that you could put a finger through.

– 160 –

Since this time I always have to remember that for the However, Professor is much safer with hollow skulls and mummies, because these cannot be easily talk about how living nature and a Westphalian cave keeper does; even if the latter is as stupid as the Professor von den Westphalian thinks that he does not even pronounce the Sch in a coherent way Such Westphalian minds are not even sometimes my own thoughts about the Professor from Schivelbein, as the following newspaper article from the end of August 1890 shows us:

– A humorous echo of the Anthropologists' Congress in Münster. "What a sin that is for Kärles, the trampling guys, and what they want de here in Mönchengladbach?" asked the cab driver on the cathedral square Jan Biärnd, just as Virchow and Schaaffhausen were passing by. "We want to inform the people because there was a lot of suffering." up de Welt", came the reply from the next box seat. "Dunnerkiel auk", – and Jan Biärnd cast a shy glance at the two N – "' bätken wunderlik feht je on allbincen (all' together) wuol ut." –

But also in Berlin it seems that people are gradually becoming more recognize, and the book of Mr. Ahlwardt will probably be of interest to many previously unbiased about the true character of some progress–men have opened their eyes; the same lifts the ceiling a little, which rests above the Berlin city administration, in which our professor sitting in the middle of it. From what you see there and even more sense, one can say with Schiller:

ö "But it's terrible down there!"

Just assume that everything I have said so far I have not laboriously gathered together what I have told you, or the result or outflow of personal hatred against the Privy Councillor, but only the picture of Professor Virchow is how he almost presented to every human being.

– But we will only see it in its full glory when he attended a large medical congress or another meeting of this Art presides when he welcomes the foreign guests by name of the city, by name of the universe, in the name of God knows who and himself. "Then, if the city pays the costs for its apotheosis, then things are getting heated. What is said on such occasions is unbelievable, and what a certain Cohn in such a case

has achieved, beats the hilarious scientific slapstick Bendix in the "Theatre américain" and other greats of this kind in Grund and soil. Sometimes you really have to be amazed at what the good Germans everything 1 All wit seems to have run out fshould be that they do not immediately seize hold of such grateful material.
We have learned to be stupid! says Naudh; we are the fools of most complicated education, the fools of the arts and sciences!

=

– 161 –

chases Bogumil Goltz, and in view of such congresses one could really believe sometimes. Ä |
There are indeed a number of doctors who, once they such a "scientific mess", as they call it, lived there, not to go back. The scenes which they experienced were too much for them. Others, however, these things as humbug and go to look for Forces to amuse themselves at other people's expense. A few who Take the matter seriously and go there, feel flattered by the honorable invitation of the city of Berlin and all the Honors and courtesies, which joy is thereby increased will, if a prince allows himself to hold such a festival through his
To glorify the present or even invite the guests to his castles in Potsdam or elsewhere. If you ask seriously about the scientific significance of such a congress, fo the information is usually very meager. You get to know each other, says one. Everyone talks most about the things he least understands, says the other. It is a self= and object= glorification of the Semites, says a third, and this
the latter is probably correct.
The children of Israel are usually the main instigators of such Festivals that cost them nothing. Then they can cheaply enjoy the big play the role and chair the meeting and Professor Virchow suggests the big drum. But for Israel, many other things are also People from the provinces and from other countries, people who diligently worked and bring with them some scientific capital.
This must of course be taken from them in the exchange of ideas and many who have been to such a congress will become.
fhis amazement fhis own invention and discovery in Berlin occasionally see it done again. Nothing new happens under the sun, he may think, such things can happen!
Perhaps he will then also remember that he was in a weak Hour with a glass of wine at such a congress of a condescending amiable authority or any friend= harmless-looking people a message about his invention, and then, if he is clever, he does not go to the next one or at least look better.

Such congresses are just like the stock exchange. The harmless ones, those who trust are "exploited". This is also the case in Berlin is already the official expression for the treatment of foreign Scholar. Just as it is mainly Jews who become rich on the stock exchange, Jews also easily become famous in science. The means, with which one operates on the stock exchange and in science, are approximately the same, and therefore capable German scholars are rarely in the foreground. Just as with the medical congresses, it is also with the other scientific congresses where the Children of Israel have a hand in the game. But Professor Virchow is the most distinctive type of Bedouinism in the sciences, he is the raider par excellence, he extends his raids to almost all areas.

Iv. 11

– 162 –

No gorilla, no 5 no dwarf, no giantess, No savage, whether real or fake, can pass through Berlin without does not have to contribute anything to the glory of the great man. No Find, no discovery, no acquisition for a museum is made— does without giving his opinion or approval. Whoever wants to avoid it, is threatened with excommunication or has little— ft great difficulties to overcome.

"I have been given the odious task of exploring the sciences and popularize," said the professor. How on earth is she em Herr von Schivelbein? Something like the Lord Rudolf Lindau's diplomatic profession, which was marked by his life it was pointed out, as Glagau so beautifully puts it?

Yes, Professor Virchow understands everything, although a little

Fame is 1, even on all kinds of patent medicines he can not fail to put his name and it is funny to see, how the believers from the province of this juggernaut of science sacrifice and with what complacent expression he devours everything. Lord Professor Virchow does not popularize the sciences, but rather vulgarizes them, avils them, prostitutes them. At the same time he is involved in politics and has earned the immortal merit of Mr. Eugen Richter In the city administration, the great man is said to have have made a particular contribution to the canalization of Berlin.

The professor likes to work underground.

If one believes that it is a coincidence that he is always to be found where There are graves to open? Today they are opened and 785 Virchow is there. Some Negro dies in Germany and Mr Virchow claims the body.

From Egypt he drags hundreds of mummies from their graves to Germany. He gets busy in Troy, where Schliemann is digging. One would almost believe he was looking for gold.
Hundreds of dead fish swim after a thunderstorm
in the Spree, Professor Virchow assesses the case.
new arrangements for burials have been made, so Mr.
Virchow is also on site; everywhere we find the Lord, where mold, death and decay.

This agile gentleman is a true "son of life and Brother of Death". |

What a contrast between this doctor and my old friend
Dr. d'Ormay in Saigon! This gentleman was chief physician in the French Colony Kochinchina. The entire medical system and all military-tärärzte were under his command. They were the doctors of 10,000 men European occupation troops, which since 1862 in the colony. Death brought abundant harvest among the
. and the hospitals were always full.

One day I was dining with this gentleman, and this giant of a man put his hand on the table next to the mine and said: "What would I give to have such a

| but chases: "Nothing bothers me anymore

– 163 –

small hand like yours; I would then have become an accoucheur, because nothing gives me more joy than when I create life
and nothing grieves me more than seeing someone die, which is unfortunately so often the case here. What a doctor!

| Everything I have mentioned so far about Professor Virchow, bears the stamp of charlatanry, and it is actually quite un=
It is obvious that no one has yet been found who is qualified to seriously to protest against it; but it is equally incomprehensible, that the clowns in the circus did not already have such people as Virchow and Dubois as a model. What a non-poche Such
* which are already half-living puns.
The great Dubois is a worthy counterpart to the thousand-year-old

Virchow; yes, he surpasses him here and there. Professor Virchow "ashamed in the name of Europe" and another time he takes the word in the name of the dear animal, whose feelings he inter= pret that it gives him immensely more pleasure, slaughtered, than by the painless stroke 1; Mr. Dubois content as if it were me

succeeds in catching nature in an inappropriate way."
To such a height of conceit NR it itself Virchow has not yet brought it. An inexpediency of nature! what glorious idea! Yes, if such an idea were conceivable, then it could Perhaps it is that there are Jews in the world, but now
Once nature does not commit any improper purpose, then the Jews have a purpose to fulfill in the world, and my
In their view, it is that they treat the civilised peoples like certain insects and from time to time, to give myself an expression of the people= newspaper to serve their historical virtuosity in flying out.
Mr. Dubois loves the Jews as much as the Professor Virchow; the complaints about him in this respect are still 9 than those raised against Virchow. In Professor Virchow
It is said that he is always late for college. But if the
When the "witty" Dubois comes to the college, he announces himself with the words
"Mother, the man with the coaks is here" and begins his Lecture: "Please excuse my French name" (Facts). While Virchow's examinees accused him of arbitrariness, party= greed, the less well-off borrow

Students, before they go to Dubois for their exams, even from the jeweler |

– Heavy golden things and dressing as richly as possible (fact), since the Professor especially and above all on the Reich=
thum of the young gentlemen. This almost unbelievable story
I once discussed this with Mr. von Brandt in Peking and said, "in order to
For Mr. Dubois to complete the illusion, in the end nor the German gentlemen students go to the perfumer and a bottle of Foetor judaicus" (or as recently a Reichs= Member of the Bundestag said: Eau de mille juifs). That's a neat addition.
9 at the German University of Berlin, which actually has the hat string goes! 5 11*

– 14 –

And the offspring of such professors seem to be completely in the foot-to follow in the footsteps of the ancients. Professor Hans Virchow, son of famous man, we have already seen among the African earthlings where he spurred himself through his important discoveries and epaulettes; he is said to have surpassed his father in energy and Energy almost equalized. Claude Dubois Reymond gave the Germans once received advice in the newspapers that they should when they wrote about music, do not say: this or that melody from "Der Freischütz" or from "The White Lady" or aria from "Der Flying Dutchman" and the like, but always songs from the Freischütz, the white lady, etc. The former expression is not alone incorrect, but vicious, immoral and harmful or the like. was the legacy of this professorial cake to the German People, when they embarked somewhere abroad, true—upon to introduce German customs and German culture there and to be careful that the fame of his great father is not spoiled by the Goethe's work would be impaired.

What joyful feelings must fill the hearts of these two professors—papas move when they meet each other:

Malvolio: My dear friend! How are you? What are you doing? —

Barbarino: Old fellow! How are things? Where are we? —

Malvolio: Flan the trade, bad times, bunglers who increase the price:

coarse.

Barbarino: Bad customer service among the people, hard to get fine, honest bread acquire. a Malvolio: And the wife? The dear children?

Barbarino: Cheerful, and you?

Malvolio: No less. N

Beppo is already lying in wait,
Set many a snare for the wanderer,
And no fox was ever more innocent. —

Barbarino: Memmo already wields his blade.

Stings after dolls like a hero,
Without him ever missing.

Both: Brave Children, Heavenly Lust
For the pious father's breast.

Both old boys are, as one can see, quite cheerful people—abilities and, it seems, the approaching age does the unfree—The willing humor of these two gentlemen is not detrimental. Both professors strove to bring new things to the audience, to keep it in the breath. Virchow in particular goes with Preference for little-known fields of knowledge, where he naturally finds it difficult to control. Dubois, however, seems to have let up a little you have and in recent years you don't hear about a famous eel, the electric eel, the torpedo, on which he used to ride around like Arion on his dolphin. The "interesting Animal" resembled in many respects the sea serpent, which, like a

Berlin "artists" say that they got their name from the fact that they
No one has seen it. Unfortunately, this eel is now so well known that it has been put aside along with other scientific junk.

If one looks for the real scientific merits

– 165 –

of these two gentlemen, one encounters all sorts of strange Dubois seems to have been taken seriously by no one and is also quite harmless on the whole, but also in Virchow, where I have made every effort to obtain from completely impartial people his real benefit and merits for the sciences to experience, I have not been able to achieve favorable results. Everyone one knows Virchow and what he has done, but from staying
The value seems to be nothing; the highest praise I can give him
I have heard is that through his enormous activity he has directions, and I would like to acknowledge this achievement
If that is the case, he will certainly not wither away.

But, I ask myself on the other hand: "Is it possible, that a man who is almost daily exposed to charlatanry and absurdity, is capable of making science truly independent services, or is he just a clever distributor of other people's ideas and merits?"

This may be discovered later by his students and experts.
separate when the dreaded tyrant of science goes out of fashion is, because nowadays everyone would fear his rancor. That he but is largely to blame for the junk that is nowadays associated with of science is being pursued, even those who are not in the Doubts that speak for him. The way in which today
the science is tapped and brought to the market, equals a hair's breadth away from the serving of liquor in the lower circles of the Society. While the latter get drunk on alcohol and with poison, it cloud the higher classes with doubts sticky chunks of so-called science. It is noteworthy that Professor Virchow is also involved where specific Jewish crimes have occurred. What may have motivated him to to give an expert opinion in the Tisza-Eszlar affair? What draws him to that? Instinct of the race? |

Moreover, such professors, if they do not "perform magic",
ie produce their scientific works of art, very boring.

Professor Virchow was once invited to a child baptism,
The person being baptized was not born in Berlin, but in Leipzig.
During the meal, the learned Professor maintained his table neighbor by giving her a 1½-hour lecture on the Terrain of the battlefield of Möckern, for which he was undoubtedly for this special occasion, and for his amazing memory and to show his great learning, he had specially prepared.

| One can imagine that the lady is more infdreaming than felt diverted."

Since the professor is also well versed in strategy and battlefields makes, he could be of some help to us. I have elsewhere in this book a small card was printed, which the blockade of the Russian-German border by the Jewish committees of the Alliance israélite universelle. Since the Professor yes, is omniscient and closely connected with Judaism-hanging, he could perhaps say how things are today with this blockage looks like and whether and where there are other blockages of this whether a gathering of Jewish forces or blockade around the throne of the German Kaiser. Perhaps he can name the persons by name, how they are organized and what role each individual has to play.

– 166 –

I am firmly convinced that the Professor has many-sometimes talks about things he doesn't understand, and I also believe For the reasons given above, it is not inappropriate to felf weighs his scientific claims first and fompletely carefully before relying on it, but in this point

I am inclined to believe that he is able to give us quite reliable-to provide trivial information – if he wants to.

Heaven willing, the German universities will soon be freed from the young dian and redeem from such professors who have the roots of their Strength lies less in the sciences themselves than in the international Judaism and are therefore compelled to employ all such capable and ordinary forces who are not willing to fear the golden calf to kneel down, to keep away from the universities or to expel from Fear that they will see their cards and their scientific want to thwart stock market craft.

German professors and German students should be joint action, collegiality considerations are also important here less appropriate than elsewhere in the Jewish question.

Mr. von Gofler.

In the Matters of Mr. von Goßler and von Simplon.

Issue 31 of the "Kulturkämpfer" begins with an article: "Reichsdaily stories". In the same, the current president of the German Reichstag, the Undersecretary of State in the Ministry of Culture Mr. von Goßler, discussed in detail. If Mr. von Goßler does not makes too high demands, he cannot be wrong with this article—peace, because we have his talents, his aspirations and especially the way in which he exercised his high parliamentary office special recognition, and in the latter respect against the attacks of "liberal" newspapers and Jewish joke papers

We also mentioned that Mr. von Goß—

ler the descendant of a Heffian Jew, his father-in-law, Mr. von Simpfon=Georgenburg the descendant of an English Israelite

This passage was published by the Jewish "Volks-Zeitung" in Berlin, "Organ for everyone from the people", with true lust

She wrote: "The clan of the 'Semites' is always

e and more important. On Saturday we learned from the "truth" that Professor Brentano in Breslau was a Jewish offspring fe" – (incidentally, this information is first found in "Deutsches

Crafts and historical citizenship" by Otto Glagau, Osnabrück

1879. Fifth edition p. 25) – and today we read in Glagau's

=

"Kulturfänsper" about Mr. von Goßler and the current president of the Reichstag: After printing the relevant note, it can be the "Volks-Zeitung" triumphantly reads: "The Semites will certainly be satisfied with the new acquisitions. That they likewise the loss of the six-footed Henrici brothers as

winn can be entered into their account, does not need to be particularly emphasized

Professor Brentano, the Chancellor of the Kingdom of Prussia, the President of the Reichstag and Undersecretary of State in the Ministry of Culture

fterium, furthermore the German conservative Mr. von Simpfon=Georgenburg –

Semites! Vivat sequens!" 5

After the "Volks=Zeitung", other continuing

ftradifonal leaves with the same joyful feelings to the ftant paffus. It flatters the Jews very much when they believe to welcome outstanding men as fellow tribesmen, and their press usually claims every newly emerging size as of femific descent. The Jewish "Kladdera= datfsch", which published a bitter article entitled "Zur Judenriecherei" (On the Smell of

in which he compares the current movement with the Inquisition in Spain compares, because today we also smell Jews everywhere, half=

Jews and Jewish offspring. "Kladderadatsch" is, according to its distribution, fin a sharp decline for years, and if anything,

fthis is a sign of the awakening of the German national spirit:

Dohm and Löwenstein, the makers of the "Kladderadatsch", are old and become dull, even older and duller than they look. And

This is certainly no wonder. For 33 years now, these both Semites condemned to every Shabbat that their people celebrate, to make vulgar jokes for the amusement of the Goyim! Can one Can you imagine a more miserable craft? If Dohm and Löwenstein are real

If you ever have a wit, you have long since run out of it. You can only nagging, insulting, suspecting, besmirching and tit-for-tat in the world. Glagau is considered by them as one of the "main delators"
in the "Jewish sniffing" and then (how funny!) suggested, he may well be of Jewish descent himself. Glagau can only laugh heartily, and whoever is annoyed by such insinuation notices the Suspicion that the right wing had been hit. All men who opposed the Jewish supremacy will soon be reported by the Semitic press than Jews ee The Jew does not mean his opponent deeper to be able to insult him more than if he himself denounced him as a Jew.

This character trait is typical and betrays the bottomless unity that lies within the Jew.

But who is now bursting onto the scene? He comes from the pasture= and horse-rich Lithuania, from the land of the Phaeacians. There the "Fortfchrift", next to Berlin, fine main domain, there arose in 1861, during the "New Era", "Young Lithuania". The abbot of the Fort= fchstepsmann eats and drinks very much, in the autumn he rushes the ls: On Sundays twelve hours of whist and his only reading is

The progressive newspaper. In Lithuania, "freedom" is flourishing. But Woe to the servant, the worker, who does not stand before the bourgeois estate= owner with the cap in his hand, does not address him with "most esteemed

– 168 –

Lord" or even "gracious Lord"! So who is going to blow up? is John Peter Freutzell from Perkallen. As one can see in older parliaments= Almanacs, Mr. Frentzel was in the House of Representatives, he is head of the progressive "crafts= association" in Gumbinnen, he temporarily edited the democratic "Bürger= and farmer's friend", whose management later passed into the hands of a Jew fell. Mr. Frentzel is the confidant of the famous John Reitenbach, who regularly refused to pay taxes during the conflict,
regularly pawn a signet ring and then regularly bought back by a fine coachman. As Mr. Frentzel noted he was "the only MP besides Tweften who was condemned for his Speeches in the House of Representatives were brought to trial." Mr.
Frentzel is therefore a political martyr of the first order. Now he is sits down and writes to the "Voffische Zeitung" in Berlin the following Letter: "You published an article from an anti-Semitic newspaper, concerning the ancestry of Mr. von Simpson-Georgenburg.
The undersigned believes that his political and religious Views, as far as is known, that they preclude him from assuming that he holds it is a disgrace to be of femift descent, he has many dear friends of this lineage (oh, you fortunate gentleman Frentzel), and any prejudice regarding the Semites lies

He only takes up the pen to show how it is with everything, what Otto Glagau spreads is rotten and wrong. To the point. The
The paternal grandfather of Mr. von Simpson was also the mine on my mother's side. He was born on January 4, 1750 in Memel born and baptized in the Lutheran Church. (When?) This But father was born in Memel in 1720. The grandson of a Scotland immigrated Christian Simpson, not Samfon. – Also

This small note will probably be something to appreciate the Glagau's truths.” – The kind reader should just remember that Glagau by no means claimed: The ancestor of Mr. von Goßler or that of Mr. von Simpson were Jews. No, it is in both cases only said: they were supposed to have been Jews. While Mr. Frentzel the correctness of a remark for which Glagau himself has no
If he denies that he has assumed a guarantee, he believes that this proves to have shown that everything Glagau wrote was “rotten and false is”. Well, that would be good for Mr. John Peter and his party comrades pleased when they in such a cheap way the “Glagau's truth-ities” from the world! What Glagau was talking aboutftook, however, is lazy, e.g. the stock exchanges= and foundingswindle, the “invalid” funds, the fruits of the “liberal” freedomities and progressive Manchester economy. All this is very rotten, it stinks to high heaven! But that Glagau's relevant shield-
You must first prove that your claims are “wrong”, Mr. John Peter!
Here you will find only positive information, certain names and numbers;
here you may refute if you can! Lazy may also be the stock companies in which your cousin von Simpson is involved is, like East Prussian Southern Railway, Tilfit=Infterburger Railway, Infterburger Stock spinning. But do you perhaps want to claim that your cousin is not involved in it, and Glagau's statement was wrong? – In

– 169 –

By the way, we would like to ask Mr. John Peter: Isn't the whole “Progress” is thoroughly “lazy and false” if it deals with such EL en tries, if he is not ashamed, with such weapons to fence?! g
But from this little story there is another moral and this seems far more important to us. Although Mr. Frentzel assured that he had “many dear friends” among the Semites, and that he ft above any prejudice against the Jews, ftould
You can tell from his letter that he is angry because his “grandfather maternal side”, who has now certainly been resting in the grave for a long time, in the Suspicion could arise that he was of Semitic descent. He
He also sees this as a serious stigma for his own person.
Behold, Israel, this is what your friends, your chivalrous advocates “of progress”, who flatter you and scatter incense, while they despise you in their hearts and are ashamed of you. Likewise think Virchow, Hänel, Mommfen and how the enthusiastic eulogists
the Jews are otherwise called; they defend themselves against them when they do it “with a

Eugen Richter, who first, as Ludwig Löwe applied for a seat in parliament, which was difficult ties, but who now stands with the Jews through thick and thin has to go because his continued political existence depends on it. If Israel were not completely blinded, it would have to face the zor= some protest by John Peter Frentzel and probably weigh!! – Whether Mr. Frentzel was sent by his cousin Simpson is, or only acted on his own initiative, we leave open. In any case, the data he took from the Memel church register– is not suited to decide the disputed question. Despite all this, Mr. von Simpson of Semitic descent fine. For example, in East Prussia there is a numerous and respected Family calling themselves Douglas, who are said to be descendants– come the Scottish Douglas and, if we are not mistaken, the Coat of arms of this ancient family, a bleeding heart. In Truth is, the East Prussian Douglas are blood relatives of a Jew who in the 1930s mined amber at Baltic Sea beaches from Danzig to Memel. Finally, Mr. John Peter himself is not a classic in this delicate matter. Witness; because the name Frentzel (also Fräntzel or Frenzel) is, as Everyone knows, quite common among Jews and Jewish offspring, and Mr. John Peter lived in Poland for a long time. Eugen Richter now used the note from the “Kulturkämpfer” in a finely known way, by being in a progressive electoral assembly to the delight of his listeners: Mr. von Goßler, the President of the German Reichstag, the second head of the cult minifterium, was from the antifemiftic “German associations”= closed because he had femitic blood in several directions ft his veins. Especially against this Richter distortion fe explanation seems to be reversed, which Mr. von Goßler published in the “Voffifische Zeitung”. He himself that the remark in the “Kulturkämpfer” – his grandfather on his father's side he was said to have been the son of a Hessian Jew – as “doubtful”, and then calls this quotation “completely incorrect”. The “Jüdische Volkszeitung” then wrote: “Mr. von Goßler – no Semite.” She adopted Goßler’s explanation, and finally realizing what stupidity she had committed, she added– ftant fib: “One sees how strong the love of truth is formed in this type of conferservative() leaves. We We have had fun from time to time, from Glagau's culture– fighters to save some messages from oblivion and to make it available to the rest of the press, preferably for the purpose of hypocrisy of these anti-Semitic () press heroes to the public “In truth, we had fun with the “Volkszeitung” occasionally receives a copy of “Kulturkämpfer” to let, about which Messrs. Aaron Bernstein and Aaron Phillips with their long noses immediately rushed to take certain notes to serve it up hot off the press to their otherwise extremely bored readers. In truth, the "culture warrior", although he is only a half-monthly publication, probably a larger circulation than that of the galloping subscribers=consumption=suffering "Volkszeitung". Our Readers also know that the "culture warrior" is not a "conservatives" such as a "clerical" or an "anti-Semitic" paper, but honestly strives to stand above the parties and to support each party to do justice to what is admittedly a "liberal" press Cossack and notably=lich a femified clerk cannot understand at all. Long before anti-Semitism was invented, when Mr. Stöcker was still Nobody thought that Glagau was already fighting against the Jews, For many years he stood alone and brought against Israel the most massive material. This material is used today by the conservatories=ative press and the anti-semitic papers, but usually without Glagau to name.

– 170 –

When Mr. von Goßler assures that he is not of Semitic descent – this is not clear from his explanation – but he is certainly also able to trace his paternal ancestors far back to=

We have with our remark concerning the

The descent of Mr. von Goßler and von Simpson is only a very widespread assumption, and even afterwards we are aware of the

The accuracy of the same has been confirmed by various parties. Not u It is also not to be denied that the father of Mr. von Goßler, the excellence in Königsberg, shows a strikingly femiftic character, and The same was the case with Mr. Simpson's father.

Finally, it is very interesting that in the 1871/72 edition of the "Berliner Bang? published list of stock companies

the father and father-in-law of Mr. von Goßler as co=

members of the Board of Directors of the Southern Railway in addition to Strousberg in Berlin and Moritz Simon in Königsberg.

M. Ant. Niendorf, the founder of the Agrarians, tells in an 1872 published booklet "Economic Forays into the East" from a trip to Masuria. He travels on the Southern Railway, and

– I se

Sitting with him in the compartment: Mr. von Pilgrim, the police chief of Königsberg, the local chief public prosecutor, the district administrator Baron von Hülleffem-Kuggen and the Chancellor von Goßler, the latter two board of directors of the Strousberg Railway Company. Niendorf writes:

"There was a lively debate about the recently emerging demands debated that the civil servant should no longer accept certain secondary positions It is known that these additional allowances for civil servants by the industry, the banks and the stock exchange as inadmissible, because it can lead to dangerous consequences ... The shares= society is a business; it deliberately seeks to develop itself with a fine sense of nase to annex the officials to their sinecures, obviously because it seeks to acquire indirect influence. But if between the Society and other citizens dispute breaks out, how will the office shall remain impartial in its intervention if it is in conflict with the company is represented by a board of directors? Or how will the President of a Court of Justice shall administer justice impartially if a bank where he himself holds a position acts as plaintiff or the defendant is?" ...

(The Cultural Warrior by Otto Glagau. Issue 35, June 1881.)

The above article is about the misunderstood
17 to contradict the Jewish origin of Mr. von Goßler= own.

ö How far this has succeeded is up to each individual to judge.

Mr. von Goßler would have done better if he had the whole question concerning his origins was ignored or admitted that he was descended from Jews, because then Nowadays his ancestry would not be so often the subject
the entertainment in circles which are controlled by his ministry refort.

It simply states: Mr. von Goßler is a Jew and denies
it. It also has a lot to do with Judaism.
This is said to be his father-in-law, Mr. von Simpfon-Georgen= burg, hesitated to give him his daughter as a wife because Mr.
von Goßler leans too much towards Christianity and that in this Points a compromise was necessary. 1

It is also said that Mr. von Goßler had a tribe= tree had made, through which he could present his family and whose Christian origin, I do not know to which era,
The fact that all sorts of bad remarks through Jewish coat of arms and family tree manufacturers, who for money and with the help of perhaps Christian rabbis also ancestors to find beautiful, authentic papers with seals as proof-deliver white pieces, is self-evident. In truth, however, it is said, Herr von Goßler's grandpapa, court Jew of King Lustig von Weft=
fallen, who had ennobled him for his services.

Be that as it may, such rumors are now circulating once, and not once, but several times, and if they do not

- 172 -

are true, Mr. von Goßler would do well to present them as soon as possible.
better to refute. But that the Jews considered Mr. von Goßler as I have noticed that I still look at one of yours, namely in his speech on the Jewish question; in the same speech, which, together with those of Messrs. Stöcker and Rickert, are in print appeared. When this speech was given, Israel was angry and shouted: "Stone him, stone him!" and a little later in the Lord-

At home, Mr. von Goßler has something more to say of the children of Israel. |

Meyer's Conversationslexikon hardly contains biographies of Potentates, such as Mr. von Goßler, without them having the-relevant persons for assessment and correction; This can be seen very clearly, for example, in the case of Profeffor Dr. Virchow, who, after having already given a long speech in the Reichstag about it-hold, also here especially emphasizes that he is the inventor of the beautiful word "Kulturkampf" is. Ä

Mr. von Goßler emphasizes in this lexicon that he is the Nephew of Mrs. Adelheid von Mühler. Well, elsewhere is already the one concerning the Minister of Culture Mr. von Mühler Passage quoted from the above-mentioned lexicon. The nephew of Mrs. Adel-To be a miller gives a nice Christian and so-even pietistic touch.

Aunt Adelheid was a famous lady. She was the actual-Minister of Culture and was more concerned than necessary about the fhip of her husband. She also had all sorts of other peculiarities-possibilities, for example, remembering the passage from Hofeg II, 3 "Lest I strip her naked and present her", absolutely the poor naked statues in the royal museums.

The children of Israel especially made much of this Hofean inclination of Aunt Adelheid amusing and it is in many and sung in beautiful verses.

It is a well-known experience that ladies of Jewish origin, once they embrace Christianity, they will achieve more in it than is required and can be expected. They are then usually Christian women in a particularly violent way and use the Christian-thum for ambitious purposes. They cultivate craffe orthodox pietism-barbaric benefactors or something else eccentric and this applies to Protestantism as well as to Catholicism. licism and is a phenomenon which is present in all countries of the globe repeated. |

The simple, humane Christianity does not suit them, it sits on them like a dressage, and just like animals that one by means of such tricks which they have learned from their are foreign by nature, always love to show them, so it goes also with racial Jews, to whom Christianity is brought.

One can find here the strangest and most contradictory phenomena-While Aunt Adelheid, for example, is experiencing pudicacy on had raised her banner, I could cite another Jew, who was baptized Catholic and after the baptism every She believed she could shed any trace of pudicacy. She was certainly still more pious than Aunt Adelheid, but passionate Christian prayers and obscenities flowed equally from her lips; her heart

but was in the synagogue. |

Whether the accusations made against Mr. von Goßler allegations that there was tremendous nepotism in his ministry and he ruled his tribesmen at the expense of the natives favor, is true, I leave it undecided. But one of mine
I would like to present a case I experienced myself for the sake of curiosity.
lead.

A certain Mr. Rosen, who had formerly been a tutor in India with the children of Lord Dufferin, had a job as Professor of Hinduism at the newly founded Oriental University minar in Berlin. Suddenly Mr. Rofen was called out of his position without giving a reason. Professor Sachau, the director of this seminar, had ordered the dismissal, and how the same said privately, because of the inability of the gentleman in question Rosen. From another side I am told that Mr. Rosen is not because he is so incapable, but that an injustice is committed against him=
I sympathized with Mr. Rosen, who I knew,
who felt very insulted. |

He made a petition to the Ministry and insisted to know the reason why he was fired. The
The Ministry's response was something like this: "If Mr. Rosen fhe keeps quiet and does not make a scandal, he can fave it
"We can be assured of the goodwill of the government."

Correct! After some time, Mr. Rofen was impressed by the fympe= this Foreign Office as interpreter of the Consulate in Beirut
This position is much more promising than that of a Professor at the Oriental Seminar. It seems as if Mr. Rosen was moved from a worse position to a better one slapped. The solution to this riddle is as follows: the large
The mother of Mr. Rosen was the wife of the deceased Jewish musician Moscheles. The father of Mr. Rosen, who probably also Semite and former Consul in Jerusalem, later General Consul in Bucharest, married a Jew and became the wife of the
The Mr. Rofen in question was also born Moscheles.

When a Hebrew friend told me the message from the Lord Roses made him part of the happiness he had shared, he said: "Yes, if
If you are related to Moscheles, you cannot be a victim in Berlin go".

Who was Mr. Ignatz Moscheles and what do we have to say about this fame? Mr. Moscheles is mainly famous for that Beethoven could not stand him; otherwise we owe him some pieces of music of questionable value. I know of him a sonata melancolique and a cheerful work, which in It was published as a novelty in 1841. It is entitled "To You", poem by A. Jeittelles, set to music by Mofcheles, dedicated to the

– 114 –

Freiin von Eskeles, published by Fleckeles. The critic of this master-work in the "Moravia" is characterized by "Scribeles" because of its harmony.

Whether it is these two works or others that the grandson of the "master" has earned the goodwill of our authorities, remain undecided.

Should I speak of another era of worship—
Ministry and the Foreign Office report? No!
This second matter is too serious for me to deal with it after such
I want to tell tragicomic things.

In any case, 1 Ministry of Culture and Foreign Office no opportunity to protect the children of Israel.
One for all and all for one!

The second thing, which I am now keeping quiet about, is for a combined attempt by these two authorities, His Majesty to cut off the Kaiser's possibility of passing through a certain channel to find out something that might be of interest to the foreign office or the Ministry of Culture.

It was only a preventive measure and the whole maneuver as humorous as it is instructive. The characters were not police, but people in office and dignity, of whom perhaps some had no idea what role they had to play. It was one of those Jewish clouds that always form where there is something to be done—
" I myself was a laughing spectator during the whole affair.

Names, persons and data are well disposed in suitable places.

In the "Jewish Press" of December 4, 1890, No. 49, we read:

on eld, November 27. In yesterday's conference the local teachers read the same leading Mr. Superintendent Inspector Dr. Vial an order from the Royal Government of Cassel following A Es fer high Royal Government became known, that many Christian schoolchildren the Israelite schoolchildren and er—publicly mock and ridicule growing Israelites. It is also The government has not failed to notice that some teachers are guilty of serious insult to her office by using inappropriate language towards her students against this nonsense. Therefore, high

Royal Government, the District School Inspectors, at the first conference to inform the teachers of their circle make the Royal Government condemn such behavior of teachers as highly unpedagogical and in the strongest possible terms. Rather, the teacher has the duty to investigate every case of to punish such insults and derision severely and the children through appropriate instruction to tolerate and respect – The superintendent continued

This reading expresses regret that the information provided in the the abuses complained of by the Royal Government are unfortunately true, he knows from his own experience such cases of insults and of the Israelites. These evils are the fruits of a pernicious current of the times, which every true Christian with deep sadness and disgust. The true Christian must be noble= be thoughtful and broad-hearted and practice love and religious tolerance,

*

1

These words of the high spiritual Lord will hopefully be fruitful= bare ground." |

And in No. 52 of the same paper dated December 25, 1890:

"Caffel, December 20. In one of your last issues, You communicate the government decree to the district school inspectors in which They are asked to inform the teachers before any participation in anti= to warn against femific efforts and to maintain peace to care for Jewish and Christian children. How reliable flighly stated, the relevant order is not from the local Provincial Government and not only to the school inspectors of our province, but from the Ministry of Education to the school authorities all administrative districts."

In Hesse, a part of the country which was affected by Jewish usury and Some people mock the fact that the slaughter of goods has been particularly severely affected Children of Jews, and immediately a large apparatus is set in motion to protect the children of Israel. Instead of this People . that it behaves in such a way that it does not challenge challenge to contempt, scorn and ridicule, one demands that Children are punished whose natural aesthetic feeling is towards the Jewish people. I am certainly not a friend of Jew-hatred and would also not encourage children to to publicly mock, and teachers will hardly even Children have encouraged this. It is always possible that the one or the other of them made an accurate remark about Jews made that perhaps would have been better avoided towards children, but why is a country resort of the Prussian State machine set in motion? The 2 05 Minister of Culture should but above all, make sure that in the e and Talmud= Torah schools and other shameful laws No. 65 of the Jews= fteichs is not taught, because there something much more worrying is learned, as a bit of open mockery about possible lice, Filth and Jewish greed. When the Minister of Culture If he had wanted to exert influence at an appropriate point, then For example, it was in Breslau where a despicable Jew Christian child's blood. If in that case he grants a decree to all Jews to warn them, "the old pants from Canaan", as Delitzsch once called the blood ritual of the Jews, no longer to attract, this would certainly be a great satisfaction among the Christians of Germany and not among the Jews But the old trouser shop is the children of Israel expensive and it seems that no one wants to spoil it for them.

Who is Mr. Vial, the superintendent who has the teachers so faintly admonished? I bet he is a Jew, the name at least speaks for it.

One might ask Mr. von Goßler why he it tries to conceal its own origins? It must have something to do with it. What is the purpose of Mr. von Goßler is pursuing this? One should look for a proper solution offer a reward for solving this riddle. |

– 176 –

On Moltke's last birthday, the Minister of Culture von Goßler gave a very nice speech to Berlin students; he made the "dear fellow students" how lucky they are to now have a united German fatherland. This happiness was granted to them– fell right into his lap, and he admonished her to do it properly 8. I suspect that Mr. von Goßler thinks similarly to Mr. Virchow, firstly, that it is fortunate for the Germans that they have, and secondly, that it must be very pleasant for the Germans, plundered by the tribesmen of Mr. von Goßler Rothschild says of the French that they are like sheep fe who enjoy being shaved, that they refreshing; perhaps Mr. von Goßler thinks the same of the Germans.

In No. 110 of the "Volkszeitung" of 13 May 1890, a a certain Friedrich Engels wrote an article about anti-Semitism, which is probably the non plus ultra of impudence that one can ever the Jewish press. He writes in it, among other things: The Anti-femitism is the hallmark of a backward culture and is therefore only found in Prussia and Austria, or Russia. If you practice anti-Semitism here in England or America If you wanted to, you would simply be laughed at. He scolds the little nobility and Junkerthum; he names farmers, landowners and craftsmen classes inherited from the Middle Ages; he speaks of Jewish workers and Jewish workers' strikes. Furthermore, from the anti-semitic table vaults of the counts Hohenthal, Schulenburg and Pfeil, of the anti-Semitic chatter which these gentlemen spread under the table the alimony=Böckel, the false shilling=Stöcker, the cravat manufacturer Pickenbach, who, through the nevertheless decisive addition-rejection of the reactionary Minister of Culture von Goßler is already sufficient characterized. – This Social Democrat Mr. Friedrich Engels calls himself Aryan and closes his letter with the words: "Dear Jew as Lord of s

That Mr. Engel, this admirer of Mr. von Goßler, is a I would bet on it, because the unbelievable-audacity with which he presents factual untruths (see Jews in America), can only be owned by a Jew. In the "German-social Blätter" of January 25th of this year, No. 128, we find the following note:

"Halle a. S., January 8th. In the next few days a the University of His Majesty the Emperor's gift Emperor Frederick the Unfortunate will arrive. The same shall be celebrated: ly set up in the auditorium. The speech will, as one hears, Bo Jewish Rector, who is known to have been at the last Reichstag election with well-known professors for votes for the So= social democrats and was not afraid to engage in private activities, to profess a social-democratic attitude."

When this Rector was appointed, it was felt throughout

Germany as a disgrace that a Jew was appointed rector of a German university, and when he received the confirmation of the Kaiser, the blame was placed on Mr. von Goßler. Shoes. Undoubtedly, the Rector in question is also in Berlin-ft was a lively debate, since his appointment was the first step on a new path, and one will change one's attitudes The question now is, does the person from the social reactionary minister Herr von, praised by the democrats Mr. Engels Goßler Relations with the Social Democrats or not?

– 177 –

Berr Miguel.

Every nation has the Jews who deserved, you can pull it. The Pole has his with the last act of the Reichstag, the German Michel has the Miquel, the German National-liberal Lasker, the German Confer-vative den Stahl, the German Democrat
the Jacoby and Laffalle, the Catholic the Antonelli, the English Tory Disraeli,
and it is still the most bearable,
for he says his lesson at least without Infidelities. Humbug makers are ft almost all, because they are in childhood
children of the human race.

N 8 But unfortunately it is world-historical Humbug – the world historical intrigue.

(O. Beta, Darwin and the Jews or Juda-Jefuitism. P. 35/36.)

Mr. Miquel is today the Prussian Finance Minister and thus call, in our economic life one of the most important roles
But long before Mr. Miquel was minister, before he had the prospect of holding this high post, he has on the areas of finance have worked excellently.

In today's critical times, it is a natural desire to be informed about the person who is in charge of the administration of the Finances of the state are entrusted. . .

feldom is it possible to speak more clearly and objectively about a Man has been written than this by Mr. Otto Glagau, Editor-publisher of the "Kulturkämpfer", about Mr. Miquel. I myself must refrain from writing anything about Mr. Miquel and I would like to point out the following sources of information:

Mr. Miquel as a politician.

8 (Glagau's Kulturkämpfer Issue 3.) Price 60 Pfg.

Miquel and Bennigfen back on the scene.
(Glagau's Kulturkämpfer Issue 138.) Price 60 Pfg.

Miquel as director of the Disconto-Gesellschaft.

(Glagau, "The Stock Exchange and Founding Fraud in Berlin.") See page 14, 95, 96, 211, 214, 238, 341, 342. Price 5 Marks. |

(Glagau, "The Stock Exchange and Company Founding Fraud in Germany.") See page 7, 281, 531-536. Price 7 Marks.

IV. 12

– 178 –

The work of Mr. Miquel is particularly described in Glagau's writing:

The Empire's Distress and the New Cultural Struggle

RR (price 4 marks)

and finally in:

The Bankruptcy of National Liberalism and the Reaction (Price 1 Mark);

German Crafts and Historical Citizenship

(Price 40 Pfg.)

pn Heigferben Bern: . 5

These works are still... through the expedition of the "Culture:
kämpfers" Berlin W., Winterfe dftstraße 24, or by Mr. Theodor Frittsch, Leipzig, Windmühlenstraße 28.

as well as in:

From different countries.

– 2 –

Jews everywhere.

Where can they not be found? That is a difficult question to answer these days.

answering question. This "interesting people" can be found everywhere and everywhere they pretend to be popular in other countries and Russia fine. In truth, however, the question is being answered everywhere: "How Can we get rid of this people? People avoid them where you can, but everywhere it knows itself by virtue of its incredible Intrusiveness and persistence. Where they are not are to be found, these are at most countries that they have devastated and raided, whose prosperity they have undermined and which the native population, which they are already following in order to rob new ones. If the North Pole is next invaded by some Travellers should be reached, then I would not be surprised if the traveler there, although no people, but some If I were to find an old document, it would be clear that thousands of years ago there a wicked Jew committed some shameful fraud or murdered and robbed his best friend. |

Jews in China.

Modern Judaism in China.

A reprinted newspaper article.

In No. 7 of the Berlin-based journal published by Dr. Hirsch Hildesheim-based "Jüdische Presse" of 13 February In 1890 we read the following article: |

Paris, February 10. The Chinese writer Military Attaché in Paris, General Tschengki-Tong, published in "Gaulois" in an article entitled "The Jews in China" witty parody of anti-Semitism, in which he specifically attacks the European European civilization in certain questions is not yet at the level of Chinese culture, usually so undervalued by Europeans, It says there, among other things:

12*

– 180 –

"The Jews came to the world in the second century before the Christian Era under the Han Dynasty to China. They told us that Strangers had driven them out of their homeland by among other injustices, to force them to abandon their faith. They explained to us that they too had holy books like us, that their legislator, who gave them these books, commanded them, . to practice all virtues and to hate all vices, so that he may expressly commanded to honor their parents, their loved ones as to love themselves and that he absolutely forbade them to do evil

do, and even ordered them to help their enemies in misfortune
To provide assistance, so that finally, when they were still in 15 countries, the law obliged them to produce a certain part of their crops—and finally to widows, orphans and strangers. It was found that that this whole morality is very close to that which is religion of Confucius is taught.”

This is followed by a description of how the Jews in China virtuously behaved, how they practiced all professions and how much respected they were; and of course how talented they were!
The tolerant Chinese are praised for never allowing the Jews to ghettos and the like.

The reader must get the impression from the article that whether Jews lived in large numbers in China, as in Poland, Austria, France, etc., and the whole nonsense concludes with the sentence:

“Our ancestors have countered social evils through an economic and political hygiene, while Europe too often falls into the category of cial surgery. In China there is no antifemites, because religious fanaticism was never known there.
If I look at the last two millennia of human history back, I see on the one hand Europe incessantly from torn apart by struggles that have an essential metaphysical character-fit, while on the other hand our old outer Orient peacefully and lives quietly, far from discussions that can not solve anything and that have always caused only hatred, war and misfortune. I can therefore Rightly claim that in this question of creeds and the rights of human conscience a large part of the inhabitants Europe has not yet reached the point where freedom, as – in to understand China.”

We may assume that the editors of the “Jewish Press” about the daily news somewhat under-and the interesting note which was recently published by all the newspapers made the rounds, hardly escaped the notice of namely the aforementioned General Tfchen=ki=Tong his literary Glory solely to Mr. de Mondion, alias Maurel, alias Comte de Vasili, author of the “Société de Berlin” and other writings. |

Mr. Tfchen=ki=Tong has never written a book, not even the Material on the works on China published under his name delivered, but Mr. de Mondion has this according to his own Confession compiled from all kinds of books.

– 21 –

That the quality and reliability of the content is speaking and the audience has been duped, Mr. de Mondion also laughed.

General Tŕchenk=ki-Tong is said to have been a result of the “de-revelations” of Mr. de Mondion, the veracity of which is confirmed by Belege is guaranteed, decided to leave Europe.

We therefore need the information provided by the “Jewish Press” We do not intend to subject the article to any serious criticism, but would like to note that under Emperor Mingshui (58-75 AD) about 70 Jewish families or clans via Perfia to Kai=fung=fu in the province of Honan came and formed a colony there. There exist today – to light – after 1800 years – only 6 to 7 Jewish families, who no longer speak Hebrew and only know that they profess the religion of Moses. Their synagogue is in the forties of our century and never rebuilt – built. Like these Chinese Jews, who, like the Chinesen, have a yellowish skin, anthropologically-ethnographically to be best describe, that is, whether we should see genuine Semites in them, or only Chinese who have adopted the Jewish religion, Opinions differ on this. Some travellers want still recognized the Jewish facial type, while others deny it. |

With 70 members, the Jacob family (around 1700 BC) was in Egypt, and when after 400 years of residence the descendants had to withdraw again, Moses led Ramses 600,000 men, not including children, left (see Richard Andree, “Zur Folklore of the Jews”, Leipzig and Bielefeld 1881).

Thus, China does not seem to be such a fertile ground for the children of Israel, like Egypt before and now the countries of the European Union. European cultural states.

Given the small number of Jews that survive in China, which still exist, it is inappropriate to speak of religious tolerance. Rather, it is now the article by Mr. de Mondion about the famous piece of the Jews, to exaggerate the alleged virtues of other peoples in order to fool the stupid Goyim to preach tolerance in a Pharisaical manner.

All sources seem to be good enough for the Rabbis, provided they only correspond to the purpose that Goyim give to their fanaticism and intolerance, because “the Not everyone becomes stupid.”

As for the religious tolerance of the Chinese, We refer to the Taiping Rebellion, the massacre of the Chinese Muslims in the western provinces of China and the Tianjin Massacre of 1872. Every encyclopedia gives these events provide sufficient information.

We do not wish to argue with Mr. de Mondion and that less than we expected considering the rich repertoire of names

– 182 –

this gentleman and the specialty of his political occupation in the assumption is not wrong that he himself is the “out-chosen people” and wrote the article under the pseudonym of General Tŭchenkiŭ Tong merely wrote “pro domo”.

But it gives us pleasure to be able to say something about modern Judaism in China and, based on a recent to demonstrate the authenticity of the document published in China, that the information provided by Mr. de Mondion for the purposes of the “chosen The Chinese, who are so praised as “the people”, understand it when it comes to It is about exposing and extinguishing fraudulent activities—brands to find the “chosen ones” without raising suspicion of—It could be that the Chinese, out of fanaticism, religious intolerance, because they do not like the nose of one person or another likes and whatever else you would like to mention, acted; for the Chinese make among those living in China—foreigners at most the difference of nationality. However, he has no regard for differences in confessions and races. “scientific” knowledge and does not care about it. He only judges the course of action and acts according to his instinct.

Before us lies No. 162 of the Tientsin (Northern China) sheet “Chinese Times” of December 7, 1889; it contains in an excerpt from the Chinese newspaper published there Shih Pao dated 2 December 1889 the memorandum of a censor to the Imperial Throne, which the . two foreigners, Myres and Mandl, denounced. We let the content follow:

“Chi Yui, an outspoken censor, whose sharp memoirs we Europeans have often had the opportunity to read, veber submitted to the throne a new memorandum in which he in devastating terms the actions of two foreigners, a Russian named Myres and a German named Mandl, denounced. The censor states that agents who have cannons and purchase ships for the Chinese government, a habit has become an illegal way of earning extra income and cites as examples the former ambassadors in Berlin, Li Fung Pao and Hŭ Cheng Chŭ.

Fortunately, he continues, the keen eye of his—holy majesty great and all-pervading, and by Those who have committed dishonesty, punished appropriately, one may be excused from the mischief for a while—lee But, while many out of self-respect and in their own nterefffe may act honestly, there are still those whose fraudulent machinations one can only escape with difficulty.

Foreigners maintain contracts with the Chinese government as extremely profitable business, and so it happens, that at several ports a number of unscrupulous characters of different nationalities, through whose Intrigues of our officials, if they do not act with the utmost caution del's, can easily be misled.

Author of the memorandum has from a foreigner Russian nationality, who in 1886 in association with a Dele= the Peking garrison, called Tung Mung Lan, a large number of unusable rifles in Japan and thereby caused a The fraud was still being carried out at times discovered and Tung Mung Lan punished and deported, while Myres, who is outside our jurisdiction, with impunity – Now that he hears that we want to build railways, he starts to move again and tries to use all sorts of tricks to to secure a share of the spoils.

– 183 –

Then there is a German, named Mandl, formerly 5 in Tientsin, who last year was appointed head of a Company and placed an order for 30,000 pounds of powder for the Needs of the northern fleet squadron, of which he received a He hoped to make a profit of several tens of thousands of taels. But when the powder examined by an officer appointed by Admiral Ting was, it turned out to be unusable, and so we are the fraud.

Since we are now just about to or=our fleet ganise, we have orders for a lot of things to get share, but if we turn to the help of such foreigners as he= mentioned, which treats us with the greatest unscrupulousness we must fear that our national interests suffer damage as a result. Moreover, these strangers are tough and tireless. If something fails, they immediately take 55 will not rest until they have completed their greedy plans= have led. –

* If the authorities of the Maritime Provinces do not properly then they can easily fall into the hands of these people and this could have the worst consequences.

The author of the memorandum therefore requests His Majesty that the Tfung=Li=Hamen (Foreign Office) is given the order, to request the Russian as well as the German ambassadors to Consulates of these nations at all treaty ports, from the aforementioned strangers, wherever they may be may, and further, that all Chinese generals= governors and governors are prohibited from contacting the persons mentioned to enter into any business relationship. This would e the e ae of coastal protection would be highly expedient.—“

yes, Mandl, these names say enough!

The evil censor! how he immediately at the first blow a pair chosen by "our people"

A memorandum to His Sacred Majesty! Such a Distinction has never been bestowed upon any foreigner.

Should the censor ultimately be a closet anti-Semite?

Is it really the disease of anti-Semitism, this barbarism of nineteenth century, up to the steps of the holy dragon= thrones penetrated?

Poor Israel! The world is unjust, and not even on end of it, where you thought you were so beautifully unnoticed,

– 184 –

they want to leave you fishing in troubled waters! Poor, unfortunate, followed Raffel! 8 ne

The censors in China are among the highest dignitaries of the Reich and it is, among other things, their authority to prevent abuses and to expose dubious individuals, as in above memorandum is aimed at. |

Is not the simple patriotic tone of the memorandum and the Characteristics of the strangers almost exemplary? Could not a European statesman took the memorandum as an example take?

It seems that we can still learn a lot from peoples,
whom we are used to considering as half-barbarians.

Mr. Cenfor Chi Nui, who thinks he is well informed fe, it is nevertheless only insufficient. Even if the above-mentioned cases may, by and large, correspond to the facts, they are nevertheless imprecisely specified. If the censor had further Information about the persons and their actions, so his memorandum would undoubtedly be considerably more effective failed.

Regarding the nationality of the two strangers, the Censor also points to serious deceptions.

Myres claims that the light of day was born on Russian soil to have seen him, but since he had neither passport nor papers had, but a reputation that nobody envies him for, for The Russian authorities in China have already declared themselves to regard him as a Russian subject or protected person: recognize. |

Years ago, Mandl was supposedly forced to leave because of "stock exchanges-operations" to turn his back on his beautiful native country Austria return, and so he arrived, on this not entirely unusual-way, into the heavenly kingdom, where he first a subordinate He later worked for German and finally in an English company, for which he, however, without compromising the name of this company, which in the mind-description mentioned powder contract. At the same time, Mandl made Shanghai financial transactions, which were not entirely dissimilar to usury-should have seen.

In 1888, Mandl returned from a trip from Europe to Tientsin and established himself there and in Shanghai under the Company Mandl & Comp. and at the same time as representative of the company Friedrich Krupp in Essen.

Among the Germans living in China, it was an embarrassing sensation that the German company Krupp had an out-lands, and also an Israelite and of not very glorious notoriety, with entrusted with her representation.

The company Mandl & Comp. was founded in the German consulates properly registered (Mandl is said to have a German-born native partner of Semitic descent). Mandl himself, however, strangely enough, he was sent to the English Consulate as a boost:

=. Jeg

genoffe, which gave rise to the suspicion that the German and Austrian consulates were not allowed or willing to register him, and he was also secretly employed by the English company should stand, which with its name any dubious operations of Mr. Mandl did not want to cover.

Aren't these two very characteristic Jewish stories?

The censor wishes that one should follow the German and the Russian ambassador to protect his country from the

To protect against the frauds of Myres and Mandl.

(The imperial edict is now in fact, as the censor it advocated, issued.)

If the Tfung-li-Vamen turns to the Russian ambassador, he will simply answer that he does not know Myres, that always refused to recognize him as a Russian because of his bad reputation
or to recognize protected persons. |

The German ambassador will also have difficulty with the
Would be able to unite his office, for similar reasons Reasons to take the side of Mr. Mandl, especially since he has the-said Pulvercontract not in the name of his company, but in his 1 name, as an employee of an English company, signed had.

So the two people are pretty much incomprehensible, and one sees that the Jews remain the same all over the world, even in the heavenly kingdom. |

Generally, however, Mandl, especially towards the Chinese, as a German, which is also clear from the censor's memorandum on the nüse. – It is obvious that the reputation of the Germany through the memorandum and the imperial decree
is compromised. |

What misfortune led the Krupp company to to appoint a man like Mandl as their representative and We do not know how to deny German identity. But Israel has powers and means with which even the best can be deceived can be.

The fact remains regrettable!

For people who knew Myres and Mandl in China,
the memorandum of the censor and the »imperial edict nothing too
It would have been surprising. That something would happen
Everyone was prepared for this. But for Mr. Krupp,
The event must have been a hard blow. Hopefully it these opened and he sees where one can go with such helpers device |

If a company like Krupp feels compelled to do so and in addition, people who themselves are for the Judaized Austria are too bad to appoint them as their representatives, how then should the good German name in relation to foreign countries?

Modern Judaism, by the way, has in the treaty ports has already played a significant role since its opening.

| E3 There are Jews from all over the world in China, especially but also from Damascus, Baghdad, Bombay, etc. The Bombay Jews in particular play a role.

Of course, the Jews of all countries stick together, and Even baptized Jews are counted among them.

The Jews have their synagogue and their Kahal, everything that the heart of a true Jew could desire They play pretty much the same role as anywhere in the world and seek to transform legitimate, solid trade into speculation, haggling from usury. They seek to reap where they have not sown

evening. 8

The influence which Judaism has had on foreign affairs

China's active trade is an extremely harmful being and unfortunately most of the foreigners living in China still not sufficiently known; only gradually do we begin to become aware of this to become aware.

From time to time, voices are raised in the press against the German Jews who poison sailors with spirits. Then hear one can probably make a strange protest against this unfortunately only too justified complaints, which the existence of German Jews in general denies. That may be true, because a Jew remains just a Jew and will never be German, French, etc. In effect—ity, however, it is the case that most of these small schnapps—and usurer Jews come from 1 0 or Poland; but since everything German Jewish, then these people are considered Germans.

As a curiosity it may be mentioned here that in 1886 a Polish Jew named Eppstein the entire coast of China to traveled up to Peking, saw himself as a victim of the Russian persecution of the Jews successor and relative of Mrs. Bourée, wife of the former French ambassador in Peking, née Eppstein from Warsaw, and collected money for a building to be built in Hong Kong Coffeehouse to counteract the harmful consumption of spirits (The aforementioned Mrs Bourde converted from Judaism to Catholicism and, as a zealous Catholic, Ir was very involved the Sisters of Mercy; for what purpose, may the Heaven knows.)

Where there is much trade and shipping, there is also prostitution—tion. Most of the houses in the large port areas of Hong Kong and Shanghai, where Chinese prostitution is spreading, listen to Jewish 1 and property speculators. Jewish matchmakers travel to the Far East with their living goods. Most of them come the as leaders of a Tingel-Tangel or a Viennese ladies' band. That the daughters of Zion are not missing among the traveling hetaerae, verftall, but mainly Israel acts as a male or female imprefario and one hears among them homely sounding German like Goldenberg, Silbermann, Finkelstein etc. Everything

German:

At this point, one who has now died and who was formerly in Shanghai very popular for the name of Mr. Abraham Politely called George Polite, mention should be made. Mr.

– 187 –

Polite was a barber by trade, but also did Goods and money transactions. His favorite profession, however, was “la femme”. Near Shanghai he built an inn with a female waitress, after having previously met a woman in Shanghai also very well-known gallant lady, named Anna Stern, married. In order to recruit girls for his establishment, Mr. 120 went to Germany. From the Berlin Jews= The arrival of Mr. George Polite was formally celebrated. He was portrayed as a grand seigneur, a man who cared Promotion of German trade and German in-duftry had made a great contribution and who is now a wanted to open an art institute, for which he was about to To recruit forces. So Israelites know all things a political side, as soon as it is one of your own acts, even if the thing, viewed in the light, is no longer anything as a brothel business.

Mr. Abraham Höflich was, by the way, one of the more harmless types of Judaism. He was an Orthodox Jew and could neither read nor write; he was considered good-natured and charitable.

With the above-mentioned Mr. Mandl, current representative of Krupp, he made financial transactions and he looked after his customers to complain that he was being oppressed by it. After- After separating from his first wife, he married shortly before his sudden death with another young Jewish woman. Mr. Polite came into contact with the German Consulate on many occasions. If it was a question of taking an oath, he was happy to do so before the Consul, but stubbornly refused to accept a Jewish-ritual oath, because before the synagogue and the Kahal he was afraid.

A cousin of this Mr. George Polite was a Jewish hand= medical assistant in Shanghai, named J. Neustadt. After the same, as it later turned out, Ching had been convicted of forgery

He settled in Berlin. Here he carried out a very incredible amount of fraud and was in 1886 pursued fugitively and with warrants. In 1887 it was reported that that Mr. Neustadt in San Francisco was carrying out his frauds with un-flowed means. Unfortunately, our authorities do not seem to could have found means to capture him.

Mr. Neustadt has numerous close relatives in Berlin (the Moll family), some of whose members were pillars of German law-state, some are lawyers or hold honorary offices. All are very wealthy.

If we go one social level higher, we find Israel represented in retail trade, as traveling or visiting curioftraders and then in brokerage and speculatorship. A larger number of people living in Hong Kong and the 8 foreign exchange and Stock brokers are Jews or of Jewish origin and among the
The stock and commodity speculators are likely to be the majority ilden. N

- 188 -

In the actual business of legitimate wholesale, insurance-

They are less represented in the finance and banking sectors, or if they are, then also as large speculators.

The Jew, who first gained notoriety in China acquired was a Mr. Oppert, it is said, a relative of the be-praised Mr. "von Blowitz". He had, through missionaries in Experience has shown that there are royal tombs in Corea and that Corpses were to be buried in golden coffins; he also had-precisely the point of these burial sites. Without a doubt Mr. Oppert has already been inspired by the modern spirit of "science"- soul, and anthropological-ethnological curiosity was the driving force fhis actions. He rented a steamer and equipped a formal expedition. He landed secretly on the coast and tried to steal the coffins under cover of darkness. The matter failed-long, however, since the Coreans were alarmed, and so Oppert, without having achieved its scientific purpose. -

Oppert was later charged; whether he was punished,

We do not know, but we suspect that anthropological-ethnological and other considerations saved him from punishment.

The most outstanding of the existing Greater Jewish Ta is that of Messrs. Saffoon & Comp., which operates throughout China, Tonkin and India establisshes. These people find land and House speculators par excellence, own a lot of land and Houses and have the entire opium trade between India and China monopolizes. They work in all sectors of the international national and local speculation; even racing in the big Ports such as Hong Kong, Shanghai and some coastal locations catch them to exploit on a large scale. People are winning in East Asia a significance similar to that of the Rothschild, Ephrussi, Camondo, Hirsch, etc.

Vires acquirit eundo!

In Hong Kong, Messrs Saffoon "of the House,

in which the German club "Germania" is located. The building was built especially for club purposes. In Shanghai, Messrs Saffoon, in 1871 for the Germans also a To build a clubhouse, but under the condition that the heads of the Companies would become members of the club this year. This offer was rejected as a matter of course. |

Among other things, the seasons in Shanghai have scandalous pros: had zeffe.

Today, the heads of Indian companies have been made baronets, Saffoons and Gubbay's are received at the English court, and In the newspapers you even read that for the wedding of the daughter of the Queen Victoria with the Earl of Fife presented the Saffoons gifts power and these are accepted.

Israel is making great strides forward!

As Drumont tells us in his latest book "La dernière bataille", they were, by the way, now also with the Rothschilds related Saffoons also involved in the infamous Copper Rings.

– 189 –

This great speculation has brought the Jews a lot of money and caused unspeakable misery among Christians. Now the Parisian Jude Dreyfuss proudly pointed out that among the four defendants and arrested there is not a single Jew, but that are all Christians.

Doesn't this remind you vividly of the revelations of the Jew Lasker in the founding period, which only a few aristocratic Christian founders exposed, while the founders after the war

70/71 ninety percent were Jews? N

– Is this not a warning to all non-Jews how dangerous it is to get involved with Jews who stick together and systematically work towards the ruin of the Goy? The non-Jews are always and will always be the ones who get cheated if one does not take energetic measures against the whole of Judaism.

We now want to introduce some former Jewish companies mention of Thun. | |

A Russian-Jewish company, Landstein & Comp., which is based in-ultimately dealing with speculative transactions, went into decline in the 1970s in Hong Kong without any particular fuss. A German company Bryner & Beyfuß of which only the latter partner was a Jew, made a fraudulent bankruptcy in 1878,
and both partners were imprisoned for several years.
English Jew named Lazarus, who ran the whole skin business in China tried to monopolize, made such bad business that he poisoned himself. An English company Hyde & Hertz collapsed in the over years. Hertz was Jewish; but he denied his mother-language, although he was born in Germany.

Hong Kong has been the El Dorado of Jews for years. Here
Of course, stock market gambling and speculation are the most developed, and We have a regular founding period from 1882/83 with
The matter was mainly caused by Jews were staged and Chinese were the victims this timetrogens.

The current English Governor of Hong Kong, Sir John Pope Henneff, an Irishman who is generally said to have he was of Jewish descent, had attracted the attention of the Chinese the high prices which one can get for land in the city of London and land, and it was insinuated that actually no Ur-matter would be available, why not similar prices in Hong Kong could be realized. The Chinese fell for it. The artificial excitement lasted about six months, during which the Price of land from 7 to 12 dollars per square foot in the area business district of the city. The bubble burst and out of 40 Chinese Of the fifteen bankers, only 5 remained solvent. The result was that the Chinese wish they had stuck to their legitimate business, and reproached themselves for having listened too willingly to the voice of the seducer. Mr. Archibald Colquhoun, Special-reporter of the London "Times", reports on this on October 4thtober 1883 to his paper:

te 9

"If the gentleman concerned (ie the governor) now here, I fear, he would fare badly, because the Chinese people do not bear losses with amiability, but

least of all, if he acted on "uninterested" advice
The judgment that the Chinese now have about their friendly athgeber is: "He is a bad man, he does not speak the truth." 1

For the assumption that Sir John Pope Henneffly was a Jewish absconder
His whole behaviour speaks for itself. First he made himself English Parliament by Irish agitation so unpopular that,
to get rid of him, give him the governorship of Labuan (Borneo). He made himself impossible here and also on several other governorships. In Hong Kong, where he supported Jews and Chinese, he was involved in an ugly family scandal, which through all the newspapers, impossible. He had to submit to the general
His father-in-law, General
Low, explained to anyone who wanted to hear it, verbally or in writing that Sir John is the most despicable scoundrel on God's earth Later, Sir John Pope Henneffly became Governor of Mau= ritius. Here he soon had such conflicts that the Governor General of the Cape Colony, Sir Hercules Robinson, let's see how to remove him by force. But in England, Sir John probably with the help of Israel to whitewash that he was sent back to Mauritius. 9 9

Incidentally, the founding period in China also subsequently had its Literature. In 1888, a book by

A comprehensive brochure written by a Mr. Thirkell under the title Title "Some Queer Stories of Benjamin David Benjamin and Mssrs.

ED Sassoon & Comp. -

- Les juifs entre eux. - him

(Some strange duos by Benjamin David Benjamin and Messrs. ED Saffoon and Comp. *
- The Jews among themselves -), 5

which describes the wild activities of the Jews and documents

Sun

We find the classic names here:

Benjamin David Benjamin, Mr. David Hai Silas,

Luna Benjamin, SA Nathan (Simeon Abraham),
Raymund Elias Toeg, Raphael, egg
Ruben Aaron Gubbay, CP Chater,

Habel Joseph Abraham, EE Safsoon,

ED Saffoon, ER Belilios.

The man of God of the children of Israel in Shanghai, named Louis Moore, an auctioneer, was also heavily compromised. After After the trial, Mr Saffoon travelled to England to as the Scripture says, along with his family in England at court to be received. Ze

Israel has also distinguished itself in missionary work, and how!

In the years from the mid-1860s to the 1870s,

De

Digitized by G00 LG

— 3 r N nu

– 191 –

A missionary named Paul was walking around the Ben coast. He collected a lot of money and then disappeared when he got into trouble. thought he was a Jewish fraudster. | IR

In the early 1980s, an alleged Protestant missionary with wife and child in Shanghai. The Man had a lot of testimonies from dignitaries, especially especially from ecclesiastical sources from Europe, Australia, etc., which legitimized him as an expert in Arabic and some ancient languages. With this he went to all kinds of notable people, pretending to be great to pursue “scientific” interests and collected for a pious pilgrimage to the famous Nestorian tablet in Hfin=nan=fu. Many people gave money and new certificates on top of that While our missionary was bringing the coastal places to the contribution, The woman left behind in Shanghai – an Australian Englishwoman – and her child in distress and fell to the authorities to the burden. It was soon discovered that our missionary was a nasty Jewish crook who lived in polygamy and hand had other things to answer for.

The man was arrested and punished.

The Austrian Consulate had, if we are not mistaken, the acceptable task to all issuers of certificates the same to be refunded. *

In the actual big banking business, Israel used to be little represented, as banks in China conduct legitimate commercial business and little stock market gambling and speculation. Apart from various The English banks had recently failed at the Kupferring Comptoir d'Escompte de Paris represented mostly by German Jews as agents.

When war with France broke out in 1870, the German Jews were removed from the Comptoir d'Escompte. One of the= fame, a certain Seligmann, had his French nationality after= attempted to assign in order to remain in the Comptoir d'Escompte, But he did not succeed. Then he was appointed head of the "branch the Deutsche Bank", which was established in Shanghai in 1872 After just two years, the patriotic Companies abandoned because there is not as much dividend in China as on European stock exchanges.

Recently, a German East Asian Bank has been established in Shanghai Among the founders, who are mostly Jews, we unfortunately have the name of a genuinely German institute, namely the Prussian shipping company. The general director of the company Friedrich Krupp in Effen, Mr. Jenke, has 10 members on the supervisory board.

How long will it take until the Krupp establishment will be entirely in the hands of Jews?

»The staff sent to Shanghai by the new bank and has to do the actual work, namely the legitimate commercial traffic, and thus for the maintenance of the establishment jorgen are Germans. As advisor and captain to the nuptials of political affairs – without his name appearing in the newspapers tions – an Englishman named Moritz Kalb, with Thus, our first German industrial Establishment of an Austrian Jew, and the so-called Deutsche Bank represented by an English Jewish offspring.

The most distinguished banking institution in China is without doubt the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation. This bank is from outgrown the needs of trade itself, in Hong Kong domiciled and has branches all over the world. Recently fhe also established one in Hamburg. The staff of this bank was always predominantly English=Scottish, including the directors and agents. The bank is also international and Germans have always sat on the supervisory board in Hong Kong. Since the Judaism in Hong Kong has experienced such a great upswing, Jews from various nations have also entered the supervisory board, and unfortunately the bank has since then sometimes, and always to its own damage, from the solid business operations. Thanks the good management of the main directors, the bank has overcome all setbacks can easily endure. By employing Jewish agents abroad– The bank only started in this country a few years ago. The first of these agents, a Belgian Jew named Morel, who representing the bank in Lyon, defrauded the bank of the sum of 1,290,000 francs and at the half-yearly meeting of shareholders in Hong Kong in August 1889, this post was written off as a loss– written.

We now want to mention a Jewish story, which in 1887 was forry in the entire financial and commercial-caused a stir around the world.

In August a certain "Count Mitkie wicz" appeared in Tientsin
The same was from a banker named Wharton Baker in Philadelphia sent to China to speak in his name and that of a Syndicate of American bankers to the Chinese business pro-posiftions. It seems that they had decided on this "Count" a kind of introductory letter from the President of the United States, Mr. Cleveland, to procure. Mr.
Wharton Baker was portrayed as a man of excellent reputation-who would not only be decorated by Russia, but even to have personal relations with the Emperor of Russia.

"Count Mitkiewicz" appeared with all aplomb to Recommendations to give full shine. In the accompaniment of the
But among the "counts" there was a quiet Jew named Simon Stern, and he was the "director" of the whole play, which now played.

Count Mitkiewicz organized festivals and parties in Tientfin and a part of the European inhabitants of Tientsin were the 1 fraud, which is clear to every businessman lay, deceive. N
Not so the Chinese! In view of the fraudulent or real-recommendations that Mitkiewicz had to show, one could not ignore him. Apparently, they agreed to his plans and

- 193 -

made conditional promises. It was nothing less as the monopolization of the entire railway system, telegraphy and telephone making in China, as well as the establishment of an all-powerful current bank. b

When Mitkiewicz returned with these promises returned confident of victory, the Chinese simultaneously sent a office, which should get to the bottom of the matter. It
It did not take long before it was heard that the "Count" Mitkie= wicz would have turned out to be a "German Jew". Of course, the count was There is no trace of it, but Mitkiewicz had a long previous history in New York, where he was accused of diamond theft and other sins and was punished with imprisonment. He should come from some corner of Poland. a

For no one who could see clearly, it had the slightest Doubts that the whole thing is a big hoax
Not only China would have been cheated, but

but also the "stupid" people in America and other countries, who as shareholders for the company.

That China is a country that is particularly suited to would be used to carry out fraudulent operations to exploit the natives in Europe or America, and a terrain on which one felt could still rob, is a thought which Israel's imagination= power has long been established and offers many tempting things. |

After Honduras, Senegambia, Tunis, Türkiye, Egypt, Ser= Bien, Bulgaria etc., one would also like to China "fructify". |

So far, a good star has ruled over China and it has the rapacity of the international Jewish gang. Only here and it has suffered some minor setbacks. Despite all the pressure and Storming, the Chinese have preserved their integrity and Don't let the noose be thrown around your neck.

China always gives its ambassadors abroad only limited Powers of attorney. If the people seem suspicious to them, then they will be recalled. Therefore, Israel must be in China itself Try your luck. From time to time you see Jews appearing in China, either in public or in secret missions. Sometimes they leave quickly, or they stay longer and fniffing and spying to see if there is a sore spot somewhere= there is something there where they can sink their claws. For example, In 1882 two English Jews, Davis and Samuel, with special whose recommendations were provided by Lord Beaconsfield to the Chinese in opium matters. But they had to leave without having achieved pull the thing off.

That the "Alliance israelite universelle" has its permanent agents in China has, it hardly needs to be mentioned, where has the same Society? They nest in all circles and levels of society.

society.

Jews can also be found in China in the municipal administrations from Hong Kong and Shanghai, in the European Maritime Customs Service in

IV. 13

– 194 –

subordinate and higher positions; among the latter, German Jews with changed names and nationalities and Jewish offspring different countries. a

In the customs service there is, among others, a Jew of German origin, who calls himself Charles Lennox Simpson and denies his Germanness and is portrayed as an Englishman. His wife is a Jew from England from a music hall. – She once intended to be a professional beauty and To become the mistress of the Prince of Wales. Simpson himself was caught several times playing foul and expelled from the Shanghai Club Another is a Polish Jew who has been expelled from the German has adopted the name Julius Neumann, is considered German, but in English Consulate is registered as an Englishman. Neumann plays everywhere the kind, especially visiting German soldiers ships and bites out the German patriot. N

Both Jews have a reputation among their colleagues as spies. A third Jew named Liot, of unknown origin, was private Secretary to the General Customs Inspector. |

That in the service of the foreign consulates and the diplomatic matie Jews, Jewish offspring and Jewish comrades, is not to be found surprise, because diplomacy is looking for Israel all over the world to make it his domain, and that the Judaized France It is obvious that France has even for some time, until mid-1887, the great Conftans, whom Drumont in his last work "La derniere bataille" he describes in a drastic way, to the ambassador in Peking. If this gentleman does not convince the Chinese could have led to any misdeeds, then this is certainly not on him. His work in China was therefore not outstanding. It was funny that this atheist and raging persecutor the Church has hardly any other option than to conclude a contract fphere of activity of his time, when the perception of the Interests of the Catholic bishops and missions.

So Mr. Constans had to pass the time by trading with nn and contact with fine friends and like-minded people drive out.

In Drumont's last work, the Marquis de Mores reports, who had travelled to Tonkin, among others:

"I have returned via China. The reputation which Conftans, Ambassador of France, left there Dale made me) er= blush that I, a Frenchman, am represented by such a man and I blame Mr. Constans, French Ge= sent, hereby:

I. to have damaged the 1 of France in the wear etc.,

II. his official position as representative of France through trade to have dishonored with chinoiserie etc."

We would also like to mention the French General-consul Kretzer, an Alsatian Jew, who for several years in Shanghai, and the English Israelite Göschen, who was stationed for some time as legation secretary in Peking.

1

All this can be found only in very few and fleeting sketches of the Israel's work in China. Here, as everywhere in the world where Jews fit, one only needs to take a few random facts from their activities to pick out and put together and immediately a "Chronique scandaleuse" finished. |

Let us summarize the entire work of Judaism in China since opening of the treaty ports, we come to the conclusion:

As long as the Jews among the Europeans living in China were not represented or only represented to a limited extent, the Euro was: The Chinese respected him and his words were almost unconditional trust. But since the Jews have spread there and have come to the fore, this has changed significantly. The reputation of Europeans, regardless of nationality, has suffered a disadvantage through its ties with Judaism. In particular, the reputation of Germany has recently increased—suffered and will suffer even more, because after France has been totally subjugated, it seems to us Germans to be destined to always to become more and more mired in Judaism.

Something similar could be written about Japan as about China. In any case, Israel is working diligently on the "new civilization" there yourself with. |

A German judge named Mofe (Mofes) manufactures there fet, supported by some Delbrück's. |

In Germany, one often hears people say: One should be concerned about the Intolerance against Judaism abroad. It would be much more correct to say: We Germans should flamed that it is primarily we who are responsible for Judaism in all the blessed lands of the earth on our broad back drag it away.

When the good German name begins to spread among foreign peoples to be dozed and despised, we owe this primarily to the actions and omissions of our Hebrew fellow citizens.

Berlin, April 1890.

Jews in Siberia,

In his 9th "From Japan to Germany through Siberia"

Mr. Wilhelm Joeft describes the life and activities of the Jews in the latter country, and we shall find that here too the same role as in other countries. Mr. Joeft made his journey in 1881. He met the first Jew in Stryetensk. He made purchases from the Jews and describes them as follows (p. 89/90):

"Shopping was easy because almost all the shops= owners were German-speaking Jews. It is highly falling that here in the heart of Asia Russian and Polish Jews and 13 *

– 196 –

whose descendants are the representatives of Germanism, while these are often not considered Germans in our beloved fatherland want to let go.L | |

"There are honest, hard-working people, craftsmen and merchants, who, through their ability and moderation, even the Chinese Con- make currency and enjoy general popularity; also the German merchants assured me that they preferred to do business with the Jews as with the Russians. They mostly just speak badly Russian, their mother tongue is German=Jewish; understand Hebrew only the rabbis" N ze

"By the way, it didn't look very nice in these houses, the

The stuffy air was suffocating, and the women and daughters who Yesterday they were still walking around in velvet and silk, today they were walking around foot with light petticoats and uncombed hair, but were nevertheless often quite pretty." N

="

* .

On pages 114 and 115 he writes about another city:

"The market of Chita was just so dead and deserted like the whole town, which has perhaps 1500 inhabitants, of whom 600 are Jews, while the rest are almost exclusively soldiers, Infantry, artillery, as well as mounted and foot Cossacks.

The Chinese have about 100 wooden huts, where they build brick houses. tea, raw silk and all kinds of Chinese stuff, mostly for Buryats determined to trade, and it was most strange to me to be:

observe that the Chinese, who almost everywhere in the world, where they settle there, the local craftsmen, bankers and Merchants successfully compete here in Siberia against the Jews cannot afford it. |

For me, this is the most reasonable testimony that one can the toughness and cunning of the Jews. Both races have many common characteristics; they are both sober, thrifty to the point of greed and without needs, as long as they only have small expenses
may 1 be concerned day and night with its enlargement without being too scrupulous in the choice of their means;
If they become rich later, they both love to show off their money,
and often use large sums of money for charitable purposes etc.: if they have settled somewhere, then they are difficult to displace, and where a Chinese or Jew once is native, he always attracts other of his countrymen after him; both are characterized by caste mentality and stick together more tightly than any European country or nation; they are nowhere to be found—loves, often hated and always envied, and one never knows how to escape separate whether they are a curse or a blessing for a country in which they spread. Here in Siberia, where both races tabula rasa, where both compete in free competition and here the Mongolian race seems to be inferior to the Semitic one:

liegen." –

* *

2

"

– 197 –

From another travel station, Palawina, Mr.
Joest (p. 150/151) the following tavern scene: Re

"Here (in the pub) I found my interpreter, who really had a remarkable talent for traveling everywhere, even in the most remote Corners, scavenging for liquor, in lively conversation with a Polish Jew and his bottle of brandy.

"The latter was also drunk – I don't need that from K.
more to mention – and turned out to be a dark Honourable man, but, as is often the case with such people, a very entertaining guy. His main business was smuggling from Chinese silk to the Russian silk on the other side of Lake Baikal Papfergeld then he was engaged in the distribution of counterfeit paper money and postage stamps, and he also travelled a lot to the Gold washers, bought the gold stolen from the workers and minted inferior Imperials on its own account. In Europe In general, one would not use such a subject at the= sitting at the same table and drinking from the same glass, here in Siberia But this thought did not bother me in the least.

"We spoke German quite loudly, and attracted by this, he= A second Jew appeared, this one an old, very venerable-looking boy who begged me to take him to the next station to take him in my car, he had been waiting in vain for four days for a ride. I felt sorry for the old man and asked him what he actually was. "I am a Kinßler," cr: he replied. "So, what are you doing?" He: "Oh, I can do anything, Actually, I am a conjurer." Me: "Well, then show me once your art." He: en this magic wand," he took a pen, "Now please lend me your Ring." Me: "I will be very careful." Him: "Or your watch." Me: "I wouldn't dream of it." Him: "Well then, I will show you a card trick." He said and ne a pack of playing cards from his pocket, shuffled carefully and I had to pick up several times and then counted nine cards "Look at these nine cards, well, three are enough, these I will now catch three cards etc." In short, the artist disguised himself as a con artist who lured us into a game of Kümme= leaflet. Rune: I

"He put two gold pieces on the table, and I was temporarily If I had not attacked, I would not have seen that the other Jude also reached into his pocket and also put two Imperials on the table. Now I grabbed the older Semite by the collar and wanted to attack him with the words: "You are a very mean con artist" when he convinced me with his excellent Remark: "Well, if you know it, then don't say anything and We don't have to do business again. The other one, meanwhile had hoped to quickly collect the gold pieces of the To be able to exchange old ones for his own fake ones, now fon his part in great anger, since he had noticed that the old man's were also false, threatened him with police and life imprisonment mining work and then promoted his competitor rather roughly into the courtyard a few meters below, from where we can see the "artist" limp away."

– 198 –

*
*

Finally, Mr. Joeft writes on page 169/ö170:

"In Irkutsk there was a concert in the evening in the Volksgarten, a quite pretty establishment where the beautiful world of the city is gathers to enjoy instrumental music, solo, and a glass of brandy. to enjoy the choirs, fireworks, etc. Here I saw and heard also for the first time Russian Gypsies and was equally surprised about the beauty of their melodies as well as that of the girls who these were presented. The Russian audience was very uninteresting, the ladies in antediluvian hats and long raincoats not attractive and the men in uniform or white caps and 0 d suit – Russians and Siberians.

"I was told that under the previous Governor-General the Russians had once made an agreement to expel all Jews Opportunity to attack a festival in this public garden and and then rob and destroy their homes. The General heard about the conspiracy, appeared in the garden and Shortly before the appointed hour, on his command, Fire signals sounded in all churches. Everyone rushed home, of course. Volksgarten was empty in a few minutes, and the anti-Jewish campaign was thwarted. At that time, Ignatieff had not yet been a minister. In Irkutsk was the first place I heard about the anti-Semitic movement in Germany. A Russian said at the time: "First the Jews will be Germany is chased away and then it will be their turn in Russia." Should the Jewish riots spread from European Russia to Siberia, so few of the poor people will leave the country alive, the distances are so enormous that the Jews, if the population rises against them, impossible escape, they must starve, unless the pagan Buryat or Chinese would take care of them."

*

%

*

In the same book, Mr. Joest tells us on page 97 the I told a story elsewhere that the Jews there Prince Bismarck seems to be one of their own.

It is quite understandable that Mr Joeft sees it as a feels uncomfortable, where he himself does not speak Russian, German– to find people who speak. Otherwise, it is incomprehensible to me how he sees this type of people as representatives of Germanness can find his joy.

It sounds very strange when he first claims that they are honest are hard-working people and enjoy general popularity and later told that they had been attacked and killed in Irkutsk

However, if Mr Joeft has such benevolent intentions
the Siberians have a special preference for the Jews and the Jewish merchant and artist from Palawina under the

– 199 –

honest people, then we are basically completely the
the same opinion, only our way of expressing it is the opposite.

As for the parallel that Mr Joeft draws between Chinese and Jews, I would just like to emphasize that he completely ignored the fact that the Chinese are agricultural living, settled, eminently productive people, while the Jew is only a parasite everywhere. The Jew is just as unpopular as with all other peoples of the world, and his thinking and course of action finds exactly the same condemnation there as in Europe.

When Mr. Joeft says that in Chita out of 1500 inhabitants 600 Jews, then it is quite natural that the population business practice is a Jewish one, because the Chinese must then also, if they want to exist alongside the Jews at all, to their nothing=
worthy business practice.” |

For more information about Chinese and Jews see my article:

“Modern Judaism in China”.

Jews in America.

| In the article “How to become an anti-Semite” I have already said something about the Jewish question in the United States and demonstrated that the anti-Semitic movement is widespread here.
The people who first came forward openly with their views were multiple millionaires and educated people. The first was a certain Judge Hilton and the second a Mr. Austin Corbin, brother-in-law of earlier 1 Ulyffes Grant. The hatred against the Jews and The contempt for Jewish activity was mainly expressed in the spread to better circles and only recently do they seem to to penetrate the entire people. Since in Germany the Jewish press deliberately spread false information about Judaism in America, I would like to first give some recently counteract the untruths that are spreading at this time.

The Social Democrat Friedrich Engels in London, the admirer
Mr. von Goßler, writes in No. 10 of the Volkszeitung from May 13, 1890: “Throughout North America, where there are millionaires whose

Wealth can hardly be expressed in our paltry marks, guilders or francs
 There is not one among these millionaires who Jew, and the Rothschilds are real beggars compared to these Americans.
 And even here in England, Rothschild is a man of different means, e.g. against the Duke of Westminster. Even here on the Rhine, where we, with the help of the French, have chased the nobility out of the country 95 years ago and us have created a modern industry, where are the Jews?"

– 200 –

Here I give only a list of some New=Yorker Jewish millionaires: N

Max Weil 8 9000000 David Metzgar $ 1000 000
 Sen Eitate " 5000000 E. Ballin's Estate " 1000000

W. Glazier " 4,000,000 Benjamin Ruffak " 1,000,000
 Salomon Loeb "4000000 M. Lazarus Estate "2,000,000

Henry Hart " 4000000 Joseph Andrade " 1000 000
 H. Bernheimer " 4,000,000 yman Blum " 1,000,000
 Ifidor Wormfer " 3000 000 enry Liebmann " 1000 000
 Simfon Wormfer " 3000000 B. Altmann " 1000 000
 AS Rosenbaum " 3,000,000 J. Rothschild " 1,000,000
 Max Nathan "2000000 MH Levin "1000000
 James Seligman " 2000000 H. Newstadter " 1000 000
 Jeffe Seligmann " 2000,000 A. Reitlinger " 1000,000
 Jacob Schiff " 2000000 J. Reckendorfer " 1000 000
 A. Kerbs „„ 2000 000 Re Scheffel „1000 000
 David J. King " 1,000,000 E. Rosewald " 1,000,000

J. Schwarzschild "1000,000

But we must not forget that some of the larger Millionaires pretend not to be Jews. For example, John D. Rocke= feller, President of the Standard Oil Company, N. assets on $ 30,000,000. He belongs to the Baptist sect and makes in piety. This petroleum king also has the airs of a Jew, and there is little doubt for connoisseurs that he belongs to this race. The same applies to Jay Gould, whose fortune is worth hundreds of millions. This is the most dangerous of the modern buccaneers. In an American publication it is said of him: "He has the equanimity of a Turk, the greyloneliness of a Zulu, the cunning of a Greek, the inconstancy of a Frenchman, the constancy of a German, the pretenseart of an Armenian, the deceit of a Jew, the treason of an Indian, the greed of an Englishman and the spirit of enterprise and the cleverness of an American." If he does not If he is a pure Semite, then he is a hybrid of Semites and burglary. As for the Astors, there is disagreement about their origin is not clear; they themselves claim to come from Holland, but actually come from Baden. I tend to think that they are of Jewish origin.

The millionaires mentioned here are only New York Jews, and one must remember that there is a correspondingly large number of Jewish millionaires in all the big cities of America. San Francisco in particular is full of them, and here I would like to name Sutro; he is a Jew from Bochum and has recently been making a lot of noise in Germany.

In a recent work it says: "Today we have over a million Jews who shared in the wealth of the United States, but remember that no matter how rich a country becomes, there is always an end to prosperity; that these Jews

– 201 –

whether bankers, doctors, judges, newspaper writers, booksellers, Managers, lawyers, brokers, pawnbrokers, fences of stolen goods estates, professors or rabbis, all in secret with each other are allied and strive with all their might to bring every one to fill positions of honor and office with one of their tribesmen.

"On the streets, in the theaters, in the restaurants, in the Hotels, you can smell the Jews everywhere. Our newspapers are full of them; it is a sad spectacle, these sons of Israel our to see public opinion being shaped.

"The industrial crisis which is spreading in Europe and up to to a certain extent also makes itself felt here, the intellectual and moral Stuffy air, so to speak, which we feel and yet can hardly explain can, comes solely from the Jew, – he triumphs. His triumph is our ruin!

"It is high time that the disembarkation of the robber hordes of Israel landing on our shores.

"One million Jewish mouths – and what mouths! – One Million parasite mouths!"

Here follows an article that the "Volk" published on 30 November 1890 brought: 5

"The recently published quarterly issue of the "Arbeiterfreund", edited by Prof. Dr. Viktor Böhmert in Dresden and Prof. Dr. Rudolf v. Gneift in Berlin, brings from New York on page 478 an interesting report on the working conditions there, which deals with the immigration of Jews to America as follows pronounced in a measured way:

"But there is undesirable immigration, against whom no special laws are passed as against the Chinese, which is nevertheless viewed with squinting eyes. There are that the Russian and Polish Jews. The better-off Jews They themselves would like to prevent this immigration, but to do so They are not capable of doing so. There are many bad experiences with these People and hope to raise large sums of money to help them to provide a dignified existence. gave them land, Agricultural tools, seeds etc. and thought that the Jew could fow land operate like any other human being, you just need to the opportunity. But the costly experiment failed completely failed. Most Jews sold their equipment, which was legally did not even belong to them, left their farms and went home siren. In the dark, vermin-infested residential buildings in the Jewish quarter of New York they feel more comfortable than in healthy air and a comfortable home. Peddling, money lending and aehnliches is their element, from an activity in crafts or agriculture They want to know absolutely nothing. The uncleanliness of their clothes, their homes and even the streets where they live are downright not an inviting sight and they do not do anything else, to do injustice to the old brew that weighs on them. That is because the former tolerance and indifference against the Jews is waning and that one can almost

Fear of another large influx of poor, neglected and work-shy Jews from Russia and Poland. They are, As I said, the better-off Jews themselves, who preferred the event rather than promote it; first and foremost, it is precisely they who who have to dig the most into their pockets to help those people to buy a "business equipment" so that it can meet the usual requirements—can pursue the retail trade. A law that is expected—There is no way to prevent Jews from landing, but the Re-government is trying to use diplomatic means to expel the unwelcome guests from to stay away from here. She protests to the Russian government against the unjust treatment that the Jews have to endure there and stands up for their rights. Out of love for humanity or compassion for the poor creatures? God forbid! When we in Petersburg are successful and can improve the lot of Russian Jews, fuch is the calculation in Washington, then they will stay away from us, even without legislation. Similar motives also seem to be present in the to dominate gatherings in England in which against Russian Persecution of Jews is protested"" | |

"Perhaps it is not uninteresting to report here on a

To make a movement, which is still in the early stages.
ftadium and whose end one can already predict without much wisdom could predict exactly. A New York writer, Greek of birth, has launched a fierce crusade against the Jews. He has already published several books against this race, all of which, whether—
There are great obstacles to the spread, but
The public will eagerly take up this work. This writer has now the intention, through contributions from his readers — he also wants an anti—publish a semitic newspaper — buy land in New Mexico and to transplant the Jews of the United States there. Of course
He believes he can pass a law in Congress that would Jews should be settled on the spot designated for them.”

The writer mentioned in the “Volk” is the one from whose
I now want to quote some works “at random”. The first fhis books are called: “The Original Mr. Jacobs”, the second “The American Jew” and the third “Judas Iscariot”. The Original Mr.
Jacobs is largely a reworking of Drumont’s “La France juive”. The author thinks that Mr. Drumont is tolerable—fcient and the work is too focused on French conditions
cut; he therefore edits it for American understanding.

Since the publication of “Uncle Tom's Cabin” (which book
the outbreak of the last civil war in America
no book has been published that has caused any excitement of minds like this. Uncle Tom's Cabin gave a description of the black slave, the victim of a self—traditional furnishings inherited from the colonial era;
“The Original Mr. Jacobs” deals with the white slave who sighs under the iron yoke of Jewish oppression.

1 | ®
3

— 203 —

“The Original Mr Jacobs.”

“Let the reader not be deceived by the apparent scholarship= fomity of the Jews. The teaching of languages requires independent Research and patient work. It is a well-known fact that the Jew does not achieve anything independent. All his learning is based on the research of others, which he with audacity described as his own. The positions that the Jews hold, are not due to them by their own merit, but are due to influences have been brought into it.” (p. 275.)

“Has any observer ever asked himself the question: ‘Is Jewish?

Jewish blood in the veins of John D. Rockefeller?" We hesitate Not for a moment to answer the question in the affirmative, since we Man know exactly, and if he is really not a pure Jew, then he has infinitely many Jewish traits. It is true that he is an outstanding outstanding member of the Baptist Church, but in his ambitious The pursuit of gold, pleasure and even occupations of daily life he seems to apply the biblical precepts only Saturday to observe." (There then follows a biography and detailed description of the man. (p. 283 ff.)

| "With regard to physicians, we read that the Rabbis of Constantinopol in 1849 gave their fellow believers the following advice: "Make your children doctors and pharmacists so that they can without fear of discovery and punishment, and that This advice is also followed in America." (p. 302.)

"There is no more absurd view than that those living among us Jews should have peaceful intentions; that if they leave Europe left to come to America, they left their prejudices behind and want to adapt to us. The Jew can never free from its poison. A snake remains a snake, just as in the old as well as the new world." (p. 307/308.) | %

+
"Your American Jew"

"In American politics and especially in that of the City of New-Pork, the so-called American Jew has in the last years played an important role. The legislation of the state New-Nork as well as the city and communities are full of Jews grafted and they mostly belong to the German or Polish variant. Many of these Hebrew officials were baptized i.e. they act as if they had accepted Christianity. In by artificially twisting or anglicizing their names, they are "They are often not known to the general public as Hebrews." (p. 57/58.)

A "famous" newspaper owner from New York delivered a Example of the intrusiveness of Jewish reporters.

"Mr. Hall was mayor of New York and the reporters burned with desire, m. about a certain object, which to question the public opinion at the time. Mr. Hall rejected all advances; but the Jewish reporter lost the Mayor. The latter was currently suffering from dysentery, and one day the Jew managed to catch him when he was in the corridor towards a certain place. He attached himself to the mayor's heels and he actually managed to lock it in the closet. Decency forbids the now to describe the following scene. Suffice it to say that the suffering tormented mayor, who now under all circumstances wished to be alone, was forced to ask the press pirate some questions to answer etc." (p. 77.)

"In Eddy Street in San Francisco, a Jewish man had recently been a dentist. One day, when a lady was under the influence of chloroform in the operating chair, he found, this scoundrel took advantage of the lady's helpless situation to injure her. The lady came back to consciousness faster than he had expected, and so he was discovered. She went home and told the matter to her husband. The latter armed himself with a real death warrant and forced his wife to take him to a doctor. Here he treated the Jew without mercy. The Jew made no attempt to defend himself, but fell on his knees, kissed the feet of his chastiser and begged him to spare him, in return from whom he begged forgiveness etc." (p. 84.)

"In the year 1880 a Jew named Rothschild had a family, loved, which was known under the name Diamond Bessie because she owned a large number of diamonds. Rothschild persuaded Bessie to accompany him on a trip to the South, and in Texas arrived, he lured her to a lonely place, murdered her and robbed her of her diamonds.

The crime was discovered soon afterwards, but this Rothschild had meanwhile escaped and only after a year it was possible to get hold of him. The investigation showed that he was guilty.

Was he hanged? – Not at all! The Court of Appeal of Texas overturned the verdict, and in a subsequent investigation he was acquitted. This same Rothschild is today in Cincinnati freely; but it cost the Jews 150,000 dollars. How this was possible and who got the 150,000 dollars, the Jews know best." (p. 117/118.)

"For the Jew, the practice of the law is neither a profession nor a science, it is not even an art in his eyes. For him it is nothing but a bargain." (p. 135.)

"The Jew is a plague and for every Christian community a danger. He lives from the misfortune of others; from the imperfection of the laws which he always strives to perpetuate. One of his

The main business is that of the thief, and above all he enriches through war and other national misfortunes. It was the misfortune= civil war in this country, which, while it threatened the nation

– 205 –

Blood and treasures poorer, the Jews and their present height and made the whole nation tributary to them.” (p. 202.)
A

.

"Judas Iscariot"

“– A whole world lurching and stamping, like the old Rö= miſche, when the measure of the hardships was full; the chasms of the lower earthly and heavenly floods of sin opened wide; in the wild dawning chaos all the stars of the sky have gone out! No star visible in the sky, hardly for anyone; the pestilential Nebulae and miasmatic vapors all around have obscured all the stars.
darkens, which are only visible on the highest mountain peaks;
flickering will-o'-the-wisps of various indeterminate shapes and colors have taken the place of the stars. Above the wild roaring Chaos a leaden air in which every now and then a pale revolution= flashes of lightning; then only darkness with philanthropic Shimmer, empty meteoric lights!”

After reading these lines of Carlyle, I was struck by= first the idea arose to write this book and to know those drawings that bring about our misfortune.

This is how the author of Judas Iscariot begins the prologue to his book.

“It was the rebellion which brought hordes of these parasites to our Coasts. Did they come like the Germans, the Irish and the Immigrants from other European nations to share their fate with the to link ours? No! The Jew followed our army as a swindler, or as a sutler, but as a spy in any case. He sold the brave soldiers miserable tobacco and poison instead of whiskey. He was always around the number= master and tried to outgrow the soldiers in the front and to cheat. He traded in cotton, and his greedy Nature was only concerned with profit and money-making, while the
The life of the entire nation was at stake. The New=Nork=Jew lived and worked during the war in Wall Street and Schacher with gold was his only patriotic profession. Who will say want or can it be that only a single drop of Jewish blood was shed on the battlefield? After the war about and the cruel treatment of our prisoners in Andersonville was investigated, it was found that a scoundrel Jew Named Wirz the cruelty to our brave soldiers in that terrible prisons." (p. 13.)

"No one will accuse me of ever leaving the church but certain prelates cannot be accused of that they themselves are to blame for the ecclesiastical indolence and that they could sometimes take the rabbi as a model. It is Sceljorger, who sees a wedding merely as a solemn celebration to be taken into consideration." (p. 17.)

— 206 —

"It is easily the result of all the fraudulent manipulations in the wine trade with France. Since the Jews were involved in both sides of the ocean act in unison, it is the highest Time for the American people to consider what measures rules are necessary to protect against the crimes of the Jews protect." (p. 42.)

"We are being criticized by foreigners because of the loud Jewish tone of our newspapers. Most of our major daily newspapers are nothing but immense frauds; they belong to Jews and are written by Jews to promote Judaism and to suppress the Americans." (p. 61.)

— nn

"Americans still remember the scandal that the young American envoy of the United States in Morocco recently which almost caused a war with the Sultan of Morocco and the dishonorable traitor sold the American citizenship and protection to his fellow tribesmen, so that they did not have to pay any taxes to the Sultan." (p. 124.)

"I knew a teacher in the city of Schenectady (in the state New York), who a few years ago made a trip to the eastern Europe. When he returned to America, he published he wrote one or two articles in a newspaper called the "Methodist", in which he gave a travel description and especially described what he had seen of Jews. I remember this very well

Article in which the writer said that he was full of maturity of sympathy for the "poor persecuted Israelites"
But when he visited Europe, his opinion had changed.
changes; he was in the face of the filth, the immorality and the
A light has dawned on the depravity of this people. He only told Things he had seen. He came to America as a complete ter anti-Semite and said that no one who was there whoever he was, he could remain a philo-Semitic. His honest conviction that he published in an unknown religious weekly published, but provoked the anger of the children of Israel and put her into a feverish state and our honest and well-being
The teacher in question should have known that, as Free country America may be, but one can still
The Jews must remain silent. The Jews, of course, acted in great Unanimity but secretly, so that not the public
The country's attention was drawn to it. It is not managed to obtain more precise information about what the have taken, but they must have asked the school principals to Teacher from his post, because not long afterwards
An article was published in the New-York Herald in which the same teacher repeated everything he had previously learned from the Jews had said." (p. 229/230.) | |

"The Jew prefers to live in the city; he prefers Pouring oil on a pile of paper to build his house "by accident" to burn down in order to obtain the insurance money. Therefore Investing in houses is undoubtedly the most advantageous option for him.
The latest report from the Boston Fire Authority states:
states that there exists an organized band of Jews whose Business it is to set fire to houses in order to to cheat. The "earnings" are distributed exactly as in a society of honest people who have some praiseworthy have done a valuable business. That is our Hebrew fellow citizen!"

(p. 234.)

"You will laugh and say that no enlightened Jew such nonsense, you are wrong. Even the most educated Jews believe in the main features of this absurd dream. (Welt= rule etc. wu f. w.) Think of the Jew Crémieux: "A new Messianic kingdom must arise, a new Jerusalem in place of kings and popes." Remember the saying of the enlightened Jew Disraeli: "The pure-blooded and higher Jewish race is intended to destroy the impure and inferior European races

Now, these two Jews were certainly the highest product of their race; their opinions must be regarded as the epitome of all Jewish view. At the time of this statement Disraeli was Prime Minister of England, while besides Gambetta five Jews were in the French ministry and the Jew Falk was Minister of Culture in Germany. Do you think

– 208 –

Hopes that Jews currently harbored throughout the world, and how the whole damned intrigue collapsed shamefully.” (p. 236/237.)

* *

N *

This is just a small selection of the three most popular books. How many editions they have gone through, I cannot give an exact figure, but in any case the print runs are enormous. 50,000 copies of “The Original Mr. Jacobs” were immediately sold; it was in 1888. Nowadays, many over 100,000 sold fine; the editions are no longer being increased—60,000 copies of the “American Jew” were printed of publication, and “Judas Iscariot” was sold for 30,000 copies. copies within three weeks. So you can see that the works have fallen on fertile ground. In the Minerva Publishing Company, 10 West, 230 St. New York, is now published also a monthly journal entitled “Anti-Jew”, which only costs 1 dollar per year and should provide a lot of interesting information. It should be noted here that the author of the above-mentioned Books is a thoroughly educated man who is in the old classical Literature as well as the Talmud, and of interest it may also be that he knows the 100 laws of the Jewish Mirror and quoted them in various ways. |

I will now leave here some information about the B'ne Briß-Order and note that this order has branches in Berlin, Hamburg—burg, Wiesbaden and probably several other German cities. |

A Jewish order.!)

Every now and then you can find the book in Jewish newspapers—fistaben “UOBB”, as “United Ordre B'ne Brith”, in German United B'ne Briß-Orden. Since now within the Jews—thence this order seems to be a “Noli me tangere”, it is It is not surprising that in non-Jewish circles one rarely finds a has no idea of the existence of such an order, which is why some Bol u information about him probably attracted the attention of further circles.

ienen.

The "venerable Constitutional Grand Lodge" of the UOBB was on 13 October 1842 by a certain Henry Jones and The majority of the lodges are currently located in the United States. Lodges of this Order can now be found in all parts of the world. The United States is a particularly to be a favorable ground for such structures, since only the districts—

The Grand Lodge No. 1 of this Order has 7900 members in 72 lodges (in
There are several Grand Lodges in North America, while the Grand Lodge
"Germany" is designated as No. 8, for example) and the Diftricts=Groß Lodge of a second Jewish order of the "Free Sons of Israel"
(Free Sons of Israel), as stated in the last "Annual Message"= has 9176 male and 435 female members, with a

—
—

9 Reprints are permitted only if the source is clearly indicated.

— 209 —

Annual income of 206,712 dollars. Very noticeable was Even a third Jewish order was created, the "Independent Order B'ne Berith", whose District=Größ, Lodge No. 1 on the occasion of its annual= assembly on 27 January last year, among other things, stated the following:
"We are convinced that humanity will continue to make progress achieved, the approximate realization of the great divine truth= ties that have been brought by Israel and through Israel since its pilgrimage journey among the nations. The greater freedom and Liberality, which was achieved and won, the moralization of civilized races is to the greater dissemination of the principles which are embodied in Judaism, etc."

One must admit that it is still putting it mildly,
when this is described as Jewish impudence and cheek.

The organization of the UOBB is similar to that of the "Freemasonry, which he apparently imitates in all respects.
supreme authority is the already mentioned "Constitutional Grand Lodge" and
The connection with the "daughter lodges" is mediated by the "Diftricts= Grand Lodges". .

The name "B'ne Briß" means fraternity brothers and is from taken from the covenant (Berith) which God, according to the "Old Testament" with Abraham for all his descendants. The "fundamental principle" of the order calls for "promotion of the highest interests of the Jews and a prosperous development of the spiritual and moral Jewish character of our tribe". Even more innocuous sounds the Motto "Benovolenze, Brotherly Love and Harmony", that means well-being activity, brotherly love and unity, for which reason the Brothers living in Germany sent their written communications also sign "in WBE" Since every lodge also has an official, the mentor, whose authority only consists in guiding the "brothers" at the lodge meetings in the teachings, statutes and rituals of the Order, the impression should be created that the formulary plays a major role in this order.

The order was not transplanted to Germany until 1882, in which year the merchant Julius Fenchel (ident Hermann Berger) in Berlin the "German Reichsloge" (President Dr. Louis Maretzki). The fennel mentioned is apparently one of the most active members of this association, on whose behalf he Among others, in January 1887 the "Maimonides Lodge" in Cairo and in March of last year, nine lodges were established in Romania. By January In 1887, Fenchel led the Order in Germany and was President of the German District Grand Lodge; since then he appears only as a delegate of the "Executive Committee of the Constitutional Grand Lodge". In Berlin "two lodges are still working, the "Berthold Auerbach Lodge" (President Sigmund Hagen) and the "Montefiore Lodge," whose president was the knew Dr. Hirsch Hildesheimer, editor of the "Jewish Press", i. The three Berlin lodges have a common building at Brüderstr. 2. locality and together have about 700 brothers, while the 26 lodges existing throughout Germany at the end of December 1889 2456 members. Such lodges exist in Halle, Katowice,

Iv. 14

4 | – 20 –

Beuthen, Stettin, Gleiwitz, Breslau, Kreuzburg, Dresden, Magdeburg, Pofen, Oftrowo, Hanover, Ratibor, Frankfurt a. M., Kassel, Straßburg, Deffau and others. Apparently both the Orthodox as well as the Jews who call themselves liberal in this order a community-drive for Judaism and apparently both sides the Order fights, which is certainly only done in order to possibly To throw sand in the eyes of non-Jews; both argue parties of this people in the order for the upper hand. Much better organized as the "Alliance israélite universelle" and under significant harmless mask, the UOBB understands the few non-Jews to deceive Jews who know about its existence. How no state has yet intervened against the "Alliance" dared, although the most justified accusations against this club have been raised, unfortunately no ruler seems to be against the

| UOBB. But the Jews are hiding

* not even that they put a dangerous weapon into the hands of the enemy

1. For example, the "Allgemeine Zeitung des Judenthums"

(No. 19, 1888) literally: Once the anti-Semites have learned of this, they shout: "There are the secret societies of the Jews, in which they agree on ways and means to dominate the world, etc., while the one published by Rabbi Dr. Wise in Cincinnati

"Deborah" also warned last year: "We believe

our fellow believers in the old fatherland in the formation of new Comfencies as "secret" or even just as "exclusive" associations

N dung to urge the utmost caution!

We immediately recognize that such a warning is very justified,

7 if we look at Section 128 of the Criminal Code of the German Reich

1; it reads: *

4 "Participation in an association whose existence, constitution

1 or purpose is to be kept secret from the State Government, or in which obedience to unknown superiors or to known

Superior unconditional obedience is promised, is up to the members

; with imprisonment up to six months, for the founders and leaders

the combination with imprisonment from one month to one year

5 to punish. |

Officials may be charged with loss of the ability to dress

public offices for a period of one to five years—

f can be known". |

The fact that the Bine Briß Order is a "secret" association in

The Jewish newspapers mentioned above give quite a bluntly; it is also certain that the person entering the Order must promise unconditional obedience to superiors. During all—

However, as a result of strange royal edicts, the paragraph mentioned

) does not apply to the Masonic Order or the Odd Fellow Order=

0 is applied, such an exceptional provision for the Jewish

1 Order has not yet been issued and the approximately 40 representatives at the on 9 and 10 February this year in Berlin meeting of the Grand Lodge of the

8. Diftriets unanimously accepted the proposal to take all steps to do so in order to ensure that the Order in Germany complies with national law—

to obtain official approval. Yes, the Order certainly friendly, by the "brother" Rabbi Dr. Rahmer edited "Israelifische Wochenfchrift" occasionally came to the discussion ment of the present question (No. 26, 1888) to the following conclusion: "One It can be seen that the "UOBB" in its organization of a needs major reform if its laws are to be brought into line with German national should be in harmony. And who knows whether it is not would recommend until this reorganization is carried out, liche Lodges to – fistir, before the participants, including several officials – to the danger indicated."

Who can blame an impartial person for e begins that even in Germany the Jews are already more real ones than the natives? Because for those who want to overthrow preaching social democracy, an exceptional law has been made, While so far no public prosecutor has applied the ordinary law to the well-known equally dangerous B'ne Briß=Orden. To wish would be that the preparatory work for the May 2008 meeting in Richmond= General Assembly of the Order, for which the German Grand Lodge the former Grand President Fenchel and the former President S. Simmel as representative, thereby interrupted would show the brothers of this Jewish secret society, that Section 128 of the German Criminal Code still exists in its entirety.

aviary.

(From Nos. 14 and 15 of the "Deutsche Wacht". Dresden, April 6 and 13, 1890.)

New=Nork, September 12. (Own report) In view of the year-on-year growing participation, of which the Order B'nei Brith also across the ocean, the following statistical Data on the expansion of membership and activity this brotherhood will certainly be of interest to wider circles The Order, which celebrated its first quarter century on 13 October 1893 ft of its existence, currently counts 9 districts with 363 lodges, with 25,000 active members, who over the territories of the United States, Canada, Germany, Austria, Romania, Egypt and Palestine. Within the last five years ending on December 31, 1889 The Order has collected the sum of 2 784 000 Ds. (approx. 11 200 000 Mark) were spent on charitable purposes. These impressive figures speak an eloquent language and are all the more admired awaken when one learns that b the sums are not yet a= which are intended for the preservation of the Order-founded Home and Orphan Asylums, and the contributions made as a result of Calls for support of those suffering and assistance in various calamities and accidents. Despite all these great acts of love, the amounts of the funds in the lodges (currently about 800 0000 dollars) is not reduced and The District Grand Lodges have a reserve fund of over one 14

– 22 –

million dollars for the security of widows and orphans;
Of course, these impressive sums are only possible through the performance fufficiencies of the members. It should be of particular interest Your readers that among the institutions supported by the Order there are also the German-Israeli Orphanage, the Craftsmen's School and the Evening school in Jerusalem, for which an average of 3000 dollars were made available. The German District currently has 26 lodges with 2456 members, the Romanian, which was only 1 year ago, 14 lodges with 600 members=
On Palestinian soil, the "Jeruscholajim Lodge" in Jerusalem in February d. J. the "Shaar Zion Lodge" in Jaffa Since 1 September of this year, there has been a Name "Austria=Loge" the first settlement in the Austrian countries. Thus, a strong advance is evident in all directions– progress of the brotherhood and at the same time an ever increasing exercise his great tasks, charity and brotherly love.

| (Jewish Press No. 39/40, September 26, 1890.)

From all this it can be seen that in America
There is a Jewish question, and a very burning one. The
The complaints raised against Judaism are exactly the same as in all countries the world, only they find a more drastic expression, which is quite
This is clear because the Jews in America are more unashamed and larger field of action 1 1

It is significant that there are so many female criminals in America ad such figures under the one exposed in the three books mentioned crimes in large numbers. It seems that the eman–

Jewish women there converted the regular thief trade into a trade of charity. Commercial thieving, commercial welfare:
activity and commercial lewdness are social damages from which fthough to say which of them is the worst. As far as this Crafts are carried out by Jews, I would like to commercial charity in terms of social harm the palm because it is the most demoralizing because its harmful con= sequences are not visible to the untrained eye because the
He only got away with crimes committed under the cloak of charity ft, but also to have been done out of virtuous motives appear. "Tous leurs cadeaux sont des pestes!"

Jews in Japan.

Unfortunately, I have lost some notes which were on the successes of the new legislation in Japan; I I mean the exploitation of the people on European stock exchanges= manner. |

– 213 –

In the first half of 1890, Japan experienced a Famine broke out, and one heard how rings were formed formed to take advantage of the national misfortune, ie that, like Joseph in Egypt, the grain in masses bought it up in order to give it to the starving people at the highest possible prices. The fact that the children of Israel have participated in this,
You could bet ten to one on that.

I have already stated elsewhere that in the first place Line was a Mr. Mofe (the same one who recently became Oberlands= judge in Marienwerder), who was first was legislatively active under the German flag; I also described how he entered the Japanese civil service
has arrived. | Ä

Disraeli chases from his fellow tribesmen that they are in England country into state offices (see "Endymion", Tauchnitz edition Volume II. p. 20) and I would like to ask whether this designation does not fit the way in which Moses to his position in Japan. In whose name and Unfortunately, I do not know what laws Mr. Moses gave not, but I would like to ask whether the suspicion is not somewhat
It is justified that Israel may also have been in this poi= lungs, the young cultural state of Japan a cuckoo egg in to put the diapers. \

In earlier years, the Reichstag publicly complained about led to our legislator Ludwig Löwe, né Laib Levi, to Paris traveled to Rue de Trévis no. 37 at the Alliance Inftruc= tions for our German legislation. Shouldn't Mr. Mofe and his successors, the Delbrücks, the Japanese with Laws from the same factory, with laws which Israelite bankers anywhere on earth, to exploit this land, especially if it is owned by any national misfortune should befall them?

The Japanese are smart people, and one must admit it in their Interested parties wish that they smell the roast in time and from international exploitation by the company Israel true knowledge. |

Of the Jews who worked as German officials in Japan:

RER von Brandt, Consul and Minister-Resident, udolph Lindau, Consul missus,
Richard Lindau, do. |

Mr. Baer and a Den Haber (the latter was murdered in Hakodate) were trade consuls, but these are only those who belong to me=
are due in memory. |

– 214 –

Jews in Surinam, Bolländisch-Gniana (South-America).

From the Dutch colony of Surinam comes the following
A poor Negro's cry of distress:

“Levimand!” (Teacher!) the man called to his teacher in Europe-returning missionaries, “Now when you come to the King, fay him a greeting from us and he should not believe what the newspapers write about the missionaries and the governor, because it is all a lie, and then tell him: we want a have a house on the river bank so that you can go to the land freely;
for now the Jews have all the houses by the river, through which we can go ashore. These are thieves, robbers, fraudsters and Murderers, they take every last cent from our pockets.

And further tell the king to send us some Dutch Send merchants so that we do not have to buy from the Jews. We
We are afraid of the Jews.”

We can see the image that this Negro word creates of the conditions, still today through some notable passages am No. 10 of the missionary bulletin of the Brethren Church completed-
permanent. |

It is there that of that general movement of the Negroes the Speech, which refers to an unjust increase in the poll tax-

according to which the upper classes of the population in b a much lower percentage of income
have to pay taxes than the lower class of Negroes, fo that the latter, which $2\frac{1}{2}$ percent poll tax of income must pay, “since the entry into force of this law in particular extent to which they felt their lack of rights and political immaturity.” It then continues: “The whole movement appeared to the above-mentioned so small in number, but almost all-powerful upper class of the people as a welcome opportunity to the governor, who in Holland for a declared standard-bearer of the so-called anti-revolutionary party and incidentally also for an anti-semitic, Ver- opportunities and to manage the colony as a unsatisfactory before the eyes of the motherland, in order to possibly to initiate his dismissal.

This purpose was served in particular by certain in Paramaribo creeping newspapers, which are aimed at like-minded people beyond the Occans in Holland found only too willing 510 planes.

In newspaper articles (even in the Munich-based All-common newspaper), which by means of partially distorted oral-ical reporting in the Para-District, the Be-movement in a vastness that only the already prevailing Un-satisfaction and bitterness. in those papers quite brazenly our missionaries of political to accuse them of driving and to blame them as the instigators of the mischief- It was therefore inevitable that "the Negroes of the Be-

N

- 215 -

movement has increasingly become anti-Semitic have, and this will be understood when one hears that a great Part not only of the college of judges, but of the officials= world is of the Israelite faith. Summa Summarum: Even over in Suriname the social Question above all the Jewish question. The Jews persecute the representatives of the positive, living= Christianity with satanic hatred. | | Among the means used by the Jews to avoid an inconvenient enemy get rid of, lies and slander are at the top; the press Jews on this side and across the ocean work together (cf. the agitation against the governor, in Paramaribo as well as in Munich). The Negroes over there are smarter than the average German, because They do not make "Singer" their party idol, but will brevi manu staunch anti-Semites. ("People", October 31, 1890.)

The following note about the Jews in Suriname:

Therefore, no further description of the Jewish facial type, and if it is tried, as Beddoe did, then my In my opinion, the result is not very satisfactory, although the Jews with their sharply pronounced unchanged physiognomy of Diagnosis is relatively easy and this Phy=

fiognomy is so characteristic that even the Negroes can tell the difference make between Jews and Europeans, for which Professor Duttenhofer evidence from Surinam, where many Jews live. "If the When a Negro sees a Jew with a European, he does not say: "there come two white men", but: "there comes a white man with a

0 4

Jews." (Andree: On the Folklore of the Jews. P. 38.)

Jews in Italy.

"Do you know the land where the lemons bloom?"

Rome, February 2nd. (Own report) While the German officer= corps, due to distorted traditions, fundamentally opposed the Israelites the admission is refused, the Italian Minister of War follows the opposing system by placing the most responsible positions in the army and navy calls Israelite officers. General Ottolenghi is known to have by far the best prospects in to be appointed Generaliffim in case of war – and currently it is already considered a done deal that King Hum= bert as Adjutant General in place of the deceased Pafi In the meantime I learn from Spezia that the Jewish Fre= attencapitän Vittorio Camiz by Royal Cabinet Order to Chief of the General Staff of the Corvette "Andrea Doria" and has already taken possession of the new 9. For this purpose= Otherwise, no one would think of giving such a well-deserved award Every halfway educated Italian knows which outstanding role of Jewish heroes in the recent Italian war– liberation wars. – As the "Gazetta Ufficiale" reports, The Jewish consulate candidate Vito Finzi was subsequently fine diplomatic merits from the King to Consul J. Class be: Italy currently has eighteen Jewish consuls, of which eleven of whom hold first-class positions. – On Friday here the election of the board of the "Associazione della Stampa" Cavalier Clemente Levi was elected Vice President, Räthen Attilio Luzzatto, Salvatore Barzilai and the Ab– Edoardo Arbib was elected. All are respected members the Jewish community. – In Parma, Rabbi Coen built a Hebrew school from its own resources, which paid off The number of students has recently increased to 34. In general, religious life in the party seems to have The community has recently begun to rise again, because the The synagogue is being visited more frequently and private charities are also being activity is expressed to an increased degree. – King Humbert has befamously knighted Senator Tullo Maffarani in Milan of the House Order of Savoy, giving him one of the highest Awards that exist at all. With

– 216 –

This degree is associated with a knight's allowance of 1000 Scudi.
The new knight has now determined that this sum will henceforth
The poor of Milan benefit from the Poor-Com= mission to be distributed Jol A similar act of Jewish great= Catholic newspapers from Verona reported this courage.
recently Lazzaro Forti, who spent over 100,000 lire on various au foundations. He gave 1000 lire in rent to the Jewish municipality in Verona, 500 lire to the children's asylum Principe di Naples, 4500 Lire to various Catholic foundations and others 5000 lire to the poor of the various ecclesiastical genii in Verona.

All Catholic newspapers dedicate heartfelt tributes to the deceased

Obituaries. (Jewish Press No. 7, February 13, 1890.)

following highly significant triumph song of the "Israelite and Jefhurun" we do not want to withhold from our readers:

"Rome. In the parliamentary elections in Italy, the following people were elected:
representative of the city of Rome also Mr. Barzilai, a member of the radical
"Zribuna" here, as winner from the ballot box ar We share not the political views of Mr. Barzilai – the same was expelled from his hometown of Trieste because of his political activities
He is now living here as a refugee and is stirring up hatred constantly against Austria, although today it is at odds with Italy is closely allied – but we were nevertheless pleased with his election, as the proud Roma, the former residence of the Caesars, whose legions destroyed our holy temple and drove us out of our homeland, now in parliament by a Jew should be represented. Oh, if this were the three Caesars Titus, Nero and Hadrian! They would surely turn in their graves."

– DT:

Can one overcome the desire for revenge, hatred and solidarity?
feeling as a people among the nations living in Israel, befer illu= more striking than these few sentences from a Jewish pen do.

(Deutsch-soziale Blätter No. 128 of January 4, 1891.)

The "Neue preuß. Ztg." writes on December 5, 1890
from Rome:

Anti-Semitism has so far been little or not at all present in Italy came into effect. In September of this year, it was first the organ "Offervatore Romano" which focuses on the harmful influence of the Jews in economic and social aspects. As I
As reported a few days ago, the "Popolo Romano" also withdrew the Jewish question on the occasion of the election of the Jewish deputy Barzilai from Trieste into consideration. Now 8 ee fom feft with the same Question of the "Moniteur de Rome" and the "Meffagero." The Jews are in Italy compared to Austria, Russia and Germany only
There are about 30 million inhabitants in the only 50,000 Israelites. In contrast to this small number, the answer to the question why there is no anti-semitic phenomenon in Italy tism, justification, which is that the Jews here are not could arise because the Italian himself is far too intelligent merchant, only to allow himself to be ruined commercially by the Jews.

But what does it really look like? The Jews boast to enjoy the special protection of the senior minister, that under this sympathy coming from the heart, believe they have great influence on the government and in the shadows this protection to do "good business" and to enjoy the fruits of their labor The "Kreuz=Zeitung" has already reported that brought to our attention some time ago here.

At the hand of the "Civiclà Cattolica" the "Moniteur" now knows Fol= a according to: In Italy the Jews are less numerous than in other change but their influence is very significant. Already a few Years ago, Dr. Giovanni di Stampa wrote in a "The Hebrew Plague" entitled book: "What a misfortune for Italy, for a strong and free Nation to have a parliament that resembles a synagogue!" After Given their number, Jews in Parliament should only be represented by half Like-minded people are represented. On the contrary, they are here feveral, and Venice fomely represented almost exclusively by Jews But not only in Parliament, everywhere in public offices, in the banks, ministries and even in diplomacy they have fet up. The officer corps and the generals are also not spared. They dominate the press in the capital cities. fare only newspapers that are not directed or edited by Jews Liberal public opinion, writes the "Civicla", will in the ghetto and in the synagogues. In 1885, as As is statistically proven, a quarter of the students were Jews. Jews predominate in the north-east of Italy, in Venice and the provinces of Mantua and Padua. In these areas

– 218 –

Trade, industry, banks and real estate are in their hands. They also own the first bank in Florence, Ancona and Li-vorno. Rome now more, i.e. the "Civiclä", through Jewish money, through their cunning and Freemasonry, at the head of which was also a sn Lemmi, stands, as conquered by the bayonets of the soldiers

been. ö |

The "Moniteur", as well as the "Meffagero" emphasize, in order to protect myself from the
To protect against accusations of religious intolerance that the Jews-question is not a religious one, but a purely foctal one. "Today's anti-femitism", it says in the "Meffagero", is not based on the false and foolish prejudices of the Middle Ages, but on the idea
the interested spirit and the cohesion of a rich and diverse forbiting class, which, by bringing millions and millions arden; trade, railways and every kind of enterprise monopolize their activities. They effortlessly absorb the work of the Poor and the wealth of the nation. Why not count and brings to the knowledge of the public how much movable and real estate do Jews in Italy own today? This post-proof would be the absorptive position of the Israelites-Why don't you provide statistics on the Jewish representatives?
neten? It would be clear from this that their predominance in relation to the number of 1 population both in number than in terms of influence. It is not a political program, It is said that these people are enthusiastic. If you look at their activity monitored with some attention, one will find that they are All parties must make a pact. Their only motivation is the desire to a position that will pave the way for them to obtain Influence to do good business. If it is an outdated
It is nonsense to persecute the Jews as such, concludes the letter of "Meffagero", but it is much older and more fateful, it is big-to defend courageously. After all, nobody thinks of religious belief. It is the sect of the "Faiseurs" (affaristi), against which one must defend oneself." -

The Jewish Question in Italy,

The "Popolo Romano" had in one of its last issues on pointed out the eminent danger posed to the Italian people by the growing spread of Judaism in the Apennine peninsula-island. This essay was for a part of the Italian Pages the signal to take a closer look at the Jewish question. One of writes to them: We only wish that this alarm call does not come too soon ft late. Have you only just noticed that the international ca-hospital took advantage of you when you thought you could use it at the Fight against the Church? We Catholics have not yet-waiting to sound the warning cry that the sons of Israel have become so powerful that they almost all have the secret threads that determine the fate of the peoples depends! - The reputation of the "Popolo Romano" is significant, but we do not believe that it will find an echo in the Italian press, because it is, with few exceptions, in the hands of the Jews. How could the "Popolo Romano" forget that – to speak only of the papers published in Rome – the "Riforma", the "Capitale", the "Capitan Fracaffa" and the "Tribuna" be edited by Jews? And who does not know that in the "Corriere della Sera", the organ of the conservatives, the Jew Arbib plays a leading role. We do not want to list which would be far too long. We just want to remember that just in the last few days, for the first time since existence of the Kingdom of Italy, of the impending appeal a Jew, Jakob Luzzatti, into the ministry. May the "Popolo Romano" judge for themselves whether the moment was good chosen to call on the press to help against Judaism. And may he be convinced that the misfortune has happened, but that it is difficult to cure the same: The viper has – as the saying goes – bitten the quack.

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 123 of December 21, 1890.)

Naples. The Italian

Ministry of the Interior against the authors and sellers of obscene Writings, pictures and figures. Among other things, how the "Staatsbürger-Zeitung" reports that a Rome-based German () Israelite was brought under accusation, who for years and days Market flooded with pornographic products. In the past advertising in the most read German comic papers under the code name "Circolo", he offered the most raunchy books in page-long catalogues. Some "Works" were listed therein with the price of 500 lire. According to wisely, over 100,000 lire were sent to him by post in 1889 and in 1890 About 92,000 lire were received from all parts of the continent. Now that Mr. Crispi has sent a circular to all prefects had come closer to this evil, this honest man the equally lucrative and dirty trade was blocked.

1, 4000 pornographic books and over 1000 Photograms confiscated by the police. (The Jews bring our German fatherland is in disrepute everywhere abroad. But we "tolerant" Germans just put up with it. The editorial staff.) ü

(Deutsche Sociale Blätter No. 128 of January 25, 1891.)

Jews in France.

For those who have not yet experienced the conditions in France, the following short article from the

"Kreuzzeitung" No. 62 of February 6, 1890. The Article is indeed outdated and comes from the Boulangism,

e

but the conditions are still the same, that is, the same in=

– 220 –

Satisfaction is still everywhere in the country, and France is still waiting a more popular and worthy hero than Boulanger was, to free it from the yoke of Judaism. For a long time do not accept the current Jewish economy in France and can't stand you. Anyone who wants to know more about the situation Frank= Reich and the Jewish economy there, you will find in the book list contains a comprehensive list of the most their literature. Drumont's works are probably of interest to the casual reader.

present to the reader the most comprehensive and interesting. Toufenel's. and Mouffiaux's works are downright classic.

D London, February 4. The Parisian correspondent of the New York Herald" has rendered a service to the whole of Christendom, the value of which and significance can hardly be overestimated and which is of increasing importance possibly even wins because he is completely clueless and uninterested been performed seems to be too fine. Suum cuique and the American When it comes to reporting, journalists definitely deserve the priority. As soon as they refer to judgments and views on European European conditions, especially in the field of politics, they fall apart and betray the creative ignorance and a considerable lack of education, but as eyes and ears the press they are unsurpassable, and this has the above Correfpon= dent once again proved quite strikingly. |

The reader will probably have heard directly from Paris, with what skill and audacity the Yankee had to accomplish it ftifad knew, not only an uninvited witness of the duel between the Marquis de Mores and Monsieur Camille Dreyfus, but also of everything that was going on, using a detective camera To capture snapshots that will appear tomorrow in the columns of the "Herald". But that was the end of the company= spirit of the heraldman, as it inspires every good Yankee, for a long time not satisfied; the "real" reason for the duel and to bring it to the public's attention. In The reporter, who was a living questioner, set out with this intention sign in the most literal sense of the term, to which Marquis de Mores and put the suction pump on him. When he= As a result, 1½ columns appear today in the "Herald", which, as I said, should be of great interest to the whole of Christendom. The Be=

The report begins with a reference to the well-known opinion of the Marquis as an anti-Semite and the campaign plan which he had against the Jews in France has opened up in the most comprehensive way. Then the reporter spoke to the Marquis himself as follows:

“The most ridiculous rumours are spread about our purpose by the Jews in circulation, as if we were looking for all Jews from France to drive away. This is of course nonsense. We have nothing against the Jews because they are Jews; on the contrary, we hold them for useful fellow human beings – as long as they stay within their limits (remain in their proper place). But we do not want to tolerate They claim everything in the country for themselves. We oppose this The belief that a sect consisting of only thousands of people

– 221 –

Nation of millions presumes to govern itself. We seek through our movement is not to deprive the Jews of their rights, but the French nation the rights which the Jews had taken from it delt. When I declare that our people are Jews, I have reason to do so. However, we live under a regime which we call a republic, unfortunately But this is only the case in name. The state machine has all defects down to the smallest detail: centralization, bureaucracy, etc. which the way of governing our kings and emperors The only difference is that our country has all the advantages features that are consistent with a stable and responsible constitution, such as fit once blossomed for us – has been lost; against this loss we have no equivalent. We write the word “Freedom” in giant letters on our public buildings and let us press harder in silence, as if the great revolution never happened. We are a strange people. The Anglo-Saxon follows the saying, never fight without a tangible purpose to pursue; we climb to the sky for an idea. So= but as soon as we believe we have proven the truth of our ideas, We will not worry any further about how to put this into practical use. We are content to show the world the way to prosperity The world does not need to be told twice, while we vain theorists take the shadow for reality. This is how it is to procure our republic and yes it is the Jews – who have no are not just theorists, but cunning, far-sighted intriguers (schemer) – succeeded in acquiring a power that is therefore not may be considered as low because it is practiced in secret. Theoretically, the French people govern themselves; 1 is it was re= by the subordinate officials of the ministries in Paris These people receive only a few hundred francs a month and can be easily made with just a few hundred. Frances was The Mi= nister may be honest or dishonest, they may know or not, that their officials are bribed, but even with the best will they can do little to change the matter, since in our kaleidoscope= like system, the ministers change so often that they never find time to even just familiarize themselves with the ongoing work of their office. As a result, it is left to the permanent officials to do as they see fit and to use these young or old Gentlemen whose fees barely suffice for the most basic necessities of life to earn a living, live happily and in joy from the wages of Jews. It is hardly necessary to mention that the Jews were not otherwise paid. But not only in the government departments this bribery, but also, to my regret, I must find in the legislative body of the state. In the past years, the state salaries of not less than 180 deputies were seized because of debts. I mention this to illustrate how favorable the soil is here too – and how acceptable the indebted deputies a few thousand Francs appear – and the Jews are always with the thousand–

– 222 –

Franc notes ready – also not for free. As a result these conditions are a serious, concerned about the welfare of the people. Legislation and practice impossible. No project of improvement can be approved by the Chamber, although the whole people therefore asks and cries out: neither encroachment nor discrimination against the most serious kind can be abolished or even just inhibited, although the people groan under the pressure of the same – because the Jews encourage any abuse and fight all attempts to improve the situation in the most stubborn way, and for obvious reasons: Every abuse, every offence against the law and Honor a sure opportunity, in one way or another, to earn money at the expense of the people. But the rude influence of the Rothschilds and their associates, and so completely France is under the yoke of the same, that the voice of the People themselves cannot be heard in the elections. How many Millions of Jews voted for the Minister of the Interior in the elections in playing the hand to make the outcome favorable to them is unpredictable. They have succeeded so far, but the dissatisfaction is 50 general, than that they suppress each other in the long run and soon the storm will break out. The so-called Boulangism is more powerful than one believes, Boulangism But it has never meant anything other than dissatisfaction. Through a series of fraudulent maneuvers, the Jews succeeded in to get the French financial system under their control and now the Money market entirely in their hands. The goods and products of the At home and abroad are used for all kinds of “doing” and the Prices artificially inflated. We are not fanatics and We just want everyone to have an equal chance in the fight for existence and in ordinary life does not depend on the Jews is; furthermore, that the state is cleansed of Jewish contamination and the Jews in their business like the Christians to the law of the state.”

So spoke the noble Marquis, and if I repeat his words
German, I could not bear the thought more than once prevent some of it from being applied to our beloved fatherland Thank God at least the state is still spared us. |

Jews in England.

It was in the year 1878, when in the English Parliament a mir Ga err said to me: "What strange names the Germans sometimes have!" When I looked at him questioningly, he said:
"I mean, for example, Worms (Baron Worms)" Worms means in English Worms, intestinal worms. I laughed at this gentleman's idea, who had never heard of the city of Worms, and replied: "It is indeed a strange name; but now

– 223 –

You English have them too, and probably you will have even more to see it."

At the same time, people in England were wondering about the social democratic movement in Germany and considered it impossible that a similar movement could also arise in England. The Experience of the last 13 years has shown that the English not only the Jews in excess, but also a socialist have movement. –

Disraeli writes in his "Coningsby" that the English are very know little about the power and significance of Judaism, i.e.
that they are behind Germany in terms of experience in this respect= stand, and we can see today that he was right.

Disraeli brought the Jews to power in England and his weak epigones have found it appropriate to turn to the Jews furthermore to serve as predators in their trade policy. If I not mistaken, it is a hunter: "But already now it is
It is difficult for the hunter to snatch the prey from the predator."
he aptly characterized today's English trade policy, and if it has not succeeded in demoralising England's trade,
Yes, this is only due to the common sense of the English people themselves.

You can currently read a lot about the masses in the newspapers= meetings in London, which were held for the persecuted Jews in Russia want to create a mood, and sees a whole series of significant and respected English names who are involved in this movement benefit the Jews.

But we must not forget that England and Russia in Asia have conflicting interests, and that the Jews have been tenth are trying with all their might to oppose the English against Russia in their (the Jews') own interest le kan

There is therefore a lot of politics involved in these rallies, but then also a misunderstood religiosity.

Almost all English people are religious and believe in the literal to the Bible, and the Jews have made excellent use of this fact Nowhere in the world is this

Old Testament more than in England, and it is precisely this circumstance ft is probably the reason why there are 0 many protests in England tic sects. In the city of London alone there are such, if If I am not mistaken, close to ninety, and now imagine that the famous charitable society "Alliance israélite universelle" A of yours in the different sects would have delegated, with the ufordnung to be baptized, each sect in itself and the different sects among themselves or at least in

To get excited. One can imagine a what a wonderful opportunity the children of Israel would then have to Sons of Albion to pull the wool over their eyes. While the famely dealing with fruitless discussions and ideals, fills Israel is lining its pockets.

I do not want to say that it is literally true, but in England There are indeed many priests of Jewish origin, and even

*

– 224 –

understandably, they work in the hands of their fellow tribesmen. The impudence with which such gentlemen sometimes act is demonstrated the fact that in 1878 such a Jewish matador the good Englishmen believed that I was one of the lost ten tribes; and this edifying nonsense was actually not only spread by laymen, but even recited by English priests, and perhaps there is There are still Bible believers in England today who have this beautiful image– future to honor nec

The Jewish press today points out with satisfaction that that even in Christian churches in England for the persecuted Jews is prayed in Russia. That may be so, but I would by no means be astonished that if the matter were to be investigated, it would be discovered that the organizers of such agitational services baptized Jews.

Cardinal Manning, who in England was so keen on the Russian-fic Jews has the dubious honor that No. 4
the Jewish Press of January 22, 1891 "out of gratitude" image; but on the other hand he must Suspicion that he is political, if not something badmeres. He would have done better if he had stayed away from the matter and let it rest.

But despite all the noise in England in favour of the Jews and despite the fact that a part of the English aristocracy actually in a shameful way with this people, believe not believe in the duration of these Jewish triumphs; for in England too
a strong anti-Semitic feeling has already developed.

However, this can currently only be found in the circles of the scholars and the higher classes, but it will certainly not long for the general public to open their eyes about the causes which not only the socialist movement, but have also caused many commercial calamities. And remember the English first realized that secret Judaism had laid its hands on its Palladium, the Bank of England, has laid and this is at risk, then perhaps they will make just as short work of the Jews as once happened with the Thugs in India. Incidentally, the Jewish question has been discussed frequently and, as can be seen in the book list, In England in 1885 a catalogue of the works which dealing with this issue.

It is a peculiar phenomenon that it is precisely women are those who develop a great deal of courage in such spiritual struggles.
In France, a lady under the name "Gyp" wrote a her-outstanding book: "Une gauche célèbre", in which she thoroughly to work that this book was bought by the Jews
In England it is a Madame Novikoff who is the anti-semitic tic pen and under the pseudonym O. K. outstanding things are said to have been written.

As everywhere, Judaism always knows how to find its main support find where there is decay. With the penetrating mind of his Raffe there are some weak points in the English aristocracy

– 225 –

Book: "A Peep at our cousins", which was written by a lady is, describes in a drastic way the hodgepodge of society, where Judaism and English aristocracy meet. I can imagine
I would not fail to quote some passages from it:

"And do you want to know how Her Grace, the Duchess of M. – paid the bills for her beautiful clothes and jewels?

– There is a well-bred lady and if she is Girlfriend is reprimanded because of the endless social backlash festations and the many humiliations which she has tolerated must, in order to gain access to the Duchess's inner circle, she answers that she has gladly endured and endures all this, because it secured her the privilege of calling the Duchess "Luise"
and led to such a degree of intimacy that one allowed her to come into Her Grace's bedroom, while she was getting dressed.

The lady who holds this lofty view is none other than as Frau von Oppenheim, the wife of one of the company's shareholders Oppenheim, Alberti & Co., which is well known in Paris for their unscrupulous and usurious loans to the ex-Khedive Is mael and because of the suspicion that she was involved in the disappearance of the Egyptian prince Ihlami Pasha was not uninvolved. Trade with whiskey and lights during the Crimean War laid the foundation to the fortune which Mrs. Oppenheim now allows, royal Highnesses and the Duchess of M. It is said that gold whose powers of persuasion Her Grace has moved the Duchess,
To induce Their Royal Highnesses to accept the invitation of the Oppenheim to accept.

"Some do it this way and others that way";
This is an old saying, but it fits quite well with today's social struggles in London.

Accurate knowledge of human weaknesses and a wise understanding division of pounds, shillings, and pence have always been the characteristic features of all branches of the house of Israel;
and although Mr. Oppenheim had renounced the faith of his fathers when he married his Irishwoman, these characteristics are The Henry Oppenheims are everything but Christians, and they believe that it covers a multitude of sins.
Whether their understanding of the word 'charity' is a strictly biblical is, it must remain", (there then follows the description of good English aristocracy.) (p. 26/27.)

Another dubious English aristocrat is said to have it: "Satisfied with a rich dentist as a traveling companion, the
To roam the world, he takes everything that the gods give him, with philosophical calm. Like his wife, he loves the society of the members of the House of Israel and occasionally honors 110 Bischoffsheim with his presence at table. The lady of ute=Houfe (Mrs. Bischoffsheim) has not yet succeeded in 15 to find out. A small book published in America

– 226 –

She will succeed in this with time. A few years ago, Mr. Bischoffsheim's name is blatantly linked to the Honduras scandal which caused so much excitement and the social Position of Mr. Bischoffsheim and his Paris partner of the Mr. Le Fevre was seriously shocked, etc.” (p. ei

The little book also contains a whole series of signs—demands of dubious nobles, the nobles of Golgotha; also Germany is represented among them.

Here I would like to mention a German Jew in Shanghai named Heart, which denies its 5 completely and “The British merchant” ninth, about whose bold statement that he would always consider it an honor to be a real her—prefer to get a kick, there used to be a lot of laughter. But I do not believe that this Mr. Herz, who has such strange ambitions, is an “uneducated” Jew. Whether he will get the desired I do not know whether he has received this honor, but I hope for the best.

The baptized Jews who function as priests in England—giren, the music Jews from all over the world present themselves worthy to the side. The English are notoriously not very inventive in the field of music and has few composers; also says one that he has little understanding of music in general, but Nevertheless, he loves listening to music beyond measure. The Music Jews seem to have understood very well how to play their role in England play, by infinitizing the English that great music—It is a well-known human weakness that one is proud of the qualities or skills that give one the Nature has failed. The Jew quite rightly had this weak side The Englishman discovered and John Bull searched for years for the flute of the children of Israel.

About the Music Jew Sir Arthur Sullivan, the English Offenbach, I have already written elsewhere; and about For the Finance Minister Mr. Göschen, see “Baptized Jews.”

P. 8. Just now, and this sheet goes to the press, I feel in the Jewish Press No. 5 of January 29, 1891, the following:

“London, January 26th. Lord Salisbury was from a Mr. Guilford has been made aware that Odessa formed a society to help poor Russian Jews to England, and that a large number fuch persons had already arrived in England. The Under Secretary of State, Sir James Ferguson, on behalf of Lord Salisbury's replied that he knew nothing about the fact that numerous destitute Jews had arrived, and the government of the Embarkation of poor persons to England.

The u: because of the immigration of destitute foreigners from the relevant authorities, the trade office and the local: administrative offices, not lost sight of. In this case— opportunity qe noticed that at the moment in London more lively than ever agitation against the immigration of Germans and Jews, to capture the Prince (ie the Prince of Wales), but could

*

Together, barely less than half

— 227 —

